Welcome Rain Drenches River Lands Where the Flames Had Held Sway

Great Relief from South Bay Up and On the Long Reach—Still Danger as Fire Holds in Woods—The Scene This Morning—Some Details of the Losses.

A great sigh of relief went up this morning in the area from South Bay to Lingley and on up the Long Reach, when those who had slept during the night awoke to see the leaves dripping, the grass wet, and evident signs of rain. By eight o'clock a light rain was falling, and still continued at half past nine when a Times man left Public Landing in Fred White's car for the city. The prospect then was that the rain would continue. No smoke was to be seen, and a curtain of damp fog hung on the hills. The whole scene was changed as if by magic during the night, and the fears of the people were largely dispelled, although they recognized that back in the forest were smoldering fires which dry weather and a favoring wind would quickly convert into a new and terrible menace. Every man along the Reach was ordered out early this morning, and a determined effort was being made to get the fires entirely under control. There were reports of a fire back of Belyea's Point yesterday and last night, and crews of men went in there and on to Woodman's Point and the Nerepis to spend the day with picks and shovels and other tools for warding off the danger from their homes. The whole situation is decidedly hopeful today and if more rain should come the danger may be considered to be past.

It was easy to see this morning how narrowly the Reach escaped. The fire that crossed to Woodman's Point crept through the grass almost to Cosman's Hotel before it was beaten out. Had it got into the woods behind it would have swept the Reach, where people had their most valuable goods packed and spent two nights and a day of dreadful uncertainty. There was but one thought in all minds, and fervent prayers went up last night in the little church at Public Landing, where service was conducted as usual, although the livid smoke just over the hills seemed to threaten disaster before the morning. Some people buried dishes and other things, and all were ready for the worst. Their feelings this morning, when they saw the immediate danger past, were joyful beyond description. They seemed to have been ushered into a new world.

LURKING DANGER TO BE CONSIDERED.

Dr. J. Lee Day of this city, whose summer place is at Westfield station, told a Times reporter yesterday that he had just returned with Warden Drophy after a trip through the woods in which the fire is still stubbornly striving to outlive the rainstorm which set in during the early hours of the forenoon.

Dr. Day, whose hunting exploits have made him a student of the forest, thinks that the fact of the fire's stubbornly being reduced to a minimum for the present should not be construed into a scope as the present one burns deeply into the ground, keeps roots and dry loam aglow for a long time after the fire has been extinguished. Should the sun appear tomorrow and the drying process commence again it would not be long before the fanned embers brightly alight over.

The "slashes" made in the woods by lumbering of late winters—those near-at-hand operations of felling lumbermen—have created air spaces in the woods which have proved thoroughfare for the flames. Though these "slashes" the fire's progress in the woods is not so rapid as it was from the original blaze in the Mahogany Road area to the later stages of the fire back of Sagwa and en route to Westford.

Fire fighting has been extremely difficult. The usual facilities such as wet earth, damp cloths and water have been simple spading, shovelling and turning the grassy sods to be the chief means of trying to stem the fire's growth.

Hours in Marshes.

Gilbert G. Perkins had an exciting and nerve-racking experience. When the fire struck Lingley with such terrible speed, Mr. Perkins and his wife and Mrs. Sten, who is ninety-one years of age, were forced to take to a boat and they crossed the Nerepis to the marshes. Here they roamed through the tall grass from one place to another trying to evade the shower of sparks which were falling all around, and which threatened at every moment to set fire to their clothing. After making a car was sent out for about four hours they managed to get back to their starting point and found that Mr. Belyea had rolled his automobile down to the water's edge. They spent the rest of the night in the automobile, and yesterday morning they were taken to their homes and their property was insured. However, he and his family are very thankful to have escaped with their lives and feel very grateful for the assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Belyea.

THE SCENE TODAY.

Times Man's Tour of Burned District This Morning.

This morning Ononette, Hillandale and Lingley presented a scene of utter desolation. Smoldering ruins, naked chimneys rising above heaps of ashes, and hanging telephone wires give to the situation a tragic aspect enhanced by the lowering clouds and falling rain. The flames which on Saturday advanced with such terrifying suddenness has been almost defeated, but were holding reserves in readiness to advance again at the first opportunity. Vigilance has not been relaxed and every effort is being made to prevent renewed resistance in case of another outbreak. Along the road one met men leading cattle bereft of shelter in one place was a flock of chickens huddled together in the rain, seeking refuge. The New Brunswick Telephone Co. had a large crew of men at work putting in new poles and connecting up the disarranged wires to maintain a service. From Morris to Lingley those houses which were fortunate enough to survive the onslaught of the flames were surrounded with piles, casks, wash tubs, barrels, punchons, in fact everything that would hold water. Many of the houses had stages on the roofs and barrels of water mounted on them in readiness for an emergency.

In the neighborhood of Magies household goods, furniture, farm machinery, and effects were standing uncovered to the rain.

The old Ononette bridge, replaced a few years ago by a new one of concrete and steel, lies a mass of charred timbers. In the section back of Ononette fighting has been abandoned. R. H. McLeod, Walter Stevens and Bernard McCullough went out at three o'clock this morning and returned about noon with the report that there was little sign of fire in that direction. Many reports as to loss of life are in circulation, but none of them could be traced to a responsible source. So far as is known there was no loss of life. At the residence of Mrs. D. W. Ledingham's residence there is hanging on a pole a bit of tragic irony in the form of a metal sign which reads "Protect the Forests from Fires."

At Westfield beach much moving of furniture was being done. In one place a man was wheeling furniture from the shore where it had been placed on a motor boat for safety. The boat, kept by Miss Canfield, was destroyed, and Inspector H. W. Woods was superintending the establishing of a temporary office in the residence of William Rowley. Great clouds of smoke were rolling up from the woodlands to the rear of the former site of William Corbett's residence.

A Thrilling Story. A thrilling story was recounted by Allen Bushan and Howard Paris, who were nearly exhausted by hard work and loss of sleep. For three days and three nights they had not rested. They were members of a crew under Foreman Storey, other members being Louis Middleton, Gilbert Laucher, McCallum and Kelly. On Saturday they were in the woods about seven miles back of Westfield. Driven on by a high wind, the fire came tearing along in their vicinity. They were forced to flee for their lives, and said that in one hour the fire gained seven miles, fanned by the strong breeze. They finally reached Westfield just in the nick of time.

Some pilfering was reported by the residents of the district. Much concern was felt on Saturday by residents of South Bay and vicinity and in many cases preparations were made for a hasty move. Dense clouds of smoke came rolling in from the coast, and great fear was entertained for the safety of the farms. For the last two weeks crews of men under the direction of Reginald Bonnell of Ketepee have been making herculean efforts to clear the advance of the fire, and it looked for a time as if it would be all in vain. Mr. Bonnell said this morning that there had been a great scarcity of men. The soil was so dry that it was very hard to prevent the spread of the fire and there was very little water to be had. The method employed in fighting the fire was to turn the sod wherever possible and dig in the path of the flames. Mr. Bonnell thought the fire there was the old fire from near Spruce Lake on the property of John O'Regan, which, in his opinion, had never been extinguished.

The plan of campaign today was one of watchful waiting. In only one place was smoke visible in any quantity and this was smoldering woodland burned over on Saturday. Crews of men are still retained in the neighborhood as the danger is not by any means thought to be over. In the neighborhood of the Cosman House, Woodman's Point there is a camp where the fighters are housed and fed and there are several others nearby in the different areas.

One pitiful case arising from the fire is that of an Englishman and his wife who recently came to this country and settled on a farm back of Hillandale, with practically no warning the flames swooped down on them destroying house, barn and all outbuildings together with all their stock. They are homeless and Spanish Soldiers' Land, and who committed suicide following the reverse at the hands of the Moors, had been found. Spanish soldiers have been landed on the Moroccan coast, southeast of Melilla, where they are under protection of the guns of warships, but it would not appear they made serious advance against the right flank of the Moorish army advancing upon Melilla. Despatches state that the tribesmen have been shelled by the warships.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "as a boy I heard about the great Miramichi fire. I know most about it. Not that I had the personal experience, but I was on the fringe of it. I learned what it was to stand in the presence of an approaching fire that had only to strike and man's puny efforts were as the cracking of a thorn under a pot. Hiram, we must take ourselves seriously as a people and prevent these fires that carry destruction over the face of the land."

"Mister," said Hiram, "we orto teach 'em in the schools. Every boy an' every gal orto be told how to build a fire that wouldn't spread—an' put it out afore they get it. A hull lot of these fires is just plain carelessness—yes, sir. No man orto let a match go out of his hand or go as long as it aint burnt. I wish everybody was as ready to stop 'em as they be to help people that's been burnt out. If we had as much foresight as we've hindsight this 'ud be a good 'ol better world—By Hen!"

EXPECT MCKEOWN WILL BE RELEASED

No Official Order Yet in the Case of Sinn Fein Leader, Convicted of Murder, However.

London, Aug. 8.—While no definite pronouncement could be obtained this forenoon regarding the case of John J. McKeeown, member of the Irish Republican Brotherhood, who was convicted of the murder of a British officer, it was reported that McKeeown would be released by the other Sinn Fein leaders who were in prison.

The general impression expressed by the newspapers is to the effect that McKeeown will be released, but that the prisoners has been marred by making an exception in the case of McKeeown, who is held in the same prison as the other Sinn Fein leaders. McKeeown is held in the same prison as the other Sinn Fein leaders, but he has not received the confirmation of the commander in chief.

McKeeown was the commandant of the Longford, in which members of the crown forces were blown up by mines. At the trial several British officers testified that McKeeown was a man of high character and that he was not a violent man. McKeeown is held in the same prison as the other Sinn Fein leaders, but he has not received the confirmation of the commander in chief.

SPANISH IN VERY BAD WAY

Madrid, Aug. 8.—Moroccan tribesmen who two weeks ago signally defeated Spanish troops in Northwestern Morocco and who have been pressing their advantage since that time are reported to have swept in force before Melilla, the last stronghold of the Spanish in that section of the country.

It is asserted that panic rages in the city and civilians are seeking safety on board ships in the harbor.

It is also reported that the fear in official quarters there that Gen. Navarro's forces have been annihilated. It is also reported that the body of Gen. Silvestre, commander of the Spanish troops, which was found floating in the sea, had been committed suicide following the reverse at the hands of the Moors, had been found. Spanish soldiers have been landed on the Moroccan coast, southeast of Melilla, where they are under protection of the guns of warships, but it would not appear they made serious advance against the right flank of the Moorish army advancing upon Melilla. Despatches state that the tribesmen have been shelled by the warships.

MAINE FOREST FIRES CHECKED BY HEAVY RAIN

Downpour Yesterday Relieves Fighters After Strenuous Battle—Incendiaries Reported at Work.

Portland, Maine, Aug. 8.—Heavy rain yesterday and last night checked the forest fires which for several days have been devastating woodlands and threatening villages in various parts of the state. The rain started yesterday forenoon in Penobscot county, where firemen and volunteers struggled throughout Saturday to save the village of Howland.

In Franklin county, western Maine, where the fire is being fought near the village of Quosquet, in the Rangely Lakes region, the downpour did not begin until last evening.

The Howland fire had been brought under control before the rain began, but not until seven small houses on the outskirts of the village had been burned. Charge of arson.

The only windings informed the section men of Howland yesterday that a Lagrange man set fire to a neighbor's hay Friday, after a quarrel with the neighbor. The fire spread to the woods, starting the conflagration.

The only windings burned in the Rangely Lakes fire were a few sawmills. A large part of Bald Mountain was burned over.

GIRL KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Quebec, Aug. 8.—Germaine Page, twenty-one years of age, was instantly killed at Deschambault, late Saturday night, when an automobile, in which he was driving with three companions, plunged into the ditch. The party was returning from Montreal, and included Alfred Duchesney, aged twenty-seven years, the owner of the car, who suffered a severe cut on the forehead, as well as internal injuries. Chauffeur Martinette and C. Lemieux escaped injury.

MEETING TODAY ON PROBLEM OF UPPER SILESIA

Supreme Allied Council in Session in Paris.

France, Italy and Great Britain at Variance on the Matter of Boundaries—Lloyd George and Briand Attempt Adjustment.

Paris, Aug. 8.—Consultations relative to the Upper Silesia question took place here today between the heads of various government delegations to the meeting of the supreme Allied council preliminary to the first session of the council this afternoon. It was hoped to present at the first meeting of the body the views of France, Great Britain and Italy, which have been divergent since the signing of the preliminary agreement at Spa.

It was assumed that an attempt was made by their Premiers Lloyd George and Briand to adjust the conflicting positions of the governments relative to Upper Silesia.

Proposals Re Boundaries. It is understood that Great Britain would award the Silesian province to Poland, and that it is said Mr. Lloyd George has expressed apprehension that any other solution of the question would create in Upper Silesia a new Alsace-Lorraine.

France, on the other hand, would draw the frontier between Poland and Germany along the Oder River, it being asserted by French experts that such an award to Poland would be in the with the result of the plebiscite held in Upper Silesia. Italy represents what might be called a middle ground, suggesting that the frontier be placed east of the Oder River, but giving to Poland more than the small portion of the mining district in the southeastern corner of the country, where the Poles, showed a clear majority in the plebiscite.

George Harvey, the U. S. ambassador to Great Britain, came to Paris, to act as United States representative at the council meeting.

When Premier Bonomi arrived at the Lyon station, he was received by Premier Briand.

SCHOOLS UNDER DIRECT CONTROL OF GOVERNMENT

Expenses Provided for by Direct Appropriation in New Zealand—Salaries According to Number of Pupils.

Toronto, Aug. 8.—To Canadians the suggestion that all the public schools of the dominion be placed under direct control of the Ottawa government would sound strange, but such in effect is the system which prevails in New Zealand, according to T. U. Wells, of Auckland, N. E., the official representative of the New Zealand government who has reached this city to attend the imperial teachers conference.

Mr. Wells, who is accompanied by George Macfarlane, secretary of education for the Fiji Islands, expressed surprise that each municipality in Canada should have control over its own educational affairs.

"We have no school taxes, designated funds, or anything of the kind," he stated. "Teachers salaries, school buildings, and all accessories to the carrying on of primary and secondary education are provided for out of government funds distributed, each under the direct supervision of the imperial government."

"As a result teachers salaries are graded by the government instead of being set by municipal boards as in Canada."

"Therein lies one of the biggest advantages of our system," pointed out Mr. Wells. "Assistants and principals are paid according to the number of pupils under whom they have charge, irrespective whether they are in urban or rural districts. Here, where you have higher salaries paid in the cities, there must be a drain of the best teachers from the rural districts. We do all in our power to make it possible for the rural districts to have efficient teaching as in the cities."

TURKS DECIDE TO EVACUATE ANGRORA

Paris, Aug. 8.—Turkish Nationalists have decided to evacuate Angora, their capital, and retire on Caesarea, according to a despatch from Constantinople.

MAINE FOREST FIRES CHECKED BY HEAVY RAIN

Downpour Yesterday Relieves Fighters After Strenuous Battle—Incendiaries Reported at Work.

Portland, Maine, Aug. 8.—Heavy rain yesterday and last night checked the forest fires which for several days have been devastating woodlands and threatening villages in various parts of the state. The rain started yesterday forenoon in Penobscot county, where firemen and volunteers struggled throughout Saturday to save the village of Howland.

In Franklin county, western Maine, where the fire is being fought near the village of Quosquet, in the Rangely Lakes region, the downpour did not begin until last evening.

The Howland fire had been brought under control before the rain began, but not until seven small houses on the outskirts of the village had been burned. Charge of arson.

The only windings informed the section men of Howland yesterday that a Lagrange man set fire to a neighbor's hay Friday, after a quarrel with the neighbor. The fire spread to the woods, starting the conflagration.

The only windings burned in the Rangely Lakes fire were a few sawmills. A large part of Bald Mountain was burned over.

JELVEA LOOMS BIG IN EYES OF ROWING EXPERTS

Duluth Coach Says He Could Make Hilton World Champion—Still Strong for Meeting Hoover Here.

(Special to The Times.)
Buffalo, Aug. 6.—Now that the final of the Association singles has passed into history, the aftermath presents interesting aspects. By general consent, Jelvea is a wonderful oarsman and man of remarkable courage and endurance. A loser, he has not been vanquished; defeated, he is still regarded as a champion.

The outstanding feature of the discussions today was that a great many who saw the contest Friday are convinced that the judges at the finish should have declared the final a tie between Jelvea and Hoover.

As has already been reported, the course was irregular and the finish set at an angle. Many people on shore believed that Jelvea won, while others contended that the race was a tie. It is evident that the finish was very close and that the St. John veteran put up a fight of which his fellow citizens should be proud.

Hoover defeated Costello this afternoon in the national championship by more than a length in a race which was a fifth of a second slower than the final of the association singles, despite the fact that the contestants today had a stiff breeze blowing down the course. Hoover was not in danger at any time today, while yesterday he had to battle for his life and was headed by the St. John oarsman a short distance before the finish.

NEWS OF A GREAT MAN'S DEATH WAS DELIBERATE IN 1821

A few hours after Caruso died the civilized world knew of it and was in mourning. A hundred years ago Napoleon died, on May 5, 1821—and it was exactly sixty days before the world received the news.

Though the English were expecting his death at any moment and had made every preparation to have word transmitted from St. Helena to England with all possible dispatch, it was not until July 4, that the news reached London, having been brought there by the sailing vessel Heron. In accordance with the spirit of the times the message was not given out until the arrival of the vessel, but was first conveyed to the Colonial Office, an act which required approximately two hours.

July 4, 1821, fell on Wednesday. On Friday, July 6, the news reached Paris. Messengers were dispatched from Paris to Germany, where the newspapers commented on the death of "General Bonaparte" for the first time on July 12, sixty-eight days after the event had taken place. And this notice was in a paper published at Mayence, then virtually a French town.

The Venetian Zeitung, founded in 1704, and then, as now, the leading German daily, contained no notice of Napoleon's death until July 18. And then it merely copied the London Times. Private individuals living in the provinces, regardless of their station in life, received the news much later. It was not conveyed to Goethe, then living at Weimar, until the very last of July. He received it in a letter bearing a black seal.

THROWN FROM SHIP INTO OCEAN BY EXPLOSION

Forty-eight Lives Lost Off the California Coast—Believe Captain Went Down With Ship—Survivors Injured.

Eureka, Cal., Aug. 8.—Passengers and members of the crew of the steamer Alaska were blown from the decks of the vessel into the ocean when the ship's boiler exploded as the Alaska started sinking after twice hitting on Blunt's Reef Saturday night.

Forty-eight persons, thirty-six passengers and twelve of the crew were lost.

The survivors, numbering 166 persons were brought here yesterday by the rescue ship Anxox, the first vessel to reach the scene of the wreck.

Of the survivors landed by the Anxox thirty were more or less seriously injured and received medical treatment at local hospitals.

The Alaska struck the reef, bow on, in a dense fog, according to the survivors and immediately began to list.

Wireless distress signals were flashed. Five miles away the steamer Anxox of Vancouver, B. C., picked them up.

The Alaska was proceeding towards San Francisco in a dense fog when, about nine o'clock, she struck a submerged ledge of the reef.

The Anxox came upon a lifeboat filled with survivors. The boat was partly filled with sea water and oily scum.

Among the survivors was 18 year old Ellen Dyer, of Lagrange, Ore., aged 6, who was rescued after she had drifted around on wreckage for nearly eight hours.

(New York Times.)

The problem as to whether or not the skirts will be longer or shorter was not solved at the Fall Fashion Show of the National Garment Retailers' Association which was held last night at the Hotel Commodore. Even the designers, whose word is final as to what the American women will wear, appear to be at odds on this important point, for the skirt lengths were more varied than ever. The only apparent agreement seemed to be in the evening gowns, which were decidedly longer, although even in these models a leeway of from three to six inches from the floor was allowed.

The Directorate of last season is quite forgotten and supplanting it is the Spanish influence. This decided change has been attributed to the popularity of Spanish shawls, when designers appreciated the charm of the graceful gowns that set off these wraps and introduced them at once.

The show was even more elaborately staged than its predecessors. The mannequins appeared before a Maxfield Parrish background and proceeded down a runway extending the full length of the ballroom. In addition to the exhibitions there were several numbers in which appeared stage favorites, including the Kosloff dancers, Michin Itow and Anita Eners.

Mrs. Irene Castle opened the show officially. At the end of a dance called "Creation" she burst through a screen, attired in an evening gown that embodied all the features that the designers hope to make popular this season. It was of silver cloth in pure Spanish cut, with a circular skirt and a lengthened waist line and skirt, reaching within five or six inches from the floor. Through the folds of the skirt could be seen touches of bright green and fur edged the long, wide sleeves of chiffon.

Another evening gown in the same lengthened silhouette was of black material, with full circular skirt decorated with large rosettes of the marine and fur. The blouse followed the lines popular last season, being cut straight from shoulder to shoulder, and there were no sleeves save those made naturally by the cut of the garment, and three slits were edged with fur.

One of the most distinctive evening gowns was a Sultana metal cloth embroidered with rhinestones. The line of this gown was extremely straight and severe, and it reached to within two inches of the floor. A double train of the metal cloth lined with a new shade of blue was caught at the shoulders and fell well on the floor.

In extreme contrast, the street suits were quite as short as those already familiar to our public thoroughfares. A few of the models effected a compromise by allowing panels to extend below the skirt line, but even this was a rare concession. One attractive suit was a tan sergine trelaine trimmed with black kid caracul, and another was of French cloth of faintly visible hairline stripe of white on black.

The popular shade of Paris, fuchsia, was shown in many of the street suits, although it was also favored for afternoon frocks and tea gowns.

Several houses showed smart new rid-

GIRL MAKES GOOD; GOES AFTER MAN

Bosses Homestead in West After Being Stenographer.

Montreal, Aug. 8.—Both song and story have always depicted the young man as leaving home and mother to build a "little grey home in the west" for the girl he loves, but Miss May Y. Hazlett, an English lady, has reversed the order of things. For four years she has lived alone on a farm, homesteaded by her brother in the Big Touchwood Hills, Saskatchewan, has worked the land herself, made money at it, and is now in Montreal on her way to England to get married. After three months there she will return with her husband to settle on her Saskatchewan farm.

FOREST FIRES ARE RAGING IN PROVINCE

Upper Gagetown Has Heavy Loss—Harcourt Now Out of Danger—Serious Blaze at Bonny River—Fire on Millidgeville Road.

Upper Gagetown and the surrounding district was swept on Saturday and Sunday by a destructive fire, which was still burning last night. The danger of the fire, which started at Victoria, about five miles from Upper Gagetown, Friday, was not realized until Saturday morning, when it came very close to the station at Upper Gagetown. A number of men went to the scene of the fire from Gagetown.

The Baptist church, Temperance Hall, C. N. R. station and the school were among the numerous buildings which were destroyed. The total loss is probably $40,000 or $50,000.

Latest reports from Harcourt say that danger from the fire which threatened that village on Saturday is past. Several buildings are reported, however, to be burning along the Salmon river. A forest fire broke out at Stilesville, eight miles from Moncton, but did very little damage.

Late reports from Bonny River last night said that a serious fire was raging in the vicinity of McDougall Lake and in the vicinity of the Bonny River, about six miles from Bonny River. Although there is a crew of 225 men fighting the blaze, it was said last evening that it was impossible to get it under control and that only a heavy downpour would save the situation. The locality now on fire was all burnt over in the Musquash fire a number of years ago. The only building burnt so far was a vacant one on what is known as the Lake stream.

A fire broke out on the Millidgeville road, near the corner of Spar Cove road, on Saturday afternoon and spread rapidly. No. 5 fire department, responding to the alarm, broke down and No. 1 was sent to replace it. The fire was gotten under control about five o'clock, but before it had burnt over an acre and a half of land.

Fifty Houses Burned In Westfield District

Fire Does Extensive Damage in Ononette, Hillandale and Lingley—Residents Flee and All Are Safe—Peculiarity of Fire's Action Leaves Some Homes Untouched—Several Narrow Escapes.

Tall chimneys standing amid a mass of ruins, fields strewn with furniture of every description, blackened fields and charred tree stumps—these are the things which greet the traveler to the stricken area of the parish of Westfield today. Where on Saturday morning stood comfortable and in many cases beautiful suburban homes there now lies a mass of ruins, and desolation reigns. With terrifying suddenness came the flames on Saturday afternoon and many of those whose houses lay in their

Ashes of Three Homes at Picturesque Lingley.

The Road and Furlong reached safety, but she lost time the residents there had to make ready. The telephone exchange in particular was literally wrapped in wet blankets, especially its mass of cables. At this juncture, too, the roadway is several hundreds of yards removed from the woodland in which the fire was raging. This gave a wide clearance, though Mrs. Pipes' hotel and other structures were made in danger yesterday. It was still standing late last night.

Mill and Locality Unscathed.

Contrary to early reports the Wilson box factory and mill with surrounding mill properties were not burned. Across the railway track the buildings were spared from damage on Saturday. However, after leaving the Westfield Beach bridge on Sunday, a northerly direction came to grief, also the thriving stores of William E. Corbett, the Presbyterian church, and the government's experimental orchards at the Nerepis bridge corner stood through it all without a scratch, though absolutely ignored by the over-zealous fire fighters.

Fire Enters Lingley.

This brings the fire's procession of conquests to the Lingley border. It now left Westfield and made an attack upon W. Shives Fisher's home, Miss Peters' place, the barns of Mr. Lingley, the old Lingley homestead and along the road for a considerable distance as the roll of disaster printed herewith indicates in proper order and detail. These houses were completely destroyed. It seemed as if no house was only partially consumed but was wholly and to ashes. Lack of water and other preventives and extinguishers is said to be the reason for this complete consumption of the properties.

Blew Up Old Nerepis Bridge.

The flying red cinders soon got the range of the old abandoned wooden bridge spanning the Nerepis alongside its concrete and iron successor. Logs made dry by the weather and low water afforded easy fuel and the structure's historic career seemed to be shaping for a fiery finale when a Mr. Day and others of the locality, determined to break all communication of the blaze between the two mainlands, dynamited a section of the bridge with the desired effect. This cut off grave danger to Woodman's Point and that thickly-settled area. Still there was another danger, that of falling timbers which started the grass and twigs on the road up towards the Cornish Hotel on the Point. Mr. Day worked single-handed putting out these flickers and can be credited with averting a serious outbreak of the fire over there.

The scene was indescribable. When it became clear that nothing could be done some people left the shore in motor boats, some went in cars up the beach and returned to Fredericton yesterday.

and rendered good service. For a time a portion of the burning area was closed to motor cars. Telephone communication was cut off by the fire, and persons from the city vainly sought to get into communication with their homes. Numbers of families were separated, and everywhere anxiety as well as fear prevailed. An afternoon of horror was succeeded by a night of despair for those who had no homes to shelter them save those kind friends provided.

The residents of Westfield proper escaped the damage but the ravage made by the fire at other places was severe. Such substantial residences as those of Fred P. Elkin, F. G. Spencer, Mrs. Alex. Macaulay, E. R. Machum of St. John and many others were completely destroyed, only the broken chimneys standing here and there, marking the site of once comfortable homes.

The old wooden bridge at Ononette, which was replaced recently by a modern steel one, was completely destroyed and several telephone poles were burned. Pieces of the cross arms are still hanging from the wires.

The request of Premier Foster a special C. N. R. train was sent over the Saturday in charge of R. Z. Walker. The train came as far as Westfield. The wires were down and the train was sent through to remove the refugees from the fire zone along the river.

An inspection of the track also was made to see that no ties were burning. The train came as far as Westfield Beach and returned to Fredericton yesterday.

A special C. P. R. train, with J. M. Woodman, district superintendent, on board, was sent out from St. John yesterday and reached Westfield Beach at noon.

homeless refugees from that area were at Public Landing. The people across the Nerepis, from Woodman's Point up to the Reach, felt safe, although a very heavy pall of smoke lay over the river, completely shutting out the farther side. By six o'clock, however, when the steamer Oeonne arrived at Public Landing, refugees were there from below the Nerepis, the density of the smoke had become so great as to be painful to the eyes, and people were growing very nervous. Several families of Jewish people, at the Landing, with a large number of children, became so excited that they hurriedly packed their clothing and asked the captain to hold the Oeonne, and rushed on board to seek safety at Bedford or the Cedars, on the other side of the river. The Oeonne had already on board a group of refugees from Westfield, where the steamer had great difficulty in finding the wharf, so dense was the smoke.

Approaching the fire zone from the city the steamer encountered in the wake of destruction ploughed by the fire at the south end of the Ononette bridge where all that remains is a few handfuls of ashes on the sites where on Saturday morning stood the houses of W. H. Humphrey and Rex Gahler and the house occupied by F. G. Spencer's gardener, Mack Tipper.

Crossing the Bridge.

Crossing the bridge and going up the hill one comes to Ononette where heavy destruction was wrought. Standing like aged ruins of an ancient castle are the cobblestone columns of F. G. Spencer's fine house. The loss of his home is a serious one as Mr. Spencer said yesterday that he could not replace it for $25,000 on it. Although Mr. Spencer lost five houses and seven out-buildings, the other four houses were fairly well covered by insurance. The devouring flames in seeming mockery of his helplessness struck the wind mill in the rear of Mr. Spencer's house and burned it up through the supports to the very water tower itself fifty feet in the air.

The third house that was occupied by J. Hoyt and his wife, both of them of man to stifle their homes there for the last eighteen years. The aged man and his wife were kindly cared for by neighbors.

Two other farm-houses owned by Mr. Spencer were burned, the first being vacant and the second occupied by Robert Block.

Nothing but the fire-place and the isolated chimney remains of Fred P. Elkin's summer home. W. E. Golding, A. B. Gilmore, Duncan Smith, Mrs. Alexander Macquay and Charles Holder all lost their houses.

By heroic work the houses of P. D. McAvity, E. A. Thomas, Mrs. P. Leonard, W. J. McCordick and the Bachelors' Club, belonging to R. Macaulay, all on one side of the road, and on the other side the houses of D. Ledingham, S. S. McAvity, George R. Ewing, G. L. Warwick, Harry Warwick, Charles Warwick, G. P. Humphrey, H. Evans and F. A. Dykeman were all saved.

Ralph Hayes and Percy McAvity worked like Trojans to save Mr. McAvity's home. Whenever a cinder alighted they made haste to extinguish it and in this manner their heroic efforts were rewarded by a home intact when the danger had passed.

To the east of the Ononette bridge and bordering on the river lies Riverside Park. Here L. E. Rolston, W. Husain and A. Harrod saved not only their own houses but about ten others in the vicinity by attacking and extinguishing the flames so soon as they observed them.

house. So choking were the smothering fumes at times that the men had to lie down in the ditch on their faces to escape somewhat their distressing effects. The men worked all night and the dawn rewarded them with the assurance that the danger for the time at least was passed.

Next along the line of march one comes to the junction of the main and the backlands roads where once stood "The Corner Tea House," owned by R. A. Macaulay, and conducted by Miss Elizabeth Furlong. The tea house was burned completely to the ground and so definitive was the destruction that there was scarcely an inch of ashes left surrounding the few ice cream containers which were all that remained of the house and its contents.

On this backlands cross-road an ice-house belonging to R. A. Macaulay was destroyed as were also the home of T. C. Ledingham and the old Crawford homestead which was occupied by the Misses Peters was likewise destroyed. A newly constructed summer camp of O. G. Branscombe, which was on the Crawford property, also succumbed to the flames. The astonishing thing about the fire of A. Caulfield, who conducts the post office here. The summer-homes of R. M. Magee and W. S. Fisher went to feed the flames, as did also the houses of Albert Belyea, G. Rutherford and the house of Mrs. Steen, in which G. D. Perkins also lived. The property of the Misses Peters was likewise destroyed.

Great Devastation.

Above the junction of the main and the backlands roads in Hillandale great devastation was wrought. The camp owned by R. A. Macaulay and occupied by R. S. Stephenson was destroyed. This fine house, together with two big barns, and another house belonging to Mr. Machum are today nothing but rubble. Strange to say a small bungalow belonging to Mr. Machum escaped unscathed.

In this same area J. W. Ryan's house, the Methodist church and parsonage, two houses belonging to J. W. Smith, the first occupied by Mr. Justice McKeown and the second by Mr. Smith himself, all went to feed the insatiable appetite of the devouring monster. Continuing in their devastating career the flames destroyed the house of J. W. Kirkpatrick, two houses belonging to Mr. Finley, a section farm; two houses and a garage belonging to W. S. Stephenson and the Ballantyne properties, including two houses a store and barns.

H. V. McKinnon occupied one of the Finley houses and Mr. Finley himself lived in the other. One of the Ballantyne houses was occupied by George Smith and in another the Westfield Centre post office was located. Mr. Stephenson lived in one of his houses and the other was rented by Roland L. Skinner. A third house belonging to Mr. Stephenson and occupied by H. Rankine escaped altogether. A horse belonging to Rev. R. Smart, the Methodist minister, perished in the flames.

This point marked the upper limit of the lower or southern area of destruction. Then by one of the freaks that distinguished the fire which made it strike one place and avoid the next, the flames left Westfield practically untouched. The long row of remaining houses in Hillandale and in Westfield proper were all completely unharmed by the flames. It is not until Lingley is reached that the next category of destroyed buildings must be begun.

The old Nase homestead at Lingley is the first met of the ruined Lingley houses. The property was owned by Mrs. Hoben and was occupied by Charles Nase, Dr. G. N. Sancton and G. McK.

A SERIOUS BLAZE NEAR LOCH LOMOND

The woods about seven miles east of the city and to the south of the main highway going to Loch Lomond were on fire at noon on Saturday and all the residents in the vicinity turned out with buckets to fight the flames. Men of the city water and sewerage department, who were at work at Lake Robertson, were pressed into service as fire fighters. Teams were used to haul barrels of water to the scene and after a stiff fight the fire was under control about 7 o'clock Saturday evening. Commissioner Jones and Superintendent Sewell went to the scene with the fire Saturday evening to look after city property.

REAL ECHO OF THE GREAT WAR

Peasants in Vicinity of Houthulst Forest Aroused by Cannonade Caused by Forest Fire.

Dismude, Belgium, July 24.—The inhabitants of Langemarck, Clerkin, Voormen and other villages bounding the forest of Houthulst, were startled out of their sleep one night recently by furious cannonading which brought them scurrying out of their more or less spired dwellings and in search of dug-outs as they used to do during "the four terrible years," as they were called in West Flanders.

The peasants around the forest have some experts in artillery and the bars of the night, they say, was something terrific than they had ever heard of before. First there came volleys of familiar German seventy-sevens, Austrian eighty-eights to which there followed the rapid staccato of hundreds of batteries of French seventy-sevens. The forest of Houthulst was shrouded and owing to the protracted night fire was spreading with furious rapidity.

Then cavalry arrived on the scene. They were Belgians from this battered town, come to fight the forest fire.

"Has it come again, the war, Sir?" a cowering old woman asked of the captain.

Suddenly the cry was heard: "Gas!" and there was a stampede. The soldiers began to distribute gas masks and throughout the night peasants and soldiers, armed with spades, shovels and axes dug a trench that the fire might be stopped before it reached the huge munition dumps left by German and allied troops in the centre of the forest. Millions of shells of all kinds, almost enough it was said "to blow West Flanders into the North Sea."

By morning the fighters had the upper hand. The fire which was vanquished some 100 yards from one of the largest dumps, but meanwhile about 1,000,000 shells of all sorts exploded. They were four separate dumps and of four square miles of the forest where they had been located nothing but a few trees, ke bare spars awaying in the wind.

As the sun arose old peasants could be seen going to their fields for the harvest as if nothing had happened.

WARRANTS FOR TAKING GOODS FROM WRECK

Yarmouth, N. S., Aug. 7.—Thirty-five warrants have been issued by Stipendiary Magistrate Charles Pelton as the result of investigations conducted in Ammouth and vicinity by Sergeant McKay of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police into removal of unreported goods from the wrecked steamer Binghamton which went ashore on Gannet Bay Ledge recently. It is reported that any more warrants will be issued.

PAID FOR WATER, BUT GOT NO DROP

Hamilton Resident Complains to Committee He Has Been Paying Nine Years.

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 8.—H. W. West, who appeared before the works committee, informed that body that for nine years he has been paying money into the city for a water supply, but not once during that time has the municipality supplied him with a drop. Mr. West lives on Oliver street, and according to the City engineer, it was difficult to lay a main down this street, and this is the reason the system had not been put in before. If the present property owners guarantee 10 per cent. of the cost of construction, he recommended that the work be done. Property owners, however, did not agree with such a proposal, and thought they should get the service free, especially as they paid for it nine years ago. City Solicitor P. R. Waddell, K. C., will be consulted before final action is taken.

ROYALTY VISITS CHANNEL ISLES

Quaint Ceremonies are Again Carried Out as King and Queen Make Tour—First Royal Visit in 75 Years.

St. Helier, Jersey, July 24.—(Associated Press by Mail)—King George, Queen Mary and Princess Mary recently completed a tour of the Channel Islands, which has not been visited by a British sovereign for seventy-five years. The islands are the only portion of the Dukedom of Normandy now belonging to England, to which they have been attached for more than 1,000 years. French remains the language spoken by the inhabitants.

King George, who on this occasion assumed his old title of Duke of Normandy, was received both at Guernsey and here with quaint old-time ceremonial. Royal liegemen knelt before him and swore fealty in precisely the same manner as did their ancestors to William the Conqueror on the eve of the Norman invasion. Tenures of land were confirmed by offerings such as a pair of gilt spurs or a brace of wild ducks.

In Guernsey, the seigneurs of Rosel and of Des Auguries are enjoined by their tenures to ride into the water up to the saddle girths and carry their dukes to land. R. Lempriere and Major J. F. Giffard, the present-day holders of these seigneuries, so far conformed to ancient usage as to meet the king at the water's edge.

"Where are your ropes?" asked the king banteringly as he greeted them.

"I am afraid, sir, this water would be too deep to ride into," replied Mr. Lempriere.

"Ah," said the king, "the world has moved a good deal since the old duty was imposed."

At the Chamber of the States, the local legislature, the royal party was received by halberdiers carrying arms given to their ancestors by Sir Walter Raleigh, the governor of the island in Elizabeth times. The halberds had been handed down from father to son. The king also occupied Sir Walter Raleigh's carved oak chair.

The Jersey and Guernsey breeds of cows are famous throughout the world, and the most valuable of them was shown to the royal visitors. This animal produces a ton of butter each year. Another fine Guernsey cow was presented to the king by the local agricultural society.

ASK INJUNCTION AGAINST JITNEYS

Albany Traction Co. Contends Law Does Not Allow Them to Compete With Trams.

Albany, Aug. 8.—Supreme Court Justice Harold W. The company contends that the jitneys have been operating in Albany, Troy and surrounding municipalities in violation of section 26 of the Transportation law. Passenger-carrying automobiles have been doing a thriving business in the cities effected by the strike

JAPAN INOCULATES DOGS.

The Japanese are inoculating dogs instead of people to prevent rabies, which is now widespread in that country. The bacteriologist Umeno and his co-workers at the Kitasato Institute for Infectious Diseases have perfected a method of phosphylic inoculation that can be given the dogs in one or two shots. In all, 31,000 dogs have been treated and in not a single instance has any one of them been found suffering from rabies. Instead of the usual methods of killing mad and stray dogs, the Japanese medical experts are advocating inoculation of all the dogs of Japan.

Milk Which Stays Sweet Through Summer's Heat

It is difficult to keep milk from "turning" in the summer even with an ice box or refrigerator in the house.

And sweet, pure, fresh milk is essential—especially when there is a baby's food to consider.

Carnation Milk is therefore particularly welcome in summer.

You can keep it on your pantry shelves—any quantity, for every need. Even when the can is opened it stays sweet and fresh for several days.

The reason is simple.

Pure, rich milk from Canada's finest dairy farms is delivered fresh each day to the Carnation condenseries.

Part of the water is taken away by evaporation. While still fresh, it goes into containers.

It is SEALED air-tight—safeguarded against contamination.

And then STERILIZED. It is not separated or skimmed milk—

Simply rich, "whole" milk—wonderfully fresh—reduced to an unvarying standard of creamy consistency.

Use it as it comes to you—to add flavor and deliciousness to coffee, tea, cereals or fruit.

Add water to Carnation Milk—at least an equal part—for use on the table, for the children's drink, for cooking, for every purpose for which you use ordinary milk.

Take Carnation Milk along when you go camping or picnicking.

Begin to-day to end anxiety and disappointment about the milk supply that summer weather brings.

Phone your grocer. Ask him to send several cans of Carnation Milk, tall (16 oz.) size, or a case of 48 cans.

Ruth Hith 39th Homer.
New York, Aug. 7.—Babe Ruth hit his thirty-ninth home run yesterday with two on bases, leaving him two runs behind his Aug. 6 tally last year.

Chance May Manage Cubs.
Los Angeles, Aug. 7.—Frank Chance, one-time manager of the Cubs, has been advanced by his Chicago friends and certain baseball fan organizations as a possible manager of the Chicago National team for the balance of this year and next.

Chance said he had not received any word from the club directors or President Veeck, but that if the manager-ship were offered to him, he would "be glad to get back in harness in Chicago."

St. Peter's Win and Lose.
St. Peter's ball team broke even in Montreal Saturday winning the afternoon game 10 to 6 and losing the evening game 6 to 0. A strong wind swept over the diamond making what would ordinarily have been easy outs clean hits.

A number of fans from this city were present at the games and vied with Montreal fans for coaching honors. Humphrey, who was playing second for Montreal tripped while crossing home plate and had his left leg broken. The batteries in the afternoon game were Hansen and Dever for St. Peter's; Fryers, Glick and Addy for Montreal. In the evening game Llewellyn and Addy for Montreal.

Commercial Defeat Marysville.
The Commercial team won both games from Marysville on the east end diamond Saturday. The afternoon score ended 12 to 1, and the evening 7 to 5. The visitors were hopelessly outclassed in the afternoon, but played a much better game at night having thirteen hits to the locals six. In the afternoon Kirkpatrick and Cox formed the battery for the locals, and Miller, Anderson and Lownsbury for the visitors. In the evening Henderson, Healy and Cox performed for the Commercial and McLean and Lownsbury for Marysville.

Montreal, Aug. 8.—A lottery scheme which is estimated by the police to have netted the promoters over $100,000 since last May, came into the limelight on Saturday, when Judge Cusson fined three men, who pleaded guilty before him. They were Arthur Picher, Sid Werner, and Emile Pepin of Maisonneuve.

The scheme, according to the police was to print a large number of cards giving a list of twenty-four baseball teams, the two major leagues and the International, which were to play off during a given week. If the right teams were picked there was a "prize" and it is said that some people have actually won as much as $1,000. Some indication of the extent of the lottery may be judged from the fact that the police found 17,000 tickets at the establishment on Bligny street.

The men were let off with light fines.

St. Peter's Win and Lose.
St. Peter's ball team broke even in Montreal Saturday winning the afternoon game 10 to 6 and losing the evening game 6 to 0. A strong wind swept over the diamond making what would ordinarily have been easy outs clean hits.

A number of fans from this city were present at the games and vied with Montreal fans for coaching honors. Humphrey, who was playing second for Montreal tripped while crossing home plate and had his left leg broken. The batteries in the afternoon game were Hansen and Dever for St. Peter's; Fryers, Glick and Addy for Montreal. In the evening game Llewellyn and Addy for Montreal.

Commercial Defeat Marysville.
The Commercial team won both games from Marysville on the east end diamond Saturday. The afternoon score ended 12 to 1, and the evening 7 to 5. The visitors were hopelessly outclassed in the afternoon, but played a much better game at night having thirteen hits to the locals six. In the afternoon Kirkpatrick and Cox formed the battery for the locals, and Miller, Anderson and Lownsbury for the visitors. In the evening Henderson, Healy and Cox performed for the Commercial and McLean and Lownsbury for Marysville.

Montreal, Aug. 8.—A lottery scheme which is estimated by the police to have netted the promoters over $100,000 since last May, came into the limelight on Saturday, when Judge Cusson fined three men, who pleaded guilty before him. They were Arthur Picher, Sid Werner, and Emile Pepin of Maisonneuve.

The scheme, according to the police was to print a large number of cards giving a list of twenty-four baseball teams, the two major leagues and the International, which were to play off during a given week. If the right teams were picked there was a "prize" and it is said that some people have actually won as much as $1,000. Some indication of the extent of the lottery may be judged from the fact that the police found 17,000 tickets at the establishment on Bligny street.

The men were let off with light fines.

He very heartily thanked them for the gifts and good-will.

AT CHAPEL GROVE.
People who gathered at Indian Point wharf yesterday morning to go to Chapel Grove, found that the regular steamer had had a rope caught in her propeller up river, where she had gone for fire rescue work and was not available for the Chapel Grove run. A. J. Wheaton won the good will of the group gathered on the wharf by placing his trim vessel "Chesley" at their disposal and a good run to the Grove was enjoyed. He called for his passengers at 7 p. m. and gave them a fine run home in an hour and ten minutes.

POLICE COURT

Fawcett Case Taken Under Consideration—Story of a Horse and Rig.

In the police court this morning the case of George Fawcett, charged with stealing an automobile rig and a storage battery, the property of Joseph Coughlin, from an automobile in the Red Head road, was taken up. K. A. Wilson, appearing for Fawcett, asked the court to be dismissed on the ground that there was no evidence to convict the defendant. The prisoner was remanded until the magistrate should look into the case further.

James and Charles Moore were charged with stealing a horse and rig, the property of McGuire Bros., Union street. J. H. Hachey, of 33 Sewell street, testified that he hired the horse and carriage about 2:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, from McGuire Bros., and drove to the Sewell street and entered the house. When he came out the horse was gone. The witness said that he had seen the defendants before but had not seen them in Sewell street that day.

James McGuire said the rig was lost in Eris street about 11:30 Saturday night. Mr. McGuire followed it until it turned into an alley off Richmond street, and he then went and got Detective Biddiscombe and Policeman Chisholm.

Detective Biddiscombe told of the arrest. He said that he arrived at the alley in Richmond street and saw the defendants and they succeeded in capturing two of the occupants of the carriage, but a third one escaped. The detective said that on searching James Moore he found a flask of gin. He produced the flask in the court. The prisoners were remanded.

One man charged with drunkenness was remanded to jail.

MUTT AND JEFF ON THEIR HOLIDAYS

A few days ago Mut and Jeff gave notice that in their opinion all work and no play did not make for business efficiency, and that therefore it was in the best interests of all that they should take a summer vacation. In support of their claim they contended that they had done their work nobly and well and said further that Joe Spivis had positively refused to appear again unless he was given a holiday. Their request was acceded to, and they have left for parts unknown. In their place came Dorothy Darnit, who will do her best to fill the gap during their absence. Though of a backward and retiring disposition, Dorothy has a winning way with her and anticipates a pleasant time among St. John folk.

SAW MAN WITH GIRL IN BOAT.
A possible clue to the whereabouts of little Sadie McAuley has awakened hopes in the hearts of grief-stricken parents. Saturday evening Robert Crilley of 222 Chesley street told the McAuley family that he had seen a child being rowed out of Mable Cove by a man about 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, but was too far away to see them plainly. A member of the detective department visited the home of Mr. Crilley, but could learn nothing further as Mr. Crilley was out of town.

The shaft near the mill of Murray and Gregory, Ltd., was pumped dry on Saturday afternoon but revealed no trace of child.

PRESENTATION TO JOHN C. FERGUSON

Customs and Excise Staff Say Farewell to Official Retiring With Excellent Record.

After thirty-five years of excellent service in the excise branch of the federal government service here, John C. Ferguson has retired, and on Saturday was made the recipient of a farewell address and gift of a valuable pipe and other smoking material from his fellow officials. Mr. Ferguson, as he leaves the service, takes with him the best wishes of all those with whom he worked side by side and those among whom his duties took him. As the years passed on the old friends retained their kind remembrance of him and new ones were added as another generation came within the influence of his genial personality.

In addition to the satisfactory performance of his duties, Mr. Ferguson gave of his talents to the service of his city as an alderman and to the pleasure of many an assemblage by his pleasing oratory, for he possesses to a degree the art of public speaking. He has also been and still is prominent in fraternal society work.

The address was read by Inspector John McDonald and the presentation was made by Miss Claire Ward. Mr. Ferguson replied graciously. The address was as follows:—

St. John, N. B., Aug. 6, 1921.
J. C. Ferguson, Esq., Office of Customs and Excise, St. John, N. B.:
Sir—We, the inspectors of customs and excise, and members of the staff of the excise branch of customs and excise, aware of your honorable retirement from the department of customs and excise, after your many years of faithful and most efficient service, desire to take advantage of the occasion to convey to you our most sincere regrets on your departure from amongst us.

Some of us present remember the time when, as an alderman of this city, your able advocacy of municipal rights earned for you the enviable title of "The silver-tongued orator of the council board"; others have listened with pleasure and profit to your admirable lectures in support of charitable institutions; but it is more particularly as a fellow-laborer, in connection with our official duties, that we have every reason to admire and esteem your constancy as a friend, your competence as an official, and your unflinching courtesy as a gentleman.

Hoping that the coming years will continue to bring you health and happiness, and asking you to accept, in kind remembrance, this little souvenir, we desire to subscribe ourselves, Sir, your sincere friends,

INSURANCE ON THE WAREHOUSES

Board of Trade Letter to the Common Council—Edith Avenue Residents Want a Water Service.

At a meeting of the common council this morning some important business was laid aside owing to the absence of Commissioner Bullock. A letter was read from R. E. Armstrong, secretary of the board of trade, in which he enclosed the following resolution passed at a meeting of the council of the board of trade on August 4:

Resolved, that the council of the St. John board of trade is of the opinion that the insurance of $184,000, or thereabouts, carried by the city on the warehouses on the city piers is entirely inadequate for the protection of the city and its port, and it would gain respectably recommended to the city council that early consideration be given to the providing of further insurance protection in respect to the above.

The letter was referred to the mayor and the commissioner of harbor and ferries.

Commissioner Jones read a letter from City B. Black petitioning the council to lay an eight-inch water main up Edith avenue, East St. John. The distance is 800 feet. He wrote that the citizens were willing to undertake the trenching and back-fill. The commissioner said that the estimated cost of this extension would be $5,500. He moved that he be authorized to reply that the residents of Edith avenue would guarantee to pay ten per cent on $2,625, for the cost of the pipe, material and labor of pipe laying, etc., until the revenues from the properties served equal the ten per cent, the city would undertake the work under such guarantee. The motion passed.

Commissioner Frink read a statement by Martin McDowell of Penfield, Charlotte county, asking for damages against the city as a result of an automobile accident in Douglas avenue, as a result of which his car was damaged when it went into an excavation.

Repairs, he said, cost him $45. Commissioner Frink moved that the matter be referred to the commissioner of water and sewerage, as the excavation was made by his men. The motion carried.

Commissioner Frink read a communication from Rev. J. J. Ryan asking that the city place a concrete sidewalk in front of St. Patrick's school instead of asphalt as proposed. He said the church corporation would pay the difference in construction. Commissioner Frink moved that the application be supplied with if the church corporation agreed to pay a proportion of the cost, which would amount to $193.80.

Commissioner Thornton asked the commissioner of public works if he proposed to make any repairs to the section of Prince William street between Princess and King. In reply, Commissioner Frink said that the water main had been renewed and this work would not be undertaken by that department until after the exhibition, and that in the meanwhile he would have crushed stone placed between the rails to better condition until after the exhibition period.
