FIRE ON STEAMER ABERDEEN WAS OF INCENDIARY ORIGIN

The steamer Aberdeen, owned by the Washademoak Steamship Company, was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning while lying near the wharf at Cole's Island, Washademoak. The stewardess, Mrs. McLeod, and the crew narrowly escaped being burned in their beds. Some narrow escapes were also witnessed by those who assisted in trying to save the boat. The fire, which started in a mysterious manner near the forward part of the steamer away from the boilers, was discovered by Engineer Hutchinson. He immediately alerted the crew and women all of whom were asleep in their berths. The flames spread very rapidly and before the women could dress, the boat by the way was out of and they had to run for it in their night clothes. Mrs. McLeod was surrounded by flames when she jumped from the top deck into the arms of Engineer Hutchinson. In a few minutes more the entire steamer was enveloped in flames. Mrs. Cody was able to reach the shore in safety, but had very little time in which to do so. The fire was first noticed about 1:30 a. m. and was then confined to the forward part of the vessel. The flames spread with great rapidity and in a short time the steamer was burned to the water's edge. She then tilted and sank to the bottom.

GOVERNOR'S DAUGHTER MARRIES A COACHMAN

Miss Mamie Tweedie becomes Bride of Father's Former Coachman at Calais, Me. Miss Mamie Tweedie, daughter of Lieutenant-Governor Tweedie, was married secretly Tuesday afternoon at Calais, Me., to David McEwan, formerly employed as coachman at the governor's home in Chatham. Mr. McEwan, who is a Scotchman by birth, came to this country about a year ago with some stock importations. The governor met him and engaged him as coachman. The young man assumed his duties in August and remained in the service of the governor's family until a few weeks ago. Naturally the coachman, who was a young man of prepossessing appearance, was thrown much in contact with the governor's daughter. He drove the young girl about town a good deal and an intimacy soon sprang up between them. That Miss Tweedie contemplated an alliance with the coachman, however, was never for one moment suspected. On Thursday last Miss Tweedie went to St. Stephen to visit Mr. and Mrs. James G. Stevens, personal friends of the governor and Mrs. Tweedie. Mr. McEwan arrived there Tuesday afternoon. About 5 o'clock in the afternoon Mr. McEwan and Miss Tweedie called at the residence of Rev. Charles E. McCully, Calais, and asked the reverend gentleman to marry them. The minister, not being aware of the identity of the couple, readily complied. Mr. McEwan gave as his occupation that of coachman and Miss Tweedie that of housemaid. At the conclusion of the ceremony the couple separated temporarily, the bride returning to the Stevens home. She remained there overnight and it was not until late yesterday afternoon that she informed her host and hostess of what had taken place. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, who were greatly distressed, at once telephoned the facts to Governor and Mrs. Tweedie at St. John. The newly married couple left last evening for Montreal. Some time ago McEwan signified his intention of returning to Scotland. It is likely he will do so now, and that his wife will accompany him. Mrs. McEwan is 18 years of age.

HORSES WERE OF POOR QUALITY

HAMPTON, June 17.—The inspection and passing of horses and men on a squadron "D" of the Eighth Hussars took place here this afternoon under a report made by Major-General T. W. Baines. Over sixty horses were lined up for general review, but as a rule they were not come up to the standard of last year and quite a number were turned down as undesirable. About fifty, however, were passed and pronounced as having a better class of animals were made by the men who want to go to camp next Tuesday, in place of those rejected. All grays were excluded, and the squadron will consist almost entirely of bays. The interval between now and the day of going on duty will be spent by the owners of the horses in getting them into as good condition as careful grooming and good feed will permit, and it is hoped that the Hampton contingent will be brought up pretty near to the condition which those of Sussex and Colina are bound to expect.

THE TREASURY BOARD

A meeting of the Treasury Board was held yesterday to consider Premier Haasen's communication with regard to the matter of the new issue of treasury bonds. Several members of the treasury board expressed themselves as strongly opposed to the issuing of bonds by the school trustees for the purpose of financing the Winter St. school. Under the present law the consent of the council is not necessary for the school board to issue bonds. In the past, however, the government of the province has required that the council's consent to the issue be obtained, and it remains to be seen if the present government will depart from that precedent. At yesterday's meeting Mayor Bullock defended the action of the school board. The treasury board after considerable discussion decided to request the school trustees to appear before it and state their reasons for wishing to issue bonds. It was also decided to inform Premier Haasen that the board had received no communication from the school board. The meeting also considered the resignation of the duties of clerks in the chamberlain's office and in future David Willet will be known as the cashier.

BIG COPPER DEAL IS ABOUT CLOSED

HOPEWELL CAPE, June 17.—Negotiations are about completed for the purchase of the copper mines at Goose Creek owned by the American Copper Company. The prospective purchasers are New York capitalists and include Dr. Hugo Von Hagen, who is well known in this province, having been interested in other industrial developments. Dr. Von Hagen and party accompanied by Geo. H. Truman and Dr. Keith of Moncton and Leonard Martin of Alma came here today in the steamer Wilfrid C. on their return from a trip to the mines. Mr. Martin, who is the largest shareholder in the American Copper Company, held your correspondent that the sale of the mine had practically been completed. All that remained to be done was to prepare the transfer papers. The New York men were well pleased with the mines. They intend to begin operations on a large scale at once. The American Copper Company operated the mines for several years, but no work has been done for a year or two. The party left for Moncton this evening on the Wilfrid C. The mines are located at Bay Shore, near Goose Creek, a few miles below Alma.

ARTISTIC TALENTS OF ROYALTY.

The rulers of Europe today, taking them all round are as gifted a set of people as are to be found, quite irrespective of their birth. Foreigners are called to the German Emperor, and call him Europe's emperer, and the Emperor of the East, the Emperor of the East. But of all the kings and emperors, the Kaiser is the most gifted. He makes all sorts of things from pictures to political pandemonium, and of all royalties he would, if he lost his throne and had to earn his own living, carry off first prize as the most artistic engineer of his own fortunes. He could earn a large income either as an architect, an author, a composer, a conductor of an orchestra, or an artist. His Majesty of Prussia possessed artistic talent in a striking degree from a very early age. When quite a child he learned to handle the pencil and brush, and he showed so much natural talent for art that critics used to say that he had not been born to wear a crown he would have made one of the first artists of the day.

SOURCE OF DELIGHT.

The Emperor confesses that his pencil is a source of great delight to him, and when he is painting, he is always in a state of mind to devote an hour to drawing or painting. A little while back a series of interesting postcards were reproduced in Germany from original drawings by the Kaiser, and a percentage of the proceeds of the sale is being devoted to the funds of hospitals and sanatoria.

RAPPING THE EMPIRE

EMPIRE DAY MOVEMENT.

G. K. Chesterton has his finger on the pulse of the Empire. I know that suddenly saluting flags, and going into a sacred perspiration for an entirely new day called Empire Day, is unfamiliar and embarrassing to an ordinary Englishman. I know it because I am an ordinary Englishman myself. And if there is any man who does not know it, there is any man who takes it for granted that Englishmen will fling themselves into half-baked frenzies for a half-baked festival, if there is anyone who is sincerely surprised and angry at the instigation of Mr. Asquith then he is either a quite extraordinary Englishman or an ordinary Englishman.

Now, having got rid of the patriots, we can get back to the Englishman. He is a man of a certain character, and he is a man of a certain mind. He is a man of a certain mind, and he is a man of a certain character. He is a man of a certain mind, and he is a man of a certain character. He is a man of a certain mind, and he is a man of a certain character.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S CHILDREN.

When a girl the Princess Royal showed remarkable artistic gifts, and she was a girl of a certain character. She was a girl of a certain character, and she was a girl of a certain mind. She was a girl of a certain mind, and she was a girl of a certain character.

VICTORIA'S WORK.

Both Queen Victoria and Prince Consort were clever with the pencil and brush, and the Royal couple during the first years of their married life took to work together in a room at Buckingham Palace, which was fitted up as a studio, under the guidance of Sir Edwin Landseer. At Windsor Castle there is a set of proof etchings, drawn and etched by Queen Victoria. The etchings, which are to be found in the Royal Collection, are portraits of Her Majesty's children. The Queen portrayed her elder children from the time they were babies in arms till they were quite grown up.

IT WILL GO DOWN IN HISTORY

The celebration in Quebec in July will interest the whole world, because it will be on a scale of grandeur and magnificence never approached on the continent. The historical pageants, embracing historical procession, tableaux, with thousands of historical characters, will be spectacles never to be forgotten. The naval demonstration by a fleet of nations, under the command of the Emperor of the French, will be one of extraordinary interest. Millions of people will want to see the events of the celebration and cannot. The Standard of Montreal, the Great National Illustrated paper, published by George Murray Publishing Co., will issue the greatest commemorative number ever seen on this continent, reproducing the events to the very life, including supplements in color, which will astonish even the illustrated papers of England and France. Those who have seen the advance sheets of the Standard Tercentenary Number say it is something wonderful, and it is certain the publishers will never be able to supply the demand. It is to be sold at only 25 cents, while each of the many supplements is worth the whole amount. Those ordering by mail should order from your local newsdealer. If you send direct to the publishers add 10 cents per copy for postage—Exchange.

NEGLECT OF DUTY.

Three times within the past few weeks have judges presiding at murder trials in the Maritime Provinces found it necessary to use strong language in advising jurors as to their duty. There has been one case in each of the three provinces, this indicating that the negligence, or worse, is not confined to any particular district nor due to any local cause. In Charlottetown quite recently the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty in the charge of murder against Richard Gray, and later a similar verdict was rendered on the charge of incest. The presiding judge referred to the jury in the second case as men who had disgraced themselves and their country, who had brought contempt on the honorable positions they were called to fill in assisting in the administration of justice, and recommended that they be forever deprived of the privilege of acting as jurors. His sentence was called forth because, in his opinion, the jury had utterly disregarded the evidence, had acted against ordinary sound judgment, and had rendered their decision out of sympathy with the prisoner.

In Cape Breton not very long ago a man who had murdered his own father was freed by the jury in spite of overwhelming evidence. The court pointed out that the verdict brought contempt on the province, but the judge was of course powerless to alter the decision. In Prince Edward Island last week in the Doherty trial the jury disagreed, a development which is utterly incomprehensible in view of the conduct of the prisoner before and after the crime, and of his own statements. Judge Fitzgerald told the jury there could be in his opinion, no possible reason for lack of agreement, yet in spite of this four or five of the jurors held out for a verdict of not guilty on the ground of insanity. The contention is that the murderer while mentally normal immediately before and immediately after the crime, was insane at the instant when he pulled the trigger. As a matter of fact every murderer is insane in a sense, for no one in his proper mind could ever kill a fellow being. But this is not the form of insanity recognized by law. Literally every one of us is insane, in that we are not absolutely balanced, but it is only when the mental poise is so disturbed as to make us wholly irresponsible that insanity is admitted.

The verdicts in the three murder cases mentioned are evidence of a growing tendency on the part of jurymen to shirk the responsibility of their office. The Doherty case is not simply a disagreement on questions of evidence; it is a clear indication that men are unwilling to perform the duties imposed upon them by their oath, and that they are ready to evade these duties when the proper performance of them involves the punishment of a fellow man. They evidently fail to see that such criminal neglect is bound to bring the law into contempt, and that they who condone crime through either sympathy or because of abhorrence of the death sentence, are themselves guilty in that they countenance a greater offence against society. This disrespect towards justice is having its inevitable result. Murders in Canada are becoming more and more common, and certainly the spirit which is now apparent in jurymen will not tend to a decrease of crime.

RE-OPENING THE SCHOOLS.

A week from today the public schools of St. John are to close for the summer holidays. According to the usual programme they will reopen during the last week of August. Labor Day will come on September 7th, so that two weeks of what is now looked upon as the school term will be lost. When classes resume in August the majority of the pupils assemble and are given their seats, but fully half of them afterwards remain at home until after the holiday. A large number of families spend the summer out of town and parents consider that the first week in September is quite early enough for the schools to re-open. They accordingly avoid the inconvenience of sending their children to the city every morning until they themselves move back to town. There are numbers of others who do not go out of town for the summer but who are equally firm in the opinion that just as much work can be done by keeping their children at home until after the holiday. It has been found that during the first week or two practically nothing is done in the class rooms, but in spite of this the school trustees continue the re-opening in August. It is to be hoped they can see their way clear this year to acting in accord with the views of the parents.

The star begs to suggest that the not-yet-completed harbor commission as might fittingly undertake the construction of the new drill hall, repairs to the Marsh Bridge, extension of car lines to Rockwood, development of power at the falls, and investigation of the gas supply at city hall. If new duties for this proposed board are to be piled up before the general scheme is even considered, no one will be found with sufficient nerve to accept membership, unless indeed it be Aid McGoedrick.

It does seem peculiar doesn't it, that the school board can issue debentures without even asking the advice of the council, and then order the city to provide interest and sinking fund on the debt. But probably this is no worse than the habit women have of investing in spring millinery and sending the bills to their husbands.

Fortunately this year's fire on the river did not involve loss of life. It can scarcely be said that the burning of the Aberdeen need cause deep regret. That boat may have been good enough of its kind, but it was a poor kind.

"Never mind the why and wherefore," as Josephine remarked, "Love can level ranks. And therefore—"

OP POST-MORTEM PRAISES.

I've noticed when a fellow dies, no matter what he's been— A sauntily chap or one whose life was darkly steeped in sin— His friends forget the bitter words they spoke but yesterday, And now they find a multitude of frothy things to say. I fancy when I go to rest some one will bring to light Some kindly word or goodly act long buried out of sight; But if it's all the same to you, just give to me instead The bouquets when I'm living and the knocking when I'm dead.

Don't save your kisses to tempt up on my marble brow, While countless supplicants are hurled upon me now; Say just one kindly word to me while I mourn here alone, And don't save all your eulogy to carve upon a stone!

Will you care if when I'm dead the Bloomingdale Gazette Gives me a write-up with a cut in mourning borders set, and that modern explosives are practically smokeless, the difficulty experienced by an enemy in locating them will be easily understood.

TURKISH HEAD SEEKS HOLY LAND MINERALS

Sultan Sends Experts to Jordan Valley in Metal Hunt.

William E. Curtis Tells How Previous Attempts to Exploit It Cost Many Lives.

It has graciously pleased his majesty the Sultan of Turkey to appoint a commission to explore and report on the geology, the mineral resources and particularly the indications of petroleum in the Valley of the Jordan. Says William E. Curtis, the commission has already been selected and organized under the direction of Dr. M. Blanckenhorn, a well-known German geologist, who is assisted by specialists in different departments, German and Frenchmen. They have gone into the field equipped with a great variety of modern geological apparatus and implements for boring into the earth and for other purposes. They began in the neighborhood of Jericho, just north of the point where the Jordan flows into the Dead Sea, and will work northward as far as the Sea Galilee.

The region of the Dead Sea, far below the level of the sea, is full of geological phenomena as well as historical and Scriptural associations, but it has never been subjected to an accurate or a thorough scientific survey. Indeed, only a small portion of the Valley of the Jordan has ever been explored. Casual observers have, however, noticed many curious fossils of geology, botany, meteorology, and even zoology. The soil contains phosphates, bituminous rocks, nodules of sulphur, gypsum and rainbow-colored mud, and there are evidences of meteoric iron. But those who have given attention to that sacred valley have been searching for historical and Scriptural evidences rather than for natural phenomena. The agents of the Palestine Exploration fund have made a topographic map of the valley; they have tabulated accurate hydrographic records concerning the Jordan and the Dead Sea with a view to ascertaining their past levels and depths of water as compared with those of the present. They have exhaustive reports of the volume and rapidity of the flow and its effect on the topography of the valley.

They have observed remarkable phenomena in terrestrial magnetism and unexplained variation in the magnetic needle. They have also reported the existence of petroleum on the west side of the Dead Sea, and favorable indications on the east bank of the river. But nothing definite has been determined because they have not followed up their discoveries in these respects. The Palestine Exploration fund has been contributed by Biblical students and those who are interested in Christian archaeology rather than in the development of material resources. The agents have been looking for footprints of the prophets and tombs of the patriarchs rather than for meteorites and traces of petroleum.

The Sultan seems to have been impressed by the representations of German scientists and the reports of their investigations will be of universal interest because no other spot means so much to both the Moslem and the Christian world as the Valley of the Jordan. It is a weird place and unlike any other section of the earth's surface. It partakes of several of the features of the Death Valley of California, but usually has too much rather than too little water.

Some years ago the Sultan undertook a scheme of irrigation which was to reform the desolation of the Valley of the Jordan and fill it with cotton plantations and other agricultural enterprises. But the climate is deadly during the summer months and his aid was wasted in vain. The water sent down to do the work died like flies in the plague of Egypt. Since then his aid has been frequently referred to as an occasional Bedouin wanderer, and the irrigation enterprise has never been revived.

The entire Jordan Valley is the personal property of the Sultan of Turkey, and if Dr. Blanckenhorn and his assistants find petroleum or other valuable minerals he will be the owner. A friend in Syria writes me a graphic account of the accident which recently caused the death of Mr. Warkentin, a banker from Newton, Kan., which has been frequently mentioned in the papers and is likely to become an international incident. He says that on Wednesday, April 1, a party of seven American travellers left Damascus by the morning train for Beirut. They were Mr. and Mrs. Barrett and Mr. and Mrs. Sterling of Philadelphia, Miss Frichard and Mr. and Mrs. Warkentin of Newton, Kan. The two first-class compartments with their courier, Mr. Kosmos of Amsterdam, Holland, and a dragoon named Nuszar from Cairo.

Just before the train left Damascus a young man, who proved to be a grandson of the famous Abd-el-Kadir, entered the train and sat with the travellers. He took a heavy belt and revolver from the waist and slipped it on a rack. A little later he took it down, showed it to the travellers, two of whom warned him of the danger of having such a weapon, and as he was about to place it in his saddles, he accidentally pulled the trigger. The heavy bullet plucked the next compartment, and entered the back of Mr. Warkentin, inflicting a mortal wound. The young Algerian, after realizing what he had done, leaped from the train, which by that time had slowed up, and fled. The wounded man was without medical care until some two hours later at Zallah, and then a telegram had summoned the American consul general and Dr. Frost, a missionary physician. The wounded man was dying and was carried to the Prussian hospital at Beirut, and, although everything possible was done for him, he passed away just before midnight. An examination next day revealed the fact that the wound was a mortal one, the bullet being found under the skin of his chest, having passed through his body. The consul general summoned a jury, held an inquest, and the friends did all in their power to comfort the stricken wife. The young Algerian was caught April 2, and, as it seems that he is one of the exiles from Algeria under French

NURSING BRITISH BIG GUNS.

Anyone who has caught a glimpse of the big guns mounted in the forts and batteries round the British coast will doubtless have noticed that the mechanism about the breech and carriage always kept bright and clean. However, few people are aware of the great trouble which is necessarily taken to keep these weapons in serviceable condition, more especially when close to the sea and in exposed positions.

Many defects occur which, if not provided against, would quickly render them either inaccurate in their shooting or dangerous to fire from.

The wear and tear due to firing with high explosives, and the erosion caused by sea spray and atmospheric influences, are the most important of these.

When mounted, each gun with its carriage is placed in charge of a gunner of the Royal Artillery, whose duty it is to keep it clean and in working order.

At the end of each day's firing the gun is carefully washed out, and as soon as it is dry, it is oiled. Where cordite is used the bore has also to be coated with mineral jelly, while, if not so frequently used, the interior is lacquered with a composition of lead, lamp-black and raw oil.

Guns, again, have frequently to be scraped and painted, and for this it is necessary to dismount them. They are always painted in colors which harmonize with the natural background and surroundings, and in most cases are quite invisible a few yards away, this, of course, is done with a view to concealing them as much as possible from the enemy in case of attack.

THE HISTORY SHEET.

When one remembers that the larger land defence guns are effective at a range from eight to ten miles, and that modern explosives are practically smokeless, the difficulty experienced by an enemy in locating them will be easily understood.

PROTECTION, HE MAY MEET SOME PUNISHMENT.

It was purely accidental, but in view of the fact that he had been asked why he dared carry such a weapon and was begged to be careful and to put it away.

PROMINENT YOUNG LADY POISONED BY MISTAKE

Took Glass of Poison Thinking It Was Water—Was Visiting Brother in New York.

NEW YORK, June 17—Miss Myram Frances Bloomer, 29 years old, a daughter of Mrs. Bloomer of Cincinnati, Ohio, and who since last January has been stopping with her brother, J. Ralph Bloomer, a broker in an apartment hotel, on East Twenty-sixth street, drank a quantity of poison by mistake tonight and died shortly afterwards.

The young woman had been taking a crackpot, and, choking, had taken up a glass which she believed contained drinking water. The liquid had been used earlier in the day by Miss Bloomer and her maid to clean some articles of jewelry.

There were several glasses on the washstand, one containing water, the other the poison. A few seconds after Miss Bloomer had taken the poison the brother heard her scream. A physician was called but his efforts were unavailing. Miss Bloomer, according to her brother, was in an unusually happy frame of mind all afternoon and seemed to look forward to a dinner party tonight with eager interest. The father of the young woman, J. P. Bloomer, is a retired railroad man.

Ralph Bloomer was captain and guard on the Yale football team of 1907.

PORTLAND, Me., June 17—Arthur I. Crozier, 18 years of age, was taken into custody tonight on the allegation of being implicated in a plot to extort the sum of $400 from a business man by "black hand" methods. A letter was received demanding that the money be paid in a box to be found in a secluded spot in the suburbs of the city, and the threat was made that the home of the gentleman would be dynamited if the money was not forthcoming or if the police were notified. Officers went to the spot designated and on making a search found Crozier in a clump of bushes. The young man asserts that he had nothing to do with the affair and says that he just happened to be where he was found. Crozier lives with a married sister in the city proper. He was employed last summer by the intended victim of the scheme.

TODAY'S PROCEEDINGS AT THE CHICAGO CONVENTION

CHICAGO, June 18—Whether the Republican National Convention will finish its work and reach the point of final adjournment this afternoon or evening, or whether it will extend over into tomorrow, as seems probable, or even longer, was the subject of much speculation today. Two hours of time were gained to begin with over the two preceding days, by fixing the hour of convening at 10 a. m. instead of noon and an agreement was reached yesterday to the effect that the army of nominating speeches planned for should be curtailed materially, so that only two speeches would be made for each nominee. The committee on resolutions by continuing its session practically all night in order to reach as it did just after 2 a. m., a dual vote on the platform, obviated any further recess of the convention on account of unfinished committee work. Still the explosive nature of the matters still to be acted upon by the convention itself, and the delicate political relationship and adjustments involved in the various aspects of the nominations to be made, left it entirely possible that this convention might be one of those well planned gatherings at which, if all is well, it is well, but at which the slipping of a cog in some unexpected place or at some apparently routine moment may precipitate one of those amazing eruptions that mark epochs in political history.

There were three major matters left to be disposed of when the convention began this morning session, the nomination for the presidency, the vice-president, and the adoption of the platform.

In point of general interest and possibility of likely developments, the last in first. Nothing else has so divided sentiment among the delegates as the proposed plank in the platform dealing with the question of court procedure, better known as the "injunction plank" by reason of its special reference to the use of injunctions and restraining orders of courts in connection with controversies between employers and employees.

The plank was finally adopted in the form agreed upon by the sub-committee on resolutions after a meeting which began at 10 a. m., and lasted until gray dawn was creeping up in the east. Some of those who opposed the injunction plank in the committee, gave notice that if it was adopted, they would continue their opposition on the floor of the convention.

The remaining uncertainty in the matter lay chiefly in the fact that any mention of the injunction issue in the platform has all along been urged by many individual delegates.

In view of special conditions in their home districts, not a few have declared that they would in any event vote on the convention against such a plank.

When the convention adopted the report of the committee on credentials, it thereby confirmed the already evident control of the great body by the forces favorable to the nomination of Secretary of War, William H. Taft, for the Presidency. The talk of a "Roosevelt stampede" has steadily diminished during the past forty-eight hours. The most enthusiastic admirers of the President must have been well satisfied with the ecstatic approval yesterday, following the mention of his name by Senator Lodge in his speech as permanent chairman of the convention. It lasted almost an hour without intermission, and there were moments during the oration when those opposed to the presentation of the President's name for re-nomination may have been a bit apprehensive lest some one would seize that as the "psychological moment" for some such attempt, but nobody did, and the surface of affairs at the outset of today gave no reason to expect anything but that the well understood programme of the Vice-President would be carried through in all respects.

The Vice-Præsidential question was still unsettled when activities began this morning. The confidence of many that the close of the convention would find Vice-President Fairbanks in his old place on the ticket, was decidedly shaken last night by the circulation of a letter from him to his campaign manager, Joseph B. Keating, in which he declared as "absolutely irrevocable" his determination, announced through Mr. Keating before the close of the last session of Congress, not to be a candidate for re-nomination. In spite of this, it was asserted with a good show of confidence by those urging the Vice-President's re-nomination, that he would not decline if it were unannounced. In any event unless the work of the convention today is unexpectedly expedited this matter will all be threshed out tonight after the presidency is disposed of, and tomorrow's session will be free to devote itself to the second place on the ticket.

Cummins, of Iowa, Guild, of Massachusetts, Sheldon, of Nebraska, Sherman, and Corley, of New York, Murphy, of New Jersey, Knight, of California, and others, all have their advocates.

Another fine day was promised by conditions of the early hour with rising temperature as the day wore on. Whatever memories of disappointment in developments politically, the various camps of delegates take home with them, they will have to admit that in respect to weather Chicago has furnished for convention week, nothing was left to be desired.

CHICAGO, June 18—The biggest problem before the resolutions committee of the Republican National Convention—that of the proposed plank in the platform, dealing with the situation of the limitation of the court injunction in labor controversies—was disposed of at 2 a. m. today, when, by a vote of 25 to 15, with two states (South Carolina and Louisiana) not recorded, the full committee agreed to the plank. It was predicted after the vote that there would be no fight on the matter on the floor of the convention when the full report of the committee was made today. The full committee adopted the separate statehood plank for Arizona and New Mexico, thus reversing the sub-committee's action. At 2:30 a. m. the committee adjourned.

CHICAGO, June 18—The court procedure plank as adopted by the committee on resolutions, is as follows: "The Republican party uphold at all times the authority and integrity of the courts, state and federal, and will

AMUSEMENTS.
Today at the Princess
The Princess Theatre, which has for some time had the reputation of showing the best pictures in the city, have a better bill to offer their patrons today than they have ever had before. Four brand new pictures, Where is My Friend?, The Victim's Tragedy, The Inventor's Son, and Little Sammy Sucker. The first named has the distinction of being the best comedy film ever produced. Each of the other pictures is very instructive and interesting. Remember that this pleasure resort has 15 large windows and thus secures a better system of ventilation than any other house in the city. Do not fail to hear A. Munro Parr in the latest illustrated songs.

DeWitt Cairns in the Great Song "You."
DeWitt Cairns, whose singing attracts so many lovers to the Nickel Theatre, has selected a song for the remainder of the week that will certainly make a big hit. It is Alfred Roby's soulful love ballad, "You," a number that is sung by the most noted vocalists in the world with continuous success. It is a favorite encore selection of some of the famous male vocalists. Miss Wren, whose dialect merits are good, will be light and airy in the Irish ditty, "When My Girl From Tipperary Taps Me." These two new numbers today, with the excellent show of motion pictures will be a treat for all who attend the big airy house of modern entertainment with its unequalled music and long programmes. The pictures are: The Athletic Woman, The Professor's Discovery, and Anti-Hair Powder.

Burglars at the Unique
If the verdict of the crowds who attended the Unique Theatre yesterday amounts to anything the show now on is the best yet. Burglars New Trick is the name of the leading picture today, and it is certainly worthy of all the praise it gets. Two young criminals buy an old coffin in an antique shop. One of them dresses up as a mummy and lays down in it. His companion arranges to sell the mummy to a wealthy old professor. The professor, glad to obtain such a prize, removes it to his house and opens it. His pleasure is short-lived, for the burglar, jumping out of the coffin, throws the old gentleman in and locks the lid. He then removes all the valuables from the house. Married and Forsaken—This picture is something different from anything ever shown here before and has been well spoken of by the press of other cities where it has been shown. Brown's Half Holiday, and Hide and Seek, are both new pictures and are strictly high class. Hear Wm. Lanyon, St. John's best tenor, sing The Face in the Fireplace. Nothing to equal it ever heard in St. John. Robert Butler will be heard in a new song.

Funny Show at Happy Half Hour
Laughter reigned supreme yesterday at the Happy Half Hour, and large crowds enjoyed themselves immensely. It was pretty difficult to judge which of the four comedy pictures, for each one had their favorites, some preferred Raising the Wind, others again Buying a Cow was the funniest, while those who have read of the English Employers' Liability Act maintain that Accidents Will Happen was the best, one large employer of labor saying that the entire house of assembly should be invited to see it. Children never insist that their parents to enforce their process and to protect life, liberty and property, shall be preserved. We believe, however, that the rule of procedure in the federal courts with respect to the issuance of the writ of injunction should be more accurately defined by statute and that no injunction or temporary restraining order should be issued without notice, except irreparable injury, would result from delay, in which case a speedy hearing thereafter should be granted.

BOYCOTT STILL EFFECTIVE
HONG KONG, June 18—The boycott against Japanese is still strongly maintained. The government has prohibited meetings at restaurants called to discuss the question of self government and similar subjects. A missionary arriving from the province of Hainan, states that many are dying of plague. The scourge is abating in Hong Kong.

THIRD INDICTMENT AGAINST MORSE AND CURTIS
NEW YORK, June 17—The federal grand jury returned today the third indictment against Alfred H. Curtis, president, and Charles Morse, vice-president, of the National Bank of North America, charging them with making false entries in reports to the comptroller of the currency and the misapplication of funds for speculative purposes amounting to about $1,250,000. Morse and Curtis appeared before Judge Hough, in the U. S. circuit court, and entered tentative pleas of not guilty.

They went to Montreal on last night's train.

Henry Jones and Joseph Carver were before the police court this morning for doing business in selling horses without a license. Sgt. Baxter who made the report said that the horses were purchased for him in Pines Edward Island and that Carver and Jones only brought them to him. The men were excused but the magistrate informed them that when they delivered horses here they must not do any work in the city unless they pay a license.

John Devine, who lived here for some time with Melinda Hector, colored, as man and wife, is in trouble at Woodstock, being charged with selling Stanley Wise, colored, in a drunken row here yesterday. Wise had to be taken to the hospital for regains. Devine left here rather suddenly about a year ago when he was charged with making improper advances to young girls and the city has been flourishing without him ever since. He will be remembered for the person who was allowed to escape in a mysterious manner from the cells of the local police station some years ago to being suspected at the time that his Melinda had aided him in his escape. Devine's home is in St. John.—Gleaner.

UNGRATEFUL TRAMP

STOLE FROM FIREMEN

But Was Given a Speedy Trial, Promptly Sentenced, and Let go.

There is hardly a night when the central police station cells do not afford protection to some deserving or undeserving tramp. Last night a dirty looking old man was given a night's lodging and about 6 o'clock this morning was allowed to go his way. He gave the fireman in the H. and L. station a call and was detected by one of the drivers stealing a pair of gloves. Then he picked out a pair of the best rubbers as in the station and after washing his face started for the door. He was held up and accused of the theft. He denied the charge despite the fact that two witnesses were against him. A couple of police officers were nearby and the tramp was put on his trial. The city directory was used to administer the oath and after evidence was taken in the mock trial the fake judge nearly caused the tramp to faint by sentencing him to two years in jail. The thief was about to be imprisoned when a third officer interceded and he was given his liberty with the understanding that he immediately leave the city.

MIKE PAID UP WHAT HE OWED THE COURT

Michael Wezal, a Jew junk dealer, just strolled into the police court this morning to watch how a friend was making out when the trial was over and his friend fined he started to walk out. He was stopped by Sgt. Hastings and brought into court and to his great surprise was detained. Mike was an installment prisoner, that is, about a month ago he was fined $30 and was allowed to go for half the amount. The ten dollars was to be paid in two installments. He remained in court while the second week and $5 the second week. The first installment was paid, but he failed to come up with the rest. He remained in court while he sent home for the balance due the court.

JOE McDERMOTT REFUSES TO BE SWORN

This morning Louis Green, proprietor of the Ottawa Hotel, was in the police court charged with selling liquor illegally on Saturday night last. Joseph McDermott who is held as a witness was brought in from jail to testify for the prosecution. He said that he never took an oath in his life and refused to take one this morning. He was sent back to jail to see if he would not change his mind. The case will be brought up again tomorrow when McDermott will be given another chance to take his first oath.

FINED FOR RUSHING THROUGH MILL STREET CROSSING

There was but one name on the police court sheet this morning, the offender being a drunk who forfeited a deposit of $5.

Patrick McBride, the I. C. R. gate-man, has had considerable trouble of late in trying to prevent teamsters from rushing their horses under the mill. It gates when they are being closed on the approach of trains. This morning M. M. Budosh, a Jew junk dealer, was before the court charged by the gateman with driving his team under the gates. It was shown that the Jew hurried his horses over the Pond St. crossing. He was fined $5. In imposing the fine the magistrate said he hoped this would prove a warning to other teamsters who drive over that crossing faster than at a walk, and he stated that the police report every person who violated the law.

Gateman McBride has also reported Harry Hayes and Roy True for driving through the gates when ordered not to do so. These will be heard tomorrow.

The action was one for defamation of character, and the plaintiff resides in Moncton.

In the case of Gibson vs. McGrath, the plaintiff was ready to go on, but as the defendant, Lawrence McGrath, had changed his counsel, the case, which is one of assault and battery, was set down for Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

When the case of Gibson vs. McGrath is finished, all the jury cases will have been tried and court will adjourn until July 8th, when the non-jury cases will be tried.

RAISING SUNKEN TUG

Preparations were being made this morning to raise the tug boat Geo. D. Hunter which sank at Rowan's Wharf at Indiantown, last evening after colliding with a schooner of deals. The boiler was being pumped out this morning. When this is completed a lighter will be placed over the tug which now shows about four feet of her deck above out of water. Timbers will be stretched from the lighter to the top of the wharf and attached to the tug by chains which will be passed under her keel.
