POURED HOCH INTO THE SOUP

Liquor Squad Foiled When Waitress Gave Warning Of Visit.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 23.—When Sergeant Thomas McTiernan and his liquor squad swooped down on a Kneeland street restaurant an observant and cautious waitress shouted, "John—John—John!" which the police interpreted as "John, throw the liquor in the soup."

At any rate that is what John did and John's customers have declared to the world in general that John's soup is as incomparable as it is powerful. When the officers entered the restaurant kitchen they found two bottles that they had every reason to believe contained real liquor a few minutes previous.

They smelled the bottles and said the aroma was great, but smells can't be taken into court. That also applies to hot soup. In the confusion another equally well trained waitress smuggled a full bottle of liquor out on the sidewalk. The officers confiscated it but couldn't blame it on to the restaurant proprietor.

Mother—No, dear, banana cake is too heavy for little boys. Bobbie (after several seconds of thought)—Well, I'll use both hands.

PANTHER KILLED ON SEVOGLE RIVER

These Animals Are Rarely If Ever Found in New Brunswick.

Newcastle, N. B., Nov. 23.—While superintending the work in the lumber woods on the headwaters of the Sevoogle river last week, Collingwood Fraser, foreman for William M. Sullivan, Ltd., saw a large animal which he thought was a wildcat. Procuring a rifle Mr. Fraser fired and wounded the animal, whereupon it charged him, but a second shot fired when the beast was less than five feet away from Mr. Fraser killed the animal, which on examination proved to be a panther, or cougar. Persons who say it say that it measured about four feet in length and had a tail almost as long as its body. The cougar is very rarely, if ever found in this province and how this one found its way into the heart of New Brunswick's forest is considered considerable of a mystery.

Fredericton, Nov. 23.—Uncle Henry Braithwaite, the famous guide, when shown the Newcastle dispatch telling about the shooting of a panther on Sevoogle, said that he had his doubts about the animal being a real panther. He went on to say that the only panther he ever heard of in New Brunswick existed in the mind of Prof. C. G. D. Roberts, for many years. The animal visited the professor's home at Keswick when he was a boy and he subsequently took a certain delight in writing stories about it at a fairly good price. The subject had been pretty well exhausted, Uncle Henry and the professor met one day and they both concluded that the fierce animal was nothing more than a bob cat. Uncle Henry is firmly of the opinion that there never was a panther in New Brunswick, at least not since Prof. Roberts's boyhood days.

BATHURST CO. WON APPEAL CASE

Against Workmen's Compensation Board—Some Details of Judgment.

Fredericton, Nov. 23.—The appeal division of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick in a judgment shortly before noon today, dismissed the appeal of the Workmen's compensation Board, in the case of the Bathurst Company Ltd., which contested the principle of the board's assessment under the New Brunswick Workmen's Compensation Act, with a matter of $20,000 or more involved, assessments which the Bathurst company objected to paying.

The judgment, which was read by Sir J. Douglas Hazen, Chief Justice, was prepared by Mr. Justice Chandler, who sat with the appeal division in hearing the case, which was an appeal from the judgment of Mr. Justice Grimmer, sitting in the chancery court. Sir Douglas concurred in the judgment, and, after reading it, declared the appeal was lost, Mr. Justice White dissented.

Fredericton, Nov. 23.—Regarding the judgment in the appeal court concerning the Workmen's Compensation Act, the facts are that they declined to make an estimate as required by the Act and they claimed that not submitting an estimate to the Board, the effect was to remove them from being an industry under Part 1, to being an industry under Part 2, and they would not be liable to an assessment by the Workmen's Compensation Board, but would be liable directly to their employees in case of accident.

The Compensation Board, claiming to the contrary, made their assessment and brought action to enforce payment. The question mainly was over an interpretation of the act principally over sections 57 and 61. The court found that these sections were inconsistent, if not irreconcilable, and followed section 61 rather than 57. In effect the judgment decided that if a company neglects to give the estimate and information required by the Board, that company really passes from the jurisdiction of the Board in regard to an assessment.

The ruling of the Court in the case will be of widespread interest to employers generally, the lumber interest in particular having recently voiced their protest against what they claimed were the arbitrary assessments permitted under the Act. The Court finds that the respondent company had no opportunity of being heard before the Board when the assessment was made, and that they had a right to redress before a judge at chambers; and also finds that under the circumstances of the case they had no jurisdiction over the respondent company.

A vein of anthracite coal 3 1/2 feet in depth was recently discovered at Point Chocomaud island off Lower Caraquet by Thomas Lefan of Bartibog Bridge.

Anthracite coal was discovered some years ago by a Mr. Nixon at Pokemouche on the mainland. Mr. Nixon had mined there to some extent. He sells his product at 70 cents per barrel.

If this new discovery of coal should prove to be a good quality and of any great extent it would be a strong boost for Caraquet and the surrounding district.

BOLSHEVIST PLOT IN CAPE BRETON

Capt. Noble Presents Lurid Evidence Before Royal Commission.

Sydney, N. S. Nov. 26.—Lurid documentary evidence was produced this afternoon by Captain D. A. Noble to support his declaration to the Royal Commission that the recent Cape Breton strikers so far at least as the leaders concerned were almost purely Communist and Bolshevistic in character.

Captain Noble, who is chief of the British Steel Corporation police, first gave his opinion to the commission, and then read numerous extracts from a Glace Bay labor paper, of which sixty per cent of the stock is controlled by the United Mine Workers' locals.

The documents produced were designed to show that the Cape Breton strike leaders:

- (1) Advocated the overthrow of capitalism and the present system of government.
- (2) Urged Cape Breton workmen to turn Bolshevistic.
- (3) Preached to their followers that Canadian courts are controlled by Becco and other corporations.
- (4) Were in active communication with Soviet officials at Moscow.
- (5) Attempted to seduce soldiers police from their duty to the state.
- (6) Urged the workers to seize the property of their employers.
- (7) Urged sabotage and with drawal of maintenance men during strikes.
- (8) Were personally aware of violence committed by their followers during strikes.
- (9) Planned a general strike for July and the presence of the provincial police was only a pretext for bringing out the miners.
- (10) Acknowledged the Workers Party of Canada as a Communist organization and advertised Communist literature for sale.

F. L. Hoffman, of New York said cancer is a disease of civilization due to abnormal life and bad habits, and that it is very rare among the primitive races. He estimated that 3,000,000 persons die from cancer yearly throughout the world.

AMUSING ART SWINDLES

SPECIMENS IN LOUVRE MUSEUM OF DOUBTFUL ORIGIN.
Other Great Treasure Galleries Have Been Victimized by Oliver Evans—Some of the Most Expensive Collections in the World Deceived by Swindlers.
Skillful forgers of "antiques" have victimized not only leading U. S. millionaires, but also the authorities of the Louvre Museum in Paris, by selling to them, at heavy prices, "antique" statues, which are now declared to be modern imitations.
How far the swindle has gone is a matter of dispute, but it is reported that at least thirty of the museum's specimens in the Louvre are of doubtful origin.
This is not the first time the Louvre authorities have been deceived.
Some years ago the authorities there bought for $40,000 what they imagined to be the famous crown of Saitphar. It turned out to be a modern forgery, a small strip of gold from an embossed antique coin having been welded on to it so as to give it an appearance of age.
The forger, an Odessa goldsmith named Raichonowski, was taken to Paris in 1919. It transpired that there existed a regular factory for turning out marbles and bronzes, which were afterwards sold as the work of the deceased sculptor. Amongst others victimized was the curator of the Japanese National Museum at Tokio, who spent $140,000 on spurious "Rodin" bronzes.
Dr. Bode, the curator of the Kaiser Friedrich Museum in Berlin, was similarly deceived in connection with a wax bust attributed to Leonardo Vinci.
He bought it in London for $40,000 and Berlin art lovers rejoiced in the possession of what they imagined to be a unique work of art dating from the fifteenth century. But "contestation" raised through the discovery was accidentally made that a pair of Early Victorian trousers, wrapped in a torn newspaper of the same period, had been used as a core for the bust.
British experts, indeed, are no more infallible than are those of other countries. At the famous Hamilton Palace sale, for instance, the South Kensington Museum authorities purchased no fewer than three expensive items—an eagle cup, a cardinal Wolsey chair, and a Louis XV. cabinet, all of which proved to be "fakes." Egyptian antiquaries are very cleverly forged. The British Museum once bought for a considerable sum two terra cotta figures of Isis and Anubis. Afterwards grave doubts were expressed as to their genuineness, and a careful examination showed them to be composed of modern clay.
On another occasion the same institution purchased for $150 an alleged Palmyra plate. While an attendant was handling it one of the seals at the back—attesting its genuineness—became detached, disclosing the mark of a modern French potter.
Yet another fraud of which the Louvre was the victim. Some three years ago an Italian sculptor named Bastianini made a bust for which a workman served as a model, and sold it to a dealer.
Some time afterwards the sculptor was travelling through the Louvre palace when, to his amazement, he saw the bust labelled as that of Jerome Bonaparte, an early Italian poet, with an inscription setting forth that it had been modelled from life.
It transpired that it had been purchased in all good faith for 18,000 francs by a wealthy amateur, the Count of Nieuwerkerke, who had presented it to the French national collection.
Not infrequently forgers who make a specialty of taking advantage of themselves away in quite a simple manner. Some time back, for example, there was offered to the British Museum what purported to be an ancient sword-blade of bronze, affixed to a wooden hilt.
The latter was slightly chipped, and a close investigation showed it to be made of mahogany. This, of course, was sufficient to stamp it as being of modern manufacture, since the woods of the New World were most certainly unknown in Europe during the Bronze Age.
The king of antique forgers was the one Vrain-Zoone, who sold to wealthy collectors in various parts of the world thousands of "ancient" gems and ivories, which he said he had found in an iron-bound chest in a buried city in Central America.
So actually were these turned out that they deceived even experts for a time, but eventually it transpired that he had with infinite pains and cunning made them all himself in a tiny workshop he rented in the Latin Quarter of Paris.

WONDERFUL ACHIEVEMENT OF STANDARD "SIX" OLDSMOBILE

Run From New York to Los Angeles in Twelve Days' Running Time in All Kinds of Weather.

The new six Oldsmobile has won a record for itself by the following achievements. Read this whole article as it is very interesting.

INDIANAPOLIS REACHED ON COAST-TO-COAST HIGH GEAR RUN.

Driving a stock model new Oldsmobile "Six" the largest offering of the General Motors Corporation, "Cannon-Ball" Baker, noted road driver, arrived in Indianapolis at 5:30 o'clock Wednesday evening. Baker was accorded a huge reception by thousands of Indiana folks for he is making the first transcontinental motor car run ever attempted in high gear. Prior to leaving New York City on Monday noon all the gears of his new Oldsmobile "Six" had been removed with the exception of "high" and the gear box officially sealed by newspapermen. During the trip Baker has already conquered the following mountains in the East: Polish Mountain, height 1,300 feet, a 16 per cent grade at several places during the long climb; Siding Hill, 1,100 feet high with 14 per cent grades; Green Mountain, 1,700 feet high with 16 per cent grades; Frostburg Heights at an altitude of 2,720 feet with 21 per cent grades and over the top at 24 miles per hour; Savage Mountain, 2,850 feet with 14 per cent grades at a speed of 30 miles an hour; and Kiser Mountain, the highest point in the Cumberland, 2,900 feet altitude, at a speed of 35 miles per hour at the summit. Late reports from Baker state that Uniontown Hill, one of the steepest climbs of the East, was made at a speed of 27 miles per hour, practically an unheard-of occurrence in "high." From New York to Indianapolis the gas mileage of this new Oldsmobile "six" was unofficially reported by newspaper men to be 26.7 miles for each gallon of fuel. By Thursday evening Baker intends to reach St. Louis, Mo. From there he will journey on to Kansas City, and forge ahead by the Santa Fe Trail to Los Angeles, the final goal in the first coast-to-coast run in "high."

"CANNON-BALL" BAKER MAKES GOOD START ON TRANSCONTINENTAL HIGH GEAR RUN

Leaving New York at 11:30 Monday Noon, from Columbus Circle and 59th Street, where thousands gathered to see him off, "Cannon-Ball" Baker, noted race driver, started on his way, escorted through the State of New Jersey by a cordon of New York City Motorcycle Police, driving a new Oldsmobile "Six" on a high gear transcontinental run to Los Angeles, arrived in Philadelphia Monday afternoon. While in Philadelphia a huge parade was staged in honor of Baker and his Oldsmobile "Six." The driver was greeted officially by E. J. Kendrick, Mayor-Elect of Philadelphia. After driving all night Monday the car arrived at 7:30 Tuesday morning in Uniontown, Pa. During the night the car conquered with ease the difficult Cumberland Mountains including many ascents several miles long ranging in grades from 16 to 21 per cent and crossing the tops at speeds varying from 25 to 35 miles per hour. These feats are considered unusual even under the best of conditions while Baker was forced to contend Monday night with heavy fogs that made it impossible to "take a running start" at the mountains. Before leaving New York the transmission of the New Oldsmobile "Six" was opened and all gears with the exception of "high" entirely removed. Journalists representing practically every newspaper in New York City were present and after inspection, sealed gear box and handed Baker a sealed statement to be opened when the car arrives in Los Angeles. The newspapermen also determined that the car was a standard stock model in every respect. "Cannon-Ball" left Uniontown late Tuesday night driving the balance of the Cumberland with Indianapolis his objective on Wednesday noon.

BAKER MAKES KANSAS CITY, HALFWAY POINT, SATURDAY

To hold up traffic for five minutes at Columbus Circle and Broadway in New York City is "some stunt" and things have been happening rapidly since that time for "Cannon-Ball" Baker who has in five days put half the distance between the Atlantic and Pacific behind him on the first transcontinental run in high gear. Indianapolis, 861.7 miles out of New York, was reached Wednesday evening. On Thursday evening Baker's objectives, St. Louis and the Mississippi, were gained. Running into "gumbo" caused by heavy Kansas rainstorms, Baker, with only high gear in his Oldsmobile "Six", was delayed half a day and reached Kansas City, the half way point, on Saturday afternoon. Starting on Sunday Baker takes the Santa Fe Trail on the last half of his journey to Los Angeles. His route will take him through Iowa, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and on into California. This is Baker's 62nd cross continent trip and is proving the most spectacular and is arousing the greatest public interest. This is the first time any automobile has ever been driven from coast to coast in high gear. But in addition to this "high gear" feature, wonderful gasoline economy is being obtained. With the distance covered, an average of 30.3 miles per gallon has been maintained.

OLDSMOBILE "SIX" PLOWS THROUGH AXLE-DEEP MUD AND CLIMBS OZARK MOUNTAINS.

Contrary to the report of the bulletin of Saturday, October 13th, "Cannon-Ball" Baker, did not arrive in Kansas City Saturday afternoon. Early wire flashes indicated that Baker, driving a new Oldsmobile "Six", had made Kansas City but more detailed information pointed out that he did not actually arrive in the city until six o'clock in the evening. Shortly after leaving St. Louis, Mo., at three o'clock in the morning, heavy rains set in and the famous Missouri "gumbo" mud made the roads practically impassable. Eight hours were consumed to make the last 80 miles into Kansas City, frequent delays being caused by other cars that could not get through in any gear or pull aside to let Baker by in spite of these adverse conditions, the Oldsmobile "Six", with only high gear in the transmission, plowed and dug through 336 miles of axle-deep mud, every inch of the way without aid, maintaining its wonderful record on the first transcontinental high gear run. Besides having to fight its way through deep mud the Oldsmobile "Six" was the center of attraction for thousands of the Ozark Mountains, wet and slippery with continuous rains. A heavy rain all day Sunday and today made it unwise to attempt to take the road again, even though the car had made its way through mud up to the axle on Saturday's run. Baker, accordingly, decided to stay over in Kansas City until the hardest part of the storm ceased. All during Sunday and Monday Baker's mud-bespattered Oldsmobile "Six" was the center of attraction for thousands who were, literally, "from Missouri" but were convinced when they inspected the sealed gear box and read the signed statements of official observers of the car's remarkable performance.

"CANNON-BALL" BAKER'S OLDSMOBILE "SIX" FORGES AHEAD THROUGH FLOOD DISTRICT

Held up because the roads over which he was scheduled to travel had practically dropped out of sight or had been entirely washed away by outflow rivers, "Cannon-Ball" Baker was delayed in his journey from coast-to-coast in his Oldsmobile "Six" for three days. More than three million dollars of damage was caused in that section during the past week by the worst rains and floods experienced in the past 30 years. Rather than delay longer Baker decided to give his new "Oldsmobile" the critical test of the trip, and took to the roads leading west from Kansas City, where all travel had been abandoned. The new route took Baker to Topeka rather than Ottawa, as previously planned. With only high gear in his Oldsmobile "Six", as sealed in New York at the start of the first transcontinental high gear run, Baker literally "fell into" axle deep mire as he left the pavements of Kansas City. Through a pouring rain the car plunged ahead through places where the center of the road scraped the bottom of the crank case. Huge crowds of spectators, who heard by wire that Baker had left Kansas City, were waiting in Topeka for the arrival of the car, - a feat seemingly impossible! In spite of all the handicaps encountered the gasoline average from Kansas City to Topeka was 30 miles per gallon. The road from Topeka to Hutchinson, Kansas, was reported by Baker to be entirely washed away in many spots and it is expected that a stay over in Topeka will be necessary until at least roads that are left intact after the floods are found.

OLDSMOBILE "SIX" AMAZES EVERYONE BY TRIP THROUGH PRACTICALLY IMPASSABLE KANSAS ROADS.

Still not satisfied with having travelled Missouri and Kansas roads through the section devastated by recent terrific storms and floods, "Cannon-Ball" Baker decided Friday morning to give his new Oldsmobile "Six" the supreme punishment. After plowing through axle-deep mud from St. Louis to Kansas City and on to Topeka, roads that others had abandoned, Baker set out for Hutchinson, Kansas. About mid-afternoon Friday he arrived in Hutchinson and was prevented from going further by the crowds of people who besieged him to see the car that had conquered the flood district roads and the first to make a transcontinental run with only high gear. A gasoline mileage of 28.7 miles was recorded for the 150 miles covered Friday—almost unbelievable when taking into consideration that in many places it was necessary for Baker and his companion to build "cross-overs" and repair roads over wide washouts in the highway. Baker was planning to leave Hutchinson late Friday and drive toward Dodge City in order to compensate for some of the time lost during the period of heavy floods about Kansas City. Wire flashes from Baker indicate that he expects to be able to make better time as he reaches better roads across the Colorado state line.

OLDSMOBILE "SIX" CROSSES, RATON PASS—THE HIGHEST PEAK OF ITS TRANSCONTINENTAL RUN

Leaving Kinsley, Kansas, Saturday morning, "Cannon-Ball" Baker started westward with his Oldsmobile "Six" and arrived in Garden City, Kansas, by noon. On this leg of his transcontinental trip with only high gear in the car, Baker climbed from a 1,500 foot altitude to a point more than 5,000 feet above sea level. This climb, 112 miles long, was made over a gradual grade from five to ten per cent, an angle of 15 degrees. In the afternoon, before arriving at La Junta, the road district of Colorado, before arriving through which the car battled its way over makeshift roads built over washouts. Saturday nights stay over was made at La Junta, Colorado. There Baker determined to get a good night's rest before attempting the most difficult climb of the entire journey from New York to Los Angeles. Starting Sunday morning Baker took his Oldsmobile "Six" over corduroy roads, temporary bridges and irrigation ditches down through southern Colorado through washouts and floods to Trinidad and crossed into the deserts of New Mexico, where Sunday afternoon he encountered Raton Pass, the highest point on his entire trip, 7,888 feet above sea level. In front of him rose the most difficult and hazardous test of the trip, 12 miles long with grades from 7 to 15 per cent. On top of the natural difficulties of the journey the Oldsmobile "Six" was called on to make the climb while Raton Pass was blocked by hundreds of Sunday tourists. With snowcapped peaks all about, the fierce sun that beat down on the pass caused hundreds of cars, that were using low second gears to make the climb, to boil. With only high gear the "Oldsmobile "Six" went up over the famous Raton Pass, crossing the top at 28 miles per hour. Sunday evening Baker arrived at Las Vegas, 2,234 miles from New York and nearing the end of the first high gear transcontinental run.

"CANNON-BALL" BAKER CROSSES CONTINENTAL DIVIDE—DRIVES IN NIGHT SNOW ABOVE CLOUDS

The Continental Divide, 8,300 feet above sea level, and the highest point on his transcontinental trip with an Oldsmobile "Six" having high gear, was crossed by "Cannon-Ball" Baker Tuesday afternoon on his way to Holbrook, Arizona, where he rested Tuesday night. Baker arrived in Holbrook, Arizona, Tuesday evening after covering 2952 miles of his high gear journey from the Atlantic to the Pacific—the first in automobile history. Leaving Albuquerque, New Mexico, early Tuesday morning, before noon the Oldsmobile "Six" crossed Blue Mountain, a six hour speed at the top. After lunch at Magdalena, Baker began his drive over the 50 mile approach to the Continental Divide, an altitude of 8,300 feet and the highest point on the Santa Fe Trail. Shortly after leaving Springerville, Arizona, at dark Baker met a snow storm while 6,900 feet above sea level. Through this blinding snow, the Oldsmobile "Six" pushed its way for 100 miles through moonlit drifts on a mountain road more than a mile high.

BAKER ARRIVES IN CALIFORNIA—TRIP NEAR END—TRAVELS MOJAVE DESERT.

Dropping from an altitude of more than 8,000 feet to just 400 feet above sea level, "Cannon-Ball" Baker, driving a 1924 Oldsmobile "Six" across the continent with only high gear, reached Needles, California, Wednesday evening. Leaving Holbrook, Arizona, Wednesday morning Baker dropped down to a low altitude at Winslow, Arizona. From there he began a seventy mile climb to Flagstaff, 8,000 feet in the air, over the worst rock-strewn road in the country. The last real steep climb of the transcontinental run. Arriving at Needles, just across the line in California, Baker spent Wednesday night, 3380 miles from New York City. Thursday's traveling will practically all be done in the Mojave Desert, difficult going, but should offer no hardship to the stock model Oldsmobile that has already proven its merit. Thursday night will be spent in San Bernardino, California, just a short distance from Los Angeles. Friday morning Baker will be escorted by a large delegation to Los Angeles, arriving there during noon hour. Upon his arrival Baker will present to Mayor George E. Croyer a letter given him in New York City by Alfred E. Reeves, President of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. Newspapermen of Los Angeles and San Francisco will break the seals on the transmission of Baker's Oldsmobile "Six" and examine the car to ascertain that low second reverse gears are removed the same as sealed by New York automobile editors, and that the car is identical with stock model specifications.

OLDSMOBILE SIX COMPLETES FIRST COAST-TO-COAST HIGH GEAR RUN

Los Angeles, October 26—The first car to ever cross the American Continent from Atlantic to Pacific in high gear arrived in Los Angeles Friday after driving 3380 miles. "Cannon-Ball" Baker, noted road driver, left New York City on October 8th with a new Oldsmobile "Six" after low, second and reverse gears had been removed from the transmission and the same sealed by New York newspapermen. On his transcontinental trip from New York to this city Baker encountered practically every known kind of difficulty including, steep mountains, axle-deep mud, days of rainstorms in the middle west, flood district, mountain storms with extreme cold, blinding heat and all kinds of roads. Upon arrival at San Bernardino, Baker was met by a delegation of Los Angeles representatives who escorted him to the City Hall in Los Angeles where he was greeted by Mayor George E. Croyer. Baker turned over to the Mayor of Los Angeles a letter he was carrying from Alfred Reeves, General Manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Reeves, in his letter, called attention to the progress made in the last few years in the manufacture of motor cars which has made possible such a "high gear" trip as made by Baker. Reeves also stressed upon the remarkable foresight of the various states throughout the nation in constructing improved highways. Besides being the first automobile to ever cross the continent in high gear the Oldsmobile "Six" established some remarkable economy records. Only 25 miles per gallon of fuel were used during the entire trip and the gasoline mileage was well in excess of 25 miles per gallon. Detailed information follows.

SOME THOUGHTS ON A

TIMELY SUBJECT

When Noah Webster laid the corner-stone of Amherst College, in Massachusetts, in 1821, he said the institution was founded "for educating for the gospel ministry young men in indigent circumstances, but of hopeful piety and promising talents." Times have changed. Of eighty-four men in the graduating class this year only one signified his intention of entering the ministry.

Thirty-eight have gone into business, ten or more have turned towards the study of law and others have gone to medical and business colleges. One graduate, who has literary aspirations announced at the close of the term that he would turn "holier," presumably in search of material and "local color" for literary work.

It is not surprising that business and the professions other than the ministry make a strong appeal to young men. The ministry as a rule is poorly paid. There are comparatively few churches whose pastors receive large salaries, and there are many, with a dubious work attached, where the leaders remuneration is deplorably small. A vigorous young man may perhaps be pardoned if he asks why he should choose a profession whose members—the general public completely assume—should be willing to make a sacrifice and ask no questions. Undoubtedly the man who enters the ministry is taught not to have undue regard for earthly things nor to place too much importance on material values; it is, moreover, his duty to preach that doctrine to his fellow men. But the laborer in the vineyard is worthy of his hire, and should be placed in such a financial position as would enable him not merely to live in comfort, free from dread as to the future of his family, but to meet without straining his own resources the innumerable demands upon his sympathy and help. It is a curious fact that in theory ministers and teachers are regarded—as among the most useful members of society, upon whose shoulders great burdens of responsibility are laid, and yet they are not as a rule properly paid for their splendid services. Were our country not civilised to the degree that it is or Christianised to the extent that church history shows, this failure to appreciate more fully the work of our religious and educational leaders, would be more pardonable.

As it is, existing circumstances and conditions reflect anything but credit on a people who profess liberality and who, ostensibly, are ready to 1 w pd.

champion these builders and upholders of sound society.

In Resurgence, these facts ought to interest us vitally as a people of worthy ideals and worthwhile enterprise. Not a single young man in the whole county, to our knowledge, has in recent years entered the ministry.

One young man, without thought of personal gain recently entered another branch of evangelical work but from all appearances there is not a single aspirant to ministerial or religious work of any kind.

Ministers, and teachers as well, deserve much more generous treatment.

As time goes on at least an occasional opportunity will present itself whereby church organizations, public-spirited associations of one kind or another and citizens generally may be able to do much towards bringing about a better condition of affairs. Let us see to it that every move in this direction has our hearty co-operation and continued support.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Not to be outdone—we too, have a "conjecture" to offer. It is our belief that by

"2023"

We'll have no less soup for mustached individuals and no less gum for stenographers.

An essay prepared by a Sussex

School boy and published in the Kings County Record last week, says in part:

"Sussex Amateur Athletic Association has a fine field for baseball and track events. One of its members, Andrew (Zan) Miller is champion high jumper of Canada. It's hockey team is also famous and was champion of the Maritime provinces in nineteen hundred and twenty-two.

For the past two years the Association has been holding fairs which have proved a great attraction.

All this in the little town of Sussex. While in Campbellton—no, we won't say it. You know what we mean.

EDITOR'S MAIL

The Editor of The Graphic:

Sir—In a recent statement issued by the Presbyterian Church Association the following occurs:—"Do you know that under Church Union congregations are deprived of the right of calling their ministers as under the Presbyterian system. The right of appointment rests with the Settlement Committee, which has full power in the matter. This is one of the important changes which would be put into effect under present plans for Church Union. Do you want to retain the right to call your minister."

In the "Basis of Union", on the Ministry, Section 5 there is the rule:

"Any pastoral charge, in view of a vacancy, may extend a call or invitation to any properly qualified minister or ministers, but the right of appointment shall rest with the Settlement Committee, which shall report to the Conference for information only." Comment is unnecessary.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Talmadge Adams of Tide Head last week lost two of her fingers through the accidental exploding of a dynamite cap or detonator. The little child, who was nine years old, found this about, and holding it in one hand, held a lighted match to it, with the above result. The little one was taken to the Soldiers' Memorial for treatment.

This is the second accident of this nature which has taken place in this vicinity in the past three weeks, and steps should be taken to prevent any further accidents.

Regulations for the keeping of such explosives are very plain, and any person, who through neglect allows such to lay around where children or others can procure them are liable to a heavy fine.

This matter might with profit be made the subject of a lesson for a session in all our day schools. Any teacher wishing full information on this subject can procure same by writing to Explosives Division, Dept.

of Mines, Ottawa. Ask for folder.

MEDICAL MEN PUZZLED

OVER QUEBEC GIRL'S CASE

Riviere du Loup, Nov. 17.—Local medical men are worried by the peculiar case of Miss Ida Boucher, a young lady residing in St. Alexandre, a parish near here who has been in a state of lethargy for a month, having only a few hours of consciousness each day. The young lady was visiting relatives here when she was first affected by this profound sleep. Her condition has been judged so serious that she had to be kept here. Specialists are being called in consultation.

Hornsby and Hollocher Due to

Rogers Hornsby swinging on one, and cleanup of Charlie Hollocher

By NORMAN E. BROWN

ROGERS HORNSBY and Charlie

Hollocher, National League infield stars, are booked to figure in trade this winter.

The once rumored trade of Hollocher to the Cubs has been denied by the magnate. The denial not setting the rumor at rest, the magnate then announced that they couldn't come to an agreement. Maybe not.

But if these two birds don't figure in one big deal they will move in separate ones.

There are valid reasons for figuring this. Hornsby and Hollocher have come to the parting of the ways. The Cardinals have once announced that Hornsby was not for sale—at any price. But that was when Hornsby seemed to be contented and willing before April comes.

Richie now is more than willing to talk business regarding Rogers.

Hollocher was lost to the Cubs the latter part of the season by Ill-

Dr. G. C. Malvin, Chief Health officer of the province, has returned from Moncton, where he went in connection with the recent outbreak of typhoid. KILLED TWO DEER WITH ONE BULLET
A deer-hunting story that would sound like a "fish story" if it came from a less reliable source, is brought to us by a local hunter after a trip through the woods near Balmoral. He states that his companion, a young LeBlanc of that locality shot two fine deer with a single shot. The two animals were standing side by side although a short distance apart and when the hunter fired at the nearest one both went down. The animal furthest away from the hunter, apparently attempted a hurried escape but was a moment too late as the bullet, passing through the head of the first deer, entered his body mortally wounding it.

He was a very industrious agriculturist and his descendants have followed in his footsteps. The funeral was held on Saturday and was largely attended.

BOOTLEGGERS HIRE

WOMEN AS CONVOYS

Pay Them to Ride in Limousines to Divert Suspicion, Dry Agents Say.

New York, Nov. 27.—That women are hired to ride with the drivers of limousines carrying liquor landed on the Long Island and New Jersey coasts to divert suspicion from the bootleggers, is charged at local prohibition headquarters. The seizure of two limousines with liquor aboard by State troopers in New Jersey was reported here.

In one of the cars was a young woman who admitted that she had been paid $25 to accompany the chauffeur to full completion.

The woman said she was Miss Rex Woods of Atlantic City. She was arrested with Samuel Lamps of Baltimore near Hampton. The troops reported that they found twenty-five cases of liquor in the cars.

It was alleged to have admitted that when he bought the liquor he carried in the cars he would be caught by revenue or prohibition agents on the White House steps. The bootleggers suggested that the presence of a young woman in the car could enable him to travel without attracting attention. According to the woman, Miss Woods agreed to ride with Lamps on the car.

She drove in a limousine for the Grand Jury by United States Commissioner based at Atlantic City.

Our World War veterans will have been paid their bounties.

BEFORE MY BABY CAME

I Was Greatly Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sydenham, Ont.—"I took your medicine before my baby was born, and it was a great help to me as I was very poorly until I had started to take it. I just felt as though I was tired out all the time and would have weak, faint spells. My nerves would bother me until I could get little rest, night or day. I was told by a friend to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I only took a few bottles and it helped me wonderfully. I would recommend it to any woman. I am doing what I can to recommend this good medicine. I will tell that little boy you sent me to say one I can help. You can with the greatest of pleasure use my name in regard to the Vegetable Compound if it will help others take it."—Mrs. HARRY MITCHELL, Sydenham, Ont.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many women are poorly at such times and go into a weakened, run-down condition, when it is essential to the mother, as well as the child, that her strength be kept up.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother at this time. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs. It may be taken in safety by the nursing mother.

Canned red cherries, 2 egg (whites), 1 tablespoon granulated sugar, 2 tablespoons water, ¼ cup cold water, ¼ cup boiling water, ¼ cup drained cherries, ¼ cup seedless raisins, ¼ cup cherry juice, Shredded almonds or coconuts, Whipped cream, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatine.

Drain juice from the cherries, soak the gelatine in cold water and dissolve by adding the boiling water and cherry juice and set aside to cool. When it begins to thicken beat with egg beater egg until frothy, then beat in stiffly beaten egg whites and a few grains of salt. Then add the cherries cut in halves, seedless raisins, cut in small pieces and cooked until tender and drained well, and the sugar. Turn mixture into a slightly oiled mould and chill thoroughly.

Unmold to the serving dish, garnish with whipped cream and sprinkle with shredded almonds or coconuts.

Speaking of The Liquor Traffic.
It is the duty of the church, in God's name to root it up. It is an old and well tried maxim that example is better than precept. Will you tell your children not to drink, and yet drink yourselves? Be total abstainers, and out. Be true! Who are these demanding licenses. If it be the men who drink and not get drunk —they should abstain for the good of the community.

They are often met by persons who say if you insist on prohibition, the law will be broken, men will drink. Will these people use this argument against other laws?
Because there are thefts, arson, murders, would you say abolish these laws.
Neither then, because some wicked fellow breaks the present liquor law should you urge its abolition. But others demand licenses because by prohibition you interfere with individual rights, but all law is an infringement with individual rights. The law says that you shall not steal, fight, slander or murder, because these acts are not good for the community at large. All sensible persons know that prohibition is right.
"The cry of individual rights" is a weak one. What individual has a right to vend stuff that will ruin the father, curse the mother, blast the children and send its victims to a drunkard's hell? What right has any individual to spend money for liquor that should feed his children, clothe his wife and make his home happy? There are other rights besides those which cluster around the liquor traffic. The right of the merchant whose bills are unpaid, the rights of men who, if they find liquor in a town, cannot help but get drunk, the rights of respectability and religion, uphold these and you are safe.

Douglstown, Que.

On August 26th, Ex-Pte. Andrew Kennedy, of Douglstown, P. Q. died suddenly at the D. S. C. R. Sanitarium, Ste. Agathe, Que. He was 60 years of age.

Mr. Kennedy who at the time of his death was thirty-one years of age, was well-known and highly respected on the Gaspé Coast. He joined up with the one hundred and eighty ninth Battalion in 1915, being one of the very first, if not the first man to enlist from his home town.

Later on Mr. Kennedy was transferred to the 87th Bn. Canadian Grenadier Guards, and with this regiment he served at the Front. Receiving his discharge after the Armistice, Mr.
Kennedy returned home with his health impaired. He was admitted to the D. S. C. R. Sanitarium at Ste.
Agathe, and for a time seemed to improve, but tubercular trouble developed, and in spite of all that human skill and kindness could do to save his life he passed away.

Mr. Kennedy's patriotism is deserving of high praise. By his example and influence at the time of his enlistment he did much to overcome prevailing indifference to the cause of the Empire in the Great War, and he was the means of inducing many others to fulfil their duty to their Country.

Mr. Kennedy, who was the son of the late Lawrence Kennedy, of Douglstown, was of Loyalist extraction, his family come from the Southern States to Douglstown at the time of the founding of that settlement.

To his mother, whose sole support he was, he bore to offer a true sympathy in the loneliness of her grief.

SHARED HIS TIME

WITH TWO WIVES

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Edward H. Hortman, local dealer, arrested a month ago, after his second wife discovered that there was another Mrs. Hortman, testified in Superior Court today that he had made it a practice to stay with each of his wives three days and to have Sunday to himself.

Mrs. Edith May Hortman, the second wife, was granted a divorce after her husband admitted his dual life. He agreed to pay her $3,000 alimony.

Neither of the women would prosecute after Hortman was arrested on a charge of bigamy.

Ways to Solve

The Problem of

House Ownership

To own your own home seems a normal way of starting family life.
The first question that presents itself in solving this problem, is that of expense. The man or woman who has ready idle cash need not worry, but the wage-earner, who can pay only a certain amount down and the rest on the instalment basis, should do some careful planning.

Building and loan offerings solve the problem for many, very satisfactorily. Learning to save consistently is another way of reaching the goal.
It is generally considered good business to wait until you are able to pay one-fifth in cash for house and lot, then go ahead and borrow for the building.

Location is an important point to consider for those in moderate circumstances. Property in a central and improved section may cost a trifle more at the outset, but it also is likely to improve in value and be more salable should occasion arise to dispose of it. In growing cities, it is safe to risk a little in this way on the investment.

A certain percentage of the income should be carefully set aside to pay for a home. Also should extra money become available, it is a good plan to make a sinking fund which will eventually reduce the loan and hasten independent ownership. One family bought in a growing vicinity a desirable lot, built a very simple bungalow on it and sold at a big advance.

They did this six times inside of ten years, then had money enough to build a fine large home.
They say that "three moves is as bad as a fire," yet it took six to accomplish the purpose of this family, and they did not complain when they attained their desire.

Some "don'ts" should be heeded in the selection of property else disappointment may follow. For instance, do not build too near a school, hospital building or fire houses. They all have their annoying features, which we may not realize until we live near them.

Convenient traffic facilities are a vital consideration, but cars that pass the door are at times very nerve-racking. One side of the street is desirable or undesirable on points of climatic conditions in the particular place under consideration.

A corner lot has its advantages and disadvantages. If the lot is already improved it is a safer investment than if unimproved, in which case double assessments may make improvements on the lot a costly proposition.

Rock close to the surface makes foundations more expensive unless the stone is such as can be made useful in the building. Then, too, the earth in such localities is not likely to be rich and deep for garden purposes.

It is considered advisable for husband and wife to have a double de-count in banking and to take title to the property in the same way, for this makes it easy in making payments for either to attend to it.
Should one die there need be no delay in this day in settling property, as it is generally arranged that it shall be long to the one is left.

In accepting drawn plans, one cannot be too careful, for changes are easy to make in pencil, but hard after the work is started, bringing up the cost in a most unaccountable way. To know what you want and go after it is the best method in building as in all other important affairs in life.

Heating, lighting, calculation of needed wall space between windows and doors for furniture, head-room over stairways, depth and height of closets, built-in conveniences, kitchen ventilation and plumbing, lighting of sinks and tubs, situation of fireplaces and well-constructed chimneys, quality of woodwork and floors height of ceiling—all are points of careful consideration which if neglected may spoil the home when finished. It is hard for the layman to understand the usual blue-print, but it pays to study, measure and try to never deviate from it without a dispute that may add appreciably to the bill of extras.

The cellar is an important as the rest of the house. Coal bins near the furnace, ventilation, cold storage, cannot be too careful through out to insure comfort.

master it, for the blueprint is the chart that the builder follows. He

A DOUBLE SUICIDE

Baron and Baroness Lay Dead Across

Berry An. Bas. France, Nov. 24.— Baron and Baroness Emmanuel de Montigny, shot themselves dead yes-son Pierre, who was killed here in the air flight in 1918.

The couple attended, as was their custom, the anniversary mass in the Parish church for the repose of their son's soul. They told the deputy mayor, with whom they were to lunch, that they were going to visit the grave, and when they failed to arrive at his home at the designated hour he went in search of them.

Baron and Baroness Lay dead across

Why your Back aches

If you are troubled with acute aching pains in the back—look to your kidneys. Pain in the back is one of the surest signs that these organs are becoming deranged.
Unless they are set right, you will

NAME CLEARED BY DYING STATEMENT

Embezzler Confesses Using Name of Dead Friend To Hide Own Identity.

Buenos Aires, Nov. 28.—A brief note left by an embezzling accountant when taking his own life clears the name of an innocent man, and leaves a story of assumed identity reading not unlike a fiction plot.

The suicide of Jacob M. Arnof was revealed after discovery that the local office of the United States Shipping Board of Health had been defrauded of a large sum of money through manipulation of the books. Later a confession was made public in which the suicide made known that his real name was Harry Wolfe of New Orleans. He desired, before dying, he said, to clear Arnof's name.

Wolfe declared in his confession that Arnof, who came from Arkansas, was drowned while canoeing with him here on Nov. 7, 1920. Instead of reporting the death to the police, Wolfe assumed Arnof's name and passport. He resembled his dead companion except for a scar on the face, and he completed the resemblance by making a similar scar with acid.

His plan was so successful that he was able to draw money regularly from Arnof's father without arousing suspicion. He obtained a position as the shipping board's accountant, and by systematic methods robbed the office of a total of more than $100,000 pesos.

Wolfe said he did it "by handling the books so that nobody was able to make head or tail of them." He concluded: "I am alone am guilty."

Shipping board officials and the police express the opinion that the confession is untrue in respect to the claim that the suicide's real name was Harry Wolfe.

It is the opinion that his name was Arnof.

CHARLO MAN LOSES LEG IN ACCIDENT

While engaged in thrashing grain Tuesday afternoon Thos. Poirier of Charlott, sustained an accident which necessitated the amputation of his left leg. It appears that Mr. Poirier was attempting to fix something about the thrashing machine at the time. The belt from the engine had been disengaged but the "barrel" of the thrasher was still revolving rapidly. Mr. Poirier slipped and his foot got in among the teeth of the drum which badly mangled his leg. Yesterday it was found necessary to amputate the injured member but in spite of his age, which is said to be 85 years, the unfortunate man is now reported as doing very favorably.

CULLIGAN—FITZGERALD

The Roman Catholic Church at Matapedia was the scene of a quiet wedding but one of considerable interest on November 12th, when Miss Bertha Fitzgerald of that place was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Culligan, Special Agent of the Investigation Department of the Canadian National Railways. Rev. Father St. Pierre performed the ceremony in the presence of the contracting parties. The happy couple then left on the Ocean Limited for an extended honeymoon trip to New York and other American cities. Mr. and Mrs. Culligan who will reside in Campbellton are both well known throughout this part of the country. Mrs. Culligan is a graduate nurse and prior to her marriage was for some time a valued member of the staff at the Hotel Dieu Hospital. Neither the salient qualities nor the well-known activities of Mr. Culligan require delineation. He is a familiar figure to hundreds of people throughout the province and his friends, who doubtless run into like numbers will join in wishing both he and Mrs. Culligan many happy years of wedded life.

The Tribune goes on and to deliberate falsehood, adds a shilly-shallyed remark by saying: "It

DEATH OF LITTLE GORDON CHRISTIE

Much sympathy is being expressed on all sides today for Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Christie.

Soldiers Memorial Hospital at about seven o'clock last night. Death was attributable to spinal meningitis, which developed after a nasal operation.

The little chap who was seven years and three months old was ill only a comparatively short time and the suddenness of his death will make him all the more keenly missed by a host of youthful acquaintances. Little Gordon was in his first year in school and his bright, cheerful disposition won him friends everywhere, among both young and old. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home of the little fellow's parents.

statement will be placed before the meeting and that no attempt will be made to establish an athletic association under the guise of a children's playground." As one intimately associated with the organization and objective of the above mentioned club I am in a position to state that it is not the club's intention to employ disguise of any kind in an endeavor to realize their aims. It might be suggested however, that in fairness to a worthy cause, Mr. Crockett refrain from attempting to disseminate narrow-minded personal views under the "guise" of news. As far as I can see Mr. Crockett's attitude towards the sport project is more, speaking on the team's behalf, that the feeling seemed to be that the hockeyists wished to come in under the control and support of the newly formed Athletic Association.

The matter of financing the necessary trip to Moncton was then discussed and it was decided to pass the hat. This procedure resulted in a contribution of over $45, and this was handed over to the representatives of the hockey club to defray expenses of the trip.

As the meeting was not considered a sufficiently large and representative one before which to present the aims and plans of the Athletic Club, it was decided that another mass meeting of citizens be called for Wednesday evening of next week at 8:30 o'clock. On motion it was decided that at this meeting on Wednesday evening next the executive of the Athletic Club present definite proposals of their aims and plans in regard to the promotion of sport here. ## HERE'S THE GREATEST TEAM OF THE YEAR: ROCKNE'S NOTRE DAME ELEVEN ON THE FIELD

Upper photo shows the team lined up. In the background, left to right, are: Crovley and Harry Stuhldreher, on the line are Mayl, Oberst, Riser, Vergara. Lower photo is a close-up of the four backfield stars. Left to right: Miller, right half; Layden, fullback; Crowley, left half; and Stuhldreher, quarter.

Knute Rockne's Notre Dame eleven already stands out as the greatest football team of the 1923 collegiate season. The victory of the Irish lads over both the Army and Princeton teams in eight days, alone stamped the western team as a phenomenal aggregation. Experts who have watched Rockne's eleven in action say it is the perfect football eleven.
