LONDON SEES SITUATION AS MORE SERIOUS

British and Turks Nearer to Armed Clash Than Ever

Two Views of Reply of Kemal to British Note—General Harington Shoulders Tremendous Responsibilities—Question of Neutral Zone.

(Canadian Press Cable)

London, Sept. 28.—British government circles today took a grave view of the situation in the Dardanelles which was regarded as so critical as to overshadow the revolutionary developments in Greece. The opinion was expressed that there is a greater prospect of fighting between the British and Turkish Nationalists than at any previous time.

The cabinet was convened this morning to consider a message from Brigadier General Sir Charles Harington, commanding the allied forces in Constantinople, summarizing Mustafa Kemal Pasha's reply to Gen. Harington's warning against violation of the neutral zone along the straits. The reply was considered to be evasive and ambiguous.

It is said that two views may be taken of Mustafa Kemal's intentions. One is that under the cover of his cavalry he may be bringing up material and artillery, and doing all he can to compel the British to fire the first shot. The less serious view is that he is truthful in his statement that he does not know where the neutral zone extends.

It is pointed out that General Harington is laboring under tremendous responsibilities. He has been told to do all possible to avoid war, but to use his own judgment regarding the necessity of fighting to maintain the neutral zone. It is understood he had the full backing of the government, which will support any action he takes.

In his reply, Mustafa Kemal says the Ankara government does not recognize any neutral zone. He complains about the Greek warships which have been anchored in the Dardanelles and also about the action of the British troops in the region around Chanak, on the southern shore of the straits. Allegations are made that the British have destroyed Turkish roads and Turkish homes.

Mustafa Kemal also claims the right to cross the so-called neutral zone and to enter Thrace, where he says the Greeks are killing the Turkish inhabitants. He concludes by saying he hopes to avoid any conflict with the British.

Send U. S. Destroyers.

Washington, Sept. 28.—Secretary Denby yesterday ordered two destroyer divisions, comprising twelve destroyers, to proceed as early as possible from Norfolk to Constantinople with extra supply of provisions, in response to a request from Rear Admiral Mark Bristol, U. S. high commissioner at Constantinople that they be sent "for the protection of American interests."

Protest in India. Ahmedabad, British India, Sept. 28.—A large meeting was held here yesterday at which resolutions were adopted protesting against British sending forces to the Dardanelles and Constantinople. Threats were made to aid the Turks by joining them on the battlefield if war was declared against Turkey.

HANDICAPPED BY LACK OF CARS

They May Have to Stop Receiving Grain at Buffalo Elevators.

(Special to The Times)

Toronto, Sept. 28.—A special despatch from Buffalo to the Globe says: Vessels at the Buffalo elevators yesterday had 1,219,000 bushels of grain and elevators unloaded 1,296,000 bushels. There has been but slight improvement noted in the car supply here, and elevator men said that unless there is a big increase in the number of cars available for forwarding grain, by the end of the week elevators will be obliged to stop receiving grain. Other industries are handicapped in a similar manner, and altogether the situation is considered grave.

YANKEEES MAY WIN PENNANT TODAY

New York, Sept. 28.—The New York Yankees, after a lay-off of several days, were prepared to clinch the American League championship today in the first of a three game series with the Boston Red Sox. The Yankees, leading the St. Louis Browns by a three and a half game lead, need but a single victory to remove all uncertainty over the outcome of the race.

The champion Giants, with their regulars supporting Fred Johnson, San Antonio pitcher, recruited dropped the set of a double-header yesterday with Philadelphia, 5 to 3, but McGraw'sokies won the second, 3 to 2, by rallying the eighth of Jimmy Ring to tally 1 of their runs. Scott, Hill and Varnes worked on the mound in the "all game."

Tim McNamara, former Fordham University star, pitched the Braves to a 7 to 0 shutout over Brooklyn, while Fred Fused, Cub recruit, outpitched Cooper, and Chicago defeated Pittsburgh, 4 to 1. No other major league contests were played.

TOUCH OF WINTER HERE TODAY; MERCURY AT FREEZING

This morning marked the first time in twenty-four years that the thermometer has reached the freezing point in St. John in September. D. L. Hutchinson, director of the meteorological observatory, said today that the thermometer stood at thirty-two degrees above at six o'clock. At the same hour the grass thermometer showed twenty-seven degrees.

St. John is experiencing unusually cold weather for this time of year and heavy top coats are beginning to appear. The first time the thermometer reached freezing point here last year was on October 25, nearly a month later than this year. There was very heavy frost this morning.

READY FOR ACTION. ARE EXCITED IN BOSTON ABOUT IT

"No Mayflower, No Race," Say Fishing Men

Have Two Votes in the Decision—Amherst Offers to Stage Baseball Game to End Trouble Over Championship Series.

(Canadian Press.)

New York, Sept. 28.—Boston's water front is in a savage mood today, says a special despatch to the Tribune from Boston. "The recent action of the trustees of the international fishing schooner race trophy in continuing to bar the schooner Mayflower from the international races has angered fishermen, fish dealers and shipping interests of every sort."

"That Captain Angus Walters, skipper of the Canadian schooner Bluenose, present holder of the international trophy, is willing to make the Mayflower is something to the critics, but they demand a complete backdown by the trustees."

The N. S. Maritime Commission, composed mostly of Gloucester men, but with two Boston members, one Providence town and one Portland, Maine, member, will vote on Tuesday. The Bostonians declare they will vote to declare the international races off this year because of the Halifax trustees. The majority of the American committees feel pretty much the same way.

Amherst, N. S., Sept. 28.—This morning on the authority of James A. Hand and Frank S. Scott, president and secretary of the Amherst A. A., the Amherst Daily News wired an invitation to D. S. Bauld, vice-president of the Nova Scotia Baseball Association, for a third game of the Farmouth-Springhill series.

Amherst A. A. will offer grounds for Farmouth-Springhill play-off. Field will easily accommodate 4,000 people. Terms to be considered."

It is a tiresome piece of business, waiting for the verdict of the N. S. Baseball Association to set the present baseball tangle unraveled. Farmouth refuses to play in Halifax, Springhill refuses to play in Kentville. Farmouth made one offer to play in Farmouth but withdrew it. The Truro diamond is ill suited for a good brand of ball. With so many difficulties in the wind, why can't the two teams play in Amherst?

Strangler's Victory. San Francisco, Sept. 28.—Ed (Strangler) Lewis today is ready for a new aspirant for the world's heavy weight wrestling championship after extinguishing the hopes of Renato Gardini, Italian champion. Lewis defeated Gardini on Tuesday night, taking two falls out of three. The Italian won the first fall in twenty-nine minutes and thirty seconds. He put up strenuous resistance in the second bout, for it took the champion one hour, twenty-one minutes and fifteen seconds to pin Gardini's shoulders to the mat. The Italian then slumped, and Lewis won the third fall in four minutes and thirty seconds with a head lock.

FRENCH POLICY IS NOT CHANGED BY GREEK AFFAIR

Concern in Paris Over Athens Attitude Towards Thrace

Effort to Keep Turks Quiet Until Greek Intentions are Definitely Known—Allies Want Greeks to Retire from Eastern Thrace.

(Canadian Press Cable)

Paris, Sept. 28.—France's policy in the Near East as laid down in the note sent to Kemal Pasha jointly with the other allies has not been modified by the overturn in Greece, it was announced officially after a meeting of the cabinet today. The following official announcement was made: Premier Poincaré explained the influence of his government's attitude in Greece would not have the effect of modifying the decisions France took with the other allies last Saturday and which were communicated Mustafa Kemal Pasha."

It is known that the French government is greatly concerned over the reported determination of the new Greek government to defend Thrace. M. Franklin-Bouillon, French emissary to the Turkish Nationalists, is expected to see Kemal at Smyrna today or tomorrow. He will use the entire influence of his government to try and keep the Nationalists from taking any action with regard to Thrace until the intentions of the Greek government are clearly established.

After his interview with the French diplomat, Kemal, it is understood, will leave for Ankara where the Nationalist assembly will formally vote on the allied communications. The fear is expressed that if Greece meantime begins a popular movement in Thrace the ally will refuse to accept the allied terms.

There was said today to be no intention of modifying the allied attitude toward Greece in view of the abdication of Constantine. The allies will leave the strongest efforts to be made by the Greeks retire from eastern Thrace until Allied observers, however, admit that a popular movement in Greece for the defence of Thrace could not be stopped by allied diplomatic pressure.

There is no indication, according to official quarters, that the return of Premier Venizelos to Athens is imminent, but it is thought he is in the strongest efforts to be made by the allies today were conferring on the situation through diplomatic channels.

F. L. HARRISON DEAD, AGED 60

Formerly was in Business in St. John — Passes Away Suddenly in Sheffield.

(Special to The Times)

Frederick, N. B., Sept. 28.—Frank L. Harrison, a native of Maugerville, but for many years in business in St. John, died on Wednesday night at the home of Fred Barker, Sheffield, after an illness of a few hours. He was aged sixty years. In early life he removed from Maugerville to St. John, and for forty years conducted the business of J. & W. F. Harrison, whole sale flour and feed merchants. Some few years ago he retired from business and went to California. On his return from that state he was taken ill in Ontario en route to this city. After spending some time here, he regained his health.

When the duck shooting began, Mr. Harrison went to Sheffield, and on Wednesday he was walking up the road with his cousins, who had been hunting with him, and was taken ill suddenly. He was taken to Mr. Barker's residence, and his condition became steadily worse, death ensuing about midnight.

Mr. Harrison is survived by three sisters, Mrs. A. B. Miles of Upper Maugerville, Mrs. B. P. Thomas of Washburn, Maine, and Mrs. E. W. Gardner of Boboyagon, Ont. Three brothers also survive, H. E. Harrison of Fredericton, Jerry Harrison of Chicago, and Arthur Harrison of Van Meys, Cal. A brother died five months ago in Montana.

NO TEARS IN LONDON OVER CONSTANTINE

Paltry Personage Vanishes From Stage, Following Kaiser

Dramatic Scenes as People Demand That King Leave Throne—Steps Down in Favor of His Son George.

Constantinople, Sept. 28.—Former King Constantine of Greece, abdicated yesterday and is reported to have been imprisoned by the revolutionaries in Athens.

No Tears in London. London, Sept. 28.—The second de-thronement of Constantine of Greece brings no tears here, as he has no friends among the British public owing to the reported German sympathies during the war. His exit only provokes a fresh series of caricatures with which he has been constantly ridiculed whenever he was conspicuous in the news.

"A paltry personage vanishes from the stage, following Wilhelm Hohenzollern into obscurity and total discredit," summarizes the general press opinion. Nevertheless, it is regarded as more than unfortunate that settled government in Greece should be destroyed at this moment, adding serious difficulties to a situation already complex.

The exact situation in Greece is obscure. If, as the latest reports, the revolution is discredited towards forcing the retention of eastern Thrace grave trouble has evidently been added to the allies' problem, and the danger of this is emphasized by the editorial writers.

Stormy Scene. Athens, Sept. 28.—King Constantine's abdication came after dramatic scenes, with the palace surrounded by an angry mob of revolutionaries demanding his de-thronement. It was not until the mob threatened to seize the person of the sovereign that an emissary appeared at a window of the palace and announced the abdication.

General Papadopoulos, a leader of the revolution, is reported to have joined the cause. The government then sent a second emissary, Constantine addressed a lengthy message to the Greek people. He said, in part: "Not wishing to leave in the mind of anybody the slightest suspicion, that by remaining on the throne, I have prevented, to however a slight degree, the sacred unity of the Greeks and the assistance of our friends, I have abdicated the royal power."

"From this moment, my eldest son, Prince George, is your king. I am engaged in sweeping away from all at cost of all sacrifices, in his duty to the fatherland."

"I am myself, I am happy, another opportunity has been given to sacrifice myself once more for Greece. I am prepared to fight at the head of the army in the interests of the country if the Greek government and people should consider such service useful to the fatherland."

Same in Paris. Paris, Sept. 28.—The second election of King Constantine of Greece, who is looked upon as an enemy of France, is welcomed by the Paris press, although there are expressed that the trouble in Greece may add considerably to the difficulties of settling the Near Eastern tangle.

LeJournal observes that the revolutionary movement was organized by several chiefs—"in whose interests it is not quite clear."

"This pronouncement, which comes too late—does it not also come too soon?" asked the newspaper. "Will not the Turks ask tomorrow's provisional Greek government for guarantees against the return of that imperialist which Constantine was incapable of leading?"

METHODIST STATISTICS

Figures of Quadrennium Presented in Toronto.

Rev. Dr. Chown, General Superintendent, Addresses Conference—Predicts a Glorious Revival Which Would Give Birth to New Age in History.

(By Canadian Press)

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 27.—I hesitate not to say that the general conference will feel that when the full reports of the church's activities, educational, spiritual and social, are presented, presented to it, that the last quadrennium has been in many respects the greatest period that the Methodist Church in Canada has ever known.

This was a statement of Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, general superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, at the general conference of the Methodist Church in Canada in quadrennial session here.

"We shall dispose of the statistics for the quadrennium as briefly as possible," said the general superintendent. "We do not prize them except as witnesses to the intellectual and spiritual life of the church. They will at least beget confidence in any interested person who might be induced by misrepresentation to fear that the church is declining in strength, or, so far as statistics can reveal, is lacking in any essential element of success. The official returns are as follows:—

For the Quadrennium ending 1918: Total membership 888,210; Membership Young Peoples Organizations 69,271; Sunday School force, including officers and teachers 454,800; Total amount given for all purposes by Sunday school and Young Peoples Organizations $1,488,042; Total amount given for all purposes $24,637,329; Gifts for Missions 2,796,763; Superannuation Fund, Invested Endowment 908,778; Amounts paid by circuits for ministerial support 6,286,905; Total value church property $44,178,371.

For the Quadrennium ending 1922: Total membership 408,983; Membership Young Peoples Organizations 124,632; Sunday school force, including officers and teachers 474,359; Total amount given for all purposes $3,685,658; Gifts for Missions $3,876,477; Superannuation Fund, Invested Endowment $5,643,891; Amounts paid by circuits for ministerial support $4,600,015; Total value church property $55,643,891.

"These figures taken together are an illustration of the unwieldiness of reaching conclusions about the prosperity and progress of the Church which are not based upon actual knowledge of the facts. They inspire thanksgiving for the past and courage for the future."

That the whole question of Church Union, with important ramifications regarding existing ministerial superannuation funds, the Presbyterian General Assembly proposals for the guarding of the rights of the minorities opposed to the union, and other features, were steady, Howard Smith P.M. appeared unchanged at 100, Laurentide at 93 and Rioridan common at eight. Fractional declines were noted in British Empire Steel, second preferred, which was down a quarter point at 85%, in Consolidated Smelters, which was lower by a similar fraction at 26%, and in the preferred stock of Canada Steamships, which was fractionally off at 54. Canada Car preferred was up a half at 60%, and Quebec Railway was unchanged at 26%.

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 28—Inquiry among local tobacconists elicited information that smoking among Kingston ladies is increasing. There is, however, a great demand among ladies for the best and, incidentally, the most expensive brands of Russian cigarettes. All harbor dues levied on ships or

FREE PORT ZONE TRIED IN EUROPE

Montreal Shipping Men Interested in Operation of Gothenburg's Harbor.

Montreal, Sept. 28.—In connection with the recent suggestion of Dr. McDougall, president of the Montreal Harbor Commission, that a free port zone be established in Montreal harbor, it was pointed out by steamship officials here, that a free port scheme is now in successful operation at Gothenburg, Sweden. A recent issue of Lloyd's List Weekly Summary states that the administration of Gothenburg's free harbor is provided for by the Swedish legislature and embodying certain rules and regulations. The most important of these provisions is that exempting the free harbor from customs dues. The free harbor is not subject to the ordinary customs regulations as applied to the rest of Sweden, but is treated in this respect as a foreign country. Goods may be landed, stored for an unlimited period and shipped off again to other lands without being subjected to any customs dues whatever. Only as and when the goods cross what may be termed a "customs frontier" do they become subject to duty. When goods are forwarded to places within Sweden, provided that such places have a customs house, the customs dues are levied at the destination and not at Gothenburg. All harbor dues levied on ships or goods are determined by the Swedish government, and all charges relating to labor within the free harbor are determined by the Lord Lieutenant of the City and County in consultation with the Chamber of Commerce and the Association of Shipowners. Charges for labor in the "customs" harbor are approved by the Chamber of Commerce, but are not obligatory. Owing to the unstable conditions which now obtain it may be found necessary to modify the scale of dues from time to time, but it may be taken for granted that any changes will be in the direction of reduced dues, as the harbor authorities are said to be most anxious to reduce all costs to the minimum. That portion of the harbor now completed is the first instalment of a scheme which contemplates the con-

THE RECALL

The duty of the common clerk with respect to the recall petition is plain enough. The sections of the act relating to it are clear and specific. They read: "Within ten days after the date of the filing of such petition, the common clerk, for whom the common council shall attach such assistance as may be necessary, shall examine the petition to ascertain whether or not it is signed by the requisite number of voters, as above prescribed, and shall attach to said petition his certificate, showing the result of his examination."

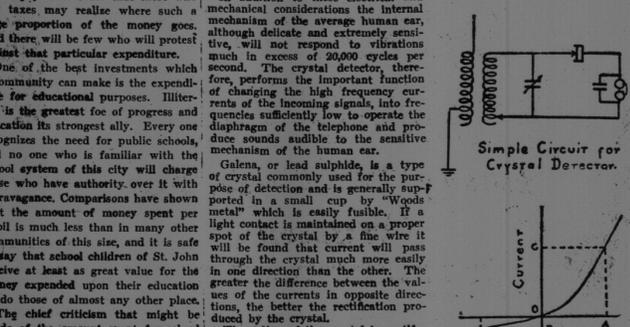

THE CITY SCHOOLS

When the report on the finances of the public schools of the city was presented to the Common Council yesterday, attention was drawn to the fact that upwards of half a million dollars is required annually for the education of the children of the city. It is well to have this information placed before the taxpayers in order that those who pay taxes may realize where such a large proportion of the money goes. And there will be few who will protest against that particular expenditure. One of the best investments which a community can make is the expenditure for educational purposes. Illiteracy is the greatest foe of progress and education is its strongest ally. Every one recognizes the need for public schools, and no one who is familiar with the school system of this city will charge those who have authority over it with extravagance. Comparisons have shown that the amount of money spent per pupil is much less than in many other communities of this size, and it is safe to say that school children of St. John receive at least as great value for the money expended upon their education as do those of almost any other place.

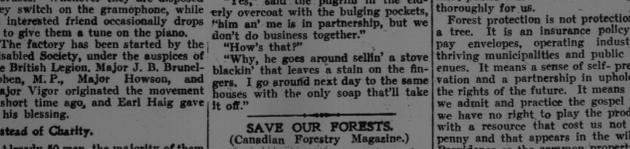

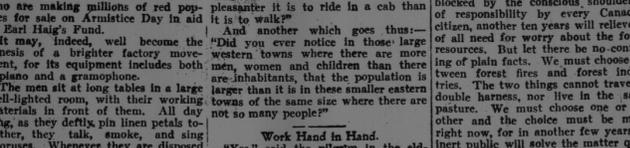

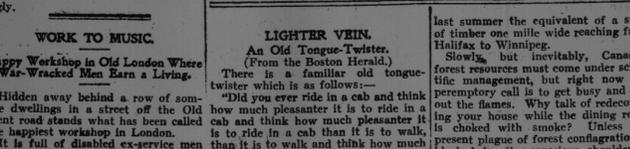

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

By Edward N. Davis Formerly Technical Electrical Expert For U. S. Government

Lesson No. 116. RECEPTION BY THE CRYSTAL DETECTOR. When oscillations of high frequency, sent out by a transmitting station, are intercepted by the antenna of a receiving station and impressed upon a receiving circuit, it is necessary to provide a means of converting these oscillations into uni-directional impulses which may be rendered audible in the receiver. There are several conditions existing in the circuit which render necessary the use of a detector. One of these conditions is due to the fact that the electro magnets which operate the diaphragm of the telephone receiver are not sufficiently light or elastic to vibrate and produce audible sounds when supplied with frequencies higher than a few thousand cycles per second.

In addition to these electrical and mechanical considerations the internal mechanism of the average human ear, although delicate and extremely sensitive, will not respond to vibrations much in excess of 20,000 cycles per second. The crystal detector, therefore, performs the important function of changing the high frequency currents of the incoming signals, into frequencies sufficiently low to operate the diaphragm of the telephone and produce sounds audible to the sensitive mechanism of the human ear. Galena, or lead sulphide, is a type of crystal commonly used for the purpose of detection and is generally supported in a small cup by "Wax" which is easily fused. If a light contact is maintained on a proper spot of the crystal by a fine wire it will be found that current will pass through the crystal much more easily in one direction than the other. The greater the difference between the values of the currents in opposite directions, the better the rectification produced by the crystal.

The action of the crystal in rectifying the current, resulting from the changes induced in the antenna may be understood by reference to the characteristic curve of a galena crystal. In the accompanying diagram, voltage applied to the crystal are measured along the horizontal axis while the corresponding current, flowing through the crystal, are measured along the vertical axis. The impressed voltage, having the value (OA), in one direction, results in a flow of current (OC) through the crystal. If an equal voltage (OB) in the opposite direction is applied to the crystal, the resultant current, flowing through the crystal, is much less than the value (OC). The voltage variations induced in the antenna may be represented by the "Curve of Voltage" shown in the accompanying diagram, while the resultant current due to the action of the crystal is shown in the "Curve of Rectified Current". It is thus apparent that if varying voltages are induced in the antenna by the incoming signals, the current will flow in one direction or the other, depending upon the direction of the voltage. The variations of this current, by pulling on the diaphragm of the telephone, cause it to vibrate and reproduce the sounds which originated at the transmitting station. BIG RING SMUGGLERS ALIENS AND LIQUOR, COBA THE BASE

Extensive Operations With Ramifications That Reach Europe Agents Mixed With "Kings" - Find That Fast Boats Take Cargoes of Liquor and Foreigners to Coast of Florida.

Washington, Sept. 28.—(Associated Press)—Smuggling of European aliens into the United States from Cuba, surreptitious submerging temporarily in the waters of the Florida Coast of large quantities of liquors by "international bootleggers" and mock marriages designed to ensure entry into this country of women barred by immigration laws, are reported in a survey submitted to Secretary Davis by the Bureau of Investigation.

This report, Commissioner General Husband said, is the most comprehensive review of smuggling conditions ever prepared by immigration officials and is expected to be considered by the Treasury, Labor and Agriculture Departments in connection with the proposed co-ordination of border patrol forces. Government investigators, by direction of Mr. Husband, visited Jacksonville, Tampa, Tarpon Springs, Miami, Key West and Havana. They mingled, it is said, with the "kings" of the smuggling "industry" and mock marriages in the United States. The data gathered, it is stated, will prove invaluable to the government in coping with the situation which has taxed the ingenuity of federal agents to combat.

The smuggling ramifications, it is declared, extend to the capture of European states from Cuba for certain companies has been for them to enter into "fake" marriages with naturalized American citizens, go through mock ceremonies and then accompany their "wives" to some Florida point. Frequently, it is said, obliging "birds" are chosen to perform the ceremony for their part in the scheme.

The principal smugglers in Havana, the investigators declare, do not constantly fly from Cuba to certain points in the United States, but also handle whiskey and narcotics. The majority of the leaders are said to be naturalized citizens. Names used by the investigators are of Cuban registry, and do not enter or clear at the Custom House here. Names used by the smugglers and power launches, it is declared, are inscribed on plates, readily removable, and some vessels are said to carry several such plates. Destined for each craft when leaving Cuba are not always fixed, the inspectors report, adding that a majority of the bigger boats are outside the Custom House and send their load, if aliens, ashore a few at a time in small boats. If liquor or narcotics are the cargo is often merged in a pre-destined point and grappled up subsequently at leisure.

Probably no less than four or five vessels are used in each voyage from Cuba to the United States each week, the report states. In Havana, according to the report, hundreds of aliens through Central Park in the afternoon and at night, and constantly a dozen or more men, obviously members of the floating alien type, operate among them, going from group to group. These men, it is explained, are "runners" for the smuggling "kings".

There is no employment in Cuba for thousands of the Chinese and European aliens now there, it is reported, yet since the present passport and amended immigration restrictive act became operative, the number of Chinese and European aliens who are said to have arrived in Havana with the ultimate hope of gaining surreptitious entry to the United States, there are present, it is estimated, approximately 30,000 Chinese alone in Cuba for whom there is no employment. In fact, the report says, many of these aliens are dependent upon other circumstances except to earn sufficient money with which to pay passage to this country or Mexico.

The usual way charged for present, at least 7,000 aliens are said to have arrived in Havana with the ultimate hope of gaining surreptitious entry to the United States, there are present, it is estimated, approximately 30,000 Chinese alone in Cuba for whom there is no employment. In fact, the report says, many of these aliens are dependent upon other circumstances except to earn sufficient money with which to pay passage to this country or Mexico.

From Miami to Jacksonville, a distance of 350 miles, the whole coast line is said to be wide open to smuggling operations. Both Chinese and European aliens, it is declared, are being smuggled in at Mobile, Pensacola, Tarpon Springs, and at a dozen places within short distance of Tarpon Springs and Clearwater, Crystal Beach, Dunedin and Cedar Keys. Small vessels are understood frequently to put in at Tarpon Springs for "supplies or repairs," the inspectors explaining that such large numbers of aliens and quantities of liquor are landed. At this point, it is asserted, is sold openly over soda drink counters, Tarpon Springs appears to be used as a gateway principally by illegible aliens, mostly Greeks, Italians and Spaniards, the inspectors insert, while smuggling of all descriptions seems to be centering at Tampa and points on or near Tampa Bay, in the vicinity of Clearwater and St. Petersburg.

THE INDIAN FRANCHISE

(Vancouver Province) The statement of Mr. Mackenzie King about the enfranchisement of Canadian residents born in India, is not for that purpose as a government bill. It is a promise that parliament will be invited to consider the question. The statement is so worded as to leave the premier free to have the matter presented to the House in a way that will not make it a question of confidence. In the absence of influential ministers, and without consultation with the party in caucus this may be necessary prudence. Yet one would suppose the proposition to be a safe one in view of the declaration of the imperial conference, of which the present leader of the opposition was a member. The leader of the government will not expect the opposition of the Liberal-Conservative members.

A CANADIAN ELYSIUM

(Victoria Colonist) Allusion has been made several times to the fact that the lines of the people of the Province of Quebec have been cast in more than usually pleasant places. The province is generally admitted to be one of the most beautiful in the world. The administration calls itself Liberal, but really it is probably the most conservative body in the world, and it is the creation of what undoubtedly is the most conservative world in the world. Quebec is not continually in search of new things and is apparently proof against all external influences, social, political or religious.

WORK TO MUSIC

Happy Workshops in Old London Where War-Wrecked Men Earn a Living. Hidden away behind a row of sombre dwellings in a street off the Old Kent Road stands what has been called the happiest workshop in London.

THE BALTIC STATES

Three of the new nations which arose from the chaos which the Great War left have been brought to the attention of people on this side of the ocean by the recent extending formal recognition to Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania. Little has been heard of the Baltic states since they achieved their independence, but they have been going along in their own sturdy way, rejecting in their freedom and defending that freedom against the inroads of Bolshevism—which has been more of a menace to them than the danger of foreign invasion or reconquest.

It is more than a hundred years since these states were absorbed by Russia, but the spirit of independence did not die and through all those years the ambition to achieve their freedom was nursed in secret. From father to son and from mother to daughter the old traditions were handed down and, although subject to Russia and oppressed by the measures which were taken to stamp out the spark of national life, their spirit remained unquenched.

When revolution spread through Russia it was welcomed by the people. These countries, but when the Bolsheviks assumed control the people of the Baltic states would have nothing to do with their doctrines nor their use of government. Soviet forces attacked an invasion, but they were wiped back and, in 1918, the Baltic States declared their independence of Russia. The Soviet government agreed, a year later, and signed treaties recognizing all sovereign rights to their territories. Since then they have been molested by armed forces, have been resisted the more insidious invasion of Bolshevik emissaries.

LIGHTER VEIN

An Old Tongue-Twister. There is a familiar old tongue-twister which is as follows:—"Did you ever ride in a cab and think how pleasant it is to ride in a cab and think how much pleasanter it is to ride in a cab than it is to walk than it is to walk and think how much pleasanter it is to ride in a cab than it is to walk?"

And another which goes thus:—"Did you ever see a large western town where there are more men, women and children than there are inhabitants, that the population is larger than it is in the whole of the town of the same size where there are not so many people?"

Work Hand in Hand. "Yes," said the pilgrim in the elderly overcoat with the bulging pockets, "him and me in partnership, but we don't do business together."

SAVE OUR FORESTS

(Canadian Forestry Magazine) During the last three-quarters of a century the Canadian people have permitted the destruction of a forest area twenty times the size of the three maritime provinces. There have been 4,000 forest fires in Canada this year, each one exchanging valuable public-owned timber lands for worthless waste of charcoal and firewood. It is sheer business stupidity, inexcusable as the exchange of pounds sterling for paper roubles.

The Canadian citizen of 1780 and 1800 held a hundred acres of forest land, a trespasser on agricultural soil. He had no lumber industry to speak of, no pulp and paper industry, no highly organized domestic business calling on the forest for its daily needs. But times have changed and yet the public mind refuses to budget agricultural land is not now cumbered by forests, but instead the forest is very much cumbered by worked-out farms. There is more cleared land in Canada that should be put back under forest than there is forested land that ever can be profitably cleared for agriculture.

Forest conservation is not a matter of using less wood but of growing more. Eighty per cent of the habitable area of the dominion is unfit for agriculture and adapted only for timber production. The timber crop and minerals are the only possible magnets to new population, new towns, new industries over that untillable eighty per cent. Today in the markets of the world the crops of Canada represent a precise equivalent of new factories, new employment, new courses of wages. Every year, the market valuation on forested areas rises in direct ratio to the decrease in America's timber supply and the advance in public demand for forest products. And yet with this enormously valuable public resource owned by the people of Canada, distributed its benefits to every man, woman and child, who has been of being astute business men are throwing into the furnace ten trees for every one we turn to use. We, the trustees of the Canadian forest, turned to ruin last summer the equivalent of a strip of timber one mile wide reaching from Halifax to Winnipeg.

Slowly, but inevitably, Canada's forest resources must come under scientific management, but right now the emergency call is to get busy and put out the flames. Why talk of redecorating your house while the dining room is choked with smoke? Unless the present plague of forest conflagration is blocked by the conscious shouldering of responsibility by every Canadian citizen, another ten years will have passed. But let there be no confusion of plain facts. We must choose between the forest and the cities, between the double harness, nor live in the same pasture. We must choose one or the other, and the choice must be made right now, for in another few years an inert public will solve the matter quite thoroughly for us.

Forest protection is not protection of a tree. It is an insurance policy on pay envelopes, operating industries, thriving municipalities and the well-being of the nation. It means a sense of self-preservation and a partnership in upholding the rights of the future. It means that we admit and practice the gospel of a resource that cost us not one penny, and that appears in the will of Providence and common property of the generations that follow.

CANON TROOP TO MONTREAL FOR SPECIAL SERVICES

DECREASE IN EUROPE'S CROP.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reporting on foreign crop prospects, as of the middle of September, states that the wheat crop of France is estimated unofficially as 275,000,000 bushels, compared with 323,467,000 bushels last year. But annual consumption is reckoned under present conditions at 312,000,000 bushels, compared with 336,000,000 a year ago. For Italy it is estimated that a wheat importation of 112,000,000 bushels would be required in the coming year. The estimated yield of small grains in Great Britain has been slightly increased.

From Russia it is stated that "the last reports indicate poor growing conditions for the wheat crop in the Crimea and the Ukraine," and damage from locusts in the Volga region. In Canada the estimate of wheat yield is placed at 888,778,000 bushels, compared with a previous forecast of 820,968,000.

HOLES CUT IN CAGES, FREEING ANIMALS AT ZOO

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 28.—Police, searched by volunteers, have been searching for several animals which were released from their cages in the city Zoo at Potter Park during the night by some unknown person.

Attendants on their arrival at the Zoo discovered that someone had shot and wounded the one elk in the leg and cut holes in other cages liberating one fox, four skunks, several owls and a pair of goats.

By noon searchers had recovered two of the skunks and one of the goats. They had, however, found no clue to the identity of the intruder. The city commission has offered a reward of $25 for the return of the missing exhibits.

NEW EVIDENCE AT PARIS TRIAL

At the afternoon session of the Paris trial, yesterday, John McDonold continued his evidence. Others who testified were Mrs. Joseph Gerow, Alfred M. Byers, William J. Lavigne, Robert A. Elliott, Walter Humphrey and Luther B. Smith.

The first new witness in the case, Luther B. Smith, a West Side contractor and lumberman, was then sworn. He told of motoring to the city on Aug. 2, and seeing a man, apparently excited, whom he believed to be Paris. He saw the man, who was dressed in khaki, between 1 and 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Smith said he thought the man was going to kill him, as he came within twenty or thirty feet of him before wheeling about and starting hurriedly in the direction of the bridge. Witness thought the stranger had on riding breeches. He noticed his build, height and general appearance. In his judgment and belief the man in the dock was he. The place witness first saw the stranger was at a point between 200 and 300 feet from the Cowan property, towards the bridge, and on the city side of the Murray & Gregory road.

To Mr. Vernon, Mr. Smith said the

SAYS MURDER MYSTERY TO HER

Widow of Slain Rector is Questioned by Detectives—More Stories That are Being Circulated.

New York, Sept. 28.—Mrs. Frances N. Hall, the gray-haired widow of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, denied yesterday that she knew who had killed her husband and Mrs. Eleanor H. Mills, a member of his congregation, and had left their bodies in a field outside New Brunswick, N. J. The clergyman's widow also denied that she knew what could have been the motive for the murders. She said that she had not been jealous of Mrs. Mills, and had not harbored any cause for vengeance, and that she did not know of anybody who had had any reason to kill either her husband or the choir singer.

In a prepared statement which Mrs. Hall issued over her signature, the widow gave a detailed account of her movements on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday—from the day before the murder until the day the bodies were found lying side by side under an apple tree on an abandoned farm. Mrs. Hall ended the document with the statement that she and the rector, who was about fourteen years younger than herself, had been happy together, and that her confidence in him remained "boundless and unshaken."

Questioned by Officials.
Two detectives took Mrs. Hall in an automobile from her home to Prosecutor Joseph E. Stricker's office in the Middlesex County Court House and questioned her for two hours and a quarter. At the end of this period, however, it was apparent that the officials were as completely mystified as to who had committed the murder and why as they had been all along.

The trouble becomes more and more complex every day by the discovery of new angles of dissension among the people with whom the clergyman passed his life. It was learned that the choir of Dr. Hall's church—the fashionable Protestant Episcopal church of St. John the Evangelist—had been a hotbed of trouble for a long time before the murder. Mrs. Mills was the cause of it all. She had pushed herself forward, it was said, until she practically ran the choir, although there was a regular paid choir leader, and she had been opposed for some time by a faction which resented her increasing influence over the rector and the conduct of church affairs.

Another story that cropped up concerned the clergyman's seventy-eight-year-old mother. When the minister went to New Brunswick from Bernardsville, N. J., ten years ago, his mother accompanied him. When he married Miss Frances Stevens, a mem-

On the Night before Wash Day

Do this, and you will have a pleasant, easy, work-free wash-day—with wonderfully clean sweet clothes.

For each tub of clothes take half a package of Rinso, dissolve in just enough cool water to make it as thick as cream. Then stir in two quarts of boiling water, and stir well. When the bubbles disappear you will have a clear, amber-colored liquid that is the magical Rinso washing solution. Pour it into your tub of cool or lukewarm water, and put in the clothes and soak. For extra hard water or extra dirty clothes add more Rinso solution.

In the morning rinse thoroughly and hang out to dry—the washing is done! That's why Rinso is different from all other Soaps and Washing Powders.

MAIL TO ENGLAND UNDER-STAMPED

English Merchants Complain That the Omission Causes Costs and Delays.

Montreal, Sept. 28.—Despite frequent warnings by the Canadian postal department it appears that a number of Canadian business men still do not realize that the ordinary postage rate on letters to England is now four cents for the first ounce. As a result, they are sending on business letters addressed only with three cent stamps, the same as for letters going to the United States, a practice which causes considerable annoyance to the English recipients of these letters, causing delay, and the payment of three cents extra penalty postage on each under stamped letter.

In connection with this the following letter was received by H. C. Beatty, assistant secretary of the Montreal Board of Trade and the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Leicester, England, which tells its own story:

"It has been brought to my notice that a number of letters from Canadian houses addressed to manufacturers in this district are being insufficiently stamped, and one of my members in particular states that practically every letter received by him is surcharged by the post office to the extent of 1/4d.

"I am informed the rate of postage from Canada to this country is four cents for the first ounce, whereas in the cases brought to my notice, three cents only has been paid, and through the medium of your Board of Trade to draw the attention of any of your members doing business with this country to this matter.

"Of course the constant recurrence of surcharges on Canadian letters causes some amount of annoyance, as I feel sure you will agree, and if you are able to take any steps to give this publicity, I shall be extremely obliged."

CROSS STREET ONLY AT SET CROSSING

Montreal Pedestrian, Crossing a Street Diagonally, Gets No Damages for Collision.

Montreal, Sept. 28.—"Considering that the accident was caused by plaintiff's imprudently trying to cross Prince Albert street diagonally at a point which was not a crossing intended for foot passengers; and that plaintiff's own evidence shows that he alone was responsible for the accident, the court is justified in refusing to hear further evidence and in dismissing plaintiff's action."

The case that was halted in this way in the Superior Court by Mr. Justice Maclellan, was one in which Joseph After sought to recover from W. A. Sadler $1,100 damages for personal injuries plaintiff sustained on April 14, 1920, when he was struck by a bicycle descending Prince Albert street, Westmount, and ridden by defendant's minor sons.

"Plaintiff," the judge said, "admits having seen the bicycle at a distance of at least 100 feet from where he was

It was all because they were superbly healthy

About her were women in their thirties and forties—buoyant, radiant, vivacious, with a charm that drew everyone around them—while she, many years their junior, with all her sparkle gone, was losing her hold upon people.

Why the difference? It was all because they were superbly healthy, while her vitality was slipping away.

Health is normal, not exceptional. Failing strength means just this: something is hindering the body from performing its two vital functions; either from building up the living cells which compose it, or from throwing off the poisonous waste which gathers in the intestines.

The fresh, living cells of Fleischmann's Yeast contain a natural food—with the very elements which help the body perform these two vital functions.

Like any other plant or vegetable, yeast produces the best results when fresh and "green"—not dried or "killed." Fleischmann's Yeast is the highest grade living yeast—always fresh. It is not a medicine, it is a natural food. Results cannot be expected unless it is eaten regularly.

Everywhere physicians and hospitals are prescribing Fleischmann's Yeast to correct constipation, skin disorders and to restore appetite and digestion.

"I was on the verge of collapse"

"So irritable I lost nearly all of my friends," writes a woman in Washington. "So weak I couldn't carry on an ordinary conversation."

"Today I would like to tell every nervous person on earth the wonderful cure yeast has been to me. Friends cannot believe it is I. Wrinkles gone, nervous twitching gone and I feel like a million dollars."

Eat two or three cakes a day regularly—plain, or spread on crackers, or mixed with water or milk. If you prefer, get six cakes at a time—they will keep in a cool, dry place two or three days. Begin to know what real health means! Be sure you get Fleischmann's Yeast. All grocers have it.

First All-Steel Bomber Is Flown.

London, Sept. 28.—The first all-steel bombing airplane in the world was successfully flown at Norwich this week. Designed and constructed to the order of the air ministry, this airplane, though built entirely of steel, is actually lighter than similar machines of wood. Driven by two Napier engines totaling nearly one thousand horse power, it can carry several tons of bombs and has a range of more than one thousand miles.

DIED OF EXPOSURE.
Woman Lost Way in Storm on Helvellyn.

London, Aug. 28.—(By Mail)—Mrs. Leah Mortimer Rhodes, aged fifty-two, the wife of a retired ironmonger of Bolton-le-Sands, has lost her life while on holiday in the Lake District. With her two daughters, aged sixteen and seventeen, she set out to climb Helvellyn, but the party lost their way in a torrential rainstorm. They were found by a shepherd in an exhausted condition. He went to Patterdale, five miles away, and brought back a rescue party. Mrs. Rhodes was carried down the mountain on a stretcher, but died on the way from exhaustion and exposure.

Expert Heating Service

THERE is no rule of thumb by which one can say a pipe furnace is better than a one-register (pipeless) or vice-versa.

One house may be adapted for heating by a one-register (pipeless) furnace quite as well as by a pipe furnace.

Only expert engineering service can determine from examination, measurements and a study of the plan of the house which system should be employed.

A prudent householder will consult with an expert and get his advice before going to the expense of putting in any kind of furnace.

McClary's heating engineers will give this advice free of any cost.

If you buy a McClary's Sunshine Furnace—pipe or one-register (pipeless) it will be expertly installed by McClary's Representative, who can consult McClary's Engineers, and it will be guaranteed by McClary's to thoroughly and efficiently heat your home with a minimum consumption of fuel.

The ladies' auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. met in the Y. M. C. A. building on Tuesday afternoon, holding the first meeting of the season. There was general enthusiasm in taking up the auxiliary's work once more. Mrs. G. Wilford Campbell, the president, was in the chair. A. M. Gregg, the general secretary of the Y. M. C. SHOWROOMS IN SHANGHAI.
To Be Opened by Canadian Trade Department.

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—In an endeavor to widen Canadian trade in the Far East, the Department of Trade and Commerce is contemplating opening showrooms for Canadian products in Shanghai, China. If the arrangements are perfected, the department, according to present plans, will authorize the necessary expenditures for the opening of showrooms and will charge manufacturers nominal fees for space. The exhibit will be under the control of the Canadian Trade Commissioner.

Manufacturers entering the exhibit will be called upon to supply their own salesmen, who will be responsible to their principals. "Those interested in rest assured," says an outline of the plan, "that the department is desirous of doing its utmost without favor or discrimination to assist anyone wishing to sell Canadian goods in that part

STUDIED AMONG
1,115 PUPILS

Public Health Worker Analyzes Its Relation to Defects Among Children—81 Per Cent Rated Poor.

Analyzing a recent survey of 1,115 pupils in three elementary schools at Bedford, Ind., comprising the first six grades, E. Blanche Sterling, acting assistant surgeon of the United States Health Service, points to the importance of posture from the standpoint of health and its relation to nutrition, physical defects and physical training. The age, sex, grade, nutrition, physical defects and posture were noted in the case of practically every child in the group studied.

These conclusions are drawn from the survey: The posture of school children cannot be said to depend entirely, or even chiefly, on any one condition. The facts seemed to confirm that while good nutrition is a contributing factor to good posture, it is by no means an indispensable condition. Defective vision, adenoids and bad tonsils tend to have an unfavorable effect on a child's posture. When hygienic conditions in a school are inadequate, there is a moderate decrease of good posture and increase of poor posture.

In planning exercise with a view to the promotion of good posture, it is suggested that setting-up exercises be simple and vigorous and playful of energy and vim. Formless, jellyfish gymnastics or stupid, silly games, played half-heartedly, have little place in the proper physical development of the growing child. It is pointed out, "According to those who believe nutrition is the controlling factor in posture," says the acting assistant surgeon, "one would expect to find a majority of these 1,115 children under-nourished. On the contrary, fifty-eight per cent of the number never fell below the seven per cent line during the whole school year, whereas only nineteen per cent were at or below this level during the same period. The number of well-nourished children was twice as great as the number of children with good posture. With three times as many well-nourished children as undernourished, the number having good posture, instead of being three times as great, was slightly less than the number having good posture.

"Of the 646 children well nourished throughout the year thirty-one per cent had good posture and thirty per cent had poor posture. So that a child with good nutrition had a slightly more than even chance of having good posture. If the child's nutrition is poor, his chances of having good posture are less, twenty-two per cent of the 212 children under weight throughout the year having good posture and thirty-nine per cent, having poor posture.

"Defective teeth, which have been blamed for most of the ills which flesh is heir to, apparently can be given a comparatively clean bill of health in the case of posture. Of 480 children having this defect alone, thirty-four per cent had good posture and twenty-three per cent had poor posture. Since the number having good posture is almost one and one-half times as great as those with poor posture, defective teeth cannot be considered a factor of importance in the production of poor posture.

"The number of children having eye defects alone (thirty-seven) is too small to furnish any conclusive evidence as to the effect of this defect on posture. When, however, to this number is added those having a combination of eye and teeth defects, and eliminating the latter as unimportant, the figures show

This Laxative Works
Fine on Old People

Thousands have kept themselves healthy with Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. Advancing age with its attendant ambitions and strivings could be made very happy if only good health accompanied it, and the basis of good health, as everyone learns upon reaching the age of 60, is the regular daily movement of the bowels. If it can be effected through the food you eat, the water you drink and the exercise you take, so much the better. But if nature will not operate it must be assisted or sickness will follow. Neglected constipation causes the blood pressure to go up 23 per cent, and that is the forerunner of hardening of the arteries. It makes rheumatism and gout worse, too.

The ideal constipation remedy for people of advancing years is Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is gentle and mild, and does not cramp or grip. It is a mistake to think you need a violent salt or powder or pill, calomel, cool-sar drugs and such things. They purge and weaken

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE
Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try my Laxative Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 22 Caldwell Building, Toronto, Ont. No 11 sent!

Now try the milder method. Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect with repeated use, and increased doses are unnecessary. Mrs. Ellen Laird of Picton, N. S., who is 87, keeps herself in good health with it, and Mr. Chas. N. Nicholas of Winnipeg, Man., finds it both helpful and beneficial, and everything that can be desired from a laxative standpoint.

Use Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin yourself the next time you suffer from constipation, biliousness, headache, sleeplessness, indigestion, piles or night cramps. Many thousands of elderly people use nothing else, and it costs them less than a cent a dose. Druggists have sold it successfully for 30 years, and it is the most widely bought family laxative in the world.

TAKE DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN LAXATIVE The family remedy

thirty-seven per cent, with poor posture as against twenty-six per cent, with good posture. Hence, eye defects must be taken into consideration in studying the question of the posture of school children. This evidence supports the opinions long held by orthopedists. "Defects of the nose and throat seem to have an important effect on the posture of the child. Of 894 children having adenoids or enlarged or diseased tonsils, or both, either alone or in combination with eyes or teeth both, forty-one per cent had poor posture and only twenty-three per cent had good posture. Of 806 children in whom were found a combination of poor posture and physical defects, fifty-two per cent had adenoids, enlarged or diseased tonsils or a combination of these defects." The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen met last night in Odafollows' hall, West St. John, with the president, Mrs. W. Tobin, in the chair and a large attendance of members. Plans were made for a supper and sale to be held in the latter part of October. A special bill was accepted giving permission for all honorary and non-beneficiary members to have a policy of $150. A social evening was enjoyed at the conclusion of auxiliary business. The meeting was one of special interest.

NOT ONLY WAR

Horror of Pestilence from Russia That May be Wafted to Other Nations.

(New Freeman.) But it is not only in and about Constantinople that danger exists to the world. It is not only the horror of a possible war, great or small. A fearful menace exists today, according to most reliable information, in the nature of a possible plague, breathed forth from famine and disease-stricken Russia and wafting its poisonous fumes on the nations of the earth. The dispatch of the Papal Relief Mission to the starving millions in Russia, as well as other events, have centered attention on the terrible conditions in that country so much so that the Berlin correspondent of the N. C. W. C. News Service, writing under date of September 11, last, says that "great alarm is being felt in Germany over the possibility of the spread of disease from the famine-stricken districts of Russia to the nations of central and western Europe," and, thence, to the outside world.

A bulletin issued by the Central Red Cross, in Berlin, after giving a description of conditions in Russia, which it fears may ultimately expose the Occidental European nations to the dangers of plague and epidemic, continues: "For more than a year news has come to us of starvation in Russia, a catastrophe the like of which Europe has not witnessed. The existence of cannibalism has been shown not in hundreds, but in thousands of instances. There are proofs of a moral breakdown such as even the Thirty Years' War did not cause. Millions of men have perished from hunger; we shall never know how many. Epidemics of the most dangerous kind are wasting the people. The lack of clothing, filth, the lice plague, all produce and disseminate sickness and bring thousands to their deaths. Cholera is reigning in the Ukraine and also in the large towns and villages.

"The foreign countries and the German Red Cross will have to combat these epidemics for a long time. It cannot be denied that the epidemics are on their way westward, and, so far, they have not been halted. Consequently they will one day reach the eastern frontier of Germany. If they get that far, all measures will not be sufficient to stop them and prevent the contagion from crossing the boundary. The meat of animals, and the hides which are exported from Russia to foreign countries, will carry the germs of pestilence and in other ways will be a menace."

And, on top of these terrible conditions, comes the threat of a renewed war laying further seeds for famine and disease.

MODERN HOMES ON SITE OF ANCIENT CARTHAGE
Carthage, Tunis, French Africa, Sept. 1.—(A. P. by mail)—The site of ancient Carthage is being sold off and divided into building lots, and the surrounding hills, rich in history, are being slowly covered with residential villas.

Archaeologists point out that if this building is permitted to continue, their excavation work will be seriously hampered, as the new proprietors object to invasions of their yards by workmen, no matter what treasures of history may lie underneath. Two French government employes of the department of Tunis lately bought a piece of ground on the site of the old city, and before building their house started to find out what was underneath the surface. After patient digging they discovered a temple of Tanit. Unless the French government stops the sale, real estate agents will soon put on the market some 240 acres of the site of Carthage, at a total sale price of $200,000.

CONTINUE ACTS OF VIOLATION
Turkish Movements in Neutral Zone Continue
Tell the British They Will Not Tolerate Fortification Work by Latter, But Say They Will Respect Neutrality of Straits Pending Conference.
(Canadian Press Cable)
Constantinople, Sept. 28.—The Turkish Nationalists have notified the allied high commissioner that they will not tolerate the fortification of certain points in the so-called neutral zones along the Dardanelles.
Continuance of the work of fortification will be looked upon by the Kemalists as warranting military action, their representative, Hamid Bey, informed the allied commander, Gen. Harrington.
The Turkish troops movements continue and yesterday for the fifth time they violated the neutral zones, taking positions in the regions of Dumbroek, Lampasak, Yaghlari and Sangakli.
Cavalry is advancing on Asmaltepe, apparently with the object of holding the British advance posts at Kcp-Hez, and aid has been sent to the latter.
Despite these movements a communication from the Kemalists yesterday declared they would respect the neutrality of the straits pending an armistice conference, and Gen. Harrington has sent a message to Mustafa Kemal Pasha at Smyrna, urging an early meeting of the British and Kemalists generals at Mudania or Istanbul.
The Greek battleship Atteroff, the crew of which mutinied yesterday, is steaming for Piraeus through the Dardanelles, and is in danger of bombardment by the Kemal artillery concentrated in the hills of the Asiatic side. The allied naval authorities here are hopeful that she will escape unscathed, as she is leaving Turkish waters at their request.
The Sultan's cabinet, the military governor of Constantinople and the responsible law officers are taking all measures to preserve order and safeguard life in the event of a Venizelista uprising.
Field Marshal Paunier visited the Sultan yesterday and remained with him an hour. They are believed to have discussed the caliphate question in light of the new situation.
Under the will of Mrs. Mary J. Moore of Fredericton, Mrs. Robert MacMillan of Fairville, is a beneficiary. The estate was probated at $40,000, of which $6,500 is personalty. After this is taken out and a bequest of $3,000 to her sister, the residue is to be divided into thirty-five equal parts of which Mrs. MacMillan will receive five.

CONTINUE ACTS OF VIOLATION
Turkish Movements in Neutral Zone Continue
Tell the British They Will Not Tolerate Fortification Work by Latter, But Say They Will Respect Neutrality of Straits Pending Conference.
(Canadian Press Cable)
Constantinople, Sept. 28.—The Turkish Nationalists have notified the allied high commissioner that they will not tolerate the fortification of certain points in the so-called neutral zones along the Dardanelles.
Continuance of the work of fortification will be looked upon by the Kemalists as warranting military action, their representative, Hamid Bey, informed the allied commander, Gen. Harrington.
The Turkish troops movements continue and yesterday for the fifth time they violated the neutral zones, taking positions in the regions of Dumbroek, Lampasak, Yaghlari and Sangakli.
Cavalry is advancing on Asmaltepe, apparently with the object of holding the British advance posts at Kcp-Hez, and aid has been sent to the latter.
Despite these movements a communication from the Kemalists yesterday declared they would respect the neutrality of the straits pending an armistice conference, and Gen. Harrington has sent a message to Mustafa Kemal Pasha at Smyrna, urging an early meeting of the British and Kemalists generals at Mudania or Istanbul.
The Greek battleship Atteroff, the crew of which mutinied yesterday, is steaming for Piraeus through the Dardanelles, and is in danger of bombardment by the Kemal artillery concentrated in the hills of the Asiatic side. The allied naval authorities here are hopeful that she will escape unscathed, as she is leaving Turkish waters at their request.
The Sultan's cabinet, the military governor of Constantinople and the responsible law officers are taking all measures to preserve order and safeguard life in the event of a Venizelista uprising.
Field Marshal Paunier visited the Sultan yesterday and remained with him an hour. They are believed to have discussed the caliphate question in light of the new situation.
Under the will of Mrs. Mary J. Moore of Fredericton, Mrs. Robert MacMillan of Fairville, is a beneficiary. The estate was probated at $40,000, of which $6,500 is personalty. After this is taken out and a bequest of $3,000 to her sister, the residue is to be divided into thirty-five equal parts of which Mrs. MacMillan will receive five.

NEW "FLYING SCOTSMAN"
Britain's first high-speed electric railway engine, with a safe maximum speed of ninety miles an hour, and capable of maintaining an average of more than a mile a minute on a long journey, has just been delivered to the North-Eastern Railway.
The engine which has been designed to ensure absolute safety when traveling at top speed, is in the nature of an experiment. If it proves a success the whole North-Eastern system may, in the course of time, be equipped with electrically driven engines.
The new engine, which develops 1,800 horse-power, can maintain these high speeds with a heavy load of 400 tons. It is furnished with a small boiler for producing the steam for heating the passenger coaches. Steam is produced electrically.
It is a co-incidence that Darlington associated with the first English railway, should also be connected with the latest development in railway traveling.

LAUDER COLLECTS BET FROM LIPTON ON LINERS' RACE
Comedian Claimed Shilling 'from Teaman on Arrival of Baltic at N. Y.—Cost Him £5 to Win It.
A story told by Sir Thomas Lipton to the ship news reporters when he arrived on Sunday, about Sir Harry Lauder's great misfortune—his loss of "thrupence" on his way over on the Mauretania—was declared by the Scotch comedian to be "bum". He did not lose "thrupence," he insisted. He lost sixpence. He asked reporters who grouped about him at the Hotel Ambassador that they make this plain to the public. While the news gatherers were there, however, he agreed to tell them what he thinks about prohibition, and play censorship; that his newest "farewell" engagement will begin at the Lexington Theatre on next Monday; that he has three new songs with him, and that his knees, made bare by kilts, are seldom cold.
"I didn't drop thrupence onboard nor did I drop it in the coal bunkers," said Harry about the team's story. "Anyhow the Mauretania has no coal bunkers; she burns oil. But more important than that; it was sixpence I lost."
Just before I left the other side I bet Sir Thomas 'thrupence' hapenny to nipence that the Mauretania would beat the Baltic in. When I saw my ship going rather slowly, I went down to the fremen and engineers and told them about my bet. While there I dropped sixpence, and, of course, I made them stop the boat. After searching an hour and a half they gave up the job. I left £5 with them for their trouble.
On the way over, the wager was increased, the Scotsman said. He had been kept informed of the Baltic's course by wireless, and knowing she was behind the Mauretania, he made his bet a shilling. Sir Thomas wirelessed his acceptance—and lost.
"There are good times coming," the Scotsman said, "and," he added, with a smile, "they're a good time coming." "Prohibition is all right," he said, when the cameramen suggested that he keep talking. "It keeps the corkcrews straight. Prohibition for everybody! No. Only for those who can afford it. Yes, I'm a prohibitionist in America. I have to be."
Lauder looked down at his knees before his next answer. It was in reply to the question, "when you are in Toronto or some other cold place, aren't your knees awfully cold?"
"They get cold when my hands and face are cold," he replied. "In fact the only time I catch cold is when I put on trousers."
He is a believer in play censorship, provided the jury is "qualified to judge." He believed the best jury would be one composed entirely of theatrical people. In England, where there has been stage censorship for years, he said he is the only artist who is not required to submit his songs before he sings them.
His new songs are "Sunshine of Bonnie Lassie's Smile," "The Belle of Dunoon," and "It's a Fine Thing to Sing."
He seldom composes a song, he said, in Scotland. Most of them are written in other countries, while he's ruminating on his home.

DEATH OF THE OLD PARTIES
He Thinks That Conservatives and Radicals Will Supplant Republican and Democratic Groups.
Denver, Col., Sept. 28.—That the two great political parties in the United States are having difficulty to find an issue upon which they can differ materially, and that the natural outcome of the situation is likely to result in the scrapping of the Republican and Democratic parties in favor of a new political line-up of conservatives and radicals, is the opinion of Lindley M. Garrison, former Secretary of War. Mr. Garrison is here to attend a hearing in the United States District Court.
"Despite the fact that William Scott Hancock was defeated for the presidency because he said 'The tariff is a local issue,'" Mr. Garrison said, "I am inclined to believe that he was right. What is there then for partisans to quarrel about?"
"There is, however, he continued, "a very decided difference of opinion among American people regarding our constitution. While I class myself as a conservative, I have no quarrel with that large and growing body of Americans who feel that this country has outgrown its constitution and that the time for change in our form of government is here. They have a legitimate right to work for the carrying out of their opinions, provided lawful measures are used. A new political alignment is imminent in America—the conservatives of both parties against the radicals."
Mr. Garrison expressed the opinion that the new parties are not likely to make their appearance before the next presidential election. He also declared that the Democratic party is woefully weak in the matter of outstanding leaders, although he added that James M. Cox still has a considerable following and that William Randolph Hearst is a formidable figure in Democratic councils.
At a meeting of the St. John Mayor's Association held last evening at the Y. M. C. A., the election of officers resulted as follows—President, Carl P. Wetmore; vice-president, Fred I. Withers, and secretary, Herbert A. Neaves. Supper was served by the G. I. T. group of the German street Baptist church under the convership of Miss Marion Belding. Special guests at the supper were Harry Ballantyne, general secretary of the National Y. M. C. A., Mr. Gregg of Korea, national secretary, and A. M. Gregg, the general secretary of the local Y. M. C. A.

MCGRAW IS 32 YEARS IN GAME

None Better Than He was at Third Base

Fielding Bunts His Specialty—A Consistent Hitter Around 350, and Fast on the Bases—Owns a Fair Share in the Giants.

New York, Sept. 27.—By adding another pennant to the string that has fluttered from the flag pole at the Polo Grounds, John Joseph McGraw becomes more securely enshrined in his title of "Napoleon of Baseball."

Short, stocky, dapper, ruddy faced and gray headed, McGraw looks more like a successful broker than a professional marauder of the diamond, but his gray matter has made him a fixture.

Only one year did McGraw remain in Oleon, signing a sheet for $60 a month. Next he went to Cedar Rapids where his stipend was more remunerative and his work more brilliant. His shortstopping was so remarkable that a big league scout came to look him over, saw him and was captivated.

The youthful "Mugsy" went to Baltimore, then the tall-ender in a twelve-club circuit. It was in August 1891 that McGraw broke into fast company, little more than a year after his entry in the professional ranks. His first season he warmed the bench, but in 1892 Ned Hanlon, the Orioles' new manager, tried out John Joseph at second base, and then shifted him to third. There he gained a reputation. Third base was his position.

McGraw has always been recognized as the peer of any who preceded or followed him at the "hot corner," his particular forte being the fielding of bunts. He was a year-in-and-year-out 350 hitter and fast on the paths. His individual playing was one of the factors in the success of the old Orioles.

With Wilbert Robinson, formerly of the Giants, and now manager of the Brooklyn team, McGraw was sold to the St. Louis Club in 1900 for $18,000. Both players were ill-pleased and when the American League reared its head in 1900 the Giants' present mentor aligned himself with Ban B. Johnson.

He went back to Baltimore and organized a team that was one of the most popular in the history of the athlete. He appears as what the clothing adds classify as "smart," and if ever some twists shears him of success and reason he can get a job posing for an oil painting of a cigarette smoker or the latest in collars.

His career is remarkable but not surprising. It was a professional debut in 1890 that McGraw was born in 1873 and so is just about turning the fifty mark. He began playing baseball as most American boys do as soon as he could toddle after one. His professional debut was made when he discarded short trousers, but whether he did one of those two things to effect the other is a question which his biographers must debate.

The present manager of the Champion Giants has been in the game professionally for thirty-two years, starting with the Oleon team of the New York State League in 1890, when his reputation as a consistent hitter and reliable fielder spread from his native death of Truxton, N. Y. Throughout his playing days he was one of the game. But in 1902 McGraw and Johnson came to the parting of the ways and in mid-season the Baltimore team was so disgruntled that "Mugsy" took off his spiked shoes, and announced that they were on the shelf for ever.

At that time the late Andrew Freedman was sorrowed by the spectacle of the slow-going Giants, the team he owned. McGraw was recommended to him and hired, taking the helm in July and remaining in charge since.

The game has grown big—has had virtually all of its growth and growing pains—in McGraw's professional time. When he came to New York the old Polo Grounds seated 12,000, now it is 38,000 and a third tier to the grandstand is to be added next year. McGraw's life is insured by the club for $100,000, and he owns a fair share of operating company's stock.

The standing of his club under his management is shown by this table:

DEMPSEY HERE ON WAY TO NEW YORK

Champion Only One of His Party to Get Moose—Will- ings to Meet Siki—Incidents of Woods Trip.

Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, and his party have ended their hunting trip in the New Brunswick woods, and will leave on the Boston train this evening en route to New York.

The party had planned on staying for two weeks, but did not seem favorably impressed with that part of the country as a hunting grounds, and decided to break camp and return home.

Speaking of the trip, Dempsey said he had enjoyed it very much and was greatly impressed with the many courtesies extended to him by all with whom he came in contact, but said it was a hard country to hunt in and big game seemed very scarce. He considered himself very lucky, as he was the only member of the party who shot a moose.

From here he will proceed to New York, where he will spend a few days' training, after which he will proceed to Boston and engage in an exhibition bout on October 7. On October 9 he will join the Pantages show in Toronto and continue to give exhibitions in different parts of the country for twelve weeks.

When given details of the recent bout between "Battling" Siki and Georges Carpentier, in which the latter lost his title of light heavyweight champion of the world, Jack said he was greatly surprised and sorry to learn of Carpentier's defeat. He said Georges was a fine fellow and a good friend of his. He acknowledged that Siki must be a good fighter to defeat Carpentier in such a decisive manner.

In answer to a question put by a representative of the Times, he said he would certainly be willing to meet Siki at any time, or any other aspirant for his crown, providing proper arrangements were made.

Jack secured his moose early Tuesday morning. After spending three days and nights in the woods they found signs of a large bull and started to run him down. Soon after day-break he got sight of him, and Jack crept forward to a point of vantage and received a shock which shot him fully fourteen feet away. Fortunately he was unharmed, but had his breeches badly torn. The moose had a magnificent spread of antlers, measuring forty-eight inches, with fourteen perfect points, and a bell fully ten inches.

Great difficulty was experienced getting the animal out of the woods. A double team was sent out and the party had to cut a road through to the moose, a distance of nearly six miles. Several times the horses were mired, and the combined efforts of the party were needed to extricate them. The moose was sent from Haycock this morning.

The champion, although a bit tired from his roughing it in the woods, is in perfect condition, as was demonstrated at the camp broke up last night. With a pack weighing nearly 100 pounds, he started off and kept up a steady hard gait for nearly four miles through the woods over logs, fallen trees, streams, etc., and covered the distance in one hour and five minutes. When asked if he was tired he said "No, I haven't started to perspire yet."

The Knockout. While en route from the camp, Dempsey said he was very fond of boxing, and considers it a great game. He believes, however, that a man must be born a real fighter to be one. When told of the opinions expressed by scientists and anthropologists after consulting their charts and reference books regarding the physical make-up of "Battling" Siki, conqueror of Georges Carpentier, Jack said: "Oh, you must expect them to express opinions like that. I am satisfied that a hard blow to the jaw delivered in the right place will knock out any man."

Dempsey gave evidence of having a heart as big as his body. He was very solicitous of his brother Joe, who is convalescing after a serious illness. When a large running stream had to be forded, Jack put down his pack and waited for his brother to catch up with him in order to carry him across and save him from wetting his feet.

In conversation with a boy, who had acted as a guide for a Times and Telegraph representative, he severely chastised him for smoking a cigarette, and told him of the harm it would do to his lungs. After lecturing him like a father he inquired about his school, and appeared to be keenly disappointed when he learned that the school in that district was not open this season.

BOB OTT IS COMING

There being none in the little town. The bandit or was found along the road at Henry, three miles from Parlett, Ohio, shortly before noon today, and Sheriff Lucas reported that his men were scouring the wooded section nearby, believing they have the robbers surrounded.

The only clue the authorities have is half a thumb, which the police believe belongs to one of the bandits, who is thought to have caught his hand in the door of the auto and amputated his thumb as they made their getaway. The piece of the thumb was found in the door of the automobile, which the gunmen abandoned.

Jefferson County authorities scout the bank robbery theory and believe that the gunmen had been hired to kill Whittaker. The fact that the bandit made no demand for money and deliberately shot Whittaker when he appeared at the cashier's window led officials to this theory, they stated. Bank officials are confident, however, that robbery was the motive of the shooting.

MILITIA STAFF COURSE AGAIN THIS WINTER

Will be Commenced About November 1 Under Direction of Lieut. Col. Sparling.

A militia staff course, a branch of military training was established several years ago but which has not been given since the first year of the war, will be held this winter, commencing about November 1 and continuing through the winter for a theoretical examination in the spring and then finishing with twelve days of practical training in the summer. The course will be given in two divisions. The first division will be given in the district which has been chosen to take the course, which will be given under the direction of Lieut. Col. H. C. Sparling, D. S. O., general staff officer of the district. The object is to train officers in higher tactics and in staff duties to be appointed on the staff of non-permanent active militia or for appointments as staff officers in case of mobilization.

The subjects included are strategy, military history, map-reading and field sketching, tactics and general and administrative staff duties. The course has been divided into two parts, theoretical and practical, and an examination on the first part must be passed before the applicant will be given the second. The theory part of the training includes a series of lectures which will be given at St. John and Moncton by Colonel Sparling during the winter and on examination in the spring. Those successful in passing the examination will then be eligible for twelve days practical course next summer, probably at Petewawa, Ont., and a practical examination at the end.

The letters M. S. C. corresponding to the P. S. C. given to permanent force officers who graduate from the Imperial Staff College, England, will be affixed to the names of the successful candidates and will be recorded thus on the militia lists.

PRESENTATION TO COL. POWELL

Traveling Bag from the Permanent Force Rifle Association.

At headquarters of military district No. 7, this morning, Lieut. Col. A. H. Powell, A. A. and Q. M. G. of the district, was made the recipient of a handsome traveling bag from the permanent force rifle association on the eve of his departure from the district. Colonel Powell has been transferred to military district No. 6, with headquarters in Halifax, and will leave soon to assume his duties there.

Captain W. V. R. Winter, the senior supply and transport officer, made the presentation on behalf of the association, and spoke feelingly of the regret that Colonel Powell's departure would bring to all the members of the association. In a way, he said, they were glad that Colonel Powell had gone, as it might be considered in the light of a promotion, where No. 6 was a larger district than No. 7, but the colonel would undoubtedly be missed by all his associates here, and it would take a good man to fill his place.

The colonel, in replying, thanked them for their kind thought in remembering him, and expressed himself sorry to leave associations which had made themselves so much a part of his life. The meeting dispersed with the officers present giving three hearty cheers for Colonel Powell and wishing him every success in his new post.

GROWN GONDLUDES ITS CASE IN THE PARIS HEARING

Counsel for the Defence Addresses Jury; First Witness for Paris Called

Five or Six Will Endeavor to Establish Alibi, Says the Prisoner's Counsel—Hattie Lavigne Identifies Paris in Court.

The crown concluded its case, and the first witness for the defence was called at this morning's session of the fifth trial of John Paris, charged with the murder of Sadie McAuley in St. John on August 2, 1921. No new facts were disclosed beyond those given at the previous trials.

C. H. Vernon, K. C., counsel for the prisoner, in his address to the jury, said that while Paris was unable to bring any witnesses to testify for him at the last trial, sufficient money had been raised to call five or six at this trial.

When the court opened, Hon. J. P. Byrne, attorney-general called Hattie Lavigne, who was with the little McAuley girl the day she was murdered. The Lavigne Child.

Hattie Lavigne, aged 12, of 73 City street, said she was living at 80 Clarence street in August, 1921. She told of Sadie McAuley going with her to Douglas avenue. After delivering his dinner to her father, Hattie said, she and Sadie went picking berries. They met a man who helped them to pick for a half hour or an hour. He then offered to show them where there were larger berries. Sadie went with him, but Hattie said she refused to go. She went home but returned later in the afternoon with Sadie's sister, Liane, but could not find Sadie. Paris was asked to stand up. Asked by the attorney-general regarding the man who gave her the berries, Hattie said "That is the man," indicating Paris.

To Mr. Vernon she said she did not go out the avenue any farther than where her father was working. She said in the first three trials she had said Paris looked like the man, it was not until the last trial that she had said Paris was the man she saw in the park.

Detective Patrick F. Bidcombe told of a search being made for the finding of the body of Sadie McAuley. He told of arresting Paris at Westfield on August 19, on a warrant from Truro, where Paris was taken on August 22. He brought Paris back to St. John on Sept. 18.

A sketch map of Riverview Park and vicinity, prepared by the witness was accepted in evidence.

Mr. Vernon asked the witness if Detective Scott, a Pinkerton man, had ever told him that he did not think Paris was the man. The attorney-general objected and the question was not pressed.

Alexander Day, team owner, 72 Adelaide street, told of seeing a man, he said he was dressed differently, on August 2. He said Paris looked like the man, but he was dressed differently. Sgt. Detective Power, told of the disappearance of Sadie McAuley and the search for and finding of the body. In consequence of information given by John McDonald, the witness investigated a story told by Walter Humphrey. The rest of his evidence was similar to that given at the last trial.

This, announced the attorney-general, concluded the case for the crown.

The Defence Opened.

Opening his address to the jury, Mr. Vernon, outlined the case for the defence. He said he was endeavoring to show that Paris was not the guilty party; that Paris never made the statements charged by Walter Humphrey; that Paris left St. John on August 2 and remained in Truro continuously until the night of August 3, when he left for St. John, arriving here on the morning of August 4. He said at the last trial Paris was unable to bring witnesses to testify for him. Since that time a small amount had been raised that would enable him to bring five or six witnesses from Truro to corroborate statements made by the prisoner. He called Gordon Hayman, carpenter, Truro, N. S., said he was a police officer in Truro under Chief Gass for four years and was the N. H. for two years. He said his son left for the west from Truro on the night of August 3, traveling on No. 9 train to St. John. He said he knew Paris for seventeen or eighteen years. He said he saw Paris at Truro station on the night of August 3 when he went to see his son off.

Cross-examined he said he again saw Paris from the train. He said he did not know Paris was dressed at the time.

F. C. WESLEY IS REMOVING TO MONTREAL

Will be Managing Director of Engraving Department of Herald Publishing Co., Ltd.

After being identified with the business section of St. John for more than twenty years, Frederick C. Wesley, head of F. C. Wesley Co. engravers, has accepted the position of managing director of the engraving department of the Herald Publishing Co. Ltd., Montreal, and will leave next week to take up his new duties.

F. C. WESLEY

The successful management of his business in St. John, which has been well known amongst photo engravers in the principal cities of Canada, has brought to Mr. Wesley a flattering offer of participating in the big Montreal engraving establishment. He has had a wide experience in the art, having been engaged in this business in Buffalo and Toronto before coming to St. John.

Mr. Wesley came to St. John to take charge of the engraving plant of the Telegraph Publishing Co., Ltd., later resigning to go into business for himself. He established the firm of F. C. Wesley Co. in Water street, and has been located there ever since. Business expanded and at the present time his work covers practically the whole of the maritime provinces.

To a Times reporter yesterday, Mr. Wesley said that he intended to keep the St. John plant in operation as usual under the management of Alfred Hall, who has been associated with him since his coming to St. John. The local equipment will have the added facilities of the Herald plant for the execution of particular classes of work.

Both Mr. Wesley and his wife, who was formerly Miss Mary Gordon of St. John, have a host of friends who will regret to learn of their departure from the city, and they can be assured of a hearty reception in the event of future visits here.
