Prices are only Relative

REGAL ENGINES are the highest priced engines, yet they are the cheapest.
 They are the highest priced engines because they cost more to build.
 They are the cheapest engines, because they will last twice as long as any other engine.
 They are also the cheapest engines because they save your time, and "time is money."
 If you shut your eyes to this real bargain in engines, you will be the sorriest fisherman who ever signed an order.
 You will lose more money than you can afford to lose, and your oil bills will be twice as large.
 REGAL ENGINES use less oil, have more power, run with less trouble and give more genuine satisfaction than any other engine on the market.
 We are, in the near future, going to ask all cash for REGAL ENGINES, so buy one before we make this change, as we intend to make them the "Hall Mark" engines of Newfoundland.
 We ship REGAL ENGINES complete with full book of instructions, and when once installed in your boat, any child can run one.
 REGAL ENGINES are higher priced than other engines, but are the cheapest in the long run, because they run the longest.

THE HEIR OF Lancewood

CHAPTER X.

"No," replied Sir Arthur, "that I certainly have not."

And Vivien was so delighted with the reply that she kissed him lovingly, as of old, before the young wife came between them.

"That does my very heart good, papa," she said. "I thought you had quite forgotten my mother."

"My dear Vivien," returned Sir Arthur, earnestly, "when you know more of life, you will know that a man never forgets and never ceases to love his first love." And Lady Neslie, overhearing the words, felt the bitterest hatred for the dead mother and the living child.

"I should like to see what the face was like that he thought so beautiful," she said. And that evening she called her maid to a solemn consultation.

"Marie," she said, "I want you to discover for me—first, whether there is a portrait of the late Lady Neslie; secondly, where it is. You can find out by a few well-directed questions in the servants' hall."

In twenty minutes' time, Marie returned to tell Miladi that there was a very beautiful picture of the late Lady Neslie, and that it hung in Miss Neslie's boudoir—it used to be in the Blue Room, but, when the pictures were removed from there, Miss Neslie insisted on having it taken to her apartments. Miladi laughed a mocking little laugh, and instantly made up her mind that, if it were possible to give Miss Neslie something disagreeable to think of, she would do so. She was jealous—jealous of the dead wife who had been so dearly loved, and whose child was heiress of that grand domain.

So, with a sharpened arrow in her heart, and a smile on her lips, she went into Vivien's room. It was so bland and smiling that it was hard to imagine she could be unkind.

"I ought to offer you a thousand apologies, Vivien," she said. "I know that I am intruding, but I wanted to ask you if you would recommend me some really nice book to read."

Vivien was not pleased at the intrusion, but she was always polite. She answered kindly—

"I do not know what your taste in literature is—I have not seen you read many books. Try one of Dickens."

"I will. What a pleasant room this boudoir of yours is! You have a beautiful view from the window. How fond you are of flowers! Your room is full of them."

"Yes; I love flowers," assented Vivien.

Then Lady Neslie went to the door, as though about to leave; she looked round the walls.

"You have some nice pictures. Dear me, what a strange face that is! Is it a portrait?"

She was looking at the pictured face of Vivien's mother. Vivien made no answer. Lady Neslie walked up to it.

"It is a strange face," she said, as though studying it. "I do not like it; the expression is disagreeable, sullen and proud—the eyes want intelligence. I should not keep such a picture in my room. Is this one of your boasted Neslies, Vivien?"

Vivien had grown white even to the very lips; her anger was so great that she was literally speechless. Lady Neslie looked at her.

"Have I annoyed you?" she said, quickly. "I am sorry. Surely this is not the portrait of any one you care for? If so, I am very sorry. I would not have spoken of it had I known."

Vivien's anger was terrible.

"Lady Neslie," she said, slowly, "that is my mother's picture."

"Your mother's!" exclaimed Valerie. "How sorry I am! Why did you not stop me? How could I know? I always understood she was a beautiful woman."

"That is my mother's portrait," repeated Vivien, "and you know it. You are very clever, Lady Neslie, but you are not clever enough to deceive me. From some motive of your own you have come here purposely to insult me through my dead mother; you have achieved your purpose. Will you oblige me now by leaving me?"

Never a Failure With Catarrhones; it Cures Completely.

Don't sniffle and sneeze with a nasty cold. Kill it at once by "Catarrhones." It's the surest thing on colds ever known; simply knocks them out in no time. The medicated vapor of CATARRHONES spreads through all parts of the breathing organs, and its beneficial action is felt instantly. Doesn't matter whether the cold is in the head, chest or lungs, Catarrhones will reach it and cure it quickly.

Easy to use—you bet it is—not a single drug to take because you simply breathe in the most healing and soothing of glycerine vapors that come from the wonderful Catarrhones inhaler.

"I can cheerfully testify that Catarrhones is simply a magical cure for colds," writes P. F. Clement, of Augusta. "For days last winter my head was completely filled up with cold. My eyes ran water, I sneezed and coughed constantly. I took many medicines. I was sick of the sight of them. Finally, I tried Catarrhones. Its effect was magical. It soothed the inflamed membranes, stopped the sneezing, and cured in no time. I never met anything to kill a cold like Catarrhones."

Get the complete $1.00 outfit; it does the work quick. Small size 50c; trial sample size 25c. at all dealers everywhere.

Lady Neslie turned scarlet with shame at having been detected.

"I assure you—" she began.

"Hush!" said Vivien, calmly. "There is no need for further words. That is my beloved mother's picture—and she was as worthy of honor and esteem as you are of contempt."

But Lady Neslie had recovered herself by this time. She laughed.

"What an absurd mistake! I am really sorry. I must tell Sir Arthur. But it is foolish of you to be cross about it, Vivien."

She found that she was talking to the air—Miss Neslie had left the room.

"Never mind," said her ladyship to herself. "I have hurt her; but the victory is not a great one, after all."

That little incident simply deepened Vivien's contempt for her father's wife, while it increased in some vague way Lady Neslie's awe of her.

There had been a slight disagreement over the jewels that Vivien's mother had worn. At her mother's death they were all locked away; but it was the right and privilege of the reigning Lady Neslie to wear them, and Valerie was not one to forego her privileges. Sir Arthur had spoken to her about the jewels, and she was all anxiety to see them. It happened that more than once Sir Arthur had also spoken to his daughter of them.

"They are family heirlooms," he had said. "As I have no wife to wear them, you must wear them, Vivien, when you come of age."

That promise he could not keep. Lady Neslie mentioned them when she had been some days at Lancewood.

"I should like to see them, Arthur," she said. "Perhaps some of the settings are old-fashioned. If so, the stones must be reset."

And one morning, when a sudden shower of rain prevented their going out, Sir Arthur asked his wife and daughter to join him in the library, where the cases were all arranged for inspection. They had never been touched since the dead Lady Neslie had closed them, and Sir Arthur remembered that, looked gravely at them. Vivien felt it deeply.

"Papa," she said, "I can be of no use here. Why did you send for me?"

"I thought you would assist Valerie in selecting what should be reset—you have so much taste in such things."

"I can suggest nothing," said Vivien. "They were my mother's jewels. If I were consulted, I should say keep them for her sake just as they are."

"Perhaps you are right," said Sir Arthur; but Lady Neslie cried, abruptly—

"No. I cannot wear them as they are. They would not suit me. I should like these pearls arranged as flowers, and this huge, old-fashioned diamond comb made into a pretty tiara. They will not do for me at all as they are."

"Well, you shall please yourself, Valerie," said her husband. "They are yours to wear during your lifetime. Vivien is there anything amongst them that you would like?"

The girl's proud eyes were dim with tears. It was inexpressibly painful to her to see what had been her mother's taken possession of after this fashion. She took up a pretty little pearl pendant.

"The last time I saw my mother she wore this. I should like it, papa. I remember taking hold of it, and she told me to mind that I did not injure the stones. I should like this."

Lady Neslie, looking up, saw the softened expression on her husband's face.

"Every time he sees that on his daughter's neck he will think of her mother," she said to herself; and she gained a quick unreasonable jealousy of the dead came over her.

"You will spoil the set if you take that," she said, quickly.

Vivien laid the pendant down.

"I will not take anything, papa," he said, quietly, and fearful of betraying how keenly she was hurt, he quitted the room.

Sir Arthur's face clouded over.

"That was not very good-natured, little wife," he said; and she laid her hand coaxingly on his shoulder.

"Wait until you hear why I did it, dear. You do not know what a tender-hearted, earnest girl your daughter is. If she had taken that pendant, every time she wore it she would be thinking about the mother she has lost, and would have been miserable;

WOMAN SUFFERED TEN YEARS

From Female Ills—Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Belleville, N.S., Canada.—"I doctored for ten years for female troubles and did not get well. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. I write now to tell you that I am cured. You can publish my letter as a testimonial."

—Mrs. SUVRINE BABINE, Belleville, Nova Scotia, Canada.

Another Woman Recovers.

Auburn, N. Y.—"I suffered from nervousness for ten years, and had such organic pains that sometimes I would lie in bed four days at a time, could not eat or sleep and did not want anyone to talk to me or bother me at all. Sometimes I would suffer for seven hours at a time. Different doctors did the best they could for me until four months ago I began giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and now I am in good health."

—Mrs. WILLIAM H. GILL, No. 15 Pleasant Street, Auburn, New York.

The above are only two of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which show clearly what great things Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound does for those who suffer from woman's ills.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

believe me, I did it from kindness. I knew she might not understand it—but I thought you would, Arthur, let us have a beautiful pendant made for her—she will be pleased."

"My dear, generous wife," said the easily-persuaded baronet. "I hardly gave you credit for so much consideration. We will send the order to London at once."

Some weeks afterward a beautiful pearl necklace and pendant arrived for Vivien—but she never wore either.

CHAPTER XI.

Though there were all the elements of strife in the household at Lancewood, yet all was perfect calm. People might surmise what they would—they knew nothing for certain; insensibly they ranged themselves on either side—they became partisans either of Lady Neslie or of the heiress of Lancewood—but outwardly all was calm and gay.

Only one person saw beneath the surface, and that was Gerald Dorman. Sir Arthur's marriage had considerably increased his labors. Before that Sir Arthur would at times answer a letter, audit his accounts, give audience to his tenants; now he did none of these things—they all fell upon the secretary. Sir Arthur was too deeply engrossed with his wife. He had to attend to her whims and caprices, and to escort her during her visits; he had not been so busily occupied for years. Yet, though his work was incessant, Gerald found time to watch the course of events.

He soon grew to dislike the new mistress of Lancewood; beneath all her seeming carelessness and light-hearted gaiety he saw malice and jealousy. Every slight, every trifling insult, offered to Vivien made his blood boil. He had kept his word—without ever intruding, he had been her most faithful friend. In a thousand ways that no one save himself understood he shielded her. He was careful to show her the greatest deference and respect—more, if possible, during this time of her downfall than he had shown her in prosperity. He always spoke of her and to her as though she were still mistress of the Abbey. Whenever she was not present, and he could make an opportunity, he spoke of her as heiress of Lancewood.

For the secret of this man's life was that he loved Vivien Neslie with the whole force of his heart and soul—loved her silently, desperately, hopelessly. He never dreamed of any return, he was content to lavish his adoration on her, to pour out the love of his soul at her feet. He had never dared to raise his eyes with love to her face. He worshipped her as pagans do the far-off bright stars. He was one of those who delude themselves: He never said to himself that he had talents, and that he could work until, by his success, he should win her. He raised for himself no such false hopes, he dreamed no foolish dreams, he never imagined that he should win her; but his love was so great that he was content to give all and look for nothing in return. It was the very madness of love—it was too great, too entire, to have any alloy of selfishness. If the fair proud young heiress had bidden him lay himself at her feet, that she might trample on him, he would have done so; had she bidden him give her his life, he would have laid it down with a smile on his face. He gave her all—he asked nothing; he was content to live in her presence as flowers live in the sun. He asked for nothing but permission to serve her, to live and die for her. He was content if from time to time she gave him a smile, a kind word, or even a kind look—if she allowed him to do something for her that required both time and skill.

It was not a presumptuous love, for he had never dared to touch even the hem of her dress. Once, in giving her a book, his hand touched hers, and it seemed to him that even that slight touch drove him almost mad. Her beautiful face often bent over the same page with his own, her hair brushed his cheek; he trembled then like a man seized with ague. She raised her dark, proud eyes to him once.

"Are you ill, Mr. Dorman?" she asked.

He answered "Yes," and with unsteady steps he left the room.

Egg Julep makes a perfectly satisfactory shampoo for the hair, and is very clean and economical in use. Many people are annoyed in summer by the rapid growth of dandruff and scurf on the scalp, but with the occasional use of this mixture it is not difficult to keep the skin of the head in good condition. Regular shampooing tends indirectly to promote the growth of the hair and to keep it from becoming dry and lifeless. You get six or eight thorough shampoos out of a twenty-five cent bottle.

What Horse-Power Means.

The use of the "horse-power" as a measure of an engine's work came naturally from the fact that the first engines were built to do work which had formerly been performed by horses. John Smeaton, who built atmospheric engines before Bolton and Watt placed their more complete machine upon the market, had valued the work done by a strong horse as equal to lifting a weight of 22,900 pounds one foot high in a minute. When Bolton and Watt began to bid for public favour, they agreed to place their engines for "the value of one-third part of the coals which are saved in its use." They also increased the value of the horse-power to 33,000 foot-pounds, so that their engines were half again as powerful for their rated power as those of their competitors. In this way they established the value of the horse-power.

The following are the various values of a horse-power: 33,000 foot-pounds per minute, 550 foot-pounds per second, 2,565 thermal units per hour, 42-75 thermal units per minute. The horse-power of a boiler depends upon its capacity for evaporation. The evaporation is 30 pounds of water from 100 degrees Fahrenheit into steam at 70 pounds gauge pressure equals 34 1/2 pounds from and at 212 degrees Fahrenheit is equivalent to a horse-power.

Three-Year-Old Whisky

New Law to Provide Good Stuff.

Although people do not seem to have paid much attention to what is known as the "Three Years Whisky Bill," which Sir John Simon introduced into the House recently, and which has now become law, it is a measure which is of considerable importance to the general public and one which promises to bring about a great social reform in this country. Everyone is agreed that much drunkenness has hitherto been caused by the consumption of raw, new spirit, which, while the cheapest to buy, is the most fiery in its influence and effects. Since the increase of duty on spirits, huge quantities of new, raw spirit have been sold. This has resulted in a great increase in drunkenness.

There is not much difference between spirits sold for burning in lamps and the new, raw spirits sold for drinking purposes. The difference between old and new whisky can at once be appreciated by drinking two or three glasses of new, raw spirits and comparing effects with those caused by drinking the same quantity of spirits which is three years old.

Even when the immature spirit is drunk in moderation it is decidedly harmful in effect. For this reason, the Three Years Whisky Bill provides that in future all spirits are to be kept in bond in a warehouse for three years; that is to say, it will in future be unlawful to sell spirits until they are three years old. The new law will not become fully operative until retailers have sold out their existing stocks, but when these have been disposed of, every gallon of spirit sold in the country will be at least three years old. In this way it is hoped to minimize very considerably the evils of drunkenness, for of the 25,000,000 gallons of spirits consumed annually about 9,000,000 of this total have been sold absolutely new.

When the existing stocks have been cleared out the public will get good stuff, and will probably wonder why they ever submitted to drinking raw, fiery spirit.

CALIFORNIA.

By GEORGE FITCH

Author of "At Good Old Sitwah"

The Californian has a good many things to brag about, and is kept so busy doing it that he does not give the University of California as much publicity as it deserves.

California is a young state, but its University is older than that of the State of New York or Illinois. It is also larger than either. It is the third largest University in the country. As soon as the early Californians got over the gold fever and had finished permanently suspending their underrable citizens, they founded a University; and they have given it their earnest attention ever since.

The University of California is located in a cold damp breeze at Berkeley across the bay from California. It doesn't dazzle the tourist with its buildings at present, but when its great building plan is finished it will have $7,500,000 worth of white stone buildings and maybe some more famous professors. The California hills rise up behind it and the pine woods stand around it. It has no great concrete stadium, but it has a Greek theatre which has advertised it as effectively as if its football team had beaten Harvard's. The secret in advertising is to get things first.

The University of California has a fine commercial school, a Government agricultural experiment station, the Lick observatory, a large number of students from Hawaii who play a one-

WE POINT WITH PRIDE TO THE STORE THAT SAVES YOU MONEY.

Ten Strong Reasons

Why You should Buy Your Furniture from us.

- 1st—We produce our own lumber which goes into the Furniture and saves considerable in cost.
- 2nd—We have the Surface Oak finish for our Furniture, which is the only thing of its kind in the country.
- 3rd—We import our own Coverings for our Parlour Suites, thus saving two duties, as most of the imported Suites come from Canada and the United States, and they have to import their coverings from France or some of the European countries, and pay duty into Canada or the States. We avoid the second duty by getting the Covering ourselves and having the frames made here.
- 4th—We have our Springs made from the wire by the only Weaver in the country; also the Oxford or Copper Wire Spring by machines too.
- 5th—We have our Mattresses made by machinery in our own building, the only machine of its kind in the country. It can produce 50 against 10 by hand, thus saving considerable in cost.
- 6th—We are producing the Excelsior or Wood Fibre and cutting the cost in two, which will mean considerable saving in the making of Mattresses.
- 7th—We are also selling agents for the celebrated Ideal Beds and Springs and sell at factory price.
- 8th—We also have the COMBINATION LATH and SPRING BED, the only thing of its kind in the country.
- 9th—Having the factory in the same building, we can handle all sizes all repairing; in fact you can choose your own Coverings for Parlour Suites, Mattresses, etc., and have it made to order.
- 10th—Our motto (last but not least) is to sell at the lowest possible prices, and despite the serious advance in prices all around, we are, where possible, reducing the prices, WHICH SHOULD APPEAL TO EVERY HOUSEKEEPER when a need of Furniture and Furnishings, as we now by arrangement work from the "Tree to the Home," thus cutting out all middlemen's profits.

In Aid of Cots for the Wounded.

On the afternoon of Monday, July 26th, at 3 o'clock, that charming Pastoral play: "On Zephyr's Wings" will be repeated in the grounds of Mr. Browning's residence, Victoria, King's Bridge Road. The fairer's wand will again turn shepherds into princes, shepherdesses will dance upon the sward, while Cupid flits among the trees and wields its magic dart. Mordacite with her faries and her gnomes bringing discord, will draw her magic circle round fair Graciosa, but Zephyr's lightest breath will break the spell, and Love reign over all. NUMBER 23 THE PROMENADE

Our Debt to the Fishermen.

Devoted Work of Mine-Sweepers—A Patriotic Record.

(By Our Naval Correspondent.)

The fishing population of our East Coast has been, in proportion to its numbers, more affected than any other industrial community by the war. The nation will certainly feel the greater regret that the fishermen and their families should have to endure the hardship and loss occasioned by the recent cowardly attacks of the submarines when it is remembered that since the outbreak of hostilities, it has been calculated that over 25,000 craft of all descriptions, including about 2,000 steamers, manned by nearly 100,000 hardy seamen, were engaged in the supply of fish food to the people of Great Britain and Ireland. The annual haul was valued at over 10 millions sterling, and the bulk of it came from the North Sea. The daily sales at the ports approximated in value to about £35,000. These figures give some idea of the extent and importance of this particular business when it was suddenly and radically disturbed by the advent of war.

Some thousands of the men were members of the Royal Naval Reserve, and the first call came to them at the mobilization for war. Many hundreds were distributed among the vessels of the Fleet, and it was partly with the surplus left over after vacancies in this direction had been filled that the Royal Naval Division was organized. With the institution of the patrol service, the valuable aid of the fishermen, with their special knowledge of the seaboard places on both sides of the North Sea, and their well-known qualities of courage and endurance, was welcomed. They became useful members of the crews of yachts and other auxiliaries engaged on this duty, and in some cases large fishing vessels taken up by the Admiralty for this work retained their own crews, who were specially entered as naval seamen.

Menace of the Mine.

The patrol work was not the only service which made calls upon the fishermen. The readiness with which the men came forward when a hasty expansion of the mine-sweeping flotillas became inevitable was most praiseworthy. Even in September last it was stated that upwards of 6,000 were employed with their trawlers and drifters in the perilous work of mine-sweeping. These numbers have since been largely extended, for the operation has had to be performed over areas further at sea, and has been in progress at the Dartanelles and elsewhere. Quietly, patiently, and doggedly, the fishermen have carried out this arduous and dangerous work throughout the bitterest grades of winter with the brave spirit which

The industry kept going. Those fishermen, too, who continued to follow their calling found that "business as usual" had been without its added risks. Scores of fishing vessels have been destroyed by mines or German craft in addition to the more serious loss caused by the submarine attack. Not only was the protection of fishermen provided for at the Conference of 1907, but the very fact that fishing constitutes the sole means of livelihood for a large number of families ought to have been a guarantee against molestation of those engaged in it. It is said that more than 15,000 men, women, and children assisted by fishing in Grimshy before the war. In spite of the crews, however the skippers and crews have refused to be daunted. The industry has been kept going on numerous occasions, moreover, when the men have rendered useful service to the brethren of the Royal Naval Reserve. It is recalled that when the midship was lost in the Channel was a Brixham trawler which, led with the seamanship by Sk. William Pillar in the rough picked up 70 officers and men of the battleship. In time of stress, and under the most severe conditions, the fishermen have shown their devotion and loyalty, and deeds of valor and endurance, which earned the regard and gratitude of their countrymen.—The Times.

dominates these dauntless to the sea. They have enabled the "dourous menace of the mine" to be kept in hand. It has sometimes been imagined that mine-sweeping was wholly a product of this war, such is not the case. Sweeping has been a regular practice in our waters for as long as the submarine mine has been in existence. It was first carried out by the boats of the ships, but in April, 1890, Lord purchased five trawlers at Gillingfleetwood, and North Shields certain experimentally how far modern trawl was adapted to the submarine mines. These boats of the institution of the Trawler Section of the Royal Naval Reserve, in 1900, at the beginning of last year 1,500 officers and men were sent to the German use of mines expected and provided against, when it was carried to such extent limits the Trawler Section "form valuable nucleus on which such other flotillas could be organized."

More than once the courageous and gallant conduct of the fishermen engaged in mine-sweeping has been recognized. In February there was issued a report on clearing of the minefield laid by Germans during their raid on the North Sea, in which several officers and men were mentioned. Skipper T. Tringali, of the trawler Solon, was awarded the distinguished Service Cross for his own responsibility, good assistance of a steamer which had been mined. It was on Christmas night, low water and very dark, the stricken vessel was shown lights, so had to be searched for the minefield. Another skipper, Thomas B. Betton, of the drifter Trawler, kept to his station, in order to mark a safe channel for the other drifters were driven in by the weather. It is a striking tribute to the work of the men sweeping mines—to the iron nerves of the fishermen—that in the Dartanelles, even the chance of hitting, they fulfilled the duty of clearing the minefield and proved themselves indispensable to the operations of the Fleet. No more stern test of man's mettle could be imagined than that he should have to "carry" when death is doubly present in mines below the water and bursting above.

The industry kept going. Those fishermen, too, who continued to follow their calling found that "business as usual" had been without its added risks. Scores of fishing vessels have been destroyed by mines or German craft in addition to the more serious loss caused by the submarine attack. Not only was the protection of fishermen provided for at the Conference of 1907, but the very fact that fishing constitutes the sole means of livelihood for a large number of families ought to have been a guarantee against molestation of those engaged in it. It is said that more than 15,000 men, women, and children assisted by fishing in Grimshy before the war. In spite of the crews, however the skippers and crews have refused to be daunted. The industry has been kept going on numerous occasions, moreover, when the men have rendered useful service to the brethren of the Royal Naval Reserve. It is recalled that when the midship was lost in the Channel was a Brixham trawler which, led with the seamanship by Sk. William Pillar in the rough picked up 70 officers and men of the battleship. In time of stress, and under the most severe conditions, the fishermen have shown their devotion and loyalty, and deeds of valor and endurance, which earned the regard and gratitude of their countrymen.—The Times.

H. James Renounces U. S. Citizenship.

Famous Writer Takes This Way of Expressing Disapproval of Luke-warm Attitude of American Government. London, July 17.—The report that Henry James had decided to renounce his American citizenship and to take out naturalization papers as a British subject was confirmed to-day. The reason for the novelist's decision was not stated authoritatively, but it was suggested that he wished in this fashion to mark his dissatisfaction with the policy of the American Government, particularly in its abstention from any protest against what Mr. James regards as a gross violation of the rights of humanity by Germany. The correspondent called up Mr. James on the telephone last night to ask him if these reports were correct, but he replied that he did not wish to say anything on the subject at present.

ALL-IRISH ARMY IN ENGLAND.

One of the new branches of Kitchener's army in training now in a camp south of London is an Irish army, commanded by an Irish general. This is the first time in British history that such a force has been assembled. There have always been Irish troops in the British army, and sometimes they have even been in the majority, but hitherto the largest purely Irish unit has been the regiment. This is the first time that an entire division of Irish troops has been made up.

The "Irish Division," as it is technically known, received its first training on the soil of its native isle, and has only recently been brought to England. Soon after its arrival it was inspected by the King and Lord Kitchener, and the latter set his seal of approval by declaring it "one of the finest divisions in the new army."

BULGARIA STOPS RAILWAY TRAFFIC TO TURKEY.

London, July 19.—"A Ministerial order was issued to-day," says the Times Sofia, Bulgaria, correspondent, under date of last Thursday, "definitely suspending railway communication with Turkey. The step appears to have been taken in consequence of continued Turkish interference with traffic, and may probably be regarded as marking the collapse of the negotiations for the cessation of Bulgaria of the Dedagatch railway."

NINE MACHINE GUNS IN A WEEK.

St. John, N.B., July 16.—Subscriptions for nine machine guns have been received by a committee who have been canvassing since Wednesday. One of the guns given by ten donors, will be for the 26th Battalion. The other eight are each the gift of individuals, and will be used wherever the militia Department directs. The committee will secure at least twelve before stopping their work.

INDIA WILL ISSUE LOAN.

London, July 19.—That the Indian Government expects to secure money at a lower rate of interest than the home government is indicated by a despatch to the Morning Post from Calcutta, which says that India has decided to issue an internal loan of $15,000,000, bearing four per cent. interest. The issue will be at par, and redeemable in from five to eight years.

HEAVY LIQUOR PENALTIES.

London, July 18.—Besides limiting the hours during which liquor may be sold in towns where the government has taken over control of the sale of liquor, the Board of Control, appointed to deal with the munitions areas, has ordered that there shall be no treating, and has prohibited the giving of credit for liquor. The penalty for contravention of the regulations is fixed at six months imprisonment and a fine of $500.

When little Tommy arrived home from school the other day he looked down in the mouth, a most unusual thing for the jolly, mischievous youngster. "What's the matter?" asked his mother. "Nothing," replied Tommy. "Oh, yes, there is," said his mother. "Out with it."

"I've been punished," sobbed Tommy. "What for?" asked the mother. "Nothing—"

"Nonsense!" exclaimed his mother. "What is it?"

"Well," halted the boy, "teacher asked us all a question, and I was the only one who could answer it, and she caned me."

"Caned you for your intelligence!" exclaimed mother. "Preposterous! What was the question?"

"Teacher said: 'Who put the dead mouse in my desk?' and I said, 'I did!'"

ST. JOHN WILL GIVE AEROPLANE FOR WAR.

St. John, N.B., July 16.—A public meeting will be called on Monday by Mayor Frink, for the purpose of considering steps towards raising contributions of $1,500 for the purchase of an aeroplane, as a gift from the people of New Brunswick to the Imperial authorities. A local citizen who volunteered for foreign service, but who has not yet been accepted, in his anxiety to do something for the Empire, is securing pledges from nine other citizens with his own to meet the cost of a machine gun, and has half a dozen signed up since yesterday. Preparations are being made by the Lieutenant-Governor and Mayor for a patriotic and imperial meeting on August 4 to observe the anniversary of the declaration of war.

THE UNITED STATES WASHINGTON. The text of the American submarine warfare was Berlin to-day by Ambassador and made public here to reveals that the Imperial Government has been informed of the intention of the States to regard as "deliberately" any repetition by combat German naval vessels, or contravention of American States in the new note exacted from whatever quarter without "compromise and cost." In official diplomatic communication is regarded as the strongest and most emphatic announcement that has come from Washington Government beginning of its correspondence the belligerents of Europe. President Wilson returned, N.H., to-night, to await news. On the assumption that has already admitted the her practices by attempting them as against Britain. States in the new note exacted from disavowing the act of its naval command in the Lusitania, or for reparation for American life so far as reparation can be the needless destruction of life by an illegal act." Referring to the German's expression of hope note, that freedom of the be established in some form before the end of the present States declares this object accomplished, and invites the "Deliberately Unfriendly."

The German Ambassador at Washington is reported to have stated that the U. S. Note will bring a reply, although one may not be made for more than a month. In face of this announced delay as to a written reply, it will be interesting to watch how the Germans will reply by deed in the meantime. The last German reply in words was accompanied by a reply in deeds, in which a determined attempt was made to repeat the Lusitania tragedy by sinking the liner Orduna. The clear evidence of the captain of the Orduna is conclusive on this point. Last February President Wilson warned the Kaiser that Germany would be held to "strict accountability for any loss of American lives by the illegal and inhuman campaign of the German sea-wolves against unarmed merchantmen. This warning was flagrantly set at naught by the murder of nearly 100 Americans on the Lusitania. The Kaiser has not only refused to give the United States any satisfaction for this attack on her neutrality, but has rewarded the sea-lions for carrying it out, and has attempted to repeat it. In his last Note, President Wilson informs the German Government that it is the intention of the United States to regard as "deliberately" any repetition by commanders of German naval vessels of acts in contravention of American rights. This is merely a stronger way of putting the position already laid down by President Wilson. President Wilson also expresses the belief that Germany will no longer "refrain from disavowing the wanton act of its naval commander in sinking the Lusitania, or from offering reparation for American lives lost, so far as reparation can be made for the needless destruction of human life by an illegal act."

For the Kaiser to disavow this act, would be for him to disavow an act deliberately planned and foreshadowed by him through the acts of his embassy at Washington, and for him to disavow the decoration he gave the submarine commander for carrying it out. Moreover, any such disavowal would be a new scrap of paper to be repudiated at the Kaiser's convenience, as he did with the Belgian treaty, his agreement with the Vatican, and with international usage for honourable warfare. President Wilson will have to judge the Kaiser by his acts, his pledges are worthless.

The unfortunate woman Sibley who with two small babies has been living in a shack on the South Side Hill for some time, as previously alluded to in the Evening Telegram, was taken to the Police Station yesterday afternoon by Detective Tobin. She will be given shelter there while arrangements are being made for a home for herself and the little ones. The weather of the past week must have been very trying on the woman and children, but despite the recent rains and consequent dampness of the improvised shack the little ones appear quite healthy. Since their condition was made known they have been fairly well supplied with food, but the mother is badly in need of some clothing and we feel sure would welcome a few garments from the wardrobe of her more fortunate sisters in the community. Altogether they have spent nearly two months at the mercy of the elements and are really deserving of charity though some of those in the city who are comfortably housed may think the contrary.

A Bad Loyalty.

By RUTH CAMERON.

A group of suffragists who were going out to campaign for their cause were solemnly warned by the organization against one thing. "Don't let anyone declare himself against equal suffrage if you can possibly help it. If you find you can't get him to say he believes in it, let it drop. Don't push him into saying he's against it, for if a man takes that position, he is apt to stick to it no matter what happens, because he thinks he ought to defend an opinion that he has once expressed."

There is a good deal of excellent psychology to that, isn't there? Some People's Opinions Their Standards.

To some people expressing an opinion is like raising a standard. And yet I should not put it that way, for that implies that loyalty to one's opinions is commendable, and it isn't.

To express an opinion is merely to record your mental reaction upon the facts that have so far come before you. Suppose to-morrow brings you new facts. Is there any fine loyalty in refusing to let your mind react upon these, too?

"Opinion is knowledge in the making." If you artificially arrest this process, instead of making knowledge, you ossify your opinion into prejudice.

"All my old opinions were only stages on the way to one I now hold," says Stevenson, "as life itself is only a stage on the way to something else."

No one need be ashamed of having changed an opinion. It is sometimes hard when you have been identified in your friends' minds with one point of view to come out for the other side. It means surprise, questions, perhaps thoughtless ridicule. But remember that the deeper meaning is that you haven't stopped thinking.

Those Dreadful Words "I Was Wrong."

I suppose the fundamental reason why we hate to admit a change of opinion is that we are thereby saying, "I was wrong." But which is worse, to have made a mistake, or to continue to make it? As someone has said, "He who never changes his opinions never corrects his mistakes and will be no wiser on the morrow than he is to-day."

Everyone makes mistakes and keeps making them. The new opinion you have formed may be no nearer the truth than the old. It is only a pledge that your mind is still open and that you love truth more than you do the stability of fixed opinions.

Question—What do you consider man's most characteristic fault and what the commonest fault of the weaker sex? We were discussing this question the other night and decided to get your opinion.—A Regular Reader.

Answer—Every time I start to answer that question I am prevented by thinking of some individual who does not have the fault I am about to assign his sex. But of course that's inevitable. It seems to me that conceit is the commonest man fault. The traditions and inheritance of ages plants the seed of conceit in men's minds and mothers, sisters,

Big Catch at Battery.

From present indications it looks as if the majority of the people at the North Battery will reap a rich harvest from the fishery this season. The Messrs. Burt and Reid are high-liners and they have big voyages ashore already. Mr. George Lowe, who is always looked upon as a lucky one, is well fished too. Yesterday fully 200 quintals of fish were hauled altogether from Burt's trap. Similar catches were made on two other occasions by Mr. Burt since Saturday last. A few days ago Mr. Snelgrove, of the Battery, met with a heavy loss. On reaching the grounds he found his trap overflowed with fish, equivalent to a summer's voyage. As soon as he opened the "gates" the bottom fell out of the trap. As a result all the fish was lost and the trap had to be taken out of the water for repairs. However, on the whole prospects are exceedingly bright for a big voyage at the Battery.

Capt. Blandford Honored,

BY PAPAL DELEGATE.
Capt. Arch Blandford, of the S. S. Glencoe, is in receipt of a letter from His Excellency Most Rev. P. F. Stagni, O. S. M., Papal Delegate to Canada and Newfoundland, who recently made a trip from Placentia to Port aux Basques. That the Captain of the Glencoe enjoys the confidence of his employers, officers and crew, and the travelling public is a well known fact, but it is particularly pleasing to note that the distinguished passenger who recently travelled with him has been pleased to express his appreciation of the courtesies received from the captain, officers and men of the Glencoe. The following is a copy of the letter which needless to say, Capt. Blandford prizes very much, particularly as it comes from one filled with responsibilities and pressing duties but withal deeply appreciative of the little courtesies shown during the trip.

Port aux Basques, Nfld.,
12th July, 1915.
Captain Arch Blandford,
S. S. Glencoe,
Dear Captain Blandford,—

Before leaving Port aux Basques, may I take an opportunity of saying how deeply sensible I am of the uniform kindness shown me by you and your officers and men during the trip on the S. S. Glencoe from Placentia. The trip was indeed a very pleasant and agreeable one, which we shall long remember, and associated with which we shall particularly recall the courtesy and seamanship of the excellent captain.

It will afford me much pleasure to communicate these sentiments of appreciation to those who have entrusted to you your present position of responsibility.

With every good wish for your continued happiness and prosperity, I remain, my dear Captain Blandford,
Very sincerely yours,
P. F. STAGNI, O.S.M.,
Archbishop Aquila,
Apostolic Delegate.

Beats all Precedents

IN LEAGUE FOOTBALL.
This season beats all precedents for postponed football matches on account of adverse weather conditions. So far eight games have been deferred. The C.E.L. Feildians and Stars were ready to meet last evening but play had to be called off because of the inclement weather. It is understood that the entire net proceeds this year are to be devoted to the Patriotic Fund, and it is regrettable that the receipts thus far are below any previous year since the inception of the League for a similar number of games played. On Monday evening next, if conditions are suitable, the Collegians and B. I. S. will face off. These teams are the closest runners up for the championship, so that the outcome of the game means a great deal. Moreover, a meeting of the Collegians and B. I. S. has been eagerly looked forward to for some time, and no doubt a large attendance of spectators will be in evidence Monday evening.

The Polam Hall in Dry Dock.

The S.S. Polam Hall, which struck a rock near Cape Broyle and came to port in a leaky condition, as referred to in yesterday's Telegram, went into dry dock yesterday evening for repairs. There were six feet of water in the forepeak, though the ship's damages are not as great as at first thought. Repairs will not take long.

Stirring Story of French Soldier's Heroism, Who Held the Germans at Bay.

The story of a nameless hero who faced certain death with words of encouragement to his comrades on his lips, is told in the "Intransigent" of Paris.

One morning, while the French were preparing to explode a series of mines, a curious noise was heard in the trench in which "The Wrestler" was posted.

"The Wrestler," armed with a pickaxe, swung it round and round, dealing destruction on all hands, while the Germans vainly tried to reach the fuses to render them useless.

But it was too late. There was a deafening roar, the earth opened, and every man of the enemy was engulfed.

Berlin Wrote the Lusitania Warning.

Providence, July 18.—The Providence Journal will say to-morrow: "The German Embassy, which has persistently refused either to affirm or deny the statement that it sent out the advertisement the day before the Lusitania sailed from New York, warning American citizens against taking passage on that ship, not only sent out the advertisement, but was ordered to do so by direct instructions from Berlin.

"This translation also shows that the order to issue the warning was sent out from Berlin six days before it actually appeared in the newspapers.

"On May 10 the following message was sent out from the Sayville wireless station by Captain Boy-Ed to the head of the Admiralty Department in Berlin:—

"Botschaft hat 30. April durch Annoncen allen bedeutendsten Zeitungen Vereinigte Staaten amerikanische Reisenden noch einmal vor Kriegzone und Benutzung englischer Dampfer gewarnt.

"Your message of the 30th of April was given to American travellers in all important newspapers of the United States, warning them again of the war zone and the use of English steamers.

What Are You Doing for that Eczema?

"Nothing; I've about given up trying to cure it."

"That is not wise. Do as I did and you will probably be cured in a short time. I used Zylex and Zylex Soap with it and my Eczema began to improve at once.

There Was a Food Famine.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—I want to contradict a statement made by Capt. A. Kean, which appeared in the Evening Telegram June 26th: "There is no destitution, nothing worse than a tobacco famine."

or at Hr. Deep will bear me out that for three months this spring the people of Hr. Deep were living absolutely on dry bread and drinking the unsweetened liquid of boiled spruce and further, when Capt. Kean arrived at Hr. Deep, June 21st, there were 3 families living utterly on herring.

realized this past spring that food famine is far sharper than tobacco famine. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space. Yours truly, A. SUBSCRIBER. Great Hr. Deep, July 19th, 1915. Ferrovim is the pleasing name of the best preparation of beef, iron and wine. If you are anaemic, exhausted, pallid, try Ferrovim and you will be gratified by the result.

The Chairman, Messrs. Harris, Ayre, Macnamara, Bradshaw, Mackinnon, McPherson, Morris, Anderson and Withers were present at last night's meeting of the Civic Commission.

J. P. Blackwood, on behalf of J. P. McLoughlin, wrote the Board re property on LeMarchant Road. The matter will be considered at a special meeting.

Garrett Byrne informed the Board that the defective water pipe complained of will be attended to.

Messrs. Taylor and Wiseman submitted plans for a store to be erected on Haywards Avenue. Further particulars are required before the matter can be considered.

James Harding, in reply to a communication from the Board, wrote saying that he had been given permission to erect the building complained of some three years ago.

The Inspector General forwarded a copy of a report made by Const. R. Mercer, which stated that the sanitary staff had emptied night soil from one of the cars into the sewer grating in Convent Square to the annoyance of residents in that locality.

Miss Kate Wall, 135 Gower Street, applied for sewerage under the Small Homes Act. The Board was referred to the Sewerage Department.

The Deputy Minister of Finance acknowledged receipt of cheques for $28,242.52 and $3,000, being the city's yearly interest on the city debt and half-yearly contribution to the Fire Department respectively.

Sir E. P. Morris, in reply to a letter from the Board re the purchase of a piece of land for street improvement on Monkstown Road, stated that he was willing to visit the place and consult with the Engineer on the matter.

George Williams, Bond Street, applied for permission to erect a workshop at the rear of his dwelling. Referred to the Engineer.

Applications from J. S. L. to erect a garage on Queen's Road, from M. Vavasour to repair house, 70 Pleasant Street, and from E. C. Cousins to erect a shed on the Southside were all referred to the Engineer.

With the passing of the rolls and other routine business the meeting adjourned at 10 o'clock.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Two young lads, Geo. Sheppard and Geo. Martin, aged about 12 years, while in the country trouting on Wednesday last lost their way in the fog. At night fall the little chaps put boughs together for a shelter from the rain, and after saying their prayers, lay themselves down for the night. Friends at home becoming uneasy organized a search party, and at 2 a.m. Thursday, Messrs. James Garland, Cooper and Freeman, Yelkman, of Messrs. R. D. McRae & Sons, found the little chaps near Bow's Pond, several miles from town. On being asked if they were frightened, one little fellow said: "No, but I would sooner be home." A truthful remark, no doubt.

The trouters and others who went "on the barrens" on Wednesday, had a rather hard experience during the afternoon and night, as rain came down in torrents. The sound of the train whistle was very welcome. Poor catches of trout were secured.

Mr. F. C. Archibald secured sixty quintals of fish in his trap on Tuesday evening. Well done, Frank.

Rev. Mr. Ritchie, of St. Andrew's Church here, will visit Bell Island next week and occupy the Presbyterian pulpit there on Tuesday. The minister in charge of Bell Island will do similar service here.

Mr. Oliver Leach, manager of the H. G. Boot & Shoe Manufacturing Co., leaves in a few days for Brocton, on a business trip.

The play "Shaun Aroon" put before the public last night in the Academy Hall by the C.C.C. was a grand success. Everybody present (and the hall was filled) thoroughly enjoyed it.

A little more care on the part of some St. John's seed dealers would save some outport growers much anxiety and considerable loss. We know of one case at least this year where "purple-top sweed" rain seed was ordered, and "Golden Ball" Aberdeen was sent, although the former name was plainly written on the package. The uninitiated may not understand the "Golden Ball" Aberdeen is an early variety, while "Purple-top Sweed" is a late or winter-keeping quality. Too much care cannot be taken in this respect.

Anniversary Mass

AT MOUNT CARMEL.
The annual Requiem Mass, postponed on Sunday last, will take place tomorrow morning, weather permitting, in the Mortuary Chapel, at Mount Carmel Cemetery, commencing at 10:30. The celebrant will be Rev. J. J. McDermott, Administrator, who will also preach on the occasion. In the way of a reminder it is scarcely necessary to make any appeal, suffice to say that the customary yearly collection will be taken up to be devoted towards the maintenance of God's Acre and that the response will be liberal and the collection a record one it is safe to predict.

Stob's Camp, near Hawick, Scotland, June 22, '15.
My Dear Madge,—How are you by this time? I am fine and enjoying perfect health.
Your lovely letter to hand to-day. I was so glad to hear from you and from home, but sorry to hear you've been so very unwell.

Well, we are not at Edinburgh, but at a place named Stob's, near Hawick, about 40 miles from Edinburgh under canvas. We're a gay crowd and we enjoy ourselves fine. There are about 4 battalions here, Scotch, Angles and Sutherlands, and about 2,000 German prisoners. The trains go past every hour of the day and they are not our Nhd. trains to travel, they go about 60 and 70 miles an hour taking troops, munitions of war, Red Cross ambulance cars, artillery and machine guns. I tell you it is almost impossible for a soldier to be lonely or down-hearted.

I'm surprised to hear you don't get my letters. I don't just understand how that is. I have sent as many as 14 letters one mail. The fact is that is almost the most I have done since I came over here.
I received Miss Churchill's letter also. Rosa's did not get time to reply to Miss C.'s yet, but will soon. You probably don't understand that soldiers have to cook and do for themselves, but we do Madge dear, 'tis not your cooking though.

I sent mamma a book of views of Edinburgh; did it turn up all right? I heard from Harry, but it was addressed to the Castle, therefore it was a week late.
Well, Madge, dear, what else can I say? The war situation is apparently unchanged. Personally I believe it will be a long, hard war unless the Almighty power says, "there shall be peace." I don't know when we shall be going to the front, but I'm perfectly satisfied when and where. I fear that every British subject that is physically fit will have to go, and surely no British subject would be cowardly enough to hang back until conscription is enforced. Personally I don't only consider this an honor to King George and the Empire, but also to the King of Kings. June the 4th was my birthday. I was out to Edinburgh to see an eye specialist. Nothing could be done for me. It's the beginning of a cataract and will have to grow before it can be treated.
It is nearly dark, and the mail soon closes.
Good-bye; God be with you till we meet again.
Love to all.
Your loving brother,
FRED.

Drudgery.

By the adoption of modern gas appliances you may abolish drudgery from your home.
GAS COOKERS eliminate the drudgery of lighting fires, the handling of coal and ashes, and enable you to prepare meals in half the time required with old-fashioned appliances.

GAS WATER HEATERS are indispensable in every well-regulated household.
GAS LIGHTING is best for the eyes and the pocket.

THE PERFECTION GAS IRON is a recent addition to labour, time, and money saving appliances. This Nickel-plated Gas Iron may be had complete with stand and a length of metallic tubing for the small sum of $3.00, and should be in every household.
With the "PERFECTION GAS IRON" a whole day's ironing may be done at a cost of five cents, give better results, and do more work in half the usual time. It is always hot and ready, clean and smooth. Send post card, or phone 97, and the Gas Company will send a man to give practical demonstration of any, or all, up-to-date household appliances.

NOTE.—It is important that Gas Cookers and other appliances be kept perfectly clean and free from grease. Use "SO-KLEEN" enamel cleaner. It will quickly remove all stains and grease from metal or enamel. 25 cents per packet.—July 23, 1915.

THE POPULAR BRITISH

The popular British was well patronized by well-pleased patrons when the new programme was offered for their approval yesterday. The entertainment is a splendidly balanced one being brimful of interest throughout. Everything has been whipped into shape and the manner in which the photo-plays are shown (and the high class thereof) can not be excelled anywhere. As remarked yesterday the new singer, Miss Dorothy Knowles, is due to appear very shortly and she will undoubtedly receive the warm welcome for which Newfoundland is noted.

THE AEROPLANE CONCERT.

Arrangements for this big show are nearly complete. It will be a great programme and all interested in the Aeroplane Fund should attend. The programme for this night will include anything of the kind ever presented here. Mrs. Rossley has secured the best of our local artists. Mrs. Colville, the dainty actress, who has appeared in so many of our best entertainments; Mrs. Chater, Miss Flora CHIT, Miss Mary Doyle, Miss Frances Ballantyne and Miss Bradshaw; the String Band from the Caylipo, Mr. T. H. O'Neill, The Sunshine Girls, Bonnie Rossley, Jack and Marie Rossley in their own original act, and Mr. A. Crocker, the pianist of St. John's; Mr. Jago with his violin and others. Under the distinguished presence of His Excellency the Governor and Lady Davidson.

FINE PROGRAMME AT THE CRESCENT.

The Crescent Picture Palace was largely attended last night and patrons were well pleased with the fine programme presented. The featured picture, "Ticket of Leave Man" was very favourably commented on. Broncho Billy's Christmas Spirit, a good western drama featuring G. M. Anderson. The other pictures are all good, and this show will be repeated this afternoon and to-night, and should draw big houses.

THE THOU

A NEEDLESS SACRIFICE

I was so sorry to see at this about a meeting in which Sunday School had given the funds hitherto spent annual treat, to the Aeroplan fund. With all the necessity of fund I hardly think that it is at all necessary, yet in School. Treat is a Red Letter every child. His attendance the summer is more regular interest is keener because when the Pic Nic comes train or carriage or furniture is carried along with a crowd whose lungs seem rest throughout the whole. Surely the few hundred spared from the Aeroplan many a child it means that pleats holiday for the year when everything is done pleasure and when he can laden with his prizes won and the blessed bag of means so much to him.

Surely there are men whom the cost of the heart less than the disapproval of two or three hundred an inclined to think that will be reconsidered and Sunday Schools will think their scholars suffer such a sacrifice which is im greater than any felt by the subscribers of the fund.

All of us are continuing forward to some event to enjoy—to some time when spirits are kept up by spectacles through which hope ever beckons us on darkest hour. The picnic children the event of the some of them see little country life otherwise.

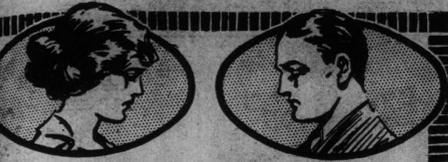

How can we bear them? It is surely a should not be put to the PROHIBITION

Someone says to me, "on that dry subject?" Prohibition is one of which we can conserve money, health and happy the future times when war will touch us far than now.

Prohibition will mean increasing amount of money each year for savings a better conditions of life. It is true that the savings spent in liquor will rally those who now their families, yet it is the prosperity of the Colony will increase in its prosperous people.

The proof of this is by the wonderful example of which we were the editor of the Telegram.

Break up Early

Do you suffer from Nerve Troubles

Our nerves are like an intricate network of telegraph wires. They are controlled and nourished by a portion of the brain known as the nerve centres. The condition of the nerve centres depends upon the condition of the bodily health. When the bodily health is lowered the nerves suffer in sympathy. Then it is that we are tormented with "nerves," headaches, neuralgia and nervous debility. In such cases there is nothing to equal "Wingarnis," the "Wine of Life." "Wingarnis" is a powerful nerve food which acts directly upon the nerve centres and gives them new life and new vitality. The result is wonderful.

Begin to get well FREE.

"Wingarnis" is made in England, and you can obtain a liberal free trial bottle—no purchase necessary, but enough to do you good, by sending 6 cents stamps (to pay postage) to COLEMAN & CO., Ltd., Wingarnis Works, Norwich, England. THE THOUGHTS OF THEOBALD.

A NEEDLESS SACRIFICE.

I was so sorry to see an item tell about a meeting in which a certain Sunday School had decided to give the funds hitherto spent on the annual treat, to the Aeroplane Fund. With all the necessity of the latter and I hardly think that such actions are at all necessary yet. A Sunday School Treat is a Red Letter Day to every child. His attendance during the summer is more regular and his interest is keener because of the day when the Pic Nic comes off and by train or carriage or furniture van, he is carried along with a cheering crowd whose lungs seem to get no rest throughout the whole journey. Surely the few hundreds of dollars that the picnic will cost can be spared from the Aeroplane Fund. To many a child it means the most complete holiday for the year, the day when everything is done for his pleasure and when he can come home laden with his prizes won at racing, and the "blessed bag" of sweets that mean so much to him. Surely there are men of means to whom the cost of the picnic would hurt less the disappointed hearts of two or three hundred children. I am inclined to think that the decision will be reconsidered and I hope no Sunday Schools will think of making their scholars suffer such a sacrifice—a sacrifice which is immeasurably greater than any felt by the poorest of the subscribers of the Aeroplane Fund. All of us are continually looking forward to some event that we shall enjoy—to some time when we shall be such and such a position, and our spirits are kept up by the noisy spectacles through which we like to look and a good thing it is too that hope ever beckons us on over in the darkest hour. The picnic is to many children the event of the summer and some of them see little enough of country life otherwise. How can we bear to disappoint them? It is surely an issue that should not be put to them to decide.

PROHIBITION.

Someone says to me, "What! more on that dry subject? Even so. Prohibition is one of the means by which we can conserve resources of money, health and happiness against the future times when the burden of war will touch us far more heavily than now. Prohibition will mean an ever increasing amount of money available each year for savings as well as for better conditions of life for many. It is true that the saving of money here spent in liquor will affect principally those who now indulge and their families, yet it is also true that the prosperity of the City and the Colony will increase in proportion to the prosperous people. The proof of this is demonstrated by the wonderful example of Russia. Details of which we were treated by the editor of the Telegram last Saturday.

Prohibition will mean that the cells of the Penitentiary will be idle for most of the year; it will mean that far less accommodation will be required at the Poor House than at present. In a moral, physical and financial sense the sale of spirits can do and is doing incalculable injury. It is granted that the injury is done by the abuse of spirits. Rightly used they are perfectly safe and there would be no quarrel if they did not contain such powers of evil. The man who sells liquor does not deliberately intend that his business shall make moral wrecks of his customers. He is in the business because there is money in it, and in one sense the Government has created a monopoly for him by restricting the number of licensed houses and forcing the profits to come to a comparatively few stores.

So the fight is not so much against the publican or liquor as a fight to raise men out of the pit into which they have fallen and into which they are only too apt to drag others. Is it worth while? I think so.

ON GETTING CREDIT.

How is it that we are all so eager to get credit for what we do? Perhaps I should not say all—for sometimes one will see of an anonymous donor and hear of charities done in secret—but for the most part, in church life, in business life, we see men giving—not in the true sense of giving, expecting no return—but with the expectancy and sometimes with the stipulation that their names will appear in the newspapers. This self-interest is encouraged and capital is made from it by such promises as "those giving a dollar or more will have their amounts acknowledged in the paper," and I notice what a lot of space that newspapers are expected to give in this way. At any rate it is a scorning of the value of the widow's mite, which was held in such high estimation by the God-Man two thousand years ago. I was surprised to hear not long ago from the lips of a clergyman that if he prepared a good sermon he wanted the credit for it.

He seemed to put his own interest above the good his sermon contained. What matter who perform a good deed so long as it is performed? "Take heed that ye do not your alms before men, to be seen of them; . . . that you may have glory of men . . ." (Matt. vi.)

A NEW GOSPEL.

This war is not without its uses in bringing home to men that they are intended to work primarily for the community and not for themselves. Lloyd George practically tells the workman that their powers are not their own—that they hold them in trust for the common good. The workmen are perfectly satisfied to acknowledge this, but they cannot feel that the profit from their work benefits the State as much as it benefits the capitalists who employ them.

and who use this war to enrich their own pockets. That is the stumbling block, and to a great extent it justifies the demand of the workman for increased wages while his employer gets increased profits. Remove this stumbling block and the road will be open to the time when everyone's powers will be absorbed in service, the one condition of true human happiness. The rich man may say "Can I not do what I like with mine own?" But the higher law answers: "It is not yours; you hold it in trust for the common good." So the New Gospel, (really as old as the first man,) is teaching men in this war that all their possessions, eye, even their lives, are to be yielded for the common good. It is not a palatable doctrine for the wealthy or those with possessions, but to many whose thoughts are of a regenerated world, it is almost the only bright spot in the chaos of this terrible war.

THE CELEBRITIES GIVEN.

At a large dinner party given by Lord Stratford after the Crimean War, it was proposed that every one should write on a slip of paper the name which appeared most likely to descend to posterity with renown. When the papers were opened every one of them contained the name of Florence Nightingale.

And it is a fact that now after fifty years and more, not a general of the Crimean War on either side can be named by one person in ten. The one name that rises instantly is that of Florence Nightingale. A soldier said "Before she came there was such cussin' and swearin', but after that it was as holy as a church."

I wonder if in fifty years time, one in ten will easily remember the names of Kitchener, French, Joffre, George V., or the Kaiser Wilhelm. Maybe there is a name yet to come—a heaven-sent visitor who will have more to do with the eventual settling of differences than any of the millitants, and whose name, because of his action, will tower above all. And how difficult will the settling of differences be. One can imagine the emity which is being produced every day, and surely it would seem that more than one generation will pass before German and English will be friends again. That peace will come quickly is surely a proper prayer.

Select Medicine

Carefully.

Purgatives are dangerous. They gripe, cause burning pains and make the constipated condition worse. Physicians say the most ideal laxative is Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut; they are exceedingly mild, composed only of health-giving vegetable extracts. Dr. Hamilton's Pills restore activity to the bowels, strengthen the stomach, and purify the blood. For constipation, sick headache, biliousness and disordered digestion no medicine on earth makes such remarkable cures as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Try a 25c. box yourself.

Naval Recruits

in Training.

VISIT TO THE CRYSTAL PALACE. "Book here for the Dardanelles." The inspiring notice hits the optic as you pass 112, Strand, the London recruiting office of the Royal Naval Division. There, or at any of the other recruiting offices in the various towns throughout the country, you may take a ticket, entrain for the Crystal Palace, and begin a journey full of interest and healthful experience, with the promise of some good sport in very good company at the finish. It is a journey which has already attracted many thousands of the best of Britain's young men—the clerk, workman, student, architect, accountant, the musician, artist, actor, and many men whose names you will find in Debut. At the Crystal Palace you may see 5,000 of them preparing, under ideal conditions, for the trip to the Dardanelles, where 27,000 of their comrades have already gone to cook the Sultan's Turkey.

The Real Spirit.

As happily and jolly as sandboys, there is no mistaking the keenness of these lads of the Royal Naval Division. Lord Tredegar, one of the commanding officers at the Crystal Palace, relates how one young recruit came before him recently with the request that he should be sent to the front as quickly as possible. "Why?" he was asked. "Well, it's like this, sir, you see," he replied. "My four brothers have been killed at the front and I want to get a bit of my own back." It is but another illustration of the spirit which actuates the men of the Royal Naval Division.

The visitor to the Crystal Palace who thinks of the memorable events which have taken place there in peace time must marvel at the strangeness of the scene. There on the football field, where many a strenuous battle for the Cup has taken place to the accompaniment of roars and cheers from swaying crowds, will now be seen lithe, sturdy youths climbing ropes and obstacles, running, jumping, wrestling, and indulging in all forms of physical exercise to fit themselves for the work ahead. There, inside the cycle track, are bodies of young officers forming fears and shouldering arms, for every man, be he duke's son or cook's son, goes through every stage of the training. Scattered throughout the grounds of the Palace under the trees are dozens of other bodies of men, each being instructed in some part of their training. You will pass a company listening to a lecture, and other groups learning the proper form of salute; the mechanism of the rifle; target practice, shooting, signalling, marching and counter-marching. Turn which way you will, and there on the beautiful green slopes and in the grounds holiday-makers and visitors to the Metropolis know so well you will meet with bodies of blue-uniformed young Britons earnestly working for their country.

Ideal Conditions.

No men are trained under more ideal conditions, and there is ample room for another 5,000. The sectional buildings which represented our various Colonies in the Festival of Empire Exhibition have been transformed into sleeping quarters for the men, while inside the Palace are the various messes where the best of rations are served, and where comforts in the way of reading, writing and recreation rooms, presided over by kindly independent ladies, are provided.

For between two and three months the men are kept at the Crystal Palace, the final training taking place at Blandford, from which place they are drafted as required. To young men of fair intelligence and energy the Royal Naval Division offers excellent opportunities for obtaining special knowledge and securing promotion. There are chances for all types of men between the ages of eighteen and thirty-eight. Not only are they trained for service in the Royal Naval Brigades, but they may specialize for instance, as signalmen and wireless operators for the fleet. All recruits on entry are rated ordinary seamen, and are promoted to able seamen after three months if found efficient. Britain's supremacy lies on the seas, and the Royal Naval Division is determined that that supremacy shall be maintained.

Fads and Fashions.

Shiny, narrow leather belts are very much in evidence on linen suits. A girdle of diamond-shaped checks gives a distinct note to a white taffeta. Very pointed and very flaring tunics are among the prettiest of the season. Green linen jacket and white voile skirt make a charming and cool combination. The flat sailor has trimming of wings and band of grosgrain, muslin or linen. The ruffled white organdie with little dark silk coat has always a charm of its own. A sash helps to bring out the pretty curve of the hips and the slimmness of the figure.

For practical wear the flesh-colored crepe de chine blouses are as much liked as ever. Linen is less seen than any other white material this summer, but it is always in good taste. Tulle or lace is excellent introduced on a striped black-and-white silk gown to soften it. A blue ribbon sash worn with a quaint white frock and a bonnet is very quaint and pretty. Sleeves are sometimes made to match a waistcoat worn inside of taffeta country dresses.

It is said that this autumn will show the two extremes of the straight and the rounded figure. Pleats are a feature in linen skirts, but circular skirts should be avoided in all wash fabrics. Canvas, linen in pastel shades and white tulle showing soutache embroidery are popularly used in Paris. Azure blue, bluish pink and beige are the colors oftenest seen in Paris nowadays, besides black and white.

SAFETY FIRST

Grips like the sole of an athlete's shoe

The cross bars on a football player's shoes give him a firm footing—he is able to run, jump, make sharp, quick turns with more assurance and safety. The specially toughened Safety Bars on Goodrich Tyres cut through the film and obtain a firm grip on the road surface—thus preventing the skid from starting. And there's another reason why you should equip with Goodrich Safety Treads—the extra thickness at the point of contact insures extra wear.
