RUNAWAY

There was quite a runaway Saturday evening on Queen St. A man from the country had tarried a little too long where good city liquor is sold and he had about all he could hold down when he started for home. His wife and child were in the rig with him Although the man didn't have very good control over himself he started running his horse. The buggy collided with a butcher's rig and the man, his the road. The three were picked up and assisted back into the rig and they proceeded home. Chief Holmes arriv-ed just after the man had left, but Chief says that, if he is able to learn it, the reckless man will come back to Chatham police court and settle for his

THE PREMIER AT MONTREAL

Welcomed by an Enthusiastic Crowd - Replies to the

Though Much Changed in Appearance he Says he Hopes to Still Serve the Country.

Montreal, Oct. 18-Sir Wilfrid Laurrier, Finance Minister Fielding and party arrived by special train from Quebec at the Place Viger, C P. R. station, shortly after two o'clock this afternoon, There was a large crowd in waiting at the station to welcome good sized crowd of the general public was gathered in front of the station, and on the piatform were many lead-When Sir Wilfrid Laurier alighted from the train he was greatly cheered, and he smiled his acknowledgment and hands with many old friends and supporters. The Premier's changed appearance caused considerable comment. He has grown very thin, and has the appearance of having passed through a severe illness. His friends were much grieved to notice the change, but he was in the best of spirits, assured them he was feel-ing all right now, and hoped to soon be his old self agair. The Premier was escorted to the the cony of the Place Viger Hotel, where he was received by Mayor Cochrane, who read an address of welcome on behalf of the citizens of Montreal, irrespective of politics. Addresses were also hand-ed in from the Board of Trade and a number of Liberal organizations.

The Premier, who was heartily acclaimed by the crowd in front of the station, replied briefly in French to the address. He spoke with considerable vigor, and his remarks were prefer his friendship if he is willing erable vigor, and his remarks were heartily applauded. He thanked the citizens of Montreal for their warm welcome, which he was glad to know, was of a non-political character. He realized he did not receive the wel-come as one intended for the leader of a party, but as intended for the who, as the representative of Canada, had during his trip abroad endeavor-ed to do his duty for the interests of the whole country.

Referring to the colonial conference the Premier said he had met with the most cordial treatment. He had striven to act not only as a British subject, but also as a citizen of Canada, and while his attitude might be criticised by some he felt that he would have the support of the majority of his countrymen. He had also received a most sympathetic reception in France, the home of his/ancestors, While he could not say anything at present, he hoped that great good would result to Canada from what had been done. There was one thing that he could say-he had visited many fine countries, but he had found none as fine as Canada and he was glad to get home. He had heard that it had been stated that the doctors had given him up, but though he was not getting any younger, he did not think he was ready for heaven yet, and he hoped to -Applause. Sir Wilfrid expressed regret that he could not accept the public demonstration that had been arranged in his honor for to-night, but matters of pressing public importance demanded his attention at the capital. The Premier was heartily cheered as he concluded. He and Mr. Fielding were then escorted to carriages and accompanied by the Mayor, drove to the Windsor Hotel. He left for Otawa by the four o'clock express.

probably the last week of the anthracite strike closed to-day without anything developing to change the peaceful trend of events. It was a quiet day at headquarters and a busy one in the district and sub-districts headquarters throughout the entire coal fields on account of the election of delegates to Monday's convention. All the "locals" have met and selected their representative to the Wilkes-

WILL ACCEPT THE PLAN. There seems to be little doubt that the convention will accept the offer of arbitration. Reports have been received here, coming principally from the region around Scranton, that there will be considerable opposition to the acceptance of the plan, but these reports are not taken seriously at President Mitchell's headquarters. There will be opposition in the conis expected to disappear when Mr. Mitchell explains the proposition to the delegates. A KNOTTY POINT.

Probably the most difficult question which will come before the convention is the one relative to strikers securing record as saying they will take care of all the employes who have stood by them during the strike. Many of the miners want the convention to withhold acceptance of the arbitration plan until the union is assured that the strikers will be re-employed in their former places. This likely will cause a long debate, but the officials of the union say the matter will be fixed up satisfactorily to all.

MITCHELL PRAISES MORGAN. President Mitchell was asked to night what he knew of the report pubhished that J. P. Morlan was going to intervene in the coal strike, and in reply, he said:-"To my personal knowledge Mr. Morgan has been trying to settle the coal strike ever since was the strike would have been setsettlement, but I am informed that the has keenly felt his responsibility to the public in connection with the fuel famine, and has done his best to bring about the end. Both Mr. Morgan and Mr. Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania R. R., were working for a settlement when President Roosevelt made his last and successful movement.. Mr. Morgan could not very well be forced to do something which he had been trying to achieve for several weeks. I make this state-ment in justice to Mr. Morgan. We to give it to us. I am creditably informed that he is friendly to organized labor. As an organizer of capital he concedes the right to labor to organize also, and when labor organizations are fair and conservative he be-lieves in dealing directly with them for the advantage of the employer and employe. It is this friendship which united mine workers seek in the anthracite field, and we invite Mr. Mongan to co-operate with us in securing a permanent and scien-tific solution of the labor problem

A SHAFT WRECKED.

The shaft of the Mount Lookout colliery of the Temple Coal and Iron company at Wyoming was wrecked o-day by one of the small iocomotives used for hauling cars containing coal. ran full speed 200 yards to the shaft and plunged down, lodging 320 feet below the surface at the Pod to the shaft cannot get here. I have no Carnottee The engineer left the locomotive for a low the surface at the Red Ash Vein. The boiler did not explode, but the big machinery in its fall tore out the lining of the shaft and did other damaeg that will cause a suspension for week or more. A few seconds befor the accident a cage holding ten men was lowered down the shaft, and they had just stepped off at the bottom when the locomotive plunged down.

THE DEPARTURE OF TROOPS. Maj.-Gen. Miller, in command of the nearly 10,000 troops in the field, who has been inspecting the camp in this vicinity, went to Scranton to-day. It is probable the homeward movement of the soldiers will begin about the middle of next week. It is costing the State more than $30,000 a day to keep the National Guard in the field.

NO FEAR OF A HITCH. Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 19 .- The delegates to the anthracite mine work-ers' convention, which will meet in Nesbitt Theatre, this city, at 10 o'clock to-morrow forenoon, began arriving here to-day, and about one-quarter of the 700 or 800 delegates to the convention are now in the city. Many of the delegates are instructed on various features of the settlement, but a majority will follow the advice and judgment, of President Mitchell. There is nothing on the surface to-night that gives the slightest indication that the convention will not vote to send the men to work this week, with the probability of Thursday being selected as the day of resumption. All the delegates who were spoken to regarding the action of to-morrow's convention appeared to have no fear Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 18.-What is, many of the delegates say they have instructions in certain matters, which The principal question outside of that of accepting or rejecting President Roosevelt's proposition will be that of strikers getting their old places. A large number of the men fear that in the general rush to return to the mines, some of them may fail to get work. It is likely this element from the three districts will join forces and make a concerted fight on the floor of the convention for some specific action. The debate, it is believed, will take up a great deal of the time of the convention, which is expected to last not more than two days. The meeting in all likelihood will be held behind closed doors after formal or-ganization is effected. President Mitchell will be elected chairman, and during the first session, in an openng speech to the delegates, he will lay the plan of arbitration before them. He will recommend that it be accepted and the men return to work as quickly as the coal companies can provide work. National Secretary W. tary, and he will have as assistants the district secretaries.

FOLLOW MITCHELL'S ADVICE. Shamokin, Pa., Oct. 19.-Headed by ohn Fahy, president of the ninth disrict, sixty delegates heft here to-day for Wilkesbarre to attend the United Mine Workers' convention there to-President Fahy said he expects the convention to vote unani-mously in support of Mitchell's advice to them to accept services of President Roosevelt's special commission. A force of men worked at the local mines to-day repairing railroads, setting up new prop timber and establishing new ventilation, so that the mines can be started up as soon as the miners are ready to go

Another Instance of the Wonderful Scope and Potency of Planet Ads.

This great home journal has occasionally taken opportunity to call atention to the unrivalled and unchallenged combined circulation of its daily and weekly issues. It is not necessary to do this often, because advertisers know it for themselves and -what is more important-they have experienced the splendid results which follow their announcements in this widely circulating medium.

The latest enterprising merchant to receive evidence of this is Mr. S. E. Smith, the King street grocer, who this morning received the following communication from Cuba, which he has handed to The Planet:-

OUR CONTEMPORARY.

Our contemporary, the Banner, is now duly located in its new offices down the street. The work of moving has been a tedious and exacting one and the Banner is to be congratulated upon the success with which it has been accomplished.

While it will doubtless seem a bit lonely for this great home journal to gaze over at the empty building, whence our contemporary has hurled its broadsides at our devoted heads for years past, we find solace in the fact that "distance lends enchantment to the view," and hope that, amid new surroundings, the Banner will grow and expand in such a manmer that there may be developed in a present of a beautiful carpet Chatham a journalistic mutual ad- sweeper and the promise of a clothes' miration society.

leader of the Liberal-Conservative party, thus stated his political creed: "I do not believe in sending raw materials to the United States, sending Canadians after them to work in United States factories, and then sending good Canadian money to buy the goods made by Canadians from Canadian material in the United States. I believe in the development of industries along legitimate lines, and developing the coal of Nova Scotia, the lumber of British Columbia, the fisheries, the lead mines, as well as the great agricultural industries of these western plains, and only by a policy of this kind can we build up a great nation."

END OF THE COAL STRIKE.

The struggle of the anthracite coal operatives for recognition of their union and the amelioration of the conditions of labor in the mines has terminated in their triumph over the forces of monopoly. For five long months 147 .-000 workmen maintained a dubious fight against the operators through the assistance of their fellow union men, who contributed liberally of their means to support the strikers and their families, the principle at stake being the vital issue of the right of workmen to combine for their common interests. And it is this feature of the outcome which will probably be regarded by them as the most important point gained by the miners. But perhaps more significant still, because more pregnant of beneficent possibilities, is the recognition of the sound principle of arbitration. It would be unreasonable to suppose that this lesson of the great strike will be lost, or that the humane and honorable means which have brought it to a termination, will not form a precedent in the settlement of important industrial disturbances in the future. At all events we need never look for a repetition of the autocratic attitude of capitalists in spurning an offer of arbitration where the ample production of one of the prime necessities of life is involved. The operators have learned this lesson at least, that there is a danger line in dealing arbitrarily with public interests beyond which it is unsafe to venture. This was tacitly acknowledged by the president dent of the Ontario and Western railway, who when asked what led the operators to make their final offer of arbitration, said :-

It was chiefly due to the pressure of public opinion or rather you might say public necessity. We recognized that the public would suffer from scarcity of coal if something were not done soon, and we concluded that it would be honorable to overlook in a measure the rights of the interests we reprement in order that a way out of a serious predicament might be found.

In accepting this statement of the case, however, people will be come strained to ask why the mine owners

GUELPH'S EXCEPTIONAL COAL DEALERS. Guelph Herald.

Were bread at famine prices, and people crying with hunger, should the government listen to the protest of bakers who desire to reap a harvest from a great public calamity? Fuel is almost as essential to the life of the people of Canada in winter as bread. Why should the coal dealers be allowed-in a period of stress like this -to squeeze immense profits out of the suffering poor? To the lasting credit of the Guelph dealers, be it said, they have shown a reasonable ness and consideration in dealing with with the public that is in fine contrast to the conduct of the trade in othe

ENDED LIFE IN BARN.

Listowel, Ont., Oct. 17 .- Word ha reached town that Benjamin Everall, an old resident of the Wallace boundary, about three miles west of Listowel, took his own life by himself in the barn, while his son's family, with whom he lived, were at dinner. The old man was in his 84th year, and it is supposed that he com-mitted suicide while in a fit of despondency. He had been in town the day before, and appeared to be in his usual health, although he had been noticeably failing of late, both mentally and physically. He had been a resident of the 1st concession of Wallace for many years, and in his younger days was an ardent Orangeman. He was a staunch Conservative.

The Harvest Home service of Holy Trinity church were successfully held yesterday, Rev. Rural Dean Ridley, of Galt, presiding at both services. The church was very beautifully decorated with fruit, grains and flowers, the work of the energetic ladies of the congregation. The church was filled to the doors on both occasions and those who were fortunate enough in attending, heard two of the finest discourses ever given in the Maple City. In the evening Mr. Ridley chose as the subject of his address, "Thou art weighed in the balance and found wanting." In his sermon he described the fall of Babylon. The musical part of the service, which was ander the direction of Harry Horstead, was very fine and keenly appreciated. The choir was assisted by Dr. Mason, baritone.

The scene in the Great Hall, where luncheon is to be served, will be most splendid one. The stone floors will be covered by crimson carpet. Over the royal table there is to be a magnificent canopy of crimson velvet and silk lined with cream-colored satin. The display of gold plate will be of exceptional interest. The cor-poration is very rich in this respect, and on occasions of Royal visits to the city the livery companies add to the spiendor of the scene by lending some of their own pieces. The gold smiths, the drapers, the armorers, and the braziers are all owners of very valuable examples, and for October 25th they will send their choicest treasures, especially in the form of cups, which will be well shown off against the dark wood paneling of the hall.

Doll Pineushion.

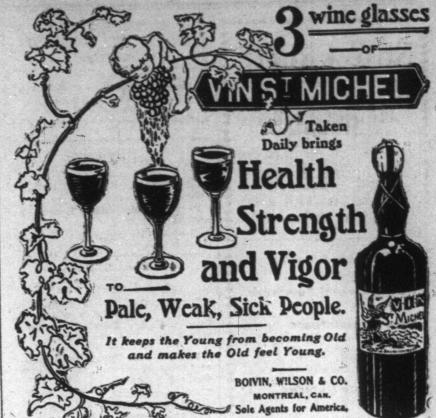

An attractive pincushion can be made by taking a small china doll with a flaxen wig and making a pink satin waist for it and a skirt of pink satin ribbon about four inches wide. Cut two long slips of the ribbon to simulate an infant's long robe. Fasten one slip at the back of the doll and the other in front, leaving the sides open. On lifting the front slip several pin pads of pink fiannel will appear, one on top of the other. The one is for black and white bead headed pins, the next pad is for small safety pins, the next for large sized ordinary white and black pins and the innermost pad for small sized white and black ones. This doll pincushion is to be suspended by a ribbon from the side of the dressing table or bureau.

Starch For Handkerchiefs. A starch for handkerchiefs that will make them look exactly as they did when taken from the box in the shop is made by placing six drops of bluing in two quarts of water and adding a piece of raw starch the size of a walnut. Care must be taken to thoroughly dissolve the starch and to let none of it settle in the bottom of the bowl. After the handkerchiefs have been washed and dried in the usual way dip each one separately in this starch, squeeze as dry as possible with the hands and lay smoothly in a towel. Iron with care.

Wisdom For Women. The woman who smiles when she sees her best tablecloth ruined, who puts aside the little mishap and makes the people around the table forget it, does well, but if when she is alone she allows her mind to dwell upon the loss of her cherished linen, if she lies awake at night fretting over it or lets it prey upon her waking hours-that is, if she worries over it-she is not the entirely wise, sensible and comfortable woman she ought to be.-Woman's Home Companion.

Woman's Sphere. They talk about a woman's sphere as though it had a limit;
There's, not a place in earth or heaven, There's not a task to mankind given, There's not a blessing or a woe.
There's not a whispered yes or no, There's not a life or birth
That has a feather's weight of worth—
Without a woman in it.

CAN BE CU ED WITHOUT THE KNIFE, PAIN OR LOSS OF TIME

BY DR. GOLDBERG'S LATEST METHOD OF TRESIMEN :

According to claims made by Dr. Goldberg, Detroit's noted ecialist, varicocele and strictures can be without pain, the use of the la or

Were these claims made by an urresponsible person, we should doubt their truthfulness, but as they come from a reliable source they are worthy of consideration.

The treatment consists of a combination of drugs, which, removes all traces of the stricture, while in varicocele, it equalizes circulation, thereby restoring the parts to their natural condition ; it cures nervousness, backache, smarting sensations, and unnatural discharges, thereby strengthening the organs, thus being a guaranteed cure for weak men.

If you are in need of treatment, 'we would advise you to write the doctor to-day, for if he accepts your case, you can pay when cured; this is certainly a fair proposition, as you need pay nothing until a complete cure has been made, and unless the doctor was certain that his latest Method Treatment was a positive cure, he could not make this offer. The doctor is a graduate of one of New York's leading medical colleges, and since his graduation has devoted his entire attention to the treatment of varicocele, stricture and skin diseases, He has taken four special courses in the New York Post Graduate Hospital for which he received special diplomas, certificates, etc., which testify to his standing and ability.

Patients calling at his office are interviewed by him in person and all correspondence receives his personal attention. Address him in confidence Dr. Goldberg, 208 Woodward avenue, Detroit,

THEY DRINK SEA WATER.

Cockatoos and Wild Pigeons Do Not

Seem to Mind It. "In 1881, while resident on Gazelle peninsula, the northern portion of the magnificent island of New Britain, in the south Pacific, I had many opportunities of witnessing both cockatoos and wild pigeons drinking salt water. was stationed at a place called Kabaira, the then 'farthest out' trading station on the whole island, and as I had but little work to do I found plenty of time to study bird life in the vicinity. Parrots of several varieties, all of beautiful plumage, were plentiful, and great flocks of white cockstoos frequented the rolling, grassy downs which lay between my home and the German head station in Blanche bay, twenty miles distant, while the heavy frost of the littoral was the haunt of thousands of pigeons. These pigeons, though not so large as the Samoan or eastern Polynesian bird, formed an agreeable change of diet for us white traders, and by walking about fifty yards from one's door half a dozen or more could be shot in as many minutes. "My nearest neighbor was a German, and one day when we were walking along the beach toward his station I noticed some hundreds of pigeons fly down from the forest, settle on the margin of the water and drink with apparent enjoyment. The harbor at this spot being almost landlocked and the water as smooth as glass and without the faintest ripple, the birds were enabled to drink without wetting their plumage. My neighbor, who had lived many years in New Britain, told me that this drinking of sea water was common to both cockatoes and pigeons alike, and that on some occasions the beaches would be lined with them, the cockatoos not only drinking, but bathing, and apparently enjoying themselves greatly. During the next six months, especially when the weather was calm and rainy, I frequently noticed pigeons and cockatoos come to the salt water to drink. "At first I thought that as fresh water in many places bubbled up through the sand at low tide the birds were not really drinking the sea water, but by watching closely I distinctly saw them walk across these tiny rundrink. Then, too, the whole of the Gazelle peninsula is cut up by countless streams of water, and rain falls throughout the year as a rule. What causes this unusual habit of drinking sea water? Another peculiarity of the New Britain and New Ireland pigeon is its fondness for the chili pepper | Medical Discovery. their flesh is so pungent and smells so strongly of the chili as to be quite uneatable."

Birds In Indian Legends. All primitive people regard the bird as specially wise and favored. Living in the air, he is regarded as exercising control over atmospheric phenomena, and, knowing so well his own migratory seasons, the Indians observe his flights as foreboding ill or good to themselves. The Hurens believe that the dove carries the souls of the departed hence. The Dakotas say the storm bird dwells so high as to be out of human vision and carries a fresh water lake on his back, so that when he plumes himself it rains, when he winks his bright eyes it lightens, when he flaps his wings thunder rolls. The Alaskans hold much the same idea about the "thunderbird." Among them all the eagle is mighty, brave, aspiring, the symbol of their warriors for apparent reasons. The kingfisher is anxious to serve his broth-

Royalty and Profanity. William the Conqueror did not intro-duce swearing into England, but he brought with him a very forcible oath. William was accustomed to swear "by the splendor of God," and on such occasions be combined with it the "terrible aspect of the eyes," which always took the place of swearing in the case of Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B. After William's time the rulers of England, with possibly here and there an exception, swore with great frequency and vigor. It is related that even Queen Bess, whose auburn locks did not belie a fiery temper, would break into a string of expletives that would rattle the royal windows and frighten the household and royal attendants from all sense of diplomatic recourse .- London Tatler.

Take care of the stomach and the health will take care of itself. If people only realized the soundness of that statement the majority might like to a good old age like Moses,"the eye undimmed, the natural force unabated." It is in the stomach that the blood is made. It is from the stomach that nourishment is dispensed to nerve and muscle. If the stomach is "weak" it nels without making any attempt to can't do its whole work for each part of the body. If it is diseased the disease will taint the nourishment which is distributed, and so spread disease throughout the body. Caring For the Nails. Women who cannot afford to employ a manicure can take care of their hands equally well if they will only give proper attention to it. A file, nail scissors and small wooden stick sharpened at one end are the only imple ments necessary, while the other requisites are a bottle of ongaline, a bowl of warm, soapy water, a nail brush and a jar of cold cream. If you cannot get ongaline, a good manicure acid is made by putting a teaspoonful of lemon juice into a cupful of warm water. This will remove stains and loosen the cuticle satisfactorily.

One of the secrets of good manicuring is to keep the nails wet and well greased while the work is being done. Soak the nails thoroughly and file them. Cut out any hangnails, but use the scissors for no other purpose. On no account cut the cuticle or any part of the flesh. If you do, it will thicken the flesh around the finger tips and reduce them to a hopeless condition. Bemove the roughness on the nails and all griminess or stains with the pointed stick wet with ongaline.

Fluffing the Hair. A Parisian hairdresser gave to a woman who is one of his best customers following solution, which is used in his establishment for giving the hair a fluffy, wavy appearance: Salt of tartar, one dram; powdered cochineal, one-half dram; one fluid dram each of liquor of ammonia and spirit of roses; glycerin, one-quarter of an ounce; one and one half fluid ounces of rectified spirits and eighteen ounces of distilled water. Acdigestion and nutrition. It is a tem- cording to his formula, this was left to dissolve for a week, being regularly shaken up and filtered before bottling for use. When the hair is moistened with the mixture, loosely adjusted and allowed to dry, a very charming effect is obtained. The Sensible Traveler. A man when traveling has the common sense to "do himself well," even Polson's Nerviline and quickly bind on if dining car luncheons and dinners add to the cost of his journey. Mean time her next door neighbor, who had a' breakfast on the train or dined well on the boat, arrives bright eyed and brisk and goes off to golf for the day, with a dance in immediate prospect. JUDGE STREET SCORCHES THE PETITIONERS' EVIDENCE

Sensational Incident at South Oxford Trial-"Improper and Reprehensible" Says His Lordship Referring to the Means Used by Liberals to Secure Evidence.

Oxford election trial has beer fabrication. adjourned until the first day of Deo'clock this afternoon. Both judges will be kept almost continuously at the end of November, and so it was that the order was made providing for A T the adjournment for a period of six weeks of the further investigation of

The closing session this morning provided the sensation of the whole trial. A sharp and acrid attack by Mr. W. H. Watson, counsel for the petitioners, upon the veracity of a witness, a respected Ingersoll merchant, the lie direct in open court from the witness, a stinging arraign-ment from Mr., Blake, the learned counsel for the respondent, of the proven irregularity or worse of the petitioners' methods of securing evidence, these were the train that led up to the crowning sensation of the trial, the greatest rebuff the Liberal interests have yet received. It was when Mr. Watson, smarting under the lash of Mr. Blake's tongue, commenced to indulge in personalities that Mr. Justice Street leaned forward, and in a quiet voice and a dozen or so crisp, cutting sentences, told what was the judicial opinion of how the petitioners' evidence had been secured and of the evidence itself. Judge Street spoke for not more than three minutes, but when he had concluded one of the most remarkable incidents that ever occurred in a Canadian court of jurisdiction had been concluded.

It was in connection with charge No. 70 that the occurrence arose. This was the charge in which Stephen King was said to have bribed Wm. G. Collins by giving him $2 and a galvanized iron pail, together with the promise of eight more dollars when the election was successfully passed. The bulk of the evidence was taken yes-terday, when it will be remembered Mr. King denied Collins' story in every particular. This morning, Mr. Wm. Galloway, another Ingersoll merhant, and a Liberal at that, went into the box and confirmed Mr. King in his position. This closed the case, and the counsel commenced their addresses. COUNSEL GIVEN THE LIE. Mr. Watson's argument chiefly consisted of a bitter attack upon the veracity of Mr. Stephen King. "I ask you to believe the evidence of William Collins as against that of Stephen King, the untruthful," said the learned counsel in concluding a fifteen minute address.

"You lie," said Mr. King, who from the body of the court room had been compelled to listen in silence to this assault upon this honor. Judge Street ordered Mr. King to leave the court room, it being, of course, contempt of court to make such a remark under such circum-

MR. BLAKE'S INDIGNATION.

"I regard it as one of the most extraordinary travesties yet presented before this court, for my learned friend to attempt to belittle the evidence of Mr. King and to laud that of Collins," said Mr. Blake, in opening his argument. "And I trust that he will regret what he said and withdraw his statements, which were made without the slightest foundation whatever."

In the next few periods Mr. Blake mercilessly scored the course followed by the petitioners in obtaining evidence for the trial. "In all my experience, I have never known such an attempt wilfully to obstruct, pervert and defeat the ends of justice, as has marked the course of the petitioners in this trial," he said. They had confessed to spending over six hundred dollars of money in securing their evidence, and that money had been sent out broadcast for the purpose of defeating the ends of justice. Mr. Blake scarified in particular the paying of witnesses to swear to what was fake.

"The court must wink very hard indeed in order not to see through the means used by the petitioners," he "When we saw a man such as Collins, a man with a criminal history and whom reputable witnesses say they would not believe under oath, when we see such a man swearing to such a story, are we not justi-fied in saying that some of that six hundred dollars has found its way into this channel and resulted in the fabricated evidence of Collins?"

The learned counsel said that he at tributed the attack upon Mr. King's veracity to the fact that in respect of the pail story the evidence of King was so absolutely corroborated by that of Mr. Galloway that the court was bound to believe King's story as against the uncorroborated story of Collins. In the course of his very able discussion of the evidence taken on this charge, Mr. Blake referred especially to two features that had appealed to him as utterly invalidating the story told by Collins. In the first place it was so improbable as to approach the region of impossibility, that King should offer Collins ten dollars for his vote when two dollars was the amount that all other witnesses for the petitioner had said was paid for votes. An offer of ten dollars for a vote was not even suggested elsewhere

In concluding, Mr. Blake made this adjourned until the liftst day of Description and Significant suggestion:—"In looking at the evidence, I think that Your Lord-ships would be justified in calling the and a half days during which it was attention of the County Attorney to being heard this week. > A TILT BETWEEN COUNSEL. Mr. Watson was on his feet in oment when Mr. Blake concluded, and asked permission to make a few remarks in reply. In a voice that shook, he accused Mr. Blake of going out of his way to discuss matters not connected with the case in question. "Not at all," said Mr. Blake. "What my learned friend has an easily be explained," continued the counsel for the petitioners, "by personal chagrin at what has led him after half a century to change the

"Yes, and one of my reasons for doing is just because there are such men as Mr. Jackson in the Liberal party," was Mr. Blake's reply. DENUNCIATION FROM THE JUDGE. Mr. Justice Street said he thought Mr. Blake had been quite justified in the statements he had made. "One of the difficulties I have had in dealing with this trial,' continued Judge Street, "has been the consider ation of the improper and reprehensi ble means used and the very large expenditure which has been proved to have been used in securing the evi dence. It is impossible to follow al the ramifications of what has been done, but I cannot get out of my mind certainly the possibility that the course of justice has been wilfully affected by the expenditure of money. There has been evidence of a most desperate effort to procure evidence. Mr. Jackson seems to have associated with men of the lowest possible character. It is evident that he must have desir ed evidence to have been made to procure the proving of the charges in the petition. I have never seen anything like it in court in my experience at all. How is it possible for the court to believe evidence of this nature? think the counsel was justified in re ferring to the facts." In explanation of what Mr. Watson stated that he had been led into it by what he termed his learned friend, "talking to the papers rather than to Your Lordships." thought that Mr. Justice Street's observations applied as much to one side This concluded the incident, Their the charge.

British Expedition Attacked in a Thick Bush, but Enemy was Driven Back.

His Force Composed of Native Troops and Levies-Latter Considerably Shaken.

Aden, Arabia, Oct. 18.-The British punitive expedition, under Colonel Swayne, sent to Somaliland, has fought a heavy engagement with the force of the mad Mullah. Major Phillips and Captain Angus were killed. Col. Cobbe was wounded COL. COBBE'S REPORT.

London, Oct. 19 .- The Foreign Office has issued an undated despatch from Col. Cobbe, commanding one of the columns of British forces operating against the mad Mullah in Somdibland. If through the British Vice-Consul at The British Berbera, Somaliland. forces engaged were composed entirely of native troops and levies. Colonel Cobbe says:-

"My foce reached Erego this morn-When about one day's march the Fire Hall. Lordships reserving judgment upon north of Mudug, I was attacked in the thick bush. Two advances were made, and the enemy were beaten back in the morning. Their losses were heavy and we captured 100 rifles. Our force then proceeded to collect animals for transportation purposes and to join the attachment at the stockade. In the afternoon a reconnaisance was made, and after sharp fighting the enemy were again driven off.

"I deeply regret to report the following casualties: Colonel Phillips and Captain Angus and fifty men killed, and about 100 men wounded The latter include Captain Howard and Lieut. Everett, but both are doing well. There were severe losses among the transport and riding cam els. The force will reach the stockade camp to-morrow and will advance to attack the enemy."

The vice-consul also telegraphs the substance of a later despatch from Col. Swain, who says that as a result of the fighting at Erego Oct. 6 which was very severe, the Somali levies are considerably shaken. The Mullah, who is said to be in commun-ication wil Kail and Inger, in the direction of the Webb River, is bringing up reinforcements from all sides. Con. Swaine is much hampered owing to the necessity of transporting the wounded and water. He is retiring on Bohotle. He asks that 600 further reliable troops be despatched from

Berbera forthwith. A PERILOUS SITUATION.

The serious reverse in Somaliland places the small British force there of about 3,000 men of doubtful reliability in an exceedingly perilous situaition. Since the beginning of Col. Swayne's second campaign against the Mullah last May little has been heard of the expedition. The present despatches seem to show that he was retreating from the Italian frontier northward, when the Mullah attacked im at Erego. Last December the Mullah was reported to have about 12,000 men, mostly armed, a large ercentage of whom were armed with riffles. It is possible that he now commands about 15,000 men. With this large force harassing him, Col. Swayne has to retreat to Bohotle, 150 miles, and probably still 100 miles further to Burao, the principal British frontier post. This march must be made under a scorching sun and over an arid and roadless desert, even if the retreat is successful. gravest anxiety will be felt until further news is received. The entire expedition will have to be repeated on a much larger scale. Colonel Swayne is accompanied by over twenty white officers and has with him some Maxim guns and some seven-pounders. The Mullah's success will set the whole Ogaden and Lolbahanta aflame Trade relations at Berbera Bulhar have shown an enormous decrease since the operations of the Mullah cut off access to the rich markets of Ogaden and Dolbahanta. It was announced by Lord Lansdown, Foreign Sec. King would pay more than was necessary. On the face of it the story was a fabrication. Then in the second place, how ridiculous was Collins' statement that King paid over a twe-dollar bribe, knowing and actually stating that a protest was coming on.

The funerals of the late Sandford that the Italians were co-operating with Col. Swayne, but as the despatches make public to-day, do not mention Italian help, it is supposed that some local difficulty was found in arranging for the co-operation.

Toronto, Oct. 18 .- Nearly $1,100 in cash was found in the possession of Augusta Laubeg, who, with her 10-year-old daughter, Mary, were arrested to-night on charges of shoplifting in the departmental stores. The ar-rests are the outcome of an investigation by the police lasting several days. The prisoners were taken to the Court street station, where Mrs. Laubeg was searched by the police matron, who found the purse containing $1,063. The money consisted of three $100 bills, four $50s and the balance in $10 and $5 notes. The detectives afterwards visited the woman's apartments, and removed three bundles containing wearing appared, all of which is believed to have been stolen from the departmental stores.
