

JOINT BUILDING EXCITES HUMOR CITY HALL LAUGHS AT THE IDEA

It Is Taken for Granted That the County Is Only Seeking to Placate the Presiding Judge at Each Assize Court—Some Facts of the City and County Buildings.

A new joint city and county building is again to the fore, and the city council will in a short time deal with the question.

The suggestion was the outcome of a conference between the board of works and the county council committee yesterday, but there is a disposition at the city hall to treat the suggestion with levity.

It is taken as a means of delaying the repairs to the court house and jail for a considerable period—perhaps many years.

The suggestion does not mean a six months' hold exactly, but it is taken to mean that the wrath of the presiding judge at each assize court will be mollified when he is informed that the city and county are negotiating for the erection of newer and better equipped buildings.

ABOUT THE COURT HOUSE.

The present court house is valued at $88,000, of which $28,000 is for the land.

It is owned by the county of Middlesex, but the city pays a rental each year. This rental is based on certain percentages, of the cost of maintenance, etc.

Last year the city expended nearly $11,000 on the court house and the jail.

This included sheriff's fees, witness fees, maintenance of prisoners, etc.

In other words, nearly one-half mill on the tax rates was devoted to that purpose.

There is a growing sentiment in the city, and particularly among the aldermen, that the city should erect its own buildings, and maintain a suitable court house and jail.

SELL THE CITY HALL.

One suggestion is that the city should dispose of the present city hall and police court, and erect a building on a corner of the park, opposite Kent street, to provide suitable room for the clerks and staff of the building, and the result would be that the city could practically finance such an edifice out of the receipts from the present city hall and the police court building.

Provision could be made in this building for holding courts, care of prisoners, etc., and the one system of heating, ventilating, etc., could be utilized.

There is a great need of more office room at the city hall, and this building would solve the problem.

At the present time it will be necessary, in all probability before the year is out, to provide suitable room for the clerks and staff of the Niagara power plant and other engineers, etc.

"It is a big problem and will have present city hall and the police court. The suggestion of a joint building seems indefinite, and is, perhaps, a desire to put the subject over for the time being."

DOG OWNERS SHOW FIGHT PHYSICIAN WILL APPEAL NO EXCUSE LISTENED TO

Dr. H. A. Stevenson Shows That Muzzle Was Stolen From His Setter, But Acting Magistrate Beattie Simply Applied the Fine—Other Citizens Were Very Angry.

There were a couple of lively discussions at the police court this morning when citizens charged with allowing their dogs to be at large without muzzles, were fined $2.

Dr. H. A. Stevenson, after being fined, gave notice that he would appeal the case.

It was shown that his dog was at large on Sunday morning without any muzzle, and he was charged with permitting it to be so.

"I did not permit it," he said. "The dog was muzzled when I let him out. I took particular pains to see to the matter myself. He came back without a muzzle on, but that is not my fault. I have had three muzzles stolen and have taken every precaution to keep the dog muzzled. I do not think it is fair to blame me."

Sergeant Lucas and P. C. McCrae found the dog out without a muzzle, and laid the information.

Mr. W. G. Coles, of Wolfe street, also talked plainly to the court. P. C. Fysh had found his dog out recently and laid an information. Mr. Coles said someone had told the officer that his dog was out.

Mr. Fysh admitted that a complaint had been made, but stated that he had also seen the dog run out at a grocery man.

"Are you sure you have that marked paid?" asked Mr. Coles as he handed over the money.

Mr. Fysh said someone had left a street, said someone had left a gate open and his dog got out.

"Two dollars," said the court, and Mr. Coles handed Mr. Fysh a check for $2.00.

Messrs. William Butler, S. W. Mower, William Holman, Mrs. Rogers and Mr. John H. Phillips each paid $2 for allowing their dogs out without muzzles.

LOCAL BRICKLAYERS MAY ASK FOR AN INCREASE IN WAGES

Letter Has Been Sent Out Asking the Employers to Meet the Men and Arrange for a New Agreement for Five Years—Carpenters Appear Satisfied.

The bricklayers of the city have sent out a notice to the contractors, asking for a meeting with their representatives, in order that a three-year agreement may be arrived at in regard to a scale of wages.

Although nothing is specified, it is understood that an increase in wages will be asked for.

At the present time bricklayers are receiving the union standard of 45 cents an hour for an eight-hour day.

It is not known when the meeting that the bricklayers have asked for will be held or whether it will be held at all, as several of the builders seem to think that a meeting is unnecessary, and that the present scale of wages is quite high enough, considering trade conditions.

HARE! HARE! HOW ABOUT THIS? COTTON-TAIL AGAIN IN THE AIR

When Is a Rabbit Not a Rabbit? Or, When Is a Hare a Cotton-tail? These Are Questions Which Are Bothering Judge Elliott of the County Court.

Judge Elliott is now face to face with the supreme question of his life: Is a cotton-tail a hare or a rabbit? The question after being thoroughly threshed out in the police court some time ago, bobbed up again serenely in the first division court this morning.

The lawyers in the case were well primed. Not for nothing have they been digging down into "Wild Animals I Have Known" and similar imaginative literature in working up the pro and con of the case in which Mr. Samuel Turner, a game inspector, is bringing an action against Mr. F. S. Onn for selling the aforesaid cotton-tail hare or rabbit.

The police magistrate some time ago decided that a cotton-tail was a hare.

MANY FRIENDS ASK FOR POLICE MAGISTRATE

Mr. Frances Love is Reported Today to Be Somewhat Improved.

Magistrate Love was still so ill that he was unable to officiate at the police court this morning.

Beatle dealt out justice. Mr. Love is slightly better today, but it is stated that he will be some time before he will be well enough to be out again.

Despite his position, in which he is compelled to deal out justice to all irrespective of acquaintance or friendship, he has hosts of friends who are inquiring for him at the police station, all expressing the hope that he will soon be around again.

Mr. P. M. Love.

Three Hebrews, who were journeying to the city last night on a Huron and Bruce train, had a little adventure which cost them more than they expected.

The three got on the train at a northern town, and each carried a bag, which from sundry sounds that were heard contained chickens. The men put the bags under the seats. Then the trouble began.

A commercial traveller, bent on mischief, took out his knife, and reaching down, cut a hole in the bag. Out popped the head of a fine rooster. The knife was again brought into play, and the slit enlarged.

A moment later the fowl was out in the aisle, running about, and a few seconds later another chicken was also loose from the same bag.

A Chicken Run.

The Hebrews "got wise," and then followed a chase that convulsed those who were in the car. Excited chickens flew squawking in all directions, chased by Hebrews, who were even more excited. It was nearly ten minutes before the chickens were all captured.

The Hebrews accused the traveller of liberating the birds.

The traveller called the brakeman and said he wanted to pay for a chicken car, and demanded that the bidders be removed.

Express Charges.

The brakeman decided that the traveller was right, and took the chickens to the express car. There were three bags, and when the Hebrews went to get them at London they were informed that they would have to pay 35 cents for each bag. They expostulated in vain, and finally they paid over the $1.05, and left.

COBALT LAKE COMPANY CAN REDUCE CAPITAL.

Private Bills Committee Gives Permission Under Certain Conditions.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, Ont. March 11.—By a vote of 13 to 11 the private bills committee of the Legislature today gave the Cobalt Lake Mining Company power to reduce its capital stock from $5,000,000 to $3,500,000, and to buy back its own shares, on condition that the shares be purchased only on the open market, and after two-thirds of the shareholders had voted in favor of the proposal.

There was a lengthy discussion over the proposition.

Mr. A. E. Frapp (Ottawa) said the company could "bear" the market, and the price of the stock would go up so far that the shareholders would be forced to sell. It was on the chairman's suggestion that the three-fifths clause was inserted.

Mr. McGregor Young, who appeared in support of the bill, said the company would be able to pay dividends if the proposal carried.

LOCAL MEN TO CONTRIBUTE FOR PHILADELPHIA STRIKE

If Appeal Comes From Federation of Labor It Will Not Likely Be Denied—London Men in Past Have Put Up Money To Assist in Battle Against Steel Kings.

A dispatch from Toronto states that Toronto trades unions will be asked to contribute financially to the Philadelphia strike, and will also be asked for an opinion of a general sympathetic strike of employees throughout Canada and the United States, which would involve 3,500,000 men.

President Archer of the London Trades and Labor Council stated to the Advertiser that as yet no official communication had been received regarding the matter.

If such an appeal comes it would come from the American Federation of Labor, and London members of the unions may contribute toward the strike fund.

No General Strike.

Mr. Archer pointed out that London unionists have in the past contributed toward the strike fund in the fight against the steel magnates.

"Regarding a general strike involving union men throughout the country, I think such a course improbable," he stated. "It might, of course, possibly happen, but I do not think it will."

The board will likely cut off a portion of the charge for meters.

At the present time the board are not all in favor of the water-saving devices, and there is no doubt that this year will witness the installation of few meters in dwelling houses.

It may be possible that the surplus may reach $70,000, or perhaps more, giving the council a fine lift towards their tax rate.

In actual money, the surplus will be over $38,000. The remainder is made up of water charges, which are not collected from the council.

The estimates of the waterworks board will be considered at a meeting tomorrow afternoon, and will then be submitted to the council.

It has been learned unofficially that the surplus for the year is estimated at $44,000. This is an increase of about $5,000 over what was received last year.

Two items of expenditure will attract considerable attention.

One is for $10,000 for main extension and the other is $10,000 for meters and hydrants.

The main extension will not be undertaken until such a time as a complete report on the requirements of the city in the way of new meters is prepared.

Mains Extension.

The commissioners will adopt a system along which they will constantly work. The ratepayers have voted down bylaws, although more and bigger mains are a necessity.

ASK BUSINESSMEN TO PAY FOR UNDERGROUND WIRE SYSTEM

City May Do This in Order to Improve the Appearance of Main Throughfares by Doing Away With Niagara Power Poles—The Scheme in Detail.

The businessmen of the downtown districts will be asked to pay for part of the Niagara power underground system, if the plans of the water commissioners are carried out.

Some time ago the commissioners thought it would be an easy matter to string the wires in the downtown districts at the rear of stores and across private property.

This scheme was gone into, and it was found that there were so many disadvantages that it had to be abandoned, and will in no case be considered.

It then developed that there were only two plans—overhead wires and underground.

Iron Poles Dangerous.

The poles would have to be of timber, as iron poles—ornamental ones were suggested—are extremely dangerous to string wires on, and would be a positive menace to the employees of the city.

This poles system would be expensive, and the difference between an overhead and an underground system would not be so great, especially in view of the fact that new pavements will have to be laid on Dundas and Richmond streets. In any case, the flags would have to be taken up in a short time and new walks laid.

The commissioners are of the opinion that the property owners downtown could well afford to pay the difference in the cost.

Cost of Poles.

The city would contribute the cost of poles towards the project, and the difference could be obtained from the property owners by the same method as the frontage tax for local improvements.

The payments could be spread over a period of 10 or 15 years, and the annual charges would be a mere bagatelle.

"I think the advantage of the scheme would appeal to the businessman," said one of the commissioners to The Advertiser. "He would be saved the unsightly poles. A better and more efficient system of lighting the streets could be utilized. The danger to his property in case of fire would be reduced considerably. High tension wires are extremely dangerous to the firemen, and would prevent them from doing their very best work."

Difference in Cost.

"I am convinced that the difference in cost would not amount to more than one dollar or perhaps $2 per annum to the property owner."

A canvass of the owners of property on the street will be made very shortly. Some of the businessmen have been approached on the subject, and they declare that they would be willing to bear that portion of the expense in order to assist in beautifying the city.

ABOLISH THE PEAK LOAD NEW SCHEME TO BE ADOPTED

Hydro-Electric Commission Will Seek to Evolve a Plan Where by Fears of Street Railway and Traction Company Will Be Allayed—Power Prices Report Shortly.

A statement of the cost of Niagara power to the London Street Railway, and the Southwestern Traction Company, is being prepared.

Some time ago, both companies were given an estimate of the cost of power on the peak load basis. The rate, it is understood, was about $35.

The rate was found at once with the peak load. This was, and as a matter of fact still is, the bete noir of the companies, and they did not look with any favor on the suggestion.

As a result, it is said that the hydro-electric commission are preparing a new scheme, and that will be submitted to the companies at an early date.

Cut Out Peak Load.

The idea will be to do away with the companies' "fears" of the peak load, and will mean that the city will have a considerable amount of power disposed of.

Both lines need more power. The London street railway are in great need of power, as it was quite impossible to operate their lines of late, owing to the lack of sufficient power.

It is expected that the report on the price of power to these companies will be received very shortly.

EXPROPRIATION OF THE ROAD MAY FOLLOW ALBERTA CRISIS

The Head of the Great Waterways Company May Ask Dominion Intervention—Lieut.-Governor Asks Rutherford to Resign.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Edmonton, March 10.—That President Clarke of the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway fears the expropriation of his road owing to the disclosures made in the Legislature, is believed to be the reason of his visit to Chicago early this week.

Conference at Chicago.

Clarke is staying in Chicago at present and conducting his business from that point. On Wednesday he met Mr. Featherston Aylesworth, son of the Federal Minister of Justice, and himself a member of a very prominent law firm in Toronto. The meeting was private, not to say secret, but it is believed that the purpose of the conference was to engage Mr. Aylesworth's firm to contest any expropriation or other legal proceedings on constitutional grounds, and to secure, if possible, the intervention of the Dominion Government.

Premier Rutherford denies all knowledge of Clarke and his whereabouts or plans.

Asked to Resign.

It is understood that the Lieutenant-Governor has requested Rutherford to resign. The Premier spent fifteen minutes at a caucus, but he and all other members refused to be interviewed.

M. W. Hopkins, whom Hon. Mr. Cushing charged that Attorney-General Cross had sent to him for $12,000 for election funds, left the city Saturday. It is believed that he has gone to Vegreville.

It is stated today in good authority that Clarke had for some time a million dollars' credit at the Royal Bank for the construction of a portion of the railroad. Upon the formation of a new government it is planned to hold a most searching judicial inquiry to investigate the entire negotiations with the Waterways Railway and dealings with regard to the bonds. A commission will be formed with very extensive powers.

AN UNCONFIRMED RUMOR SAYS MORGAN IS DEAD

Death of the Great American Financier Was Reported in Old London.

[Associated Press.]

New York, March 11.—An unconfirmed rumor is in circulation in London that J. Pierpont Morgan died suddenly at Florence. Urgent measures have been adopted to ascertain the facts.

The firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., in New York, said this morning that according to messages received by them last night Mr. Morgan was in the best of health and at Rome.

WORTHLESS CHECKS PASSED IN ST. THOMAS

Local Police Have Been Notified To Be on Lookout for Party.

The local police have been notified that a man representing himself to be a Michigan Central brakeman passed several worthless checks on merchants in St. Thomas yesterday, and the authorities are keeping an eye open for the individual here.

FAITHFUL SERVICE WINS NICE LEGACY

Hamilton Man Leaves Five Thousand Dollars to His Stenographer.

[G. N. W. Dispatch.]

Hamilton, March 11.—Eli Van Allen, the late beach commissioner, left an estate valued at $14,372. The principal items are $37,203 in bank stocks, and $21,000 cash in banks. His widow receives the income from the estate until the daughter Alma reaches the age of 25 years or marries, after which Mrs. Van Allen receives half the income. Miss Alma Van Allen receives $500 per year until she marries, after which half of the income of the estate is hers. Edward, a son, is also remembered handsomely. Mary Hester Carroll, a stenographer in Mr. Van Allen's office, was left $5,000 for faithful services.

STEAMERS ARRIVED.

ASTHMA AND CATARRH CURED

"My husband was cured of asthma and catarrh, and I was cured after my doctor gave me up by using Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as our only medicine."

MR. AND MRS. H. R. SAUNDERS.

This is what Mrs. Saunders writes after both her husband and herself had been cured: "My husband has suffered from asthma and catarrh for years, but by the use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as his only medicine he has found great relief. As for myself, I was given up by my family doctor 11 years ago, but I heard of your medicine and began taking it. By the time I had taken two bottles I was able to walk out alone."

"I have recommended Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey to many people since it did so much for my husband and for me. Since I wrote you before I have bought a bottle for my sister-in-law; she is nearly worn out, and the doctor told her she has Diabetes, but Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is doing her much good."—Mrs. H. R. Saunders, 959 W. Main street, Galesburg, Ill.

Ministers of the gospel, doctors of medicine, nurses and people everywhere unite in commending Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey—the only perfect tonic stimulant, the one true medicinal whiskey.

DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY

Is one of the greatest strength-builders and tonic stimulants known to medicine. It attacks the seat of the disease, drives out the germs and assists in rebuilding the weakened tissues in a gradual, healthy natural manner. It is a wonderful remedy in the prevention and cure of consumption, pneumonia, grippe, bronchitis, coughs, colds, asthma, malaria, low fevers and all wasting, weakening conditions, if taken as directed.

It is invaluable for overworked men, delicate women and sickly children. It strengthens and sustains the system, is a promoter of health and longevity, makes the old feel young, and keeps the young strong. It is prescribed by doctors, and is recognized as a family medicine everywhere.

CAUTION.—Demand Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It is sold in SEALED BOTTLES ONLY, by all reliable druggists, grocers, or direct, $1.25 a large bottle. Look for the trade mark, "The Old Chemist," on the label, and be sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. CLEAN STREETS BY DAY LABOR Board of Works Falls in With the Suggestion of Engineer Graydon.

MAY SUE ST. RAILWAY

City Is Likely to Take Drastic Action to Collect Account for Removing Snow From Streets.

The street cleaning will be done by day labor this year.

At the regular meeting of the board of works held last night, City Engineer Graydon recommended that all the street cleaning be done in this manner, and the committee accepted the suggestion.

"The city has made a good saving in sewers and street watering by this method," said City Engineer Graydon. "I am convinced that we can save money by doing street cleaning ourselves. It would not be a bad idea to experiment one year, in any event."

The members of the committee decided to work out the idea could be worked out satisfactorily, and on motion of Ald. Saunders, the work will be done by day labor.

Mr. Graydon reported that the steam roller was out of repair, and also advised the purchase of a new one. Tenders will be called for repairs, and the matter of a new roller was left over until the estimates are considered.

Mr. G. Topping applied for the privilege of routing the city farm for pasture at $100 a year. The offer was accepted, provided he keep the fences in repair.

A Parks Superintendent.

The question of naming a parks superintendent was laid over until the next meeting.

It was thought better to leave the matter in abeyance until that time, and then a selection from the numerous applications will be made.

It was decided to ask the London Lumber Company to furnish 12,000 ft. of lumber for the Wellington street bridge and call for tenders for 16-foot lumber for the other bridges.

Knott & Sangster complained of the sewer charge on a house on Colborne street. City Engineer Graydon will visit the place and give a report.

The Canadian Cement Association asked for the privilege of stringing a couple of banners across the street during the convention. Granted on the usual terms.

City Solicitor Meredith reported that he had received the claim of Rebecca Ferguson for injuries due to falling on a walk, and advised that all the evidence be secured. City Engineer Graydon reported that this had been done.

Chipman's Report.

The report of Mr. Willis Chipman on the sewer system of the city was laid over until the next meeting.

"The report is a very long one, and we should have a copy of it in order to understand what he suggests," said Ald. Saunders.

The members of the committee will be supplied with copies.

The account against the London street railway of $383.70 for cleaning snow away, and $67 for brick crossings, was sent to the council with the recommendation that the company be given one week in which to pay it.

"We should collect that money at once," said Ald. Morgan. "We should give them a week and be done."

May Sue Street Railway.

If the recommendation of the committee is adopted by the council Mr. Meredith will be instructed to take steps to collect if the company does not send in the money after one week.

Mayor Beattie added the suggestion that the river be dredged by a roller scraper. A petition for a sidewalk on west Richmond street, between Victoria and Cheapside streets, was sufficiently signed, and on motion of Ald. Saunders will take the usual course.

Those present were Ald. Tancock, chairman, Ald. Saunders, Ald. Pocock, Ald. Morgan, Mayor Beattie, City Engineer Graydon and Secretary Wright.

THE BLACK CHAPTER ADOPTS PLATFORM

St. Catharines, March 11.—The Provincial Black Chapter of Ontario West, in session here yesterday afternoon, adopted a platform providing for the indorsement of candidates for positions of public office who will support the furtherance of Protestant principles, and support to the British crown, the English language as the only official language in Canada, and its compulsory teaching in all schools receiving public money.

The platform is strongly opposed to any legislation furthering the interests of any language save the English and any special privilege sought by any body, class, creed, race or religion. It also urges supervision over all immigrants by both provincial and Dominion Governments.

The Provincial Grand Chapter also adopted a resolution disapproving of the proposed introduction of the French language to be taught in any public school or school receiving aid from the public treasury, and authorizing the appointment of a deputation to wait upon Premier Whitney and Hon. Dr. Pyne, minister of education, to present this resolution and urge the sentiments expressed therein.

MEDICAL JOURNAL

ON RABIES SCARE

Says There Is Not One Case of Hydrophobia in Ten Thousand.

GOOD WORD FOR DOGS

Some Advice Regarding What to Do in Case of Being Bitten—Article Published Two Years Ago.

RABID RHYMES.

A pup there was who a cream-puff ate, As an innocent pup may do, But the cream was foamy and sealed his fate. For he got it all over his silly pate, So they said he was mad, and this mortal state That pup no longer knew.

And there was a dog that an old maid fed, Till it tried to climb a tree, So immediately all the wise ones said, That the dog was mad, and it should be dead.

And off to an expert they sent its head, The microbes for to see.

There was also a dog who was getting old, And whose nerves were somewhat bad, When a playful gent on its ear took hold, It nipped him quick where his coat tails fold.

And the rest of the story is easily told, For, of course, the dog was mad.

Another dog had a yellow hide, Which made the "cop" on the beat de- cide, That the dog was mad—or appearances lied.

A new six-shooter he therefore tried, And that dog ceased to be.

There were dogs and dogs, some good, some bad, Of high degree and low; They were sane enough, but the neighbors were mad, And a mighty shout shrill those poor canines had, They were sent with a promptitude more than sad, To the place where all doggies go.

Now, I'm not a prig, but I want to say, If a choice I had to face, When dogs and humans on Judgment Day Are pleading their cases as best they may, I'd rather join the mad-dog array.

—P. O. D. in Toronto "Saturday Night."

"There has been so much said about the dangers of hydrophobia, and many people have expressed their views on the subject, that people are beginning to be stampeded into a fear for which there is no justification," said a citizen to The Advertiser, to-day.

"Granted the seriousness of the malady, and the danger of the present epidemic, there is also a danger of over-accidenting the matter, and as everyone knows, the mental state is one of the most fruitful agents of fostering any epidemic. This over-emphasis, instituted in the first instance to instill caution, may result very seriously in the endangering of a wholly needless panic."

"At present such a panic is merely exhibiting itself in a campaign against dogs in general, a campaign which every lover of dogs must deprecate, for the wholly needless instances of human brutality and carelessness that have resulted from it, and there is a great feeling among the public in general that the time has come for someone to state the case for the dog."

Fear Causes Hydrophobia.

In issue of the Columbus Medical Journal of June, 1906, a long time before the outbreak of the rabies scare, it is editorially stated that fear is one of the prolific causes of evil results from dog bites.

"There can be no doubt that fear is a frequent cause of hydrophobia. The health boards are filling the country with scares concerning mad dogs, and hydrophobia. No wonder some people die of fear, while others are bitten."

The writer goes on to instance a number of such cases. There was the case of two brothers who were bitten by the same dog. One remained in France, developed rabies, and died within a few days. The other went to Holland, knowing nothing of his brother's death, and lived there ten years, after which time he returned to France, where he was bitten by his brother's death by hydrophobia. At once he was stricken with fear, and within a few days was taken ill with the disease and died.

This is a pronounced case, and such instances may be somewhat rare, but despite the fact the influence of unreasoning terror must be reckoned with in connection with such an outbreak.

Don't Kill the Dog.

Dr. Victor Keen, of the Indianapolis Pasture Institute, writing in the same journal, outlines certain preventive measures, that would save persons who happen to be bitten by a dog, even a perfectly well dog, from wholly needless worry.

"If possible," writes the doctor, "do not allow the dog to be killed. Keep it under close observation for several days, as if the dog has bitten the child because it was rabid, it will surely die in a few days, and the diagnosis will thus be clearly attained."

"This is very good advice," comments the editor, "for it will generally relieve the patient of the fear of hydrophobia. Not one dog in ten thousand that bites people is mad. The suspicion of mad dog arises after the exciting has occurred, so that if the dog is kept and found to be well for a week or so, the patient can be sure that he is in no danger."

"As for chopping off the dog's head and sending it to some laboratory for examination, the diagnosis of rabies is almost sure to result."

Girls With Bad Complexions

The skin should really be so soft and transparent that the blood in the vessels beneath can impart to it the pale, rosy tint which is the ideal "bloom" of health.

Often, however, the skin becomes coarse and rough, and its cells filled with various impurities, which should be thrown off. This results in blemishes, spots, sallowness, etc.

Girls who are troubled in this way will find Zant-Bak a perfect skin food. Squeeze it lightly over the spots, the eruptions, the sallowness, at night, and notice how quickly your complexion improves.

As the rich, refined, essential oils sink deep into the tissue, the hard, scurf-like patches are removed.

The cells beneath are stimulated to healthy operation. The pores regulate their work properly, and a good complexion results. Isn't this better than attempting the impossible task of improving your complexion from the outside?

Advance Showing of Millinery

While our formal opening will not take place for a few days, yet there is a sort of informal reception going on these days in our millinery parlor. All the hats which have been prepared are on display, and those who would like to have a quiet look through to acquaint themselves with the styles before the big event, a peep before the curtain rises, you may spy just the hat you want. You may have it, too, if you wish, and your hat will not be seen at the opening.

Have You Been Waiting for Black Raw Silk?

The extraordinary demand for raw silk this season has quickly cleared all shipments so far received in a few days. They are gone. We have just passed into stock another shipment of our famous "HONAN" Raw Silk, which has proven so satisfactory after three seasons' constant selling. A very firm weave, that does not slip; fast French dye; correct weight for summer suits and dresses; 34 inches. At per yard $1.00

Also in colors. A range of 20 beautiful colors at same price. Samples mailed on request to out-of-town customers.

Black Silk Cashmere

"BONNET'S," 44 inches, very firm and extra heavy quality. A black dress fabric of the highest order from Paris, which at once attracts your attention by its richness of finish and gorgeous black. It is perfectly adapted to the 1910 style of dresses. Its excellent wearing qualities recommend it, as well as the fact that black dressy gowns are at present in high favor. Price, per yard $2.50

AT SILK COUNTER—FIRST AISLE WEST OF MAIN.

INSIST ON SKINNER'S for the lining of your new spring suit. We have other satins, but we prefer and recommend Skinner's because it is guaranteed for two seasons' wear. We guarantee it. Black, cream and colors; 27 inches. Price, per yard $1.25

It's Spring in Our Clothing Store

Not a sign of winter in our entire Clothing Section. It's spring. The robin has returned, and no matter if we do have a rough day or two, it's spring in our Clothing Department from now on. The new goods are here—our first showing of spring clothing for boys and men. Everything new. Not a last year's garment to be found in our stock. What an advantage to have the pick from the best made in Canada (and better clothing is not made anywhere else) to choose from. We invite your inspection.

New Spring Overcoats for Men

Classy garments these, in black and dark gray, with or without silk facings; also the English herringbone tweeds in light gray, made up in 42, 45 and 47 inch lengths to fit any sized man from 34 to 46 chest. They are correct in style, and our prices are right. This we can demonstrate to any man who is looking for a new spring coat. LET US SHOW YOU. Prices $10, $12, $15 to $20

Men's New Scotch Tweed and English Worsted Suits

These are the correct thing for spring, 1910. Three-button sack, with the new rounded lapels and fronts; stylish, plain-tailored suits that are appreciated by men who have a taste for good clothes; in sizes 33 to 46. Prices ranging from, a suit $12, $15 to $20

WATCH THE COMET

Get Your Glasses and You Can See the Halley Wonder.

[Associated Press.]

Cambridge, Mass., March 10. — Halley's comet may now be seen on nights when conditions are favorable, with the glass. The most favorable time to look for it is between 6:30 and 7:30 p. m., with the glass elevated somewhere above where the sun sets. The Harvard Observatory focussed nightly on their big telescopes, and some interesting photographs of its development are being made.

Professor E. C. Pickering, director of the Harvard Observatory says: "The comet is at present in the twilight region. It is in the line of the sun and its brightness is dimmed by the lustre of the great centre of the breaking into M. F. Rittenhouse's solar system. Besides it has not yet attained its maximum brilliancy. That through April, but at its brightest in May.

"About that time, if clouds do not obscure it, it will be a dazzling sight. About a third of the heavens will be colored with a fiery gold. Its great flashes of light will play from one part of the heavens to another, and the sight will be remembered for generations. Halley's comet has been noted for its brilliant displays."

LONDON, FRIDAY, MARCH 11.

THE NAVY VOTE.

The navy bill passed its second reading in the House of Commons yesterday by a majority of 41. The unanimity in the Government ranks contrasted with the defections from the Opposition when Mr. Borden's proposal was voted upon the day before.

The Opposition gained nothing in parliament by its sudden change of front. What does it expect to gain in the country? How is it to be compensated for playing fast and loose with this great question? It has allowed itself to be led by the nose by the Roblin-Rogers machine, and by a flock of coterie in Toronto, which identifies imperialism with anti-Canadianism.

Mr. Borden and Mr. Foster started the Conservative party on the right path, but they relinquished the command to blundering strategists who thought only of party advantage. They attempted to out-manoeuvre the Government by a flank movement, but have merely landed the party in a quagmire.

THE ALBERTA CABINET CRISIS.

Premier Rutherford, of Alberta, has been forced to resign, and has resigned. Only two of his cabinet colleagues stood by him—Mr. Marshall, minister of agriculture, and Mr. Lessard, minister without portfolio.

The Government has been wrecked by a railway contract. It guaranteed the bonds of the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway Company, to the extent of $20,000 per mile for 350 miles, the line to run from Edmonton to Athabasca Landing. These bonds, bearing 5 per cent interest, were sold at par to Morgan & Co., of New York, and it is reported that they were resold at 110, an advance of $750,000.

Mr. Rutherford found the prime minister's seat in Alberta a hard one, but it now has a cushion.

The mischief-makers raised nothing more than a tempest against what they called the timor navy.

Professor Goldwin Smith, who recently broke his hip, is on the road to complete recovery. His physical constitution is as elastic as his mental make-up.

Germany is Great Britain's best customer, next to India. Great Britain is Germany's best customer, without exception. A war would not only be murderous, but suicidal.

An American yellow journal printed a story some weeks ago to the effect that Mrs. Asquith's eccentricities were driving her husband to "an increasing quest of stimulation." The tale is reappearing in some newspapers in this country. Better leave that sort of thing to the Hearst band of journalists.

UNCLE SAM'S RESPONSIBILITY.

If the United States imposes the maximum tariff on Canadian products, the Canadian Government has power, under the customs act, to retaliate by increasing the duty on American goods by 25 per cent. The imposition of the maximum tariff on Canadian goods and the counter-imposition of the tariff on American goods would constitute a very serious state of tariff war, which would have consequences not to be lightly faced, the responsibility for this would rest entirely upon the United States Government at Washington.

THE BIG STICK NOT WANTED.

It may be well for the premier to have the power to control legislation, especially when his Government will be held to account for it, but the members must be treated like men in place of serfs. Now party loyalty does not involve an absolute surrender of one's independence. The member may be willing to act under advice, and realize that in the multitude there is wisdom, but he cannot be coerced or clubbed into submission, and the Government of Ontario will discover this some of these days.

SILENCE NOT ALWAYS BRAVE.

Newspapers and people who gave interviews to newspapers may properly be required to show due regard for the rights of others, but there are times when silence is cowardice, and when to hide the truth for fear of a libel action would be a sacrifice of manhood. And that is precisely the sacrifice some people seem to think can be exacted by the frequent flourish of the clubs of the law.

BREAKING IT GENTLY.

Simpkins always was soft-hearted, and when it devolved upon him to break gently the news of Jones' drowning to the bereaved Mrs. Jones it cost him much paper, ink and perspiration before he sent the following:

"Dear Mrs. Jones—Your husband can't come home today, because his bathing suit was washed away in the surf."

"P. S.—Poor Jones was inside the suit."

that to the south of the international boundary line there is a steady demand for labor and opportunities of the best.

The objects of the league are patriotic, but the promoters assume that their countrymen are deficient in the sense of self-interest. This is not a defect ascribed to the average American. Those who are flocking into Canada are not ignorant of what their own country offers them. They must have viewed the matter from every standpoint. The majority of them have had indisputable testimony in Canada's favor from friends and former neighbors who have preceded them in the great trek. Instead of being checked, the movement to Canada will probably assume larger proportions and continue undiminished for some years.

CANADA AND THE STATES.

The Chicago Journal fears a disastrous tariff war between Canada and the United States, to the great loss of both nations, and for the sole benefit of the tariff barons of the Eastern States. At the same time, the Journal has a true appreciation of Canada's position. It says:

"Canada is not the least inclined to bow to the dictates of our republican grand dukes. Canadians refuse to be bulldozed into surrendering to a policy of one-sided and bone-headed. And who can blame them?"

"The Aldrich tariff emissaries are back in Washington, bearing the polite but firm message that Canada feels quite able to look after her own tariff affairs, that the Dominion Government does not propose to interfere with provincial regulations concerning natural resources, and that suggestions from Washington are not desired."

"Canada has not forgotten how her delegates, asking a lower tariff at Washington, were snubbed ten years ago. There is no likelihood that she will make any tariff concessions at this later date to please Aldrich & Co."

"It remains to be seen whether the tariff administration will back down from its high-and-mighty position on the maximum schedule or declare trade war, which, once Canada takes the lead, is likely to bring united opposition from many other countries."

"The Chicago Journal does full justice to the Canadian point of view, but has less faith in the good sense of President Taft than we in Canada hold. We do not believe he will rule that Canada unfairly discriminates against the United States, in view of the difference in height between the two tariff walls, and of the great and growing volume of United States sales to this country."

The Ottawa Opposition is more than ever at sea on the navy question.

Premier Rutherford feels that he has been given the double-cross.

Poor Penny! A congressional committee insinuates that his story is also cooked.

ABSURD DIVORCE LAWS.

[Philadelphia Inquirer.]
Mrs. Ava Willing Astor has been granted a divorce from her husband, John Jacob Astor, Col. Astor is denied the privilege of marrying again. How absurd that is. According to the laws of New York he cannot take himself another wife. But according to the laws of New Jersey he can cross the Hudson in a ferryboat and marry to his heart's content in Jersey City or Hoboken, return to New York and live happily ever after, and his marriage will be quite legal. This is the sort of thing that brings into disrepute the law system of this country.

What is illegal in society of most men is legal in the matter of divorce. Lead in another. Thus divorce laws have become a roaring farce as well as a positive disgrace. The remedy lies in uniform legislation. Either that either the states must have uniform statutes regulating marriage and divorce—or there must be a constitutional amendment granting power to Congress to act.

SOME DAY.

Arraignment.

Winipeg, March 10.—It is doubtful if ever in the history of a Canadian legislature such a radical change of character was made on the floor of the House direct against a minister as were made today by the Liberal Opposition against Attorney-General Campbell in the Manitoba House. Case after case was cited and proven by the production of documentary evidence where political opponents of the Government had been subjected to persecution and had been harassed by the Attorney-General. These charges culminated in a motion for a vote of censure upon him. When replying, he never made on direct contradiction, nor dispute, but one charge, that every charge remained unanswered and proven to the hilt. The Attorney-General had been convicted of being utterly unfit for the office he occupied. The vote was against any censure by 22 to 11.

CLARKE AND WHITNEY

CLASH OVER ASSESSMENT

Centre Bruce Man Wants Exemptions Up To $900 in Towns and Villages.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, March 11.—Col. Hugh Clark, M. P. for Centre Bruce, ran foul of his honored leader, Sir James Whitney, in the Legislature yesterday, when the colonel essayed to introduce an amendment to a clause of the bill amending the assessment act.

Sir James protested against going back to the clause in question after it had been passed by the committee, but Col. Clark stuck to his guns like a good soldier and introduced the amendment, only, however, to see it defeated.

The assessment act amendment bill was the chief subject of discussion in the Legislature yesterday afternoon, when the clause which received most attention being those dealing with the taxing of educational institutions, run for commercial gain, and the exemption of income assessment.

A Milk Measure.

Hon. Mr. Duff introduced, in blank, a Government bill based on the recommendations of the milk commission, which gave all municipalities the power to inspect the sources of all milk supply, whether in or out of the municipality. The bill provides that a cleanly, suitable and sanitary place must be provided for all cows giving milk.

Fires in Hotels.

Mr. Hearst (St. Catharines), moved the second reading of his bill to amend the law preventing accidents from fires in hotels and other buildings. The bill provides that where a guest or inmate is burned to death, and it develops that the hotel-keeper has failed to comply with the provisions of the act, the onus of disproving negligence shall be upon the hotel-keeper.

The bill was given its second reading after the Hon. Mr. Hanna had stated that it would not interfere with several cases of the kind not the subject of litigation.

In the absence of Mr. Fripp (West Ontario), Hon. Mr. Hanna moved the second reading of the bill to amend all local option municipalities to provide accommodation for the travelling public. The bill went to the committee.

The Assessment Act.

The assessment bill was taken up and passed through committee. The clause, which excited considerable discussion, was the providing for a business tax on colleges run as commercial institutions, and not as philanthropic, religious or purely educational enterprises.

Hon. Mr. Hanna said a college should not be considered as a business, but as an educational institution, and he would not support the clause.

Clark Clashes With Whitney.

After all the clauses had been passed in committee, Col. Clark said that he wished to offer an amendment to clause 2, in which were embodied the income exemptions. Sir James Whitney objected that the amendment should have been offered when that clause was being considered. No member should be allowed to go back to the beginning of a bill after the whole had been passed upon, he said. The proposal was irregular, disorderly and absurd.

Col. Clark said that he could see no good reason why they should not go back to the beginning of the bill. It was better, he thought, to introduce his amendment in committee than to wait for the third reading. The bill was not a sacred document, which should not be touched by profane hands.

Sir James repeated his objections, and said he believed the leader of the Opposition was not a fair man in the business of the House was to conduct it in an orderly fashion.

Col. Clark, by this time on his dignity, said he would not ask for any indulgence, but would respect the rules of the House and keep his amendment until the third reading of the bill.

Sir James said that he had no objection to the amendment being put immediately, and Col. Clark, after a little coaxing, moved his amendment, which was to strike out the proposal to increase the exemption from $700 to $900 in municipalities other than towns and cities. The amendment was defeated.

Hon. Dr. Reaume agreed with him that asked for by Mr. Johnson, showing what progress was being made by the Canadian Northern towards building into the day, half of Northern Ontario in aid of which the Legislature voted last session 4,000 acres per mile, one condition being that the railway be commenced within one year from April 13, 1908. The return stated that the line had been completed 20 miles of railway in a northerly direction from Selkirk Junction to Hutton Township, while four survey parties, numbering about 70 persons, were now on the field, working the cor. selected portion and Port Arthur.

Answers to Questions.

In answer to questions asked by Mr. Elliott, the Hon. Mr. Foy gave the following figures: The cost of the Ontario railway and municipal board was, in 1906, $12,913.60; in 1907, $23,482.23; in 1908, and $15,551.25; in 1909, $1,109.25. The salaries of members in 1906 amounted to $1,944.48; in 1907 and 1908, and $11,669.68 in 1909. The salaries of the staff were $2,175.58 in 1906; $5,550 in 1907; $5,509 in 1908, and $5,699 in 1909. Travelling expenses of each member were: 1906—A. B. Ingram, $443.43; H. N. Kitson, $209.88; J. Lettich, $476.88, 1907—A. B. Ingram, $218.50; H. N. Kitson, $129.98; J. Lettich, $1,109.25, 1908—A. B. Ingram, $324.28; H. N. Kitson, $128; J. Lettich, $279.85, 1909—A. B. Ingram, $221.40; H. N. Kitson, $92.30; J. Lettich, $212.80.

Hon. Mr. Hanna answered questions asked by Mr. Kohler (Haldimand), stating that the hospitals for the insane at Cobourg, Kingston (in port), and Penetang, the hospital for idiots at Orillia and the hospital for epileptics at Woodstock, purchased their own supplies of beef, lamb and mutton. The average prices paid, when purchased directly, was, for beef, at Cobourg, $5 per cwt; Kingston, $6.50; Penetang, $9.20; Orillia, $8; Woodstock, $8 cents a pound for ordinary beef, 10 cents for roasts and 15 cents for steak. The cost of mutton at Cobourg was $10 per cwt; at Kingston, $10.50; at Orillia, $8, and at Woodstock, $12.50. When purchased through the general purchasing agent, the average cost of beef was $8.76 and of lamb $12.50 per cwt. Travelling expenses of the staff amounted to $269.90 in 1906; $271.70 in 1907; $230.15 in 1908, and $291.63 in 1909. Other expenses were $1,293.50 in 1906; $3,398.47 in 1907; $3,019.97 in 1908, and $2,100.25 in 1909. The total for each year of other expenses was $1,293.50 in 1906; $3,398.47 in 1907; $3,019.97 in 1908, and $2,100.25 in 1909.

MacKay Champions Colleges.

Hon. Mr. MacKay championed the cause of these colleges. The small seminary made only a small income, yet did good work, he said. If one went bankrupt it received no relief from the municipalities, but if it made a profit a large portion of it was grabbed for taxes. God and nature never intended that all children should attend a stereotyped style of school. Special types of education were necessary, therefore special schools were necessary.

Sir James Whitney said it was a mistake to deal with legislation from the viewpoint of individual cases. The House must legislate for the great ma-

Was Lord Ronsdale asking himself how the other had learned this? If Rogers had escaped with the paper, John Steele knew Ronsdale might wonder that the actual truth should have been discovered; he would not, under those circumstances, even be aware of the existence of a witness of the tragedy. But was Lord Ronsdale assuming a manner, meeting subtly with subtlety? John Steele went on quietly, studying his enemy with close, attentive gaze.

BACKACHE OR KIDNEY MISERY WILL GO AFTER TAKING JUST A VERY FEW DOSES

Your Out-of-Order Kidneys Will Act Fine, Ending the Most Severe Bladder Trouble.

The most effective and harmless way to cure backache and regulate out-of-order kidneys, or end bladder trouble, is to take several doses of Pape's Diuretic.

You will distinctly feel that your kidneys and urinary organs are being cleansed, healed and vitalized, and all the miserable symptoms, such as backache, headache, nervousness, rheumatism and darting pains, inflamed or swollen eyelids, irritability, sleeplessness, or suppressed, painful or frequent urination (especially at night), and other distress, leaving after taking the first few doses.

The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary disorder, or rheumatism, begin taking this harmless preparation federate, greedy for gain even at such a moment, would have helped you but there was difficulty. Would the police accept the story of suicide? here were signs of a struggle. At that instant someone entered the house, came stumbling up the stairs. It was the "Prisco Pet!"

John Steele paused; his listener sat stiff, immovable. "Joe hurried you out, toward a rear exit, but not before," leaning slightly toward Lord Ronsdale, "an impression of your face pale, drawn, had vaguely stamped itself on the befuddled brain," bitterly, "of the fool-brute. You lost no time in making your escape; little was said between you and Joe; but he proved amenable to your suggestion; the way out of the difficulty was found. He hated the Pet, who had once or twice handled him roughly for abusing the poor creature. You gave Joe money to have the landlady's testimony agree with his; she never got that money," meaningly, "but gave the desired evidence. Joe had found out something."

Once more the speaker stopped; there remained a crucial test. If Lord Ronsdale had the paper, what John Steele was about to say would cause him no surprise; he would be prepared for it. The words fell sharply:

"The landlady's son, Tom Rogers, was at the time in the house, in hiding from the police. He was concealed above in a small room or garret; through a stovepipe opening, disused, he looked down into the sitting-room below and heard, saw all!"

The effect was instantaneous, magical. Lord Ronsdale sprang to his feet; John Steele looked at him, at the wavering face, the uncertain eyes. No doubt existed now in his mind; Gillett had not secured the paper, or he would have given it to his patron when they were alone. The fact was patent; the document was gone, irretrievably; there could be no hope of recovering it. The bitter knowledge that it really had once existed would not serve John Steele long. But with seeming resolution he went on: "I had the story from his own lips," deliberately, "in the form of an affidavit, duly signed and witnessed."

"You did?" Lord Ronsdale stared at him a long time. "This is a subterfuge."

"It is true."

"Where is the paper?"

"Not in my pocket."

The other considered. "You mean it is in a safe place?"

"One would naturally take care of such a document."

"You did not have any such paper at Strathorn?"

"No," John Steele smiled, but he did not feel like smiling. "Not there, certainly."

"I mean no such paper existed then, or you would have taken advantage of it."

John Steele did not answer; he looked at the drawer. The affidavit was not there; but something else was.

"You are resourceful, that is all," Lord Ronsdale had now quite recovered himself; he sank back in his chair. "You have, out of fancy, constructed a libelous theory; one that you cannot prove; one that you would be laughed at for advancing. A cock-and-bull story about a witness who was not a witness; a paper that does not exist, that never existed."

A sound at the door caused him to turn sharply; a knocking had passed the door, the door opened, closed. Mr. Gillett, a troubled, perturbed look on his face, stood now just within. "Your lordship!"

"Well?" The nobleman's manner was prompt.

The police agent, however, came forward slowly. "I have here something that one of our men has just turned over to me," John Steele started; but neither of the others noticed. "He found it at the last place we were; evidently it had been dropped by the fellow who was there and who fled at our coming." As he spoke he stepped nearer the desk, in his hand a paper. "What is it?" Lord Ronsdale demanded testily.

Mr. Gillett did not at once answer; he looked at John Steele; the latter stood like a statue; only his eyes were turned toward the nobleman, to the thin, aristocratic hand yet resting on the edge of the drawer.

"If your lordship will glance at it," said Mr. Gillett, proffering the sheet, the nobleman did so; his face immediately changed; his eyes seemed unable to leave the paper. Suddenly he gave a smothered explanation; tore the sheet open and started up, took a step toward the fire.

"Stop!" The voice was John Steele's. He stood now next to the partly-opened drawer, in his hand that which had been concealed there, something bright and shining. Lord Ronsdale wheeled, looked at the weapon and into the eyes behind it. "Place those two bits of paper there—on the edge of the desk!"

CHAPTER XXII
A Condition.

Lord Ronsdale hesitated; his thin jaws were set so that the bones of the cheek showed; his eyes gleamed. When he did move, it was as if blindly, precipitately, to carry out his first impulse.

"I wouldn't!" What John Steele held vaguely included, in the race of its possibilities, Mr. Gillett. Unless, another, "You wouldn't dare!" Lord Ronsdale trembled, but with impotent passion, not fear. "It would be—"

"Self-defence! The paper could remain—full vindication. In fact, the paper already is mine. Whether I kill you or not is merely incidental. And to tell the truth, I don't much care how you decide."

Again Lord Ronsdale seemed to forget caution; almost, but not quite; perhaps he was deterred by the look on John Steele's face, scornful, mocking, as half-inviting him to cast all prudence to the winds. This bit of evidence that he had not calculated upon, it was hard to give it up; but no other course remained. Besides, another, "You wouldn't dare!" Lord Ronsdale felt he could not depend on that person in an emergency of this kind; the police agent's manner was not reassuring. He seemed inclined to be more passive than aggressive; perhaps he had been somewhat overcome by this unexpected revelation and the deep waters he who boasted of an "eminently respectable and reputable agent," had unwittingly drifted into in climaxes of this character one's thoughts are likely to centre on self, to the exclusion of patron or employer, however noble. The police agent looked at Ronsdale and waited to see what he could do. The nobleman moved toward the desk; the paper fluttered from his cold fingers; when once more John Steele gave his coat his affidavit, had again found lodgment in his waistcoat pocket.

It seemed a tame, commonplace end, but it was the end; all three men knew it. John Steele's burning glance swept from Lord Ronsdale to Gillett, lingered with mute contemplation. What now remained to be done should be easily, it seemed almost too easily, accomplished. He felt like one lingering on the stage after the curtain had gone down; the varied excitement, the fierce play of emotion, was over; the actors hardly appeared interesting.

What he said was for Lord Ronsdale alone; after Gillett had gone, he laid down a condition. In certain respects it was a moment of triumph; but he experienced no exultation, only a supreme weariness, an anxiety to be done with the affair, to get on to the one point had first to be made, emphasized; to be accepted by the other, violently, quietly, resignedly—John Steele did not care what his attitude might be; what he chiefly felt was that he did not wish to waste much time on him.

"And if I refuse to let you dictate in a purely private concern?" Lord Ronsdale, white with passion, had answered.

"The end will be the same for you. As matters stand, Sir Charles no doubt thinks still that you would make a desirable part for his niece. His wife, Lady Wray, unquestionably shares that opinion. Their combined influence might in time prevail, and Jocelyn Wray yield to their united wishes. This misfortune," with a deadeningness of tone, "it is obvious must be averted. You will consent to withdraw all pretensions in that direction, or you will force me to make public this paper. A full exposition of the case, I think, would materially affect Sir Charles and Lady Wray's attitude as to the desirability of an alliance between their family and yours."

BRYANSTON WEDDING

Marriage of Miss Edna Elliott to Mr. George V. Talbot.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at Bryanston Wednesday, when Miss Edna Elliott became the wife of Mr. George V. Talbot, of Wellington street, the ceremony being performed by Elder R. D. Howard, of the Latter Day Saints' Church.

The wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, lot 6, con. 12, the place being very prettily decorated. The groom was supported by his brother Herbert, of this city, and the bride by her cousin, Miss Margaret Elliott.

Miss Edith Cambridge, of Rectory street, played the wedding march in an artistic manner.

The happy couple will reside at 25 Weston street.

Among the guests was Mr. Charles Elliott, a California school teacher, a brother of the bride.

LONDON WITH PEARY

A Magnificent Reception Awaiting His Arrival at British Capital.

London, March 11. — Commander Robert E. Peary, it was announced here today, is bringing proofs of his polar achievements with him and will make them public at a meeting which he is to address at Albert Hall under the auspices of the Royal Geographical Society. The explorer, whose good faith is generally acknowledged here, has the promise of a magnificent reception at London. Already two months ahead of the date of his lecture the applications for seats are sufficient to fill the great hall. Members of the royal family are expected to be present at both the lecture and the banquet preceding it.

Lieut. Sir Ernest Shackleton, who last year penetrated the Antarctic Circle to within 111 miles of the South Pole, this afternoon disclaimed the statement credited to him by Congressman Robert E. Macon, of Arkansas, before the sub-committee of the House naval committee yesterday with reference to the number of miles a day it was possible to travel over polar seas.

"I can see no reason," said Sir Ernest, "why Commander Peary, who had dogs with him, should not have done what he has claimed. The dogs, of course, must have done the pulling, for the men could not. On my journey from the ship I covered, on five consecutive days, 20, 18, 22, 26 and 29 miles."

GOT $800.

[G. N. W. Dispatch.]
Toronto, March 10. — A jury in the civil assizes this morning awarded $800 damages to William Arnold, a teamster, who sued Henry Stothers, his employer, and Thomas Gaby, owner of a sandpit, because of a broken ankle sustained by a pile of sand falling on him. Stothers and Gaby are to pay equal amounts. The jury held their negligence was the cause of the accident.

The average price of common brick at the kiln decreased from $6 in 1907 to $5 1/2 in 1908, while for vitrified paving brick the cost in 1907 was $11.02 as against $10.90 last year.

TWENTY MEN BURIED BY A FALLING WALL

Five Foreigners Killed While Clearing Up Ruins of a Pittsburg Fire.

[Associated Press.]
Pittsburg, March 10.—With a low, rumbling sound, a 50-foot brick wall, left standing in the ruins of the fire which early Tuesday morning partially destroyed the bolt and nut manufacturing plant of M. Lanz & Sons, collapsed today, burying 20 workmen, mostly foreigners, who were raising the ruins, killing five and probably fatally injuring seven more.

Without warning the wall buckled and crashed to the ground. Five workmen caught on a temporary scaffolding on the third floor, jumped to safety with slight injury. Two others were rescued, badly bruised, from a perilous position astride another swaying wall by the police.

MANITOBA'S ELEVATORS

Government Will Spend Two Millions For Establishment of System.

[G. N. W. Dispatch.]
Winnipeg, Man., March 10.—Acting Premier Rogers announces that the Government has decided to ask the Legislature to authorize the issue of $2,000,000 provincial bonds for the purpose of establishing the proposed Government system of elevators. A grant of $50,000 will be asked for immediately for preliminary expenses.

PAYMENT WAS STOPPED ON STOLEN CHECKS

[G. N. W. Dispatch.]
Toronto, March 10.—The officials of the Dominion Bank deny they have suffered any loss through the misappropriation of a $10,000 check and Toronto on Feb. 8 of a package containing paper and notes of the bank amounting to $18,000. The package, it is stated, consisted mostly of checks and drafts, and the money was promptly stopped, duplicates being subsequently obtained.

GRAND TRUNK OWNS IT

The P. O. and N. Railway the Property of the Big System.

Pontiac, Mich., March 10.—The state railway commission today heard the evidence of the Grand Trunk and former Pontiac, Oxford and Northern Railway officials, relative to the ownership and operation of the Pontiac, Oxford and Northern division, now said to be controlled by the Grand Trunk.

The Grand Trunk officials testified that the road is owned by Charles M. Hays, A. B. Atwater, L. C. Stanley, T. H. Hays, M. M. Reynolds and John W. Lord, all of whom are officials of the Grand Trunk. They declared that the road is owned by the men named as individuals, and is operated by arrangement with the Grand Trunk, the individuality of the Pontiac, Oxford and Northern corporation being retained.

Thomas L. Handy, of Bay City, who purchased the road of the former owners and in turn transferred it to A. B. Atwater, of Detroit, said that he transferred the stock to Mr. Atwater, but that he received a Grand Trunk draft in payment.

It developed that the Grand Trunk officials each hold one share of stock in the road in question, and that the remainder is held in trust for the Grand Trunk Western by Charles M. Hays, of Montreal.

DUEZ'S DEFALCATIONS.

Paris, March 11. — Revelations following the arrest of M. Duez, official trustee to the Seine, and formerly liquidator of the properties of the dispossessed religious organizations, who is charged with the embezzlement of $1,000,000, is creating a profound impression in France, and it is predicted they will have a disastrous effect on the Government's chances in the coming elections.

There is indignation in many quarters that the property wrested from the religious bodies, which in many cases was devoted to relieving the necessities of the sick and poor, should have been allowed to get into the clutches of a rogue, and be frittered away in speculation and dissipation. According to the newspapers, Duez's defalcations now prove to be nearer $2,000,000 than $1,000,000.

Arranged in a straight line, the railroad tracks of the world would reach to the moon and back again.

ALBERTA'S GOVERNMENT WRECKED BY RAILWAY

Cause of the Political Chaos in the New Western Province.

Edmonton, Alta., March 10.—The Rutherford Administration is foundering on the shores and the ship will soon fall in pieces. Three cabinet ministers have retired and the early resignation of the Government is predicted.

Some History.

Premier Rutherford was returned to power a year ago with 37 straight supporters in a House of 41 members. The previous record of the Government and an aggressive railway policy swept the Liberals to victory. Today the railway policy—one feature of it at least, the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway, grantee of bonds—wrecks the Government.

The last session of the old Legislature guaranteed the bonds of the C. N. R. and G. T. P. for branch lines throughout the province at $15,000 a mile, and of the Alberta and Great Waterways Company, headed by W. R. Clarke, of Kansas City, for a line from Edmonton to Fort McMurray on the Athabasca River, 250 miles, for $20,000 a mile. Acts guaranteeing those bonds went through the Legislature without practically any opposition.

The Break Came.

Hon. W. H. Cushing, minister of public works, objected to the agreement and contract and specifications placed before the cabinet in October, but did not attack openly until he resigned from the Government on the third day of the session this year. He claimed that the agreement, contract, etc., were full of loopholes, that the company would build the road for $15,000 a mile, and charged that there would be a take-off of the remainder for the promoters. He argued that the contract allowed the company to draw $20,000 a mile for every ten miles, and argued that it was possible that a hundred more miles of the prairie section could be built, the money paid over, and they could get out with a huge profit and leave an unfinished road on the province's hands. Insinuations were also made in the debate that there had been graft in connection with the sale of the bonds and that the company was no good.

Charge Made.

Hon. C. W. Cross fought the battle for the Government, and his opponents admit, put up a great case for a bad contract. Through the influence of some insubordinate members, the agreement was changed on the offer of the company, whereby 50 miles of road had to be built and operated before a cent was paid over. This was submitted to the Legislature and carried by a majority of eight.

Hon. W. A. Buchanan, who was not a member of the Government when the acts or agreements were passed, supported the change on the ground that it improved the province's position, but has since resigned because he cannot support the Government on the future transaction.

Cross Has Resigned.

Premier Rutherford Tuesday asked Mr. Cushing back to the cabinet, and when Mr. Cross heard this he resigned, claiming he could not sit with a man who had attacked the contract and criticised him.

Cushing refuses to return and Rutherford only has two ministers left. It is probable that Cushing may be called upon to form a new Liberal Government. Cross has a strong following and they are not inclined to support Cushing. Strenuous times are ahead and a general election may result.

Accusations are made that the whole affair is a plot by certain members anxious for cabinet rank, who want to get rid of Rutherford and supplant him with Cushing.

The province is greatly aroused, especially in the central or southern parts, where the feeling is strong for Cushing. Buchanan's retirement intensifies the feeling.

Cross is still strong in the north. He is admittedly the ablest man in his party, and his legislation against the C. P. R. and other big concerns, and the passage of the eight-hour law for miners, and workmen's compensation act have made him unpopular with the corporations.

Up to the present Hon. Duncan Marshall and Hon. P. E. Lessard, the latter a minister without portfolio, are staying with the Rutherford Government, but the final break up may come at any time.

CARUSO BLACKMAILERS PALS OF THE WOLF

[Associated Press.]

New York, March 10.—Detectives assigned to investigate the Black Hand letters recently sent to Enrico Caruso, the tenor, say they have discovered a clue which indicates that the black-mailers were pals of Ignazio Lupo and his band of counterfeiters recently sentenced to prison, and that the money, if given, was to have been used in an effort to free the men.

The sum of $15,000, which was demanded of Caruso under pain of death, would be quite sufficient to defray the lawyers fees for the effort to get a new trial for the counterfeiters.

SEES THE PASSING OF OHIO COAL MINES

If Miners Persist in Their Demands Upon the Operators.

[Associated Press.]

Cincinnati, March 10.—General discussion of the demands of the miners was continued today at the conference of operators and miners of soft coal in the central competitive field, which embraces Ohio and Western Pennsylvania.

The operators association yesterday declared they could not grant the ten cents per ton increase, and any of the other demands made by the miners. H. L. Chapman, one of the largest Ohio coal operators, presented figures which he used in support of his declaration that "if present demands of miners are persisted in it will be only a short time until the Ohio coal industry will be a thing of the past." Ohio coal mines will have to shut down and the 60,000 miners dependent upon the coal industry of Ohio will have to seek employment in other states. The miners in their arguments declared that the higher cost of living compelled them to ask for higher wages.

POORHOUSE BURNED.

New York, March 10.—The ill-fated out of house and home was the life of the added to the afflictions of poverty of the inmates of the poorhouse at Hempstead, L. I., which was destroyed by the fire today. One aged inmate was burned to death, though a young woman nurse risked her life to save him, while five other inmates were seriously burned and taken to the hospital.

There was a panic when the flames were discovered and nearly forty of the poor leaped from the windows of the blazing structure.

Flames destroyed a big factory building in West Forty-fifth street today entailing a loss of $100,000.

MODERNIZE SPAIN.

Madrid, March 10.—Premier Canalejas in an important speech outlining the Government's programme, made in the Cortes today, appealed for the united support of all the radical and democratic forces in the approaching struggle "to Europeanize and modernize Spain."

Without such support, he declared, the fight against the growing power of clericalism and reaction was foredoomed to failure.

NEW JAP LOAN.

Tokio, March 10.—The further conversion of $50,000,000 of the domestic loan has been agreed upon between Count Katsura, the premier, and a syndicate of bankers.

It is stated that the successful flotation of the first conversion of $30,000,000 was extremely encouraging, and that the next issue will be on the same terms. These provide for a four per cent basis, the issue price being 95.

ASK FOR MORE MONEY

Conservative M. P.'s Ask That Indemnity Be Increased to $1,500.

Toronto, March 10.—This afternoon half a dozen Conservative members waited upon the provincial treasurer and made a formal request that the seasonal indemnity be increased from $1,000 to $1,500. This would involve $53,000 additional, and the provincial treasurer is unwilling to incur the extra expense.

A GOOBER COMBINE

Serious Trouble Among the Peanut Vendors of Hamilton.

Hamilton, March 11.—That there is a combine of the peanut vendors in this city was brought to light in the police court this morning, when John Castle, a Greek, was fined $50 and costs for assaulting Nicoll Devesey and doing willful damage to Devesey's peanut roaster. It was given out in the evidence that the complainant is not a member of the combine, and he was told to leave the city, or he would be killed.

GIRL MISSING

Escapes From Attendant in Night-Dress and Search Proves Futile.

Lakewood, N. J., March 11.—Bloodhounds and private detectives, as well as the entire police force of this place, have passed the entire day following clues of the missing Miss Helen Bloodgood, who eluded her nurses yesterday, and, jumping from the second story of her home in Madison avenue, disappeared in the grey light of the early morning, and has since not been heard of in any manner.

Miss Bloodgood is a nervous patient. The family came here several weeks ago, and William Bloodgood, her father, rented the house of Leslie R. Fort, son of Governor Fort, for the spring months, and the family established themselves there. Trained nurses were engaged to take care of Miss Bloodgood, and they had been constant in their attendance.

On Tuesday night, Mr. and Mrs. Bloodgood went to New York, leaving several friends of the family, as well as the trained nurses, in care of the home here, and the young woman, Miss Bloodgood, about 6 o'clock in the morning, overpowered her attendant, and jumped from the second story window clad only in her night-dress and felt slippers. Before any alarm could be given she disappeared. All day yesterday and today the entire country for miles has been searched, but the girl has not been found.

ROW IN COUNCIL.

Walkerville, March 10.—Trouble in the town council over the appointment of chairman for the various committees for this year, has become so acute that legal action in the form of an injunction to prevent some of the chairmen from retaining office is being discussed by dissatisfied members of the council.

LINEMAN KILLED.

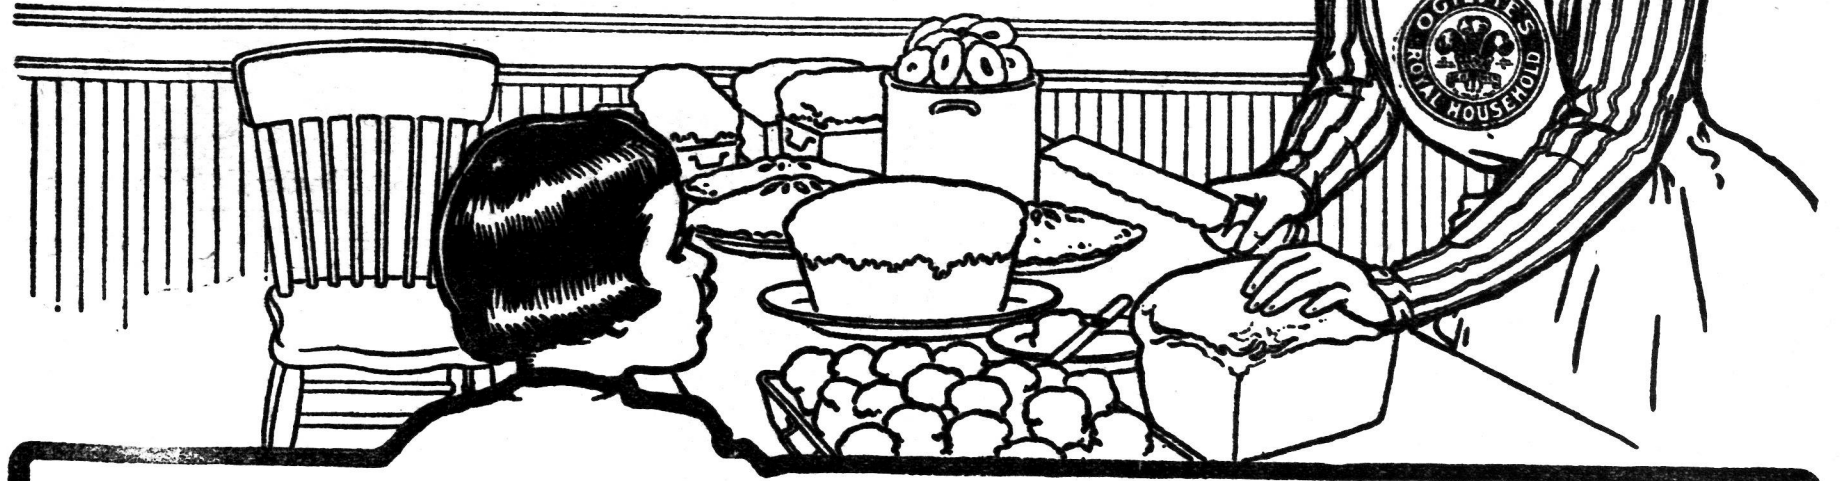

Madoc, Ont., March 11.—Albert Halliday, one of the C. P. R. telegraph linemen, while engaged in making alterations in the line near Ivanhoe, was struck on the head by a falling telegraph pole.

His injuries were not considered serious, but about 4 o'clock he took a turn for the worse. A doctor was sent for, but Halliday expired before he arrived.

FORTY-SIX MILLIONS FOR THE PENSIONS

British Civil Service Estimates Show a Marked Decrease.

[Associated Press.]

London, March 10.—The civil service estimates for 1910-11, which were given out today, with a total amount required of upwards of $320,000,000 show, like the navy and army estimates, a marked increase in the National expenditure. Should the Chancellor's budget provide for the usual consolidated funds charges, the grand aggregate expenditure which the Chancellor will have to meet will be upwards of $355,000,000 or nearly $50,000,000 in excess of last year's total.

The civil service estimates include $46,000,000 for old age pensions.

TAX NOTICES.—The township notice reads: "On and after the tenth day of January, 1910, 1 per cent per month will be added on all unpaid taxes for each month or fraction thereof." When does the second month's interest become due?

Answer.—It is not interest but a percentage charge, and 1 per cent per month or fraction of a month from the time the taxes became due until payment. Such percentage charge must not exceed 5 per cent. The taxes are payable within fourteen days after demand or notice by the collector who must return his roll to the treasurer on or before Dec. 14, but the council may extend the time for the return to not later than Feb. 1. After return the taxes must be paid to the treasurer or to the collector or other person authorized by the council to complete the collections. The roll must be completed and returned so that the township treasurer can on or before April 8 furnish a statement of all unpaid taxes to the county treasurer, to whom thereafter payment is to be made, and who on May 1 will add a percentage of 10 per cent to taxes, inclusive of the percentage added by the township. The due is not in accordance with bylaw, authorized by the assessment act, which should state the day after which the percentage will be added to taxes. The notice may mean that this percentage began on Jan. 10, but it is not clear.

PASTURE FOR LINDSAY.

Hamilton, Ont., March 10.—A report received here from the Government agent at Toronto states that an examination disclosed that the brain of the dog which bit Jimmy Lindsay, the official dog-catcher, a week ago, showed evidence of rabies. Lindsay will be sent to Toronto for the Pasteur treatment.

PATROL BORDER WATERS.

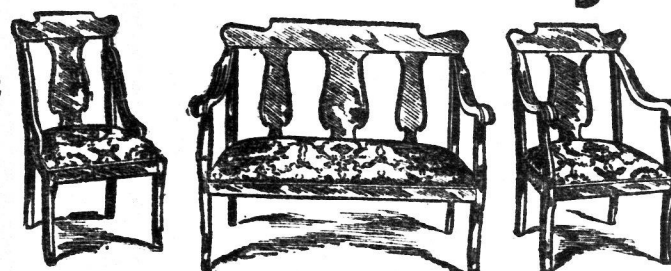

Windsor, March 10.—Hereafter Detective Mahoney and Simpson, the local members of the Ontario police, will give their whole attention to patrolling the river front and keeping a close watch for undesirable from the United States who may attempt to get into Ontario. They will not be allowed to leave Windsor except in an extreme case.

Short Spasm of Bunting Ended Yesterday
Morning by a Real Texas "Norther."

[Special to The Advertiser.]
San Antonio, Texas, March 10.—The ideal training weather that has heretofore obtained, changed suddenly today, when a genuine Texas norther arrived on the scene and put a period to the daily stunt at the ball park.

At least it happened in the afternoon session, although the squad of Tigers braved the cool wind this morning, and took a light workout.

This, however, was confined to bunting, exclusively, as there was no disposition on the part of anybody to take a chance and do much throwing.

The arrival of the cool weather this morning was very inopportune, as the players had reached the half-way stage of their training that makes even a slight let-up dangerous.

BIG DROP IN THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature dropped from around 70 yesterday, to 55 early this morning. At 1 o'clock it was 58, and at 6 this evening it was still dropping. A shower this afternoon precluded any chance of practice, and the members of the squad spent the afternoon in the hotel playing pinball and other games.

The local forecaster took his life in his hands this afternoon, and said that tomorrow would dawn bright and sunny, and that by afternoon the Tigers could cut loose as much as they care to. He ventured it on his opinion that there would be nothing in the atmosphere to denote that norther ever come Texas-ward.

NO WAY TO DOPE IT OUT.
However, the forecaster added that even Uncle Sam's official prognosticator is foolish to make any guesses on Texas weather, as neither fact or figure could draw a line on what the fickle thing would do next.

In Drake particularly, Manager Jennings seems to have picked up an ideal extra outfielder, this because the younger, because he was not in condition, now says a further postponement to March 25.

Ketchel says if this change is not agreed to he will forfeit the money already up and not appear at all, because he cannot possibly get into condition before the 25th.

HOLDS TIGER SLUGGERS DOWN.

In the six innings he worked against the Tigers in the two games played, he has held the club to two hits, and both of these were made by Drake. The last one, Wednesday, was a corking drive to center for a homer. The big fellow also looks great in the field, and is about the average in speed, making the round of

C.W.A. WILL ENDEAVOR TO RESTORE GAME THIS YEAR

London and Cities and Towns of Ontario Invited to Push Wheeling Along.

[G. N. W. Service.]

Toronto, March 10.—At a meeting of the C. W. A. executive it was decided to call the annual meeting of the association for the following Friday, at the King Edward Hotel.

In the informal discussion which followed the formal business it was decided to make a special effort to interest all the boys of the old brigade in the revival of cycle racing. The executive decided to issue special invitations to the following old-time cycle enthusiasts to join with the members in their annual session: A. F. Webster, E. C. Hill, W. A. Hunter, R. H. McBride, George H. Orr, Hal Donley, Harry Ryrie, R. A. Robertson, Toronto; Jack Gibson, of Peterborough; Chambers, Fred Skeritt, of Hamilton; J. H. Ross, Fred Kumpf, Eddie Seagram, of Waterloo; Jack Gibson, of Peterborough; Dr. Robertson, of Stratford; T. A. Beament, George Ayling, of Ottawa; Louis Rubenstein, Ben Radmore, J. E. Miller, of Montreal; and to issue a general invitation to all the old-time cycling standbys in Ottawa, London, Stratford, Chatham, Sarnia, Woodstock, Hamilton, to come on in and help make a stir in the racing game this summer.

KLING CASE UP WHEN JOHNSON RETURNS

National Commission Cannot Hold a Session Until Ban B. Comes Back From Coast.

Chicago, March 10.—Final disposition of the case of John Kling, catcher for the Chicago Nationals, who seeks to be reinstated, will be made immediately following the return of President Johnson, of the American League, from his trip to the Pacific coast. This was announced yesterday at a meeting held at the Cincinnati for the purpose of passing on the case.

He was originally intended to reach a settlement by a mail vote, but a great number of other cases have arisen since the election, and it is necessary for the members of the Nat. to be present to gather at Cincinnati. Johnson is not expected back from the coast before next Tuesday.

NOTHING SENSATIONAL IN THE A. B. C. YESTERDAY

Dunbar, of New York, Rolled Into Third Place in the Singles—Changes in the Leaders.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Detroit, March 10.—By way of making up for the unbroken record of the Nationals, of New York, in the five men event on Wednesday evening the men of the A. B. C. rolled into third place in the singles and doubles yesterday. Alce Dunbar, anchor man on the New York team, rolled into third place in the singles, hitting three for six, one pin behind Zoellner, of Milwaukee. The Manhattan man ought to have gone out in front in his first game, netting him 233 pins and his second 242. In the third, however, he could not control his nerve and fell away to 181. Some tough breaks in the final game worked against him.

Dunbar was the first man to enter the claimed circle, but L. Czarniecki, of Toledo, with 629, was not far removed from this position. Zoellner, of Milwaukee, with 626, was the third highest individual of the day.

Good Work in Doubles.

Rolling in the doubles event was excellent throughout, three teams breaking into the first ten, with the Nationals, a dozen scores above the 1,100 mark. Hildie and Pump, of the Nationals, of New York, did best work, getting 1,196 pins, which put them in a tie for sixth place. Next in order of the new teams "up there" comes the Eggers-Lovengren combination, of Chicago, which is eighth, with 1,194. Kemper and Griffith, of Columbus, O., take ninth position, with 1,187.

SAYS, "GIVE PHILLIES TIME"

Boss of the Dodgers Claims That Fogel Is Not in a Position to Answer Murray Charges, as the Papers Are Locked Up—Other Gossip.

New York, March 10.—C. H. Ebbetts, of the Brooklyn club, has recommended to the National League directors that the Philadelphia club be allowed an additional 50 days in which to make a statement in the case of the deposed manager, J. W. J. Murray. Ebbetts says the Philadelphia club's papers are locked in the safe of Vice-President Elliott, who is in Europe.

Mike Donlin will not play with the Giants this year, according to his latest announcement. His decision to remain out of baseball is not a surprise to the fans.

John Gangel, manager of the champion Rochester team, called at the Highlanders' headquarters today. He said that Manager Stallings has the best young pitcher in the profession in Russell Ford, and also has a great catcher in Fred Mitchell.

"I think Mitchell will be a star in the American League," said Gangel. "He can catch every day, is a great thrower to bases, has a good head, and can hit the ball. Ford will be one of the team's best pitchers, while Gardner, the second baseman, will prove the equal of John Evers, of the Cubs, and Collins, of the Athletics."

George Davis, formerly of the Giants and White Sox, will manage the Des Moines club in the Western League this year. If he is successful, Davis probably will secure a major league berth next year.

ST. LOUIS APPEARS TO HAVE LANDED NEXT TOURNAMENT
AMERICAN BOWLING ASSN.

Mound City Rollers Will Beat Out Buffalo for 1911 Congress According to the "Dope"—Record Rule Adopted and a Break Defined—Pin Spilling May Start Any Time After January 15.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Detroit, March 10.—While it is very probable that no vote will be taken at the continuation of the general meeting of the American Bowling Congress this afternoon, it is all but a cinch that the 1911 tournament will go to St. Louis.

As was the case at Pittsburg last year, the executive committee will be empowered, by the delegates, to award the tournament later.

This much was developed at the meeting Thursday afternoon, and it was evident that St. Louis did not expect a definite decision, and that Buffalo was not strong enough to force one. There is a chance that St. Louis will be endorsed today, which means the committee's mere a formality.

No Voting by Proxy.

In the future, voting by proxy will not be permitted at any of the meetings of the A. B. C. An amendment to this effect, or rather to clarify the old rule, being squelched. One amendment slipped through, though, a battle was expected, and when all was said and done, the first ball has been delivered to do not constitute a split, and are left standing after the second ball has been delivered.

Deliberate a Break.

Mr. Wilson, of Chicago, presented an amendment to the bowling rules defining just what a break or an error was, which was adopted. In the future a break will be defined as follows: A break will be scored when all pins left standing after the first ball has been delivered do not constitute a split, and are left standing after the second ball has been delivered.

The matter of defining a split was left to the bowlers' good judgment, as there have been 24 two-pin splits possible and a few hundred others with more than two pins.

The president requested Mr. Wilson to present a definition of a split today.

A Detroit motor company has opened wireless telegraph car will follow in the wake of the tour so that any accidents or mishaps along the road may be reported from it. This wireless service will be placed at the disposal of all of the newspapermen accompanying the tour.

CHASE IS CAPTAIN.

New York, March 10.—Hal Chase has been named by Manager Stallings to pilot the Highlanders this season. The announcement from Atlanta, Ga., where the Highlanders are getting in shape, of Chase's selection, tends to boom the stock of the team, as the "peerless" first baseman is counted a good fighter and one of the most popular men who ever drew salary from Magnate Farrell.

Plan Is Feasible.

The plan was submitted to an eastern expert in wireless telegraphy who thought it would prove feasible.

Ben Watterworth Rolls 575—Doubles Score 1,057—Other Events.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, March 11.—The first real excitement of the C. B. A. tournament was last night, when the London Nationals and the Brunswick team of the city hooked up on alleys Nos. 1 and 2.

Each team had a large number of supporters, and the rooting was fierce at all times, especially the last game, the London Nationals finally winning out by the bare margin of two pins in the total, and it is estimated that each pin was worth $75, for there was at least $150 bet on the game.

To Bill Karry's belongs the credit of bringing home the bacon for the Nationals, he ramming home six strikes from the fifth frame, winding up with a 233 score.

The Brunswick-Balko-Collender team of Toronto dropped into second place in the five-man event by rolling 1,628, their bad middle game of 772 robbing them of the leadership. They were away to a good start with 901 score and finished strong with 935.

The Nationals of London are now in third place and the Brunswick team in fourth.

Wat. Lister in the novice singles came within six pins of taking the lead, when he rolled 571, but now he is only third. In the novice doubles Simmonds and Jarvis took the undisputed leadership, when they totalled 1,131.

The scores:

JAKE SCHAEFER
HELD EVERY TITLE

Wizard of the Cue Who Died Tuesday Was a Wonder.

STARTED PLAYING WHEN A BOY OF 15

And During His Thirty-Seven Years Defeated All Comers.

"Jake" Schaefer, as he was known the world over, probably was the greatest exponent of billiards the world has ever seen.

He revelled in the impossible. Rules and styles were constantly changed, but he was always the "master's" proclivity of being able to beat the game in all its phases. All styles looked alike to him. He was not only master, but put the finishing touches to practically every billiard game invented.

That he was not the prodigy while in his teens as Willie Hoppe became later was probably because the equipment for the game was missing in his early youth. Still he started early enough, being credited with a run of 1,483 at the old style four-ball game when 15 years of age. At 18 he drifted to Chicago, where, although a stranger and unheralded, he soon made his mark. He first went to Tom Foley's billiard parlour where he practiced for a time. That was in 1873. Later he went to New Orleans, where he defeated John Miller. The year before that, at the age of 17, he had his first clash with a champion, beating Adam Kessler, the titleholder of Wisconsin.

During his thirty-seven years of billiard playing Schaefer held at one time or another the title in each style of the game. He was successful in champion straight rail, cushion carom, eight, twelve and fourteen inch ball game, eighteen-inch line, one and two ball, and three cushions. Hardly had a certain style come into vogue before "Jake" showed such skill that the world's more hurdles were put in his way.

The straight-rail game soon became too easy, following the four-ball game into the discard. In turn came the bank-line games, which were mastered as easily as the rest. Later on the "wizard" took up the three-cushion game, in which he again showed his wonderful versatility.

Injured Wrist Slowed Him.

Through an accident to his wrist he was slowed up considerably in this style. In the early part of the present decade his stiffest opponent at the three-cushion game was "Gene" Carter.

One of his greatest feats came early in his career when he defeated George Slosson, in 1879, at three-ball French caroms. In the tournament were Slosson, Dab, Sexton, Garner, Dion, Carter and others. Schaefer defeated each in turn and then came the final match with Slosson. The "student" had "Jake" 559 to 19, and the backers of the former began to leave the hall. Here was where Schaefer showed his nerve. He got the balls on the rail ran up a total of 285 before missing, and followed this with a run of 229, winning the match.

Defeats Frank Ives.

The climax to his wonderful playing came in the 11-inch bank-line championship game with Frank Ives at Central Music Hall, in Chicago. It was a 1,000-point game, 800 points a night. In his last night's game he made 1,205 points to Ives' 800. In a great finish, such as never had been seen before in billiards, Schaefer ran out, while Ives was counting 765.

Following the Slosson match, Schaefer was challenged by the local for a 1,000-point game with Frank Ives at Central Music Hall, in Chicago. It was a 1,000-point game, 800 points a night. In his last night's game he made 1,205 points to Ives' 800. In a great finish, such as never had been seen before in billiards, Schaefer ran out, while Ives was counting 765.

This same master was born in Milwaukee Feb. 5, 1855. When the future champion was 2 years old his parents moved to Leavenworth, Kan., where he lived until the "wanderlust" seized him and he started out to carve out his own fortune. He played at the billiard parlours of W. P. Massey's father in St. Louis and later drifted to Chicago. After his match in New Orleans his rise was rapid.

MITCHELL LACROSSE CLUB.

Mitchell, March 11.—The Excelsior Lacrosse Club at the annual meeting discussed plans for the coming season, and elected officers as follows:

Honorary president, Mayor Campbell; president, T. J. Ryan; Vice-President, E. C. Smyth; Secretary-Treasurer, G. H. Butler; Executive committee, E. Matheson, E. A. May, M. E. Coppins, W. Henning; Captain, F. A. May.

According to the United States Consul at Geneva, 159 climbers in the Alps have been killed or have died from injuries received in the mountains during the season. The majority of the victims were Swiss climbers.

The new marriage law now under consideration in Victoria, Australia, has as its object the prevention of clandestine marriages. It provides that no clergyman shall perform the ceremony unless the couple applying shall have obtained a license.

Constipation.

No one need expect to be healthy if the bowels are allowed to become clogged up. A free motion of the bowels daily should be the rule with everyone who aspires to perfect health.

Costiveness or constipation clogs the bowels, chokes up the natural outlet of impure matter, and retains in the system the poisonous effete waste products of nature, causing bad blood, dyspepsia, headache, biliousness, foul humors, pimples, boils, blotches, piles, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters has built up an unrivalled reputation as a cure for constipation and all the diseases which arise from it.

Mr. Burns Woodcock, Nashua, N.H., writes: "For over two years my wife was troubled with constipation. She tried several physicians, but could get no relief, but after taking three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters she was completely cured and is today in good health. My wife and I cannot speak too highly of Burdock Blood Bitters."

ENGLISH TAKE TO AIR

Many Britons Have Flying Machines and Nation Gets New Craft.

London, March 11.—Aeronautics would seem to be progressing with a little more celerity in this country. There are now 47 members of the Aeronautical Society of Great Britain who have aeroplanes of their own; a new British airship is nearly ready which is expected to exceed the speed of all those already working by about 50 per cent, and a daring English woman has learned the art of aviation and is now getting a new Farman biplane, with which she means to compete in next summer's contests.

Six members of the Aeronautical Society own more than one machine. One of the newest is that of Leo Jezz, a well-known Kentish automobilist. It is a biplane, after the style of the Wright machine, only smaller. Mr. Jezz is now starting out on his preliminary trials at Eastchurch. Major Baden-Powell's quadruplane, of which soundings were heard last year, is being remodelled.

The Government advisory committee on aeronautics has been prepared for a list of all the aeroplanes in the country, and has been reading the various branches of the science in different countries, and is issuing them. Special attention apparently has been paid in this work to the importance of gathering together the data of the various types of military airships.

It is expected, too, that the new airship, which has been patented in this country, will be in the air before long. Its inventor is a Hungarian, M. A. de Bajan. He was assisted in his work by an English engineer, Ernest Cornwell. It belongs to the semirigid type, but it has a different method of obtaining rigidity to that employed in the Lebaudy class. Great speed, it is believed, will be obtained by an economical adaptation of the driving power. The two propellers are near the stern, and the gas container, and the whole system of transmission and propulsion is new.

Although the airship is large, with a capacity of about 120,000 cubic feet, the movements in the vertical plane are regulated very little by the manipulation of gas, ballast and ballast, and are almost entirely controlled by the engine. The inventor contends that this airship will be easy of control. Indeed, some of the leading aeronautical authorities who have seen the plans and inquired into the structure of the ship are very confident that it will accomplish all that the inventor and engineer expect of it.

The woman referred to, the first Englishwoman to learn the art of aviation, is Miss Dorothy Levitt, and she expects to have in her possession in about six weeks the Farman machine, which is being built for her. She told a correspondent that she intends to go to France as soon as the weather becomes more suitable for aerial manoeuvres in order to resume her lessons.

Bitter that was sold to the English working classes of the fifties was adulterated with ground dust. The dust stones were ground and manipulated into a substance called "soluble silica."

You'll Sleep More Soundly If You Keep Healthy With Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

The man or woman with a good appetite, sound digestion, and bowels and kidneys working right, is never troubled much with sleeplessness. It is when the bowels become constipated and the liver and kidneys sluggish that the trouble begins.

Lazy liver and constipated bowels quickly bring on biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches, making a sound, refreshing night's sleep impossible. Or the inactive kidneys allow the blood to become loaded with uric acid, which causes rheumatism, with all its sleep-destroying tortures.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, taken regularly, induce sweet and dreamless sleep by keeping all these organs active and regular. The headaches disappear, the digestion becomes good again, the blood is purified and perfect health returns.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been a favorite household remedy in Canada for over half a century, and they are in daily use throughout the world. Being purely vegetable they are safe for young and old. Made by W. H. Comstock Co., Ltd., Brockville, Ont., and sold by all dealers at 25c. a box.

NEW COMET STUDIED BY FRENCH SCIENTIST

Camille Flammarion Tells of Discovery and Determination of Orbit.

Paris, March 11.—The European edition of the New York Herald published the following article by Camille Flammarion, the noted astronomer: We waited to speak of the latest comet until observations could enable its orbit to be determined. Discovered on Jan. 16, by some miners at Johannesburg, South Africa, it was visible to the naked eye and very brilliant in the morning near the sun at its rising. On the next day, Jan. 17, it was observed during the entire morning up to noon by Mr. Worsell and Mr. Innes of the Transvaal observatory. Its head then measured five minutes of arc in diameter and was adorned with a magnificent, well developed tail.

Let us remark here that it was by mistake that the name Drake was given to the new comet. There is an astronomer of that name at Johannesburg, and if there exists in any country on earth a Mr. Drake he has had nothing to do with the discovery of this heavenly visitor. There has been an error of transmission by telephone. "Drake" was written instead of "great," and because of this the comet became "Drake's comet."

Reported Around World. However, the report was immediately spread around the world that a great comet had just shown itself in the sky, and this appearance was unanimously greeted as an extraordinary phenomenon, for it is nearly 20 years since we have been charmed by a really beautiful comet; that is to say, since the famous and splendid comet of 1882. The new star reached its perihelion on Monday, Jan. 17, the very day when notice of its advent was given to all the observatories. The comet approached within 16,000,000 kilometers of the sun, and reappeared and full of vigor, it started off very luminous, along the other arm of its ellipse, moving toward the northeast.

From the next day, Jan. 18, it was observed in the sky of Europe, and it was seen to be extending far into the twilight. On Jan. 20, at Marseilles, it attracted all eyes. But in Paris and vicinity, as well as in a large part of France, bad weather rendered its observation impossible on that date. It was only on Jan. 21 that we were able to perceive it. It was visible to the naked eye.

Since that time we have been able to follow it quite regularly at my observatory at Juvisy, in spite of atmospheric disturbances, and we took a photograph of it, from which it may be seen that the nucleus shows a remarkable brilliancy. The tail, slightly curved, reaches very far, extending toward its extremity and spread out in shape.

There may be distinguished clearly two parts. One, very brilliant, spreads out directly in prolongation of the nucleus and stretches, gradually attenuating, to a great distance from the head; the other, very diffuse, detaches itself from the left of the nucleus and spreads in that direction, enlarging more and more, and so pale and transparent that the most feeble stars appear through it, somewhat elongated, on account of the displacement of the objective glass which remains fixed on the comet and follows its daily motion. This expansion of the cometary vapors for the extremity of the caudal appendage is here very striking, particularly in the secondary tail.

Many Descriptions Wrong. Numerous descriptions of this comet, accompanied by drawings, have been sent to me from France (notably by observers of the Flammarion astronomical observatory at Juvisy, and of Montpellier) as well as from Algeria and Spain, Belgium and Italy, and from almost everywhere. Estimates on the length of the tail are very different, according to the state of the atmosphere and the intensity of the twilight. The estimates vary from 2 to 20 degrees. This last estimate would correspond to a real length of 110,000,000 kilometers. But this estimate is certainly exaggerated.

The nucleus has generally been seen round of a red color, and of the brightness of a star of the first magnitude. Sometimes it has been compared to Mars, sometimes to Mercury. Its width has been estimated at 5,000 kilometers. This is nothing compared to that of Halley's comet, which in November measured 20,000 kilometers in diameter and which is considerably increasing in size as it advances toward the sun. Let us recall the fact that the earth measures 12,742 kilometers in diameter.

The comet is leaving us. It is departing both from the sun and from the earth. On Jan. 28 it was 70,000,000 kilometers from the sun and 182,000,000 kilometers from the earth. Feb. 9 it was 250,000,000 kilometers from us and 120,000,000 kilometers from the sun. On Feb. 13 it was 258,000,000 kilometers away from us, and a distance of 140,000,000 kilometers separated it from the day star.

Spectral Analysis Begun. Spectral analysis was begun at the same time as the telescopic and photographic investigations, from the time of the discovery of the hairy star. On Jan. 19, in an observation made in broad day at the Yerkes Observatory, in the United States, Mr. Wright found in the comet a continuous spectrum with the brilliant D ray of sodium, M. Deslandres and M. Bernard, at the observatory of Meudon, reached the same conclusions, noticing besides, toward the red extremity of the spectrum, intense unknown radiations. But soon the spectrum gradually diminished in brightness, while the characteristic rays of hydrocarbons increased, and those of cyanogen appeared.

The arrival of this comet, coinciding with the approach of Halley's comet and with the disastrous floods, has caused a great sensation; only the remark has been neglected that this newcomer did not shine specially for France, and for Paris in particular. But before reaching us it had spread its panache above the extreme point of Africa.

LIBRARY CENSORS ANNOY AUTHORS

Mary Gaunt and Horace C. Newte Make Tart Criticism of Morality Standards.

London, March 11.—British library censors have started with vigor on their campaign against alleged improper fiction and the novels that have fallen under their ban have roused many authors of indignation. Among the works of fiction placed on "the doubtful list," by the large libraries, are: "The Uncounted Cost," by Mary Gaunt, and "Black Sheep," by Stanley Portal Hyatt, and in certain libraries, "Sparrows," by Horace W. C. Newte. Authors feel that some authoritative definition of morality should be arrived at before any restrictions are enforced by the libraries, and the issues between them, the publishers, and the circulating libraries' Association, are likely to result in interesting developments.

Needless to say, the authors whose novels are not to be shown on the library shelves or offered to their subscribers have not taken the rebuff lying down. Mary Gaunt has handed out some hot observations. "I thought I had high ideals in 'The Uncounted Cost,'" she says, "that the woman who was faithful in love, the man who was ready to put his duty before all else, and the man who gave his life for his friend, might be proper subjects for story-telling. But the libraries evidently think that no relations between men and women are to be mentioned save those that end in a white frock and the voice that breathed 'O'er Eden.' None of the deeper feelings of human nature are to be discussed or portrayed. I was not writing for the juvenile life, but for men and women who would understand the difficulties, trials and temptations of human life."

Newte Also Voices Protest. "It might be thought that writers like myself who, in all seriousness, endeavor to describe life as it is, would be tolerated for their educational qualities," protests Horace Newte. "But it is not so. Those whose books provide a wholesome corrective to the prevalent sickly sentimentalism are to be banned, while those writers who express essential truths and proclaim the thing that is not—and in so doing raise false beacons for ships ill-equipped, by reason of ignorance, for the perilous voyage of life—are to be boomed."

The New York publisher who is reported to have "The Memoirs of the Empress Eugenie" ready for publication immediately after the centenary decade, seems to have got hold of a bad egg. That illustrious lady's private secretary emphatically states that "her majesty has not written any memoirs. She will not write any, and any publication of this kind which might be attributed to her would be entirely false." This denial is due to the fact that there has been prepared ready for issue, a work in several languages entitled "Memoires de l'Impératrice Eugenie."

Baby Eczema Skin Irritations

SPLENDID RESULTS OBTAINED BY USING DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT THE GREATEST OF HEALERS.

Thoughtful mothers are forsaking pore-clogging and insupportable powders for the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment and find there is no treatment so effective for chafed and irritated skin, scald head and eczema.

This ointment makes the skin soft and smooth and insures healthy, natural action of the pores of the skin. A trial of Dr. Chase's Ointment is usually enough to convince anyone that there is nothing like it as a beautifier of the skin and as a means of overcoming painful and annoying itching skin diseases.

It is so pure and clean, so delightfully soothing and healing and so pleasant to use that it soon finds a permanent place in every home where its merits become known. Sixty cents a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for a free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

SUFFERING ENDED

W. T. STRONG SELLS THE REMEDY THAT CURED STOMACH TROUBLE OF FOURTEEN YEARS.

And best of all W. T. Strong guarantees it to cure you or money back. Read this:

"For about ten years I have been severely troubled with stomach trouble and indigestion so bad that I could not retain my food after eating. I could eat scarcely anything and had headaches and constipation. I secured a package of Mi-o-na, with the results that now after having taken two boxes I am entirely cured and can eat anything, digest perfectly, and am feeling fine. Mi-o-na also overcame my constipation. I am only too glad to publicly endorse and recommend Mi-o-na."—Mr. George Linder, of corner Mill and Park streets, Elmira, Ont.

Mi-o-na is not a nostrum; it is the prescription of a celebrated physician who is a specialist in stomach diseases.

One clever woman calls Mi-o-na the Sunshine Prescription, because it changed her from a miserable, nervous dyspeptic into a bright, healthy and happy woman in a few weeks.

These little Mi-o-na tablets are surely wonder workers. They are purely cure indigestion whether acute or chronic. They stop belching gas in stomach and heaviness in a few minutes. Distress after eating vanishes as if by magic when one or two little Mi-o-na tablets are swallowed. Only 50 cents a box at leading drug-stores everywhere, and in London by W. T. Strong.

THE ELDER BROTHER. "Are elder brothers an aid to matrimony?" you ask, "Mary." Most decidedly. They can introduce their sisters to eligible young men, and help on a friendship if they are so minded by their appreciative, tactful remarks. Again, the elder brother is useful as the chaperon, and numerous are the girls who have met their fate under

For "The Hungry Heart," by D. Graham Phillips, characterized in some quarters as a typically American story. Ridgwell Cullum's "The Sheriff of Dyke Hole," a story set in a mining district in Montana, U. S. A., is the best thing of the kind I have read since Bret Hart's day. The description of Dyke Hole as "the sort of place you'd dump a naggin' wife in if you wanted to be quit of her—she'd take right on and die o' dry rot" is calculated to tickle the fancy of the British novel reader. Another popular novel of the hour is "The Tyrant" by Mrs. Henry de la Pasture, which tells of an ill-used wife with a penurious husband.

Britain's general election called a halt to the outpouring of books. That pause gave the curious an opportunity to study the analysis of last year's books. This records an increase of nearly 1,000 new books over the year preceding, the total being 8,446, or including new editions, 10,725. Andrew Lang wants to know who reads all these books.

such care. Timid lovers, too, find brothers very useful. A man who would never screw up courage to ask straight if Miss Agnes is at home finds no difficulty in inquiring if "Jim is in." It matters little, of course, whether Jim be in or out; he has served his purpose. Now a girl without brothers has no such advantages as these, and may have little opportunity of making the acquaintance of the opposite sex. Some brothers, of course, object to be made use of in this way, but this kind are not so numerous as those who find a pleasure in looking after their sisters, and we may be sure that a good brother will make a good husband.—Exchange.

HISTORIC PENS.

Pens and furniture used in the signing of famous treaties and documents recall Archibald Forbes' experience after Sedan. After witnessing Napoleon's interview with Bismarck at a wayside cottage, and his subsequent surrender, Forbes and a fellow war correspondent slept at the chateau which the fallen emperor had occupied the night before. The bedroom was just as Napoleon had left it, and by the bed the open book with which he had read himself to sleep. It was Lytton's "Last of the Barons." Sitting at the adjoining writing table, Forbes wrote his dispatch, while his companion gnawed at a ham bone, their sole remainder of food. Late at the little eating it furnished, he flung it across the room, upsetting the inkstand into which Forbes was dipping. When Forbes revisited the chateau a month or so later the inkstand was pointed out as caused by Napoleon's rage on learning the German terms of peace.—London Chronicle.

THE SECOND READING OF THE NAVAL BILL

Opposition Moves for Six Months Hoist of the Measure But the Proposal is Voted Down.

Ottawa, March 10.—A final and despairing effort today on the part of the Opposition to involve a semblance of party unity in the chaos which prevailed within their ranks since the inception of the Government's naval policy served only to emphasize the hopeless position in which they have placed themselves on the question of naval defence, and the united strength of the Government. After another day's talk, much of which was a wearisome repetition of a now familiar tale, Mr. Northrup's speech, in which he intended to weld the inharmonious elements in the Opposition together, was defeated by 119 to 75, a Government majority of 41, and immediately afterwards the naval service bill was given a second reading by the same majority.

A Weird Contention. The contentions performed by Mr. Borden and his following since March of last year were capped today by the extraordinary position assumed by Mr. Northrup, with the consent of his leader. For five weeks the Opposition have been shouting their loyalty from the housetops, and prating of dire emergency, demanding immediate action on the part of Canada, and yet they saw no inconsistency in putting forward an amendment which not only nullified their previous policy, but which was intended to postpone indefinitely any practical step towards naval defence on the part of the Dominion. It was not necessary for a single Liberal member to expose the absurdity of the Opposition's latest move. That was very effectively done by one of their associates, Mr. W. F. Maclean, who, in a speech of refreshing candor, told the so-called imperialist party what he thought of their shortsighted and unpatriotic attitude. After declaring that he was entirely out of sympathy with all the amendments of the Opposition, he said that for South York showed his contempt for the party to which he is allied by staying away from the division.

Cheers at Division. The climax of absurdity in the Conservative position was reached when Mr. Northrup, who fathered the amendment to give the bill the six months' hoist, gravely announced that Canada had no right to build and control a navy of her own, and that before embarking upon such a course the question should be submitted to the supreme court.

The result of the division, which took place at 11:30 p.m., was hailed with loud cheers from the Liberal members, but there was no demonstration such as took place this morning.

There were ten Opposition members and eleven Liberal members absent.

Notice to Fat Women

Presumably you know, ladies, that the proper caper nowadays is lines. Curves are passe. You have got to take off your fat. This can be done in one of three ways. By dieting, by exercise, or by means of Marmola Prescription Tablets. The latter will keep you busy for months and punish you pretty severely, the latter will cost you 5 cents at the drugist's. The tablets will not make any alteration in your diet necessary, and yet in all probability, before you have used up one case, you will be losing from 10 to 16 ounces of fat a day. Which method do you like the best?

If you fancy this pleasant method of getting off the fat, see your druggist instantly, or else write the Marmola Company, 159 Farmer building, Detroit, Mich., to send you a case by mail. These cases contain so generous a quantity of tablets that the treatment is very economical. It is also quite harmless, for the tablets are made exactly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription.

Jeff De Angelis.

"The Beauty Spot" proved a most attractive and altogether pleasing entertainment, and Jefferson De Angelis and his company of entertainers scored heavily at the Grand last night. There was a good house, and the majority were his delighted with the play.

The story concerns the location of a mole on the knee of the wife of General Somers. During her early years she was a model, and she was painted, with the beauty spot showing prominently on her forehead. The general was aware of the fact, and when he discovered that an artist knew of the location of the mole, he was very angry, and he ordered the artist to be executed. The artist, however, was not so easily disposed of, and he continued to work on the plot, creating all sorts of fun and mischief. The play is a very clever and humorous one, and it is a pity that it is not so popular as it should be. The music is of a higher order than the ordinary jingling tunes, and while there are some extremely whistable songs, the majority of the music is of a high order.

The fun-making is largely in the hands of Jefferson De Angelis, and his company of entertainers. He was funny last night, and added to his reputation as a comedian. He had some good songs, among them being "She Sells Sea Shells," a tongue-twister set to music, and "The Little Girl of Armond, who is a near-liliputian, is a graceful, vivacious little body, and made a fine impression. Frank (the actor) is a very good actor, and as a fun-maker was a good second to De Angelis himself. Viola (the actress) was a very good actress, and the other roles were most capably filled. The chorus was large and shapely, and they were most effective in their costumes. The staging and costuming were real show.

It was a good play.

"Molly May" Tonight

Grace La Rue, in "Molly May," the new and wholly original comic opera by Julian Edwards, has struck the theatre-going public's fancy so strongly that the production is made that when it enters on its New York run, two weeks hence, it will remain in the metropolis for a number of months. With Miss La Rue is a company of exceptional quality. "Molly May" will be the attraction at the Grand tonight.

"Uncle Tom" Matinee

There has never been so much wish and adequate a production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" as that which Mr. Martin will offer amusement lovers at the Grand tomorrow, matinee and night. The scenes, which are large enough to fill the most spacious stage, could not easily be improved. The company is also worthy of the environment. Frank Lee, the minstrel star, offers an excellent study of Uncle Tom. A special matinee will be given at 2:30 for ladies and children, at which all seats will be reserved.

FLAMES IN STABLE MADE RAPID HEADWAY

Firemen Did Good Work Preventing Spread to Nearby Stores.

An old stable in the rear of the New Williams Piano Company's warehouse at 261 Dundas street, was found to be on fire last night shortly after 9 o'clock and before the fire department arrived it was a mass of flames.

The stable was used as a storehouse, and was filled with old pianos and piano cases filled with paper and excelsior. The fire, which was caused by a gas leak, attracted hundreds of people. It was not long before the structure collapsed.

Good Work. The firemen did good work in preventing the flames from spreading to the main warehouse. The building destroyed is owned by Mr. John Lawson, who is at present out of the city.

His loss will be comparatively small. A number of people who crowded onto the roof of a small shed nearby to watch the fire, had a close call from being seriously injured when the roof went through with them.

Adjoining the burning stable was another large frame stable, and it was feared for a time this would burn also. The firemen, however, watched it closely and prevented it from catching.

BRITISH BUDGET

London, March 11.—The civil service estimates for 1910-11, which were given out today, with a total amount required of $330,000,000, show, like the navy and army estimates, a marked increase in the national expenditure.

Should the chancellor's budget provide for the usual consolidated fund charges, the grand aggregate expenditure which the chancellor will have to meet will be upwards of $355,000,000, or nearly $50,000,000 in excess of last year's total.

The civil service estimates include $46,100,000 for old age pensions.

Davis, of St. James' Episcopal Church, conducted the services, and made touching reference to the blow which has befallen the parents into the deepest grief.

Mr. Giese is an engraver and jeweller, and has resided in London for many years.

MR. GRANT HAS NO OBJECTION

If City Wants to Name Equalization Board He Is Satisfied.

TALK OF FAVORITISM

Assessment Commissioner Does Not Doubt That There Are Rumors, But He Says Facts Are Scarce.

A court of equalization to raise the assessment of property assessed too low, with powers similar to the court of revision, which reduces assessments that are too high, is the suggestion of Ald. Richter, and it may be acted upon by the council.

Assessment Commissioner Grant does not think there is much need of such a body, as he points out the assessment is quite sufficient at the present time.

Ald. Richter, however, thinks that at least $2,000,000 could be added to the assessment of the city in this manner. "I am convinced that there is much property in this city assessed at too low a figure," he asserted. "In making certain investigations I came to the conclusion that this is the case, and I am of the opinion that it should be remedied."

My suggestion is that a court of equalization be appointed whose duty it will be to check up the assessments that are too low, and to equalize them to a sort of equalization board as we see in the counties.

There is no doubt in my mind that such a body, if properly organized, could be done, and the city would add a great deal of money to the treasury each year."

Not Well Founded. It was stated that certain individuals, such as ex-aldermen, were favored by the assessment department, and that their assessment was much lower than some of their neighbors.

Assessment Commissioner Grant stated, however, that there were no rumors to that effect, but when the matter was gone into there was little or no foundation for such statements.

By looking into the real estate returns it will be seen that the assessment shows about 70 to 80 per cent of the consideration," said Mr. Grant. "The records show slight fluctuations. For instance, the Grand Trunk Railway has purchased much land, for which they had to pay exorbitant prices. In certain business sections, parcels of land have been sold above the normal value for certain business reasons. That would show a lower percentage in the assessed value, but when the normal land sale continues it will be found that the assessed value will be about 80 per cent of the sale price."

Big Question. The assessment, he charged, and is still being charged, that some large properties are not assessed for their full value, or, at least, not to the normal percentage. There are many sides to that question, and the assessment we make is based on experience, not only of our own city, but of others.

"However, I am not complaining of any extra servants of the city, who are to assist in the committee of tax. The only danger is that too many cooks will spoil the broth."

Work Well Done. "The assessment is done very well in London," said Ald. Commissioner Pockock, who was a member of the court of revision for two years.

"In practically no case was the assessment complained of unreasonable, and they were in all cases, so far as we could see, fair."

Ald. Richter will, however, continue his investigations, and will have an extensive report to make shortly.

WON BY WIRELESS

Harvard Man's Proposal at Long Distance Was Successful.

Chicago, March 11.—That the wireless may be used for a tender purpose than summoning help to a disabled ship became known today, when the engagement of Miss Louise Gaylord to Mr. Walter F. Dillingham, of Honolulu, was announced.

Mr. Dillingham proposed and was accepted in Honolulu while Miss Gaylord was thus away in mid-ocean. They had known each other for three days only.

Last September Mrs. Adams, wife of Dr. Charles Adams, and sister of Mr. John J. Mitchell, president of the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank, left for a trip around the world. Her daughter, Miss Gaylord, accompanied her.

The party reached Honolulu in October and remained but three days. While they were there Mr. Dillingham, who is a Harvard graduate, and the son of a missionary, was noticeably attentive to Miss Gaylord.

After three days Mrs. Adams and party steamed for Japan. The ship had not cleared the harbor by many hours when the wireless operator

FIERCE RIOTS IN PHILADELPHIA

The Police Club a Vast Army of Strike Sympathizers.

BALKED DEMONSTRATION

A Two Hours' Pitched Battle in Heart of the City in Which Many Heads Are Broken.

Philadelphia, March 10.—The police fought and whipped 20,000 strikers and their sympathizers in the heart of the city this afternoon. Broad street, from the Philadelphia National League Park to the city hall, was a battle ground for two hours.

The great thoroughfare was choked with men and women, who struggled to break down the police barricade and surround the city hall. Hundreds of them were wounded, but the strikers, trampled by men and horses, kicked and cuffed and whirled heading to side streets. It is impossible to say how many were hurt. The police troubled to make few arrests, but after the mob was split and broken and its parts were driven helter skelter into the side street, you saw scores of men, now and then a woman, whose heads had been cut open by savage blows of a club, whose faces were bloody, or who were nursing an arm paralyzed by the smashing impact of the policeman's mace.

Curious Spectacle. Broad street was a curious spectacle after the battle had roared itself away and none were left but the files of policemen on guard. For squares the asphalt was littered with hats, men's hats and women's, head coverings that had been crushed and swept away in the driving rushes of the policemen. Trunks of damaged millinery might have been gathered up. There were shoes that had been torn off by their owners and thrown at the police, and many of them were women's.

Business Men Seek Peace for Phila. Another Effort Being Made to End the Street Car Strike.

[Associated Press.] Philadelphia, March 11.—Another effort to find some method by which the street car strike could be ended was made today by the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company and the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees can be ended will be made today by the United Businessmen's Association.

This body represents 42 business organizations, with 12,000 members. A committee composed of delegates from these trade bodies, religious and fraternal societies and other organizations will meet this afternoon to discuss the subject. The meeting will take the ground that the general public has some rights in the present situation.

The committee of ten, which has the matter in charge, is bending all its efforts towards securing recruits from the big industrial plants. Men whose occupation is to supply the necessities of life are not being interfered with, and even those engaged in assisting to provide amusement for citizens and visitors are at their posts.

According to John J. Murphy, president of the Central Labor Union, and a member of the committee of ten, no efforts will be made to have the bakers leave their posts, and even the union bartenders and waiters will remain at work.

The strike situation, so far as the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company is concerned remains about the same. The company continues to slowly increase the number of cars in operation with the assistance of men recruited in other cities. There were six collisions of trolley cars yesterday, in which five persons were more or less seriously injured.

CEMENT AND ITS USES

Big Show Will Be Held in London, March 29 to April 1.

There is nothing at the present time so interesting to the farmer in the line of building material as cement, and the different uses it may be put to. It is generally admitted by all that much as has been done in the past it is practically in its infancy yet. In these times when the scarcity of timber and lumber is confronting the farmer and builder on every hand he must of necessity turn to cement for his building material.

The cement show and convention to be held at London, Ont., March 29 to April 1, will be of great interest and profit to all who can spare the time to attend. The cost will be but a trifle, as reduced rates have been obtained on all railroads by buying single-fare tickets and securing certificates at the starting point. The admission to the show and convention is free. No one who is at all interested in the use of cement should miss this opportunity. The different kinds of machinery used in the manufacture of cement in all its different forms of bricks and blocks will be in actual operation, besides the artistic displays which will be made by the different exhibitors. Township councillors, county councillors and all officials who have the management of roads and bridges should make a special effort to attend. Remember the dates March 29 to April 1. All information will be promptly given by applying to A. M. Hunt, London, Ont.

DELIGHTFUL CONCERT
 Given Last Night in Dundas Centre Methodist Church.

A very delightful concert was given last night in the Dundas Centre Methodist Church. The splendid audience by the choir under the direction of Mr. J. Parnell Morris, assisted by Joseph Alexander. This talented education and reader has won for herself a very enviable place in these departments. Last night her selections were most heartily received, and many times she had to respond to insistent appeals for encores.

A very interesting feature of last night's programme was the opening number, an instrumental selection, rendered by Mr. Morris at the organ. Miss Clara Darville and Mr. Edward Johnston at one piano, and Messrs. Leslie Roberts and J. Clifford Richardson at the other. The effect of the three instruments was very unusual and pleasing.

Mendelssohn's Forty-second Psalm was the most exciting number given by the choir, as well as the most effective number. The splendid vocal which the conductor has over his choir was amply evidenced in this number, and the rendition of this hymn was a real triumph. All that could be desired. Especially beautiful was the first and most difficult chorus of "Hallelujah," which the choir showed to great advantage. The solo part was taken by Miss Annie Ried in a very pleasing manner.

The choir has already gained quite a reputation for its unaccompanied work and last night's programme more than justified this verdict. The numbers "The Holy, Holy, Holy," and the "Christmas Song" (Coral), proved among the most appreciated numbers of the programme.

Another very pleasing number was the quartette, "When Morning Glads the Skies," by Messrs. Lillian Pittman and Annie Reid and Messrs. H. S. Walker and Wm. Skinner, which obtained a very enthusiastic reception by the audience.

Altogether the concert was one of very unusual merit, and one that reflects great credit on all concerned.

LATE LOCAL NEWS

Grand Trunk Railway System.
Traffic earnings from Jan. 22 to 31, 1910: 1910, $1,098,257; 1909, $324,298;
increase of $174,049.

London Clearing House.
The clearing house returns for the week ending March 10 show a total of $1,110,904, while the returns for the corresponding week of 1909 totalled $1,224,071.

A Big Success.

The second night of the Y. M. C. A.
Glee Club concert proved just as successful as the first occasion, and a very good-sized audience took advantage of the opportunity to hear this, the latest of London's musical organizations.

Late Mrs. Duffield.

The funeral of Mrs. Louisa Duffield was held this afternoon from her late residence, 518 Queen's avenue, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, and was of a private nature. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Manning, of Dundas Centre Church.

Army Medicals' Euchre.

The Fifteenth Field Ambulance Unit
A. M. C. held their weekly euchre contest at the Armories Wednesday.
There was a good crowd on hand, and the games were hotly contested. Pte.
Lee McIntyre won out with a "garrison" finish from Sgt. Orr. Major D.
H. Hogg donated a handsome prize.

Former London Lady Dead.

Mrs. Laura Katherine Stock, widow of the late John Stock, died in Toronto on Wednesday. Mrs. Stock was 65 years old, and for a long time resided in London. She is survived by five sons, Walter A. and Arthur, of Detroit; Perse, who is a civil engineer;
Morley, of Summerland, B. C.; and William N., of Toronto. The funeral will be held this afternoon in Toronto, and was of a private nature.

Rev. Irl Hicks' Guesses.

The alleged weather prophet's prognostications for the first part of March were "away out"—at least as far as their section of the continent is concerned. His "probe" for the latter part of the month are: Another regular storm from the 10th to the 15th including squalls on the 11th, 12th, 13th and 14th. Disagreeable weather for the 17th,
18th and 19th is vaguely hinted at.
Then along about the 25th we are to have tropical storms in the nature of hurricanes and tornadoes, in the south and east, and blizzards in the west and north, with rain, sleet and snow during the last week of the month.

Cathedral Wedding.

A quiet wedding was solemnized in St. Paul's Cathedral at 11 a.m. on Wednesday, the 9th inst., when Rev. Canon
Dunn united in matrimony, Ethel M.
Kilbourne, second daughter of S. D.
Kilbourne, of Fairview, Byron, and
Robert J. Dodds, of Silverton, B. C.

The bride wore ivory satin. Both bride and groom were unattended. Music was rendered by Mr. G. Sippel.
Only the immediate relatives witnessed the ceremony. Lunch was afterwards served at the home of the bride's father. Mr. and Mrs. Dodds will make their future home at Silverton, British Columbia.

Left for Winnipeg.

Mr. Fred Granger has gone to Winnipeg where he will in future reside. A number of his former associates in the Acadian Club were present at the depot, and just prior to the departure of the train they presented him with a handsome locket, suitably engraved. Mr. Granger thanked the boys for their present and hearty good wishes. He will enter business in the west.

Pestered Dog-Catcher.

Some young men, who, it is alleged, interfered with Dog-Catcher Blackstock while he was attempting to take a dog that had no muzzle on from a woman at the corner of Dundas and Wellington streets Wednesday night will probably appear in the police court in a day or two, as their names were taken by the police. It is stated that Blackstock was about to take the dog from the woman when the young men interfered and took it away from him.
"Come to London."

A song entitled "Come to London," dedicated to the city of London, has just been published by Mr. C. L.
Graves, 142 Grey street, and bids fair to become quite popular, especially with the Booster Club idea. It is written in march time, and has quite a catchy air. An attractive cover, with splendid views of London's public buildings and scenes of the River Thames make it an appropriate souvenir to send to friends. It can be procured at all music stores.

Off For the West.

A large number of friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stone met at their home last Thursday night to spend an evening with them before they leave the neighborhood for their new home in Alberta. After the guests had gathered, Mr. and Mrs. Stone were called forward, and Mr. J. Urquhart presented Mr. Stone with a well-filled purse. The address was signed by the following: H. B. Woodman, P. E.
Bartlette, John Urquhart, James
Douglas, on behalf of many others.

Clothing Bargains.

Oak Hall's gigantic removal sale is attracting hundreds of pleased customers these days. Shrewd buyers are taking advantage of the tremendous slaughter of prices which prevails during this month. Their large stock of fine clothing and furnishings must be cleared before moving into their new premises next door. The buyers are to clear out the present stock regardless of profit. This means the opportunity of securing men's, boys', and children's clothing and furnishings at a saving of many dollars.

THE CAT SHOW.

The Cat Show of the Western Fair will be held this year on Sept. 15, 14 and 15, the same dates as last year's exhibition. The show this year promises to be one of the best ever held in this part of the province, and it is expected that some very fine stock will be entered.
