Federal Parliament.

The Parliamentary session at Ottawa, opened with the usual formalities on Thursday last. Following is the speech which his Royal Highness the Governor-General read to both Houses of Parliament, as recorded in the Senate Chamber:

I take this public opportunity of expressing to you all my deep sense of gratitude for the comfort and support that were afforded us at the time of the serious illness of the Duchess of Connaught, by the numerous messages of sympathy that were received from Canada, and by the knowledge, that the hearts of so many Canadians were with us during these dark days. I can only regret that my enforced absence made it impossible for me to fully express the duties of my high office during a considerable portion of last year.

It gives me great pleasure to be able to congratulate you upon the remarkable expansion of Canada's trade with other countries in the past fiscal year, during which our total trade far exceeded that of any preceding year.

The bountiful crops with which the Dominion has fortunately been blessed during the past season have been harvested under unusually favorable conditions which have enabled the transportation companies to make full use of all the facilities at their disposal, thus the difficulties, which sometimes arise in former years have not been manifest, and an unusually large proportion of the crops have been conveyed to the seaboard before the close of the season of inland navigation.

Canada has been favored by a long series of prosperous years and, although at the present moment business is slightly restricted by the financial stringency which prevails throughout the world, I feel convinced that this condition will be merely temporary, and that the boundless resources of this Dominion, which are so fully and universally known and recognized give us the fullest assurance of continued material prosperity and progress. As a result of the recent decennial census the representation of the different provinces must be readjusted, as required by the British North America Act, and a bill will be introduced for that purpose.

A bill consolidating the railway act and its various amendments as well as bills relating to the civil service and other trust loan companies will be submitted for your consideration.

Several other bills will be submitted including measures providing for increased representation of the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia in the Senate.

The volume of immigration during the present fiscal year promises to be greater than that of any preceding year. It has come in greater measure from the British Isles and from the United States, but a large stream of desirable immigrants has also reached our shores from other countries.

You will be pleased to learn that satisfactory arrangements have been made with the various provinces under the Agricultural Instruction Act, past at the last session. My advisers are convinced that the co-operation between the Dominion and the provinces which is thus afforded will accomplish results in assuring better agricultural instruction and needful improvements of existing methods of agriculture.

The work of the National Transcontinental railway has been rapidly advanced during the past year and notwithstanding the difficulties attending construction of the Hudson Bay railway and the provision of terminals every possible progress has been made, in bringing that important project nearer to completion.

In connection with the highly important subject of transportation of our products, the providing of adequate terminal facilities at our great national ports has received and is receiving the attention of my advisers.

You have doubtless learned with satisfaction that a new government terminal elevator at Port Arthur is completed and that it has been in operation since Oct. last. In conjunction with this a system of interior terminal elevators has been begun which will provide largely increased facilities for the farmers of great grain producing provinces.

The international conference on safety of life at sea which has been in session in London for several weeks has had under consideration questions of the highest importance and it is hoped that its deliberations may result in more effective measures for assuring the safety of the passengers and crew of ocean-going steamships.

Representatives of Canada were appointed by order-in-council and have been in attendance at all sessions of the conference.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons.

The accounts for the last fiscal year will be laid before you. You will be pleased to know that revenue has been ample to cover both ordinary and capital expenditure.

The estimates for the next fiscal year will be submitted at an early date.

They have been prepared with due regard to necessary development of the resources of the Dominion coupled with careful attention to economical administration.

After the ceremonies in the Senate the members of the House of Commons returned to their Chamber and commenced business. The introduction of new members was the first item on the programme. Five Conservatives and one Liberal, who had been elected since last session were presented to Mr. Speaker. These were: Hon. Arthur Meighan, Solicitor General; A. E. Hanna, South Lanark; H. M. McLeod, York; N. B. Morris, Chateauguay; S. J. Glass, East Middlesex and R. E. Truax, South Bruce. After the usual routine of opening day the House adjourned to Monday of this week.

After routine proceedings in the House of Commons on Monday 19th, the debate on the address in reply to the Governor-General's speech was commenced. The mover was H. F. McLeod, recently elected by acclamation in York, N. B. The seconder was Mr. Lavalle, of Bellechasse, P. Q. Both gentlemen acquitted themselves creditably and made a decidedly good impression.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier followed, criticising the Government for not getting into operation the part of the Transcontinental between Cochrane and Quebec. He defended the Senate for its action last year in throwing out the Highways Bill and the Naval Aid Bill, and declared that the non-introduction of the latter this session proved that the Bill had been founded upon neither principle or emergency, but only upon expediency. The German peril that passed away but there was another peril for Canadians in the present economic situation and the high cost of living. There was in the speech from the Throne an admission that business was not satisfactory and a confession of the impotence of the Government to deal with the situation. Canada's resources were boundless but it was the duty of the Government to develop them. The cost of living had advanced at an alarming rate. It was quite apparent that the prices paid to producers in Canada were not in keeping with those paid by the consumers. He would not say that the tariff was entirely responsible for existing high prices, but he would say restrictions on trade in the tariff were used by combines to promote their illicit gains. That being so, the Government must act. Concluding, the Leader of the Opposition moved the following amendment to the Address: "We regret to represent to your Royal Highness that in the gracious speech with which you have met Parliament, while it is admitted that business is in a depressed condition, yet there is no indication on the part of your advisers, of determination to take any steps towards relieving such situation."

The Prime Minister, in reply delivered a strong speech. After congratulating the mover and seconder of the address he plunged into the heart of his subject and attacked the Liberals for killing the Highways Measure. It was useless and undesirable for the Government to take up the time of the House with this Bill while the Senate remained as it was today. There were at least four important measures, said the Premier, which the Liberal majority in the Senate and rejected or so encumbered that they became unacceptable. These were the Highways Bill, the Branch Lines Bill, the Tariff Commission Bill and the Naval Aid Bill. The situation with regard to the Upper Chamber was peculiar in that Canada had less control over the majority in its Upper Chamber than any Dominion within the Empire. If the Senate and its friends are disposed to force upon us the question of the constitution of the Senate and the nature of appointment thereto, we are ready to accept that issue," he said amid cheers.

Referring to the Naval Aid Bill, the Premier reviewed briefly the events of last session leading to the defeat of the Bill. If passed, this Bill would have done much to stop the increase of armaments in Europe. The Senate's action, however, had been welcomed in certain quarters and the action taken by the House had been understood even within the Empire as indicating unwillingness on the part of the Canadian people to do anything for the common defense. These representations had been unfortunate and mischievous. The impression had gone abroad that the solidarity of the Empire was a myth. Since the Liberal Opposition had declared the Bill would again be defeated if reintroduced, the Government, under the circumstances, did not regard it as desirable either for Canada or the Empire that there should again be given this opportunity of rejecting the Bill and bringing discredit upon the country. But the Government remained firm in its determination that their ships should be provided and it was the firm intention at a later date, when circumstances were such that it could be passed, to bring down a Bill to that end.

For himself he hoped the day was near when all differences would be settled by some great tribunal, but while war remained the last Court of Appeal, we must remember the great heritage committed to our keeping. The Government desired that the measures proposed and those still to be proposed should be such as not to retard disarmament. It would be the duty of the Admiralty and if restriction or diminution of naval building was pursued they would always be ready to assist until the ships were actually begun, then to review her proposition and if cessation of building were possible she would gladly share. Until then it was the national duty to bring the proffered assistance as the best possible to the common defence.

Mr. Borden pointed out that while the Opposition had demanded an appeal to the people on the Bill of last session they had not demanded for a permanent policy. As far as the permanent policy was concerned it would be submitted to the people at a general election. That had been the pledge he had made and that pledge to the people he would keep. He was glad that Britain's relations with other nations were of such an excellent character, but the destinies of the world were influenced by predominant naval power that could be exercised in one quarter or another of the world.

Steamer A. W. Perry Effects A Rescue.

Boston, Jan. 7.—The foundering of The Bath schooner Grace M. Martin, thirty miles south of Matineus Rock, yesterday, and the timely rescue of her crew of seventeen men from an open boat by the steamer A. W. Perry Halifax, for Boston, was reported by wireless today. For nearly 24 hours the Martin's crew, in an open boat nearly 100 miles off shore, battled against death under the bitterest of weather conditions. The distance from the spot where the schooner foundered to the steamer route between Boston and Halifax is fifty miles which represents the drift of the Martin's long boat from shortly after sunrise yesterday until dawn today when the castaways were picked up by the Perry. The Grace A. Martin heavily laden with coal, sailed from Norfolk for Portland on January 10th. She was caught in the westerly gale off Cape Cod on Monday, but her skipper decided to continue across to the Maine shore instead of seeking shelter at Provincetown. The vessel was driven further off shore on Tuesday. Two days of hard pounding opened up her seams, and she filled and sank. The crew probably had sufficient warning to take some food and heavy clothing before jumping into their long boat. The Grace A. Martin was a five-masted vessel, built at Bath in 1904 and registered 267 tons net.

The Encyclopedia Press, incorporated, is the name which the publishers of The Catholic Encyclopedia have adopted, in place of Robert Appleton Company, the name under which they were incorporated in 1905 for the special purpose of publishing this work. The new name has been chosen partly to do away with the confusion that had gradually arisen between the former name and that of the older house of D. Appleton & Co but more especially to have a title in keeping with the character of the publication already completed and with other similar works it is proposed to issue in due season, the undersigned will continue as President of the Company and there is no change in the directorate or management, nor in the board of editors, who are now completing the analytical index of the Encyclopedia. The publishing and editorial offices remain at 16 East 40th Street, New York City.

Record Fox Company

The foxes owned by this company are now mated, and comprise fifteen (15) pairs choice dark cross-bred animals, procured from litters containing a large per centage of pure blacks. They have been selected by experts thoroughly qualified to judge of fur values and show from 50 to 90 per cent. black.

With the phenomenal advance within the past few months in the price of fur from such stock, resulting in active demand for the live animals as breeders; also from the probability of producing some black pups, there is every prospect of a handsome dividend from them by next September.

Only a limited number of shares are being offered, so if interested it would be well to communicate without delay with any of the Provisional Directors, or with the Secretary-Treasurer, Capt. Ernest Kemp, 115 Rochford Street, Charlottetown, P. E. I. Terms 50 per cent. in cash to accompany application. Balance in 30 days. Prospectus will be mailed on application.

Senator George A. Cox, Toronto died last Friday morning. He was 74 years of age. In politics he was a Liberal and was appointed to the Senate by the Laurier Government.

Toronto advices say: This city has the lowest death rate of any on the Continent with a population of 450,000 or more. Last year death from scarlet fever, typhoid and diphtheria fell to 750 to 454.

Congressman James M. Currier was chosen Mayor of Boston on the 13th, by a majority of thousands over Thomas J. Kenny, President of the City Council. A total of 80,000 votes polled on the coldest day of the winter, the victorious candidate received 43,809 and President Kenny but 37,250. Both are Democrats.

From Hamburg, under date of the 17th, comes this intelligence: Another great sea disaster is indicated by the finding of bodies of officers of the German steamer "Alia" cast up with wreckage at Terra Del Fuego. She had 40 officers and crew and 50 passengers. The Indians say that the steamer sank there recently.

A Vienna dispatch to London says that a storm at Cracow uprooted an ancient Elm and revealed the hiding place of the Crown worn by the Kings of Poland which has been missing since the middle of the 13th Century. Though some had fallen from their places all the jewels of the Crown were found.

The "Half way House" on the Vernon River well known to the travelling public, and for many years owned by the O'Neill family, was destroyed by fire last Friday morning. The building was completely destroyed and also part of the furniture, which could not be got out in time. The fire is supposed to have caught from a defective flue. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

The P. E. I. Railway was pretty well blocked after the recent snow storms. The train from Tignish Monday morning ran off the track when about a couple of miles. A wrecking train left here for the scene and only got through Tuesday. The train from Souris and Elmira Monday did not arrive at Charlottetown until today. The line is now clear and trains from all parts are running.

A despatch of the 19th from Kagoshima, Japan says: Three great snow storms. The eruption of Sakurajima volcano were buried under a falling cleft today. One hundred bodies have been recovered. The eruptions and earthquake continue but are not so violent. In four villages 4,000 homes were destroyed. The shore is heaped with dead animals. The river has turned yellow and is covered with dead fish.

Sid Schaefer, 23 years of age, lost his life in the Clarke street Montreal fire on the 18th. Sixty-year-old Abe Cohen was unconscious when taken to the 6th floor firemen. Young Cohen was revived by the ambulance surgeon. Seven families and a total of seventy-five people were rendered homeless. Floating hot ashes in wooden receptacles was the cause of the fire. The damage is $300 to building. Thrilling rescue were made by the firemen.

The Nova Scotia schooner Lady Smith, was abandoned at sea and waterlogged, and the crew saved by the British steamer Chignecto, according to a wireless message sent out on the 16th. The Lady Smith had been sailing between Halifax and New York and carried six men. She was commanded by Captain Lob. The Chignecto was on her way from Halifax and St. John to the West Indies and will probably carry the Lady Smith's crew to Halifax.

A wireless message on the 16th from the Lusitania, bound for New York to Liverpool reports the rescue of crew of eight from the Nova Scotia schooner Mayflower. The schooner was abandoned and set on fire on the 20th, from Fishguard after arrival of the Lusitania. Late that the passengers of the steamer subscribed one thousand seven hundred and seventy dollars to be delivered among crew of the "Mayflower" and volunteers who had rescued it at a great risk.

The British submarine A 7, founder of Plymouth, England, on the 16th and it is believed that all aboard are lost.

The New Allan Liner Alsatian sailed on Saturday, from Liverpool for Halifax. She is the largest steamer that ever sailed for Canada, and has many passengers.

The extremely cold weather of the past week or so piled up the ice in the Straits and seriously interfered with winter navigation. The steamer Minto came here from Tormentine Friday and left for Pictou Saturday morning. She left Pictou Monday morning and reached Georgetown Tuesday afternoon. The Earl Grey left Charlottetown Monday morning for Pictou and left the last named port Tuesday and got to Georgetown about an hour after the Minto. A special train brought the mails and passengers to the city.

Lord Strathcona, Canada's High Commissioner in London, died yesterday, aged 94. He had been ill for some days. Lord Strathcona, whose family name was plain Donald Alexander Smith, was born in Elginshire Scotland in 1820. In his 20th year he came to Canada, a clerk in the service of the Hudson Bay Company and spent nearly a quarter of a century in the wilds of Labrador. He gradually rose in the service until he became chief factor and finally chief Commissioner. In the last named capacity he was stationed at Fort Garry, (now Winnipeg) when the Red River rebellion broke out in 1870. He did good service in his efforts to moderate the passions of the rebels. He was appointed Commissioner by the Dominion Government to treat with the rebels and played a prominent part in bringing about peace. He was one of the principal promoters of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and for his great services was knighted and, as Sir Donald Smith he sat in the Dominion Parliament for several terms at one time or another. He subsequently created a barony of the Realm with the title of Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal. He was appointed Canada's High Commissioner in London in 1896. He was immensely wealthy and very generous.

It is stated that Lord Strathcona's property in Winnipeg is worth $2,000,000.

A boiler exploded and wrecked part of Howick Street, Ottawa, where the Winter Fair is going on. At least four persons were killed. A great number of pigs, cattle and horses were buried in the ruins.

In the pro-Cathedral, on the evening of Sunday last, Feast of the "Holy Name," the Rev. Bishop O'Leary, preached an eloquent and appropriate sermon. His text was from the second chapter of St. Paul's Epistle to the Philippians, 8 and 9 verses: "He humbled himself, becoming obedient unto death." In the development of his theme, his Lordship explained the significance attached to a name, in holy writ, both in the old and new Testaments. Contemplating his pointed out the greatest name and sacrifice of the name Jesus Christ, given to our Divine Saviour, by His Heavenly Father, the Man-God, bearing this holy name came into the world for our redemption and example. The Feast celebrated on that day was instituted in honor of our Divine Saviour, How great and holy is this name is shown by the church in her liturgy. Every prayer of the church, and in this holy name, and the sacraments are administered through this invocation. How great honor and veneration should be extended to this Holy Name! But, alas! how much is dishonored and blasphemed. The Holy Name Society started just a few years ago, to stem this torrent of blasphemy and dishonor to the Holy Name, had already done immense good in this regard. If we make this Holy Name our guiding star in our pilgrimage here below, we may be sure it will, by the help of all our joy and happiness here and hereafter.

John Harley, belonging to Stellerton N. S., was run over on the Railway track, near his home yesterday afternoon and so severely injured that he died just as he was taken to the hospital. It appears he crossed from one track to another to escape an approaching train and was caught by a shunting engine backing down, which he did not notice. Harley was a native of this Province and has one brother in this city.

A few weeks ago, as our readers will remember, a man named Krashchenko was arrested for the murder of Bank Manager Arnold in a small town in Manitoba. He was captured and brought to Winnipeg, where he was committed awaiting trial. Some ten days ago he pointed a revolver at two guards who were watching him in the prison cell. Having terrified the officers he took a key from his pocket and unlocked the door and went out. He then by means of a rope descended from a window to the ground and disappeared. How he escaped the hangmen's noose that awaited him, escape was a mystery. Now comes the sequel. The prisoner has been recaptured and his lawyer, one of the officers on guard, and another man have also been arrested as accomplices. Eason, one of those arrested, testified that he supplied the key and rope to the prisoner by order of the warden for the defendant, and told also that the officer arrested was most active in getting the culprit out of jail. Evidently this is a pretty bad conspiracy. More will be heard by the time the witnesses are all mixed.

The international express which left Montreal at 2:30 this morning for Halifax and Sydney was derailed at Sackville two hours later. All the cars are on their sides and the track is torn up but no one was hurt. Sleeping car fell down embankment, but was caught by the deep snow and telegraph poles. The eighteen passengers turned topsy turvy. The mail car was split and at one end and clerks had difficulty in getting out.

To the Electors of the City of Charlottetown—Ladies and Gentlemen.

Having been waited upon by a delegation from the voters of this City and presented with a largely signed requisition asking me to contest the City at the forthcoming Municipal election for the position of Mayor, and, after mature consideration, I have consented. With an experience of twenty-four years as the Council Member during which time I served the people faithfully, and, if elected to the honorable position of Mayor, I will do likewise, and, with the aid of the Council, endeavor to carry on the business of our City in the interest of the taxpayers. As it will be impossible for me to make a personal canvass, I respectfully ask the electors to give me their support. I am, Ladies and Gentlemen, Yours, ALEXANDER HORNE.

Reasons Why The C. B. C. Is The Best

The Charlottetown Business College's claims of superiority are not based on hot air, bombast or broadside bragging.

The equipment of this college is complete in every respect. There are enough typewriters, forms, etc., for every student, and therefore none are kept back and none especially favored. The teachers are the best that can be secured and the location ideal—right in the heart of the business district—the courses plain, practical and full of "usable" knowledge.

Students who graduate from this institution are QUALIFIED to cope with any problem that is placed before them in actual practice. This institution is the only one in the Province to turn out successful verbatim reporters.

The courses cover bookkeeping, auditing, type writing, shorthand, brokerage, banking, business correspondence, navigation, engineering and Civil Service preparatory exams.

The Little Flower

On January 2, 1873 just forty-one years ago, a little girl was born at Alencon in France in the home of a prosperous jeweler, Mr. Martin.

Her father, Louis Joseph Stanislaus Martin, a jeweler, and her mother an attractive woman whose maiden name was Z. de Guerin, were very devout. They attended Mass each morning and knelt side by side at the altar rail.

Two days after her birth the Little Flower received the Sacrament of Baptism, in the same church in which her parents received the Sacrament of Matrimony. She was named Mary Frances Teresa. She is called the Little Flower because this is the humble way in which she refers to herself in her autobiography written as an act of obedience at the direction of Sister Mary Gonzaga, Prioress of the Carmel of Lisieux.

The name Little Flower was also given by Blessed Theophane Vanard a young priest who was martyred in China twelve years before the Little Flower was born and for whom the young Carmelite had a great devotion. One author writing of Sister Teresa says: "She called herself the Little Flower of Jesus because, she said, Our Lord had chosen her soul purely for that of the Little Flower, without any merit of her own and loaded it with His grace and favors, just as he gives beauty and fragrance to the flowers."

When the Little Flower was four years and eight months old her mother died. The child's intelligence was acute even at this tender age and her grief over the loss of her mother was great. Soon after the death of his wife Louis Martin moved with his family from Alencon to Lisieux, where the brother of the Little Flower's mother lived with his wife. The more was made that the Little Flower and her sisters might have the benefit of their mother's care. Here in Lisieux the Little Flower pursued her reading lessons under the directions of her sister Pauline, whom she called her "Little Mother." This name, "Little Mother," she gave to Sister Teresa, the second oldest sister, at the time of her mother's death.

When the Little Flower was two years old she heard people say that her "Little Mother" would be a nun and, sorely realizing what the words meant, Little Teresa said that she would be a nun, too. The thought always remained with her. Her early religious training by her loving parents and her devoted sisters was so thorough that from the time she was three years old, her autobiography tells us, "I never refused Our Lord anything."

The Little Flower began to droop when she was approaching her tenth birthday and for many days it was feared that she would never bloom again. Her father and her sisters were disconsolate. Little Teresa suffered great pain. Then one day,

HEART WAS SO BAD.

Mrs. Thomas McVie, Saltcoats, Sask., writes: "I thought it my duty to write and tell you how much your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did for me. My heart was so bad I could not sleep, eat, nor walk about the house. I could not do my housework at all, what my husband could not do had to go undone. I had two small children depending on the besides three men to cook for, and it worried me to not be able to do anything. My husband had taken some of your pills, some years ago, and insisted on me trying them, so I started, and before I had taken them two weeks I was considerably better, and before I had taken two boxes I was doing my own work again. Anyone suffering from heart or nerve trouble of any kind should just give your pills a trial. If anyone cares to write to me I will gladly give them all the information I know concerning your wonderful medicine."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Her Cough Racked Her Terribly.

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP Effected A Cure.

Obstinate coughs and colds yield to the grateful, soothing and healing power of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and for the racking, persistent cough, often present in consumptive cases, it will be found exceedingly beneficial and pleasant to take. The use of it is generally indicated wherever symptoms of throat, or lung troubles appear, but especially so with all persons of a consumptive or catarrhal tendency, as its prompt curative properties speedily remove the danger, and restore the throat and lungs to a sound healthy state if used in time.

Mrs. Edward Patterson, Young's Cove Road, N.B., writes:—"I have had occasion to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and can say that it is certainly a good medicine. About a year ago I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs, and left them in a very weak state. The cough racked me terribly, and I was in despair until a friend advised me to give Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a trial. I got a bottle, and before I had half gone I found relief. I used two bottles, and have never been bothered since. I would not be without it in the house."

Price, 25c. family size, 50c. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
