TO REWARD WORK OF TORONTO LABOR MEN

District Trades Council to Circulate Letter Emphasizing Efforts of F. Bancroft and J. Gibbons in Bringing About Compensation Act—Will Give Them Testimonial.

That working people throughout Ontario may understand the advantages that will result from the passage of the Workmen's Compensation Act, and that all workers may have an opportunity of expressing their gratitude to Fred Bancroft and J. Gibbons, whose efforts in connection with the bill have been crowned with success, a special committee consisting of 20 prominent labor men of Toronto, chosen by the district trades council, drafted up a scheme yesterday, and will circulate this in many languages throughout the industrial districts of the province.

The letter in part is as follows: "The Workmen's Compensation Act, enacted during the last session of the Ontario legislature, guarantees compensation to work people injured in the industrial establishments of Ontario. No more costly litigation or lawyers' bills for those who are injured, or the relatives of the killed. The widows and orphans will be secured from poverty without going to law courts. This bill was enacted after five years of strenuous efforts upon the part of labor men, and should be understood and appreciated by every industrial or mine worker in the Province of Ontario. Two workmen, Fred Bancroft, a platemaker, and Joseph Gibbons, a street railway worker, were active night and day, looking after your interests and securing the passage of this act.

They did not get one cent for their efforts, and we, the delegates of the Toronto District Labor Council, desire every industrial and mining employer in the Province of Ontario to join with us in giving to our faithful colleagues a suitable testimonial. We are asking contributions of ten cents per person, and believe that this will be a small return for services rendered.

It is proposed to raise $2000 by this means, and the presentation will take place in the exhibition grounds next Labor Day.

NATIONALISTS TO HAVE BIG ARMY

Two Hundred Thousand Men Will Parade in Dublin to Uphold Home Rule.

Canadian Press Despatch. LIMERICK, Ireland, May 17.—The county council unanimously resolved today to support the Nationalist volunteer movement which was started for the purpose of organizing a national force to uphold the authority of the crown and government of Ireland on the same lines as the Ulster force.

Thomas Landon, Nationalist member of the house of commons for East Limerick, during the course of a speech, said that the day the home rule bill was placed on the statute book 200,000 volunteers would parade in Dublin to prevent the withdrawal of the dearly won measure.

PARTY WHIP TO GET LIBERALS INTO LINE

Macdonald's Unexpected Motion Interpreted as Protest Against Passive Resistance Attitude of Leader to C.N.R. Aid Proposal—Railway's Operation to Be Thoroughly Reorganized.

By a Staff Reporter. OTTAWA, May 17.—The Canadian Northern debate will be resumed tomorrow, and the house will divide upon E. M. Macdonald's motion for a six months' hold on Tuesday. It had been agreed that no amendments would be offered or divisions demanded until after the resolutions stage was passed and the government moved the second reading of the bill. Mr. Macdonald's motion, therefore, came as a surprise to the government and to many members of the opposition. It was suddenly sprung as a protest against the stolid attitude of many leading Liberals. The net result may be the calling of another caucus of the opposition members.

To Reorganize Operation.

The government will no doubt insist upon some progress being made with the legislation, although there is no disposition to unduly limit debate. A significant factor in the situation will no doubt be the announcement that the operating end of the Canadian Northern is to be reorganized entirely under the direction of Louis Charlton Fritch, who came to the railway from the Chicago and North Western and has occupied important positions on the Baltimore and Ohio and other railways in the United States. His appointment to the C. N. R. was announced exclusively in The World some weeks ago.

One argument against further government aid to the Canadian Northern has been that the present management has devoted its energies almost entirely to construction and has overlooked to some extent the possibilities of development along the lines of scientific operation. This will now be countered by the work of Mr. Fritch, who, it is said, will have a free hand in reorganizing the operating system of the big road, including the creation and development of terminal facilities.

COLUMBIAN'S THIRD BOAT FOUND FOUR MEN OF FIFTEEN ON BOARD SURVIVED THIRTEEN DAYS' ORDEAL

Rescued Men Were Kept Alive by Boot Leather and Rain Water Until Found by U. S. Revenue Cutter Yesterday—Several Succumbed to Burns and Others Perished From Exposure—Rescue Deemed Almost Miraculous.

Canadian Press Despatch. HALIFAX, N. S., May 17.—After thirteen days of terrible suffering in an open boat, four survivors of the freight steamer Columbian were picked up in the North Atlantic by the United States revenue cutter Seneca today.

Eleven others of the boat's crew which left the Columbian when she was burned just south of Sable Island on May 3 had succumbed to injuries and privations and their bodies were thrown overboard. The death roll of the lost freighter now stands at fifteen.

Twenty-seven other members of the crew were saved by the Cunard liner Franconia and the steamer Manhattan after two days of exposure.

The men snatched from death by the Seneca today were the first officers, Robert Tierce; Seaman Oscar Kendall and Peter Belanger; and Fireman Michael Ludwigen. The Seneca reported that she was hastening to Halifax and expected to reach there tomorrow.

Hope Long Abandoned. The survivors had lived on only a few ship's biscuits and a cask of water, which had long since been exhausted. They had gone the limit of human endurance. Hope for the recovery of the third boat had long ago been abandoned. To seafaring men it seemed impossible that a small boat could pass thru the gorges of gales that have since swept these waters, and the news that the Seneca had picked up survivors was received almost with incredulity here.

Altho the survivors were too weak from their sufferings to tell the story completely, the revenue cutter's officers gathered that some of the sixteen who had hastily piled into the third boat had been so badly burned that they died within the first few days. It was decided to lighten the boat by casting the bodies overboard at once. Some who had tumbled from their bunks at the first explosion and had rushed on deck half clothed succumbed to the cold. Others, weakened by starvation and thirst, gradually sank into lethargy that was scarcely to be distinguished from death.

Died One by One. Somehow the survivors managed to keep the boat head-on to the seas when the weather became rough, but for the past few days little or no effort could be made to guide the craft. Day by day the number dwindled until the five who were left sank limply to the bottom of the boat and awaited the end.

When the lookout of the Seneca, scanning the horizon for bergs on the ice patrol, sighted the small boat thru his glasses, not a sign of life was seen. The Seneca put on all speed running down to the lifeboat and sent her sig alongside. The emaciated survivors were quickly transferred to the deck of the cutter and brandy forced between the parched lips.

As all the men were in apparent need of hospital attention the Seneca was pushed under forced draught to Halifax, the nearest port.

Saw Steamers Far Off. BOSTON, May 17.—Four survivors of a boat of fifteen, who escaped in the third boat of the freight steamer Columbian, burned at sea on May 2, were picked up today by the United States revenue cutter Seneca, forty miles south of Sable Island, according to a despatch received here from the cutter tonight.

When their short allowance of biscuit and water had failed, they maintained life by chewing boot leather and the few stray crumbs of hard tack. Rainwater served them when their cask went dry. The first two days after drifting away from the flaming Columbian they saw three steamers, too far away to be signaled.

Subsisted on Boot Leather. The despatch from Captain Johnston of the Seneca follows: "Sable Island, S. S. Seneca: 10 a.m., May 17.—Four survivors of the freight steamer Columbian, burned at sea on May 2, were picked up today by the United States revenue cutter Seneca, forty miles south of Sable Island, according to a despatch received here from the cutter tonight.

WILL THERE BE A COLLISION?

HUERTA'S ENVOYS SHOW DESIRE FOR PEACE

Conciliatory Attitude Displayed at Conferences With Mediators in Washington Brightens Hopes of Settlement—Advance Guard on Way to Niagara Falls.

Canadian Press Despatch. WASHINGTON, May 17.—After a conference between the three representatives of the Huerta government, the South American mediators, and the American delegates, the advance guard in the Mexican mediation proceedings is now actually on its way to Niagara Falls for the conference to open there next Wednesday. The entire Mexican party, including the three delegates, Senors Rabasa, Rodriguez and Elguero, with their wives, daughters and a large suite, left at 3 o'clock this afternoon for New York, where they will remain until Tuesday before proceeding to Canada.

Two of the mediators also started for the conference, Minister Naan of Argentina leaving at 7 o'clock tonight direct for Niagara Falls, and Ambassador Da Gama of Brazil going by way of New York, where he will be joined by Mme. Da Gama and proceed to the scene of the conference tomorrow night or Tuesday. Minister Suarez of Chile leaves tomorrow, and the American delegates, Justice Lamar and F. W. Lehmann, with the American staff, will leave in time to reach Niagara Falls Tuesday night, about the same time as the Mexican delegates reach there from New York.

Getting Into Touch. The stay of the Huerta delegates for 24 hours at Washington, gave an opportunity for a very thorough canvass of their plans and general views. Their conference with the mediators last night lasted nearly two hours, and it is known that there was a discussion of the whole range of Mexican affairs, so that the mediators are now in possession of quite definite information.

BY-ELECTION IN ST. CATHARINES IS CERTAIN

Resignation of E. A. Lancaster, M.P., Daily Expected and Workers Look for Early Calling of Nomination Convention—Will Pin Faith to Chaplin or Campbell.

By a Staff Reporter. ST. CATHARINES, May 18.—Conservative workers in the federal riding of St. Catharines are looking forward to the early calling of a nomination convention in preparation for a by-election. Word is expected daily of the resignation of E. A. Lancaster, M.P., who is now on the Nova Scotia coast suffering from a serious malignant malady. So dangerous is his condition that friends understand his intention of relinquishing his federal duties will be announced within a few days. The activities of organization will then begin at once.

Already the riding is becoming stirred at the prospect of a federal electoral contest, and a well-defined rumor is in circulation to the effect that certain Conservative aspirants have begun a quiet campaigning for the nomination. It was learned today that one of these who will make sure of being mentioned as a candidate has men already in the field working for him. Automobiles were out thru the riding on Saturday, presumably on this business. Some of the other engine men refuse to do any campaigning for support out of respect to Mr. Lancaster. They will wait until his resignation is actually in hand.

The contesting of the seat by the Liberals is not considered as very threatening. Mr. Lovelace, who has been renominated for the reform party, has gone down to defeat three times successively under huge majorities, and is not counted as a very serious competitor.

As to the Conservative nominees, the choice of the community has narrowed down to two—Messrs. Caspin and J. S. Campbell, K.C. The competition for nomination will occur between these two at the convention expected in a few weeks.

CONDITION IS UNCHANGED.

The condition of George Kappel, K.C., who has been critically ill at the Wellesley Hospital for some time, was unchanged yesterday. Doctors have given up hope for his recovery.

Thomas Ward, Anxious to Be Deported, Heaved Three Bricks Thru as Many Windows in the T. Eaton Store, Causing Three Hundred Dollars' Damage.

Saturday morning, Thomas Ward, an Englishman recently arrived, appeared in police court, charged with a minor offence. Ward pleaded guilty and asked the magistrate to deport him, because he was tired of Canadian life and methods. His plea was refused, the case against him dismissed, and Ward was told to go and get some work.

Saturday night about 10.30 Ward armed himself with three half bricks, and waiting till a constable appeared in sight, proceeded to smash in the plate glass windows in Eaton's store on Yonge street. Before Officer White-law could run to him from the corner of Queen and Yonge, Ward had smashed three large panes, which it will cost Eaton's $300 to replace.

HIGHEST IDEALS ACTUATE SOLDIER

Chaplain Crawford Brown Emphasizes Benefits of Military Training.

DEVELOP DISCIPLINE Where There is No Security There Cannot Be National Prosperity.

The present British government is a peace-loving government, but also peace has been made that it decrease the expenditures for the munitions of war. It has had to increase them, declared Rev. T. Crawford Brown, the chaplain of the 48th Highlanders, in his address to the troops who took part in Sunday afternoon's church parade. President Wilson was characterized as a humanitarian peace-lover, who had taken the only course which lay open to him. The speaker asserted that the president was supported by his government and by the most enthusiastic pacifists of the nation. "He was compelled to take his present stand in order to maintain the dignity and honor of his country," declared the chaplain of the 48th.

"To be prepared for war is the best security for peace; to be armed to the teeth and to be prepared for every emergency is the best course to take to maintain the honor and prosperity of a nation. Has not British prestige done more to maintain peace than any other force in the world? Where there is no security there cannot be national prosperity.

"How can we go on enjoying this security without assuming our part in the maintenance of that security? No British subject is worthy of the name of patriot who is not willing to aid in upholding this prestige which has so long protected us. The soldier is actuated by the highest ideals of citizenship."

The dangers which he might be called upon to face for the sake of his country were described. True patriotism was never orientated. It was necessary to have discipline developed for even God himself could not lead a mob to victory.

"I look forward to the day when compulsory military training will be enforced through Canada. Military organizations and military training are one of the strongest agencies for the upbuilding of a strong, virile manhood."

The text of the message was taken from the words of St. Matthew: "Think not that I am come to send peace, but a sword."

This, Mr. Brown declared, was a straight utterance on the part of the Prince of Peace, when He was addressing His disciples in preparing them for their life work. He was then telling them not to expect peace but enmity, hate and persecution and even death itself. We were not to accept this utterance as spoken in vain; but as a clear statement that there is something more desirable than peace under certain conditions.

A great cause was something greater than peace, even the it sundred households and separated families. Brothers and sisters were separated.

"We are all men of peace," declared the speaker, "but not peace at any price. It is the peace of honor and of freedom which is sought by every man. The condition of perfect peace was spoken of as being the ideal state which all were striving towards, and the achievement of which was the ideal mankind was bent on reaching. The ideal conditions would prevail when the soldier's duty as a spirit of brotherhood were existent. When armies and navies were no more, then the ideal state of affairs would be ushered into being.

This condition had not been realized yet, said the speaker, "for never in the history of the world has there been a time when the principle of every man for himself and every man against his neighbor was not in vogue. War does not pay; it is contrary to every principle of economics, and every writer has expressed it. War is hell."

The cost of armaments and preparations for the wars which never occur was spoken of as being an enormous business but one which under the present conditions of civilization, it was necessary to maintain.

About a week ago Williamson was arrested at Napanee on a charge of wife-beating. He was fined $50 and his wife had to pay $100 for his expenses. Williamson, on their way east to the maritime provinces, traveling in a wagon for a new home, covered rather comfortable-looking covered wagon drawn by a team of good horses. They left Toronto two weeks ago.

This Week's Attractions at the Theatres

DAVE MARION AT THE GAYETY

ANNIE RUSSELL AT THE PRINCESS

JANE WHEATLEY AT THE ALEXANDRA

ETHEL VON WALDRON AT THE GRAND

MRS. VERNON CASTLE AT MASSETT HALL TOMORROW

OLGA COOK AT LOEW'S

The Lady in the Case. Tonight, at the Princess Theatre, Annie Russell will begin a week's engagement in "The Lady in the Case." There will be the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

The Mikado. The Ontario Operatic Company are presenting "The Mikado" at the Princess Theatre on Monday evening, June 1. Great care has been exercised in the arrangement and production of this popular musical play, and it promises to be a great success. The production will be under the direction of E. A. Dalton.

Miss Haswell's Return. Miss Percy Haswell and her company return to Toronto from New York tonight, and will start rehearsals tomorrow for their coming performance at the Princess Theatre on Tuesday, June 2.

Shea's Theatre. The feature attraction at Shea's Theatre this week is the Harry Lauder Singing-Talking Pictures, in which Scotland's greatest comedian is seen in his greatest successes at every performance. The special extra attraction is the return after a long absence of Maude Lambert, the musical comedy favorite, and Ernest Ball, the popular composer. Vaughan Comfort and John King, late features of the popular "Boy Evans' Minstrels," will make their first appearance in vaudeville in a one-act legal satire called "The Countess Divorced"; Bert Fitzgibbon, the original Daffy Dill, is the champion mirth-provoker on the stage; Miss Norton and her troupe have an excellent offering in "A Dramatic Cartoon"; the Three La Peers, are not excelled as comedy bar artists, and Kuting's animals have justly earned a reputation of being the best trained in vaudeville.

Mendelssohn Choir. The special series of spring rehearsals of the Mendelssohn Choir, which ended on May 1, served to reveal the fact that the chorus, which Dr. Vogt has finally chosen for the Toronto concerts of the society in February, 1915, and for the European performances of May and June following, is the most efficient and vocally the most carefully chosen in the history of the organization. Besides the larger works already announced for the concerts of next year, the choir has already taken up for study the most recently published "Cappella" works of the eminent Russian composer, Rachmaninoff, and Goethe's magnificent choruses, some of the kind ever taken up by the choir. An eight-part "Ave Maria," by the eminent Austrian composer, Anton Bruckner, and several of the most important recent works which have been submitted to Dr. Vogt by the leading English composers, have also been taken up, and will form part of the society's repertoire for next season. The many patrons of the society will be gratified to learn that the peerless Chicago Symphony Orchestra has again been engaged to appear at its full strength in all of the local concerts of the society. This orchestra, which stands in the front rank amongst the few really great orchestras of the world, has just concluded the most successful season in its history. Its home series of 58 concerts were invariably sold out, and financially and artistically the organization's record for the season was unique—a just tribute to the sterling qualities of the orchestra, the musicianship of its gifted conductor, and the growing discrimination of the patrons of the orchestra both in its home and out-of-town concerts. The local orchestral season in Cleveland, in which all of the great American orchestras participated in turn, was brought to a brilliant close recently by an ovation to the Chicago Orchestra quite without parallel, including the orchestra's participation in the presentation to Mr. Stock by Cleveland music-lovers.

Miss Adele Blood. Miss Adele Blood, the popular actress who is to lead the company at Shea's Theatre this summer, and who opens in Madame Nazimova's greatest triumph, "The Marionettes," next Monday afternoon, will arrive in Toronto today.

The Castles Tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle, in the new entertainment field of society dancing, enjoy the friendship of society leaders over the entire country and public recognition of their undeniable talent and charm have placed them in the front rank with such theatrical money-earners as Sothern and Marlowe, Maude Adams and David Warfield. Their appearance here at Massett Hall Tuesday matinee and evening is bound to be the scene of a tremendous attendance of lovers of amusement, of dancing and of music, of society people and of people who are members of the clans of fashion and the crowds of the curious.

At the Park. An exceptionally good program has been secured for the first three days of the week. Don Rottine will be heard in a novel triple voice singing act; Campbell and Connors, comedy entertainers; Blanche Gordon, comedienne; and The Jacksons, in a sensational ground and aerial act.

Loew's Winter Garden. The bill to be presented at Loew's Winter Garden for the week features three strong headliners of which Cook the blonde soprano who recently captured New York critics on her debut in that city, is one likely to prove a sensation in Toronto. "The Villain Still Pursued Her" is the second distinctive offering presented while the third will be the well-known "The Girl of the Year" which the company will present in the "Stick-up Man." The entire bill presents a long and varied array of acts in which are included: Murray Bennett, in monologue; Ward, Bell & Ward, acrobats; Keely Bros. with "Fun in a Sporting Goods Store"; Schrodes & Chapelle, Montrose, Sattell, Murphy & Foley, The Bounding Gordons, Bruce Morgan & Betty, and others.

Love's Young Dream. For the third and closing week of his engagement at the Grand Opera House, Fiske O'Hara will present "Love's Young Dream." The first presentation will be given at a special matinee on Monday (Victoria Day).

Dave Marion. Distinguished by an unusually elaborate scenic and electrical investiture, and embellished by seven-dive gorgeously crowned girls in the chorus contingents, Dave Marion and his own big company make their annual reappearance here this week at the Gayety.

PREVENTION MUCH BETTER THAN CURE

Dr. Hastings Emphasizes Great Loss Incurred by Preventable Disease. "It has cost the United States and Canada $1,500,000,000 in preventable diseases which occurred during the past year," was the startling statement made by Dr. Hastings, M.O.H. of Toronto, in an address on public health given before the men's Bible class of Yonge Street Methodist Church yesterday afternoon. He declared that if a tenth of this sum were spent in the United States and Canada in preventative work of educating and safeguarding the public against the causes that within ten years a full control would be gained of all communicable disease. The present system of spending so much on curing disease and so comparatively small amount in the work of prevention was not a sound business principle. Dr. Hastings went on to say that there was no danger from aerial traction notwithstanding the belief to the contrary that exists in the public mind. He would not be afraid to take even a delicate child thru the danger from aerial traction of disease was concerned, but he would see to it that the child did not so much as touch a wall while in the hospital, as touch a wall there was no other manner in which disease is so frequently contracted as thru the human hands.

"MODERN DANCING"

A MARVELOUS DANCE INSTRUCTION BOOK NOW OFFERED TO ITS READERS BY

The Toronto World

A CASTLE POSE

The Latest and Newest One-Step

Up to the present moment by far the most popular of all dances is the One Step. There are many reasons for its popularity, the chief being that it can be learned in a very little time by any one, old or young, who is able to walk in time to music—and, in fact, by many who cannot. Another reason is because the music is rag-time. The Waltz is beautiful, the Tango is graceful, the Brazilian Maxixe is unique. One can sit quietly and listen with pleasure to them all; but when a good orchestra plays a "rag" one has simply GOT to move! The One Step is the dance for rag-time music.

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

By Leona Dalrymple

The truth about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with interest.

Bachelor Quarters.

I've been keeping bachelor quarters now for over a week. Mary's having a splendid time at Marner's Lake. Now, although I've frequently reflected that marriage to me has been an immense disillusionment, and that outside of a certain pride and tranquil affection I do not love Mary as a man should love the one woman in the world, it's odd how I miss her. To be sure I've gotten my own breakfast ever since I was married, so it makes very little difference to get it now, but I don't like eating at a little restaurant in town at night and then tramping home to a lonely house and a lonely smoke.

Dad and mother are on their usual trip. Otherwise I should have packed up my duds and gone home for the weeks Mary is enjoying herself at the lake.

Now Mary complained a great deal of the heat when she was skilfully maneuvering for her summer at the lake, but I doubt if there's a cooler place anywhere than our little piazza when the night's grown quiet. Still it's lonely. The crickets and night insects keep up a pretty plaintive chorus.

A Dreary Place.

And how I do hate to make my bed. For a while I made my bed every morning, then I made it every night. Now I sleep in each bed in turn and make 'em up at the end in a bunch. This way I'm three beds ahead and don't have to worry so much.

I'm beginning to think I'm a notional fool full of moods. I've grown cynical about marriage, yet here I'm wishing Mary was home, and thinking what a dreary sort of place home is without her. I was thinking all this sort of nonsense still one night over a melancholy moonlit lake. A jolly crowd having a wonderful time while I was listening to an inspired orchestra of mosquitoes tuning up for the night's work when the telephone rang. I sighed and went in to answer.

"Hello, dear," she exclaimed heartily. "Hello, mother," said I, warmed into cheerfulness by the pleasant sound of her voice. "When did you get home anyway?"

"Tonight," she said. "Dad and I got tired of rambling about. We had a think how comfortable home is and how much we like to sit on the piazza night together and we simply had to come home. I guess we're getting old, Peter. Home seems the pleasantest summer place after all. How's Mary?"

Home to Mother.

"Oh, Mary's pretty well," I said uncomfortably. "She's away."

"Away?" said mother. "Why, I thought you didn't get your vacation until the end of August, and you were going somewhere together?"

"Well," I explained lamely, "the summer has been pretty warm, and Mary was growing tired and nervous, and I was body she knows is away. That made her pretty lonesome in the daytime, and I thought she'd better go. In fact," I added mendaciously, "I made her go."

Mother didn't say anything for some time. I knew she was thinking of the times Dad had tried to make her go away and rest and she wouldn't go. But mother is a good sport. She doesn't say things like that even when she thinks them.

"Dear, dear," came her kindly voice after a while, "you must be pretty lonely, son. Pack up a suitcase of clothes tonight and come home. Your old room's always ready, and Dad and I will be waiting on the porch for you."

Who could resist that picture? As I hung up, I saw in my mind's eye Dad in his big chair with his slippers feet on the porch pillar by the rose bush smoking and staring at the moon. And mother would be rocking.

It was much too peaceful and cozy a picture for a lonely man to resist. I dashed to my room and packed suitcases. I am lonely and I do miss Mary, but I suppose she's having a wonderful time.

Tabbies That Really Work

A SUGGESTION made that the rat nuisance should be fought by means of armies of cats has been tried.

In Hongkong, for instance, during the epidemic of rat-borne bubonic plague, some few years back, many hundreds of cats were imported, and set to work to exterminate the rodents. They proved, however, to be very poor rat catchers.

In France, too, cats are used by the government authorities to protect military stores from the depredations of rats, and in order to train them, they ascertain their fitness for their work, they are equal to killing the rats at sea, they are given a similar job on shore.

Maria also has its government cats. They are kept in the great subterranean reserve granaries under Valetta, and like the pit ponies, once they are taken below, seldom ascend to the surface again.

At the London general postoffice, a similar staff of cats is maintained. It is their duty to protect the mails from vermin, and when past work they are sent to the streets to hunt for mice.

PERILS OF THE SEA

By Michelson

O, YES! There are storms, and monsters, and all sorts of things that make the sea dangerous to persons in ships. Any sailor will tell you how much of a hero he has to be to take the chance.

But there are perils not mentioned in natural history—in shallow water, too. They show themselves to a really knowing student, while the student is still dry at the brink. You can actually count them.

The worst of these is that the longer you hover on the sand the greater the danger grows, for the lurking perils grow impatient and eager. Actually there have been fatal cases when the victim didn't go into the water at all, but just dalled in the glistening sunlight, shimmering and flashing in an unconsciousness of observation that was ALMOST real.

Well, don't blame the old sea. It plays its part well. "Said the tide to the tied, 'You have yourselves to blame.'"

Dreams in the Songs of Another Day

YOU must wake and call me early. Call me early, mother, dear. The little girl is in the other room practicing.

She's going to speak a piece at the last day entertainment before vacation.

She had expected to learn something about smile and your heart will smile, or there is no sorrow—but think it so—or something else "helpful" and "uplifting."

But some one left a volume of Tennyson lying around and the Little Girl found it, and when I went into the room there she sat, curled up in the big chair by the window, and her soft eyes were full of tears—and she said:

"It's so queer about this—I don't know why—but I can't keep from crying when I read this poem."

And she read it aloud in her little soft voice with a kind of gentle sing-sing:

"You must wake and call me early,
Call me early, mother, dear.
For tomorrow is the gladdest day
Of all the glad new year.
Of all the glad new year, mother,
The merriest, maddest day;
For I'm to be queen of the May, mother—
I'm to be queen of the May."

The Dear Old Poems.

And, somehow, I cried, a little, too; and then we both smiled and were very happy.

And the little girl decided that she wanted to recite the "Queen of the May" at the school festival instead of something modern and "uplifting" and "helpful."

"Dear little girl, how in the world would we ever keep our hearts warm at all in this world of fads and furies, if it were not for such as you. We know all the old poems, too. 'The splendor falls on castle walls and snowy summits old in story.' How splendid was the hour when first you heard the ringing glory of that song.

"The long light shakes across the lakes
And the wild cataract leaps in glory."
How your heart leaped and how clear you saw the lake, so blue, so deep, so mysterious, so far, so far away.

Unusual. "Their marriage is such bad form."
"Yes."
"Oh, indeed. Each insists that they are affinites."

Not Hopeful. "He seems to take a gloomy view of life and its prospects."
"Yes, he's too pessimistic to get a divorce."

The Great Test. "He says that he can fall in love with any woman he meets."
"I guess that's right. He was in love with a vegetarian once."

An Eye to Business. "Friend—But why are you to have a sweet marriage?"
"Across—Because the papers will give so much more space to it."

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Books a Bracing Tonic to Brain and Body

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

As sunlight and fresh air, cold water and a plain pabulum are tonics to the brain and blood, so is reading to the brain and the muscles.

The printed page is the soul's purifier, and it is no new discovery under the sun. An inscription over the door of the library at Thebes says: "Books are medicine for the soul."

It seems the printing press of today had voluminous rivals ten thousand and twenty thousand years ago. Reading was, perhaps, just as universal then as now.

The pyramids were built with a thousand human hands to move each block, and books were inscribed with labor just as cheap and in equal battalions of human "printing presses."

In a word, reading, writing and arithmetic were the same honored medical trio scores of thousands of years ago. Furthermore, the mind of Smith today is not a jot or Persian shepherd of 25,000 years ago.

Nor is the mind of Edison or Woodrow Wilson superior to that of Aristotle or the ancient wise men. The intelligence and mental incapacity of humanity in general is exactly the same today as it was aeons of years ago, despite all the flubdub and talk of supermen.

All of these truths, however, take nothing from the fact that a little study now and then will more than help the wisest men. The man who is physically and intellectually sick; the domestic trudge with her pandemonium of petty troubles; the fair maid disappointed in love; the bashful, unprogressive youth can all find a cure in the reading room and library habits.

If boys and girls or men and women who by force of circumstances have been compelled to abandon school, study and reading habits early in life, would spend one hour each night in the reading room of a public library, scanning and snatching thought from the pages of elementary books on biology, chemistry, physics, bacteriology, geology, zoology and encyclopedias, much of the mental anguish, perverted intelligence, misdirected thinking, near-insanity and distorted sensations and feelings, which are worse than organic maladies, would be given their coup de grace.

You must, however, mix the living with the dead. That is to say, with every honored old classic that you read you must read three live, vital, current volumes. Such classics as Aristotle, Milton, Shakespeare, Faraday, Dante, Moliere, Hugo and the other worthies must be the meat in the sandwich of current text books, periodicals and newspapers. For each Carlyle, Goethe and Kant there must be several slices of up-to-date 1914 psychology, science, philosophy, drama, poetry and even fiction.

Books then are the safe deposit vaults of thought. They are, moreover, the thrilling, active life blood that pulses the present times and customs through your tissues. Plus muscular experience and environmental contact they are the flesh, the life, the vital spirit of your very self.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

Dear Annie-Laurie:

I have a boy friend who is a good boy, and one I respect very much. Now I like to dance, and he says if I do he will have to leave me. I certainly do not want to lose him. What do you think I should do?

SINCERE.

WHICH do you like best, your friend or the tango? It seems to be a choice between the two, doesn't it. The tango is pretty sure to go out one of these days. The time's coming, you know, when you won't care for dancing particularly—oh, yes, it is for dancing just for this person you call a "boy" you'll go on caring for him, always, if that's the kind you are. Is it?

Why doesn't he want you to dance? Can't he dance, and is he jealous of you, or has he really religious prejudice against it?

I'm afraid I should worry a bit about a young man who was so very, very, "different" from the others.

Think it over, little girl. Think it over, and make up your mind, for nobody can make it up for you.

But be quite sure that when you have given up dancing the young man does not decide to learn, and get some girl who has not given it up to teach him. Wouldn't that be vexing?

Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care this office.

Three Minute Journeys

The Greatest Tragedy of Conquest

By TEMPLE MANNING

PROBABLY the most striking relics of ancient Roman conquest, preserved mainly by reason of their modern isolation, are to be found in Judea. These are what remain of the fortifications thrown up against Masada, the last Jewish stronghold to defy the Caesars, after the fall of Jerusalem in the year 70.

Today Judea, or that part of southeastern Palestine known as the Wilderness of Judea, is an arid plateau dotted with small conical hills intersected by deep ravines. It is difficult to imagine a more desolate and dreary region, or one filled with more danger, the roving tribes of Bedouins being for the most part insatiable robbers.

The mountain of Masada towers 1700 feet above the plains of the Dead Sea. Its sides are so precipitous that no army could well climb them. Only from one direction may the fortress on the mountain top be reached.

A wall, built by the Romans at the foot of Masada, enclosing the mountain, is still in a good state of preservation. At intervals along its length were camps of soldiers, and these are plain today.

It was here that the most tragic ending happened to the besieged, that has ever occurred to any armed force in the world's history. The Jews, finally realizing that their cause was hopeless, agreed to kill themselves. First they burned their valuables. Then they slaughtered their families, and appointed 10 men to act as executioners, and after bidding farewell to one another each man lay down by his best friend and presented his neck for the blow. In all 960 persons perished.

The early Christians had built Masada, for there is the remains of a Byzantine castle there.

No visit to Palestine is complete without the side trip to this part of the country, the stories told in stones of ancient races repaying for the hardships of the journey.

Orioles Win Sunday Lead International

OUR BOYS CAME FROM BEHIND AND WON GAME FULL OF FEATURES

Tim Jordan Had Another Home Run—Southpaws No Longer Terrors to the Leafs—Great Game on Saturday.

We've you across, the bay on Saturday to see the second game of the series between the Newark champions and the Toronto? If you were, let us congratulate you, for we know you had a treat, even if you did root the umpire at one stage of the game. If you missed going, we extend our sympathies for you surely did let an opportunity slip by to see a feature-full game. Yes, of course, the Leafs won—that was one of the features—and yes, Tim Jordan got another home run, a beauty, clear over into the bay. Moreover, the game was close, the Indians being twice in the lead, and our boys came from behind in the ninth with a batting rally to win 6 to 5.

But that's not all. Another left-hander, Edward Smith, was treated similar to his partner, Wyatt Lee, in Friday's game, and after a troublous season was finally driven from the mound in the seventh with the bases full, proving once more that southpaws are not feared as formerly by the leafy boys, who are now taking only too kindly to the fish so frequently served up to them. Smith was persecuted by Ensmann, who extracted himself and his mates from a peculiar position, only to fall victim to a missile of hits in the ninth. Added to all this was the incident in the sixth, when Fisher, worked the old hidden ball trick on Myers at second, catching that gentleman napping at the base, but to no avail as both umpires were evidently napping also, neither one seeing the act and refusing to believe what they did not see. As a triple followed and three runs came in, the feeling rose high against Ensmann, who spent a bad quarter-hour, during which Fitzpatrick was banished for his vigorous protests.

After the firing line for Toronto and the he was touched up pretty freely and was rather generous with his passes, but he was victim because he was better than his opponents. O'Hara, Jordan, Kelly and Wilson wielded the willow, very effectively, as did Eddie Zimmerman for Newark.

A funny incident happened in the opening inning, when Myers, who was struck a single to left, which carried off Pick past Fisher and as both fielders chased the ball, Mowca fired for third, only to be tagged by Gilbert, who covered the base and took Fisher's throw. Newark drew three bases in the third when Jordan dropped Callahan's drive and Mowca followed with a double. Toronto went ahead in the fourth scoring two on our successive singles by Jordan and Kelly. Fisher and Pick, in the following innings came Jordan's homer after O'Hara had hit safely, raising the total to four.

Then came the sixth. Myers singled and Tooley walked. Billy Zimmerman died to Wilson, who returned the ball to Fisher, the latter hiding the ball and touching Myers, but Umpire Mulvaney said no. The next play brought both runners in with a slugging triple to left centre and tied the score on Getz's hit. Toronto missed a good chance in the seventh, as Prieste, who had replaced Fitzpatrick, reached second on Mowca's bad peg. O'Hara bunted and beat the throw, but Prieste tried to come home, only to be nailed by yards at the plate. Wilson singled and Jordan was passed, Billing Blinn and Ensmann replaced Smith and retired the side without a score on two flies.

Newark went in the lead in the eighth on two singles and a passed ball and stayed in front till the ninth. Prieste led off with a safe hit and went to second on a wild pitch. O'Hara followed with a coring double and the score was again tied. Wilson's hit dropped safe in right, O'Hara going to second on a wild pitch. Red Fisher came thru with a two-base hit in the sixth inning with the bases full, and three runs were scored. In the eighth inning Fisher called him safe and immediately changed his decision. The players all crowded around him and jostled him considerably. Before the field was cleaned Gero and Donahue mixed it up freely, and had to be separated in the sixth inning. Wagner, Brantford's second baseman, was banished from the game and fined $5 for disputing a decision. Score: Athletics, 3; Athletics, 1.

NEW YORK STOCKS MADE A RECOVERY

Signs of Improvement in Trade Inspired More Hopeful Feeling.

DEALINGS LIMITED

Profit-Taking Sales in Evidence - Bank Statement Rather Disappointing.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The most direct influence brought to bear upon the stock market today was from abroad. London reported selling there by Paris which was attributed to unsatisfactory financial conditions in Russia. American stocks were depressed sharply in London. Speculation here was likewise in evidence of a desire among traders to take the initiative on either side, and at the opening the list followed the line of least resistance in the English market. At the lower range a better demand arose and the decline was quickly cancelled. The movement thereafter was narrow and variable, with a majority of slight losses at the end.

IRREGULARITY IN MONTREAL LIST

Pronounced Strength Shown by Twin City - Some Weak Spots.

MONTREAL, May 16.—The local market today was dull with trading at a low ebb. Only twenty-five securities were dealt in, exclusive of mining shares, and in all but five trading did not run into three figures. Influenced by a letter received in London and an easier feeling in New York the opening here was for the most part unchanged. A few securities were offered fractionally lower, but after a stagnant session the list closed at about Friday's level. Brazilian offerings were higher at 77 1/2 and on light trading advanced to 77 1/2. The last sale was at 77 1/2 and it closed that price bid, 1 1/2 higher than on the day previous. Twin City was 7 1/2 better at the opening at 106 and sold 1/2 lower at 105 1/2, but recovered later to the opening price. It was bid up to 107 at the close. A higher bid upon the opening at 122 3/4 for C.P.R. was unchanged. During the morning it was slightly easier at 122 1/2, but the last sale showed no change for the day. Laurentide sold unchanged at 17. Toronto sold one better at 13 1/2 and 1/4 better at 14.

MINING MARKET SOMEWHAT LOWER

Reaction Was Natural Owing to the Recent Quick Advance.

The mining market was irregular on Saturday and somewhat lower. Big Dome sold off to $27. This was a natural reaction after the quick advance. The rest of the list was steady, with a good demand for most of the stocks. Next week should see a higher and more active market. Peterson Lake sold at $21.4. There has been considerable selling of this stock by traders who expected an advance after the dividend, but very little stock is coming out. The statement will be out shortly and will probably show about $25,000 on hand. It must be remembered that this statement was made up before the last cash payments were made, and the real cash position of the company will be very much better when the statement will show. It is said that the new syndicate taking over the Gold leads will start active development work, and it is almost safe to say that a good find will be made before long. Peterson Lake will no doubt discount this, as they stand to gain, no matter what happens.

KANSAS MENACED BY HESSIAN FLY

Wheat Rallied Swiftly at Chicago on Report of Extensive Damage.

CHICAGO, May 16.—The addition of Kansas to the region threatened with serious crop losses from Hessian fly, had considerable to do today with a swift rally in wheat. At one time May delivery showed an advance. The market, however, was not so buoyant as last night. Other speculative articles, too, all made net gains—corn 1/4 to 1/2, oats 1/4 to 1/2, and provisions 1/4 to 1/2.

Receipts of farm produce at the St. Lawrence market on Saturday in some degree exceeded the demand. On the day market only a few loads were offered, but in the north building there were a large number of loads gathered from the trees and mixed produce, and on the basket market there was a liberal supply of but fresh dressed poultry. There was an active trade in round hams, as there was a large attendance of buyers. It was one of the best attended markets in many weeks.

Saturday closed a week of considerable improvement in the local stock market. Business was of a limited nature, but the support was substantial in all the active issues. Bread was national reductions from best prices. Twin City came into more prominence with an advance to 107. Little stock came out on the advance and it is again surmised that an increase in dividend may not be far off.
