At the Mouth of the Treacherous Pit
STORY OF LOVE, INTRIGUE AND REVENGE

CHAPTER XXXIV.

"That is the one thing, Lady Fielden, that I refuse to tell," she replied defiantly.

"But you know?" said Lord Fielden.

"Certainly I know; but I will never share my knowledge. You can do anything you please—imprison me, place me in a madhouse, kill me, if you will—anything; but my secret and his you shall never force from me. You cannot prove a single thing against me, I defy you!"

"We have your letters," remarked Lord Fielden; "and you must remember how they criminate you."

"I do not believe," she said, "that if you laid them before the most skillful lawyers in England, you could find a single damaging statement against me."

He feared that it was true, no matter what their own opinions of her might be. They could take no proceedings against her for anything she had written.

"It will be your wisest course," she said, "to let me go, or I may probably do what you are doing to me now—imprison you. I have warned you. If you keep me here until I die, what will you gain if I refuse to speak?"

"Unless you had something to conceal or something to fear, you would not have struggled so desperately with me in the park," declared Lord Fielden.

"I wanted to be free," she said. "I came over here in disguise, I wanted neither to be known or to know anyone. The plain fact of the matter is, I saw your advertisements, and I wished to know why I was wanted—what had happened. Foolishly enough, I left my home and came to disguise."

"Do you know why you are wanted?" asked Lady Fielden.

"No," she replied. "I am still in the dark about it."

Lady Fielden appeared surprised.

"During all these years," she said, "Sir Karl's name has been associated with the commission of a great crime, but the time has come when people refuse to believe him guilty of that crime, when his fair, young daughter here demands, in childlike, guileless fashion, proof of his innocence to give to the whole wide world."

Lola de Ferras smiled again the mocking, hateful smile for which Lord Fielden could almost have struck her.

"Innocence is a most charming quality," she said; "the difficulty in the present instance is to believe that it ever existed. I refuse to speak. I have not kept silence all these years to be compelled to speak now; there is no power which can force me to do so."

"Not if you have lost all womanly feeling," said Lady Fielden. "If pity, compassion, justice, and honesty are all dead in your heart, then is all appeal in vain, both for the living and the dead."

"I appeal to you, Miss de Ferras," cried Lord Fielden, "by the memory of that which on earth you loved most dearly, by your mother's memory, by your lover's memory!"

She held up her hand.

"It is all in vain," she said. "I will tell you what you will, no doubt think a very shameful truth. This moment, in which I see my enemies humbled before me, is one of the proudest and sweetest of my life. After that, have you anything further to say to me?"

It was Gertrude who spoke next, until now she had kept perfect silence.

"Let me speak to you," she entreated. "Dearest Lady Fielden—Harry, leave me with her; for my father's sake she will surely speak to me! Go and leave me alone with her."

CHAPTER XXXV.

As mother and son descended the stairs, it occurred to Lord Fielden that it might not be safe after all to leave Gertrude with Lola de Ferras; she was so violent that she was quite capable of doing her bodily harm. But he contented himself by pacing up and down beneath the window, where he would be within call of Gertrude if she had any cause for alarm.

As soon as the door closed behind

Lord and Lady Fielden, Gertrude went up to Miss de Ferras.

"Let me speak to you," she said. "You repulsed me yesterday; you will not do so to-day. They tell me that you loved my father very dearly, so dearly that your life was ruined for his sake. If that be the case, you must love me, for I am Sir Karl's daughter."

"You are also the daughter of Dolores, who stole him from me," was the sullen reply. "But for her, he would have been mine."

"That is all past," said Gertrude. "I do not know what your life has been, but no one could have been more unhappy than my mother. She is so sweet and true, so thoughtful and good, so well fitted to adorn a high position; yet, since my father's disappearance, she has been buried alive. Dear mamma, I have never seen her enjoy one moment's happiness. Have you no pity for one whose life has been wrecked through your instrumentality?"

"I have none for Dolores. She took from me the only treasure on earth for which I longed. Even now the mention of her name maddens me. I have no pity for my old rival, the white rose. I hate Dolores. Do not name her to me again."

"Then if you have no pity for mamma, have you none for me? You loved Sir Karl. I am his daughter; and, strange to say, although you have been our most bitter enemy, I cannot help lifting you and feeling a kind of sympathy for you because you loved my father."

For the first time, the defiant expression on Lola de Ferras's white face softened, and her pale lips quivered piteously. How long was it since any human voice had spoken kindly to her?

"You loved my dear father," went on the pleading voice. "They say that I am like him, that I have his eyes and hair, and that my voice resembles his. Look at me, and tell me if it be true?"

Lola de Ferras was seated in a low rocking chair by the window. Gertrude went up to her, touched with sudden emotion, and knelt down by her side.

"Look at me," she repeated, "and tell me if I have my father's eyes."

The pale face bent over her, the pride and hardness dying out of it as the unhappy woman met the clear, honest gaze of the sweet, loving eyes. Gertrude went on—

"I was a little child when my father left us, but I feel the deepest and most passionate love for him. I wish that I could remember him, that I had some recollection of his dear face, of his kissing me, of sitting on his knee; it would soften my pain. I cannot even go to his grave and sob out all my grief and longing there. I love mamma most dearly, but the deepest love of my heart is for my father. All these years," she continued, feeling that her companion's interest in her was aroused, "I have honestly believed him dead, but suddenly, and quite accidentally, I have discovered that death is not the cloud which overshadows us, but shame. My mother, who had kept the story from us, was compelled, through our meetings with Lady Fielden, to tell us the truth, but, while my mother, my sister, my friend, and the whole together believed my father guilty, judged and condemned him, a voice cried over louder and louder in my heart, that he was innocent, and that I must clear his name. It was as though by night and by day he called to me, 'Gertrude, my daughter, for long years all men have traduced me; come and prove to the world that I am innocent of the crime with which I am charged. Think you, who loved him, that in all the wide world no one believed in his innocence but I. I stand alone to do battle for him, and there is no one but you, who can help me. Mamma has told me everything—how you wrote to my father and begged him to see you, and how he went out to meet you. After that night he was neither seen nor heard of again; every one says and believes that he went away with you. I alone refuse to believe it.'"

"Why do you refuse to believe it?" asked the older woman in a low voice. (To be continued.)

Large leather buckles are used on the wide, soft belts of bright red leather.

The tube-like frock finished with a circular blouse is a general favorite.

Committed for Murder

Gunner Coleman Must Stand Trial For His Life for Fatal Shooting Bombardier Groves.

The preliminary examination of Gunner George Coleman, charged with the murder of Acting Lance Bombardier Groves at Fort Connaught on Thursday, July 17, was concluded before County Stipendiary W. B. MacDonald yesterday afternoon.

The first witness called was Dr. Allan W. Curry, of the staff at Camp Hill Hospital. He testified that he saw the deceased when he was admitted to the hospital. He was in a state of collapse and his body was covered with perspiration. There was dressing on one side of his body and the smell of his back was saturated with blood. Within an hour the man died.

There were four wounds one of these was on the right thigh. Another small one was in the lower right side of the head. The third was a large one in the left loin and which caused a fracture of the spine. The bullet which caused this wound penetrated to the back. The court then adjourned to Connaught Battery. The prisoner was also taken to the Battery handcuffed to County Constable Worrell.

At the Battery, Major J. C. Lawson, M.C., R.C.A.M.C., testified that he was summoned to the Battery on July 17 at about 10 a.m. and on arrival had found the victim lying on his back in the hall of his home. He was still conscious but had lost a lot of blood. His evidence as to the location of the wounds coincided with that of Dr. Curry.

The next witness, Mrs. Anne Batley, wife of Gunner R. B. Batley, testified that about 9.40 on July 17, the defendant, who had his rifle in his hand, called at her house and asked "Where is Reg?" (Gunner Batley). "They are after me now, I guess," he said, and she asked him why. He replied: "I just shot Ritch, by which name they had known Groves. She asked him why he did it and he replied: 'He made a lot of trouble about me.' Witness said she had thought they were good friends and Coleman said he had no use for him. Coleman rose to leave at 10 o'clock. Witness noticed that his eyes were heavy and he stuttered over his words. She stated that she had asked him for his rifle, fearing that he might fire it at somebody. He said: No, that he wanted it, but after she asked him again he handed it over and she laid it on the bed. Then he kissed her little boy and said: 'It must be going to give myself up.'"

The examination then adjourned to the home of Mrs. Groves within the Battery and near the gate where the shooting took place. In a room there was Mrs. Groves, who is ill in bed, with a nurse and Mrs. Batley in attendance. The accused was taken in and his appearance greatly affected the sick woman and Major Lawson administered a stimulant. Mrs. Groves stated that she was outside the door of her house and saw her husband go to the gate in answer to the bell. She saw the prisoner and said, "My God, it's Coleman!" She called to her husband not to answer, but he kept on. She heard a shot and then a second, and called to her husband to run. Then she heard a third shot.

Asked whether she knew of any difficulties between her husband and the accused witness said that on one occasion on returning from Bedford, her husband said he was afraid to leave her alone in the house.

The Court then adjourned to the Court House where the Stipendiary Magistrate committed the accused for trial at the next sittings of the Supreme Court in October.

Coleman remained quiet throughout the proceedings and he now appears to fully realize the seriousness of his position. R. M. Fielding acted for the Crown, and J. E. Griffiths for the defence—Halifax Acadian Recorder.

DOCTOR SUICIDES.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7. Leaving a bloodstained note to his wife describing his act to financial troubles, the police said, Dr. Robert G. Leconte, internationally famed surgeon shot and killed himself in his home here last night. Dr. Leconte's death was the third in two days among the noted physicians of this city. Dr. Duncan E. Despard was shot to death yesterday by a former patient, while Dr. David MacFarland Castle died at the age of 81 after a long illness.

ANOTHER BESCO RESIGNATION.

GLACE BAY, Aug. 7. According to reports current among coal officials here, F. W. Gray, assistant to President Wolvin has given in his resignation to take effect on the last of August. Mr. Gray, who is recognized as one of the foremost authorities on coal mining in Canada, has been employed in many capacities with the B. E. Steel Corporation and its predecessors. Before joining Mr. Wolvin's personal staff he acted in a similar capacity with D. H. MacDonnell, when the latter was vice president and general manager of Besco operations.

FLOODS IN FORMOSA.

TOKIO, Aug. 7. Two hundred persons are missing and many are believed dead, as a result of floods along the Tamguri River, in northern Formosa, according to dispatches received by the Japanese newspapers here. Railway traffic has been stopped, and the city of Taihoku is practically isolated, the dispatches say. They add that thousands of houses in Taihoku have been inundated.

TYPHOON IN JAPAN.

NAZASSAKI, Japan, Aug. 7. A typhoon yesterday swept the south of Japan, including the islands of Kiusiu and Honshu. A flood is reported at Taihoku, capital of Formosa. The reports of Osaka and Kobe in southern Honshu the principal island of the Japanese group are unaffected.

THE IRISH BOUNDARY LEGISLATION.

LONDON, Aug. 7. The Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, in the House of Commons to-day, after outlining the events which led to his visit to Dublin yesterday, said that the British Government in order to have no doubt in the minds of the Irish people and the world of its determination to carry the treaty into effect, had decided to ask Parliament to meet on September 30th instead of October 21st. On that day the Government would move the second reading of the Irish Bill unless by that time the Ulster Government had nominated its members of the Boundary Commission. Thereafter, in priority to any other business, the Government would make use of all of its available powers to pass the bill into law although the Free State Government is not fully satisfied with this decision and has in no way receded from its own position on the matter. Mr. Thomas hoped, however, that the authorities of the Free State would be able to satisfy their people that the British Government and the British people meant to keep faith with them and to afford no shadow of an excuse for the accusation that Great Britain had been false in any way to the treaty solemnly entered into with the people of the Free State.

ANGLO-RUSSIAN AGREEMENT REACHED.

LONDON, Aug. 7. After months of negotiations a commercial treaty and a general treaty have been arranged between Great Britain and Soviet Russia. The proceeding in the Anglo-Russian Conference underwent a sudden change a break down in the negotiations. Just when the House of Commons was preparing to listen to an explanation by Arthur Ponsonby, Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, regarding the failure of the Conference, the announcement was made by John R. Clynes, Lord Privy Seal, that this explanation had been delayed until a later hour, owing to the prospects of settlement of the issues involved. Shortly afterwards Mr. Ponsonby was able to announce, much to the surprise of members of the House that the Conference had arrived at an agreement and that he hoped a treaty would be signed to-morrow. Mr. Ponsonby admitted it had been a race against time because the Imperial Government was anxious to reach a settlement of the controversy before Parliament adjourned for recess.

Municipal Council

WEEKLY MEETING.

The weekly meeting of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon, Mayor Cook and Councilors Martin, Vincombe, Collier, Ryan and Dowden being present. Minutes of previous meeting were confirmed after which the following matters were considered. Some 22 residents of Maxse Street protested against permit being given Mr. F. Dodd to use a stable in the above street for garage purposes, stating such would tend to depreciate their property as well as increasing the insurance rates as the buildings in the immediate vicinity and would be in their opinion constitute a public nuisance. A letter was also read the applicant Mr. Dodd setting forth reasons why his application should be granted. The Inspector General to whom the matter was referred stated he saw no objection to permission being granted to use the building for garage purposes. The matter was given careful consideration and it was decided to withhold permission for the present.

Geo. Symonds asked compensation for injuries to horse and loss of time by reason of slipping on the newly oiled roads. This was referred to the Solicitor as to Council's liability. J. C. Jardine, Maxse Street, complained of unsanitary conditions near his dwelling owing to stable adjoining his property not having proper drainage facilities. The Department of Public Health has been communicated with regard to same.

On the recommendation of the Health Officer, Mr. John Shea will not be allowed to repair stable near Patrick St. but if a new stable is erected according to regulations Mr. Shea's application will be granted. The following tenders for the construction of Concrete Wall, South of Plank Rd. Messrs. Whittle, Coady, Cummings, Noseworthy, King, Penney and Bower. The tender of Mr. King was accepted it being the lowest.

For some time past the Council has had under consideration the amendment of the Sections of the Municipal Act in reference to the Poll Tax and it was decided to ask the Legislature to introduce these amendments during the present session.

During the last week there were many rumours to the effect that the waters of Windsor Lake were somewhat contaminated. The Council immediately brought the matter to the notice of the Medical Officer of Health who had same analyzed at the Government Laboratory, the analytical results showed the water to measure up to the standard of purity and fit for drinking purposes. For some years the City Clerk's published statements of Revenue and Expenditure for the period ending July 31st which were referred to a special meeting for consideration. Many routine matters were disposed of and with the passing of accounts the meeting adjourned.

The discipline was ideal and every lad proved himself gentlemanly and courteous.

caught the fever for holding all night sessions, these sessions have been numerous among the world diplomats gathered in London and the Germans worked throughout last night and until 3 o'clock this morning to complete the draft of their views for presentation to the delegates to the Conference held in Downing Street at 10.30 o'clock this morning. The final meeting of the big seven proceeded the arrival of Chancellor Marx Foreign Minister Stresemann and Finance Minister Luther. When the Germans came into the meeting room the big seven called in additional member to their respective delegation and the Conference counting the Germans thus became the big fourteen which is the committee of the chief delegates which will take the leading role during the remainder of the Conference. While the delegation awaited a translation of the eighteen page German memorandum, Chancellor Marx in a speech summarized the German objections to the plans of the Experts for launching the Dawes project.

Clara K. Young in Striking Role

"A Wife's Romance," now playing at the Star Theatre, offers excellent entertainment to old and young. It is a picture so full of color and romance and the breathing spirit of real life that it ought to be seen by everyone who desires to put cares away and delight in a world of pure joy.

And what is more it features Clara Kimball Young, who can portray so vividly whatever role she has chosen for the moment. In poise, self-possession and complete absorption in her role there are few that we can compare her to—the late Bernhardt or maybe Duse of Italy. All three have at one time or another essayed similar roles and all have exhibited the same elements of perfections.

However, aside from Miss Young, "A Wife's Romance," is really one of the finest photoplays that have come to this town in a long time. It is full of color and romance and love and for those who like to put away the troubles of the day for a while and enjoy an evening of solid entertainment we highly recommend "A Wife's Romance." The story in brief deals with two Americans—a man and his wife—who live in Spain. The husband immersed in his consular affairs is rather neglectful of his wife wherefore she seeks consolation in the admiration of Ramon who can be described in no better way than as the Robin Hood of Spain. He is a chivalrous, brave son of sunny Spain—a brigand to be sure—but beloved by the poor for his charities and feared by the rich for his daring. So it goes on through reels of gorgeous color with which this land is so full and with spicy, high, red, romance. In the end you may be sure everything turns out surprisingly well.

THE TWO BROTHERS.

We were speaking the other day of two brothers. The elder is of a rather firm temper, very selfish and decidedly egocentric. The younger is sweet tempered, unselfish and distinctly less an egotist than the most of us.

"Everyone likes Jimmy the better of the two," said one of their friends. "Everybody except their mother," said someone else, "it's perfectly plain that Charles is her favorite."

Queer or Natural!

"Isn't it the queerest thing," said the other speaker, "that mothers always seem to like the least attractive of their children best?"

Is it?

Or is it the most natural thing? I am inclined to think the latter. In fact it seems to me that cause and effect most obviously chase each other around in a vicious circle in the case of the spoiled child.

Often, as in this case, the spoiled child is the first one. He is the centre of the stage for his parents, they adore him, and are pretty sure to indulge him.

When the next child comes along he is not the only one, and he never has the whole stage to himself.

How the Vicious Circle Works.

Because the first child has been made so much of he becomes selfish and spoils. He is always showing off. He is inclined to have fits of temper when he cannot have his way. And as none of these traits are likely to endear him to people outside the family he is less popular than the other children who are not so spoiled.

His mother, sensitive to all that concerns her children and especially so as regards her favorite (thought she may not acknowledge him as such) feels that he is less popular than the rest and resents it. To make up for it she is extra indulgent to him. With the inevitable result that he becomes more spoiled and less liked.

So the vicious circle of cause and effect goes round and round. And mother can never see why so many people are so disagreeable to Charles. And Charles' acquaintances cannot see why his mother is so much fonder of the disagreeable Charles, so much more forgiving of his faults, so much prouder of any virtue or success on his part than on the part of her other children. (Though she probably wouldn't admit it in a thousand years).

Not Always the First Child.

Of course I know that it isn't always the first child that gets this extra indulgence. Sometimes it's the first boy after several girls, or the first girl in a family of boys; sometimes it's the most delicate child, and then again it's the unexpected postscript child. And, furthermore, we have all known children who have had enough innate sweetness and strength of character not to be spoiled and made selfish and disagreeable by favoritism. But we know they are the exception rather than rule.

If mothers realized how they handicapped their children when they spoiled them, I think they would try harder to deny themselves this very costly self-indulgence. Not a self-indulgence, you say?

Are you sure of that?

Harbor Grace Notes.

Our annual Regatta at Lady Lake went off on Wednesday last, July 30th and as in the past, proved most interesting and enjoyable. The weather was all that could be desired, and the various tents dotted here and there near the lakeside presented a picturesque view. Many parties had formed up and enjoyed a "cup of tea" in the open. The Aero Tennis Club tent, with its fortune and character telling, etc., and the wheel of fortune, conducted by our old time sportsman, Mr. Wm. Carson, created much interest, while the Walker House, in charge of Mr. W. W. French, and various other tents were kept busy supplying teas, ice cream, drinks, etc., etc. The C. B. British Band, though much depleted in numbers, came to the assistance of the Committee, and were on the spot, rendering lively selections from time to time. Quite a few from outside town were present, and needless to add, all who took in the Harbor Grace Regatta, spent a delightful day at old Lady Lake. The programme, with boats, crews, places and times, was as follows:—

OFFICIAL SYNOPSIS.

TUESDAY, Aug. 5.

House met at 3.30 p.m. pursuant to adjournment.

Hon. President read message from the House of Assembly announcing the passage by that body of the Council's amendment to the Game and Inland Fishery Board Bill.

Also message accompanying Bill respecting Salaries of Civil Servants requesting the Council's concurrence therein.

On motion of Hon. Mr. Morine said he was read a first time, and with the unanimous consent of the House a second time.

Hon. Mr. Morine stated the bill is for the purpose of repealing the Statute which subjected the salaries of Civil Servants to a certain percentage of reduction. The Government had found that through evasions of the Audit Act attempts had been made from time to time to supplement the salaries of certain servants. This had led others to clamour and the result had been increases by bonuses and overtime and other illegalities. The salaries had now been put on the former basis, and will be left at the amounts fixed by the Legislature, with no additions whatever.

Sir P. T. McGrath was of the opinion that a step further could be made and the salaries standardized. He said it was a public scandal that while a cut in the salaries of the Civil Servants was under consideration, an increase had been made in the salaries of Government officials connected with the Railway and Dry Dock, in some cases the increase making the salaries equivalent to that received by the Chief Justice.

Hon. Mr. Morine said that the more basic of the Public Service the more he was astounded at the looseness which had crept in on every side. He said as late as 1919 a Committee appointed to enquire into this department had made a rather extensive report, but nothing had been done. For the past five years, he stated, matters had been growing steadily more. He agreed that a remedy was needed at once, but just how it could be effected was a question. The method of payment because of necessity in the past was wrong. Salaries, he contended, should be graded according to office held and work done. As an example of irregularities, the salaries of stenographers, Mr. Morine stated, might range anywhere between $800.00 and $3,000.00 with bonuses and pickings, etc., and in the case of minor clerks, it happened that those who were doing similar work were receiving entirely different salaries. Mr. Morine's own opinion with regard to this, he said, was the Civil Servants ought to be employed in Classes not in Departments. Then a third class clerk employed by the Government, attached to one department, and who had become familiar with the work there, or if there were more work in another department, could be removed to it. He then cited a case of a stenographer who had been engaged by a Minister and who refused to work for a Deputy. That, he thought, was the wrong spirit to have. If employees did not feel that they were the servants of the Government and working for the good of the country, others must be found who would undertake the work. There was much work to be done, Mr. Morine continued, and so few workers to do it, but he hoped that some method of classification would be brought about.

He considered the matter of the salaries of the Railway and Dry Dock officials most extraordinary, and promised that the matter should be carefully gone into in a short time.

Hon. Mr. Murphy said it was no good overlooking matters at this juncture, but that facts must be stated in the face. He considered that the country was in a desperate state and desperate remedies were needed if the country's finances were to be improved. The borrowing of money, he thought, could not continue much longer. In connection with the Civil Service, he added, that we could not afford to be particular—we were over-stuffed and should reduce, and the overpaid should be cut down. It was, he continued, a difficult matter to bring about these changes and would make those who undertook to clean up very unpopular. A reduction, he said, must be brought about nevertheless, and if men could be found to undertake this thankless job they would have his sympathy and assistance.

The Bill was read a second time and ordered to come before a committee of the whole House on to-morrow. A message was read from the House of Assembly stating that they had appointed a committee consisting of the Prime Minister, Minister of Justice, Minister of Finance, Mr. Hickman, Mr. Duff, Mr. Chambers, Mr. Cramm, Mr. Griggs to deal with the Bill respecting alcoholic liquors, and requesting the appointment of a similar committee from the Legislative Council to consider jointly the said Bill.

Hon. Mr. Morine in reference to this Bill, stated that there were two bills before the House of Assembly—the first was an Act respecting Alcoholic Liquors and containing a clause repealing the Prohibition Act, the second aimed at an alternative purpose viz. to allow alcoholic liquors to be used as a beverage, as well as a medicine, but controlled as regards amounts, places and hours. In the Quebec Liquor Act, but stricter and better. The Bill provides for the sale of wine and beer at meals in hotels. A board of Control taking the place of the Controller, will have all jurisdiction of the sale of spirits. If the Bill passes through, it suggested form branches will also be established outside St. John's but only in areas of not less than 5000 people in which a majority of the electors request the establishment of such branch. And there would be no more branches in any constituency than that constituency had members of the House of Assembly. Mr. Morine explained that in view of the lateness of the session and the perplexities and wideness of opinion from this important Bill the House of Assembly referred it to a joint select committee. At the same time a second bill has been introduced amending the Prohibition Act and proposing that the Controller may issue permits to hotels to serve wine and beer with meals at tables this provision being taken in toto out of the larger bill. The reason for dealing with hotels in this matter he said, was to increase the tourist traffic. During past years there had been many attempts made to get a first class hotel. Our tourist season is short, and the proposition could not be entertained unless wine and beer were sold. The Government thought the Fishery Board chiefly, for our inland fisheries and the question of motor roads, and a loan bill will likely be introduced in the Lower House in connection with motor roads, fish hatcheries, hotels and other attempts to stimulate tourist traffic.

Hon. Mr. Milroy asked if it were intended to hire out our salmon pools to wealthy sportsmen.

Hon. Mr. Morine replied that the rod licenses would be increased, but that matter could be considered when it became important. He thought that there were many rivers in the Island which would afford entertainment for hundreds of tourists to which we seldom resorted. It is realized that the first requirement is a good hotel in St. John's where visitors may stay prior to making arrangements for their trips to fishing places outside. He had been told by Mr. H. D. Reid that he had been assured by a company running hotels in Canada and the United States that if they could sell wine and beer they would be willing to come down and operate a hotel in St. John's. Others have arrived at the same conclusion.

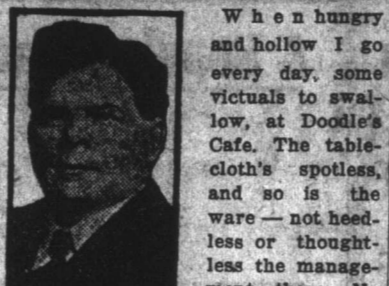

Besides the large or parent hotel a number of smaller ones built on the bungalow type would be situated at suitable places where the tourist could graduate to the salmon pools and other places of interest. This would eliminate overcrowding at the main hotel. Whilst the whole idea is not yet sharply defined it would greatly advance matters if a bill were passed at this session of the House permitting beer and light wines to be sold over the tables at those hotels. This is necessary as an inducement to the tourist traffic and the hotels must be under the management of experts at their business.

The successful hotels Canada and the United States are chain hotels so that when a guest leaves one hotel pleased he is sure to proceed to another of the same chain. So if the committee reports favourably on the smaller bill it will put this project ahead twelve months, otherwise we must give up hope of reviving the tourist traffic for another year. The two bills have been introduced into the Lower House and they have requested that a committee of the Legislative Council be formed in conjunction with them. He therefore proposed the appointment of new members from the Council to act with in the Joint Committee.

Hon. President nominated the following:—
 Hon. Mr. Morine, Hon. Sir Patrick McGrath, Hon. Mr. Milroy, Hon. Mr. Ellis, Hon. Mr. Steer.

The House then adjourned until Friday next at 4 o'clock.

THE CAFE.

WALT MASON

When hungry and hollow I go every day, some victuals to swallow, at Doodle's Cafe. The tablecloth's spotless, and so is the ware—not heedless or thoughtless the management there. No flies are piroetting around while I eat; the owner's been shooting the pests off their feet. The napkin is cleaner than my nose; I order a wiener and baker of loaf; I order a herring, a chicken's hind legs, and call, greatly daring, for nine scrambled eggs. The ladies in waiting attend my behest, and straightly go skating for grub of the best. They're patient and pleasant, they smile when they bring a dish with a pheasant, or ostrich's wing; they're trained to be gracious and sweet and polite, no manners audacious they spring on a wight. The cook is a dandy, a prince among men, there's no one more handy at trying a hen. The price are modest and when I depart my smiles are the broadest you'll see in the mart. I say to the voters I meet on my way, "Just try the fried blisters at Doodle's Cafe!" I cry in all places, I cry every day, "Oh, friends, feed your faces at Doodle's Cafe!" And Doodle is feeding the crowds with his fare, and people are pleading for meal tickets there; while restaurant owners, feasting the grad are grunters and groaners, their trade is so bad.

WOMAN'S HEALTH RESTORED

She Claims Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did It After Everything Else Failed

Milwaukee, Wisconsin.—"I feel that I ought to let you know about my case. I was ailing and could barely do my housework and washing I was so run-down, taken in toto out of the larger bill. The reason for dealing with hotels in this matter he said, was to increase the tourist traffic. During past years there had been many attempts made to get a first class hotel. Our tourist season is short, and the proposition could not be entertained unless wine and beer were sold. The Government thought the Fishery Board chiefly, for our inland fisheries and the question of motor roads, and a loan bill will likely be introduced in the Lower House in connection with motor roads, fish hatcheries, hotels and other attempts to stimulate tourist traffic.

Letters like these testify to the value of the Vegetable Compound. These women speak from the fullness of their hearts. They describe as correctly as they can their conditions: First, those symptoms that affected them most conspicuously; and later the disappearance of those symptoms. They also express expressions of gratitude. For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been so praised by women.

THE BURIED TALENT. He buried his talent under the ground. Though the Master had bade him use it; In linen he carefully wrapped it round. For he feared to injure or lose it. Too much he dreaded the Master's scorn Should he be lost, or His sorrow if he should find the bright talent worn; So he buried it there for to-morrow. He knew that men pay for their joys with pain. With grief for their days of pleasure; But not for the good which his soul might gain Would he venture the Master's treasure. The joy of having he wished to know. But never the hurt of losing; And he sought to escape such a bitter woe. By the offer of joy refusing. "No child, no child!" was his feeble cry. "No child at my side to waken, I should cherish his love; but oh, how I should suffer if he were taken!" So he buried his talent under the earth. Though the Master had bade him use it. Forgetting that nothing there is of worth. But some day a man must lose it. Have you a Suit or Overcoat to make? World-Famous

"A ROYAL DIVORCE" COMES TO NICKEL THEATRE.

Next week St. John's will see the opening run of G. B. Samualson's tremendous English picture, "A Royal Divorce," which is the personal and intimate romance of Napoleon Bonaparte, the greatest figure in history. The story is based on the famous play that toured England and Europe for the last 30 years, and the picture catches all the fascinating romances of the play.

At the same time, at an expense of Two Million Dollars, the producer has staged some of the greatest spectacles in the world's history. Audiences will see on the screen the famous Battle of Waterloo, where this mighty man Napoleon, who humbled every country in Europe except one, staked all on his ability to subdue the traditional unshaking spirit and courage of the English nation. They will see the burning of Moscow, the famous city of the Czars; they will see Napoleon's famous Retreat from Moscow, with his army of a million soldiers that were soon to be annihilated by the ravages of winter and the merciless policy of the Russians, who laid waste to every growing thing in the fields of Russia.

Picture of Appeal to Lovers of the

THE TRAIL OF THE AXE—A STORY OF CALIFORNIA WOODLANDS.
Dustin Farnum in "The Trail of the Axe" comes to the Nickel Theatre and should be welcomed as he has a favorite star after a long absence. His new picture is calculated to make an especial appeal to his admirers for it is a story of the great outdoors, the scene being the magnificent forests of northern California, and Dustin Farnum has a role in which he is given ample opportunity to display his physical prowess.

As the owner of a thriving lumber camp he works manfully to inspire his men to do their utmost in order that contracts may be filled and a prosperous season be enjoyed by all. Unless these agreements are lived up to a heavy forfeit must be paid in money. Yet all the while Dave has had the responsibility of looking after his brother Jim, a weakling whose dissolute habits are no secret from Dave, who when Betty Somers conspires to Dave that she has engaged herself to his brother, he sets about with redoubled energy to put Jim on his feet for Betty's sake, and keeps his own love for her a secret.

The cast of this picture, which was directed by Ernest C. Watts, comprises Whitford Kingston who has played opposite the star in virtually every one of his offerings; George Fisher and Joseph J. Downing, always remembered for his acting in the title role of "The Miracle Man."

ST. JOSEPH'S REGATTA COMMITTEE

Excellent Programme Arranged. St. Joseph's Regatta Committee held a meeting at St. Joseph's Hall last night, when much business in connection with the Garden Party Regatta was transacted. Owing to the many closely contested races on Wednesday, much interest is being shown in the outcome of St. Joseph's Regatta, and the programme arranged promises some keen races. The following races were decided on to comprise the programme:

In the Amateur Race three crews will row, viz. Tobin's, Howlett's and Chalkers'. The C.L.B., G.E.I., C.C.C. and B.I.S. will enter the Senior Football race, and in the Junior Football the four crews who made such a pretty race on Wednesday, B.I.S., T.A., Scouts, Holy Cross. In the Old Comrades Race crews representing the four brigades will compete for the handsome cup donated last year by Messrs. A. S. and P. J. Wadden. For the All Star race crews are being organized by Messrs. M. Walsh, T. Breen, T. Kearney and G. Clooney, and as they comprise the best available oarsmen a thrilling contest is anticipated.

The Challenge Race will be between the Outer Cove fishermen, who in an exhibition beat the best time made on Wednesday, and a picked crew from the city stroked by T. Kearney. This is expected to be the race of the day, and Mr. H. D. Reid is offering a special prize for it.

Topsail Garden Party

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir—I shall be glad if you will kindly find room in your much read paper for the following.

The Church of England Garden Party at Topsail, for the upkeep of the Church property there, was held on Wednesday, July 30th, on the C.L.B. Camp grounds. The weather was all that one could desire for an outdoor festival, and the attendance was large considering the kind of forenoon from that amount $100.11 had to be taken for expenses, leaving a net profit of $290.09. We might have done better but "experience teaches", and on future occasions (D.V.) we shall know better how to manage.

The C.L.B. Sports went off that afternoon and they of course drew many fond parents to see how well their boys would acquit themselves against their opponents in the various trials of strength, speed and activity in which they would engage. We were pleased to see them, and I wish to express my sincere thanks to all who in any way helped to bring our first Garden Party to a successful issue. The whole of the Brigade, from the little lad who was having his first experience in camp, to the veteran commanding officer were willing helpers.

Nearly all the members of the Women's Sewing Class assisted in serving the various kinds of food provided for the table. We shall leave those who partook of them to tell of their good qualities. Suffice it to say the strawberries ought to be a great advertisement for Mr. Edward Smith and others of Manuals. (Mr. Healey's strawberries are already famous.)

Of the ladies who took an active part in the event we cannot say too much in their praise; the greater number of their names have already appeared in your columns. Mrs. Jan. Hiscock's name was inadvertently left out, and Mrs. Edward Glade was called Mrs. Edward Chaytor. Mrs.

Mr. Ern Churchill, who donated a cup for the Senior Football Race last year, is offering another this year, and it will be awarded for the same race. Medals will be given to the winners in all races.

It was decided that all crews will draw for boats in this Regatta, except in the Old Comrades Race, in which the entrants will row their own boats. Stakes, etc., will be drawn for on Monday night.

The following officials were appointed: Timekeepers—A. McNamara, C. E. Hunt.

Signal Men—Messrs. A. G. Williams, J. M. Tobin, other officials will be appointed on Monday. The first race will begin at 2.30 sharp, and with the exception of an hour for tea, will be continued at regular intervals.

TO-NIGHT'S GAME.

What promises to be an interesting game of football takes place at St. George's Field to-night, between the B.I.S. and Pelitian teams. Both clubs are well up in the running and an exciting battle will no doubt be witnessed. Mr. Ern Churchill will control the game.

TIE CUP SERIES.

After the city team returns from Grand Falls, the Tie-Cup will be competed for under the knockout system. The cup is already on order from England, and the fixtures for same will be drawn at an early date. We understand the various teams intend to settle down to good stiff practice to get in good trim for these games and with the material at their disposal the games are expected to equal that of 1898. We wonder?

Tasker Cook is a tower of strength

Tasker Cook is a tower of strength to whatever she lends her aid, and she nobly played her part on the occasion in question. The name of Mrs. J. K. Bursell, too, deserves honourable mention. She not only provided a lot of candy (made by herself) but she stood at her stall and sold it and looted for the benefit of the object in view. In fact all the workers did their best and we are grateful to them all.

The receipts from the field and from the hall, including five small donations, amounted to $390.20. From that amount $100.11 had to be taken for expenses, leaving a net profit of $290.09. We might have done better but "experience teaches", and on future occasions (D.V.) we shall know better how to manage.

ARTHUR PITTMAN.

Cause of the Tennis Boom

"There would have been incredulity in sporting circles ten years ago if it had been foretold that the events about which sportspeople in all parts of the world would be working up the greatest excitement would be a series of tennis matches played in a London suburb," says the Daily Chronicle. "But no doubt if it would never have attained so prominent a place in popular enthusiasm were it not for the fact that it is the only co-operative game in which men and women play together—co-operative, in the sense in which golf is not co-operative. Women now have entered decidedly into the work and the public life of the world. It is they who determine the fashions in novels, who have brought a new element into politics, and who are not going to be left out of so vast a sphere of life as sport."

A Dastardly Outrage

Last night, while a prominent professional man was motoring out the Freshwater Road, a stone was hurled through the wind shield of the car, by one of a gang who congregated nightly at the corner of the Whiting Well Road. The stone and piece of glass hit one of the lady occupants of the car inflicting several minor cuts. The police should make every effort to round up the perpetrator of the outrage.

Magistrates Court

Three ordinary drunks were discharged. A case for assault between two families living on Clifford Street occupied the attention of the court at some length. The defendants, husband and wife were convicted, and each fined $5 with the option of 14 days. To prevent a recurrence of the trouble in future they were requested to sign bonds to keep the peace.

Domino-Flat Islands—Dense fog, no fish. Venison Islands—Calm, dense fog; no fish. Battle Hr.—Calm, dense fog; no fish; fair sign of squid and herring.

Drunkenness in Quebec Decreasing

Convictions for Inebriety Hardly More Than Half Those of Dry Ontario.

OTTAWA, Aug. 1.—Federal statistics on drunkenness seem to bear out the contention that prohibition does not prohibit. In 1922 the convictions for drunkenness in Ontario, where there is prohibition, were 10,000, and in 1923 these had increased to 11,370. In Quebec, where there is government control, the convictions for drunkenness in 1922 were 7,108 and in 1923 had decreased to 6,360. In 1922 there were convictions against operating illicit stills in Ontario of 245 and in 1923 the convictions were 339. In Quebec on the same charge, in 1922, there were 115 and in 1923 the number had increased to 281.

Convictions for driving an automobile while intoxicated rose in Ontario, in 1922, from 50 to 144 in 1923, and in Quebec from 33 to 104. Convictions for offences against liquor, prohibition and temperance acts in Ontario, in 1922, were 3,246, and in 1923 were 3,958, while in Quebec in 1922 they were 954, and in 1923 were 1,724.

The Loaf of Health

The case for wholesome bread is unanswerable and undeniable," says the Weekly Dispatch. "Long ago the Daily Mail marshalled facts and arguments to prove that white bread is made of flour from which some of the nutritious elements have been withdrawn. White bread, like very white and polished rice, has been deprived of valuable constituents which are able to nourish and stimulate the human system. Wheat and other cereals are ideal foods when left in their natural condition; they become debilitating and dangerous when all the husks and body-building material have been extracted. "The Bulgarian peasant enjoying his rye bread, the Highland crofter with his oat cake, is or was better nourished than the modern well-to-do Englishman with his elaborately whitened loaf which the miller and the baker have converted from the staff of life into an agent of destruction. "Attention has again been emphatically directed to this important subject. Mr. Ellis Barker has brought together a mass of evidence which tends to show that cancer is the result of autotoxins generated within the system. For this self-poisoning improper diet is mainly responsible. A person may eat a great deal of food and yet be inadequately nourished if the food is of the wrong kind. There must be a sufficient supply of vitamins to maintain the functional balance and promote resistance to disease. Otherwise the road lies open to various grave maladies, of which cancer is the worst. "This is a view which has received the endorsement of Sir Arbuthnot Lane, the eminent surgeon, who holds that the eating of white bread favours the onset of cancer by lowering the bodily health and general vitality. White bread contains few vitamins. Wholesome bread holds them in large quantities, for they are stored in the husks and outer integuments of the grain, which the steel rollers and sieves of the mill have crushed out and winnowed away. Other distinguished medical and surgical authorities have expressed the same opinion. They justify the old slogan:

EAT WHOLEMEAL BREAD.

"That is the way to ward off cancer and other diseases. Science has not yet found out how to cure these; but this simple and sensible regimen may prevent them from developing. "There is, then, a rapidly increasing demand for wholemeal bread. It is not being met as it should be in all parts of the country. Every obstacle seems to be placed in its course by those who are interested in the production and consumption of the deadly white loaf. Flour merchants, millers, bakers, are against the reform so imperatively needed."

are going to have more money to spend than for a long while. That a great deal of it will be spent in need of improvements with a resultant benefit to almost all branches of industry, similar to that derived from the building boom and railroad purchases during the last few years, seems the logical thing to expect. It may seem to the reader that an unnecessary amount of space in these letters has been devoted to the improvement in the economic condition of the farmer. We believe, however, that there is a tendency to underestimate the importance of the recovery in the farmers' purchasing power rather than to overestimate it. To our way of thinking, no development has taken place in recent years with such a potential capacity for far-reaching and constructive effects on the relative prosperity of American business. Also, it is bound to have a very important bearing on the coming presidential election. The possibility of a corrective movement at this stage, after the substantial advance which the market has had, must be admitted. But such a development should provide buying opportunities. A reversal of the main trend is not indicated.

MARKET LETTER.
(From our Boston Correspondent.)
We remember reading an editorial, perhaps over a year ago, on the prosperity which might at some future time be experienced in this country as the result of large purchases by agricultural communities. The editorial was undoubtedly inspired by the prosperity then existing in most lines of business as a result of the large amount of building which was taking place and the work which the railroads were undertaking in an effort to place their property in good condition. The editorial pointed out that the agricultural depression of recent years coupled with the farmers' propensity during the war years and post-war inflation period to adopt a mode of living inordinate as compared with former habits, instead of spending money for permanent improvements on their property, had left the average American farmer in a rather poor state of efficiency. It was claimed that it would be necessary to spend large sums of money in order that the agricultural industry might be rehabilitated to a plane with the average American industrial or public utility corporation and be equipped to operate as efficiently. This editorial, coming at a time when conditions in the farming industry were notoriously bad and when many concerns which customarily disposed of most of their product to farmers were struggling to avert bankruptcy, seemed rather far fetched. It does not seem so much so now. We do not assume that the farmer is to be so opulent in the near future that he will have to look around for things to buy and places to spend his money. But it is evident that crops are going to be marketed at a very satisfactory profit and that farmers

He Just Has His Own Golf Ideas

Harnessing the World's Power Resources
A NEW ERA FOR POWER.

The World Power Conference which has assembled at the British Empire Exhibition, and which was opened by the Prince of Wales, is based on the conviction that the industrial peoples of the world stand at the threshold of a new era of development. "For more than a century man has been the prime motive power, and to the countries possessing coal has belonged the leadership in wealth and in civilization. The electricity for forty years has been slowly but steadily asserting itself as the most adaptable of all forms of energy, until now it is becoming the agent of a new industrial revolution. Of electricity it may be said that it is the child of all the first sources of power: it is generated from coal, from oil, from the force that is in the running streams and the tides, or from wind. By its aid countries that have hitherto remained comparatively sterile may be transformed into centres of production. The harnessing power of the Victoria Falls or of the upper waters of the Nile, the rush of the mighty rivers of South America or the mountain currents of Norway and Sweden are swinging the great centres of production to wholly new places on the map.

CHALLENGE TO GREAT BRITAIN.

For ourselves in Great Britain this is a challenge that we must meet. Hitherto we have depended on our coal, and we have no spot in our islands from which we can draw the immense "white power" that lies in the rivers and waterfalls of the great continents. The streams of Scotland and of Wales may be utilised, but they are puny in comparison with Niagara. Yet we have the right strength of the sea round our shores, and to use them for the generation of electricity is even now beyond the resources of our engineers. To a large extent, however, we must continue to depend upon our coal, and our vital problem is how to use it to the best advantage.

OUR WASTEFUL WAYS.

At present we move it laboriously from the spots at which it is generated to the places at which we require power, and then extract it by wasteful processes. Little more than 10 per cent. of the energy is yielded. Yet we know that a higher proportion of its power might be flashed along a wire to whatever point it was needed. That this is being done to an extent greater than most persons realize we have not been able to ascertain. The big power stations of Northumberland and Durham, in Wales, and other areas. In the last few years our output of electricity has been doubled.

POWER PRODUCTION AND HUMAN SERVICE.

Least of all countries in the world we attempt to adopt the attitude of leaving things as they are. The power problem offers a solution of part of our national troubles. It will deal with unemployment, trade depression, and the bankruptcy of our agriculturist. In these ways it becomes a problem of statesmanship as well as one for the engineer and the economist. Handled in the large way, the electrical era presents no reason for fear or depression. We all do right to welcome electrical progress elsewhere. All of it adds to that wealth of the world in which we share, and to most of it we make our contributions in capital and in labour. The one essential is that the subject should be studied not as a national but as an international matter, bringing the whole power production into human service. Lord Derby, speaking to the delegates, said that 100 years hence the children of those gathered at the first World Power Conference would say their fathers were not more than in at the game.

Household Notes.

Scraped sliced sally is nice dipped in egg and bread crumbs and fried. Serve vanilla ice cream dusted with lemon. In halves of lemon, chilled. Ground broiled bacon mixed with nut butter makes a good sandwich spread. Delicious soft fudge can be made with sour cream. Season with a pinch salt. Delicious cream sherbet can be made with sour cream. Flavor with lemon juice. Strips of biscuit dough can be spread with deviled ham, then rolled and baked. The juice and rind of a lemon or orange should be used in flavoring such pastries.
