TRYING TO END THE SPRINGHILL STRIKE Premier Murray Endeavoring To Effect Settlement Of Labor Difficulty Of Two Years' Standing In Coal Mines.

Special to The Standard. Halifax, N. S., May 5.—Premier Murray has been kept very busy this week in endeavoring to arrange a settlement of the two years' strike at Springhill with representatives of the United Mine Workers.

From what can be learned nothing definite has been settled yet. The stage at which proceedings stood after yesterday's session was so far as can be learned, one of waiting on the part of the U. M. W. men, who will be called here by Mr. Murray today. It is doubtful if the conference will end for several days.

It is understood that the coal operators, in some way, have been communicated with and they have not been present at any meetings at which the U. M. W. men attended.

SUMMER FREIGHT PROSPECTS GOOD Montreal, May 5.—Freight agents of all Trans-Atlantic shipping lines report that there is a good volume of business for all ports, and that the prospects for the season are bright in every respect.

57-2 THE CRITICAL AGE. Height of vigor is past—nature's power slowing down—vitality ebbing away, endurance decreasing. Stop the progress of decay, tone up the weakened nerve centres, impart vigor to the flaring body—prepare for the crisis. Best means for rebuilding is found in Ferronone; it brightens up the whole being, imparts power, strength, vigor. Old age is pushed back twenty years, the reliance of youth is restored, vigor, vim and new life established. You'll try Ferronone, Soc. at all dealers.

FIRE CHIEF DROPS DEAD. Newark, N. J., May 5.—William C. Astley, chief of the Newark fire department, dropped dead today of heart failure at his home.

THREE BLIND MICE ST. JOHN CASE OUT IN MEXICO Case Of Francis Kerr Company vs. Seely Before Supreme Court—Other Cases Demean With.

Ottawa, May 5.—In the supreme court today, the arguments were continued for the St. John Cement Company and judgment was reserved. Judgment was delivered allowing the motion for a writ of habeas corpus in the case of Stabin vs. Desmarieux and the appeal was quashed with costs.

B. C. PREMIER TO JOIN BORDEN MORE MONEY FOR CUSTOMS AND P. O. MEN

Continued From Page 1. It is critical because unless it is now decided favorably to reciprocity it is exceedingly probable that no such opportunity will ever again come to the United States. The forces which are at work in England and in Canada to separate her by a Chinese wall from the United States and to make her part of an imperial commercial hand reaching from England around the world to England again by a system of preferential tariffs, will derive an impetus from the rejection of this treaty, and if we would have reciprocity with all the advantages that I have described, and that I earnestly and sincerely believe will follow its adoption, we must take it now or give it up for ever.

Where Does Laurier Stand? "Canada is entitled to know whether Sir Wilfrid Laurier acquiesces in this secret trade agreement which two of his ministers have negotiated. "President Taft is a statesman of remarkable ability and profound thought. His words have a tremendous significance for Canadians. He affirms with great earnestness that this agreement should be accepted by the United States because it will prevent the consolidation of the British Empire. He strongly urges that this agreement be accepted by the United States because it will prevent the creation of a system of mutual trade preferences within the British Empire. He emphatically declares that this is the last opportunity for the United States to consummate a trade agreement with Canada which will destroy that policy of international preferences to which Sir Wilfrid Laurier pledged himself in the Colonial Conference of 1902 and the Imperial Conference of 1907.

Mr. Taft's utterance is no idle declaration. Its most serious and dangerous aspect of the present situation is the apparent determination of the government to drive such an agreement through parliament by the force of their numerical majority and to deny to the people of Canada any voice upon the greatest question that has arisen since confederation. For this the government have no mandate and we shall firmly and resolutely oppose to it with every end and any such despatch attempt.

Forecasts New Strength to Party. "After a reference to the closer relation between east and west in Canada, Mr. Borden went on to say: "Let us not fail to recognize that henceforth the west of Canada must have more and more influence, and a greater voice in parliament, and in the cabinet than has heretofore been the case. Strong as is the Conservative party in the House of Commons at the present time, it must call to its councils other strong men from the west and require them, at no distant date, to enter the federal arena. These men knowing thoroughly the aspirations and the needs of western Canada, will give adequate expression to its views in parliament, and assure it of the influence in future Conservative governments."

Continued From Page 1. Since the statement was issued President Diaz is known to have been out riding in his automobile. This morning he was apparently in his usual health. This, in connection with the fact that the conference was held, gives the belief that the announcement of his intention to resign will not be made before tomorrow at the earliest. In the event of his resignation there will be no opposition on the part of the present government officials to Senator D. La Barras Incumbency of the presidential post pending new elections. The question of Vice-President Corral's resignation is not so simple. It is known that before leaving for Europe he refused to resign and that since arriving there he has reiterated this statement. But this is regarded as merely incidental. The officials consider the resignation of Diaz the only solution to the trouble. Reluctantly they admit the growing strength of the rebels and realize that peace is improbable should he antagonize them further.

No Soldiers For Parade. Unconfirmed reports have reached here of skirmishing in the neighborhood of Saltillo. In the capital today the celebration of the anniversary of the taking of Juarez by Ignacio Zaragoza was characterized by dullness. For the first time in many years the usual military parade was omitted because the nation's soldiers are otherwise occupied these days. President Diaz took almost no part in the civil functions leaving to the Gov. Lanada Escandon, the task of distributing gold coins to the survivors of the battle. Most of the business offices and mercantile houses were closed, and Sunday-like calm prevailed. Crowds of people who wandered idly about the streets furnished the only excitement of the day. They gathered in the street in front of the national palace and although laughing and chattering, indulged in a few cries of "Viva Madero."

At the trial, Judge Russell testified the transaction as illegal and voted against the creditors in general and in favor of the respondent. The appeal was dismissed with costs without calling upon the respondent's counsel. The case of Francis Kerr Company versus Seely was then taken up in equity and the respondent sought an injunction to restrain him from erecting any building on the property which would obstruct the plaintiff's access to the harbor of St. John from his property, and the access of vessels and schooners to and from what on this property and the use thereof by them, and ordering the company to remove constructions already made which would interfere with the plaintiff's access to the wharf. Barker, C. J., granted an interlocutory injunction, and on the hearing the injunction was made perpetual, and also mandatory, and a decree made in favor of the respondent as prayed for. The Judge also granted the plaintiff's application for a writ of mandamus to the respondent, Mr. Hazen, K. C., and Mr. Baxter, K. C., to appear for appellant, Mr. Teed, K. C., and Mr. Wilson, K. C., for the respondents.

SAINT JOHN, SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 6, 1911.

THE OLIVER CASE.

For unmitigated silliness the action of Sir Wilfrid and the implicated minister bears of the palm. The trick contemplated is as apparent as it is contemptible. Let us state the occurrences in their order. On March 2nd, 1911, Mr. Dan. McGillivuddy, an old-time Liberal and former beneficiary of the Government, wrote a letter to Sir Wilfrid Laurier in which the following occurs:—

"Recently evidence has come to me that convinces me that one of your colleagues, Hon. Frank Oliver, is a graffer and a boodler. I am willing to submit the evidence to you." To this Sir Wilfrid replied and set a day on which he would see him.

Seven conferences were held to have taken place between Mr. McGillivuddy and Sir Wilfrid from March 6th to the 21st. They resulted in the Premier refusing to take any action, and he told Mr. McGillivuddy of his decision as follows:—

"I said that I had no reason to doubt the honesty of my colleague, who was not only a colleague but a personal friend, and that I would not accept the alternative mentioned, namely, should you see fit to take immediate action it would go no further; but the alternative would be to place the documents, letters and photographs of cheques in the hands of the Opposition."

"I stated to my informant that I would not take any such action as he suggested, under such terms, that I had the fullest confidence in my colleague, that I believed in his honesty, and that if it were shown that my confidence were misplaced, he would have to take the consequences."

"My informant was free to take such steps as he pleased, to place the papers and documents in the hands of the Opposition and to do anything he pleased with them. If my colleague was not proved dishonest, he would have to take the consequences, but if it was my duty to stand loyally by him. This is the gist of my conversation that took place between us. This is the position I take and I leave that position in the hands of Parliament and the country."

The Toronto Telegram on April 27th published an article detailing some of the salient features of the McGillivuddy charges, reproducing the photograph of the bank account and alluding to other documents. It then said:—

"There are theories as to the origin and significance of the deposits of $69,246 on the credit side of the bank account. These theories cannot be tried out. In these columns, or in the proceedings, that might follow the disclosure of names and identities. This journal has tried to stick to the facts and leave theories to the parliamentary tribunals that can test such theories. The truth or falsity of the charges which 'warring Liberals' urge against a cabinet minister of their own political faith was tried by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and decided in favor of the cabinet minister. The facts and issue of that trial are matters of public interest. Every minister of the Crown should be prepared to have the origin of his bank deposits shouted from the housetops."

The announcement made in the House of Commons on Friday last by Sir Wilfrid had relation solely to what passed between him and Mr. McGillivuddy and to the statement in the Telegram. On this occasion Mr. Oliver said nothing. On Tuesday Mr. Oliver gave notice to the House that on Monday he would make a statement in regard to the matter. On Tuesday accordingly he appeared armed with a typewritten document which he proceeded to read. The first part contained an editorial on the Toronto World, which in commenting on the Telegram article, mentioned a story current at Ottawa that in 1907 the Minister of the Interior had passed an order in council authorizing the Canadian Northern Railway to select a railway bonus from lands situated in Saskatchewan. There was no intimation by the World that the money for the deposit of $69,246 came from the railway company, although it was open to any one to connect the two transactions.

Mr. Oliver then proceeded to deny that there was any connection between his bank account and the land transaction, and ended by saying:—"I therefore ask that a special committee be appointed to hear and to inquire into any charge that may be made in respect to the transaction mentioned." He did not refer to or deny the charges made by McGillivuddy, nor to the Telegram article and its allegations, which had formed the basis of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's statement to the House. He picked up a comment from another newspaper in which no charge was made, and valiantly denied a charge fabricated by himself, and ostentatiously demanded a committee to investigate ANY CHARGE THAT MAY BE MADE in respect to a transaction which, so far as is known, Mr. McGillivuddy did not make, and to which neither the Telegram nor Sir Wilfrid made any allusion.

This trick, so palpable and so weak, puts the minister out of court with men who otherwise were disposed to await developments before passing judgment. He denied no charges made by Mr. McGillivuddy or implied by the Telegram, did not deny the accuracy of the photographed bank account, did not explain where he got the $69,246, nor how he disposed of it. Why? It would have been so easy for him to have exploded the whole charge, if the money had been honestly come by, and honestly spent. That he did not, implies guilt. But if Mr. Oliver's trick was so obvious, equally so was the Premier's playing up to it, equally obvious but far more creditable. He promptly proposed the following resolution:—"That a special committee of five members be appointed to investigate the matter referred to this day by Mr. Oliver, a member of this House, and that the said committee be entrusted with full power to send for persons and papers, and report from time to time." This excludes the McGillivuddy charges entirely, and limits the inquiry to another and entirely different matter in respect of which no charge has been made. It was a brazen, but, fortunately, a very apparent attempt to burke the charges made, and prevent all inquiry as to McGillivuddy's assertion that Mr. Oliver is "a boodler and a graffer," that he improperly received and paid out a sum of nearly $70,000, and that he has thereby forfeited public confidence. Mr. Borden promptly questioned the scope of the resolution proposed, and it was laid over for further consideration. The final action of the Government was the usual one of burking investigation. They voted down Mr. Borden's amendment which would have broadened the scope of the inquiry to take in the McGillivuddy charges as preferred to the Premier, and as partially detailed in the Telegram. These are now effectually excluded. Instead, the charge to be investigated is a concoction of the accused minister himself brewed from two statements made by the Toronto World, not even hinted at in the Telegram, and so far as we know not made by McGillivuddy.

In this way does the Laurier Government refuse inquiry, shield the wrongdoer, encourage malversation in office and shows its contempt for recent public opinion. The only re-levelling feature in this, its latest action, is that it is so patent a trick that its perpetration may help to open the eyes of the electorate to the Government's utter shamelessness.

THE SUSPENSION BRIDGE.

It is quite evident that Mr. Lowell feels that his hold on the electors of the county is weakening. This does not fit in with Mr. Lowell's ambition to represent St. John county in the Dominion House of Commons. Hence his Suspension Bridge campaign. Although he has been informed by the local Government that the intention is to replace the Suspension Bridge with a more suitable structure, he sees in the repairs that are now being made to the bridge an attempt on the part of the Government to escape from the promise that has been given. Mr. Lowell need not be alarmed. A new bridge will replace the present structure just as soon as the necessary arrangements can be completed.

If Mr. Lowell were inclined to be reasonable, and not attempting to make political capital for himself, a fact that is patent to everybody, he would see in the repairs that are now being made to the bridge an evidence on the part of the Government to protect the public from all possibility of accident. While the bridge is as safe as ever it was for the traffic it was built to carry, it has become necessary to make repairs to the most favorable circumstances will not last forever. Mr. Lowell ought to know this from ocular demonstration in 1908. Then he contended that the bridge did not require the repairs that were made, but when the flooring was torn up it was discovered in a condition which showed the repairs were necessary and that instead of being in good condition the old Government had allowed portions of the woodwork to rot until the bridge was dangerous in many spots.

The present conditions, while not as bad as three years ago, render repairs necessary, and while they are being made, some of the recommendations to increase its strength made by the engineer who examined it, are being put into effect. This will enable the bridge to sustain the increased traffic while the structure stands. The public may rest assured that Mr. Lowell's political campaign regarding the safety of the bridge is not warranted by any of the reports made by engineers who have examined the structure during the past ten years.

The Government has decided to replace the bridge with a more suitable one, but it takes time to build bridges and the Government in making the present repairs is merely taking the precaution to make the bridge safe while it stands. Mr. Lowell is reminded that he has not yet discovered the location of the bridge he said was burned in Queen's County a short time ago. The reason for this is that no bridge was burned. There is about as much foundation in fact for his alarmist campaign regarding the safety of the Suspension Bridge as there was for the Queen's County bridge fire.

MUNICIPAL TREE DISTRIBUTION.

Denver, Colorado, has just distributed to its citizens 10,000 trees for street planting. One-half of the trees were maples, and the other half firs. The trees cost the city thirty cents each, and four thousand citizens were supplied. No charge whatever was made for the trees.

Municipal Facts, a small municipal weekly, published by the city in the cause of municipal advancement and uplift, makes the following observation on the annual tree distribution:—"The trees were given out free of charge, the only condition required of those who received them being that they should be put in the ground immediately according to the instructions printed on the back of the order cards, and that they should see to it that they were properly cultivated. The money to pay for the trees comes from the tramway franchise. Later in the season it will be the duty of the city forester to make all the trees were planted and are being well taken care of. This was done last year, and it was found that there had been practically no waste, and that about 85 per cent. of the saplings were growing nicely. Of the first year's distribution, only 70 per cent. survived. Since then, however, the people have become better educated to tree culture, and the city forester estimates that over 90 per cent. of this year's crop will thrive and be producing shade within two or three years."

Denver is the pioneer in municipal tree distribution, and now there are many cities in the United States following the example set. The advantage gained is not questioned, the trees being regarded as a municipal asset the value of which is hardly to be estimated in dollars and cents. The local arboricultural society has made an excellent start in its campaign to plant avenues of trees in some of St. John's principal streets. The distribution of trees and their inspection might well be extensively undertaken at some time in the future as a municipal work. No better nor more generally acceptable method could be devised to beautify the city.

Current Comment

(Ottawa Citizen.) The question of whether a French Liberal member loaned or took Government paint to embellish his residence at Borel occupied the House for one whole day, took up 250 columns of Hansard, the printing of which alone covered the cost, and eventually resulted in an administration of a decorative coat of excellent Government whitewash for Mr. Lanctot, also at the expense of the public.

(Chatham World.) The criticisms of the Telegram and Times, on the speeches of Prof. Laycock and others on the reciprocity question, would be of more interest to their readers if they had given a report, however condensed, of the speeches themselves. Real newspapers, free from the control of party managers, first give fair reports of public meetings and then comment on them.

(Hamilton Herald.) The Sheffield Choir's world-tour has come to a sudden termination in St. Paul, Minn., owing to financial difficulties. It was too big an undertaking for such a large company to attempt to sing their way around the world.

(Guelph Herald.) Come on, Sir Wilfrid, trust the people.

PROGRAMME OF KING'S COLLEGE ENCOENIA

Interesting Programme Outlined for Church of England's University at Windsor—Canon Simpson Alumni Orator.

Windsor, N. S., May 4.—This year the Encoenia of King's College promises to be very interesting, and if the fine weather continues the attendance will be large. President Powell has been most energetic during the entire year in promoting the welfare of this good old university. He is deservedly popular and has been most successful in all his undertakings. President Powell came to King's highly recommended and is proving the right man in the right place, and in him the students have found an interested and helpful friend.

The following is the programme for Encoenia week: On Sunday the Baccalaureate sermon will be preached by Rev. C. DeW. White, M. A., Rector of Kentville, in the chapel at 11 a. m. Monday, 8 p. m., the Halliburton Club will hold their annual meeting. Tuesday, 9 p. m., the Alexandra society meets.

Tuesday, at 9.45 a. m., meeting of the Alumni.

Wednesday, meeting of the Governors of King's.

Wednesday, 2.30 p. m., meeting of Convocation.

Wednesday evening, King's College Dramatic Club will present "Billie's Bungalow" at the Opera House.

Thursday, 7.30 a. m., Celebration in College chapel. Bishops of Nova Scotia and Fredericton.

Thursday at 10.30, annual service in Christ church, when the Most Reverend the Archbishop of Ottawa will preach.

Thursday, 2 p. m., Encoenia exercises at Convocation Hall, conferring of degrees, etc., and the annual oration will be given by Rev. Canon Simpson, M. A., Rector of St. Peter's, Charlottetown, P. E. THE SQUAWMAN WAS THE BEST PLAY YET

Helen Grayce Company Delighted Capacity Audience in Opera House Last Night A Fine Production.

As anticipated, The Squawman, was played to a capacity house. Every seat was taken and many persons were disappointed in not being able to secure tickets. By common consent the performance was voted the best of the season. With his customary ability permitted the other members of the cast ample opportunity to share the honors. The story is not new to St. John theatregoers, but its new presentation was in every sense adequate and satisfying, and fully deserved the large patronage it received.

The only criticism that can be offered is with regard to Mr. Brooke himself. For one who married a squaw and sacrificed so much for her sake, his attitude toward the young woman was lacking in evidences of affection and regard. Perhaps he was merely afraid of the grease paint.

Allen read an interesting paper on The Use of the Annual Report, which was discussed.

OFFERING OF LOTS

In the Chief Grand Trunk Pacific Towns in their rich prairie section.

Attention is called to the advertisement of lots in town of Bigger, which appears on another page. Bigger, Melville, Watrous, Wainwright, Scott and Tofield are the eventful Grand Trunk Pacific towns in the 800 miles of its main line across the prairie between Winnipeg and Edmonton. Hundreds of thousands of settlers are coming ever increasing, pour into the territory every year. As a consequence the more important towns such as those of the G. T. P. develop with marvelous rapidity. It is estimated that one hundred millions of dollars were made in town lots in the west last year. This was made, however, by those who bought. Not a dollar of it was made by those who simply thought of buying. The lots offered for sale in these towns are the property of the G. T. P., which alone is a sufficient guarantee of the safety of the investment. The aim of the G. T. P. is to develop these towns as rapidly as possible with a view to making increased traffic for the road. With this end in view they have placed the lots at a very low price, and on extremely easy terms. (See advertisement.) Those who invest in these towns now secure property at ground floor prices and reap the large profit which surely follows later developments. "There is a tide in the affairs of men Which taken at the flood leads on to fortune."

Old Ferry to be Sold; Government Inspectors To Examine the Newport

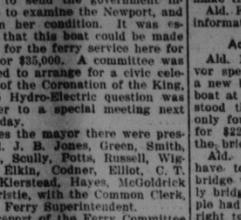

If She Can be Made Suitable for St. John Harbor She will Probably be Purchased to Replace the Western Extension -- Lively Council Meeting Yesterday.

The first business meeting of the new Common Council resembled a question bureau rather than a deliberative assembly. And most of the questions and answers have formed the regular ritual of the discussions on ferry matters for over a year. The council decided to sell the Western Extension by public auction on Saturday the 13th inst., though Ald. Elkin declared that $5,000 would put her hull in serviceable shape. It was also decided to send the government inspectors to examine the Newport, and ascertain her condition. It was estimated that this boat could be made suitable for the ferry service here for $30,000 or $35,000. A committee was appointed to arrange for a civic celebration of the coronation of the King, and the Hydro-Electric question was laid over to a special meeting next Wednesday.
Besides the mayor there were present Ald. J. B. Jones, Green, Smith, McLeod, Scully, Potts, Russell, Wigmore, Elkin, Codner, Elliot, C. T. Jones, Kierstead, Hayes, McGoldrick and Christie, with the Common Clerk, and the Ferry Superintendent.

Bids for removing the wreck of the five masted schr Davis Palmer which foundered in Broad sound with the loss of her entire crew on Christmas night, 1909, have been received at the US engineer's office at Boston and forwarded to the chief engineer at Washington, who is expected to award the contract in a day or two. The wreck lies sunk at the westerly limit of the 35 foot channel through Broad sound and is marked by an obstruction buoy.
The C. P. R. liner Montrose, known as the Crippen ship, is to make a special trip to London, leaving this port today.
The Br schr Princess of Avon cleared at the custom house at Portland, Me, last Wednesday for Yarmouth, NS with a cargo of piping taken at the Portland Stone Ware Co's plant.
Thursday's Portland Argus says: No more stras are expected here this spring for Capt Breton with coal for the Grand Trunk railway. The St. Lawrence river is now open to navigation and several of the stras that have been bringing coal here this winter are now heading in that direction. About 50,000 tons of coal have been landed here for the Grand Trunk during the season just closed in addition to that also being received from Louisburg for the Maine Central.
From the returns compiled by Lloyd's Register of Shipping it appears that, excluding warships, there were 480 vessels of 1,374,964 tons gross under construction in the United Kingdom in a day or two. The tonnage now under construction is about 243,000 tons more than that which was in hand at the end of last quarter, and exceeds by 317,000 tons the total building 12 months ago.
The Canadian government has invited tenders for a new mail service between Canada and Jamaica. The tenders will be received up to Aug. 1. The service is to consist of sailings between Halifax and Kingston, with stops at St. John, N.B., Bermuda and at Turk's Island each way at least once a fortnight, and the contract is to be in force for ten years. The tenders are to state the lowest subsidy required, the successful tenderer presumably being the one naming the lowest subsidy. The minister of trade and commerce is to have the power to name the maximum freight and passenger rates, and also to have at least 65 first class passengers, with provisions for second class passengers and are to be rated at Lloyd's as A1 and to run under the British flag.
Ald. Codner thought they should find out what they could purchase a boat in the Old Country for.
Ald. Elkin said he wanted to say a few words in defence of the men of limited capacity who voted to repair the Western Extension.
Ald. Christie rose to a point of order. He objected to useless discussion.
The deputy mayor who was in the chair, allowed Ald. Elkin to proceed. He said that $5,000 more would repair the hull of the boat and put it in good shape. He knew nothing about the machinery, and had never professed to do so. But there had been no mistake in the estimates that the hull could be repaired for $12,000.
Ald. Potts—You voted to confirm the action of the mayor in stopping the repair of the boat.
Ald. Elkin—Yes.
Ald. Potts—You come here and make that statement?
Ald. Christie—If they should get information about the Halifax boat.
Advices A Cheaper Boat.
Ald. McLeod said he wouldn't ask for spending $80,000 or $100,000 for a new boat, if they could get an old boat at a reasonable price. He understood that the Newport, which was only four years old, could be bought for $22,000. And they would have the bridge before long.
Ald. McGoldrick said they would have to operate a ferry across the bridge was built. Of course the Scully bridge would have to go; the people had voted for it, and had as much right to it as to the commission, though they could build a new boat cheaper than the Ludlow and he favored calling for tenders for a new boat. He thought the money should be done here and let the money be spent in the city.
Ald. Scully said all they wanted was a wooden boat. He did not like the idea of running into heavy expenditures for a new boat; the common council might decide to double the ferry toll and the people couldn't stand that.
Ald. McLeod thought they should get information as to the cost of a wooden boat.
The mayor said the proposition to wait another year to build a new boat was a wild one. He had advocated the securing of another boat last September but seven months had gone and nothing had been done.
Ald. Elkin's Amendment.
Ald. Elkin moved an amendment that an examination be made of the Newport to determine whether she was suitable for the service here. Ald. Scully seconded this.
Ald. Potts said the Newport was no good and the superintendent reported against her. If the council had followed the advice of the superintendent they would not be in the plight they were in now. He had advised that $2,000 be spent on the Ludlow to make her available as an auxiliary.
On motion of Ald. Christie H. J. Fleming was heard. He said a wooden boat suitable for the service, could be built here for about $50,000 in six months. A wooden boat carrying an engine equal to that on the Ludlow could be built for $60,000.
In reply to Ald. C. F. Jones he said the Ludlow cost $82,000 in the first place. It was said she cost over $120,000. The extras represented repairs and accidents after she had been delivered.
Ald. Christie moved to have the government inspectors examine the Newport to determine whether she was suitable for the service here.
The mayor said they should consider the advisability of buying the Newport.
Wants Change to Bid.
Mr. Fleming—"Would it not be fair to give the manufacturers of St. John a chance to bid on a boat similar to the Newport?"
The mayor—"It would. That question was raised seven months ago. But can we afford to wait seven months or so longer?"
The amendment to have the government inspectors examine the Newport was adopted.
Ald. Potts, Elliott, Green, C. F. Jones, Christie and McGoldrick voting against it.
The mayor called attention to the fact that a party of Scottish agriculturists were coming here during the week to inspect the agricultural possibilities of the province and wanted to know whether the city proposed to entertain them.
Ald. McLeod moved that a committee of five be appointed to entertain the Scotchmen and that a sum of $100 be placed at their disposal.
Ald. Kierstead seconded this. He took the occasion to protest against violations of the spitting ordinance.
Ald. McGoldrick's motion was adopted.
Ald. Hayes moved that a rebate of 5 per cent. be allowed on taxes paid not later than July 13th, and this was passed.
The Mayor's Address.
The report of the committee on the Mayor's inaugural address was then received. The committee recommended that the council appoint a committee to arrange for the celebration of the coronation of the King, and that $500 be placed at their disposal. The report was approved, and the mayor appointed the inaugural committee to consider what arrangements should be made.
A communication was read from the promoters of the Hydro-Electric Company. It said the company was willing to supply power and lighting at prices subject to the revision of the Hydro-Electric Commissioners, and would like to see the city appropriate

WOMEN'S COUNCIL HEARD INTERESTING REPORTS

Delegates were Appointed Yesterday to Attend National Council Meeting in Port Hope, in July.
The Local Council of Women met yesterday afternoon in the rooms of the King's Daughters Guild, Mrs. T. H. Bullock presiding.
The meeting transacted considerable routine business. The reports of the different standing committees were read and adopted, which reports will be submitted at the national meeting which will be held in Port Hope about the middle of July. Among the reports read at yesterday's meeting was one by Mrs. David McLeellan relative to the patrol wagon, which will be ready about the first of June.
The principal business was the reception of the report read by Mrs. Robert Thomson, who recently returned from Toronto, where she attended the national executive meeting. Mrs. Lawrence read a paper on The Conservation and Preservation of Birds, which will be read at the national meeting.
The appointment of delegates to the national meeting took place and

Ald. Potts moved that the superintendent be instructed to prepare plans and specifications, using the plans of the Ludlow as far as possible, for building a new boat. He said he had favored the purchase of the Annex, because he was afraid they were going to have trouble with the Ludlow. But the Ludlow was doing good work now, and he was opposed to buying an old boat. He said that the reason why the council voted against the purchase of the Annex was that one of the aldermen had circulated a story that that grant was involved, even implicating the mayor.
Ald. Elliott seconded the motion.
Mr. Elkin, the most businesslike of the aldermen, said that the grant was to have a boat built here, taking care that the mistakes made on the Ludlow were not made in this case.
Ald. Hayes said he had voted to repair the old Western Extension, and he did so on the assurance that it was possible to repair her. He had no doubt a new boat would be most desirable, but they had to consider the expenditure. He felt they should see if they could not get a second hand boat as an auxiliary before embarking on a big expenditure for a new one.
Ald. Codner thought they should find out what they could purchase a boat in the Old Country for.
Ald. Elkin said he wanted to say a few words in defence of the men of limited capacity who voted to repair the Western Extension.
Ald. Christie rose to a point of order. He objected to useless discussion.

BASEBALL'S BIG SWATTERS

Jam Crawford hitting 533 and Lisle 456 lead the American league batters as the result of the first days of play. For the first time in years Lajoie has started out at a murderous clip, while Crawford's work is marvellous. The latter cannot, of course, hold his pace.

FIRST OF THE SAILING DORIES HAS ARRIVED

The first boat of a number ordered from Nova Scotia for the R. K. Y. C. class I sailing dory races has arrived and may be inspected at Gandy and Allison's office on North Wharf. Great interest is being taken by club members and others in these safe, fast, little craft, and the series of five races to be held during the summer at Millidgeville, will likely be very attractive and exciting. The boats being all of exactly the same size and design, will make the races very close, and the fact that results will depend much upon the manner in which the boat is handled and sailed, will put the skippers and crews upon their mettle. Four of the boats have been ordered from Nova Scotia, one or more are being built here, and three are already owned in the vicinity of St. John. All of these will take part in the race. Large cash prizes are to be given to the winners. The probabilities are that the number will be much larger before the first race is called on June 17th.

THE PARISIAN FIGHT FANS HAVE SPOILED SAM M'VEY

Sam M'Vey never gets within hailing distance of the heavyweight championship of the world, he can at least point with pride to the fact that for four years past he has been the idol of the Parisian fight fans. He is the spoiled darling of the boulevards, one of the sights of modern Paris. He has a dozen managers, for, as a matter of fact, all the prominent French followers of the game are falling over themselves to see that their curly headed champion gets the best of any agreement he may make. Melotsh discovered all this to his undoing when he first attempted to sign the negro up for the fight with Langford. A proposition was made to M'Vey, and after a little bluff was accepted by him, with the sanction of his supposed manager, immediately the Australian promoter was besieged by a small army of Frenchmen, each claiming to be the only original, heels and on the verge of starvation. Of the many flies around the McVey pot, the man who seems to have a prior claim on the negro's services is a Parisian doctor, who tells the story of discovering McVey wandering round the streets of the French capital some four years ago, down at the heels and on the verge of starvation. He fattened him up, provided him with clothes, put him into training and made a contract with his friend to box for him for ten years. McVey's popularity and reputation, the latter of which is far beyond his ability as a boxer, have been built up by judicious management and careful selection of soft opponents. Although he weighs almost as much as Jack Johnson, he has been pitted against men of much lighter weight, and his astute manager has seen to it that no one with a dangerous wallop has ever set within sight of the same ring with McVey. At the present rate, with continued caution, McVey may retire in a few years with a place in pugilistic history in the minds of the French fans at least, side by side with Sullivan, Fitzsimmons and James J. Jeffries.

SHRUBB IS PICKED AS A WINNER

Al Shrubbs is a 24 favorite over Fred Cameron, the B. A. A. Marathon champion of 1910, in their 12-mile race at the Arena Saturday night. In spite of the Britisher's recent defeat by Billy Queal, the Englishman is picked to beat Cameron handsly. All the Canadian followers of the little Marathon champion are sticking to their man. They claim that Shrubbs has materially gone back, according to his races with Queal, and that Cameron will prove the "dark horse" as he did in the B. A. A. race a year ago. With both men training hard the race looks to be the greatest professional long distance contest ever held in the Hub. Shrubbs has raced here many times, but as yet has not been defeated. He is training daily at the Charlesbank Gym and appears to be going faster than ever. Cameron will make his local debut as a money chaser, and that the young Nova Scotian will do his utmost to win is evident from the fact work he has planned. Cameron is a guest at the Brookline Gym and all the amateur Marathon followers will turn out to cheer him on. Judging from the interest in the race there will be a record crowd at the Arena Saturday night.

A VETERAN PITCHER IS RELEASED

Reports from St. Stephen are to the effect that both Calais and St. Stephen will not enter the proposed baseball league. If that turns out to be the case, then other towns anxious to join the circuit may be taken on in their place. Word today is that D. B. Donald and H. J. Flemming will represent the St. John Marathons at a meeting to be held here on Tuesday night next for the formation of a league. The calling of the league meeting for Tuesday next, instead of Wednesday, leaves only Monday night open for holding Mayor Thomas' meeting of the citizens to discuss baseball. The official call for the meeting will appear in The Gleaner on Saturday over Mayor Thomas' name. The St. Croix Courier gives the baseball situation at St. Stephen as follows: A joint meeting of the Thistle and Calais ball team committees held Tuesday evening, it was decided to play the opening game between these two teams on June 3rd. It is probable that fourteen games will be played between these two teams during the coming season. The schedule will be arranged at an early date. It was also decided that neither team would alter the proposed provincial league. "Weather permitting, the local league will start Tuesday, May 9th. "Everybody should turn out on Tuesday and give the boys a good start. Coach Finnmore will be present and will probably give the boys a workout before the game."

SAM LEEVER. After 14 years of continuous service Pitcher Sam Leever, oldest in point of service of the Pirate band, has been unconditionally released by Manager Fred Clarke and Owner Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh club. Leever has been a brilliant and at all times a faithful performer. He was retained last season although of little use to the world's champions. Dreyfuss refused to sell him although he could have commanded a good price. By releasing him unconditionally, Dreyfuss makes it possible for Leever to seek a position under a manager of his own choosing, if he desires to continue in the game.

PLANS $500,000 BALL PLANT FOR THE NEW YORK GIANTS

New York, May 5.—In an announcement made last night, John T. Brush, president of the New York National League Baseball Club, formally acknowledged the signing of a thirty-five years' lease on the Polo Ground. This long period, equaling the years of existence of the National League, is ten years longer than had been supposed possible. The definite action assures the public and followers of baseball a plant that will equal, if not surpass, the great stadiums which have been constructed in Pittsburg, Philadelphia and other major league cities in recent years. A fireproof steel and cement structure with a seating capacity of upward of forty thousand persons is projected. The cost will exceed $500,000 if plans now being formulated are adhered to. The opportunity for thirty-five years' occupancy of a site that the fans have come to know well as the home of the National League club in this borough is a source of deep satisfaction to Mr. Brush, and in a statement given out last night he referred to the loyalty of Mrs. Harriet G. Coogan and James J. Coogan, who control the land, to the national game. Although the structure may inspire other names in which stadium is likely to be attached, the home of the Giants will, for sentimental reasons, be known by Mr. Brush as the Polo Ground. In recalling the career of the Giants last night, Mr. Brush, after repeated expressions of gratitude for the friendliness displayed by the American League management after the fire at the Polo Ground, gave a bit of the early history of the field, which has world-wide recognition among followers of all sports. When the national league was launched in 1876 a field at 110th street near Central park upon which the pioneers of polo in America had been active, was used by the baseball teams. In 1889 John B. Day, then president of the New York national league club, following a dispute over the number of passes to be granted city officials, was obliged to seek a new home. Manhattan field, adjoining the present polo ground, was used and was known under the name which came from the 110th street site. On the site of the present polo ground the players' league occupied Brotherhood park in 1890. The following year the leaguists consolidated and the Giants moved into what has since been their home. For many years a lease on Manhattan field was held to ward off possible invaders in major league baseball. One of the projects now under consideration is that of approaches that will make the new home far more accessible than has been possible, even with extensive changes in recent years. At no time was it thought feasible to establish one plant for the use of the two major league teams in Manhattan. Before the end of the summer it will be possible for the Giants to dedicate their new home, but the fact that many details of construction must be thoroughly considered makes it appear reasonable to look for the completion of the plant in the fall. The intention of Mr. Brush is to have work hurried as much as the magnitude of the plans will admit. He has hopes of seeing the pennant fly next fall over the country's finest equipped baseball field.

ST. STEPHEN AND CALAIS WON'T JOIN

Reports from St. Stephen are to the effect that both Calais and St. Stephen will not enter the proposed baseball league. If that turns out to be the case, then other towns anxious to join the circuit may be taken on in their place. Word today is that D. B. Donald and H. J. Flemming will represent the St. John Marathons at a meeting to be held here on Tuesday night next for the formation of a league. She Aimed to Be "A Worthy Son"

Miss L. C. Violet Houk's chief aim in life has been to be a "worthy son of a worthy sire." It has not always been easy, in view of the fact that she is wondrously fair, with a mass of the most beautiful hair that any society woman has ever boasted in New York, Washington, Paris, or the other capitals where Miss Houk is famous.

Her father was Louisidas C. Houk, for 21 years congressman from Tennessee. He was so disappointed that no son was born to him that he named his daughter "L. C." after his old initials.

For Idle Moments Porkins' Poultry Experiment

"I think those people who write in the papers and books about the profit you can get from hens are quite right," said Orris Porkins, one Saturday afternoon, addressing Mrs. Porkins.

"Of course we've got no place to put any hens in, but all the same I've bought, on my way home, ten of the prettiest birds you ever set eyes on, and they'll be coming here almost directly. I can easily make a house for 'em before it gets dark, and meantime they can walk about in the garden," added Porkins with evident pleasure.

"What sort of hens are they?" enquired Mrs. Porkins.

No answer was necessary, for at that moment the local carrier appeared with a crate containing an assortment of birds of many colors and sizes which he unceremoniously dumped into the open space which Porkins was pleased to call a garden.

"Why didn't you buy them all alike?" queried Mrs. P.

"Well, Clementina," said Orris, "I've been told it's best to mix 'em so that you can get eggs of different colors and shapes. Some people like brown eggs, some white and some other colors. Do you see that brown Plymouth Rock?" he said, pointing to a bird that was meant to pass for a buff Orpington.

FUTURE CITY OF WESTERN CANADA

Is a new town—was only incorporated a village in the spring of 1909.—Regular passenger train service was only inaugurated in June, 1910, less than a year ago—and it has only, within the past few months, commenced to attract the attention of the public.—However its advantages were quickly appreciated, and in all about 50 business establishments.—The Canadian Bank of Commerce has just opened a bank at BIGGAR and on next Thursday, April 27th, the first issue of The Biggar Independent will be published at Biggar.—Its citizens are progressive.—As an illustration of this fact, it was one of the first new towns on the Grand Trunk Pacific to take up the question of city water works, and it not only took it up, but has voted debentures. These debentures have been subscribed and paid for.—The money is in hand, and work is under way installing a water system that will not only be adequate for fire protection, but will supply the town with water for domestic use.

AMERICAN SONGBIRD APPLAUDED ABROAD

Now, Mrs. Porkins knew a little about poultry, but for some reason made no comment on the remarks that she had just listened to, contenting herself by saying: "When are you going to make the hen-house?"

"This very afternoon," said Orris. "The best thing for me to do is to buy some egg boxes and use the wood to build a roosting place. I'm sure eggs will be laid because, when the hens smell the wood they're sure to be tempted to lay so near a place where eggs have been before."

Then there was something doing. Eight of them lost no time in quitting the Porkinsian garden for other spheres of influence. Of the two left there secured to be quite at home and unconcerned, except so far as regarding showing a disposition to help in the rearrangement of sundry flowers that had been sown a few days before, and the other was quickly and permanently put out of action by Porkins himself; for, in a dash for the eight delinquent, he collided with the family clothes-prop and knocked it down on top of the unfortunate bird.

Ultimately, with the aid of several boys, each receiving a retaining fee, the survivors of the wandering birds, with the unconcerned one already referred to, eight in all, were placed in the coal cellar, pending the erection of the hen-house.

This plan was put into execution with that expedition which was so noticeable in all the actions of Porkins. "I hope they'll be comfortable during the night," he said, as he closed the hen-house door. "I'll let them out for a run early in the morning," he remarked finally.

From Street Singer to Leading Woman in Year, Record of Hazel Dawn

(New York Herald.)

Moved and seconded that Miss Hazel Dawn, "The Pink Lady," now driving away the blues (no pun intended) at the New Amsterdam Theatre, be granted the freedom of this page. All those in favor will please say aye. There being no objections Miss Dawn is declared the choice of the convention and the chair appoints Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger, her managers, a committee of two to escort her to the platform. Really remarkable the way "The Pink Lady" has two-stepped right into the affections of theatre goers in this city. Even her warmest admirers thought she was going to have a difficult time filling the shoes and the apartment formerly occupied by "Madame Sherry," that other lady of melodious memory, but her youth, beauty and musical accomplishments have served to make the neighbors forget that every little movement has a meaning of its own. In selecting an actress for the title part Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger had the task of their managerial lives. They were determined that "The Pink Lady" should be pink in private as well as professional life. After they had passed upon the pinkness of about one hundred applicants and were threatening with pink eyes they began to realize that it was a job for the Pinkertons. There was an abundance of every other color but pink. Brown girls, white girls, black girls, blue girls and even green girls (lots of actresses get green with jealousy at times), but never a trace of a real pink little party. There were any number of near pinks and quite a few decided brunettes informed the management that they could qualify inside of ten hours, but they were informed that drug store brand would not qualify. "The girl you want is in London," said a friend of the managers, who heard them discussing the situation. "Is she genuine pink?" asked Mr. Erlanger. "The most honest and truly pink I ever saw in my life. She must have been in the first row when they handed it out. She looks like an Easter azalea, in full bloom, all pink and white."

TWO FUNNY MEN ON N.Y. STAGES

SAM BERNARD IN "HE CAME FROM MILWAUKEE." WILLIE COLLIER IN "I'LL BE HANGED IF I DO."

"No, I'm the only one. All the rest are Touts." "That last question had no reference to business matters." "I expected you would say something like that," said the actress with a laugh. "Every one who hears the family name does. 'Tout' is my real name, but I use Dawn for stage purposes." "It's just as well that you changed it before you came to this city. You're about the only 'Tout' that's working in this vicinity. Can you favor the Herald with the complete 'Tout' ensemble?" "Yes, but you'll need more paper than that. There's eight of us. Besides mamma and papa there is Nannie, my older sister. She is—" "Stop right where you are." "What's the trouble?" "Do you intend to tell Nannie's age?" "Sure, I'll tell you all our ages. No, there's no danger of getting Nannie's goat. She's twenty-five and proud of it. Grace is twenty-three. Margaret is twenty-one. I'm nineteen. Irving is fifteen. Elinor, the baby, is thirteen."

"Are any of the other girls on the stage?" "Margaret is singing at the Opera Comique in Paris at the present time, and Nannie gave up a good engagement to come to this country and take care of me. My parents felt that this was a splendid opportunity and did not want me to lose it. They could not come with me, because my brother and younger sister are attending school in London. Three of us girls are on the stage, but my assumed by penniless and a splendid success in that direction."

"Singers and musicians. We all had good voices and each of us plays at least one instrument. Papa can play half a dozen. We had a regular family orchestra when we were in Ogdenville. We appeared in concerts and lyceum work that way and are pretty well known throughout Utah, Wyoming, Idaho and other Western States." "How long did you live in London?" "Papa took the family over there ten years ago. With the exception of a few visits to this country they have been over there ever since. It was just like this. Papa was a prominent elder in the Mormon Church. He was ordered to London for a three years' mission. He is an architect by profession and was a splendid business at the time, but when his church called he dropped everything to obey. Every good Mormon does the same thing. He was a splendid man and we helped him with his services. Our street meetings always drew crowds and his mission was successful. "Do you sing in the streets of London?" "Hundred of times. All the adult members of the family did. And we provided all the necessary instrumental music. We girls would study hard during the day and then go out and help father at night. The papers gave us good notices and we all enjoyed the work immensely."

"Was it your street singing that brought you to the stage?" "It was in a way. We had ever so many offers from proprietors of the music halls to appear separately or as a family, but we didn't fancy that sort of work. Last spring I got a chance to play a small role in a place called 'Dear Little Denmark.' That was my first appearance. From that production I went to 'The Balkan Princess,' where I remained for several months. I was singing in 'The Dollar Princess' when Mr. Erlanger offered me this part. I'm just crazy about it."

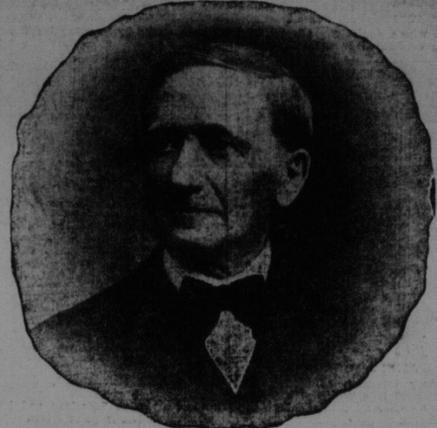

"Are you going to London with the production?" "I hope not. I have been assured that I won't be sent. I've been worrying over it ever since it was decided to present it over there." "Don't you like London?" "Not as well as New York. Anyway, I was over here for ten years. I don't want to leave America again for a long, long time. I'm just reveling in the thousand and one wonders of this city. I've got all the money and all the artificial skyscrapers here, but out there we have all the good things and the real skyscrapers, mountains that mingle with the clouds. Have you ever been in Ogdenville?" "No? Then you have my sympathy. Oh, for one deep breath of Ogdenville!" "Does the Ogdenville Chamber of Commerce pay you a salary?" "It doesn't have to. Any one who has been there thinks the same way about it. When I get thinking of old 'Uncle Tom' I feel like taking the first train back there."

"Why don't you bring the old man here?" "He's not a man. Uncle Tom is my pet mountain. He is always covered with snow. He stood right behind our house."

Genuine Rupture Cure Sent On Trial To Prove It Don't Wear a Truss Any Longer.

After Thirty Years' Experience I Have Produced An Appliance for Men, Women and Children That Actually Cures Rupture.

If you have tried most everything else, come to me. Where others fail is where I have my greatest success. Send attached coupon today and I will send you free my illustrated book on Rupture and its cure, showing my Appliance and giving you prices and names of many people who have tried it and were cured. It is instant relief when all others fail. Remember, I use no salves, no harness, no leas.

Pennsylvania Man Thankful.

Dear Sir:— Perhaps it will interest you to know that I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with it until I got your Appliance. It is very easy to wear, fits best and snug, and is not in the way at any time, day or night. In fact, at times I did not know what it was, as it clung to the shape of the body and seemed to be a part of the body. It is a pleasure to recommend a good thing among your friends or strangers. I am yours very sincerely, JAMES A. BRITTON, 80 Spring St., Bethlehem, Pa.

The above is C. E. Brooks, the inventor of Marshall, Mich., who has been curing ruptures for over 30 years. If ruptured write him today.

Others Failed But the Appliance Cured

Dear Sir:— Your Appliance did all you claim for the little boy and more. He is cured and sound and well. We let him wear it for about a year in all, although it cured him 3 months after he had begun to wear it. We had tried several other remedies and got no relief, and I shall certainly recommend it to friends, for we surely owe you to you. Yours respectfully, WM. PATTERSON, No. 117 S. Main St., Akron, O.

Cured At the Age of 76. Dear Sir:— I began using your Appliance for the cure of rupture (I had a pretty bad case) I think in May, 1907. On November 29, 1907, I quit using it. Since that time I have not needed or used it. I am well of rupture and rank myself among those cured by the Brooks Discovery, which, considering my age, is years, I regard as remarkable. Very sincerely yours, SAM A. HOOVER, Jamestown, N.C.

Child Cured In Four Months.

Dear Sir:— The baby's rupture is altogether cured, thanks to your appliance, and we are so thankful to you. If we could only have known of it sooner our little boy would not have had to suffer near as much as he did. He wore your brace a little over four months and has not worn it now for six weeks. Yours very truly, ANDREW EGGENBERGER.

Ten Reasons Why You Should Send for Brooks Rupture Appliance.

- 1. It is absolutely the only Appliance of the kind on the market today, and in it are embodied the principles that inventors have sought after for years. 2. The Appliance for retaining the rupture cannot be thrown out of position. 3. Being an air cushion of soft rubber it clings closely to the body, yet never chafes or causes irritation. 4. Unlike the ordinary so-called pads, used in other trusses, it is not cumbersome or ungainly. 5. It is small, soft and pliable, and positively cannot be detected through the clothing. 6. The soft, pliable bands holding the Appliance do not give one the unpleasant sensation of wearing a harness. 7. There is nothing about it to get foul and when it becomes soiled it can be washed without injuring it in the least. 8. There are no metal springs in the Appliance to torture one by cutting and bruising the flesh. 9. All of the material of which the Appliance is made is of the very best that money can buy, making it a durable and safe Appliance to wear. 10. My reputation for honesty and fair dealing is so thoroughly established by an experience of over thirty years of dealing with the public, and my prices are so reasonable, my terms so fair, that there certainly should be no hesitancy in sending free coupon today.

Remember

I send my Appliance on trial to prove what I say is true. You are to be the judge. Send out free coupon below and mail today.

My! But Anna Was Mad

Uh-huh! You just wait until Dmitri Smirnov gets back to St. Petersburg. He's going to hustle right straight from the depot to the czar's palace, and after he gets Nick's ear we shall see what we shall see. Somebody's going to be in trouble, after Dmitri gets through. It's about Anna Pavlova. In some mysterious way some favorite of the palace—oh, a lady of course, and a jealous one—got word to America that Anna, who has been dancing here, had received a big share of the small fortune which a certain M. Dandre is accused of having looted from the Russian treasury. When she heard the story—gee-whizzskvitch!—she wouldn't dance. For three nights she kept to her hotel while audiences at the Metropolitan opera house in New York waited patiently. She wouldn't listen to argument. Then Smirnov came to town. Pavlova's managers appealed to him. Well, he fixed it. He assured Anna that it wasn't the fault of American people that such a story had spread. They all knew where her money came from. Hadn't they given it to her themselves? "Not once. I cannot afford a horse just yet. I have my own car, though," smiled the actress. "What make is it?" "It's an Interborough. Nineteen eleven, on model. It will hold seventy or eighty of my friends. Meet me in the subway some day and I'll take you for a ride."

PRECAUTIONS ADVISED BY THE BOARD OF TRADE

The Board of Trade met yesterday morning to deal with the report of the special committee appointed to consider the application of the New Brunswick Electric Power Company for letters patent. The committee recognized the value of cheap power, and the idea merited the encouragement of the Board of Trade. The rights of the city should be safeguarded and recommended that the Common Council be directed to guard the citizens' rights to roads, streets, etc., and that the City Council retain control of the same. It was also recommended that the lifetime of the franchise be restricted, and in the event of the enterprise being offered for sale the city have the first opportunity to become the purchaser. The report was adopted. Mr. McDonald will remain.

Men and Scenes Prominent In Noted Los Angeles Case

McManigal barn near Indianapolis, where explosives alleged to have been stored by Los Angeles Times dynamiters were found by detectives, on confession of Orrie E. McManigal.

WILLIAM J. BURNS,

Noted detective who directed trans-continental man hunt.

William J. Burns, the detective who has been on the trail of the Los Angeles dynamiters, is the most successful criminal hunter in the country.

He has figured in the biggest cases of this generation. His work in the San Francisco fraud cases put Abe Ruef in prison. He stopped the work of a band of busy rascals in the Oregon land frauds.

Burns is the son of a Columbus, Ohio tailor. His father was a police commissioner and the detectives came to the Burns store and talked over their cases. Young Burns became interested. He began to advance theories. He was successful.

In 1885, when he was 24, he went to St. Louis as a full-fledged detective to run down a band of firebugs. His success in this case and others got him a government job in 1890.

His greatest feat in those days was the capture of the Philadelphia and Lancaster counterfeiters. He ran down Taylor and Bredell, photo engravers who were making $100 counterfeit bills, together with the tobacco firm that employed these men to make bogus revenue stamps. Burns landed the two men in prison and performed another feat a few months later when he discovered that the two men had made a $20 counterfeit plate while confined in their cells.

He ran down the principals of the Brooklyn counterfeiting gang. He caught Brockway with the goods before he was able to get rid of $2,000,000 worth of bad money.

In 1896 Burns left the government service to get the evidence in the San Francisco graft cases. He was shot at, threatened and offered a $100,000 bribe, but didn't quit.

IN THE COURTS.

Supreme Court Chambers.

In Supreme Court Chambers yesterday morning Justice McLeod on the application of W. H. Thorne, Company, Ltd., a creditor of the A. E. Hamilton Company, Ltd., appointed Thomas H. Somerville, provisional director of the Hamilton Company, and adjourned further hearing until Saturday, May 13, at eleven a.m. The estimated value of the property of the Hamilton Company is $30,000. Mr. Somerville will be required to furnish his own bond for $5,000 and two other sureties for $2,500 each. J. H. A. L. Fairweather appeared for the petitioning creditor, and the Canadian Oils, Ltd.; G. F. Sanford, for Hilyard Bros.; C. H. Ferguson for Alexander Watson; Cyrus F. Inches for Emerson and Fisher, Ltd.; G. Earle Logan for Thomas Bell, and D. King Hazen for H. W. Woods, M. P. P., and the Hon. J. K. Flemming, M. P. P., all creditors. After the petition was presented, S. B. Bustin for the company, asked for an adjournment, as Recorder Baxter, K. C., and A. A. Wilson, K. C., counsel, were out of the city. This request was granted.

David O'Connell has a first mortgage on the property for $10,000, and the directors of the Hamilton Company, S. B. Bustin, Thomas Nagle, A. E. Hamilton, Aid. J. V. Russell and John O'Regan have a second mortgage for $5,000. The mortgages are now in possession of the property. Mr. Sanford informed the court that these mortgages had only been recorded within the last forty days, hence the action of the creditors in placing the company in liquidation.

SOME REPRESENTATIVE OPINIONS OF SUBSCRIBERS TO THE NEW (11TH) EDITION OF THE Encyclopaedia Britannica

The Cambridge University Press has received hundreds of congratulatory letters from those who are now in possession of these volumes. Incomparable "in Good Taste and Convenience"

"The Excellence of this New Edition"

From Subscriber No. 1696: "I beg to acknowledge the receipt of the first fourteen volumes of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, and desire to add my word of praise for the excellence of this new edition, which, to my thinking, places it far above any other work of a similar nature."

Special Features of the 11th Edition

(1) The new edition is being published by the Press of the University of Cambridge, England. (2) It comprises some 40,000 articles, 41,000,000 words, more than 7,000 illustrations, 450 full-page plates, and 417 maps.

(3) Though a lineal descendant of ten editions of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, the new work is in no sense a revision of the obsolete text of its predecessor. It has been completely recast and re-written, and is an absolutely fresh, authoritative and up-to-date survey and exposition of the whole field of human knowledge.

(4) The plan of the encyclopaedia has been thoroughly reorganized with a view of combining comprehensiveness with brevity, exhaustive treatment of major subjects with the greatest facility of reference in the case of minor subjects. (5) Something like 16,000 new headings have been added.

(6) The articles have been written by 1,500 contributors—scholars of the highest distinction, and experts and practical men and women whose authority in their special subjects is unimpeachable.

(7) A large and distinguished staff of editors (constituting with the 1,500 contributors a virtual College of Research) has been at work for eight years on the production of the new edition; and the organization and editorial control have all along been so perfect that an unprecedented congruity and co-ordination have been attained.

(8) Each article is right up to date, and all the latest discoveries and results of research have been incorporated.

(9) The whole work has been written simultaneously and is being published practically at one time, not volume by volume as heretofore.

(10) To an extent never before realized the work is cosmopolitan—universal. Each article is the work of a first hand authority, irrespective of whether he happened to live in Great Britain, Canada, France, Germany, Japan, the United States, or any other civilized country. On the list of contributors are to be found the names of 181 members of the staffs of 42 Canadian and American Colleges and Universities.

(11) The problem of bulk has been happily solved by the issue of an edition on India paper with flexible bindings. In this format the volumes, though containing 900 to 1,004 pages each, are only 1 inch thick. There is also an impression on ordinary book-paper.

"Bound to Quicken Intellectual Life"

From Subscriber No. 1820: "It seems to me that this publishing event is bound to quicken the whole intellectual life of our generation. . . . I am especially struck with the delightful literary flavor of many articles on subjects which one expects to find treated in the dust and ashes manner."

"A Treasury of Progress"

From Subscriber No. 108: "The new Encyclopaedia Britannica is a treasury full of a wonderful record of the progress of civilization. Its beautiful volumes of thin paper and flexible covers are admirably adapted for reference and use."

"Models of Fullness and Condensation"

From Subscriber No. 4334: "I must tell you how abundantly I am pleased with these fourteen volumes. I have read several articles or parts of articles and find them models of fullness, or of condensation, as required. . . . Certainly the whole work is a new and wonderful departure in encyclopaedic enterprise."

"Incredibly Light and Thin Volumes"

From Subscriber No. 1641: "Apart from the extraordinary perfection of the literary contents and their arrangement, I am amazed at the beauty and effectiveness of the material features of the India paper edition. It is indeed a pleasure to handle these incredibly light and thin volumes."

"A Readable Encyclopaedia"

From Subscriber No. 902: "I am delighted to be the owner of a readable encyclopaedia."

"Reference is Now a Pleasure"

From Subscriber No. 3307: "I find it a pleasure to refer to the Encyclopaedia now, where before with the old edition it was a hardship. My hearty congratulations to you for your innovation in style and binding. I am simply delighted with the books, and the subjects, as I have found them, are pleasurable reading because presented and couched in understandable language."

"A Delight to Both Eye and Touch"

From Subscriber No. 114: "I can think of no modern work of such magnitude carried to as great perfection. The flexible cover is a delight to both eye and touch. The little weight of each volume, the delicacy of each page of India paper, all are in extraordinary contrast to the profundity of knowledge contained."

"Far Surpasses All Previous Editions"

From Subscriber No. 39: "We are much pleased with the new volumes; so light and so handy for constant use. . . . This new edition far surpasses all previous ones. . . . The more it is used the better it will be appreciated."

"Have Praised Them to My Friends"

From Subscriber No. 1309: "I heartily endorse all the nice things that have been said of the 11th edition. . . . I like these books, and I have praised them to my friends."

"So Magnificent a Work"

From Subscriber No. 1662: "I congratulate you on the production of so magnificent a work." From Subscriber No. 370: "A magnificent production."

"All I Could Hope For"

From Subscriber No. 4049: "The work is certainly all I could hope for. It is simply wonderful, surpassing anything else in the way of an encyclopaedia in the English language, and I know them all. . . . I like the fulness of your treatment. There are some things which cannot be stated in a brief way."

"A Triumph in Book-Making"

From Subscriber No. 178: "Needless to say, the new edition in India paper affords me the keenest satisfaction. It is a triumph in book-making."

For the INDUSTRIOUS NEEDLEWOMAN

By ADELAIDE BYRD

Design for Infant's Cap and Bib

DESIGNED BY
Ethel E. Bates

Warm Shirtwaists

THE dotted shirtwaist is very new, very light in weight and very warm. Indeed, it is well worth a second thought, and it invites the sensible woman or, better still, the sensible mother. Daughters are not very warmly clad these days, and it might be well to take some time for the consideration of the fairly warm winter waist. It is not the least objection to the non-washable blouse if it is made of material that is not bulky, and worn on the right occasions. It involves more care than the durable white linen waist, and should be made with the idea of an occasional bath in warm, soapy water. Almost all shirtings will stand this treatment occasionally. This year there is a beautiful little model shown at an exclusive shop. It is made of this pretty, soft material, embroidered by hand over its entire surface; but there are evidences of carelessness in its make-up. The little dots have, quite apparently, been embroidered first, since the seams cut them off at certain points. The ideal way to get around this difficulty, which really amounts to a defect, is to first cut out the blouse and fit it; then, with the seam lines marked, to embroider the separate pieces and re-make the blouse. The small dots on the pretty sage-green shirtings were done in darker silk to bring it into harmony with its skirt. On some woolen shirtwaists a single line of dots only appears down each side of the center pleat and on the cuffs. They are larger, the size of a pea, and are worked in a quite dark shade of the color shown in the material.

How to Apply Design

THERE are two ways to apply this design to the material upon which you wish to work it. If your material is sheer—such as handkerchief linen, lawn, batiste and the like—the simplest method is to lay the material over the design and, with a well-pointed pencil, draw over each line. If your material is heavy, secure a piece of transfer or impression paper. Lay it, face down, upon this; then draw over each line of the paper design with a hard pencil or the point of a steel knitting needle. Upon lifting the pattern and transfer paper you will find a neat and accurate impression of the design upon your material.

There are two points to observe in this simple process, if you would execute it satisfactorily. One is, see that your material is level-cut and folded by a thread—and that your design is placed upon it evenly at every point. The second is, when placed accurately, secure the design to the material with thumbtacks or pins so that they cannot slip during the operation. Transfer paper comes in white, black, blue, red and yellow. I advise the use of the lighter colors when possible, as the black and blue are so liable to crack. Do not rest your hand or fingers upon any part of the design you are transferring, else the imprint of hand or fingers will be as distinct upon the material as the drawn lines of the design.

Bonnet Crowns

NOT for baby, but for either ma or grandma are the bonnet crowns told of here. Bonnets are not so prevalent as measles, but they still are worn by certain devotees of a good, reliable style that has never wholly left us. The bonnet crown or top is a thing on which beautiful handwork may be put, and so a money advantage, for excellent bonnet crowns are not a small item in grandma's wardrobe. A motif of old lace which may have been saved from the wreck of a family fortune is often quite enough to begin with. This is applied to a handsome bit of brocade, ottoman or velvet, as the quality and color, or even as the season of the year, may make necessary. After it is sewn fast so daintily that it looks as if it had blown there, the material under it is cut away and an open effect of rare beauty and of some value is the result. Brocade is used, too, in another way, and so is allover lace. Either one may be hand run with gold and silver threads in and out among the design. A braided bonnet top is effective, and the work is delightful. Given a background of patterned lace, its outline can be readily carried by a very narrow and fine quality of silk rattail. Any one of these will form the nucleus of a handsome bonnet, which will, if the crown be somewhat voluminous, require very little extra material. With the advent of the large, crown-topped turban the elderly lady's bonnet has increased in size. A note worthy of mention to the would-be maker of the bonnet crown.

The Making of Stocks

IT WILL be found quite impossible to economize time on the home-made stock and jabot. Money may be saved on them, without a doubt, but money saved means, invariably, time spent. Stocks and jabots, plisses, dainty ties and collars mean, one and all, hand sewing. This is not all they involve. There is a certain feeling for the beautiful that should be cultivated. If it is not natural, hence the ordinarily busy woman will be a successful maker of lingerie. In this, the first thing to be studied is the model. No one who will actually and faithfully copy a model can go far wrong. It often proves a dangerous experiment to diverge in the smallest particular from the pattern selected. This is a natural state of affairs, when one realizes that the makers of exquisite neckwear have spent many years perfecting patterns and working out their present models. Handwork and careful measurements are the keynote. Each piece of material that goes into a jabot, for instance, should be measured and cut exactly like its model. This should be accurate, down to the very width of the insertion and the lace, and even to the size of the hem. The materials, too, all have been chosen with an eye to a certain desired effect, and they should be followed without deviation, except in the matter of actual lace designs, which are not usually matchable.

The Gray Fad

THERE is every reason to hope the gray fad in interior decoration will become more or less lasting. There is a very new two-toned wallpaper in gray just put upon the decorator's shelves. It shows a soft neutral color, not very far removed from white, with a few wavy, wavy, wavy lines and having on its surface a pleasant dim outline of trees in different grays. This, with a few willow chairs stained gray, will form a delightfully restful background for furniture already too ornate or overcolored. With a courteous background and a slight design, or none at all, against which to place the usual array of curvilinear furniture, there may be more hope of surroundings comfortable to the eye.

The Making Up of Velvet

VELVET is to be such a very good material for the winter that some points toward its manufacture into the afternoon costume should be understood. It is highly necessary to avoid handling the half-made gown whether it be velvet or velveteen. There is a certainty which counts for much in the result. To acquire this certainty, it is advisable to make a perfectly fitted model of your velvet gown or suit in some flannel, to rip it and use it as a pattern, and thus to save in error of handling in the fitting of the velvet. Pinking is a great source of difficulty, each pin leaving its mark upon the surface of the velvet. Only round-headed black pins should be used for what some experts after this cautious beginning. Handling requires care, because the threads, drawn too tightly, will press a line into the surface. They should be removed only after clipping each stitch, so that there will be no long pulls to cause the defect. The pressing of velvet being quite out of the question, a substitute is demanded to replace the flatiron. The kitchen poker is one very ordinary weapon. A long velvet seam turned with its wrong side up, is first pinned by its one end to a heavy ironing board and then held in midair and the point of the slightly heated poker is run evenly along the line of sewing. Just sufficiently to press the seam apart. It is quite inconceivable that any one, not knowing these slight first helps, would undertake the making of velvet.

A Scalloped Bed Spread

TO VARY the monotony or to give a more fancy appearance to the bedroom, the coverlet for the metal bed is now frequently scalloped before its valance is attached. To do this it is not necessary to have a pattern, but to cut the top of the coverlet so that at the head of the bed there is allowance for the hem, while at the end and sides there will be a fall of ten inches. This fall or extra material is then cut into long, shallow scallops, nine inches deep in their centers. Each side of the coverlet will accommodate four scallops, while three may be made across the foot. A regulation ruffle is then gathered and basted along this scalloped edge; but in cutting this valance it should measure once and a half the length of the actual scalloped edge. It may either fall unevenly at the bottom or be cut such a length that it may be sloped evenly near the floor. On the side of the scalloped edge is less stiff and more fluffy. A coverlet of this type should be made of powdered chintz or of dotted Swiss or plain white muslin, and either of the white colors may be used over a colored spread.

When Material Ravels

ANY very loose or overcast material should be treated with more than ordinary discretion. As soon as it is cut out each section should be stitched round its edge by machine to keep it from raveling. This naturally implies the largest of stitches and the loosest possible tension. Otherwise, there will be a drawing round the edge, which will prevent the successful making up and result in greater damage than the raveling.

CROWN

THE sketch of the finished cap will give you a better idea of the design I am showing you today than any word-picture could convey. Let us do up the little parts first as pick-up work and put our final effort upon the cap piece proper and the bib. Somehow, baby's things seem all to need better work than our own; so let us spend what time we have to spare in a little real fancy work, whether the cap be for baby dear in our own home or for somebody's darling in another household. By "real" I mean actual solid or over-and-over stitch as opposed to the "rough and go" method of outlining. The only bit of hasty stitch should appear as stems, because the bowknots and leaves should be solid and the petals either solid or crested. Each blossom center may be either a French knot or a little dot of solid work. Now let us insure a more than usually reliable edge by turning under a bit of the white linen margin, basting it securely in place wherever a scallop is stamped and cutting it away after the scallops are padded and worked. This double method will insure a firmer edge, and will mean that instead of cutting away a single edge outside of the scallops there will be two thicknesses to cut away, and also that on the under side of the scallops there will be basted edges to clip off. Now let us face the bib around the neck, finish it with one row of braid stitching or a single outline and fasten it with a hook and a lace button.

Let us join the cap at its back seam

Let us join the cap at its back seam according to the notches, gather it into the round corners after working off the gathers into quarter sections for even distribution, face in the crown piece and sew on a row of braid stitching. The strings, we will hem all round (they should be eighteen inches finished) and we will fasten them to the cap with gold or silver safety pins so that they may be laundered separately, but if you have a friend's baby to consider, this little cap and bib are offered at a most opportune moment. Handwork cannot be done in a twinkling, and the days pass very quickly when fall sewing presses. Handkerchief linen is the ideal material for this little baby outfit, although pique may be used for the bib and silk for the cap.

Dresden Buckles

LITTLE slides measuring one inch by an inch and a quarter, and made to match a circle clasp or buckle, are shown for the bodice. They are meant to hold in place the loosely draped ends of soft silk chiffon or ribbon velvet adorning some of the draped princess evening or afternoon dresses. The little slides are of white enamel decorated with blue and pink Dresden flowers, and they are to be found at the hat ornament counters in the millinery departments, while their very ornate buckles and clasps, matching to a nicety, are at their regular places with other belt findings.

FIREMEN WERE GIVEN A BUSY AFTERNOON

Three Alarms Within Short Time Kept Men and Apparatus on Jump -- Automobile Damaged by Fire.

The fire department had a busy time of it yesterday afternoon and Chief Kerr and fire fighters were kept on the move.

At 2.30 o'clock fire broke out in some rubbish and bushes in the rear of Hudson White's house on Millidgeville avenue, and chemical engine No. 2 responded and averted any serious damage.

It was shortly after five o'clock when John Lindsay's house on Spar Cove road was discovered to be on fire and an alarm was sent in from box 121.

The alarm of box 121 had hardly finished and the North End department with the Salvage Corps responded, when an alarm was sent in from box 221 on the corner of Somerset and Barker streets, for a slight fire on the roof of the two and a half story wooden structure owned by Mrs. John McAllister at 32 Barker street, north of Port Howe.

The fire was on the roof in the shingles near the chimney and would have been easily extinguished with a few buckets of water if there had been ladders to get on the roof.

The damage done to the house amounts to a couple of hundred dollars, and is covered by insurance.

There was just enough pressure of water to carry a stream through the hose to the roof where the fire was, and owing to the high level there was not much force to the two streams used.

It was while the North and South End sections of the fire department were at work in the North End of the city, with only No. 1 hose and engine, No. 1 chemical engine, No. 3 engine and No. 2 engine in the southern portion of the city that a large touring car owned by P. W. Thomson caught fire on King street.

A still alarm was sent in to No. 1 chemical, but the fire in the car was extinguished without its aid. The damage to the car was considerable.

The service in connection with the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the dedication of St. Mary's church, will begin tomorrow.
