

GERMAN ARMY IS INCREASED BY ONE MILLION CONSCRIPTS

Copenhagen, July 30.—According to a special message from Berlin, the German army has been increased by about a million men, mostly seventeen to eighteen years, during the last three weeks. These levies are being made for the most part from Saxony.

RUSSIAN LINE GIVES WAY AT FOUR IMPORTANT POINTS TO TEUTONIC ARMIES' ADVANCE

Vistula Crossed at Several Points by pontoons—Passage of Vievprz Has Been Forced and the Sweep on Kovno is Being Carried Out.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
Petrograd, July 30.—Via London, July 31.—While Austro-German assaults have been repulsed at several places along the battle line admission is made in an official statement issued tonight at the headquarters of the general staff that the Russian front has been pierced at important points. One is Radomka on the Vistula, where pontoons were used in crossing. A passage of the Vievprz also was forced at Trawnski. German outposts advancing from the southwest are nearing the fortress of Kovno, in the province of Kovno.
The text of the communication follows:
"On the Niemen and Dvina, Thursday there were outpost engagements. On the left bank of the Moussa in the Trans-Niemen region the enemy renewed his attacks. Thursday night Russian enemy outposts, advancing from the southwest, approached the Vistula. On the right bank of the Vistula, the German forces repelled while on the right bank of the Narow north of Serock enemy attacks were repulsed."
BY PONTOONS
Radomka the enemy crossed

on Pontoons to the right bank of the Vistula and attempted to bridge the river. The Russians are attacking three enemy detachments which crossed. Heavy artillery destroyed the enemy's bridge at Koziencie. On the Vistula and the Bug Thursday large enemy forces attacked and also on both banks of the Vievprz. At Cmiel and Plaski the enemy was repulsed with heavy losses, but along the left bank of the Vievprz, after a stubborn fight, he succeeded in advancing in this district. One division which captured Trawnski and subsequently got beyond Trawnski, crossing to the right bank of the Vievprz.
GERMANS LOST HERE.
"On the Bug in the Sokal region the enemy was repulsed from two lines of trenches. We captured a thousand prisoners and four maxima." At Kamionka an Austrian attack was repulsed.
"In the Black Sea Russian torpedo boats shelled batteries near Shile, 34 miles northeast of Constantinople, and also sunk a large collier as well forty seven sailing ships."

LUBLIN ENTERED

Austrians Entered Into the City on Friday.

Vienna, July 30.—via London, July 31.—11.47 a.m.—Austrian cavalry entered Lublin Friday afternoon, according to an official statement issued to-night at the Austrian war office.
By the occupation of Lublin, 95 miles southeast of Warsaw, the Austrians have cut the Russians off from important means of communication connecting the whole southern Russian front between the Vistula and the Bug Rivers. The Russians have battled desperately to prevent the Teutonic allies from gaining possession of the Lvangorod-Lublin-Chelm Railroad, which for some distance parallels the Vistula River.
The Russians rushed to the front new reserves and veteran troops, whose lines have recruited to full strength. These forces fought valiantly to retard the progress of their antagonists and administered serious checks to the Austro-German forces although exposed to a merciless artillery fire. Field Marshal Von Mackensen evidently has been successful, at last, however, in forcing an advance. Until a few days ago the allies considered the Russians' defense of the Lublin-Chelm Railroad one of the hopeful features of the campaign in the east. Control of the Lublin-Chelm Railroad will afford the Austro-Germans a means of quickly massing troops at any point desired and will deprive the Russians of one of their main avenues of retreat. A military railroad built by the Russians, south from Lublin, during their occupation of Galicia through a region which, for strategic reasons, had hitherto been left without railroads, proved of great advantage to the Austrians in solving the problem of communication.

IN THIS picture the artist shows the result of his visit to a British battery. An order has arrived by telephone. It has been repeated to the officer in command of the gun, who studies his map for a moment, then shouts to the man at the telephone, "Tell the observer we will fire on X." The target is not visible to the gunners, but the observer will watch the effect of the shot and telephone necessary corrections in range. The gun is one of the British standard field guns. One man is pressing down the spade at the end of the cylindrical trail, while another holds the shell in readiness.

SILENT, EMPTY CITY, WITH DESERTED HOMES, WILL AWAIT KAISER'S STATE ENTRY

The Police Visited Every House and Requested People to Leave.

Warsaw, by mail to Stockholm, July 31.—Thursday evening, July 15, the Russian authorities announced in the newspapers that the city's official evacuation would begin on the following Sunday. As a matter of fact, it began immediately. Police visited every house and told the "stroosh" or porter, to try to induce the inhabitants in his building to leave at once for Russia (as distinguished from Poland). Free transport on the railway to any destination in Russia and grants of money were promised when needed. Unlike the partial evacuation of last December, every effort was put forth to induce citizens to leave Warsaw, the police showing a kindness and sympathy which greatly touched them.
Rolling stock, consisting mainly of empty freight cars, was quietly accumulated on the sidings for a week until thousands of cars were available. During Friday, Saturday and Sunday trains of refugees were despatched eastward, the cars being occupied by fleeing men, women and children as closely packed as possible. While 350,000 citizens, including nearly half of Warsaw's ghet, thus departed eastward, nearly another 350,000 of peasants came trooping into the Polish metropolis from the neighboring districts. Practically the entire population of the country on the north, south and west came in a ceaseless procession day and night, the tired, dust-whitened peasant families with their cattle and portable goods thronged the roads converging on Warsaw. In the city itself literally tens of thousands of homes were broken up instantly. I know of four cases of men worth more than $1,000,000 last month who are now nearly penniless.
Factories Blown Up
Simultaneously with the evacuation all property likely to be useful to the enemy, especially metal and machinery, was removed or destroyed. Factories were feverishly stripped and the owners of the plants were granted free transport to the eastward for what they could save. Day and night one heard the periodical roar of a dynamited factory plant that was embedded in concrete or was too cumbersome to dismantle and transport. Every fragment of this dynamited metal was taken eastward on the railway.
The newspapers of Warsaw made their last appearance with the issues announcing the evacuation. Then the linotype machines were rooted up from the floors and carted away. Police and soldiers visited every printing establishment and every newspaper office, taking the fonts of type and dismantling the presses. Hardly a ton of copper fittings were left in the city. All stocks of copper in pipe factories and plumbing shops, copper used for household ware, copper of every kind wherever found was removed. So were the stocks of iron.

WARSAW TOUCHES THE BRITISH PEOPLE VERY SHARPLY, SAYS "MAIL"

Colonel Muir Contradicts the Expositor

No Eight Men Were Dismissed From the Regiment as Was Stated.
"I wish to say that it is absolutely untrue," said Col. Muir to the Courier this morning re the report in a local contemporary that eight men from the 25th Dragoons had been dismissed for bad behavior. "I wish you to contradict the story, and contradict it good and loudly, so everybody can see it," continued the Colonel. "The whole thing is absolutely untrue. I don't know where or how the story got about, but it is absolutely false, every word of it."
With such words did Col. Muir dispose of the charge against his regiment, but indignation is not confined to the officers alone. The men in the tent this morning were very wrathful over the whole affair, and felt keenly the undeserved slur on their regiment. They felt that the Dragoons conduct themselves as honorably as any other regiment and cannot understand how such stories get about to their detriment.
To-morrow morning the overseas force will assemble at headquarters at 10.30 and parade via George, Chatham and Murray streets to St. Luke's Church. The service will be conducted by the Rev. C. V. Lester, M.A. St. Luke's Church has been improved and extended and is now one of the best in the diocese.
Two more men were added yesterday: Harold Currah, Canadian, 1600 Ouillette Ave., Windsor, 20, single. James Ridley, Canadian, 250 West Mill St., 25, married, one child.
The formation of a King's Regiment of Canadian guards was favored by a meeting in Victoria Hall, Toronto.

FIFTH SON OF THE STRATFORD FAMILY ON ACTIVE SERVICE

Mr. Jack Stratford Has Enlisted in the West For Front.

The fifth son of Mrs. Jos. Stratford to enlist in the service of King and Country is Mr. Jack Stratford, who has recently joined one of the Western regiments. Lieut. Arthur Stratford, Lieut. Joe Stratford and Geo. Stratford are already in England. Mr. Harold Stratford expects to be there shortly, and now Jack has joined.
Probably no other Canadian family—father and mother both that—can equal this record.

APPEALS FOR ENDING WAR AND ADDRESSES LETTER TO WARRING NATIONS

Rome Believes Appeal Was Solicited by the Austro-Germans.

Rome, July 31.—The Osservatore Romano yesterday published Pope Benedict's letter addressed to the belligerent peoples and their rulers warmly appealing for peace. The Pope eloquently describes the horrors of fratricidal war and affirms his decision to spare no efforts towards peace, which he briefly recapitulates on the occasion of the first anniversary of the outbreak of the war. He here lifts his voice above the din of war and invokes peace in the name of God, whom he implores to end this horrible slaughter which is dishonoring Europe. The Pope eloquently points out the ruin and damage caused by the war, the useless loss of life and wealth, and adds that the complete destruction of nations is impossible, since the vanquished, even though oppressed and humiliated, prepare for revenge; hence hatred is transmitted through generations.
The Pope then suggests direct and indirect exchange of views toward a settlement of the rights and realization of the aspirations of the belligerents, and invites all peace-lovers to join in his efforts to end the war.
The Pope reimplors the aid of God and the Blessed Virgin toward reconciliation of the warring States, the restoration of the brotherhood of the people and the re-establishment of the reign of equity and justice. Finally, he blesses all Catholics and prays God to unite in bonds of charity those outside the Church.
Pope Benedict's appeal, which is very eloquent, contains no practical proposals, but it is significant, since this appeal for peace was possibly solicited by the Austro-Germans, hence it implied the Pope's willingness to offer mediation if the proposal is accepted by the belligerents.
Pope Benedict merely proposes to bring the peace agencies of the belligerents into contact with each other, even if only indirectly, since he is convinced that peace is possible if the first and greatest difficulty of initiating the negotiations is overcome.

Leyland Liner Iberian Has Been Sunk

QUEENSTOWN, JULY 31, 2.45 P.M.—FOUR OF THE SEVEN MEN KILLED WHEN THE LEYLAND LINE STEAMSHIP IBERIAN WAS TORPEDOED AND SUNK BY A GERMAN SUBMARINE ARE SAID TO HAVE BEEN AMERICANS.
London, July 31.—The Leyland Liner Iberian has been sunk by a German submarine. Five members of the crew were killed, two died aboard a rescue boat and 61 were landed safely.
The Iberian, a steamer of 5,223 tons gross, sailed from Boston July 7th for Manchester, where she was reported to have arrived July 20. She was 437 feet long with a beam of 48 feet, and was built at Sunderland in 1900. F. Leyland and Company, Limited, of Liverpool, were the owners. Upon her arrival at Boston from Manchester and Liverpool on July 2, members of the Iberian crew told of being chased by a German submarine when only a few miles from the mouth of the Mersey. Captain Jago manoeuvred his ship out of danger, however.
The Iberian has been used for several months for the transportation of war supplies between the United States and England.
Although the thermometer was only 83, the humidity made it exceedingly uncomfortable yesterday.

MACHINE GUN BATTERY FOR BRANTFORD

Campaign to Open For the Raising of Necessary Funds.

A meeting was held yesterday under the auspices of the Board of Trade, with reference to Brantford contributions for machine guns to be sent to the front. There was a good attendance.
It was the unanimous opinion that the project should be launched immediately, with the endeavor to raise $20,000 or $25,000 for the purchase of said guns, ambulances and equipment.
An organizing committee was elected as follows:
H. H. Powell (chairman), Mayor Spence, H. Cockshutt, Reg. Scarie, Glen Ellis, L. M. Waterous, T. E. Ryerson.
Canvassing will commence on Wednesday and close on Saturday. Those desirous of contributing before the opening date will kindly send contributions to either of the city papers.
COPPER EXPROPRIATED
Berlin, July 31.—The military authorities of the province of Brandenburg in which Berlin is located have issued an order expropriating all supplies of copper, brass and nickel. The order covers skillets, pots, pans and kettles in households. These articles may be retained until further notice, but must be sold, destroyed or disposed of in anyway.
Important changes are foreshadowed in recruiting regulations for Canadian forces.

The Tea at the Brantford Golf and Country Club was most enjoyable last Saturday. Mrs. H. C. Allen and Mrs. Harris Popplewell presided at the tea table and a number of out-of-town people were present. A party of ladies from Brantford, including Mrs. Muir and Mrs. Brethour, motored over for the event.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Gordon motored to Stratford, where they spent the week-end with Mr. Gordon's parents. Many Brantford friends will be glad to hear that Mr. Gordon's brother Capt. Glen Napier, Gordon of Stratford, who was officially reported dead, has been heard from through a trained nurse, who saw the young officer on train for the German prison camp. In a letter from her to his mother in Stratford she says in part that Capt. Glen Gordon was wounded in the leg, and that his hearing was affected, and that he wished her to write to his mother in Stratford, Ont., to that effect. Needless to say his relatives and friends were greatly relieved at this good news, as they had mourned the gallant young officer as dead. Relatives immediately cabled to Germany but as yet have received no reply to verify the report.

They will be joined to-morrow by another motor party of Brantfordites which includes Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Scarfe, Miss Nora Wallace and Mr. Graham Stratford.

The Moyle Tranquility Women's Institute held a lawn social on Thursday night at the home of Mr. Geo. Burrie, one half mile east of Moyle school. This was the first occasion that anything of this nature had ever been attempted by the Institute, the purpose being to raise money for the Red Cross. The weather was ideal and the beautiful lawn looked like fairyland with its many colored lights and gorgeous decorations. Four booths were erected on different parts of the lawn, for refreshments, ice cream, candy and fortune telling and all did a thriving business. A most excellent program was also provided. Judge Hardy was in the chair and opened the meeting with a stirring patriotic address. A varied musical program followed, violin selections, solos and quartettes, as well as selections by the elocutionist, all by Brantford talent. Over $100 was realized on the evening and everybody concerned, both managers and patrons, considered the affair a splendid success.

WHEN USING WILSON'S FLY PADS READ DIRECTIONS CAREFULLY AND FOLLOW THEM EXACTLY

The Park Church choir was last night entertained by Miss B. Sayles, 141 Ontario street on the occasion of the weekly rehearsal to a social hour.

Nuptial Notes

SPENCE CUTCLIFFE
A quiet but very pretty ceremony took place on July 26th at the home of the bride's parents, Hawarden Place, when Madeline, the only daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Cutcliffe was united to Mr. A. Langsay Spence, son of Mr. W. J. Spence of this city. In the absence of the bride's father, who is on active service in France, Capt. M. E. B. Cutcliffe, uncle of the bride gave her away.

After the tying of the nuptial knot, the bridal party partook of a delicious dejeuner and left on a wedding trip on the great lakes. On their return they will reside in their new home in Brighton Place.

NORTHWAY HOPE

A quiet but very pretty wedding was solemnized on Thursday morning in Westminster Presbyterian church, Toronto, when Miss Jessie S. Hope, the only daughter of Mrs. John Hope, Nanton ave., Rosedale, Toronto and formerly of Brantford, was united in marriage to Mr. Arthur Northway of Toronto. Only immediate relatives and friends were present at the ceremony. The bride was becomingly gowned in a grey travelling suit with a black and white hat, and was unattended. After the ceremony the bridal party participated of a delicious wedding breakfast and the happy couple left early in the afternoon for a motor trip through the Berkshire Hills amidst the usual showers of confetti and good wishes of their friends.

Obituary

There died yesterday afternoon, after a lingering illness, Mr. William Faulkes, at the age of 82 years. The deceased was an employee of the Cockshutt Pulp Co. and was a well-known member of the Salvation Army Band. He leaves to mourn his loss a widow and one daughter, Mrs. George Barwell, at home. The funeral will take place from his late residence, 32 Aberdeen Avenue, on Sunday afternoon, to Mount Hope cemetery.

FRANCIS ROULEAU

The many friends of Mr. Francis E. Rouleau, of 52 Arthur street, formerly of Saskatchewan, will be shocked to learn that he died suddenly, this morning of apoplexy. The deceased leaves to mourn his loss his sorrowful widow, four sons, Ernest, Albert, George and Percy, all of Saskatchewan, and six daughters, Mrs. John Smith and Mrs. Angus Smith, of Saskatchewan and Lulu, Alice, Grace and Winona at home. The late Mr. Rouleau was a member of Calvary Baptist church and the members of that congregation will extend their sincere sympathy to the sorrowing relatives. Funeral notice later.

GOSSIP OF NOTABLES

It is true, as the New York Post remarks, that if there is one man in the whole British Empire who has made good in the present war, it is Louis Botha, Premier of the Union of South Africa, Privy Councillor, and fifteen years ago one of the stubbornest enemies of Great Britain. When the war is over we shall know the names of other great men who have made good, but it has fallen to Botha to make good early and decisively and there are no honors which the King can offer him that will be too great for his deserts. Whatever may happen in the future, Botha's title to fame is clear. He has proved himself not only a great soldier, but a great man, and in the pages of history there are not so many of them that his name is likely to be crowded out. When it is remembered that fifteen years ago he was at war with Great Britain, his services to the empire are all the more remarkable. History hardly furnishes a parallel case to that of Gen. Botha.

TEMPTING THE OLD BOERS

When the war broke out he announced that South Africa could defend itself against any attacks, and that it was heart and soul with Great Britain. Before he spoke these words he must have known that German agents were at work trying to induce South Africa to seize this great opportunity and become independent. Whether direct overtures were made to him we do not know. That they were made to other Boers only less clear. He has proved himself not only a great soldier, but a great man, and in the pages of history there are not so many of them that his name is likely to be crowded out. When it is remembered that fifteen years ago he was at war with Great Britain, his services to the empire are all the more remarkable. History hardly furnishes a parallel case to that of Gen. Botha.

the head of a Boer and British force advanced upon German South-west Africa. After a short but strenuous campaign he added this territory to the British Empire, and now announces that South Africa is ready to send a contingent to Flanders to help Great Britain.

BOTHA AS A YOUNG MAN
Though there is not a drop of English, Irish, Scotch or Welsh blood in his veins, it happened that Botha was born on British soil, for he first saw the light in Natal on September 29, 1863. His father was a sheep farmer, who moved soon after to the Orange Free State. When he was 21 years old Louis struck out for himself, and settled within the borders of Zululand. He prospered, became a native commissioner, and a cornet in the Boer army. Four years later when this new district was assimilated by the Transvaal, he was continued in his office, and in 1895 was elected to the Upper Chamber of the Volksraad. It is interesting to recall now that from the first he was no supporter of Kruger, but identified himself with the younger Boer element, and was what might be called a progressive.

VOTED AGAINST KRUGER
He was one of the seven men in the Volksraad who voted against the ultimatum that Oom Paul despatched to Britain, and which was the immediate cause of the war. However, when the die was cast, there was not a Boer among them all who threw himself more loyally into the services of his country. He knew from the beginning that the Boer cause was hopeless, and as King and Lambert. The late Mr. Rouleau was a member of Calvary Baptist church and the members of that congregation will extend their sincere sympathy to the sorrowing relatives. Funeral notice later.

Bundle up all your laundry - everything - send it to the finest laundry in Brantford -
Brantford Laundry
Then, make the usual "wash-day" a holiday. You'll get your laundry back clean and sweet-smelling - You'll save the usual "fuss and muss" caused by "wash-day" in the home - and you'll save the cost in wear and tear.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST LAND REGULATIONS.
THIS sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency) on certain conditions.
Duties—Six months residence upon cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A suitable patent may be obtained as soon as residence is performed in the vicinity.
In certain districts a homesteader is good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.
Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emptive patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.
A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Residence must be maintained for such of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.
The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.
W. W. COBY, C.M.G.
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

THE SITUATION

The evacuation of Warsaw has been proceeding for some days in good order. As expected, previous intimations from Petrograd that such a course might become necessary, were simply a prelude to the announcement of the actual occurrence. The place was formerly the capital of Poland, and stands on the left bank of the Vistula, about three hundred miles east of Berlin. It possesses many magnificent buildings and spacious courts and gardens, and has a very large population. To an outsider, it would seem like a hard blow for the Russians to give up possession, but Petrograd does not seem to feel that way. Apparently the evacuation is regarded as simply a necessary and common sense step, in connection with the withdrawing campaign which Grand Duke Nicholas is at present forced to adopt. The situation may still be described as far from good.

Sir John French reports that the enemy have penetrated some British front line trenches to the extent of five hundred yards. To do this, they employed for the first time another devilment—flame projectors. The Italians have evacuated some of their trenches in front of Goritz, but in general their campaign seems to be making fair advance.

U. S. LAWYER ON "GERMANS IN AMERICA"

Mr. Harold Pitcher Okie is a well-known lawyer in the States, and he has recently issued a book under the title "America and the German Peril." Here is a sample extract:

"Any war of the United States with Germany will be commenced by a rebellion—perhaps of numerical insignificance—conducted upon United States territory. . . . War will be declared when Germany's fleet is within striking distance of our shores, and that moment will determine to the very minute the shore mobilization of the armed, disciplined, retrained German 'patriots,' who will not have the slightest difficulty in taking possession of the wireless stations at Sayreville and Arlington and the fortifications of New York harbor, Panama and San Francisco.

Every United States administrative department—War, State and Navy—is penetrated with Germans occupying positions of trust. If Germany is not to-day in possession of the plans of every fortification, naval vessel, and of every code belonging to the United States, she has departed from every tradition of her history.

"It will be quite unnecessary for Germany to land a 'uniformed' force at Panama; 2,000 German-American sightseers armed with naturalization papers, American birth certificates, and weapons of precision acting against an unsuspecting garrison could put the canal fortifications into the possession of Germany, who would hold it till we had built and manned a huge navy or until a regenerated Great Britain had forgiven our frosty neutrality."

Mr. Okie reminds his compatriots that America contains more than half a million males of German birth who are of military age, and most of whom, he thinks, it is safe to say, have performed their full military service.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Those old razors, for instance. They would be much better at the front than in some out-of-the-way corner. Leave 'em at this office.

A second letter received from Col. Colquhoun again demonstrates how much the Courier boxes are appreciated by the Brantford boys on the firing line. Keep up the good work by your contributions.

A machine gun campaign has been launched among Brantford's other war activities. Will we get there? We should smile! Have that habit all the while.

The Minister of Munitions has promised Premier Borden that John Bull will utilize the reserves of Canada to the last available extent, and what's more, we'll do our full share.

Out West, soldiers in camp who so desire, can help in the harvest. Good move. The gathering of the crop is just as much important in its way as men at the front.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children In Use For Over 30 Years Always bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

It is nice to have some baccy in your old tobacco box. Help see to it that the Brantford boys at the front have theirs also.

The latest dodge of the Huns is to use flame projectors. They won't begin to equal the flames of indignation aroused throughout the civilized world over their hellish deeds.

WORLD PRESS ON THE WAR

A WAR OF JUSTICE

Il Secolo (Milan, Italy): Our soldiers all know that this is a war of punitive and preventive justice for us and for others—for our hearthstones and for all the hearthstones of the world, for our sons and grandsons, but also for our brothers of the human family throughout all the world, for those who were maltreated in Belgium and were sunk with the Lusitania.

WHAT THE WAR STANDS FOR Corriere della Sera (Milan): Has there not flashed upon the German mind the vision of what this great world war now stands for—that is, the crusade of civilized nations against the conspiring enemies of peace, a gigantic police action to put two dangerous known criminals into a condition where they are unable to do any more harm?

AFTER TEN MONTHS' WAR Westminster Gazette: When all is said, how after ten months of war does the account stand between us and Germany? We have swept her clean off the sea and destroyed her foreign commerce, we have captured many of her colonies and hold them all at the mercy of our sea-power. Our fleet has greatly increased in strength since the beginning of the war, and we have created such an army as we have never had before in our history or thought it possible that we could make in the short time at our disposal. Never had we less reason to fear invaders on land, and our pressure on Germany is such that we are compelling her all the time to fight against time, with every probability that we can hold out longer than she can.

U. S. LAWYER ON "GERMANS IN AMERICA" (Continued) "The Outlook (New York):—This latest triumph of British arms (Botha's success in Africa) is most noteworthy because it is one more proof of the wisdom of the British policy of colonial government. Fifteen years ago General Botha was fighting England, and Germany was openly in sympathy with the Boer cause. Yet so wisely, so kindly, and so tolerantly have the British ruled in Africa since the end of the Transvaal War that, when the crisis came last August, General Botha and most of his race did not hesitate in the choice between England and their ancient friend Germany, but threw in their lot with Great Britain with such zeal that they first put down a rebellion by a minority of their fellow-colonists and then turned to the direct attack on the German forces in Africa. The action of Botha's men, like the action of the Canadians at Ypres, and like the conduct of the Australians on the Gallipoli Peninsula, is a vindication of British methods of empire-building."

BOUQUET FOR MONTREAL The Charlottetown Examiner:—Montreal is the first city in Canada in population, wealth and commerce, and is well maintaining that proud position in war. Its citizens have, individually and collectively, exhibited a spirit of patriotism and self-sacrifice in the unparalleled crisis in which the Empire is involved, that is far beyond praise, and that might well inspire those of other cities to do their utmost. One of them alone raised and equipped a whole regiment of men—the Princess Patricia's—who were foremost among those who "saved the situation at Langemarck and in making Canada known and respected by the enemies of freedom as well as by all who are contending against autocracy and sympathizing with the defenders of the liberties of mankind. Many others have given freely of their abundant means to help the cause along. Many, too, have freely sacrificed their lives in order that the honor of the British Empire may be upheld and the blessing of British liberty maintained. While the men have fought, the women have worked incessantly from the beginning of the war, for the provision of means to promote the comfort and efficiency of Canada's soldiery and to assuage the sufferings of the wounded. And the efforts of both men and women are being continued. Montreal is certainly "doing its bit," and Montreal certainly affords an example which other cities might follow at a distance commensurate with wealth, population and means.

HUGE NUMBER

By Special Wire to The Courier. London, July 31.—The number of committees appointed by the British Government since the beginning of the war to deal with various phases of war work now has reached a total of 87. In addition, says the Daily Mail, there are large numbers of departmental committees of which no record has been published. Recently several members of parliament have declined to serve on any more committees on the ground that the continued multiplication of these boards would interfere with the proper conduct of the war.

Two additional vessels were sunk by German submarines.

Federal Grand Jury on Eastland Disaster Probes Deeply.

By Special Wire to The Courier. Chicago, July 31.—The federal grand jury, which is investigating the capsizing of the Steamship Eastland in the Chicago river last Saturday, with the loss of hundreds of lives, sought evidence relating to the stability of the vessel when it convened to-day. One of the first witnesses called before the jury was S. G. Jenks of Port Huron, Mich., member of the firm which constructed the vessel.

Before the day is over, United States District Attorney Cline expects to present evidence showing the history of the boat and its reported previous "cranky" performances, and the knowledge of the owners of the ship as regards this.

ITALIAN OFFICIAL WARSAW

By Special Wire to The Courier. Rome, July 30.—Via Paris, July 31.—The following official communication received from main headquarters of the Italian army under date of July 30, was given out here to-night: "In the Tyrol and Trentino region minor engagements, ending in our favor, reported at Fagnano, on the western shore of Lake Garda and to the northeast of Marco in the valley of Adige River.

"In Cadore on the evening of July 27 the enemy's infantry and magazine gun sections attacked our positions at a point where the Travenanzes valley opens into the valley of the Loboito. The attack was repulsed with loss. In the valley of San Pellegrino on the 28th another detachment of the enemy tried to surprise our troops occupying Costa Bella. Our men allowed the enemy to come to within 100 yards of the trenches and then by a sudden fire threw them back making a few prisoners.

"In the Fella Valley our Alpine detachments occupied with varying fortune spurs which from Dorsale on the left slope of the valley, descend toward Lusiz.

SILENT

Under the intense artillery and rifle fire of the enemy, we stormed further trenches, and during the night of the 29th, enemy patrols sought to set fire to the wood of Capucio, where we are strongly entrenched, but the watchfulness of our advanced post prevented them from succeeding. "Although no important engagements were fought yesterday we have taken four officers and 120 soldiers prisoners, and picked up on the field 808 rifles, 13 cases of ammunition and other war material."

A leather agreement has recently been reached between the French and British Governments. The French Government has undertaken to allow the export from France of a limited number of hides of 35 kilos salted weight and over. Permits to export hides of the specified weight from France will only be granted on application being made to the French Ministry of War by the Committee of the United Tanners' Federation of Great Britain, who will act as sole buyers of hides of this class for export from France to Great Britain. The imported hides will be sold by auction to tanners engaged in the production of leather for army boots. Any difference between the price paid in France and the price realized in Great Britain, after meeting expenses, will be paid to the Treasury. In return for this concession on the part of the French Government export from Great Britain of a corresponding weight of light leather of the classes required for French army boots has been agreed to. The export to France of leather of the classes specified will, in future, be regulated by the International Commission. London.

SEVERE RHEUMATIC PAINS DISAPPEAR

Rheumatism depends on an acid in the blood, which affects the muscles and joints, producing inflammation, stiffness and pain. This acid gets into the blood through some defect in the digestive process. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old-time blood tonic, is very successful in the treatment of rheumatism. It acts directly, with purifying effect, on the blood, and improves the digestion. Don't suffer. Get Hood's today.

Flame and Fire Poured Over Trenches

London, July 31.—The following official statement was given to the British War Office Friday night: "This (Friday) morning the enemy began a bombardment of our trenches north and south of Hoge (east of Gerres, Belgium), and followed this by an attack with flames which were directed chiefly against the trenches recently captured by us at Hoge. By this means the enemy succeeded in penetrating our first line trenches on a front of about 500 yards. The fighting is still in progress."

WILL ALLOW RETREAT.

The Chronicle believes Germany will be content to allow the Russians to retire to a new line meanwhile occupying themselves with fortifying the newly captured positions. It is possible, says the Chronicle, "that the Germans will not try to break through the new Russian lines which give them in turn a short and easy line to defend. Then they can promptly transfer their huge surplus forces to another area for an offensive against Italy, Serbia or the Anglo-French front. Before autumn one of the three is likely to be hammered hard and signs point to Serbia or Italy as the first to be attacked."

"Warsaw touches us in England very nearly and sharply," says The Mail in an editorial. "We shall feel the loss of the city even more than the Russians, who have little less space in which to retreat. We hope authoritative means will be taken to inform the Russian duma at its sitting to-morrow that Great Britain stands firm with Russia in this struggle."

ALL BRIDGES MINED

Through the streets endless columns of laden carts and lorries converted on the Praga and Alexandrovski bridges across the Vistula, only a group of soldiers with their legs dangling over the side distinguished from the wagon containing peasants a few sacks of potatoes that contain the banks' millions of rubles in paper money or the irreplaceable records of the law courts.

Day and night gangs of soldiers were busily stripping league after league of copper telegraph wires from the poles. Church bells were all unslung lest they become food for Krupp cannon later on.

Three three Vistula bridges, including the new Praga bridge, more than a mile long, and costing $5,000,000, are lined with sand bags and wires are set in readiness to explode land mines at the last moment before the Germans enter Warsaw.

DEPARTURE OF COSSACKS

Grand Duke Nicholas' armies will save themselves whatever happens. Personally I can see nothing but ultimate disaster for the Germans in their colossal operations against the ever-yielding, but ever-pressing hosts of the Czar.

A week ago to-day a train arriving in Moscow carrying the British, French, Belgian and Serbian Consuls, and Consular archives, The American Consul Hernandez De Soto, remained in Warsaw, having laid in a big stock of provisions, with the intention of sticking to his post. The train were also the British Anglican chaplain, and the last remnant of the British colony, some riding on cattle trucks. The refugees included most of the high officials of the law courts with their archives, and 90,000,000 rubles (15,000,000) of court funds.

The journey from Warsaw to Moscow occupied three days, as it was around by way of Bialystock and Vilna, because the direct route via Brest was choked with troop trains.

RUSSIA

Operations against Kovno naturally are regarded as interesting, because of the importance attached to it as one of the strongholds of the prospective new Russian line. The Germans proceeding from the southwest, have reached the advanced positions of Kovno and also are pushing northeastward from Suwalki.

HOLDING THE NAREW

Meanwhile the Russians are defending gallantly their positions on the Narew between the Vistula and the Veprez and on the Bug. They claim notable successes in the sector Chmel-Plaska, where they caused their antagonists heavy losses and took one thousand Austrians prisoners in the Sokal region.

One of the most thrilling minor actions of the war in this theatre was the capture of an Austrian aeroplane on the 28th by Lieut. Pokrovski, Cornet Plonski, east of the Ziota Lipa River. Firing constantly at the Austrian aviator from a higher altitude, they forced him to descend. The Russian machine followed and the Austrian lieutenant surrendered with a non-commissioned officer. The Austrian aeroplane, which was not damaged, was a new machine of the 120-horsepower type.

NO PROPERTY DESTROYED

London, July 31.—Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian forces, has decreed according to a Reuter's Petrograd dispatch, that no property in Warsaw shall be destroyed unless such a step is imperative from a viewpoint of military necessity. Owners of property and growing crops which are destroyed will be indemnified by the Russian Government. Specific routes have been designated for the use of the inhabitants of Warsaw who are voluntarily leaving the city.

THE CLIMBERS WON.

The Climber ball team defeated the Alerts in a league game 10 to 3. This makes the Climbers winners of the first series, with five wins and no losses, while the Stars are second with one loss. Batteries—Climbers, Buckborough and Guenther; Alerts, Lenington and Whitley. Guenther and Jarson starred for the Climbers, while Buckborough allowed the Alerts but two hits.

Is equal to Three CARBON LAMPS

CARBON Lamps were invented over 25 years ago—and like many other things they are now out of date.

Constantly increasing knowledge and the perfection of many new discoveries have been combined to make Hydro Quality Lamps the best that your money can buy.

Now you can replace three wasteful old style Carbon Lamps with one modern Hydro Quality Lamp. By making this change you will get a brighter, softer light—easier on the eyes—better in every way. But the point of greatest importance is that you will use only 1/3 as much current—yet get the same amount of light. Why not stop this waste in your home to-day?

We'll gladly give you full information and see that you get genuine Hydro Quality lamps.

The fact that the battery needed recruits was not forgotten, and at the conclusion of the exercises, four men presented themselves and will be sworn in if they pass the necessary tests. Battery drill is rather slow work at first, because every man is taught not only to take his own place, but every one's place about the gun. The result is apparent repetitions of the same exercise time after time. But once every man has been through all the parts and in another couple of weeks battery drill will be well worth going to see by any person in the city. THE PROBS

Toronto, July 31.—A few light local showers have occurred in the western provinces and also in the maritime provinces, but the weather over the Dominion has been mostly fair. It has been quite warm in Ontario and Quebec.

FORECASTS.

Moderate winds, shifting to northerly, a few light thunderstorms today, a mostly fair and very warm. Sunday—Light to moderate winds, fine and not quite so warm.

SHIP SUNK BY GERMAN TORPEDO BOAT FLOTILLA

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, July 31.—A Copenhagen despatch to the Post says: The crew of the steamer Nogill tested before the Maritime court that the steamer was sunk by a German torpedo boat and not by a submarine. The torpedo boat was one of a flotilla of eight ships of a new type, 327 feet long and mounting four 8 1/2 centimetre guns. The Nogill's sailors said they were told by the German crew that they were returning from a ten days' cruise in the North Sea, and that they had no fear of an enemy because of their speed and unusually heavy armament.

The Danish steamer Nogill, bound from Gothenburg, Sweden, for the River Tyne laden with railway ties, was reported July 27 to have been sunk in the North Sea by a German submarine. The crew of the steamer, was landed at Wilhelmshaven.

CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENCY

By Special Wire to the Courier. Lisbon, Portugal, July 31.—The number of candidates for the presidency of the republic in the election to be held August 6 now has been reduced virtually to two, Dr. Duarte Leite, former premier and minister of the interior and Dr. Bernardino Machado, minister to Brazil, and also a former premier. It is generally believed the latter will be successful. The government is taking measures to maintain order along the basin of the Douro River, where there are sporadic revolutionary outbreaks. The Douro forms the boundary between Portugal and Spain.

BOTHA A REAL BRITON

In the South Africa war Botha rose to supreme command. De Wet, one of the most notable cavalry leaders of all time, was his subordinate, and probably as great a soldier. But De Wet was not so great a man after the war was over, De Wet in his book on the subject advised the Boers to be loyal. "Loyalty alone was worthy of a nation that had shed its blood for freedom." Yet, though De Wet was by no means neglected or unrecognized in the new Union of South Africa, he disregarded his oath at the first opportunity, and showed himself in his old role as an enemy of the British Empire which had dealt so generously with his people.

Botha showed that he was made of different stuff, and while De Wet is to-day a felon, his liberty and his influence gone, Botha stands out as one of the heroes of the British Empire whose fame will last as long as that Empire endures.

RUSSIANS ARE CAUGHT IN A TRIANGLE

Can the Grand Duke Extricate His Armies From Disaster?

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, July 31.—Austro-German cavalry have entered Lublin. Official announcement to this effect from Vienna supplementing German claims of last night that the Russian grip along the southern front had been broken, indicates that the important Lublin-Chelm railway now is strongly held by the invaders, cutting off one line of retreat for the Russian forces in Southern Poland. Meantime General Von Buelow continues his drive towards Vlna, seeking to cut the northern railway from Warsaw to Petrograd, and the predicament of the Russian armies seeking to withdraw intact from Warsaw, unless the main forces already are out of the district, becomes more perilous. Warsaw's 800,000 inhabitants, laden with such household articles and supplies of food as they can carry, are fleeing the city toward the east, and every despatch from Russia makes guarded reference, though quite colorlessly, to some phase of the evacuation of the city.

Official announcement of its abandonment, which even now may be a fact, has not been forthcoming, however, although the slender hope of the entente allied countries that the Germans might be held on the threshold of the city, as military writers are confining themselves to debating Grand Duke Nicholas chances of extricating his armies from the hard pinched triangle without disaster.

Besides the capture of Lublin and the seizure of the railway, the German forces have crossed the Vistula river between Warsaw and Ivangorod and the problem for the Russians to hold their wings and the capture of which would cause the northern line to retreat.

With these developments, Great Britain is greatly concerned. Some sections of the newspapers are seizing the opportunity to emphasize Russia's task and press for conscription here as the best proof to give Russia that the western allies purpose to stand by her in exerting all the pressure possible in the west.

The Russian press according to special despatches reaching London, feel that the western allies should have initiated some movement in France or in Belgium to relieve the strain on Russia, as Russia did by her invasion of East Prussia.

With the events shaped as they have it is realized here that Russia has lost the initiative for the remainder of the summer, which will enable the central powers to either France, Belgium, Serbia or Italy.

SCHAFFER'S HOMER GAVE LEAF'S LEAD IN FIRST GAME

BRANTS TRIED HARD TO RALLY IN NINTH—BURRILL MADE NICE STEAL—BOBBY AULD REPLACED KIRLEY IN THE NINTH—CLOSE GAME AFTER THE FIRST.

If the Leafs had not been given such a lead in the first innings, the Brants would have won the game. Despite this handicap they pulled up splendidly, and Guelph was certainly lucky to come out on top.

It was the last innings that made Knotty Lee's knees shake a little. He took no chances, and pulled Kirley in the middle of the frame, replacing him with Bobby Auld. When Mullins got on first, he wouldn't even let Stan Warner run the bases for him.

The Leafs have won every game played with the Brants—so far—but the team didn't have a thing on the Brants yesterday. The ground was in a very heavy condition, but it was as fair to one as the other.

When Cooper laid down a grounder to Tommy Grieves in the third, that brilliant second baseman made his

Sporting Comment

The Brants lost again yesterday; four losses in a row, and all to Guelph. Three of the games were lost by one run, which looks as if a little hard luck was encountered. Yesterday's game wasn't helped along any by Umpire Bedford, who was particularly raw in his decisions on bases. However, the Brants ought to know by this time not to look for anything from an umpire.

Mullin's error coupled with a very opportune home run by Schaffer gave Guelph three runs in the first and Brants could not overcome the lead, although they gave Knotty Lee heart failure in the ninth. The only salvation for the locals now is to go out to-day and win the doubleheader. Stan Warner has made an acceptable manager since he took hold of the reins, and he ought to lay down the law for once and tell the team they simply have to win. A little real hard driving would do the locals good just now.

Somebody pulled a bone yesterday and as a result the grounds were not begun to be put in shape for the game until after 3 o'clock. The crowd gathered for a 3:15 game and it wasn't called until after four. Such a little detail as the delay of an hour wasn't conducive to good humor among the patrons of the game yesterday, and it is critical remarks concerning the long wait were quite current among good loyal fans in the grand stand.

Guelph looks to be about the best team here. Their infield is air-tight and their outer gardeners are right onto everything that comes their way. They have a fence-busting aggregation, too, and are always dangerous. But they are not good enough to take four games in a row from such a team as Brantford. The locals have got a team good enough to win the pennant if they can only pull out of the slump they have dropped into so suddenly the last four days.

It's pretty nearly time that managers of ball teams (the local management included) stopped announcing that certain players are going to report to their team on a certain date. Either that or something should be done to the men who fail to report on time. Outfielder Stretter was announced to play yesterday but nobody saw any signs of him. Also it is time the Brants landed another pitcher. They have been going along for six weeks carrying 11 or 12 men when the limit is 13. We ought to have five pitchers and ought to have had 5 for the last month. They can't be so scarce as all that because every other team in the league is landing them and Brantford will have to do it, too. That's what the fans say, and it's the fans who support the team.

Kansas City, Mo., July 30.—A temporary injunction against President James A. Gilmore of the Federal League and owners of Federal League clubs restraining them from tampering with players under contract to the Kansas City American Association team was granted in the Circuit Court here yesterday.

Soft Ball

The City Softball League came to a close last night when the Champion Beavers took Marlboro street Church team into camp by the score of 10 to 2, having won both series without a defeat, making a record that will be hard to beat. The features of the game were a running catch by Dixon, a home run by Stuart, the hitting of Kaufman who had four out of five and Alf Dowling, with two three base hits, driving in five runs. Simmons was still in good form and was never in danger. The game was called in the seventh on account of darkness. Score: Beavers—100 001 0—8 3 2. Batteries—Church: Crawley, Wright and Sears. Beavers—Simmons and Stuart. First on errors, Church: 1. Beavers: 1. Innings, pitched by Crawley 5—8 hits, 5 runs; by Wright 1—3 hits, 5 runs. Bases on balls, off Crawley 2; Wright 3; Simmons 2. Merlin Kopp Presented With Purse of Gold

St. Thomas, July 31.—London took another game from the Saints yesterday, Tommy Caesar holding the locals to three hits, and winning by 2 to 0. Outfielder Merlin Kopp played his last game for St. Thomas yesterday, and was presented with a purse of gold by the fans. The presentation was made when Kopp came to bat in the fourth inning, and he responded by hitting a triple over Eckstein's head. Eckstein's single in the ninth, with men on second and third, scored the only runs of the game. Score: R. H. E. London . . . 000 000 002—2 7 1. St. Thomas . . . 000 000 000—0 3 3. AN INCIDENT OF THE ALLIES' CAMPAIGN IN THE DARDANELLES

FRENCH SHIPS LADEN WITH RUSSIAN TROOPS FOR THE DARDANELLES LEAVING VLADIVOSTOK

BY N.Y. HERALD

WEIRD DEATH SONGS CHILL HEARTS OF MEN WHO PASS NIGHT IN TRENCHES

Nerves Are Highly Strung to Catch Faintest Echo of Hostile Movement, While Eerie Lights from Exploding Shells and Fuses Throw Dazzling Gleams to Illumine Every Nook and Crevice Where a Human May Lurk.

SPECIAL DISPATCH.
PARIS, July 31.

Summer campaigning in the trenches, the agony of the hour of twilight and falling darkness and then the long drawn-out strain of the night's watching, working and fighting, all now systematized and carried on according to practically fixed principles, are described from direct experience by one of the editors of the Paris Journal. With the strain so intense on the side of the French, it is clear the approach of the night can be no less fearful in the German trenches.

"The sun slowly, like an enormous incandescent bomb, falls to the horizon behind the pine woods, which it lights up like a sinister glow as it gradually disappears. The night creeps on slowly, silently; step by step it invades the plain and hurries it under its shroud of shadow. It is the hour when the trench becomes animated and, although always mute, is filled with movement, with a confused crawling," says the editor.

A single definite noise, not a breath that can be characterized, and yet this momentary calm, more profound because it is momentary, far from being tranquilizing, arouses anguish and anxiety. One feels that this silence is full of ill-defined movements of active life, hushed and stilled, of confused and dangerous rumors. Instead of enjoying the tranquillity of the hour after the obsession of the day's noise the mind works and draws up chimeras, the overstrung nerves take the upper hand, the eyes are opened wide in an effort to guess what is going on in the opaque shadow, with the apprehension of not arriving on time or of being too late for a great effort.

"But this dreadfully depressing feeling does not last; action becomes imperative; work presses which cannot be done by day and which, like Penelope's web, of the work of the Danaids, continues to be done all over again each night without ever being finished. The wire enclosures set up during the day by the enemy's cannon have to be stretched out anew, filled with movement, with a confused crawling," says the editor.

The Hour of Relieving.

It is the hour of the relieving of the guard, the hour of placing the listening outposts, the treacherous hour which requires a redoubting of surveillance, a greater attention of the brain, of the eye and of the ear in order to avoid the patrols, the raids, the incessant ambushes of an enemy always active, untrusting, in order to foil in time the crafty attacks which, with the wires cut and the accessory defenses demolished in the darkness, which acts as an accomplice, are suddenly launched in fiendish avalanches with hoarse and pealing clamoring and the hissing and whining smashes of the hand grenades, the short sharp flashes and dry and methodic crack of the machine guns. It is the hour also in which, the artillery has become silent through prudence, as it fears to betray itself by unnecessary flashes, and the bomb thrower, the mortar, the howitzer, the whole pack of short, barking cannon break forth with full-throated joy, cough and growl, vying with each other, without fearing the brutal reply, the imperative and irresistible roar of the long-range cannon, whose all-powerful voice has become silent through necessity for the time being.

Workers Flatten Themselves on Ground.

"Surprised by its sudden appearance, the workers have flattened themselves out with their nose to the ground and as long as it burns they remain stretched, without a movement, holding their breath, undistinguishable from the night bodies of the trench. But, despite the immobility of the body, their hearts are beating tumultuously under tunics soiled with the earth. Have they been seen or have they not?"

"Their anguish does not last, for if the Germans suspect their presence, a hail of bullets comes along, a veritable waterfall of lead, digging up the ground, tearing the posts on which the wire distances are strung or burying themselves into the earth with a soft thud, a disagreeable and sinister sound. Then all the workers can do is to creep back as quickly as possible, fortunate if none of them has been touched by this first discharge. For, once the enemy's attention is aroused, they will be accomplished or not, it is now over for the night. Often the soldiers have scarcely left the danger zone when a curtain of shrapnel, whistling and smashing, comes down in a rage, ploughing up the ground with its steel fragments and making the stones and pebbles fly in the air under its hail of bullets.

"And now the concert that is to be heard every evening begins, the habitual nocturne. From our trenches the howitzers answer the fire of the Germans; their projectiles, with an enormous flame and with a deafening roar, explode on the enemy's position, which they illuminate with brilliant flashes, and when it comes to be awaited: we are soon sprinkled as from a watering can with the debris thrown by shells that pour down seemingly from heaven and whose blinding explosions shake the ground and tear the tops of the parapets to pieces. Once this exchange of politeness has started it lasts till morning, fortunately more noisy than dangerous, punctuated with incessant rifle shots, as if the trench were a great orchestra. Notified by telephone, generous attention is paid to those parts of the enemy's trench which, as a result of incessant effort, it has been found are most vulnerable.

Hungarian Correspondent Pays Tribute to Canadian Prisoners

The Newspaper Vilag Publishes Account of Conversation with Canadians in German Field Hospital—Anxious Query if Calais Had Been Taken.

SPECIAL DISPATCH.
LONDON, July 31.

The war correspondent of the Hungarian paper Vilag recounts an interesting conversation which he had with some Canadian prisoners in a field hospital of the German army. The Hungarian correspondent was being taken over the hospital by a doctor, who, pointing to a group, said: "Those are the Canadians."

"The youthful faces," says the correspondent, "at once turned toward me inquiringly, as much as to say, 'Who is this? What does he want?'"

"I stopped by the bedside of one of them who was rather severely wounded, though this did not interfere with a constant flow of good spirits, and I asked:—'Where did you receive your wound?'"

"At Ypres. I had been fighting there for months."

"Why did you come all the way from Canada?"

"Why, to fight, of course. For what else do you imagine I should have left Canada?"

"Well, you see, it did not do much good. It has not helped England. It has helped you to get a bullet in the chest, that's all."

"You are mistaken," he replied with an ironical smile, "even with respect to the bullets, I received three. And as for England, I have done her good service, whatever you may think. I killed at least a dozen of your men before I fell myself, and I am still alive."

"Aren't you sorry you killed them?"

"Who knows? At any rate, at the time I was not at all sorry, just as they would not have been sorry if they had killed me."

"A second Canadian looked at me. I paused before his bed and he said, 'As you are a journalist, you could perhaps tell us, is it true that the Germans have taken Calais?'"

"I looked at the doctor as though to ask his leave. I read no absolute prohibition on his face, so I replied quickly to the wounded man in English, 'You idiot! Don't believe such stuff.'"

"The doctor was looking elsewhere. His back was turned. The Canadian continued:—'You're not German? What are you?'"

"Have no fear: I am all right!"

"And as I moved on I heard the brave fellow pass the news to his comrades, whose faces lighted up with pleasure."

"I asked another Canadian why he had come over to fight. He replied, 'Why I came? To drive the Germans out of France.'"

"You have not succeeded."

"Don't you bother your head about that. Just come back in a few months and we'll talk about it."

"What is your opinion of the German soldiers?"

"Good soldiers."

"The doctor approached. The wounded man shook hands with me when I left him. I would not wish the wounded soldiers of my own country who are in the enemy's hands to show finer spirit and behavior than these Canadians."

WAR PRISONERS HOLD EXHIBITION

Special Dispatch. Berlin, July 31.

In an article describing how the prisoners of war in Germany amuse themselves and pass the lonely hours the Berliner Tagblatt states that every inducement is given to the prisoners to do useful work, and through this work many are induced to forget about their imprisonment and look with hope toward the future. Those prisoners who in civil life have not learned a trade or profession are given an opportunity to do so now and can engage in any work for which they have any particular aptitude and liking. Those of a mechanical turn of mind have a chance to learn carpentry or are put to work in machine shops. An exhibition of the work of the prisoners is now being held in the Architekturmuseum, in the vicinity of Berlin. On the many long tables in the large hall of this building are exhibited handicraft work completed by the prisoners of war from England, France and Russia. The Tagblatt deprecates the fact that this exhibition can be seen only in Germany at present, as it is inspiring and educational in its scope.

"The skill is shown in the work displayed and quite an artistic touch. There are specimens of burnt wood articles, artistic wood carvings, water colors by French prisoners and clever drawings by Belgians and Russians. There also are models of trenches and forts as well as toy cannon, vases and knives and made from ordinary nails. One exhibit that attracts considerable attention is a violin which was made by a musician."

FAMINE IN UNDERWEAR, SAYS THE OUTFITTER

Special Dispatch. London, July 31.

A shortage of clothes is the next unwelcome contingency to be faced as a result of the war. In the words of one leading tailor, clothes may soon become a luxury. On the authority of the Outfitter the outlook is serious. In the current issue it is stated:—

"What there is over and above that required by the government is legitimately at the disposal of the civilian population. The latter have not the slightest realization, we are sure, of the difficulties of retailers and manufacturers and of the positive danger of supplies falling short of requirements. We do not say that people will have to go about naked; we do not say a man will be unable to buy a suit of clothes, a shirt or underwear, but it is highly probable that the shortage will be sufficiently pronounced to raise prices to the consumer to an alarming extent, although some lines are high enough now in all conscience."

The article alludes to the difficulties of the retailers, who, though ordering well ahead, are finding difficulty in obtaining guarantees of delivery.

"Supplies of all garments into which wool enters depend to a tremendous extent upon woolcombing and spinning difficulties. There is a distinct shortage of labor, and this is true to a considerable extent all down the line. The fact has to be faced. It is not alarming, but it is disquieting, and ideas must be adjusted accordingly. There are difficulties with cotton goods also. Shortage of labor, again, and, of course, the dyer."

Dealing with the supply of woollens and the explanation of the low woollen stocks, it is suggested that there may be a "hold-up" of wags somewhere.

"It is thought that some rag merchants are holding stock for still further rises. If this be the case it might well form the subject of a government inquiry, for the supply of woollens and clothing for the population may justly claim the attention of the authorities."

GERMANY NOT WORRIED BY BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Special Dispatch. Berlin, July 31.

The German Arbeiter Zeitung devotes considerable space to an article in which it asserts that it sees no reason for the gloomy outlook now prevailing in Germany regarding trade and business after the war.

"There is nothing to fear," says this newspaper, "and it is not even to be thought that Germany's trade will in any way be affected by the war in the markets of the world. While German business has suffered thus far, it must be remembered that England's commerce has suffered considerably more than that of Germany."

"The war has thus far taught us a great lesson, namely, that the enemy needs our market more than we do theirs. In chemistry and in the manufacture of guns and ammunition we lead the world. Financially, Germany is in better shape than any of the enemy. In fact, business in the empire is brisk and the money is being used and circulated within our own borders."

"The war has thus far every indication of a revival of trade with the markets of the world far greater than has yet been seen. The world cannot get along without our manufactures, and despite all hate and animosity now directed against us this will all pass away after the struggle is over, and Germany will emerge greater and stronger than ever."

Sir Edward Grey Survives Bitter Attack Made on Him by Germans

Special Dispatch. London, July 31.

Sir Edward Grey has placed the directors of German public opinion in a most embarrassing position. The German diplomatists and politicians were absolutely convinced a year ago that the British Secretary for Foreign Affairs would play the part assigned to him—that he would use his influence to persuade the English people to attend quietly to their ordinary business while the Germans were subjugating France and crushing Russia. When Sir Edward Grey surprised these gentlemen by playing the part of a British statesman they resolved to make his position untenable, and determined to secure his removal, in order that he should not interfere further with German projects.

"They therefore applied the full force of their policy of 'rightfulness' to him. They hurled vituperation across the North Sea at him, every newspaper in Germany described him as a criminal of the most despicable order, he became known to the German public as a liar, a slanderer and a hypocrite, and English ladies returning to their homes were entrusted with the message that if Sir Edward Grey set foot in the Fatherland he would be cut up into little pieces. This policy was pursued until the news reached Germany that the English Foreign Secretary had been ordered to rest his eyes for a time, and that he had handed over his work at the Foreign Office temporarily to a colleague.

"A show of jubilation and amazement in the Fatherland, and the newspapers proclaimed the news that a brilliant success had been achieved by the German policy. They stated that 'bad eyes' or 'weak eyesight' was merely a pretext, 'the usual English lie,' and that Sir Edward Grey had definitely left the Foreign Office because the English people had at last grasped the truth, and had realized that he was in every respect unfitted and unqualified for the post of Secretary for Foreign Affairs. The victory for the German policy was celebrated with expressions of unbounded delight by the political newspapers, while the satirical journals gloated over the enemy's downfall in cartoons which were infamous and villainous.

"The news that the hated and much maligned statesman has returned to his post has therefore been received by the framers of public opinion in Germany with feelings of keen disappointment and profound disgust, that the English statement that Sir Edward Grey was compelled to rest for a time because the strain on his eyes had been too severe was the mere and hypocritical, and English ladies returning to their homes were entrusted with the message that if Sir Edward Grey set foot in the Fatherland he would be cut up into little pieces. This policy was pursued until the news reached Germany that the English Foreign Secretary had been ordered to rest his eyes for a time, and that he had handed over his work at the Foreign Office temporarily to a colleague.

Lesson V.—Third Quarter, For Aug. 1, 1915.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, 1 Kings xi, 1-13. Memory Verses, 8, 9—Golden Text, Prov. viii, 11—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

We saw in a previous lesson that Solomon's wisdom excelled all the wisdom of the east and of Egypt and that people came from all the earth to hear his wisdom (1 Kings iv, 29, 30, 34; II Chron. ix, 23). His writings are mentioned in I Kings iv, 32, 33. The Song of Solomon was probably written in the joy of his first love to the Lord in his younger days when he first became king. Proverbs reads like his more mature experience, while Ecclesiastes is the sad retrospect of his great folly and sin after he had turned away from the Lord, for his wives turned away his heart after other gods, and his heart was not perfect with the Lord his God (I Kings xi, 4, 6). Although he was beloved of his God and among many nations there was no king like him, nevertheless even him did strange women cause to sin (Neh. xiii, 26). After the dedication of the temple the Lord appeared to him the second time and assured him that His eyes and His heart would be perpetually upon that house because His name was there (I Kings ix, 1-14). What a precious assurance for all the redeemed to appropriate, for what was true of a building is surely true of those who are temples of the Holy Spirit. He and his people were warned, however, that if they forsook the Lord He would make them a proverb and a byword among all people (I Kings ix, 6, 7). So we are warned that if we lose His favor it is good for nothing but to be trampled under foot of man. The lesson of today, with the parallel record in II Chron. ix, shows how it might have been if Solomon had continued faithful and how it will be when a greater than Solomon shall sit on David's throne and the glory of the Lord upon Israel shall draw all nations. They shall come from Sheba, bringing gold and incense, and shall shew forth the praises of the Lord, and the wealth of the nations shall be brought to Israel when the Mighty One of Jacob shall be their Lord and Saviour (Isa. ix, 1-3, 6, 11, 19).

The queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon concerning the name of the Lord; therefore some one must have told. We know of a greater than Solomon and of a greater glory than he ever had, which our Lord and Saviour wants to share with all who are willing to receive Him and follow Him, but so few think it worth while to tell these good news, that two-thirds of the people on the earth never heard yet. When the queen came to see for herself if the report was true. She came with a great retinue and with camels, bearing spices and gold and precious stones. Such an abundance of spices never came to Jerusalem before, and she gave to Solomon 120 talents of gold, which, at $25,000 a talent, would be about $3,000,000. See verses 2 and 10. According to verse 14, Solomon was in the habit of receiving 666 talents of gold yearly. That would be over $16,000,000 in gold alone. So we do not wonder that silver was as stones and nothing accounted of (verses 21, 27). The queen had many hard questions to ask Solomon, but he told her all. There was nothing hid from him that he could not tell her. And when she heard his wisdom and saw his buildings and his horses and his servants there was no more spirit in her, and she had to acknowledge that, while before she came she did not believe all that she heard, now she had to confess that his wisdom and prosperity exceeded all that she had heard and the half had not been told her (verses 4-7). It reminds us of Isa. liii, 4: Cor. ii, 9, where we read that the things which God hath prepared for His redeemed exceed all.

The Spirit has indeed told us somewhat, but we are slow to receive it, and we are not like the apostles, who said, "We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard (Acts iv, 20). If the queen of Sheba carried back to Arabia with her a saving knowledge of the Lord God of Israel then her visit was to some purpose, but if it was only to see and admire and wonder and give and receive gifts (verses 8-10, 13) then it was a mere passing affair and great only to human sight. From verse 10 we might conclude that she had learned to know the true God and can only hope that it was even so. From Isa. xxxix we learn that the visitors from Babylon did not learn from Ezekiel of the true God, the God of Israel, but only saw Ezekiel's greatness and his precious things. Christians might be a bit perplexed sometimes if the Lord should inquire after visitors like the queen, "What have they seen and heard in thine house?" (Isa. xxxix, 4). Solomon's gift to the queen of all her desire, whatsoever she asked, besides what he gave her of his royal bounty (verse 13), makes us think of Rom. viii, 32, "With Him freely all things," and of David's one great desire—that he might behold the beauty of the Lord (Ps. xxvii, 4). The more we become occupied with the glory of His kingdom and with the city of which the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are both temple and glory (Rev. xxi, 22, 23) the better we shall see things here in their true light.

So we do not wonder that silver was as stones and nothing accounted of (verses 21, 27). The queen had many hard questions to ask Solomon, but he told her all. There was nothing hid from him that he could not tell her. And when she heard his wisdom and saw his buildings and his horses and his servants there was no more spirit in her, and she had to acknowledge that, while before she came she did not believe all that she heard, now she had to confess that his wisdom and prosperity exceeded all that she had heard and the half had not been told her (verses 4-7). It reminds us of Isa. liii, 4: Cor. ii, 9, where we read that the things which God hath prepared for His redeemed exceed all.
