THE KNICKERBOCKER MAGAZINE.
OF
Literature, Art, Politics, and Society.

ANNOUNCEMENT.—With the October number of this time honored and popular Magazine was commenced a new series, issued in a new and enlarged form, under entirely new editorial and proprietary management.
It will be the aim of its present conductor not only to sustain its former prestige, but to extend its circle of readers and make it a welcome guest in every American household. With this view, no labor or expense will be spared in securing the highest order of talent, not alone on this side of the Atlantic, but in both hemispheres.
Although a literary Magazine, it will not shrink from boldly discussing the vital topics of the day, free from all party or sectarian bias. It will embrace among its miscellaneous contents notes on current events, foreign and domestic; reviews of new books, and art and dramatic gossip; while the Editor's Table, with which the readers of "OLD KNICK" have been so long familiar, will be monthly spread with the choicest literary vignettes which the market can supply.
It is thus hoped, that even under the depressing influences of a protracted war, the veteran Magazine of the United States will reap, in its new and improved character, a plentiful harvest of subscriptions—and maintain with added lustre, that position as a first-class monthly, which it has held for more than thirty years.

TERMS.—Three Dollars a year in advance, postage paid. To the Army and Navy, half price. Two copies, four Dollars and Fifty Cents. Three copies for Six Dollars. Subscriptions must be sent direct to the office. No collectors are employed. New subscribers will be supplied with the back numbers of the new series gratuitously.
The NEW YORK ECHO & THE and any other THREE DOLLAR MAGAZINE will be sent one year for FOUR DOLLARS.

The Exploration of the Niger.
Lieutenant Lefroy, commanding Her Majesty's ship Investigator, in his ascent of the River Niger, an enterprise undertaken with a view to communicate with Dr. Baikie, the African explorer, has succeeded in reaching a higher point of that river than had hitherto been attained by a ship of war. On the 2d of September he commenced the ascent. The current was strong, and some of the inhabitants of the banks were unfriendly; but the progress made was considerable, being about fifty miles a day. On the seventh day the expedition passed the large town of Iddah, supposed to contain upwards of 10,000 inhabitants, situated on a pretty hill 127 ft. in height. There is a large plain on the south side. The houses are round, and the natives dressed in the blue cloth of the country. This place, in the opinion of Mr. Lefroy, might be made the key of the Niger, as the deep-water channel is very narrow, so that the town entirely commands it. Igara is the name of the country, and the King of Iddah's territory reaches so far as the confluence. The scenery about Shooter's Sound is of a fine, picturesque description; hills, thickly-wooded valleys, and mountains steep and rocky. "The country," says Mr. Lefroy, "might be turned to good account, and from what I have heard the natives would be glad to work the ground, only they are prevented by fear of King Massaba, who sends down his horsemen in the dry season and takes them for slaves. The land opposite Beauford Sound grows Guinea corn, and the island itself has several farms on it." On the eleventh day they came to the last of Lieut. Glover's charts that are printed; but still pushed forward. Fourteen days later, Mr. Lefroy arrived at the camp called Eddo, where he was to see the King Massaba. There "Mr. Southwick and myself, accompanied by a guard of five kroomen, together with the head chief and others the King had sent to escort me to his presence, proceeded to the King's house, where we found him sitting on a mat, and another spread with cushions for Mr. Southwick and myself. He is a fine-looking man, and, from the great name he bears, just the man I expected to see. We had a little palaver and exchanged of compliments, after which I presented him with the presents I brought. He seemed much pleased with the coat of mail, and said it showed him he was not forgotten in England. He then requested me to go and see his sons, whom I found in great numbers with the second King, ready to receive me. Some of them were remarkably fine men. I was then presented with some cola-nuts, in accordance with the custom of the country, which broke up the palaver, and I returned to King Massaba, with whom I had a long palaver about Dr. Baikie. He informed me that he had gone to Kano after the papers and effects of a Dr. Vogel, who had been murdered there, and that he had recovered the papers; and the King had given him horses and men, but did not seem pleased at his going. The camp here is on a very large scale, and I have been informed he has upwards of 5000 horsemen. His reason for being encamped is on account of an order from the Sultan of Socatoo to open the road between Bida and Socatoo, as the messengers were frequently robbed and murdered passing between those places; so that Massaba has taken the whole country, dethroning the Kings, and placing guards of his own men in their towns. The King spoke a good deal about Dr. Baikie, and again expressed his dissatisfaction at his going away and not returning in time for the ship, as he had promised. Called on the King in the afternoon, and he told me he felt sure I would neither hear nor see Dr. Baikie this year, but promised to send his letters to Lagos whenever he received an answer." Mr. Lefroy returned by the road he had come. When he had proceeded some way a messenger from King Massaba arrived, informing him that the King had heard from Dr. Baikie, and that he was on his way back to the camp, and requested Mr. Lefroy to wait a few days longer; but Mr. Lefroy resolved not to wait, and dropped down the river, leaving us still in doubt as to Dr. Baikie's safety.

AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND.—We have dates from Australia to the 24th of January, 1863. But little business had been transacted during the month. The migration to New Zealand, which had continued during the preceding year, had had an injurious effect upon the colony, as indicated by a decrease in the revenue.
The remains of Robert O'Hara Burke and William John Wills, who lost their lives in the Victorian exploring expedition, after lying in state for 15 days, were buried on the 21st January. The funeral was a public one, the two Houses of Legislature adjourned to mark their sense of the occasion, and it is estimated that 40,000 persons witnessed the spectacle.

The official returns of the produce of the gold-fields, show a larger falling-off in the yield of the Victorian mines than was at first looked for. The shipments for the year amounted to 2,019,839 oz., including 308,331 oz. transhipped from New Zealand vessels; the total for Victoria standing at 1,711,508 oz. During 1861 the shipments amounted to 2,072,359 oz. of which 133,270 oz. were transhipped from New Zealand, and 2,072,369 oz. the produce of this colony. But in order to draw a fair comparison between the two years, it must be borne in mind that during the last month of 1862 but little gold was shipped. The bulk was held over until after the 1st of January, on which day the reduction in the export duty to 1s. 6d. per ounce came into operation. Large parcels, the produce of 1862, have since been shipped, and will swell the returns of the current year.
From New Zealand there is very little news of interest. Reports from the Lachlan gold field show that gold is being struck in large quantities upon nearly all the leads now at work. Recent rains have been very general throughout the colony and have materially facilitated mining operations.—Halfway Journal.

SAINT JOHN, N. B.:
MONDAY, APRIL 13, 1863.

CITY WATER SUPPLY ACCOUNTS.

The "Report of the Auditors on the accounts of Commissioners of Water Supply for the city of Saint John (East side) and Parish of Portland, up to 31st December 1862," appears in last Saturday's Courier. From this we learn that "the amount received from different sources as stated was £8,051 17s. 7d., which, with the balance on hand on 31st December, 1861, of £3,483 15s. 8d., makes in all £21,535 13s. 3d.

The amount disbursed for all purposes was £6,799 18s. 0d., leaving a balance unexpended on the 31st December, 1862, of £3,228 17s. 5d. in the Bank at the disposal of the Commissioners for the payment of interest and other services required before the collection of the next assessment."

The following paragraph shows the relative proportions of the assessment levied in the city and in the parish of Portland:—

The assessment for the year ending 1st May, 1863, shews the sum of £6,273 15s. 9d. to have been levied in this city and parish of Portland, in streets where mains have been laid, to which has been added since the assessment was made up £2 2s. 0d. and £24 9s. 0d. deducted, of which amount £5,222 2s. 6d. has been collected, leaving a balance of £1,029 6s. 3d. uncollected on 31st December, 1862, of which amount £420 7s. 6d. has been collected up to 28th February, 1863.

A balance of arrears extending over a period of eight years, amounts to the sum of "nine hundred and eighty-two pounds seventeen shillings, due . . . on 31st December, 1862, of which amount eighty-six pounds have been collected to 28th February, 1863."

The auditors, Messrs. W. J. Starr, G. W. Smith, and Thomas M. Reed, express their satisfaction at the information afforded them by the chairman, and praise the systematic manner in which the books have been kept.

EMIGRATION.

Hitherto we have been prevented from noticing as it deserves the concise and satisfactory (as far as the information and suggestions contained in it go) "Report of the Emigration Officer for the year 1862." But there is one fact among the others which is peculiarly striking. We allude to the observation that during the past year "a considerable number of persons have become settlers in the Counties of Carleton and Victoria, having crossed the lines between the United States and the province, with the intention of making New Brunswick their home." To publish this report in detail would be impossible in a single number of our little sheet, and besides most of those in this community who read such things have probably already done so. Still, for the gratification of our subscribers in the country we subjoin a few extracts.

Speaking of the appearance of the emigrants last year, Mr. Shives says:—

The immigrants, taken collectively, compare favorably with the arrivals of last season, particularly in regard to their health and appearance; and it is very gratifying to be able to state, that the comforts of the voyage, as regards space, ventilation, and a supply of good wholesome food and water, was apparent in the strong and robust looks of the people at the time of arriving.

Further on, a practical suggestion is made:—

In a former Report I have shown the great advantages that would result, and the greater inducement that would thus be held out to the immigrant, if the Legislature would cause lots of the Crown Lands, of one hundred acres each, to be surveyed and laid off in the different sections of the province, and have a small clearing, say of one acre, made, and log houses, of cheap construction, erected thereon, in order that the emigrant should have a shelter for himself and family immediately on landing on our shores.

[For want of room we are obliged to hold over the remainder of this article until to-morrow.]

MULTUM-IN-PARVO.

A TROOP OF BACHELORS MARRIED AT ONCE!—One of the most novel ways of commemorating the Prince of Wales's marriage, was that celebrated in a little town in England on the morning of the memorable tenth of March. Some time previous, the inhabitants held a meeting to devise the best means of observing the auspicious event, and it was determined that all the bachelors in the place should be married on the same day, and lol when it arrived, upwards of fifty, carrying out the proposition in good faith, presented themselves and the maidens they had selected at the altar of the parish church, and were all united in the bonds of matrimony!

This story is told for a fact, though it may seem so incredible. Let us hope that for none of the couples it will turn out to be a case of "marry in haste and repent at leisure."

COST OF THE PRINCE OF WALES MARRIAGE.—The cost of the Prince of Wales marriage ceremonies is roughly estimated at £250,000.

The value of the diamond cross presented to the Princess of Wales by the ladies of Liverpool was £800; and the diamond bracelet given by the ladies of Leeds has been valued at £500.

We are informed that the rumours afloat regarding the steamer Flushing being fitted up to run the blockade are wholly without foundation.

FIRE INVESTIGATIONS.—We understand that investigations have been held before the Police Magistrate into the cause of the recent fires. As the result of these investigations, it appears that the fire at Leonard's, Dorchester Street, was purely accidental, and owing its origin to the carelessness of boys smoking and playing with matches; and that in the rear of Dr. Hatheway's house, Princess Street, was owing to a spark from Mr. Estey's pipe falling among clothes in a closet in the kitchen.—News.

We observe that the Bishop of Nova Scotia has notified the clergy of the diocese that an order has been issued for the insertion of the name of the Princess of Wales in the Book of Common Prayer; and they are required, in all prayers for the Royal Family, to use the following form: "Albert Edward Prince of Wales, the Princess of Wales, and all the Royal Family."

The hundred persons being sent to this province at the expense of Miss Burdett Coutts are on board the Arabia now on the passage from Liverpool to Halifax.

SIR JAMES OUTRAM one of the brave heroes of Lucknow is dead.

A WELL known tailor in London named Poole spent £1000 in illuminations on the night of the Royal wedding. His illuminations were considered by some the most brilliant and handsome in London.

THE officers of the Royal Artillery in Halifax gave a grand ball at Mason Hall last Thursday evening.

A CONFIRMATION was held at the Garrison Chapel in Halifax yesterday.

QUITE a number of the admirers of the game of Billiards assembled at the rooms of the St. John Billiard Club, on Thursday night, for the purpose of witnessing the first regular match game of Billiards played in this city. The match was made between two brothers known as "Terry" and "Frank," and two amateurs of the city, Messrs. Curtis and Dooley, for $20 a side. The game played is called the "American Carom and Hazard Game," and was well contested throughout, the brothers Terry and Frank winning by 52 points, scoring 1,000 points, to 948 made by Messrs. Dooley and Curtis.—Freeman.

THE Liverpool Albion of the 19th of March says:—"For some time past it has been observed that from this port, and also from Cork, there has been a considerable, or rather, indeed, a large emigration of strong, active young men, chiefly Irish, for New York. The extent to which this draft has been and still is carried, gives rise to suspicion that these young men are in reality recruits for the Federal army. This supposition is further countenanced by the well known fact that for a long time past agents of the Federal Government have been at work in Ireland, endeavoring surreptitiously to obtain recruits. The Federal Government makes so much noise about our alleged assistance to the Confederates that it would be as well if their own proceedings were watched more closely. We believe the Government is in possession of facts confirmatory of the rumor respecting the movements of Federal agents in Ireland."

MARRIED.

A bill to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors to Indians under a penalty of $8 was committed and after some little discussion agreed to.
The House then went into committee on the message of His Excellency relative to the appropriation from a certain grant made for the improvement of the Harbours of the province.
Desbrisay moved a resolution affirming that the expenditure of £800 during several years for the employment of a tug-boat in the harbour of Miramichi, was a misappropriation of the fund, and that no further warrants should be issued under the grant. Tilly moved an amendment affirming that in future the boat should be self-sustaining. The amendment was carried.

Just Received from Boston, 49 DOZ. OF THE CELEBRATED PATENT FLEXURE SKIRTS!
AND FOR SALE BY F. A. COSGROVE.
THESE SKIRTS have now been brought to such a state of perfection that the manufacturer unhesitatingly offers them to the public, believing that they possess more of the desirable qualities sought for, than any other Skirt in the market, and is confident that they will give entire satisfaction to all who wear them.
By the use of Joints in the Hoops of the Skirt, a heavier and better quality of steel can be used, giving to, and retaining in the Skirt a more Graceful and Elegant Form; while the Flexibility of the Joints permits the Skirt to assume an Easy and Graceful Position when the Weaver is Seated!
prevents the breaking of the Hoops under pressure—also that permanent flattening of the Skirt so objectionable and universal—always allowing the Skirt to return to its original form when the pressure is removed.
The quality of Braid and the peculiar construction of the Skirt adding so greatly to its durability, particularly commend it to the favour of those who desire to unite in their purchase, elegance, convenience, and economy.
F. A. COSGROVE.

THE FRENCH PRESS ON THE ROYAL MARRIAGE.—In the London correspondence of the Monitor occurs this passage:—

"The people of Great Britain have exhibited a grand spectacle, that of the concord, the joy, the force and the independence which are the consequences of one of the political virtues of a free people—namely, sincere attachment to the Sovereign, which in England is called loyalty."

"These rejoicings, these triumphal arches, these unfurled banners, these decorations, these illuminations," says La Presse, "are not official demonstrations paid for out of the Budget, commanded by authority, or prompted by motives of personal ambition. They are the spontaneous outburst of the whole people, celebrating with enthusiasm an act of its own life, which adds another link to the long chain of traditions which constitute its glory and its grandeur. In that earnest desire to behold the features of the Royal pair as they passed along, in those blessings which issued from every breast, there is no courtier adulation, no servility. They were the expressions of the delight and the pride of a people satisfied with itself; satisfied, too, with the form of its government, which gives it the completest guarantee of liberty, of order, and of prosperity; which saves it from revolution and allows it the full development of its material and intellectual force. And these rejoicings are all the greater and the more heartfelt that there is no disquiet as to the future. England hopes that the young Prince to whom she gives such a welcome, and his Royal betrothed, will follow the virtuous example which he has seen in his own family. But what gives England her greatest security is the certainty of never being at the mercy of any one man, or of any moral, physical, or intellectual deformity. The madness of George III., or the dissipations and irregularities of George IV., were merely a cause of affliction, but they could give rise to no public perturbation; nor did they even seek a remedy in a change of dynasty. One of the chief causes of the grandeur and prosperity of England is the unchangeableness of its institutions, which does not exclude improvements, but which prevents revolution."

The official residence of the Minister of the Interior, in the Faubourg St. Honoré, was brilliantly lighted up in honour of the Royal marriage.
