FOUGHT AN ANGRY SEA

Last Week's Storm Worst Ever Seen on the Atlantic Ocean

GUARD LINER HAD A HARD BATTLE

One Man was Killed and Some Others Were Injured

New York, Jan. 6.—One of her crew was killed and six others seriously injured while the Cunard liner Etruria was fighting her way through a severe storm Friday night. The body of the man was buried at sea. The injured were taken to the hospital today from Queenstown. Early Friday night while the Etruria was encountering heavy head seas and big combers were breaking over her deck, the lashing of the starboard anchor was torn loose. Capt. Potter ordered reduced speed and the watch was sent forward to secure the lashings. Owing to the seas, the men were not able to secure the davit as strongly as it should have been and at midnight just before the watches were changed it broke loose again. Without waiting for orders the crew started forward to secure the lashings. Just as they had completed their task a huge wave swept over the bow, knocking the men light and left James Waller, able seaman, was swept the full length of the forecastle deck and down the stairway leading to the main deck. He struck squarely on the "saniter" rail at the foot of the stairs and his spine was broken. He died in the arms of his brother George, who himself was slightly injured while staggering with his burden toward the ship's hospital. Captain Potter said today that he never before during his many years' sea experience encountered such rough weather. But except for the breaking loose of the davit lashings not a rope yarn was broken during the voyage.

ANARCHISTS GATHERED IN

Emma Goldman in Trouble Over Incendiary Speech

SOCIETY CAN GET ALONG WITHOUT GOVERNMENT

Berkman a Bomb Thrower and Notorious Ex-convict Also Arrested

New York, Jan. 6.—Alex. Berkman who was released last summer from the state prison in Pennsylvania after having served 14 years for an attack on Henry C. Frick following the homestead riots in 1892 with Emma Goldman, whom he recently married, and two others, was arrested today by central office detectives, who broke up an alleged anarchist meeting on the east side. Emma Goldman made the speech which caused the police to act, and Berkman exhorted the audience to disobey the command to disperse. The other prisoners are John R. Corwell, who presided at the meeting, and M. Schwartz, a 16 year old youth who refused to leave the hall when it was cleared. Emma Goldman was specifically charged with violation of that section of the penal code which makes it a felony to utter incendiary remarks from a public platform. Berkman and Corwell will be held as accessories and the boy is charged with disorderly conduct. All were locked up and will be arraigned tomorrow. Some six hundred persons attended the meeting which the chairman explained was called to form a club. Emma Goldman was introduced as the first speaker, but she had not proceeded far when she was interrupted by the police. She said, among other things, in English: "It is ridiculous to think that society cannot get along without government. We will say to the government, give us what belongs to us in peace, and if you don't give it to us in peace, we will take it by force. As long as I live and am able to explain myself, I will be opposed to government; and as I live and my brain dictates, will use force against the government."

THREE LIVES LOST IN DELHI FIRE

American hotel was burned up Last Night.

Delhi, N.Y., Jan. 6.—Three lives were lost in a fire that destroyed the American hotel at this place, winter today. The dead are: Wm. Winter, druggist; Mrs. Anna Winter, his wife; and John O'Connor, tailor. All were residents of Delhi and permanent guests at the hotel. They had lived in Delhi for years and were prominent in the business community. The fire was discovered in the apartments of Mr. Winter and his wife on the third floor, and by the time the firemen arrived the big structure was a mass of flames. O'Connor also occupied apartments on the third floor. The other guests escaped by leaping from the windows in their night clothing. The position of the bodies when recovered indicated that the victims were suffocated before the flames reached them. It is believed that the fire originated near the furnace, though it had worked its way to the third floor before the occupants of the house were aroused.

Monumental Scheme to Extend the Erie Canal

Pittsburg, Jan. 6.—It is now estimated that as much as $100,000,000 will be required for the construction of the Pittsburg and Erie canal. The plan includes the deepening of the Ohio river to the mouth of the Beaver, the deepening of the Beaver river to the Mahoning river and finally a canal across the divide in Jefferson county, Ohio, and a series of dams and locks down to the level of Lake Erie. It is planned to make the canal deep enough to admit to the harbor here, at the junction of the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers, and the Ohio, any craft that sails the great lakes, for the purpose of discharging here shipments of iron ore and other commodities from the lake country. The ships will receive coal, iron and steel here, for delivery at lake ports, or even for foreign shipments by way of the Welland canal. Some time is expected to be spent in the construction of the canal down the Ohio river to the Mississippi and Gulf of Mexico. Offers for a large amount of the stock and bond issues have been made but as the promoters thought control was sought for by prominent railroad corporations they were refused as it is for the public interest that the canal should be free from railroad domination, against which it was proposed to operate.

Crossley would not enter a profane house again.

A street railway is about to be constructed which will serve East, West and South Calgary. This will mean a belt line of about 12 miles in length. The G. T. P. have declared their intention of reaching Calgary at an early date. The C. N. R. is determined to become established here in the near future. Both companies are fully warranted in putting forth every effort in order to keep pace with the unparalleled development which is taking place in this part of Greater Canada. Calgary is favorably situated at the foot of the Rockies, with a climate unsurpassed. Watch her grow! Her population in 1890 was 4,000, her population in 1900 was 7500, her population in 1910 will, at a conservative estimate, reach 50,000. Buy Calgary property while you may. It will double and treble itself in price in a short time. It has been the rule in the past and will be the rule in the future. The tremendous influx of immigration compels it. Get in on the ground floor.

The magnificent suburb known as South Calgary, which until recently was under the control of parties in England and which is part of an estate which must be closed up, will now be placed on the market and thrown open to the public. Three thousand lots are now being offered for sale. Said lots will be sold at prices varying from $35.00 to $60.00 per lot, according to location and value. Terms half cash, balance in three and six months, with interest at 8 per cent. Some of these lots are worth $200.00 each, none less than $50.00 each. This is the greatest snap ever offered the public. You cannot lose money, you are bound to make money. You cannot help it. It is merely a question of whether you make a profit of 100 per cent. or 800 per cent. Adjoining this property is the contemplated terminus of Jim Hill's road, which will reach Calgary from Fernie, passing through a splendid coal, timber and mineral district.

THE CENSUS RETURNS

The recent census returns are not so discouraging to the people of Calgary and the people of southern Alberta as some persons would try to make out. In 1901 northern Alberta had slightly the larger population and in 1906 it had about the same surplus, though even that is doubtful. The north and the south are about evenly divided, and when one remembers that during the intervening five years a new railroad passed through the north which has not as yet found its way to the south and that two branch roads were built in the north, and that the continental immigration was directed to the north and that the north has been better advertised than the south, one need not be very much disappointed that the south is not far ahead.

The difference between the north and the south is not very great. In fact with the dividing line just north of Red Deer as it should be, the difference is hardly apparent. If we take out Lloydminster, which should be partly in one province and partly in another province, but which chose to go with Saskatchewan, there is practically no difference in the population of the north and the south, in fact only a matter of less than 200.

When one goes into the question of the value of the population in the northern and southern part of the province, one comes to quite a different conclusion at once. That the south has been so much more progressive, so much more enterprising, so much more business in the north, may be understood when you investigate the condition of the people in the north and in the south. In the north there are thousands of Galicians and not a few Doukhobors. It is quite possible that some of these people will become good citizens. As a matter of fact the progress which the Galicians are making is most noteworthy. But in discussing the value of the population in the north and in the south, one must not lose sight of the fact that the 92,000 or thereabouts from the south are much more important to the prosperity of the community or the country than 92,000 or thereabouts in the north.

Though geographically the division between the north and the south ends somewhere about township 28, yet the sphere of commercial influence extends much farther north than that. Calgary is without doubt the commercial centre of Alberta, and it is the centre of the most progressive population in all Canada.

TWO VALUABLE PAPERS

Calgary is not without something good in the publicity department as it was before they were written. The 100,000 club, one by Mr. Richardson and the other by Mrs. Hall, hold out, which will be for some time to come, a very valuable asset for Calgary. It is not only a valuable asset for Calgary, but it is a valuable asset for the 100,000 club for living.

The club should have both papers printed in very attractive and handily circulated by hundreds and hundreds, in fact by thousands. The first thing that a man will do who happens upon the excellent paper by Mrs. Hall will be to read it, and the next thing he will do will be to ask for a few more facts about the country which seems so full of attractions, and he will find them in Mr. Richardson's fuller description.

Both papers are excellent. As a matter of fact we Calgaryans think more of our city and district since reading them, and we are in a much better position to tell our friends about both city and district.

EDMONTON'S BAD FAITH

Some time ago the Edmonton Journal chided Calgary upon its clearing house returns. It intimated that while Edmonton returns were in its hands it had been told from Edmonton alone, that ours, on the other hand, were from all over the country, as far north as Wetaskiwin through all the south and even going into British Columbia.

The Edmonton people went further than that. They sent that same story to the financial papers in the east and tried to place us before the commercial world as misrepresenters and all that.

The Albertan at the time pointed out that we did not take in Wetaskiwin in our clearings and that we did not take in Medicine Hat and Lethbridge in our clearings, and that we did not go to British Columbia. However, the Edmonton people sent their letter just the same.

But the Calgary people were correct. And the Edmonton Journal admits it in an article on the progress of the Edmonton district. The Journal in a recent article says: "Aside from the city banks, those in the district down the C. & N. as far as Red Deer and those on the C.N.R. line as far as Battleford clear into Edmonton."

What does this mean? That whereas Calgary clearings do not include all of Southern Alberta, leaving out Lethbridge and Medicine Hat, the two other cities in the district that Edmonton clearings are fattened up by banks in Northern Alberta and half way into Saskatchewan.

It is Calgary and not Edmonton which should complain because the census returns were unfair. But as long as Calgary clearings are double those of Edmonton, as they were last week, there is not likely to be very much complaining.

PREACHING AND MONEY.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon Rev. Mr. Hunter, the evangelist, took particular pains to impress upon the public that he and his associate were not here doing the work that they were doing for the money that there was in it for them. Mr. Hunter's denial should be accepted.

Similar charges have been made against evangelists and against regular ministers who move around occasionally and accept larger and more profitable charges. And frequently similar denials are made.

But why should not a minister have some concern for the remuneration he is to receive for his services? And why should not evangelists, who work perhaps a little harder than most people, know how much they are to receive and insist that they should receive a certain amount of money, and a considerable amount, for their services? They are human. They have families depending upon them. They have their families to educate, and an old age to provide for. The ministry is probably the poorest paid profession of them all. As a case in point, the evangelists who are laboring in Calgary at the present time, by directing their talents in some other course, could make many times as much as they are getting at their chosen calling. Why then should they be called upon to sacrifice everything, particularly when the people who are paying them the salary are sacrificing practically nothing?

Some time ago a prominent official of the Presbyterian church was receiving a salary of $10,000 a year. It was regarded as a large salary, but that gentleman had on frequent occasions been tempted by salaries as high as five times that amount to manage large financial and industrial concerns.

In the ministerial profession increased salary is usually accompanied by greater opportunities for usefulness.

However that may be, and whatever may have been the custom in times gone by, this much is certain, that no minister is ever overpaid, and the vast majority are very, very much underpaid. A minister who does not look out for himself does not make some effort to get what he is worth, does not see that his family is well provided for, does not save up a competence either for his old age or to leave for his children, just as other people do, is to be censured rather than praised. The man who fires all these things is to be praised as thoughtful and kind, rather than to be blamed.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

Synopsis of Canadian North-West Mining Regulations.

Coal—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5 per annum for an individual, and $10 for a company, for each mile of a royalty of 2 1/2 per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5, renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each or a term of twenty years renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2 1/2 per cent. collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

THE COMMISSION AT EDMONTON

In Edmonton the commission form of administration was given a fair trial and it has turned out to be a great success. The commission form of administration was fixed in the charter and though, as in Calgary, the aldermen were jealous of the powers of the commission for the first year of the commission, and doubtless would have hampered the commissioners in their work, just as jealous aldermen hampered them in Calgary, yet they could not alter matters until a good trial was given. On the contrary, in Calgary the commission was created by the council and has no definite place in the city charter, and the council hampered it, and perplexed it, then chopped it and finally slaughtered it.

In Edmonton the commission, under the circumstances, got a fair trial and proved its worth.

At a meeting held there last week, the first meeting of the new council, the commission idea was discussed. Not one member of that council suggested the abolition of the commission. Every member favored the idea. The only change that was suggested was to increase the membership of the commission from three to four, and it was decided to make the increase. And moreover, it was decided to have the additional member of the commission an appointed member and not an elected one.

Conditions of general municipal business are not so very different between Edmonton and Calgary. The only difference in the history of the commission is that Edmonton gave the commission a fair trial, and now would have no other form of administration. In Calgary the aldermen wounded the commission before it had any chance of showing what it could do, and then without any reference to the wishes of the people killed it outright.

VANCOUVER CONSERVATIVES REVOLT

The Vancouver Conservatives are in revolt against the powers that be. It is not surprising that McBride's following is turning against him, for a man to lead a party in these strenuous western provinces must be a master of men, a strong leader, and this no one ever believed McBride to be. Besides that, the conduct of McBride and his administration in connection with the Kalen Island scandal should disgust the better element of the Conservative party.

It is time that British Columbia started the foundation of a strong and vigorous administration. That province has been held back for years by administrations of the kind that is ruling today. In fact past administrations in most cases have been ever worse than McBride's and the virus of graft is in the blood.

There are unmistakable signs that the great province of British Columbia is soon to come into its own. Its agricultural possibilities have not been exhausted, its mining is coming again, and with the opening up of a second transcontinental railway the mines of the province are likely to make it famous. The time will come when the tide of immigration to the west will not stop entirely at the mountain line.

But before that time arrives British Columbia should be in the hands of an administration which has higher ideas than graft for the different members of the administration.

The Liberal party with Macdonald in command and McInnes a strong lieutenant, and other good Liberals in line, can provide British Columbia with both capable administration and honest administration, something which British Columbia has not had for many, many years.

SELF-RAISED

BY EMMA D. W. SOUTHWORTH

"My dear child," said the judge with emotion.

"So next morning we started for the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington station. We were in good time, and were just comfortably seated in one of the best cars when Lord Vincent caught sight of someone on the platform. And with a muttered curse he started up and hurried from the car, throwing behind him the last words, 'I'll be back soon.' Five, ten, fifteen minutes passed, and he did not come. And while I was still anxiously waiting for him the train started. It was the express, and came all the way through. And that is why myself and attendants are here alone.

"All this seems very strange, Claudia," said the judge with a troubled countenance.

"Yes, very."

"What do you make of it? Of course you, knowing more of the circumstances, are better able to judge than I am."

"Papa, I do not know."

"Who was it that he caught sight of on the platform?"

"A tall, handsome, imperious-looking woman between thirty and forty years of age, I should say; a sort of Cleopatra, very dark, very richly dressed. She was looking at him intently when he caught sight of her, and rushed out, as I have said."

"And you can make nothing of it?"

"Nothing. I do not know whether he missed the train by design or accident, or whether he is at this moment on board the cars steaming to Washington or aboard one of the ocean packets steaming to Liverpool."

"A bad, bad business, Claudia; all this grieves me very much. You have been but two months married, and you return to me alone and your husband is among the missing; a bad business, Claudia," said the judge, very gravely.

"Not as bad as your words would seem to imply, papa. At least, I hope not. I am inclined to think that the detention was accidental; and that Lord Vincent will arrive by the next boat."

"But how coolly and dispassionately you speak of an uncertainty that would drive any other woman almost mad. At this moment you do not know whether you are abandoned or not, and to be candid with you, you do not seem to care," said the judge, austere.

"Papa, what I paid down my liberty for this rank, I mean—is safe. And so whether he goes or stays I am Lady Vincent, and nothing but death can prevent my becoming Countess of Hurstmoor and a peeress of England," said Claudia, defiantly, as she arose and drew her shawl around her shoulders and looked about herself.

"What is it that you want, my dear?" enquired the judge.

"Nothing. I was taking a view of the old familiar objects. How much has happened since I saw them last. It seems to me as if many years had passed since that time. Well, papa, I suppose Ruth has unpacked and put away my clothes by this time, so I'll leave you for the present."

"And with a weary, listless air she left the room and turned to go upstairs."

"No, not there, my dear. I told you the rooms on this floor have been prepared for you. I'll take the judge, who followed her to the door. With a sigh Claudia turned and crossed the hall and entered the parlor chamber, as the large bedroom adjoining the morning room was called. She was hanging the last of the dresses in the wardrobe, and Jim was shouldering the last of the empty trunks to take it away.

"I'll have left off the silver tray, for you to wear this evening, if you please, my lady," said Ruth, indicating the dress that lay upon the bed.

"That will do, Ruth," answered her mistress, whose thoughts were not on dresses, but on that time when Ishmael, for her sake, lay wounded, bleeding, and almost dying on that very bed.

CHAPTER IX.
HOLIDAY.

He, like a kind hand on my brow
Comes this fresh breeze,
Cooling its dew and feverish glow,
While through my being seems to flow
The breath of a new life—the healing of the seas.

Good-by to pain and care. I take
Mine ease today;
Here where these sunny waters break
And ripples this keen breeze, I shake
All burdens from the heart, all weary thoughts away.

With every nerve, vein and artery throbbing with excitement Ishmael hurried away from the house that contained Claudia.

The solitary walk through the thick woods calmed his emotions before he reached Woodside.

He found a tidy room, a tempting tea table, and smiling faces waiting to welcome him.

"That's my boy," exclaimed Reuben, coming forward and grasping his hand; "I called Hannah to keep the tea back a spell, 'cause I knowed you wouldn't disappoint us."

"As if I ever thought you would, Ishmael. Reuben is always prophesying things that can't fail to come true, like the rising of the sun in the east every day, and so forth. And he expects to get credit for his foresight," said Hannah, taking her seat before the steaming teapot and calling upon the others to sit down.

"Well, that was either a surprise as met you and the judge, when you came home from church, wasn't it?" enquired Reuben, as he began to cut slices from the cold ham.

"You knew of the arrival, then?" questioned Ishmael.

"Why, bless you, yes. Why, laws, you know the carriage passed right by here, and stopped to water the horses before going on to Tangewood. But, look here. There was nobody in it but Mrs. Vincent—blame my head—I mean Mrs. Lord Vincent and her city maid."

"Lady Vincent, Reuben. How many times will I have to tell you that?" said Hannah, impatiently.

"All right, Hannah my dear. I'll remember next time. Ishmael, my boy. I think you got all your intellects from Hannah. You certainly didn't get 'em from me. Well, as I was a-saying of, there was no one beside except Mrs. Lord—I mean Mrs. Lady Vincent and her city waiting maid. And on the outside, a-sitting along of the driver, was a gentleman as Jim as happened to be here introduced to me as Mr. Frisbie, Lord Vincent's vallysham, whatever that may be."

"Body servant," said his mistress.

The following were the winners of their games in the Brewery Curling competition, played at the rink on Saturday.

Adams 9, Walker 7.
Savage 10, Turner-Bone 9.
Park 14, Vincent 13.
Adams 11, Mosley 9.

The games this evening in the Brewery curling competition at the Alberta rink are:

Cameron vs. Fidler.
McTavish vs. Bone.
Lee vs. Freeze.
Savage vs. Whittaker.

The local curling club will send two rinks to the Priddis bonspiel on Jan. 15. The rinks will be as follows: Smith, Watson, Fletcher, and Mosley, skip; Dawson, Gillis, Oakes and Irvine, skip.

Great interest is being taken in the hockey match to be played tomorrow evening at the Auditorium rink between Red Deer and Calgary teams. The locals have picked up the best seven obtainable and the north boys will have to go some.

Calgary will be represented by: Scott, goal; Flummerfelt, point; Hamber, cover; Hensworth, rover; Rouleau, centre; Dan McLeod, right; McKenzie, left.

A practice will be held this evening between 7 and 8 o'clock and the above players are requested to turn out for a final turn before the game.

A large crowd is expected out to cheer the locals and arrangements have been made to have the band out, which will also live up the proceedings.

The third game of the inter-collegiate hockey league was played at the auditorium Saturday morning between the Public School and Business college, which resulted in a win for the Public school by a score of 7 to 0. The line-up:

Public School—Lewis, Laidler, Macleod, Gill, Lane, Machon, Margach, Business College—Smith, Emery, Malhot, Anderson, Little, Haag, Mills.

Indians won the First Game

High River Times—The first hockey game in the High River District league for the Carver Cup, was played at Dunbow on Wednesday afternoon between High River and the Industrial School. Zero weather prevailed and for journeying out to Dunbow, a distance of twenty miles, our boys deserve great credit. At about two o'clock both teams lined up on the river, and played the game with the result that our boys lost by a score of 6 to 0. The game was not as one sided as the score indicates, for the puck was kept dangerously near the Dunbow nets throughout the game. It was simply a case of lack of practice in shooting which lost High River the game, and the Times trusts that our boys will practice hard in order to give a better account of themselves when they meet Okotoks next week at the High River rink. Every hockey player in town should turn out on Saturday evening and endeavor to strengthen the weak points of our team.

Montreal Defeats Shamrocks

Montreal, Jan. 7.—In Saturday night's hockey game, Montreal won from Shamrocks by a score of 5 goals to 3. The ice was slushy. It was simply an exhibition of shiny, Gray of Cornwall, with the Shamrocks, was the star of the match. He is only 18 years old.

At Ottawa—Ottawa 6, Quebec 1.

TRI-STATE LEAGUE WILL COME IN

Tired of the Strenuous Fight Against Big Leagues

New York, Jan. 6.—A meeting of the national commission composed of representatives of the National and American leagues of baseball clubs will be held in Cincinnati on Monday to adjust the schedules of the big leagues and to elect a successor to Chairman Harry Herman of the commission. It is expected that President Carpenter of the Tri-State league will make application for that league's admission to the National-American and that the application will be granted provided the club owners of the Tri-State league agree to be assigned to class B. This would include in the agreement the only organization now antagonistic to it. Much importance is attached to the annual meeting of the National association of professional baseball leagues, which will be held at the Fifth Avenue hotel, New York city, on Tuesday. Besides the election of president, secretary and treasurer, board of directors, legislation for the benefit of the association will be enacted.

CARDSTON ASKS FOR A CHANGE

The Law Respecting Debentures Not Very Satisfactory.

Cardston, Jan. 6.—The following is a copy of the resolution to be introduced by the representatives of the town of Cardston at the municipal convention at Red Deer.

"Whereas in the raising of money for the construction of public works by debentures, repayable in instalments, it is frequently desirable that a portion at least of the debenture period, payments on principal should be deferred;

"And whereas under the existing law of debentures are required to be made payable in equal annual instalments;

"And whereas the strict enforcement of such condition has the effect of preventing many municipalities from proceeding with such public works, unless the same are drawn and made payable with such deferred payments, in which case said debentures cannot be sold until legalised by the Provincial Legislature, a difficulty with which the town of Lethbridge and the town of Cardston among other municipalities have been met;

"And whereas in our sister province of Saskatchewan, at the recent session of its legislature, an act was passed giving municipalities permission to issue instalment debentures with no portion of the principal repayable during the first five years of their currency;

"And whereas a similar enactment by our legislature would prove of great benefit to municipalities in the province of Alberta contemplating important public improvements;

"Therefore be it resolved that in the opinion of this convention it is desirable that legislation to that end should be passed at the earliest possible moment; and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to each member of the Legislature of Alberta with a request that he give his support to such a measure."

BOMB EXPLODED WHO THREW IT?

The Offender of Philadelphia outrage Nearly Identified

Philadelphia, Jan. 6.—With the finding today of the personal effects of the man who threw the bomb in the Fortieth Street National bank on Saturday, killing Cashier McLeor and himself, there is little doubt left in the minds of the police that he was Rollo Steele of Gferrner, Iowa. The bomb, it is found, to have slept Friday night at the Grant house, a hostelry on the outskirts of the tenderloin, frequented mostly by respectable working people. He registered as J. R. Steele, New York. Early on Friday night he engaged a 50 cent room. He carried a grip which he refused to allow the colored porter to carry to the room.

When Detectives Searched the room today they found several yards of slow fuse, a number of detonating caps, a revolver, a box of cartridges, a number of tools and some clothing.

There was also a waybill for the Chicago clothing house and a pair of overalls marked with the name of a Lynchburg, Va., merchant. There was also a waybill for a box shipped over the southern railway. As Rollo Steele is reported to have been in Chicago and Lynchburg, and at the latter place lately, the police are practically sure of the bomb thrower's identity.

It is probable that none of those hurt by the explosion will die. Wm. Crump, the negro messenger for the bank, is the most seriously injured and was today operated on to save his eyesight. His eyes will never regain their normal state.

Cha ges in Quebec Legislature

Quebec, Jan. 6.—Philip Roy, M.P. P., has been appointed speaker of the Quebec legislature, succeeding W. A. Weir, who has been promoted to a seat in the cabinet.

INTERESTING BUDGET FROM CARDSTON

News of Interest from the Rich Country to South of Province

Cardston, Jan. 4.—(Special to The Albertan)—In the passing away of Richard Pilling, sr., the south country loses another of its old land marks. Mr. Pilling was well known in the Cardston, Lethbridge and Macleod districts and his demise will be the occasion for many reminiscences of early days in southern Alberta.

The delegates for the municipal convention at Red Deer are Messrs. J. A. Hammer, mayor, and Mark Spenser, councillor; they will leave on Monday for Red Deer.

Thomas Woolford and E. N. Barken, president and secretary respectively, of the local branch of the Alberta Farmers' association, will also leave on Monday as delegates for the Calgary convention, to be held next Wednesday.

At a meeting of the town council on Wednesday evening a very important and interesting letter was received from F. D. Shaw, collector of customs at this point, protesting against the recent dog license. The letter was so abusive that it was the unanimous opinion that a copy of the same should be forwarded to the minister of customs, Ottawa, and this was ordered by vote of the council.

The progress of Cardston is evidenced by the appointment of a clerk to assist the secretary treasurer in his work. The new clerk commenced work this morning.

Martin Woolf has been appointed license inspector for the town of Cardston. William Laurie, solicitor, and H. W. Brant, M.D., health inspector.

Owing to cold, stormy weather progress in connection with the waterworks and electric light plant has been retarded.

Messrs. Sherriff and Kershaw of Salt Lake City, Utah, prominent builders of that city, are here for the purpose of assisting in the work of erecting the court house and new tabernacle. Mr. Sherriff is the gentleman who had sole charge of the rock work on the large Salt Lake City and county building which cost in the neighborhood of one million dollars.

Inspector Wade of the department of public works, is here looking after the proper construction of the court house.

The Cardston board of trade and the town council have heartily united themselves with the Macleod board and council in memorializing parliament to grant a subsidy for the construction of a railway from Leor and himself, there is little doubt left in the minds of the police that he was Rollo Steele of Gferrner, Iowa. The bomb, it is found, to have slept Friday night at the Grant house, a hostelry on the outskirts of the tenderloin, frequented mostly by respectable working people. He registered as J. R. Steele, New York. Early on Friday night he engaged a 50 cent room. He carried a grip which he refused to allow the colored porter to carry to the room.

The present hard winter is a great boon to the fall wheat. There will be no "winter killed wheat" for our spring bulletins this year.

We have about four inches of snow here at the present time.

TAKE NOTICE that an application will be made at the next sitting of the Legislature of the Province of Alberta, for an Act to incorporate a Railway company under the name of the CALGARY & KNEE HILL RAILWAY COMPANY, with power to build a railway from a point within the corporate limits of the City of Calgary northerly through townships twenty-four and twenty-five, in range one, West of the Fifth Meridian; thence northerly and easterly through townships twenty-six, twenty-seven and twenty-eight, in ranges twenty-eight, twenty-seven, twenty-six, twenty-five and twenty-four, West of the Fourth Meridian, to a point in or about townships twenty-nine, range twenty-three, West of the Fourth Meridian on Knee Hills Creek.
