BLUENOSE EASY WINNER IN FIRST RACE

TRIMS RIVAL AFTER HALIGONIAN BEATS OUT STARTING GUN

Walters Consents to Continue Contest in Spite of Handicap, Overhauls Opponent and Sails Home Without Being Headed

ABOARD C. G. S. ARLEUX, Oct. 16.—The schooner Bluenose, undefeated champion of the North Atlantic fishing fleets, demonstrated anew her superiority over all rivals in the opening race of a series of here today. The Haligonian, designed to beat the Bluenose by the architect of both vessels, proved a poor second on all points of sailing. The challenger beat to the starting line, establishing considerable lead, but Captain Angus Walters, aboard the Bluenose, not only consented to continue the race, but went out and overhauled her rival, passing her shortly after the first mark had been reached. Thereafter the race was a procession, with the Bluenose increasing her lead with each leg. The champion betted the Haligonian off the wind and raced away from her in windward work.

The official finishing time was as follows: Bluenose 1:15.35 Haligonian 1:46.30

CROUSE BEATS GUN

'Crouse beat the gun at starting line, getting across some seconds in lead. Both schooners were notified by the committee boat and Walters agreed to race without protest. They were carrying everything they had and made an impressive picture as they tore for the line. The course selected calls for a run down wind past inner automatic buoy to southeast automatic, broad reach to Shut-In Island buoy, and thence to windward of 11 miles to inner automatic buoy and close haul home. Total distance of 39.9 miles.

BLUENOSE TAKES LEAD

Walters' experience served him in good stead on the run down to the first mark. With free sheets, he gradually cut down the lead established by 'Crouse at start, and when the mark was reached, the Haligonian was a scant length ahead. Both schooners jibed at the mark. Bluenose taking windward position, with courses shaped for Shut-In Island buoy. The champion continued to cut down lead of challenger and five minutes after passing the mark assumed the lead. The schooner was proceeding on course number four, after the sailing committee had signalled for course number three. The skippers version of the course called for broad reach from the inner automatic to Shut-In Island buoy, a close haul to southeast automatic, and windward work via inner automatic to finish line.

INCREASES LEAD.

As the schooners approached Shut-In Island buoy second mark, it appeared from the press boat as though the Bluenose had increased her lead by several lengths with both vessels prevailing to jibe around the mark. The Haligonian worked up to weather. As the schooners jibed around the second mark, it was seen that the Bluenose had established a lead of one minute. Vessels were close hauled for the third mark. Committee advised

Gruesome Relics Found Of Franklin Expedition

Arctic Trader Recalls Story of Ill-Fated Voyage of Discovery

EDMONTON, Alta., Oct. 16.—The relics discovered by Peter Norberg, a trader, in Thunder Cove, Adelaide Peninsula of the ill-fated expedition commanded by Sir John Franklin, which set out from Greenhithe, England, on May 19, 1845, for the purpose of traversing the "Northwest Passage," appear to have been picked up in that region where, from previous discoveries, it had already been established that the members of the expedition perished. In command of two ships, the "Erebus" and the "Terror"—vessels whose acquaintance he had previously made when he was governor of Tasmania and they were en route to the Antarctic in 1838—Sir John Franklin set out at the behest of the British Admiralty on this voyage of discovery from which he was destined never to return. The ships were last seen on July 26, 1845, by a whaler near the entrance of Lancaster Sound, between Baffin Island and North Devon Island. Their subsequent movements remained a complete mystery until 14 years later, when an expedition, financed and fitted out by Lady Franklin, widow of the explorer, discovered on the south and west coast of King William's Land, skeletons and remains of articles that told their own story of the disaster.

COUNCIL AND DR. BRITTAIN IN CONFERENCE

Discuss Proposed Survey of Civic Administration—Written Proposal Coming

Dr. Horace L. Brittain arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and met the members of the Common Council to discuss with them the matter of a survey of the civic administration. After the conference Mayor White said that Dr. Brittain would submit in writing a proposition, outlining the scope of the proposed inquiry and its cost. This communication he would lay before the council at its meeting on Monday, he added.

His Worship said that Dr. Brittain had recently made a study of the published reports of the city. Dr. Brittain will address the City Club at its meeting on Tuesday and will also deliver an address before the Canadian Board of Trade, which meets here next week.

He was born in Kings county, N. B., and received his early education in this province. He and his brothers have made no small contribution to education and research. His youngest brother has recently been appointed principal of Macdonald College, St. Anne de Bellevue, and another brother was for several years head of the nature study section of the school for teachers at Macdonald College.

TAUGHT SCHOOL IN EAST.

Dr. Horace L. Brittain taught school in the Maritimes for about 11 years and among the centres in which he was teaching were Moncton and Wolfville. He took post-graduate studies in educational administration at Clark University in Worcester and later specialized in municipal and government administration, holding a number of important positions in the United States before coming to Canada in 1914 to help in the establishment of the Burns 94 per cent. air and 6 per cent. common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, O. K. Johnston, 246 Craig street, W. Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 day's FREE trial or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. was adopted by three large cities in the United States, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Kansas City have adopted the system and in Canada there are five town-managerships, in Quebec, three in Nova Scotia, one in New Brunswick, three in Ontario and one in Manitoba. Several cities in the West have what is practically a town-managership system as they have an Bureau of Municipal Research in Toronto. He became secretary of the National Institute on its organization in 1919. The two boards have the same staff, but different boards of directors.

He spoke last night of the functions of these two bodies in obtaining information and statistics for municipal officials and for citizens in general upon matters of local, provincial and national government. While the making of surveys is only one department of the work surveys have already been made in many of the large cities of Canada. A survey of the taxation system in Vancouver was carried out and in that city Dr. Brittain said the income tax collected went to the provincial government and not to the municipality. At Point Grey an administrative survey was made and in Winnipeg a survey of taxation was carried out.
The survey made in London, Ont., covered all local administration including the general hospital and the schools. In the Border Cities a survey of school administration was made. General surveys were carried out in New Toronto and East York, a financial survey in Ford City and in Kingston a survey of the general hospital administration was made, and there Fraser Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Armstrong, of Saint John, is now the hospital superintendent.
Speaking of the town managership system, Dr. Brittain said that it had

DISCUSS PLANS FOR THE COMING SEASON

University Women's Club Hold First Winter Meeting in "Beatty" Hotel

The first meeting of the University Women's Club for this season was held yesterday afternoon in the Admiral Beatty Hotel with Miss Florence Estabrook, president, in the chair. The report of the triennial conference of the Canadian Federation, held in Montreal during August was presented by Mrs. L. DeV. Chipman, who with Miss Estabrook represented the Saint John Club at the Montreal meeting. One point of special interest in Mrs. Chipman's report was the reference to Crosby Hall, the international residence for women university students in London. This building was formerly the country home of Sir Thomas Moore.
The meeting yesterday decided to have the group system, which was introduced last year, adopted as the basis of the work for the present season. The desirability of having a residence for women students in Fredericton discussed.
It was decided to have the science group take charge of the program for the next regular meeting of the club.

official known as the city commissioner. Dr. Brittain did not wish to discuss local affairs and said that he had no knowledge of local problems as yet. He had been spoken of as having been connected with the framing of the present Saint John assessment act, but he said that this was not the case. His work here, he believed, was to cover general administration problems and would doubtless include a consideration of the assessment system. He is staying at the Admiral Beatty Hotel and is to be a speaker at the meeting of the Dominion Board of Trade on Oct. 21.

IN ANNUAL SESSION

Officers of Carleton Men's Bible Class Chosen
A large number were present at the annual business meeting and election of officers of the Men's Bible Class of Carleton United Church, which was held in their new commodious class room last night.
The election of officers resulted in the following slate being chosen for the coming year: President, Walter Scott; vice-president, Charles F. Long; secretary, William Williams; treasurer, George Kirkpatrick; pianist, Arthur Boddington.
Several new men have already joined the class and the members are looking forward with eager anticipation to the program as outlined by the leader, Rev. S. T. Bertram. A number of plans were adopted in regard to the anniversary week, Sunday, October 31, including a full male choir for that evening. At the close of the

SAINT JOHN, N. B., OCTOBER 16, 1926

CIVIC MATTERS.

There are numerous matters inviting the close attention of the Saint John taxpayer. His Worship the Mayor yesterday held a conference with the Retail Merchants' Association and that body's petition for installment payment. The City Comptroller has prepared a forecast of the probable financial effect of such a system, and while this has not yet been brought before the Council and is therefore not available, His Worship said that it looked as though it would be possible to meet the wishes of the petitioners at no added cost. This will give intense satisfaction to many.

Meanwhile it is stated that a fifth petition for recall, involving, if successful, a fifth civic election, will be added to the four petitions already existing. Of this, presumably in response to the definite challenge issued by His Worship to the "Citizens' Committee," the Mayor himself is the object. Without laboring the point already noted in The Times-Star, this merely emphasizes the fact that our city's constitution is not what it should be so long as a small minority can precipitate us into the expense and turmoil of a civic election. The Hon. L. P. D. Tilley, speaking for a corporation whose last tax bill amounted to $12,000, voices strong protest against such expense.

Obviously we need a changed system of civic government. What is it to be? Dr. H. L. Brittain is in the city centering with the Council with a view to making a survey. It will be as well to hear what he has to say before declaring positively for any particular form. But with all these events passing before our eyes it behooves us to keep alert, watch what is happening and weigh its meaning. The Mayor's statement, issued today, appears to answer the recall petition of the "Citizens' Committee," and Doctor Brittain's interview should clear up the points urged in objection to that expert.

Meanwhile there is yet the disparity observed between the bills of men of apparently equal means but deriving their income from different sources. This is a subject for His Worship's investigation.

PREMIER HERTZOG.

Premier Hertzog of South Africa made an impressive speech at the recent unveiling in France of an imposing memorial to South African soldiers. "Hearing a far-off call from a world in distress, imploring for national freedom and world peace, our countrymen marched to the battlefield, forever determining their own conviction in righteousness and service. If military still stalks over the face of Europe, the blame is surely not theirs. On the statesmen of Europe, and in the first place on the victorious statesmen, now rests justification by wisdom and action for the confidence imposed in them by the world to realize the high and noble purpose of the war."

This is the language of a statesman, and will make us think more kindly of a man whose utterances before he became Premier, and some things he has since been reported to have said, conveyed the impression that at least he had much to learn. It is gratifying to observe that his public utterances since he arrived in London to attend the Imperial Conference are those of a man convinced of the desirability of British connection.

REGIONS AND TARIFFS.

In both political parties in Canada there are divergent views regarding the tariff. If a western Conservative would not go as far as one from Ontario in the matter of protection, neither would a Quebec Liberal go as far as one from the prairies in the direction of free trade. That is to say: Neither party is unanimous in regard to the tariff, although the two parties as such are also at variance.

The situation in the Conservative party is easily illustrated. A Toronto spokesman recently declared that the did not play "our trump card—protection." To this the Calgary Herald, a sturdy Conservative newspaper of the west, replies that if the Toronto man would "take a long holiday, trekking across the Dominion and leaving his car to the ground, he would discover that there is a quite sizeable body of Conservative opinion clearly opposed to Haman-high gallow tariffs."

The Herald asserts that both parties trimmed on the tariff, but that the Liberals trimmed more successfully, and it adds:

"Nor will there ever be a cessation of trimming over this issue in Canada until some leader appears with a policy guaranteed to compose the vital regional differences which are setting the people of Canada into opposing armed camps and making honest and intelligent settlement of truly national issues an impossibility."

The Herald is quite right. It is the regional differences which make one part of the country desire a tariff higher or lower than another part. The leader who will compose these differences must first frankly admit that the effect of a tariff is not the same in Ontario and Saskatchewan, for example, or Ontario and the Maritimes; and, starting from that basis, frame an economic policy which will contain the element of compensation for differences in the effect of the tariff upon different geographical divisions of the Dominion. If it be asserted that such a plan is unworkable, then it is equally true there will never be an end of sectionalism.

As already noted, there are differing tariff views in the Liberal as well as the Conservative fold, and this tends further to complicate a difficult situation; but the regional differences present the real problem, and the leader of the Herald hopes for is not in sight.

The Toronto Globe says: "Rumor connects the name of Hon. George H. Murray, for over a quarter of a century Premier of Nova Scotia, with the vacancy on the International Waterways Commission caused by the resignation of Mr. Magrath. Mr. Murray's training and long experience fit him admirably for the position."

The announcement that the British mission inquiring into industrial relations, which has been in the United States and is coming to Canada, will visit the Maritime Provinces before returning to England is a matter of interest and importance. It will afford an opportunity to enlighten the members of the Commission regarding the resources of these provinces and the opportunities for industrial development based upon those resources. We need British capital, and if we can persuade industrial leaders in the Mother Country that there are good opportunities here to produce for world markets the result will be very satisfactory. The better feeling that now exists regarding our future will make our business men more eager to make our resources known, and to secure practical aid in their development.

Seventeen cars of wheat left Edmonton last week for Prince Rupert, and officials of the Canadian National Railway say that this is the beginning of a movement which is expected to take a fair portion of the western grain crop, using the Pacific route, to the northern port. Of course Vancouver will feel to some extent the competition of Prince Rupert, but there is the satisfaction of knowing that the competitor is not an American port. The people of Prince Rupert have been clamoring for a portion of the grain trade, asserting that they can compete with Vancouver. The test to be made this season will settle that matter. It may be taken for granted that most of the grain raised west of Saskatoon will hereafter seek the Pacific route, and the proportion to be divided between Vancouver and Prince Rupert will be determined by the service given and the rates quoted. The northern port is growing, and a share of the grain trade will bring it still more shipping.

MOTOR OFFENSES PUNISHED
(Regina Leader.)
Magistrates throughout the province are doing the proper thing in dealing as they are doing with offenders under the Motor Vehicles act. Fines are being promptly imposed for virtually all offenses, and if the violations of the act continue on the scale which has existed, it may be found advisable to make the penalties more severe.

The chief offense is failure to dim lights when passing other motorists at night. There have been many accidents, and many near accidents, because of this neglect. The danger from failure to dim lights, especially where the road is narrow, is very real. Police officers are doing the proper thing in prosecuting all such offenders at every opportunity, and that the magistrates are also alive to the seriousness of the offense is evident from the sentences they are handing out. Motor traffic throughout Saskatchewan is becoming increasingly great, which adds to the necessity for full compliance with all the provisions of the act.

POEMS I LOVE

"Vivien's Song," By Lord Tennyson.

THE more one reads his Tennyson, the more one recognizes that supreme greatness which causes him to be so richly represented in every anthology. No singer of his time has decorated his poems with lines that have become priceless parts of our every-day speech. He is unconsciously quoted by the man in the street, who might be surprised to find that so many of the common phrases he has acquired emanate from the greatest of the Victorian singers.

In Love, if Love be Love, if Love be ours,
Faith and unfaith can ne'er be equal powers:
Unfaith in aught is want of faith in all.

It is the little rift within the lute,
That by and by will make the music mute,
And ever widening slowly silence all.

It is not worth the keeping; let it go:
But shall it? answer, darling, answer, no.
And trust me not at all or all in all!

Dorothy Dix

Why is the Whole World Bent on Marrying Off the Bachelor Girl?—Why a Doormat Mother is Really to Blame for Her Selfish Daughter—Why "Free" Love is Not Possible.

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Why is it that the whole world seems in a conspiracy to force a girl into marriage? I am 20 and am earning a good salary. I love my work. But am I allowed to enjoy my life in my own way? Ah, no. My little world holds up its hands in horror because I am not married nor thinking of marriage. My grandmother is shocked when I say that I do not want to marry. My girl friends who are married hand me out dirty looks because I am single. Three old-maid aunts stand as grim warnings of my fate if I do not change my opinion. I can't even go to the movies without having matrimony held up as the beautiful and end-all of life.

In marriage I find the only happiness? Am I laying the foundation for a lonely old age? What about it? CATHERINE.

ANSWERS:

A clever old maid said once that it was better to be laughed at because you were not married than not to be able to laugh because you were married. And that about sums up the situation, Catherine.

Undoubtedly an ideal marriage, in which a man and woman find their real mates, in which love and peace reign, comes nearer to being a bit of heaven on earth than anything else in the world. But the reverse of this is equally true and there is no other such understudy of purgatory as a mismatched couple finds in an uncongenial and unhappy marriage. So there you are, and it depends upon how much sporting blood you have whether you take a chance on the greatest gamble ever devised.

As for your family and friends thinking that you are missing all the world-while things by not marrying, that merely shows how realistic their ideas are. Nobody pities the unmarried woman in these days. On the contrary, she is an object of envy. And it is to censure the poor, harassed, worn-out wife and mother who weeps out her troubles on the spinster's breast that it is the spinster who asks for a vote of sympathy from her married friends.

In olden days it was a forlorn thing to be an old maid, because a woman's meek-ticket and her social position depended upon her catching a husband, and so, for her to remain single, was a confession of failure and a badge of defeat.

But nowadays the world is full of such a number of things besides a husband for a girl that marriage is optional, not compulsory, and she is left to follow her own inclinations in the matter.

Nobody is foolish enough to think that a woman who is single failed to marry because she could not. No one is silly enough to believe that she spends her time in vain repining, because she isn't cooking some man's dinner or pushing a perambulator.

The bachelor girl is on the same plane as the bachelor man, with pretty much the same rights and privileges. She has her own profession, her own independence, her own latchkey, her own money, her own home, and these bring to her just such happiness as they bring to him.

And such peace. We cannot have our cake and eat it too, and if we play safe and refuse the burden of family life we also miss the companionship of family life.

But at 20 a young woman is not called upon to decide this question of whether to marry or stay single. She has about fifteen more years in which to debate it, and during that time some man is pretty sure to come along and turn all her arguments in favor of single blessedness into nonsense. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a widow and have two children, a boy and a girl. We are all employed and have a nice home. My son is an exceptionally fine young man and does everything in the world to help me, especially the young man and does everything in the world to help me, but my daughter spends all of her time away from home. "Just can't be bothered with any housework," she says. She not only spends every cent she earns for clothes but goes into debt for finery that she charges on my account and that my son and I have to pay for.

She is out until late hours, the night with young men and has recently left home and gone to a woman friend's because I reprimanded her for another lot of finery that she charged.

Ever since that child was born I have worked to support her. I have given her every chance I could—done without things myself so that she could have better clothes. What can I do to change her and make her realize her duty to me? W. A. H.

ANSWER: Nothing. You cannot change the leopard's spots. You spent nineteen or twenty years cultivating selfishness and self-centeredness in your daughter. You have never taught her to consider you or to think about her duty to you and you cannot alter the results of your training at this late date. You were the potter and you molded your clay into a certain form, and you have no right to complain because it is what you made it.

I never see a mother making a doormat of herself for her children that I do not wonder how she is going to like being trampled upon by them. I never see a mother working her fingers to the bone for her children without wondering how she is going to like being regarded by them as nothing but a slave. I never see a mother going shabby so that her daughters may have imported finery without wondering how she is going to feel when they have imported finery without wondering how she is going to feel when they are ashamed of her.

You see, every mother decides just exactly how her children shall treat her. If you had made your daughter help with the housework when she was a little girl instead of leaving it all for you to do when you came home tired from work it never would have occurred to her to dump it all on you. She would have felt a responsibility in the matter of helping mother and she would have tried to save you all she could.

If you had taught her to obey you when she was little she would not defy you now. But it is too late to think of these things now. The only thing you can do is to stop the charge account and prevent your son from being victimized by his selfish sister.

And don't worry about her being away from home for a while. The friend will get tired of her, and she will come back where she has a free meal-ticket. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Do you believe in free love? TROUBLED.

ANSWER: There is no such thing as "free" love. "Love the gift, love the debt," says the poet, and it is true. We are bound to those we love. Love lays obligations upon us that we cannot escape.

If by "free love" you mean illicit love, that is a curse from which any man or woman may well pray to be delivered. It blights all that is pure and beautiful in the soul and drags one down to degradation and destruction. DOROTHY DIX.

SEE-SAWING AND DOWN BROADWAY

IT is the rattle of spoons and plates at Heusen's, and not the crowing of the rooster, that announces the coming of morning in Manhattan. Reuben's is a "him and egg" retreat where the "who's who" of the night before gathers between the hours of 3 and 6 o'clock.

Here sit a group of men dressed in evening clothes that resemble advertisements in the French fashion magazines. They talk with that peculiar accent the theatres associate with Long Island society. Their voices, however, are pitched to that key associated with frequent nibblings at hip flasks. Names of young society leasers slip from their lips with ill-guarded bluntness. At the moment they are revealing some inside information on the winter plans of one of the most prominent divorcees of the past several years.

Despite the clatter of plates and silverware large sections of the crowd try to listen in. . . . Film stars, entertainers, reporters of night life, dancers, gigolos, bejeweled and begowned women, bootleggers, casuals out of the night. . . . All gathered just before the daylight hours in sleep and crawl out only when dusk begins to creep over the city.

WHAT a commentary on the changing styles! Today four morning newspapers in Manhattan consider a certain night club a reporter's "meat." Just as the newspapers assign men to the courts and the police station, a "press room" is established at a night club table and here the reporters gather from midnight to dawn to listen in on the scandal. For all the limelight figures wander in sooner or later and, over their cups, become loose tongued.

Shades of the screen sheltered nooks of Sherry's and Delmonico's! This is, indeed, a blatant and crass jazz age.

A FEW weeks ago one of the best known comedians of vaudeville died here after a lingering illness. After his death it became known that for years he had been blind, and not a person who laughed at his antics was aware of the fact.

That he might not be confused and wander off the stage a rug was placed in the centre. On arriving at a new theatre he spent some time mastering the exit and entrance space. Once upon the little rug he was safe. Arrangement was made with the orchestra to make considerable racket when he came on and left the stage, so that he might be guided by his ears and not fall into the orchestra pit. Several times when confusion overtook him and he staggered about, the audience roared with laughter, thinking that he was affecting panic.

AND, only a few days ago, one of the most popular funny men of the Follies a few years back was found hanging in his room.

He was a "fair weather" spender. And then things went wrong. Instead of sitting on top of the world he was in the slough of despond. He had a wife and two children. Here was something he couldn't laugh off. He could find no way out.

Courageous-hearted, on they go, the singers of the world, an army with triumphant tread and scarlet flags unfurled! An army that will conquer still, whatever odds they meet, because they lift their voices up in measures clear and sweet. If sorrow to a singer comes he does not stop to weep, but listens to the melody that lulls his soul to sleep, the melody that ever flows from sources far away, to flower to song upon his lips, to charm the dreary day. He journeys on, as all men must, and as he goes, he gives, till all along the road he passed, fresh hope and promise lives. . . . The bluest of Earth, the best of men, the singers of the world, an army with triumphant tread and scarlet flags unfurled.

CARRIED WIFE TO BED

Suffered So She Could Not Walk. Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Minesing, Ontario.—"I am a practical nurse and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to suffering women. For three months I was almost helpless and could not sit at the table long enough to drink a cup of tea. Many a time my husband carried me to bed, I would be so weak. Then he read the paper got better after taking the Vegetable Compound, so he went and got it for me. When I had taken three bottles I was just like a new woman and have had splendid health ever since. When I feel any bearing-down pains I always take it; sometimes a half bottle or whatever I need. It is my only medicine and I have told many a one about it. Any one wanting to know more about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I will gladly write to her. I do all I can to recommend it for I feel I owe my life and strength to it." — Mrs. NEAL BOWSER, R.R. 1, Minesing, Ontario.

Do you feel broken-down, nervous, and weak sometimes? Do you have this horrid feeling of fear which sometimes comes to women when they are not well? Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent to take at such a time. It always helps, and if taken regularly and persistently will relieve this condition.

GENESIS OF NEW BRUNSWICK IN ARCHIVES NOTE

Letters From Ward Chipman Give Light on Early Affairs

TWO MAIN REASONS FOR ESTABLISHMENT

Management of Loyalist Affairs and Creating Posts for Crown Friends

The following sketch of the genesis of New Brunswick is taken from records in the local office of the Dominion Archives, Princess street.

Two causes were mainly responsible for the establishment of New Brunswick in 1784. One was the impossibility of managing the affairs of the vast number of Loyalists who had settled on the Saint John and elsewhere north of the Bay of Fundy, by an executive so far removed as Halifax; the other, the desire to create official positions for those who had made large personal sacrifices by remaining loyal to the British Crown during the American Revolution.

CHIPMAN LETTERS

The two following letters written by Ward Chipman throw a good deal of light on this chapter of our provincial history.

LONDON, April 13, 1784.

My Dear Winslow—I was in hopes before this time to have congratulated you upon the decided arrangement of the new government in Nova Scotia, an event which, however, I do not look very far distant. The separation of the province into two governments is determined upon in the cabinet. That of Saint John (river) which is to be called New Ireland, has been offered to General Fox. Halifax is to be given to General Musgrave. A governor-general over these provinces and Canada with almost unlimited powers, to prevent the necessity of applying for instructions here on all occasions, is to be appointed. This very important appointment is offered to Sir Guy Carleton.

General Fox is this day to give his would accept the office if Sir Guy was to be appointed governor-general, otherwise not. The government was then offered to your friend Colonel Musgrave, who declined his assuming the same reason and making the same declaration to the Secretary of State.

Colonel Carleton, Sir Guy's brother-in-law, is at length appointed and has accepted. The arrangements, so far as they are known, are: Judge Ludlow, Chief Justice; Colonel Putnam, Major Upham and Lieut. Colonel Isaac Allan, judges on the same bench; Jonathan Bliss, Attorney-General; and Sir Guy told Mr. Watson (Sir Brook Watson) that I was put down as Solicitor-General. Had either Fox or Musgrave accepted the government, you would have been secretary of the new province with the concomitant offices. But Mr. Odell has this appointment under Colonel Carleton. I am at a loss indeed to determine whether it would have been prudent for you to resign your half pay, as you must have done, for the emoluments of that office. You, I understand, are one of the council.

WORD OF WARNING.

14th April.—Colonel Fox has this minute given me a letter for you which I suppose explains the present situation of the Nova Scotia arrangements. It will not, I hope, be long before the business is settled. A part of your letter, I find, has been thought too violent, particularly that respecting the instructions to the Loyalist regiments to settle upon their lands at all events, and to oppose by force any attempts to dispossess them. Colonel Fox communicated this to me and desires me to caution you particularly upon this head. Nothing so suddenly alarms Government, now grown very skittish, as the idea of any opposition to the measures of its servants. So sore are they with the event of the late contest that they instantly connect the idea of rebellion with any such enunciations.

APPOINTMENT DECLINED.

LONDON, July 9, 1784.

My Dear Ned.—We were all very much disappointed in Colonel Fox's refusal of the government. His reason was that he found a governor-general was to be appointed, tho' not immediately, and that Sir Guy Carleton was not going out. He would not therefore risk there being appointed a General Vaughn or any other officer under whom he would not serve, which would create a necessity of his resigning perhaps within a very short time of his going out. He therefore told Lord Sidney he have concluded upon your appointment as secretary in that case, if worth your acceptance, which will be in some degree ascertained by Odell's experiment of it. The place was unsolicited by Odell but you may easily conceive that Sir Guy felt himself obliged to provide for him and there was no other way of doing it. I believe Judge Sewell will be one of the council.

I confess for myself I am not a little disappointed with respect to the office of attorney-general, though Bliss is certainly a very good fellow, but as he was receiving a pension of £150 per annum this is saved to Government by appointing him; there will be no salary that will be equivalent to my half pay. I shall therefore depend upon my practice for support.

Adieu. God Almighty forever bless you pray most sincerely,
Your friend,
"CHIP"

DISCLOSES SECRET

I am now to tell you a secret not by any means to be again mentioned, which I have in confidence from Mr. Watson this morning with permission to mention it to you only in a very private letter. Colonel Carleton is but a temporary appointment. He goes on as governor to Quebec and will take Odell with him. Both Sir Guy and Mr. Watson say that Colonel Fox will yet succeed him as governor of New Brunswick (the name of our new province). Sir Guy and Mr. Watson

Good Attendance At Veterans' Fair

It was the best night yet at the G. W. V. A. Fair in St. Andrew's rink last night, all of the games and attractions having capacity patronage. The silver variety store was leader in popularity and was closely followed by the house-hoosie, blanket and chocolate booths. The door prize, a load of wood, was won by ticket 13,025 but was unclaimed. The holder of ticket 13,076, which won Wednesday night's prize a load of hard wood, was announced as Mrs. Parks, 42 Broad street. The Fair's Band provided excellent music last night and tonight the City Cornet Band will play. Tonight's big attraction, it is expected, will be the poultry booth. On Monday night an open Charleston contest will be held and there will be an exhibition of Charleston dancing by two of the city dancers who are most proficient.

AUTO TOURING PARTY.

A tourist party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Appleby and Mr. and Mrs. Morris A. Gibbs, of Dover, New Hampshire, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and are guests at the Victoria Hotel. Mr. Appleby is a former West Saint John boy and brother of Fred Appleby, a popular passenger conductor with the C. P. R., at the present time in charge of the MeAdam express. Mr. Appleby is an automobile salesman, and Mr. Gibbs a boot and shoe merchant in Dover. The party leave this morning for Quebec City, then to Montreal and Plattsburg, N. Y., and thence some. During his short stay here Mr. Appleby had an opportunity to meet a few of his old companions and renew acquaintances.

CITY ROAD HOUSE IS STRUCK IN STORM

Little Damage Done There, But Families Are Given Bad Scare

The summer residence of Percy Leonard at Ononette was struck by lightning and burned to the ground.

In the city it was a compressed but highly spectacular storm and afforded an interesting interlude during the afternoon for those who were safely under cover.

The severe lightning played havoc in the three-story residential building at 124 City Road, greatly frightening the occupants of the three flats, but produced little damage.

The motor of a street car at the corner of Douglas avenue and Main street was struck and the car had to be taken to the car barn for repairs.

The New Brunswick Telephone Company reported its lines here in good order and unaffected by the storm.

Miners' Council May Prolong Stoppage

LONDON, Oct. 16.—The war which the miners' council has declared, although certain to fall ultimately, and speeded at by the Tory press today will, it is feared, prolong the stoppage and cause at least a momentary halt in the drift-back to work. Fear is even expressed that it may bring out many men who have already returned.

The miners' federation is faced with certain disruption but it is not going under without a fight. Its object is to get the government to intervene again but its main attack is directed against other labor leaders like MacDonald and Thomas and Williams.

Weekly Text

The climax in the present order of things is described by our Lord as a terrible trouble, such as the world has never known. He says: "For there shall be great tribulation, such as was not since the beginning of the world to this time; no, nor ever shall be. And except those days be shortened, there should no flesh be saved; but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened.—Matthew 24: 21-22.

Many Moose Shot In Elgin Vicinity

ELGIN, Oct. 15.—A large number of moose killed in this vicinity have been coming through this village during the week. The largest one this season passed through yesterday on its way to Salisbury. It had a beautifully shaped head and a splendid spread of antlers with 19 points on the boards.

But when a pitcher did set out to hand Ruth a base on balls, the stands did like it, and echoed their boos of disapproval.

John Wood is resigning from the accountancy staff of the Royal Bank, King street, to become associated with the new enterprise.

MAYOR ANSWERS CHARGES SET OUT FOR RECALL

Issues Statement on Three Points Referred to in Petition

Mayor White this morning said that he noted three grounds were given in the recall petition asking that he be recalled from office and contended that all three were mis-statements of fact and misrepresentations of his attitude on the questions involved. He quoted the first: "A. Neglect and refusal of the council to grant the request contained in the petition." To this His Worship said: "When the petition was presented by the three gentlemen whose names are already familiar to the public as the self-constituted citizens' committee, I was a great pleasure to me to see so much interest taken in civic affairs by the people, but that I had already taken steps to carry out a policy having for its aim the very thing mentioned in the petition." On the second clause: "B. The contemptuous treatment accorded the petition by the council." Mayor White said: "The treatment the petition received was that I called a special meeting of the council and presented it to them to deal with."

QUOTES DR. BRITAIN

On the third item: "C. The attempt of the council to frustrate the object of the petition by the selection of Dr. Horace L. Britain, who is objectionable because he is one of those who helped to frame the existing inequitable assessment laws." The statement of His Worship was as follows: "In this connection I would draw attention to an interview with Dr. Britain and published in this morning's Telegraph-Journal from which I quote: 'Dr. Britain did not consider it necessary' and continues: 'Therefore an outsider is to decide whether the request of the $900 taxpayers is to be granted or denied.' He goes on to say that 'The elections will cost $12,000, while one of the largest firms in Canada, Scott and Co., have offered to do the work asked by the taxpayers for $10,000.' The Mayor then writes, 'gradually yields to the request of the Retail Merchants, but the $900 taxpayers have received no benefit from the deal.' The letter also states: 'Dr. Britain says he had no share in framing the assessment act. One of the gentlemen who had a share says that Dr. Britain 'helped.'"

As one of the commissioners who drew up the present assessment act, A. H. Wetmore said this morning that it was only fair to the public to have it made known that Dr. H. L. Britain had nothing to do with the drawing up of the act. While it was possible that certain members of the act have been secured from the office of Dr. Britain, it also was secured from many other sources, Mr. Wetmore said.

FROM MR. CARVILL

In a statement received from George Carvill, for the citizens' committee today, he says: "The Mayor states that there may be an audit of the city affairs if Dr. Britain considers it necessary" and continues: "Therefore an outsider is to decide whether the request of the $900 taxpayers is to be granted or denied." He goes on to say that "The elections will cost $12,000, while one of the largest firms in Canada, Scott and Co., have offered to do the work asked by the taxpayers for $10,000." The Mayor then writes, 'gradually yields to the request of the Retail Merchants, but the $900 taxpayers have received no benefit from the deal.' The letter also states: 'Dr. Britain says he had no share in framing the assessment act. One of the gentlemen who had a share says that Dr. Britain 'helped.'"

THEATRE CHANGE REMOVED

In a late issue of the Moving Picture World published in New York, it was stated that the presence in Toronto of Colonel Clarke of Cranfield & Clarke, together with R. J. Romney of Saint John and George Baldwin of Montreal, is rumored to indicate the formation of a Canadian theatre chain for showing British pictures. Production in Canada is also said to be considered.
