SIC!!!...Here's an example of a class project done by students enrolled in 'Spelling for Engineers.' One student has complaints about his mark in the class. Gorge Yourself says it is incomprehensible that his mark could go down while one of his classmates' actually increased by 15%.

Engineers can't hack spelling

By GERALD FITZLARRY
Fredericton Sun

Engineering students expressed their dissatisfaction with compulsory English credits needed to graduate.

Under the policy, all undergrads in any engineering degree program are required to pass English 1013—Simple Spelling for Engineers.

But most engineering students don't think it is necessary for the real world of engineering.

"It's a big load of shit. Having to take this course wastes valuable time that I could use to drink beer and puke on strangers," said Teddy Jenkins, a first-year chemical engineering student.

But the Dean of Engineering, Wolfman Fray thinks otherwise.

"This course is advantageous to students in that it will make their writing and presentation of elaborately understandable concepts understandable."

Consequently, engineers have protested in various ways, and are planning to demonstrate in front of Head Hall today.

During the protest, Engineering reps Gorge Yourself and Andy Fanny Wart will speak against the mandatory course.

"We've written a speech with the help and expertise of The Bumslickin editors, so we are confident the message will be presented clearly and effectively," said Fanny Wart.

Samples of the speech's text are as follows: "Dear engineers, this course is unnecessary. We would learn more consuming heavy quantities of fine Canadian malt and spewing on total strangers."

Martyr to Refund Money

By JAMES ROWING
Fredericton Sun

Allan Martyr, ex-Mangling Editor of the award winning student newspaper The Bumslicking, has announced that he intends to refund each UNB student $1.75 out of his own pocket. Martyr was in change of finances when the Bumslicking ran its $14,000 deficit last year.

"I can't stand the guilt any longer!" sobbed Martyr. "Peeved Trilliams is right—my entire life has been a fraud. I didn't want to run a deficit, I just couldn't help myself. I've lost a lot of sleep over this...now, thanks to Peeved, I know the way to calm my troubled soul. I'm taking out a massive student loan and giving all the money to the students of this campus—they deserve it more than I do."

Martyr has not yet released details on how he plans to pay for this refund, or released any details of his personal financial situation. When pressed, however, he admitted that in all likelihood "I'll just get our printing costs increased 15%, it should cover it."

There is no word yet on whether or not Trilliams is satisfied by Martyr's decision.

Daughter of the Empire

With all of the controversies surrounding the royal family of late — the marital troubles of the Prince and Princess of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of York, the question of whether or not the Queen should be forced to pay taxes, to name but a few, many of my acquaintances are surprised to discover how wholeheartedly I support keeping Canada's ties with the British monarchy.

To be honest, this support has not come without much difficult soul-searching. Living in Fredericton, a colonial city so far removed from the homeland of our beloved Queen, I have had to ask myself, why should I remain so devoted to the House of Windsor (as our royal family is properly called)? Giving our royal family the loyalty and respect they deserve is certainly not easy in these troubled times.

But perhaps it is because the royal family is undergoing so much private upheaval that we owe them our public support. Ever since the Magna Carta was signed by King John, the royal family has given its support to the sort of government and social reforms that have made Canada the wonderful country it is to live in. It was through the genius and initiative of the British monarchs that Canada was explored, founded, and an effort made to civilize it. Where would we be if not for royalty there to guide us?

In fact, we have a system built into our government so that all of our really important laws are signed by the Lieutenant-Governor, the Governor-General, and finally our Queen. This system, a Royal Chain of Wisdom if you will, guarantees that monarch will continue to guide our government. Why should a bit of family disfunction disrupt this brilliant system?

Hilda
HUFFINGTON-

There is even speculation that Australia plans to completely sever its government ties with Britain and declare itself an independent republic! Australia would then, no doubt, be overwhelmed by more revolution and anarchy, much like the former Yugoslavia is so tragically suffering at this present time. Who would leave the British Commonwealth next? New Zealand? Singapore? Northern Ireland? Or heaven forbid, Canada!

There are always the inevitable nay-sayers and pessimists - people who are ungrateful for what the monarchy has done for them. But it is obvious that Canada has no other institution so worthy of our continued tax support. Keeping Canada's ties with the British monarchy is a question of patriotism, plain and simple.

God save the Queen!

'One Hot Pussy' not allowed into UNB

By JONATHAN STONED

UNB has refused to accept Roscoe the Cat into an undergraduate General Arts program because he lied about his academic history.

The cat claimed he had a degree in biology from the Université de la Chat in Paris, France. He also used a fake signature to complete his application.

Spokesperson for the Registrars' Office, Hellet Himmin, said that there is a stringent acceptance policy, and that lying is not acceptable.

"The cat's out of the bag, he was definitely providing misinformation," said Himmin.

Roscoe, now living somewhere on Windsor Street, maintains that he did in fact attend UdelaC, taking courses in mammalian musculatory systems, and that he even has experience dissecting other cats.

Some students at UNB have formed a protest group to demand his unconditional acceptance, professing that Roscoe is a great asset to the campus as he is everybody's friend and gives excellent advice for papers on microbiology.

"There's more than one way to skin a cat, and we'll try every avenue necessary to have him accepted," said leader of the group, Spawn Daily.

Yet other students agree with the registrar.

"Well, I don't have any cats," was Student Union incoming President Payme Van Realty response.

Roscoe is now living a life of leisure, as he is often seen reading The Bunslikin' and catnapping.

Despite his broken english (he has trouble with words containing the 'th' sound), his marks in english are strong.

"I'm no pussy when it comes to saying my peace. I'll tell them where to go."

"MEOW!"

Look both ways, boys and girls

What the hell is all this anyway? All the controversy surrounding the recent abuses of the Fredericton Cross-Walk Service.

The service provides escorts for those people who are unwilling to cross the street by themselves. Volunteers are assigned to provide the crucial service of making eye contact with Fredericton's maniac drivers to signal the walker's intention to cross.

The Sun's reporting of the incident, during which a Cross-Walk volunteer directed a pedestrian into oncoming traffic, has prompted several letters from volunteers of the service, who say that The Sun's article has done them a disservice.

The article quoted a member of the Fredericton Pedestrian Alliance who said that she's heard jokes about the Cross-Walk Service being little more than a "pick-your-own-moving-vehicular-felon" program.

Cross-walkers say this is unfair, and that they are not there just to protect the motor-phobic, as the article implied. Who are you kidding? Spokesperson Bent Tray says the service is for everyone, and that he himself is wary about crossing the road alone. How sensitive. Is this meant to imply that you can identify with the plight of those who live in fear of being run-over? This doesn't exactly inspire confidence in the capability of volunteers to guarantee pedestrians safe passage does it? Apparently, the service doesn't even check to see if volunteers have valid auto insurance policies or drivers licenses.

Besides, we doubt if Tray calls the service every time he goes out, and HELLO! LOGIC PROBLEM! For you to get to the cornered pedestrian, you will undoubtedly have to cross at least one motor-vehicle thruway by yourself. Think about it next time S.N.A.G.

Meanwhile, we'll continue to look both ways for ourselves, and leave you to your well intentioned but superficial mandate.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE FREDERICTON SUN is one of the most fascist, exploitative, and raggy newspapers that I have ever read. It just makes me want to puke that anyone would read the trash which is found in this rag. I hope that everyone of the editors at the Sun are cursed with terrible nightmares over all the lies and exploitative photos and articles which they have published. The Sun is a shameful and disgraceful piece of shit and everyone in Fredericton should be ashamed of it!

Righteous reader
(Yeah, so what?)

AS AN ADMINISTRATIVE member of the University of No Brains I am greatly distressed with the quality of reviews which have been published in the student newspaper, the Bumslickin'. Lately, the Bums has published reviews of books by my great and esteemed peers. These reviews are an insult to the university community and I have asked the Stupid Union to do something about it. They agreed. However, now none of these great councillors can be found and I suspect foul play. It is time for us to boycott the Bums, to censor what it prints and make sure that everything I want in the Bums gets in!

Dean B
(Chill out, chump!)

I HATE women who think they can say anything they wish. I mean women should stay in the kitchen were they belong. They should not be writing columns and things like that because they may show that they are brighter than red neck males like myself. Further, women should not have any jobs because they are making the work force more competitive and then stupid men like myself won't be able to get jobs (like firefighting). I hope that every woman who thinks she can do anything she likes reads this letter and realizes that I am more superior than she is.

A real man, Lenny.
(Oh boy, you my friend, need to find a time machine and travel back in time.)

I CAN'T GET over how much flack the Board of Governors at the University of No Brains has taken from the student newspaper, The Bumslickin'. I mean just because the Board wants to spend about $3000,00 on tickets to the IceCapades doesn't mean that the money is being spent frivolously. I think the letter which Peeve Trillains wrote in the Bumslickin' was right on. I also heard that Peeve is going to get strippers for the next board meeting, way to go Peeve!

A Peeve's fan
(Join buddy above you in the time machine!)

I HOPE that in the upcoming referendum on whether or not we should hang PM Flying Muloney upside down by his feet and throw tomatoes at him, that everybody votes yes. Muloney needs to realize that he can't trample over the rights of the little people like myself and he should give all of us better jobs. I hope that you vote yes on referendum day.

Joe "Constitutional" Blark
(Blark, go get a real job!)

THERE ARE a lot of people in the office that I work with who do not like me and I cannot figure out why. Further, they also won't let me vote on any decisions which they make in the office. This is an open letter to those people and the public because I think I have been done an injustice. I mean just because I insult female members at bars after office hours and interrupt people when they are trying to work and generally make a pain in the butt of myself, does not give them the right to hate me. I mean, I love them all and I hope that they unlock the office and let me in.

Flark Tavoio
(Just break in and bug them some more pal, I'm sure they really love you - NOT!)

I WOULD like to know were members of the University of No Brains get off telling the Stupid Union that a day care is needed on campus. If people want to put their kids somewhere then they should take them up to the Social Pub or the Pub in the Club and let Mat or Pete take care of them. After all, they have noting better to do. But leave the Stupid Union alone. They are spending money on great things like attempting to increase executive honoraria and spending money on bands that nobody goes to see. Daycare, indeed!

A Non-Mature UNB student
(We agree with you wholeheartedly, but we didn't see you at the Stupid Union concert the other evening, tsk, tsk.)

WE'RE REALLY upset that the Sun does not have a bigger picture for the Brunshine Boy. Moreover, we find it really unfair that he is put way in the back of the paper and most of the time the ugliest men are picked for the photo. If you are going to do it, do it right and get some real hunks!

Hosee Puidry
Amie Tulips
(Touchy, Touchy!)

SOMETIMES I wonder just what you are trying to suggest when I see these ads which appear to be selling, of all things, sex! I am sure that you will clarify what these ads are really attempting to sell.

This statement was released by bugged expert Krill Lakestream of the University of New Brunswick's science faculty.

In a joint press conference with UNB mathematician Yacking Maxum these two prominent scientists blamed this progression on the irresponsible use of hair sprays by the music industry. "Not only are they endangering their own lives with their use of these carcinogenic carcinogens," stated Maxum, "but they are also endangering the lives of all right thinking fascists as well. Of course, it is to be expected, since the music industry is a plot by..." Maxum was unable to finish his thought because of a deftly placed fist upside the head from Lakestream.

Lakestream then continued the press conference by blasting overrated rock musician Sting. ## THEY'RE COMING

Russian athletes to invade UNB campus

By GROSS GEORGE
Fredericton Sun

When the University of New Brunswick announced in January that the school's sports teams would be known as the Varsity Reds several people wondered why. What, after all, is a 'Varsity Red'? It seems we'll find out come September when the varsity teams begin competing once again.

A Sun reporter on assignment in Eastern Europe has been tipped that UNB has commissioned the construction of a high performance training centre for athletes from the once communist countries, most notably the former USSR. Such centres were once an integral part of communist countries.

At a press conference, University President Robin Armsweak would not confirm or deny the reports, but when asked just what was being constructed on the St. Thomas University, Armsweak became quite irate and yelled "No comment" before storming out.

When told of the report, student athlete Jacques Schrappe wondered about his fate as an athlete here in the future.

"From what I've heard the university is replacing us with Russian athletes that are abnormally big. It's too bad because athletes from Doaktown and Barker's Point will never be able to beat out a machine from Siberia."

In the past, these 'training' centres have been shrouded in secrecy and are often located underground and in the middle of dense forest. The likely location for the proposed centre on the UNB campus would be in front of Sir Edmund Casey Hall, this way St. Thomas would be blamed if the centre was ever discovered.

Sun sports editor Cranky Penis says the move is a big gamble. "If the Varsity Reds are able to pull this off then more power to them. However, if the AUAA catches on to their scam, it is likely that the sports program could be put on probation. But it's unlikely that they will catch on. Mount Allison coach Jack Drover says that UNB has been scamming the AUAA for years and they have yet to take action against the school."

Though the story is still mostly speculation, Athletics Director Rim Torn admitted that many former Russian athletes have expressed interest in coming to UNB. However, he pointed out that they are interested more in the excellent geological engineering program than the $125 million athletic facility being built at the top of College Hill.

"Their initial interest was sparked by our name change but after visiting our campus, they were hooked on the mystique of Fredericton. Here at the athletic department, we were all amazed by their size."

by Gordon Loane

New Brunswick Finance Minister Alan Maher predicted a "tough" provincial budget and that's just what he handed down in the Legislature on Wednesday.

It's expected to be at least another month before the budgets' full impact on UNB is known. The universities' Board of Governors will meet April 29th to consider the universities budget and set tuition fees for next year.

What is known is that the provincial budget has hit hard at students who need financial aid the most.

"While I don't have any of the details, it looks like student bursaries have been cut from 18.2 million dollars to just 6.7 million for next academic year," said Eric Burchill, President of the UNB Student Union.

"Instead, the government intends to turn its bursary program into a loan and bursary program. The net effect will be a savings for government, but an increase in the students debt load after university," he added.

The details of a new Student Aid Program are expected to be announced shortly by Advanced Education and Labour Minister Vaughn Blaney.

Burchill sees the government decision to increase university operating grants and put a cap on tuition fee increases as partial appeasement for cuts to student bursaries.

Maher says government will follow the recommendation of the Maritime Province's Higher Education Commission and increase university operating grants by 1.7 per cent next academic year. The government also intends to place a cap on the amount universities can increase tuition fees for the next two years. The amount of the cap has not yet been announced, but there is speculation it is in the five per cent range.

"While I can't say that I'm unhappy with the government's decision to increase operating grants, the reality is more is needed. The increase doesn't reflect the true cost of operating university programs," said Burchill.

"In addition, I'm worried that a cap on tuition fees will mean new fees will be imposed on students for other services. It's a favorite way for universities to raise extra revenue from students," he added.

Burchill thinks the provincial government is sending UNB a message.

"They expect the university to be more accountable and more efficient. A cap on tuition fees will ensure the university doesn't grab extra revenue on the backs of students as they attempt to set budget priorities."

UNB's Vice-President Finance and Administration, James O'Sullivan, admits that a provincially imposed tuition cap will cut down on the university's flexibility as a new budget is drawn up. He admits the university still faces a substantial financial problem despite a 1.7 per cent increase in the provincial operating grant.

"It's still up to one and a half per cent less than universities requested from the MPHEC," he said "The university faces a tough series of options as a budget is set. All options are open including staff reduction." O'Sullivan is not publicly speculating about the affect on university departmental budgets.

"Department managers were asked to prepare budgets under several scenarios. It's still too early to say what option will be adopted," he said.

At least two other provisions in the provincial budget will provide mixed benefits in the university community: "While the elimination of the provincial sales tax on scientific and technical equipment will not have a major impact on the total university budget, it's certainly important for individual scientific projects," O'Sullivan said.

"The elimination of the sales tax in this area is now the same as the situation in Ontario."

On the other hand the provincial sales tax will now apply to the purchase of sporting equipment. O'Sullivan says this is expected to have some impact on budgets in the faculty of Physical Education and Recreation.

Concerns raised over handling of former discrimination complaint

UNB to implement racism policy

by Karen Burgess

UNB Administrators hope to have a racial discrimination policy developed for its students and faculty in the new year, but some students are still concerned over the handling of a case of alleged discrimination earlier this year.

Vice-President Academic Tom Traves said that although consideration of a policy was begun last summer, the university was "overtaken" by a charge laid against a professor on June 24, 1992.

Presently, university employees are governed by professional misconduct codes, which are part of their collective agreements, and include offenses such as racial discrimination.

Traves explained: "Under the terms of our collective agreement, all disciplinary matters concerning faculty come to the Vice-President Academic for resolution."

The case earlier this year, which involved a complaint against a Business Administration professor, was investigated by the Vice-President, who concluded that the charges were "without foundation."

Recently, two concerned students presented Traves and President Robin Armstrong with a document outlining a possible policy for implementation

Traves said that this proposal, and input from anyone concerned will be considered by the committee given the mandate of creating a feasible policy.

He explained that the President will establish a committee, and then will solicit input from the concerned unions on campus, and other interested members of the University community.

Despite the University's initiative in this area, as outlined by Traves, several students belonging to the Graduate Students Association, the Board of International Students, the African Students' Union, the Caribbean Circle and the MBA Society have expressed concerns over the University's handling of the issue of racial harassment.

The students, of whom one was directly involved in presenting Traves with the policy proposal, issued a joint statement outlining their position.

The students stated that they found Traves' judgment on the Business administration case is "unfortunate...in light of the abundant evidence, and the pain and suffering that the international students concerned have experienced over the year."

They said that the University's plan to implement a policy is "laudable," but that "the structure of addressing such issues with the VP Academic as ultimate judge and jury is disturbing."

They stated that the shortcomings of this system are evident in the handling of the earlier complaint. The students said they feel that the complaint was "covered up, despite the overwhelming documented evidence which remains on file for impartial examination."

The students say the new policy's credibility will be undermined unless the committee set up to deal with racial discrimination issues includes "students, minority group representatives, women, and individuals with expertise in racial and human rights issues."

Traves said that the composition of the committee dealing with the policy's implementation has yet to be established. That committee will discuss that format to be adopted for the policy's composition, and in what way it will be administered.

The Vice-President has no date set for the racial discrimination policy's finalization but said it is hoped that committee discussions can begin in the fall.

In the interim, the university will be publishing a pamphlet over the summer to alert the community that a policy exists to deal with students' complaints about racial discrimination directed against them by university faculty and staff, or by fellow students.

UNB becomes member of prestigious Apple University Consortium

by Jonathan Stone

UNB and STU have become members of the Apple University Consortium, which should provide the campus community with better prices, service and maintenance.

The Consortium consists of a significant number of large universities across North America.

The university has been working for an agreement with Apple for several years, as deals exist with IBM, Zenith and Sung.

"Apple's a come-lately to this. We've been trying to get them for quite a few years, and we've just managed to do it," said David MacNeil, Director of Computing Services.

"One of Apple's problems was that we were a little small for them," he added.

MacNeil feels Apple will benefit from an increased market and therefore increased sales.

And Apple Canada's VP Education Division, Michel St-Georges, said the roots of the company are in education.

Under the agreement, Computing Services employees will be trained and authorized to perform Apple maintenance on products under warranty.

A minimal parts inventory will be kept on campus, and Computing Services expects that most other parts can usually be obtained in 48 hours.

Students and university employees wishing to purchase discounted Apple products are directed to the Bookstore, which now has the computers in stock.

"The university students and faculty were always entitled to an educational allowance, no matter where you bought it. What's changed here is that the university is now the dealer, and the discount is slightly larger," said MacNeil, "The prices are set so that it should be more beneficial to buy it here."

Students will be able to save an estimated five-per cent on products, although some discounts on software could be substantially more, depending on the item.

For example, The Brunswickan currently uses five MacIntoshes for typing and layout, and the professional software used, Aldus PageMaker, is currently priced at $210 for educational use, as opposed to the regular cost of $800.

MacNeil estimates that there are about 2700 microcomputers on campus, of which approximately 400 are MacIntoshes.

Winners of Varsity-Mania's Residence Challenge for 1992-1993 were: Harrison House for co-ed attendance; Lady Dunn Hall for female attendance; and Aitken House for overall attendance. Each House is receiving prizes from Moosehead Breweries.

Residence fees decision reached

by Gordon Loane

UNB's Residence Budget Committee has reached a decision on fees for next year, but Housing and Food Services Director Roy Brostowski says he can't release any information.

"We've forwarded a recommendation to the Board of Governors for consideration," he said.

The BoG is expected to set residence fees at a meeting April 29th.

"I can say that the Budget Committee was very sensitive to concerns raised about the difficulty students are experiencing obtaining summer employment," he added.

In addition, other costs have risen as well.

In a related matter, Brostowski said occupancy rates in residence are down slightly this year, but UNB's Total of 1455 beds are 97% occupied on average.

"We're certainly not experiencing the problems of other universities in this regard," he said.

Brostowski stated that UNB's residence system is still expected to operate at a slight loss this year.

"We're doing a little bit better than our original budget estimates."

Review gives me great pain

Dear Editor,
You have done us great injury in your article on Caribbean Nite 1993 in the March 26 issue with your casual comment "Dinner-better than you would expect from a mass produced meal."

Being on the Food Committee it gives me great pain to think that all the work that the Secretary, Maureen Richie, did in coordinating and lining up all 17 cooks and all the other helpers from the student body, spouses and children of students and local residents should be for the purpose of mass production of the food; which suggest [sic] that the individual cooking ability, pride and dexterity was put aside in order to meet the demand of the occasion. You fail to take into account all the diligent and hard work that went into the provision of the food. The checking of prices for the best deal, the procurement of the food by various people, the removal of fat from the chicken, the desperate rush to get the required spices from Toronto, the late night spent in parceling and delivering the ingredient [sic] to the various people, the preparation of the food for cooking on Saturday, the cooking of the food, the transportation of food from the various location, the setting up and the distribution of food - all of this so we can bring you a plate of hot mass produced food and in a timely fashion?? I beg to differ.

Keath Yhap

PS - The reason why there was no J. Wray and Nephew Appleton Rum in the fruit punch is that Caribbean Nite and all other culture nites put on by other various ethnic groups are family events and we really don't want our children under the influence during and after the event. You may have noticed that there were a large number of children, in fact there was a group of 30+ and the servers of the fruit punch were intentionally young teen-agers as we believe in our youths.

A thanks to Maggie Jean residence

Dear Editor

I want to take this opportunity at the end of the year to publicly acknowledge the contribution that Maggie Jean Chestnut residence has made to the university and to the community.

The Maggie residents took part in the Curl-a-thon to raise money for the Boys and Girls Club and were the top UNB residence. At Christmas, the Maggie gang took care of a family and provided an entire Christmas for them; gifts, extra clothing, and a complete Christmas dinner. Some of our inhabitants participated in the "12 Homeless Hours" on behalf of homeless teenagers, and others took part in the 30-hour famine for World Vision Canada. These are just the visible community projects and there are many "quiet" contributions that are made by individuals.

Much of the spirit of the house and its accomplishments are due to the leadership of a fine house committee - Peter Snowdon, Jennifer McIntosh, Frank Delph, Sue Richard, and Rod Jeddore, and the proctor, John Branch. I feel very fortunate to have lived with everyone at Maggie Jean this year. Thank you for enriching my life and that of the residence and university community as a whole.

I'll get a plate of fries

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank the student union for the $2 rebate. It will make such a difference in my life. Never mind the fact that this campus needs a daycare service, an improved health care plan. Maybe I will use the $2 to help say for my tuition costs for next year. I could also use donate the $2 towards my favorite student group on campus, or towards a sub expansion fund. The possibilities are limitless.

Thanks again for the $2, maybe I will just get a plate of fries.

Signed a rich student

A thank you for support

Dear Editor,

To: The Student Body

I would like to thank all those who gave me their support during the recent Spring election 93, especially to my fellow graduate students at the Faculty of Computer Science for cheering me on and keeping a positive attitude to the last minute.

I would also like to congratulate James Van Raalte and Andrew Van Wart as well as the rest of the executive elected in their victory. I wish van Raalte and van Wart the very best in their new responsibilities and look forward to seeing them play a proactive role in the Board of Governors, considering the importance of such a body for the well being of our Institution and our student community.

Sincerely,
Jaime Marquez-Velandia

Civil, Geological Senior Report Conference held

by Shawn MacCormack
Special to The Brunswickan

The UNB Department of Civil and Geological Engineering held their bi-annual Senior Report Conference on Wednesday, in Sir Edmund Head Hall.

Thirty-nine senior students gave presentations on their research projects before an audience of about 200 engineering students, faculty and interested members of the public.

Each student presented a research report on one of the following areas: Construction, Environment, Geotechnical, Planning, Structural, Transportation, Geological, and Materials. Some of these topics related to the greater Fredericton area.

Following the closing ceremonies, awards were presented by Professor Ralph Francis of the Civil Engineering Department.

An award for Technical Merit was presented to Andrew Boyd for his presentation entitled "The Effects of Alkali-Aggregate Reactivity on Concrete Strength."

The Ian Scott MacDonald award for creativity and originality was presented to Blain Dow, for his report called "A Water Inventory Analysis of the Covered Bridge Golf Course."

As well, the Earle J. Grant award for the best project in the Structures Category was presented to Andrew MacKenzie for his report on "Confinement of Lightweight Concrete Columns."

The Geological Engineering Department, represented by Dr. A Landva, presented two awards.

The award for Technical Merit was presented to Rowenna Gilbertson for her report on "Hydraulic Conductivity of Waste Fill."

And Rodney McAfee won Best Presentation for his work on "Geofoam as Lightweight Emankment Fill".

Once again, the organizing Civil Engineering class presented three awards for oral and visual communication skills, which were presented by Professor Eric Garland.

First prize, an iron ring pyramid, was awarded to Andrew Boyd for his report entitled "The Effects of Alkali-Aggregate Reactivity on Concrete Strength."

Second prize went to Nadim Missaghian for his report on "Moment Resistance of Bolted Timber Joists." This award was a mounted slide rule.

Third prize was a mounted concrete core sample from the Mactaquac Dam, which was handed to Desmond Tranquilla for a report entitled "Tensile Strength Analysis of Epoxy-Bonded Concrete."

These awards were designed by the organizing Civil Engineering class, and constructed by the department's technicians.

The Chinese Cultural Association and the Multicultural Association of Fredericton are co-sponsoring International Cooking Classes on April 18 and 25 from 2:30-4:40 at the Nashwaaksis Jr. High School. Please preregister by calling 459-4236 or 454-8292.

Crime of the Week

Sometime between 11:00 PM on Friday evening the 19th of March and 12:30 AM on Saturday morning the 20th of March someone removed the Companion Hands Free telephone set from the metal casing in the Tibbits lobby. This item is similar to the ordinary telephone set used in most offices with the exception of the hand held receiver. The item's approximate value is $700.

Crime stoppers will pay up to $2,000 for information leading to the arrest of persons responsible for the above crimes. If you have information about this or about any other crime in New Brunswick, call Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222(TIPS)8477. We want your information not your name. If your tip leads to an arrest Crime Stoppers guarantees a cash reward.

GOOD LUCK ON EXAMS
& SEE YOU NEXT YEAR!!

Womb

Again, I wake in twilight's womb,
Wait bedside for patient dawn,
As a swirling wash of fire and blood
Spreads as semen over beasts and trees.
With idly dripping eyes, I watch
Night labour, molding colors, forms,
Until another fresh, new sky
Is birthed, and crawls all over me.

Last night's dream was the strangest. Nietzsche
Stood on a mountain, laughing at me,
As Camus stood beside, with a sign that read, "Wise,"
Selling boulders for rolling, "To make you all happy!"
Below them the Pope had just struck my doctor,
Who curled up in fluid, and floated off, dripping,
Smacked! - into the face of my very best friend,
Who choked, stopped, cried, and said nothing,
But gave me a hug and the unfeeling zygote -
It must be unfeeling, it said so itself.
And I screamed and I dropped it. A nurse ran by, took it,
Flashed a stone smile, cast it on a shelf.
And I punched her to her obscenely bright whites,
Hit her again, and broke her stone smile,
Grabbed the dripping little doctor,
Bought my own boulder, and started to climb.
From left and from right came words shot from rifles,
The left adding "s" to the other side's "right".
The shots hit the buyers, pushing their boulders,
And few of them made it to the other side.

The night before, I also dreamt -
A simpler dream than I'd had in days:
On the floor of my bedroom, Pluto the dog
And my sock-money broke from their many-years gaze,
Tore the greats of the ages into scraps on the carpet,
Ripped their clear blacks and whites into piles of greys,
Severed the discourse conceived by the Greeks.
"They all know it all and all of it reeks,"
I muttered in waking, resigned not to think.

She tells me to smile, that I shouldn't be bothered,
But each day, I wake to a sky like no other.
This entire past month has flowed like thick liquid-
I'd try to crawl out, but I'm drowning inside it.
"It's not your decision," she said, smiled a bit;
But Christ, if it were, I know I'd do the same.
So I cry every morning, give hugs when she needs them.
I multiply scars where no one can see them.
I watch from my bedside, as night floats away -
There's another new sky, that will die with the day.

Mike Fralic

Reign the Flood

Rain,
It reigned
For far too long.
Claws in uniform
Roam school halls
Kicking little boys
In the balls.
"Blood, blood everywhere
And all our minds did shrink,
Blood, blood everywhere
Nor any thought to drink."
I thought,
But I was not a king
So they were not,
And burned at the stake.
Instead they chose
Ramea and Socrates
To guide them;
Then killed themselves.
So our Madonna took over,
Got pregnant, and naked,
Ignoring the flood.

Charlie's Return

Well Charlie is still dreaming trying to foresee his fate.
As the little Red-haired girl has her birthday on the eighth.

So he went to the library
looking for some insight
On the month of April to get a gift just right.

The flower of the month is the daisy so it's off to the mall for lunch.
I'll drop into the florist's and I'll order up a bunch.

But Charlie has this problem
it's childlike innocence.
United with an overwhelming lack of confidence.

"She loves me, she loves me not"
Strolling in the noonday sun.
Searching for the right result
'till all the petals were gone.

Well, so much for that idea
the flowers are kaput.
But have no fear, Charlie
There is something else a foot.

The red-haired proctor's birthday falls at a perfect time.
Since it's also "Last class bash"
the parties should be prime.

The entire student body will see that your not blue
'cause they'll be celebrating your big day with you.

I'm sure you'll party hearty and I wish you a great time.
I know you and the parties will surely be sublime!

So have a Happy Birthday
Since Charlie thinks your cool and see this bit of poetry as my creative gift to you!

Junkhouse and Crash Vegas: Stone Cold Rock and Roll

by Lilith

Hey, if you're the person who vandalized the house at the corner of Beaverbrook Ct. and Regent Street you missed your chance to get a free Junkhouse tape—and you may live to regret it. Frontman Tom Wilson offered a free copy of the band's indy cassette "Here lives Happiness" to whoever spray painted the "I hate Kraft diner (sic)" sign that greeted them on their way into Fredericton. He didn't show—his loss.

Hamilton based quartet Junkhouse opened for old pals Crash Vegas (Junkhouse guitarist Dan Achen and Crash Vegas guitarist Colin Cripps are still roommates) and are looking forward to a September release of an album with Sony. Tireless gigging in the Toronto area has gained the band a wide following and their cassette has hit #5 on The Record's indy chart.

The band shows a diverse range of influences, with gospel, soul and grunge prominent. One tune was started up with an acappella excerpt of "Swing Low Sweet Chariot," but quickly evolved into a serious ass-kicking rocker. The band is super high energy—that really has to be appreciated live. Singer Tom Wilson has a distinctive and versatile voice and the best stage yammer I've heard—funny and spontaneous. He commented that the venue reminded him of a cafeteria from "Night of the Living Dead," with the spirits of students eating ham sandwiches floating around.

Wilson says the band will be returning to the Maritimes next fall to promote their album—they are not to be missed. In the meantime, you can pick up a copy of "Here Lies Happiness" at Backstreet Records.

Crash Vegas, in my mind (contaminated by those CanCon impressions), had always been real mellow. That's because their first album Red Earth was not really representative of their live act—and the radio was covering only their not-quite-romantic slow stuff. Their new album Stone, reflects their attachment to a variety of musical traditions and their tendency to start off quiet and build in intensity. Guitarist Colin Cripps says "it captures the dynamics of the quiet stuff versus the more aggressive stuff" and the range of sounds is from "pot-smokin' country to the really out there heavy stuff. Extremes are great."

Crash Vegas front woman Michelle McAdorey was in fine voice right from the soundcheck. She's a tiny, elf-like, quivering bundle of energy on stage. The band, guitarist Cripps, bassist Darren Watson and drummer Ambrose Pottie gave faithful renderings of the album's songs. McAdorey in the first encore song, "Smoke or Something in my Eyes," was every bit the torch singer, albeit wearing Docs.

Both bands were clearly disappointed by the crowd turnout of about 125-150 polite (read: dead) audience members. It was only when McAdorey asked if the audience had a fear of the area in front of the stage that two brave souls ventured out to dance. However, for a concert held in the last week of classes when everybody's got a million papers and assignments left it was as good of a crowd as could be expected. Anyway, for those of you who weren't there, you want to be coming out to see Junkhouse next fall. I fully expect them to be world famous around this time next year.

Ray Lyell: not even a minor meteorological disturbance

By Mark Savoie

One thing about Ray Lyell, the man knows how to say the right things. When asked about the poor crowd at his performance last Thursday at the Social Club he was at pains to insist that it was not in fact a poor crowd. A small crowd, yes, but a poor crowd, no. Judging from the party of raving lunatics crowding the stage he may have had a point.

Only about 80 people made their way to the Social Club last Thursday to see Ray Lyell and the whaddaya mean he's not with the Storm?. As a result, ol' Ray felt free to wander about in the crowd during a couple of his numbers without fear of being crushed by the mob. That and a couple of conversations with some pathetic drunk were the extent of interest in this uninspired effort.

Not that Mr. Lyell can be accused of not trying. The problem is that his repertoire is not powerful enough to motivate a crowd as apathetic as is typical of our esteemed institution. The songs that the crowd was familiar with - "Carry Me" being the best example - have for too high a saccharine content for an audience to effectively descend into rhapsodies of air guitar. End result: Snooze City! The scorecard ultimately is: Social Club-good effort; Ray Lyell and the nameless Storm-nice try; the crowd-sucked the big wazoo.

Book Review

Abort, Retry, Ignore, Fail?

13th GEN: Abort, Retry, Ignore, Fail?
by Neil Howe and Bill Strauss
Published by Random House of Canada
$12.50 (Canadian)

by Allan Carter

When I first saw the book 13th Generation: Abort, Retry, Ignore, Fail?, I thought I was going to have to review a computer manual for a program written for one of those foolish DOS machines. I was pleasantly surprised to realize that the book was actually a fairly impressive analysis of people who were born between 1961-1981, the 13th generation (of the United States).

The authors Neil Howe and Bill Strauss have compiled charts, quotes, facts and observations in an upbeat book which I think most 13er's will find quite insightful.

The book takes a look at a broad range of issues ranging from television and music entertainment, sports, music, fads, the "open education" system which began in the 1970's, sex and the work force. While the book contains some great information, it moves quickly with an attractive layout where on each page interesting quotes, cartoons and statistical charts are displayed.

Yet, the greatest highlight of the book is the fact that Howe and Strauss decided to put the text of their finished product on the computer bulletin board, USA-TALK. Needless to say, many computer users, mostly 13er's, read the text and responded to Howe and Strauss. Both men, who are in their 40's, were criticized and praised for the text and many of the responses which came from the bulletin board are in the book. Thus, while the reader is reacting to some of observations or facts put forth by the writers, they also have the unique opportunity to see what others were thinking while reading the text.

Howe and Strauss do not make any great discoveries about the 13th Generation. What they do, however, is bring together all the studies, all the comments and quotes, and all the opinions together into one concise and well edited book. It is a book which holds a positive outlook for those born between 1961 and 1981. Further, while the book points out how 13er's are weaker in some areas of social and educational skills than past generations, it also emphasizes their strengths.

The biggest drawback for Canadian readers is that the book is an American one. Many of the facts and observations which the authors present are ones which Canada shares with The United States. Yet, in some cases, the Canadian reader needs to be careful in how he/she interprets what is said when considering the 13th generation's situation in Canada.

The two Boomer writers hold much sympathy for the 13th generation and do not hold back in pointing the finger at themselves and at other generations for the problems which the 13th generation has to face in today's society. They feel that the 13th generation is a generation with a PR problem. With books like the 13th generation, it may be a PR problem which will disappear as quickly as rugby pants and great games like Galaga.

Speaking of Galaga, for those who still can't keep up with the games that have been manufactured in the last few years for those born after 1981, Galaga can be found up at the Regent Mall in the arcade room. It's way in the back, and don't worry, chances are nobody will be playing it.

Heal the Planet Concert a Success

by Janet McGeachy-Hansen and Chris Crawford

Friday night's presentation for the Heal The Planet - A Vision for Change resulted in over 300 people from the community being exposed to various artistic, musical, and verbal presentations at the local Boyce Farmer's Market. The Social Action Committee, students from the local B.S.W. Programme at St. Thomas were pleased with the overall flow of the programme and the receptivity of the audience to the various themes and presentations.

Various groups from within the community were represented. Topics ranged from such issues as alternative lifestyles, sustainable agricultural practices, impact of pollution on ground water, and the effects of consumption and capitalism on both a local and global level.

Concert organizers were impressed with the generous contributions received from the public for the local Food Bank and the Conservation Council. As well, consideration will be given to organizing this type of a presentation on an annual basis.

Organizers would like to extend grateful appreciation and thanks to all involved who made this concert a success. The collective spirit within the community made this event possible. THANKS TO ALL!

In Other News, . . . Engineers Can't Bowl!

[Special to The Brunswickan]

As the Editor-in-Chef of E.R.T.W.'s loozing boleing team I have to here pubicly acnowlige that the Brunzwickan is better than E.R.T.W. But how cood i have knone that Allan Carter is such a good boler. The man wuz lik a freek of natur the way he kept boleing strike aftir strike. And Newz Editer Karen Birjes (hoo four sum reezin woodn't anser the phone) was lik the Goddis of Luv that wee heer at E.R.T.W. allways new shee wuz.

So they beet us all three stringz that wee boled. Thay beet us 432-118, 397-125, and 418-154. So u can see that wee wur geting better with each frame. Uzing my poket kalkulator I can say that after just seven mor gamez wee wer on a pase two beet them. Besides, itz not our falt that our hole team wuz to drunk to stand up without help. Lukily, we wur able to wate long enuf to hav our team power spew after the mach, so four a chanj wee wermt kicked out for a chanj until aftir.

In our deefense hoo cood reely eckspect us too beet a bunch uv dum artzeez at boleing. Wen weer in our labs lerning how to bild bridges and boms thay're probublee at the boleing allec talking about Nitchski and Kan't and other dum artzee gize. Engineering studs don't hav tim to lirn how to du things lik that. We hav to spend al uv our free time drinking and being obnockshis.

The Brunz Barberryans wur too good for us to have enny hope uv evir beeting them now or in the futur. Lik i rote erlier Allan and Karen wur the starz uv the Brunzie team. But that Jonathon Stone gie was sumthing els az well. Not onlee cood he bole bettir than anee engineear that evir lived, but he cood drink bettir than our hole team two. Itz not fare, the onlee thing engineears ar reely good at and sum dum artzee fartzee can can du it bettir than wee kan. Wee ollreddy new wee coodn't drink with Bill Trair, and now heerz another wun.

Amy Philips was onlee a little bit les godis like than that Karen Birges godis. Onlee shee wuz lik a Godis uv Wor. Even aftir i got our hole team tu sing Happee Birthday to hir shee wuz still so meen to us that sum uv our bolers wantid tu go home if shee wuzn't mor nise. Finully Jamee Rowan remindid hir that shee woodn't hav to rite Mugwump any mor and shee kalmed down.

Nobuddy on our team wuz good enuf for me tu menshun thair names, so yule just hav tu trust mee wen i sae that wee wur all reely bad. Our ad manager wuz to bizzy trying two get advise from the Brunzwickan's ad manager Tara Froning to be able tu bole lik a humin being. If that wuzn't bad enuf shee woodn't evin giv him any advise.

Tu finish this storee off i hav tu make an anounsement. The anounsement is that the Brunzwickan peepel are not just better bolers and drinkers than the E.R.T.W. peepel, but are better peepel than the E.R.T.W. peepel to. I also want to say that Brunzees are all a bunch of big meenies hoo kan't take a joke.

UNB's Cole selected to coach National team

Press Release

UNB Athletics is pleased to announce that coach Andrew Cole has been selected to be the Canadian National Swimming Team coach for the World University Games this summer. The 3rd year swim coach from Dartmouth, Nova Scotia will be travelling to the FISU Games in Buffalo, New York, July 8-11. The competition will have Canada's best athletes assembling to what is considered one of the four major games in world swimming. (the other three being Olympics, World Championships and the Pan Pacific Games).

Cole has been coaching full time for five years. He was the

Nova Scotia Interprovincial team coach in 1990 and is the Head Coach for the New Brunswick Canada Games team this summer (Kamloops, B.C.)

Since Cole joined the coaching staff at University of New Brunswick in 1990 the swim team has risen in prominence to being the strongest overall team in the Atlantic region with the men's team now being ranked 7th and the women 8th in the nation. Five medals were brought home from the national championships with Iona Allen from Halifax making the national championships.

Mr. Cole was also a notable athlete; swimming in Nova Scotia he was a national team swimmer from 1983 to 1985, CIAU All Canadian and gold medallist 1982-85, Canada Games gold medallist 1981 and Nova Scotia Swimmer of the Year 1979-1987.

Sports shorts

The more things change, the more they stay the same.

Believe me this is true. Two coaches of a Toronto area pee-wee hockey team have been suspended for a year for pulling their team off the ice in a playoff game. After two periods the Scarborough Cedar Hill team was losing 10-0 with only seven players left in the game. A 13 year old had injured his kidney and was urinating blood and the team's goaltender had a lacerated neck and back spasms. Yet the Ontario Minor Hockey Association ruled that the team should have finished the game and in turn suspended coaches Ron and Mike Lyons for a year. Ron Lyons who plans to take the OMHA to court over the matter says "If there hadn't been the injuries and if it hadn't been so rough, I would have kept playing. The score didn't bother me. We've been beaten by 20 before."

Montreal Canadiens announcer succumbs to cancer

Claude Mouton, who has been the Montreal Forum announcer for more than twenty years passed away in Montreal early in the week. Mouton was a legend at the Forum. His Mats Naslooon's were famous around the hockey world. Mouton was 61 and died from pancreatic cancer. His last stint at the Forum was last Saturday when the Canadiens defeated the Ottawa Senators 4-3 in overtime.

UNB Red Blazers off to Toronto

While other UNB teams finished their seasons months ago, the UNB Red Blazers women's ice hockey team is still going strong. The team, this year's New Brunswick Senior B champions, are off to Toronto to participate in the largest women's ice hockey tournament in the world with over 200 teams competing. The team leaves next Thursday and first sees action against a team from San Francisco. The team also plays teams from Toronto and Michigan.

UNB/STU Scuba Club

This weekend will be the last weekend available for open pool time. That is, Friday April 2, 8:45-10:30 p.m. After this time the pool will be closed, but the scuba club will still operate for the summer months. Summer hours will most likely be on Thursday nights 7:30-10:00 p.m.

April 12th will be the General Year End Meeting of the scuba club. All scuba club members should attend. The meeting will be in Room 210 of the L.B. Gym, starting at 7:00 sharp! The topics to be discussed are; general business of the scuba club over the year, upcoming scuba courses. (Advanced diver, rescue diver, and a basic open water course), summer month scuba hours, and more. The meeting will also elect the new executive for the 1993 1994 year.

Those who are interested in taking a Basic Open Water Scuba Course this May should contact Kevin Johnston at 472-3103. The maximum number is 16, some names have already come in, so first come first serve.

Fourth and long Sports commentary by: Jamie Colvin

Seeing as this is my last column, I will attempt to present you with some fearless playoff predictions. But first lets look at the major hardware winners.

The MVP looked to be an open race with the untimely illness to Mario Lemieux, combined with the phenomenal play of many less appreciated superstars. This group includes Pat Lafontaine, Doug Gilmour, and Steve Yzerman. However, with magnificent Mario's remarkable comeback, coupled with the fact that the Penguins are now undefeated in 12 games after his return and during these games he has scored an unbelievable 35 points to retake the scoring rue lead, the obvious choice for that trophy is Mario.

The Norris trophy for top defensemen is not so clear. There are many stellar defensemen in the league this year such as Phil Housely, Ray Bourque (whose game has gone up a level lately) and do not forget Washington's Kevin Hatcher who has done it all for the Caps. Longshots in this category also include Jeff Brown of St. Louis and perhaps Steve Duchene of Quebec. However, despite this impressive talent pool, Chris Chelios will claim his second Norris. He has played exceptionally well for the Norris leading Blackhawks and earlier in the year was a candidate for league MVP. Chelios should prevail.

Rookie of the year is a lock. Teemu Sellane will get every vote in this category. His only serious challenge would come from future super-star Eric Lindros. Although he will finish this campaign with close to 40 goals, he battled a bum knee and a fortune seeking woman, and these certainly tainted Eric the Great's season.

Vezina trophy for the league's top puckstopper should be a 2 horse race, with perhaps a long-shot or two. PatrickRoy continues to play incredible nets for the Adams leading Canadians. Although his average is not in the miniscule 2.00's like years gone by, one must remember this is not the Canadiens of old (under Pat Burns). They now play a wide-open style and this certainly tests the tender. The other front runner would have to be Ed Belfour. He has a league leading 8 shutouts and is the backbone on 9 stingy defence. The darkhorse in the race would have to be Tom Barrasso who has done the majority of the tending for league leading Pittsburgh. he is a worthy candidate.

Coach of the year is a lock; Pat Burns has done the unthinkable and brought the Leafs back from the dead. They are currently in a position to finish 1st in the Norris with an astounding shot at 100 points. This is a .500 club at best but Burns has instilled a solid work ethic stressing defence and pride - something the Leafs lost for almost 20 years.

Lady Byng trophy for most sportsmanlike: who cares! What a gay award to win!

Now for Playoff predictions

The Adams: Quebec vs Montreal. Is this a time warp or what? The battle of Quebec will be hot and heavy but the Habs will win.

The Patrick: New York Rangers not making the playoffs. Wow! Anyway the Penguins will win easily.

The Norris: A tough call. I would say that Chicago would be the favorite. Too strong but watch out for Toronto, they might spoil somebody's party.

The Smythe: Vancouver and

Calgary final will produce some fireworks, but the Flames will prevail, even without home ice advantage.

Montreal vs Pittsburgh-who would bet against a healthy Penguins led by a healthy Mario. Certainly not me.

Calgary vs Chicago. Call me crazy but I really think Calgary can make it through to the Cup finals. It's Dave King's calling.

However, the Penguins are a dynasty, they will win their third consecutive cup and take their place among the best teams assembled.

RUSSIAN PRINCE VODKA

PRESENTS

New Stuff

Russian Prince Vodka wants you to listen to and read about the hottest new music available today. Just $29.50 gets you six different "New Stuff" CD's featuring a minimum of 16 brand new tracks each, and twelve issues of SoundCan magazine, the new pulse of Canadian music. Here's just a few of the bands featured on the current "New Stuff" CD presented by Russian Prince Vodka.

The Lawn

You can't mow it, you can't rake it, but you can rock out to it. It's The Lawn, one of the freshest sounds to grow out of the Toronto club scene. Fronted by the unorthodox slide-guitar stylings and inimitable vocals of Gord Cumming, The Lawn captured their spirited "park bench rock" on Debussy Fields (Hypnotic) last year and have set about harvesting a crop of new fans across the country. The mesmerizing playing of lead-rhythm guitarist Patrick Gregory, the relentless noodling of bassist Richard Gregory and the solid grooves of drummer Lonnie James round out the Lawn's lineup.

Alexander Caplin

At the tender age of 25, this Montreal artist has racked up some pretty impressive musical credentials. After studying jazz, focusing on voice and bass guitar, he lived and worked in Los Angeles, playing with the likes of Chuck Mangioni and Santana's Michael Calebero. After a brief stint in London, he moved home and started working on his solo debut, recently released on fre Records. The first single and video, "It's Just The Raid," will surely push him into the international spotlight.

Bachman

Remember the Guess Who? B.T.O.? Of course you do. And you'll be glad to know legendary Canadian rocker Randy Bachman, guitarist of the two legendary bands, is still taking care of business with a new album, Any Road. With guest turns from Neil Young and Margo Timmins (Cowboy Junkies), the new album features some great new material, including the instant classic "Prairie Town." Produced by Chris Wardman, with the solid rhythmic backing of drummer Billy Rea Chapman and bassist Richard Cochrane, Any Road is Bachman doing what he does best: "rock'n roll".

As an added bonus, if you subscribe now through this special campus offer you will be eligible to win:

- One of three Hitachi CX-W300 personal stereos featuring CD player and double cassette deck for high speed dubbing.
- One of fifty 5 CD "Hot Packs" featuring new albums by artists featured on the "New Stuff" CD presented by Russian Prince Vodka.

A Concert for Spring

University of New Brunswick's Centre for musical arts presents a "Concert for Spring," featuring the U.N.B. Bicentennial Choir & UNB brass ensemble concert band on Monday, 5 April, 8:00 P.M., UNB Memorial Hall. Free Admission. Donations to the UNB Music Scholarship fund gratefully accepted.

Tribute Concert for Robert Charlton Bayley

Please reserve this Saturday, April 3rd at 7 p.m. for the Robert Charlton Bayley 80th Birthday Tribute Concert. This free concert, sponsored by the Fredericton Music Society, will take place at Brunswick Street Baptist Church, and will feature instrumental, vocal and choral music composed by Mr. Bayley and performed by a variety of gifted musicians from throughout the province. The program will also include selections from Easter Paeon, Mr. Bayley's new collection of poems. Voluntary contributions to the Robert Charlton Bayley Scholarship Fund will be gratefully accepted. Reception to follow.

Duo Pach In Farewell Concert at Memorial Hall

The Duo Pach—violinist Joseph Pach and pianist Arlene Nimmons Pach—are in concert this Wednesday, April 7, at 8 p.m. in UNB's Memorial Hall. This final concert in the 1992-93 UNB/STU Creative Arts season is one of the Duo Pach's last Fredericton appearances as UNB Resident Musicians, and features music by Handel, Bloch and Walton—the same program as on the duo's forthcoming CD, scheduled for international release in late summer. Tickets at the door are $12 for adults and $5 for students.

G.A.L.A. Upcoming Events

Friday 2nd April-Meeting: Executive elections. Now's your chance to take hold of the reins and get involved with the running of GALA. Followed by Pizza night, subsidized by GALA, but bring a couple of loonies. Start 7 p.m.

Friday 9th April-Drop-in: Film: La Cage aux Folles. Story of a gay couple who have to pass as straight when the in-laws come to call. Hilarious and moving. 7p.m. start.

Due to exams over the next few weeks, the subsequent meetings will all be 'drop-in's'. However, it is likely that films will be shown, etc. If you have any opinions regarding the activities GALA could or should provide in the short term or next academic year, please contact us. Anything is worth considering!

Venues and information for all events are available by calling the Gayline, operational on Monday's and Thursdays between 6p.m. and 9p.m. Our mail address; GALA, UNB Help Centre, SUB. UNB.

Special thanks to Aitken, Dunn, Jones & Tibbets Residences! Looking forward to 93-94. Have a great summer!

Krista Matthews:
Happy 19th birthday buddy!! Did you know you got 40 draft at the Pub for only $100? We can handle that. See you there, at the Cosmo, the Social Club and end the night off at the "Hot Pot Cafe" for the House specialty (KD). Just your typical Thursday night. Hope it's a blast!!! From: the gang
P.S. Friday's classes are cancelled.

Woodchuck, I saw you at the last Neill Social. It was love at first sight. I was too shy to say anything. If interested, respond in next Bruns.
The Beaver

Sweetheart,
June 11 is getting closer every day. Every day gone is one day closer to the day we will be together forever.
Love Pumpkin

Caroline,
I love the Nookie, Nookie, Nookie you give me every day.
Love Puppy-Toe.

The organizers of the "Pool Tournament of Champions" which took place at the CHSC on March 27 would like to thank: Matt Harris, Manager of the College Hill Social Club; Labatt's Representative Peter Lynch, Labatt's and Budweiser beer; Coastal Graphics; United Sports; and all participants. Congratulations to all our prize winners. Top prizes went to Richard Gordon 3rd place, Rowan Ayers 2nd place, and 1st place went to Danny "Crittter" Gauthier. Chalk another one up for the Big Dogs!

To Gina G:
When I first met you, I instantly fell for you. While we were separated, I constantly thought of you. Now that we are talking again...I have realized my love for you. Love Owen Watson
P.S. without you, my life is worth nothing.

To MB!
You tell all your friends I'm living's greatest employee, so why don't you tell me. I really think you're cute. I would be more than "happy" to pump your gas anytime!

To Bad Blonde:
You were an awesome kisser! I hope we can do it again sometime. Hope to see you at the Cosmo this Friday. Love "Hot Lips

"Raven": My article. Thanks for noticing. Will try to find you (don't like dances, so no sneaking in, but am looking to attend next GALA movie) Persevere - check next dome
The gal in the black and white beret

To the "Kraft Dinner Board Game" Lady,
This is just a little public note thanking you for the wonderful past few weeks. I know we've had a rocky past, but that was long ago. I'll miss you this summer. Take Care!

Love Peanut

Shen S.,
I saw you Friday night at the Pub in the Sub. You're just so great! It's hard to believe there are still girls like you around. I hope to see you around a whole lot more before we leave.
A sensitive admirer of yours.

The manager of "Voyagers", the winning team of the intramural co-ed recreational volleyball league (winter 1993), would like to thank all members of the team (Rob Carey, Susan Dableh, Dwayne Doucette, Colette Lavoie, Darin Mayo, Valdo Perez, Pablo Prado, Stacey Shannon, Monika Steitz, Anca Vulcu and Chantale Walker) For their time and tremendous effort. Congratulations guys (and Gals)!! You were just great!!!

Ang:
I'm glad to see someone's "getting it". I hope it was a wonderful experience and you won't have to wait another three months for it. Me, I guess I'll just keep searching, but I know you'll be there for me.
Your Bi-Sexual Lover

Mel. from LBR:
Can I borrow your trapeze; we want to try something new! The Bi's from McLeod.

Nancy:
Enjoy your weekend, but keep the noise down. Jim's screaming and cat meows are keeping me up.
Your neighbor

A and C:
The shower was great, when can we do it again. This time we'll all enjoy! See you soon.

Shannon:
I see you all grown up now, and I am awestruck with the woman you have become. I see you in the cafeteria, but I am too shy to speak.
-Old elementary schoolmate.

To M.L.
Thanks for a wonderful weekend, and I hope it's not the last. I told you my answer on sun. now tell me what you think (remember, you never did). By the way, it was my first time too, for what we did in the back of my vehicle, a little cold, but still fun! Of course so was the rest of the night too. Give me a call if you still hate me, and if not call me anyway.
Casper the friendly ghost.

Muffin:
I hope that you have a really great day! And remember, you're not getting older, you're getting better! Happy birthday.
Your stir-fry Queen

To Tren-my knight in shining armor,
I hope you know how much you mean to me-you make me so happy. You are the greatest and I want to be with you always. I love you, to infinity. Happy 1 year anniversary.
Love your princess Dana

TEXTBOOK BUYBACK

Time: 9am-4:30pm
Mon.-Fri.
April 19-30, 1993

Place: Basement
Level of Bookstore
(in driveway at lower level of store)

The University Bookstore contracts with a used book company to facilitate an annual buyback. Market value of your book varies dramatically and depends on whether the title is being purchased for use in courses at UNB or STU or is being purchased by the book company for resale to another campus. Lists for UNB/STU buyback are posted in the buyback area and at the front entrance of the Bookstore.

WE CANNOT CHECK LISTS OVER THE PHONE.

The Bookstore staff wish you Good Luck on your exams
and hope to see you again next year!

ATTENTION ALL RESIDENCE STUDENTS UNB and STU

As your year comes to an end, we would like to take the opportunity to thank you for your business over the past year. We would also like to remind you that the basic telephone sets that were in your rooms in September should be left there when you leave in April. Do not return them to our offices. For those of you who rented additional sets, they will need to be returned to our offices before you leave.

All Calling Cards will be deactivated as of April 30th, 1993. Should you require a Calling Card for the summer months, please call our business office.

If you have any questions, our business office number is 452-4515.

Again thank you, have a great summer, and we look forward to seeing you next fall!
