THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

A FERRY EPISODE

Despite the fact that the mill-women are not paying unauthorized parties for picking up loose logs, Wm. Lung started out on the pickup this morning. She got a good-sized log fast in her wheel, and immediately went out of her course, apparently with the intention of delivering it at Hilyard's wharf. As there was no body on that wharf ringing a bell, and as the weather was foggy, she finally abandoned her log and followed the sound of the bell at her own wharf. Passengers

Sir Hilton's Sin.

BY GEORGE MANVILLE FENN, Author of "Black Blood," "A Woman Worth Winning," "Master of Ceremonies," "The New Mistress," "The Meeting of Greeks," "Drawn Swords," Etc.

(Continued.) "You do, Sam," said the baronet, laughing. "And I'm glad of the chance to do a good turn to a couple of noble patrons who have put more a hundred into my pocket. Look here, Sir Hilton, there's plenty of time yet. I am at your service. Just you take me to the mare, and let me have a few minutes with her."

CHAPTER XV. Mephistopheles at Work.

What the trainer did was to return to the bar and swallow a glass of gin and bitter hastily before returning to his favorite seat in the hall, when he pulled out his betting-book and pencil, threw one swollen leg over the other, and began to chow the lead and try to master the figures which would not stand still to be reckoned upon. "Nice day for the races," said a voice as the door was darkened. "How are you, Sam?"

ASSERTS SOUL IS MATERIAL

It Can Be Weighed

A Boston man says the soul can be weighed. He knows this because he has tested a lot of cases before and after death. The weight this investigator gives for an average human soul is two ounces. This is the sort of fool science that some men give us. It is more to the point to tell us how to maintain a healthy body—how to get well if sick, and how to be able to do good work and keep everlastingly at it.

"A bit back," muttered the trainer, with the ghost of a grin on his stubble face, as soon as he was alone. "But like nothing—like nothing," he grumbled. "One drop in a pint pot. But let's see; let's see." He had not been immersed in his calculations again five minutes when there came a hurried step, and Lady Lisle's agent came in, looking ghastly.

"What's that?" said the trainer, looking up. "That fifty I put on Jim Crow. I'll put it on La Sylphide instead." "Too late, sir. Bet booked. I never alter my entries. What's the matter?" "I thought Jim Crow was such a perfectly safe horse, but I hear—"

"So I hear, Mr. Simpkins," said the agent; "but I'm a poor man. I only bet on sure things, and I must withdraw this bet." "Too late, sir; can't be done now." "But it must; it must. I will have it back," cried the agent, fiercely. "Here, none of that," said the trainer, with a savage growl. "You come to me, and I'll have your bet, and I've booked it."

"I'll do it, my dear. Stop, one of you bring him a nip of my gin and bitters." The two maids, well accustomed to such scenes, retired into the bar; one of them returning with a glass upon a tray, and waiting to be paid, as Trimmer seized the liquor and gulped it down. "All right, my dear; my treat," said the trainer, and the next minute the two men were alone.

"Then it's true," muttered the agent, as he set down the glass. "Yes, all true. Your governor's going to ride La Sylphide, and a hundred to one he wins here. Mary, tell Mr. Simpson, here, who's dressing in No. 1." "Sir Hilton Lisle, sir," replied the maid, and Trimmer's hands dropped from the trainer's coat.

Daily Fashion Hint for Times Readers.

Novelties in auto headwear continue to appear even faster than the devotees of this world famous sport tire of each fad and fancy of fashion. Now comes a new auto hat, a jaunty, narrow brim sailor with dented crown almost half again as high as the regulation sailor crown, and rounding. It is of fine unbleached Panama, the crown soft, and the brim very stiff. Around this is draped the newest novelty in veils, a dark colored chiffon, brown, black or blue, with a deep border of various sized spots in white. Some of these veils have colored spots such as red, light blue and pink, on darker toned grounds, and these are very pleasing, meeting with a very ready sale in all departments. The veil is draped around the base of the crown, knotted to the back and left to hang free or is drawn around the neck and tied in a loose knot under the chin. The ornate design of these veils is such that they are not successfully worn over the face, though they may be hooded over the crown of the hat to give ample protection to the coiffure.

'They would have scratched La Sylphide at the last moment, for no one could ride her but Josh Rowe, and he's in a strait waist, with two nines from the 'yum. Dead certainty it was when it comes your governor to apoll as fine a thing as was ever planned.' "But he mayn't win, after all." "I shall know the mare, don't I? All he's got to do is to sit still in the saddle, give her her head, and talk to her as he always knew how, and she'll romp in past the lot. The game's up, Mr. Trimmer, and you must make the best of it. Here, don't bear no malice. Have another drink, and take one of these."

"I can't," whispered the agent. "I've too much at stake. Get to the mare at once. You, a trainer, can manage that." "You talk like a fool, I tell you. Close upon the time like this!" "Can't you work it with the gunn'or, or Lady Lisle?" "Thank you, Simpkins," said Lady Lisle, gravely. "I am greatly obliged. And I'm to just take the mare in my hand for you, said the man, who, in his excitement, could not restrain his eagerness.

Trouble of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—Stomach weakness, all ways. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me today for sample and free Book. Such Things Happen

"Yes, I tented out with three of the boys for my vacation," said the floor-walker, "and I expect I had a good time." "But don't you know whether you had or not?" was asked. "Well, we had four different thunderstorms to wet up everything in the tent. We found that none of us could cook. Three of us had boils. "One of the boys chopped his foot with the axe. "We had to carry water a mile or drink from a frog pond. "All of us were stung by hornets. "A tramp stole all our sugar and coffee. "Another tramp stole our bedding. "We went in bathing and had to pick bloodsuckers off each other. "We went fishing and caught one eel. "We ate blackberries and had the colic. "We sat out in the dew and had neuralgia. "We shot at a mark with our pistols and killed a farmer's calf. "We had fun with a bull, and he carried our tent off on his horns. "Yes, take it all around, I suppose we had a good time, but if you are willing to do me a favor, please don't mention it. If you do, some other crowd will go to the same place next year and get ahead of us." JOE KEER.

WEDDINGS

A quiet wedding took place in Portland Monday morning. The principals were Albert Scott, of Peterville, Queens county, and Miss Elizabeth Lorne Bell Scott, daughter of John and Margaret Ann Scott, of the same place. The bride was attended in a blue traveling suit and was attended by Miss Huetta Sargant, of St. John. The groom was supported by Walter A. Scott. Rev. Mr. McLaughlin performed the ceremony. Humphrey-Wilson.

Great Change in Public Opinion

In every quarter there is a manifest hostility to cough mixtures which often contain opium, cocaine and other deadening drugs. Doctors now recommend "Catarrhazone." They know that for coughs, colds, bronchitis and throat trouble it is a sure cure. Sold everywhere. It is understood that Dr. Pugsley and John E. Moore, who were appointed by the harbor committee to confer with the Dominion government on the question of placing the two dredges to work on the wharf site on West side, will take the matter up as soon as Sir Wilfrid Laurier returns from England. The C. P. R. steamer Empress of Britain passed Point Amour, seventy-five miles west of Bellisle Straits, at 6:20 o'clock yesterday morning, breaking all records by six hours. She should dock at Quebec by this evening.

Headaches Mean Your Blood Is Poisoned

If your bowels, kidneys or skin are not ridding the system of waste-matter, the blood is laden with impurities, which inflame the nerves. It is these irritated nerves that make the head ache. Powders and pills won't cure, they merely drug the nerves into unconciousness and relieve for a short time. "Fruit-a-lives" cure Headaches, Neuralgia and Nerve Pains because they purify the blood. They act directly on the three great eliminating organs—Bowels, Kidneys and Skin—and restore them to healthy action, thus ridding the system of all poisons. "Fruit-a-lives" are fruit juices—chemically changed, by the process of combining them, into a far more effective medicinal compound than the natural juices. 50c. a box—6 for $2.50. At all Dealers or from Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

Their Journey.

They started out at dawn to ride To London Town, so far away. They crossed the sea at evenside. And got in port at close of day. Then cross the bridge to London Town They rode in haste, in gathering throng. And bowed they to the king and queen, Who in their chariot dashed along. They supposed that night to pale fair: Then hoppedward went the following day. And when their mares asked them who they, They said they'd come back home to stay. —Maud Walker.

WHERE DOES THE PAPER GO? The first question asked by a general advertiser. The Telegraph and Times reach that class of people who subscribe and agree to pay for the reading privilege. These papers go first hand from the publishers by carrier and not through street boys to be left in office or store by purchaser after reading. Common sense teaches that every paper passed into homes direct will be read. The Telegraph and Times are home papers. Do they contain your advertisement?

THE POLICE

Perhaps the first fact that impresses the stranger on the streets of an English city is the absolute supremacy of the police officer. When he steps into the street and raises his hand, traffic ceases for the moment. When he tells the crowd to move on, it moves. It may chaff him good-naturedly—but it moves. This state of affairs is in part due to the Englishman's inherent respect for the law and in part to the knowledge that if he does not respect it the court will teach him the lesson.

disastrous for Britain in branches of sport long unchallenged. This year the open championship at golf was won by a Frenchman; the court tennis championship went to the United States; in rowing the Belgian eight retained the Grand Challenge Cup; Australia secured the laurels in lawn tennis; the South Africans repeated the wonderful success of the New Zealanders at football; a Russian holds the wrestling championship; the blue ribbon of the turf passed to an Irish-American, and the Lincoln Handicap and Chester Cup were won by French horses. This is a heavy list of losses and Great Britain will have to get a move on if they are to be, even in part, retrieved.

BIG STICK WANTED

The proposition submitted at the Hague conference declaring against the forcible collection of international debts received a severe blow when it was announced that Venezuela refused to be bound by the Hague tribunal's award of $2,000,000 to Belgian creditors. President Castro evidently feels that he can play the game of repudiation under the protection of the Monroe doctrine, despite the fact that President Roosevelt has warned the southern republics that they must behave themselves in order to have that doctrine applied. The situation must be very embarrassing to the American representatives at the Hague conference. The Belgian award was made at Washington, and of course the United States government assumed that it would be acceptable to Venezuela. The present situation, therefore, concerns the United States nearly as much as it does the Belgian creditors. Having in mind the offensive interference of the United States in behalf of Venezuela on a former occasion, Great Britain may well view with complacency the present situation.

In his address before the Maritime Medical Association yesterday President Asherton declared the necessity of medical inspection of schools, more and better playgrounds and more attention to the physical welfare of children, especially of young girls at a certain stage of their physical development. He emphatically asserted that if there cannot be proper playgrounds around a school there should be less study in the school. Dr. Asherton dealt very plainly also with the question of transmitting tubercular tendencies or diseases, or lunacy or criminal tendencies of any kind through the marriage of persons who should not be permitted to marry. The address is calculated to attract attention and provoke wide-spread discussion.

The following item of interest is from the Toronto World: "Alexander Doll, consulting engineer of Detroit, has been appointed by this city to report on the question of the establishment of a municipal plant for the distribution of electric energy. He was in consultation with Mayor Coatsworth, City Engineer Rust and Engineer C. B. Smith on Saturday morning, and will commence his investigation immediately with a view to reporting an early date. The report will cost the city $5,000."

A Paris journal says:—"President Roosevelt has lost some of his humber prestige, some of his tactful prestige. He has talked too much, meddled in too many matters and intervened in too many negotiations which did not concern him. He has caused his portrait to be printed too often in the illustrated papers." To add to the greatness of his offence this reckless writer says nice things about the Japanese. Where is the fleet at present?

The Nova Scotia government won a decided victory in Hants county. The prohibition issue, which was raised by the opposition did them no good at all. The government candidate had a larger majority than that of Hon. Arthur Drysdale at the general elections. Evidently, the opposition is not making much headway in Nova Scotia.

The radical free traders appear to be in the saddle in English politics at the present time. They have turned down for the time the All Red Line project, and are disposed to boast about it. They are making no end of trouble for the government, as will be seen later.

The Globe appears to have discovered that New Brunswick is on the verge of a financial crisis. This advertisement in its editorial columns will no doubt be appreciated by those who desire the province well advertised. But where is the crisis?

British Columbia is to try the experiment of getting work-people through the agency of the Salvation Army. The Army has undertaken to bring to that province a thousand suitable agricultural laborers and domestic servants.

THE PILOT

By Charles Stewart Humbert. He has passed the horizon line—The far West where the sun in glory sets. We will meet him on the other side. All praise we must him here—Knew the beneficence of his presence, Saw the greatness of such manhood—Greater than all institutions—a man—His life still speaks! The primal duties of a worthy life, His heart and mind receptive To the sympathy of land and sea, His being was eloquent of good. He has entered the harbor of peace, He needs nor sun nor stars—There is no night there. The storms of life are over.

IN LIGHTER VEIN STRANGE FATALITY Mistress—Gracious! Martha, you've broken mother's plate. How did you do it? Martha—Every time I drop one, ma'am it breaks.

PLAYING WITH CHAUCER "Why, Bobby Jones! I never heard such wicked language!" "Well, Ma, Chaucer uses it." "Then, you must quit playing with him at once."

HOW SHE FELT Stella—So you kissed the young parson in the dark hall, thinking it was your brother. You must have felt awfully cheap when you discovered your mistake. Mabel—Cheap! Why, I felt like a Friday remnant at a Monday bargain sale.

FOLLOWING HIS NOSE Church—See that man going along with his head in the air, sniffing with his nose? Gotham—Yes, I know him. I suppose he believes in taking the good, pure ozone? "No, he's hunting for an automobile garage, I believe."

THE "THINKHETHTHINKERS" "I've got the greatest respect, began Wiseman, for the man who says what he thinks." Yes, interrupted Duhley, who prided himself on his candor, that's me exactly. And, went on Wiseman, meaningly, the greatest contempt for the man who only says what he thinks he thinks.

HE WAS BUSY. "The justice, as the trial of a certain case was about to begin, started and said suddenly: "But there are only 11 jurors in the box. Where is the twelfth?" "The foreman rose and held up his hand with a soothing gesture. "It's all right, your honor," he said respectfully. The twelfth jurymen had to go away on business, but he has left his verdict with me."

CHARLIE REMEMBERED HER A young woman of social prominence and respectability was to unite with the church in her home town, and desired the ordinance of baptism by immersion in the river, desiring the primitive custom of going to the river. Among the number gathered to witness the baptism was a nice little boy friend, Charlie, about four years old. The proceedings were entirely new to the child, and he looked on with strange curiosity as the candidate was led into the river. The spring freshets had made the river somewhat turbulent, and it was with difficulty that the minister maintained his footing. During the following week the young woman called at the home of his family, and after the usual greetings said to the little boy as she extended her hand: "Come here, Charlie, and see me. You do not know who I am do you?" she continued: "Yes, indeed, I do," said the boy. "You is that woman that went in swimmin' with the minister on Sunday."

MILLERTON'S PROGRESS (Newcastle Advocate.) Millerton has now two lumber mills in operation and these give employment to at least seventy men. The larger of the two was erected by the Renous Lumber Co., and has been running for some time. This mill employs between thirty and forty hands, and is doing good work. The mill has a rotary, lath and shingle machine. This enterprise company are to be complimented on the success their mill has met with since the start.

The other mill was completed last week, and ran for a few hours, giving perfect satisfaction. It was built by an American firm, Vanderbeck & Co., of which the genial John Vanderbeck of Millerton is manager. This mill is also of rotary pattern, with lath and shingle machines and will employ between twenty-five and thirty-five hands. It is now running steadily. Millerton thus has two new industries which will assist materially in furnishing employment and prosperity to the community.

W. L. Douglas Union Made $5.00 Shoes For Men

While the high price of leather will make it impracticable for other manufacturers to provide as good shoes as formerly, W. L. This will make it especially desirable for those who have never tried W. L. PULPWOOD AND ITS PROBLEMS
(Staff Correspondence of the Toronto Globe.)

FREDERICTON, July 13—Conditions in New Brunswick are somewhat different from those prevailing in Quebec. The former province the pulpwood export industry, so far, is an offshoot of the lumbering industry, though in Quebec, a considerable amount of pulp is made for export. Roughly speaking, the forest area of New Brunswick is in the province and comprises an area of about 10,000 square miles of land. Of this the greater part, or, at any rate, all the spruce is under license. Black spruce in the predominant timber, and in most sections its reproduction, where ordinary precautions are taken, is fairly rapid. Except in a few instances where the spruce from various causes is of stunted growth and there are no other trees in quantity and quality equal to that of commercial value, pulpwood is distinct from any other kind of wood not allowed to be cut on crown lands. The regulations provide that nothing can be cut on crown lands that will not make a log at least eighteen feet in length and ten inches at the small end. The effect of these regulations is that the total of the pulpwood proper and cordwood—no distinction being made between the two—October last was 10,800 cords. The spruce logs cut for the use of the pulp mills are measured by the foot, and not by the cord.

NO WASTE IN THIS.
In some cases the logs are made into deals for export or home consumption, the branches and other small portions of the trees being used for the making of pulp. The pulp and paper makers themselves claim that their methods are more economical and more in the interests of forest preservation than those of the lumberman. The latter, they say, simply takes from a tree just what will make logs for manufacture into timber of required sizes, leaving the branches and smaller portions lying around invitingly for forest fire. Moreover, the sawmills, they contend, add to this waste by the rejection of considerable quantities of material, which is either burned or thrown away. On the contrary, the pulp and paper men say that they use almost every portion of the tree, leaving very little waste in the forests and practically none at the mills.

COMPLICATED TRADE.
New Brunswick deals have a steady market in Britain, some two-thirds of the output, it has been estimated, going to that country, and a large proportion of it being shipped direct on steamers loaded at the mills. Some pulp is also forwarded when the market warrants it, but this is not regarded as a steady line of trade owing to several conditions, one of which is that the United States, in the market of which Canadian pulp is practically barred owing to the duty against it at times controls the British market with pulp made from Canadian wood.

PRATISE FOR ONTARIO'S FIRE RANGING.
As in Quebec and some portions of Ontario through which The Globe representative travelled, there is found a quickening interest in the question of forest preservation, a dread of fire and its destructiveness being particularly pronounced. Serious attention is being given to this matter. The Globe's representative heard very warm words of praise in New Brunswick for Ontario's system of fire-rangings and forest reserves, inaugurated by the Liberal administration. One precaution taken by New Brunswick as a safeguard for their forest wealth seems worthy of emulation elsewhere. It is that of sending out with all railway construction parties a surveyor, who selects the sites of camps and whose orders as to the location of necessary fire precautions against these spreading, their quenching when the camp moves on, etc., must be obeyed. The idea seems to have originated at the time of the federal government's decision to build the Transcontinental Railway, which crosses some sections of New Brunswick's forest lands. It has been put into effect with good results, and it is to be maintained. In one respect New Brunswick is at a disadvantage in comparison with Quebec in regard to pulp and paper making, and that is in its lack of water powers, which are so numerous in Quebec. However, in Nova Scotia, and in fact has coal in her own borders which is quite good enough for steam purposes, and is being used by the Intercolonial Railway and others. These fields are being developed rapidly, and their output is finding a ready market.

CHILDREN THROU TO PUBLIC PLAYGROUNDS

Crowds of happy children continue to make the most of the play grounds of the Centennial school, where, under the supervision of the playgrounds committee, amusements of all kinds are now in full running order. The basket ball teams are now provided with an 80-foot court and exciting contests are the order of the day. It is proposed to allow the basket ball enthusiasts an additional hour's practice by permitting them to use the court in the evening. The physical culture classes under Miss Greaves are well patronized and making progress. Every afternoon there is a flag drill in addition to the other amusements. The committee desire to thank Mrs. Magee, of Quispemac, for a bouquet of flowers.

MR. BOURASSA PAYS ATTENTION TO BOTH POLITICAL PARTIES
Member for Labelle, Speaking at Montmagny, Criticises Liberal and Conservatives With Equal Freedom—Says There is Much Corruption at Ottawa.

(Special Correspondence, Toronto Globe.)
MONTMAGNY, Que., July 13—Although fully fifteen hundred people from Montmagny and Quebec city turned out this afternoon to hear Mr. Henri Bourassa discuss political affairs, he disappointed them in that he refused to make the expected announcement of his departure into provincial affairs. But while he refused to commit himself, he made it pretty clear that he was turning his eyes towards the Quebec legislature, and left a strong impression amongst his hearers that so soon as the provincial elections are called he will be found in the fray, playing his usual low hand in his address to Bourassa as scored both political parties with merciless severity, and indicated that his hopes were to arouse sufficient interest among the young men of this province to create a public opinion strong enough to enforce clean government.
It was a typical French-Canadian audience which gathered in the market place, under the shadow of the parish church. As is always the case here, the speakers were followed with the most respectful attention, but it could not be called an enthusiastic meeting. There were signs of dissent to anything Mr. Bourassa said in defence of his independent course, and at times he was interrupted by slight applause. The attitude of the audience, however, seemed to be interested and expectant, rather than enthusiastic. But the meeting demonstrated one thing, and that is that Mr. Bourassa's strength in his province is growing.
Although the meeting was called by Armand Laverge, that he might give an account of his work at Ottawa to his constituents, he was almost lost sight of and his brief speech was heard with something like impatience, so great was the anxiety to hear the member for Labelle.

MR. BOURASSA.
Mr. Bourassa continued his role as an independent critic of all parties. He declared that the liberals at Ottawa were not fulfilling their promises of 1896, and that there was today as much corruption at Ottawa as there ever was in the conservative days. He said that since 1896, he never had anyone to expose them, as he and Mr. Laverge did the faults of the Laurier administration. He also criticized the Gouin administration, and demanded that Hon. M. Gouin, after turning Mr. Parent out of office, should do away with the abuses which were the prerogative of the ex-premier. He was also particularly severe in his denunciation of the federal ministers who told the people of Quebec that they must support Laurier and all his government in order to protect the French-Canadians against the fanaticism of Ontario. He declared earnestly that he had spoken in Ontario and in places in Canada than any of the "vocal valets of the Laurier government" and had found no such fanatic opposition to the French-Canadians as certain of the ministers sought to make the people of Quebec believe existed. "But," said he, "how can we expect the English-speaking majority to support us? Therefore if we are to rule the Dominion if we do not rule ourselves well? There is a much smaller element of English-speaking people in Quebec than in Ontario, and there are always a few who for political purposes are ready to sell out the French-Canadian cause. Therefore if we are to enjoy the full confidence and participation of our fellow citizens in the government of the country we must first rule our own home, Quebec, well. That may be a reason to attract me to provincial affairs. I have not decided my course as yet, being too busy a man to afford the luxury of discussing issues before they arise."

QUEBEC LOCAL AFFAIRS.
Mr. Bourassa said he could see no reason for a provincial election, but, on the contrary, there were the gravest reasons why there should not be one. In the face of the changes hanging over the heads of Hon. Messrs. Turgeon and Prevost, he said, and since Mr. Gouin could ask the lieutenant governor grant, disallow, or that so great was the prestige of Mr. Gouin, that for years to come Sir Wilfrid Laurier's proposal to give the people had not paid proper attention to the affairs of Quebec. Without desiring to fight Mr. Gouin's war, he said, he would not be surprised if the crowd after affairs so that there should be more

SAY COST IS TOO HEAVY
And for This Season British Government Decides Against Subsidy for All Red Line.
Montreal, July 17.—The Star's London correspondent cables: Quickly following the Golden Club's attack on the All Red project and the strenuous opposition of the extreme free trade group in the commons, it was announced today in the cabinet ministerial organ, the Westminster Gazette, that the committee of the cabinet, consisting of Messrs. Lloyd George, Sydney Buxton, Walter Runciman and Winston Churchill has decided against the British subsidy, for which Sir Wilfrid Laurier asked, chiefly on the ground of cost. It has been obvious for past weeks that Mr. Lloyd George's friendly attitude towards the proposal could only be put into action after a tariff fight between ministers, both in the cabinet, parliament and in the press. Thus last night the London Star, which especially represents militant radicalism, said: "Sir Wilfrid Laurier's proposal involves a shipping bounty pure and simple. We are asked to protect certain traders against competition. If we consent how can we refuse similar privileges to other traders. The truth is the 'All Red' route is a slippery slope for the feet of a free trade government. We should open our door to a whole horde of protectionists clamoring for their share of the spoil."
Questioning a high Canadian authority today on the above I received the following reply: "Of course this may not be the end of the matter. A Canadian prime minister, who, as in the case of the British North American bill, is able to make a British cabinet turn down its own Wineson Churchill, and Churchill's pledges to a provincial iron minister, may find some

THE BATTLE OF THE O'BRIENS
James O'Brien, Liberal, Defeated Everett O'Brien, Conservative, in Hants By-Election Yesterday.

Halifax, N. S., July 17.—The election in Hants county today to fill the vacancy in the local legislature caused by the appointment of Hon. Arthur Drysdale to the supreme court, resulted in the election of James O'Brien, ex-chief of the county, with a majority of 158 as compared with 134 which was Drysdale's majority over Everett O'Brien in the general election last year.
The Conservative candidate lost 40 in Windsor, which was Sheriff O'Brien's home. Everett O'Brien came from Noel in East Hants, where he also lost as compared with the general election. Prohibition was a leading issue, that policy being advertised by the opposition as against the government's temperance legislation, which was defended by the Liberals as advanced. The voting shows that prohibition had practically no effect for the vote polled was in the main on strictly party lines. The changes were immaterial, but so far as known it can at least be said that none occurred because of prohibition. Both sides had a large number of speakers in the county and the campaign was lively and interesting.

APPEAL TO YOUNG MEN.
"I have not the presumption to try to influence any party in Quebec," said Mr. Bourassa, "but I want to see all young men who have not yet joined any political party to join in a new movement in Quebec, not to revolutionize anything, but simply to create a sound public opinion that would compel any government to work for the best interests of the province and not for their own personal good."
Proceeding to discuss general politics Mr. Bourassa sharply criticized the immigration policy at Ottawa, relating that the government were permitting the formation of immigration companies to enrich Mr. Sifton and his friends, or bringing in blackguards from the jails of Europe to settle in the west, and later on become masters of the destinies of Canada. The Liberals, he said, denounced him for this as a narrow fanatic, who would raise the people of Ontario against Quebec. But he denied this and declared he had full confidence that the English-speaking people of Canada would, as the stronger party, be generous enough to give the French-Canadians their full share in the work to build up Canada. "Those valets of the government," he said, "who committed the spirit of toleration and fair play of our English brethren. How could the English have attained such power if they did not respect all people? I love this English domination because I respect it, but the day it becomes an emblem of tyranny or fanaticism I shall condemn it. If there is any feeling of an allegiance I hold responsible for it those Liberals who say we must abuse ourselves because of the intolerance of the English-Canadians."

CORRUPTION AT OTTAWA.
As to the politicians, Mr. Bourassa said they never hesitated to knife their leaders if it suited their own interests, but when only the public interests were concerned they declared the leaders must be supported to the end. The Liberals, he said, had since 1896 done everything they had denounced the Conservatives for, only on a larger scale, and there was more corruption at Ottawa to day than in the conservative days, with this difference, that today they were himself and Mr. Laurier. He said that he would support him for the fact that he could not trust the men with whom the premier had surmised to be connected.
Mr. Bourassa then turned to provincial affairs, and dealt at some length with the two ministers who were expected to get that the evidence so far proved either too little or too much. But it was sufficiently strong to make it impossible for Mr. Gouin to try and snap victory from the people before a serious investigation had proved the guilt or innocence of the ministers, who, when accused of intrigues with Belgian barons, selling timber limits too cheaply, with a rake-off for the "casse electorale" (election fund), and even going so far as to attempt to reply merely by calling an election. He believed that there was a "casse electorale" and that it was a disgrace that the settlers were not getting justice, while the lumbermen were getting too much, and it was this sort of thing he wanted to compel Hon. Mr. Gouin to put a stop to.
Throughout Mr. Bourassa was listened to with close attention, and at times he was interrupted with applause, a rather rare thing at open-air meetings in this province. He was tendered something in the nature of an ovation by the crowd after the meeting.

and was attended by many who admired him for his fine qualities and who sympathized with his family in their bereavement.
Service was conducted by Rev. J. Edward Hand, of St. James' church, and interment was in Cedar Hill cemetery. The sons and grandsons of the deceased were pall-bearers. Among floral tributes was a very handsome anchor from J. H. Scamwell & Co., for whom he had piloted many a steamer.

THEY DON'T KNOW CANADA
The Lamentable Ignorance of Two Public School Teachers in England.
(Toronto News.)
Inspector Hughes gave to the reporter of The News this morning two remarkable incidents indicating the need of educating the people of the old land in regard to Canada.
"Two English Public School teachers," he said, "who knew that I was from Canada, actually supposed that our flag was the Stars and Stripes."
"Another case was that of a leading manufacturer, the largest, in fact, in England in his line, who stated that on account of the customs tariff he had been obliged to start a branch in Washington."

HYMN WRITER DEAD
The "British Weekly" announces the death, at Barrackpore, a few miles to the north of Calcutta, of a lady who occupies a modest though not insignificant place among the hymn-writers of the last generation—Mary Eliza Leslie, author of "They are gathering homeward from every land." Miss Leslie was the daughter of the Rev. Andrew Leslie, a Baptist missionary well known in Bengal, and was born at Monghyr seventy-three years ago. She lived in Calcutta for a long period and was known there as one of the most active and devoted workers in connection with various religious and philanthropic agencies in the city. She was an excellent linguist. Her published works included 3 volumes of verses, published long ago, and her contributions to hymnology are recorded in Julian's Dictionary.

"MARINE" IS GROGGY

George LaBlanche, Who Was Once a Well Known Figure in the Ring, is About Down and Out.

Poor old George La Blanche, who was around Bangor a good deal a couple of years ago, and is well known as "The Marine," is down on his luck and pretty near down and out according to a Manchester, N. H. despatch. La Blanche has been in Manchester some time according to the despatch, and has been aided by friends, but was finally forced to call on the police to give him shelter. In his day he was a well known prize fighter, and while in Bangor he went on a couple of times at exhibitions. Like so many others who found fame in the ring, however, George's luck did not last and he now seems to be "on his uppers."

McEachern Making Good (Fredericton Gleaner, July 17.) It took a battery of New Brunswick ball players to win one of the games in the Aroostook Valley League yesterday and they were men with a whole lot of baseball in them and who were, it seems, foolishly let loose by the management of other teams.

As if to make it all the more marked the two teams which had let out the two aforesaid provincial players last their games yesterday.

At Presque Isle, the Caribou team, which Finnamore lately joined, defeated the Presque Isle team by a score of 6 to 1. Arthur Finnamore caught the curves of Don McEachern, the St. John twirler, who was let out of the Presque Isle team and who had the pleasure of beating his old team mates. The New Brunswick battery proved the genuine goods and the Presque Isle suggestion only got one lone run in the game.

Two pitchers were used by the Presque Isle team. One of them was Light, Dover, who succeeded to Don McEachern's job, while the other was Orestis Fish, who replaced Mills of St. John, doing the backstopping.

The plan is to raise a fund of $500,000, one cent from each of the colleges and to build a club-house of eight or nine stories, the lower floors to be for general use, while one floor will be devoted to the exclusive use of each college. Allston Sargent, secretary of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology club is the originator of the plan.

NEWEST OF WRECKING STEAMERS

(Shipping Illustrated, N. Y., June 29.) As stated in Shipping Illustrated last week, the trial trip of the new steamer Relief, on Thursday, June 20, to which a number of friends of the Merritt & Chapman Derrick and Wrecking Co., were invited, was a particularly auspicious occasion and many compliments were paid to the representatives of her owners and builders. The Relief is a steel steamer about 220 tons gross, being 290 feet long over all, 30 feet moulded beam and 20 feet moulded depth to main deck. Her equipment embodies the best modern appliances for aiding vessels in distress, while her size will enable her to go to any part of the world. No practical appliance resulting from the owner's long experience in salvage work has been omitted, and it is claimed that this steamer for the business intended has no equal afloat. She has been put in command of Capt. Walter G. Davis, formerly master of the steamer Rescue, in the same service. He is a native of Yarmouth, N. S., and spent his earlier years in the West India trade, in which he became thoroughly familiar with the keys and reefs. [Captain Davis is well known in St. John.]

A HAPPY EDITOR

(New Glasgow Chronicle.) Andrew McEachern of Meadowbrook farm, Rocklin, sent the editor a box of beautiful strawberries, the largest that we ever saw. Mr. McEachern has our thanks for the strawberries which are worth the best of thanks. No one fails to appreciate what a celebrated English bishop said of the strawberry. He said that he had no doubt but that God could make a better berry, but he was sure he never did. Besides, we never forget that the word "Fraser" means "strawberry." A gentleman in France in the olden times became famous for the quality of his strawberries, and supplied the king's table with them. The king, to show his appreciation of the gentleman's skill and the merits of his production, bestowed upon him a title, which in the French language meant "Count Strawberry" or "Count Fraise." In fact the Gaelic pronunciation of the name Fraser is very like that of the French. From this old French Court the whole Fraser clan have descended, the originators of the clan in Scotland having come there from France. If a Fraser does not like strawberries he has reason to be very quiet about his tastes. On the same day, Mr. Geo. Holmes, of McEachern's Mills came in and gave the editor a handful of cigars, and the odor of cigar smoke and the aromatic subtleties of strawberries were intermingled in the sanctum all morning.

TROUBLES OF A TRUTHFUL WOMAN.

(Ladies' Field.) It is no exaggeration to say that a more or less truthful woman is looked upon with grave suspicion. What is more, nobody believes her. If she quite truthfully pronounces her age to be twenty-nine; everybody at once says she must be at least thirty-five; while if she should ever be caught into admitting the number of proposals she had in her youth it will only confirm the popular impression that she had been very lucky to catch a husband at all.
