PERPETUAL PEACE IN EUROPE IS PLEDGED

GERMANY IS WELCOMED TO LEAGUE

Stresemann and Briand Promise to Outlaw War SCENE IS TENSE

Peaceful Arbitration to Replace Armed Conflict in Disputes Hereafter

GENEVA, Sept. 10.—Germany was received into the League of Nations today amid scenes of European reconciliation which, in their fire of enthusiasm, have been unexampled since the armistice.

Germany and France, through foreign ministers, Stresemann and Briand, committed themselves to perpetual peace, and solemnly engaged the honor of their nations henceforth never to draw the sword, but to settle disputes by arbitration or compromise.

The German delegates were kept busy shaking hands with other delegates, right up to the time President Nitschke called the body to order.

Stresemann afterwards took the podium and in a speech of 15 minutes, he welcomed Germany to the League of Nations.

GEORGES MICHEL DOES CROSSING IN 11 HOURS

Clips Over 1-2 Hours Off German's Mark FOURTH IN YEAR

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Frenchman, Georges Michel, today swam the English Channel from Cape Gris Nez, France, to England, in 11 hours and five minutes. This constitutes a new record.

Michel, according to his companions, started from Cape Gris Nez at 8.26 o'clock last evening and arrived in St. Margaret's Bay at 7.31 o'clock this morning. The old record was 12 hours and 43 minutes, and was made by Ernst Vierkötter, a German swimmer, August 30.

Previously Gertrude Ederle, the New York girl swimmer, went across in 14 hours and 31 minutes. The only other swimmer to conquer the channel this year was Mrs. Millie Gade Corson, of New York, who on August 28, made it in 15 hours, 28 minutes.

All four of the swimmers who have negotiated the grim stretch of water this year started from Cape Gris Nez, France. Michel landed in St. Margaret's Bay, midway between Dover and Deal.

When he took the water, last evening, conditions were favorable and there was good swimming, but in the last two miles, when the wind began to stiffen, Michel in addition to his own effort, had to contend with a fast tide and a heavy sea.

CHANGES IN RED CROSS PLANNED; MEETING HERE

Suggested Executive Be Reduced From 45 to 10 Members

QUARTERLY SESSION HEARS REPORTS

Creation of New Brunswick Council Is Before Provincial Members

A proposed new constitution was discussed at the opening session of the quarterly meeting of the New Brunswick division of the Red Cross, held this morning in the Church of England Institute, with the president, F. T. Short, in the chair. The principal changes in the constitution provide for the cutting down of the executive from 45 to 10 members, the creation of a provincial council, composed of one representative from each branch, and the payment of all membership fees to the provincial council.

INSPIRING ADDRESS

The meeting was opened by Rev. J. S. Bonnell, who read a part of the 14th chapter of Luke, gave a short inspiring address and led in prayer. He stressed the ideal of the Red Cross and its challenge to the people of today. It must be kept in mind, he said, that the work was the same as it was during the war, only being carried on in different channels, and this was its challenge to service. Today, instead of caring for the wounded on the battle field they were looking after the health of the community and bettering living conditions.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS

President Short said one of the important matters to come before the meeting was that of the division becoming self-supporting. At present it required $1,000 a year to carry on the work, and this amount should be raised in the province instead of depending on grants from the central office. Of this amount $3,000 was for office expenses, $4,000 for home nursing, and $2,000 for junior red cross.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

Miss Ethel Hasep Jarvis, secretary, reported on the work since the last quarterly meeting in June. She gave details of the busiest summer ever spent at the depot by herself and assistant. In connection with the land settlement program 44 letters of recommendation had been written to the 86 families and to the neighboring institutes and branches asking for a friendly interest in the newcomers. These letters were very much appreciated.

Visits made to various places on Red Cross work were told of and interest aroused in the peace-time program of the Red Cross. Since the beginning of the year 16 lectures had been given. Collection boxes for the sick and disabled soldiers now numbered 2,100. Of this amount, Miss Jarvis said, the Women's Institutes, always the strong right arm of the Red Cross, had taken 942. She felt sure the "Armistice returns" would be very much worth the effort. The report continues:

LOCAL RELIEF

"A good deal of the time at the office has been taken up in investigating local relief cases. As many as seven applicants have been heard in one afternoon. For this work the Saint John Red Cross has donated $100 to the divisional office, which of course has been a great help with the funds. It is not now the policy to give out civic relief, but the cases have to be referred to the proper authorities. Maternity cases and illness have been cared for by the local branch, and clothing distributed to the needy children, etc.

"Another Red Cross service has been the looking after the selling of the soldiers' work. We feel that the stimulus and interest this given to the men while laid aside is of tremendous benefit. This work has been carried on in a larger scale by the hospital committee at the exhibition.

"We have received donations from Nerepis, Saint John, Beaver Harbor, Central Greenwich, Russiagomish and

Entry to League

GENEVA, Sept. 10.—The last three or four years in Europe, have been the overture to a play which is now beginning, Dr. Gustav Stresemann, the German Foreign Minister remarked to the newspaper correspondents, last night, in alluding to the significance of Germany's formal entry into the League of Nations. "I hope that play will lead to the reconstruction of Europe, so necessary after all that Europe has suffered during the horrible war."

Dr. Stresemann declared that this reconstruction was only possible by co-operation and good faith. Referring to the March crisis, when Germany failed to elect to the league, the minister said they had all witnessed what they all felt to be a disaster, yet had left Geneva in the hope that all would be settled.

"I am gratified," he added, "that the policy, which moved by way of Locarno and led to Geneva, has proved so successful."

CLARKSVILLE, Tex., Sept. 10.—Two bank robbers met two Texas rangers yesterday. Both bandits are dead.

The robbers were surprised when they attempted to flee from the Red River National Bank here, with several thousand dollars in currency.

Ranger Capt. Tom Hickman, who was outside the bank, called upon the men to drop a suitcase containing the loot, when they started for their automobile. One of the men attempted to draw a pistol, Hickman said. The ranger captain, Ranger Stuart Stanley and Constable Ivy opened fire and the robbers fell mortally wounded.

Bastarache-Gallant.
Special to The Times-Star
MONCTON, Sept. 9.—A pretty wedding was solemnized Tuesday morning, Sept. 7, at 7:30, in the Catholic church at Grand Digue, when Miss Bella Bastarache, a popular young lady of that place, was united in marriage to J. A. Gallant, a popular young man of the same place, who was attired in a traveling costume of sand French charmere with accessories to match and carrying a white prayer book, entered the church to the strains of the Bridal March by Lohengrin, played by Miss Blanche Arsenault. Miss Regina Gallant of Springvale, Me., sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and was becomingly gowned in pink gorgette crepe. The groom was supported by Reid C. LeBlanc, of Moncton.

Following the wedding ceremony, nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Mr. Belliveau. Many friends and relatives of the bride and groom were present at the church to witness the ceremony. At the conclusion of the mass, the wedding party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gallant, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served.

She Bared Her Soul!

To the man whose kindly tolerance and sympathy have put thousands back on the road to happiness

AND she was but one of hundreds who have done the same—told secrets she would not tell her mother—or perhaps her husband—but in the confessional of the Judge's chambers she revealed all. Her story and the stories of scores of others—men as well as women—are now being retold for society's good by Judge Ben B. Lindsey in the most candid and startling series of articles ever published in any magazine. Reasoning from the stories of real life told him in court day after day, Judge Lindsey has reached certain conclusions, and now he boldly asks: "Is a new code of sex morals being created?" It is a startling question—but a question that has heretofore existed unasked in the minds of all intelligent men and women; and it is no more startling than the evidence that Judge Lindsey offers in his great series of articles entitled: "The Moral Revolt."

SAINT JOHN, N. B., SEPTEMBER 10, 1926.

DEVELOP THE PORT.

His Worship, Mayor White voices the thought of thousands of citizens of Saint John when he says that the stage is at last completely set for vigorous and definite action in order to secure the comprehensive development of this port, the expansion of its facilities on the scale demanded by its strategic situation and its national value, and that increase of traffic which must come here unless the public interest is to be sacrificed and the natural laws of transportation violated as they have been in the past.

For more than twenty years Saint John has been building hopes on schemes of harbor development that have never been carried to completion. It has had from the leaders of both parties binding pledges regarding harbor equipment, but the plans have always been interrupted, the pledges have been broken or evaded, and the people of this, the natural Atlantic winter port of the country, who spent $2,000,000 of their own money to provide facilities for national export and import traffic, have seen freight of Canadian origin steadily diverted to the upbuilding of alien ports.

Finally, we have come to a new turn in the road. We have had from Sir Henry Thornton, from Vice-President Hangerford, and from the representative of the great Canadian wheat pool, most striking testimony as to the value of this harbor from the national standpoint, and as to the degree of expansion which is due if justice is to be done the people of Saint John, and, more-over, if Canada is to be well served in the matter of the expeditious handling of its freight.

Mayor White rightly seizes upon the significant statements of Sir Henry Thornton, his declaration in favor of a harbor trust, and his assertion that the Maritimes are entitled to special consideration. The Mayor naturally gives thought to the testimony of the wheat pool's agent before the Duncan Commission, in which he said that this harbor trust would be used up to the limit of its facilities, so far as export wheat is concerned—a statement carrying all the more weight because the speaker represented a body handling the great bulk of Canada's export grain.

Furthermore, the Mayor is impressed by the recent indications that the Canadian National Railway and the Canadian Pacific are in harmony with respect to the Saint John situation, and by the conviction of the heads of both these great systems that development here should be through a harbor trust which would permit not only of rapid port expansion but likewise of the desired measure of co-operation between the two railways, an end which every body recognizes as highly desirable, indeed vital if all interests are to be fairly served.

Sir Henry Thornton and others who appeared before the Duncan Commission in Montreal dwell upon one point which the people here have very much in mind, which is that when new legislation is prepared care must be taken to avoid any scheme which would impose charges upon shipping so high as to handicap Saint John in comparison with other harbors, Portland particularly.

Another point strongly emphasized at the Duncan hearing was that while we should have here one central harbor authority, directing development along scientific lines, having unified control of the harbor, and, sharply, alert to board enterprise and sound harbor management, the governing body must also be prepared to sell this port's advantages effectively to all those who control or influence the routing of export and import traffic. This is a most important aspect of the whole question. We have already had ample proof of how much can be effected by the proper presentation of this route to shippers in the provinces west of us, and this line of endeavor must be expanded and followed up in the fashion warranted by the dividends which we know will be reaped from that process.

In the past this port has suffered gravely from conflict of local opinion as to the right scheme of development to be followed, and perhaps still more heavily because of lack of continuity of policy at Ottawa concerning Maritime harbors, the interruptions due to changes of government and the failure of one government after another—notwithstanding the platform pledges of both—to carry into actual practice the all-Canadian transportation principle which the leaders on both sides have so often professed the utmost devotion. We in the Maritimes know, and at last the people in the other provinces have come to know, that while these professions were being repeated, and ignored, the American lake and port cities and the American railways were being enriched by a vast and increasing flow of Canadian traffic which should have been handled by Canadians to their own profit.

The Mayor rightly says that we need not await the publication of the Duncan Commission's recommendations before organizing here to take advantage of the existing situation. The Duncan Commission, it is expected will complete its work soon after election day, and will submit its proposals, which we believe will be sound and far-reaching, before the incoming federal ministry. We shall have, also, about the same time, the judgments of the Railway Commission upon several questions of which has been too long delayed.

Unless Canadian opinion is greatly misled, we shall have an early session, and certainly there will be a widespread demand for prompt and vigorous action upon public problems the consideration of which has been too long delayed. Now is Saint John's opportunity. If we are true to ourselves, and unless the next national administration plays us false, we shall be able to develop this port into one of the great Atlantic gateways of this continent. In order that we may not miss this tide, we must not only unify local opinion behind a sound plan of scientific harbor development, but we must press our claims resolutely and insistently at Ottawa and refuse to take No for an answer.

THE ENGLISHMAN'S TEA.

The English institution of afternoon tea is probably one of the main reasons for the widely-held, but not altogether accurate, opinion that Englishmen are inveterate tea drinkers. Now comes a story of a London professor who has invented a mechanism for waking those prone to oversleep themselves, and as a part of its operation, the contrivance makes a cup of tea. The knowledge that Englishmen are accustomed to drink tea first thing in the morning will probably confirm the impression as to national tea drinking proclivities, but in point of fact this matrimonial habit is a comparatively recent innovation.

The custom has been introduced from the East where the morning cup of tea has been drunk from time immemorial. There the practice is something as follows: A bearer enters the room carrying a tray on which tea, buttered toast and fruit are placed. He puts this down on a small table by the bedside and proceeds to roll up the mosquito net and tucks it under the bed. Then he takes a small cup of tea to the sleeper and awakens his master. Usually he shakes him gently by the shoulder and immediately jumps back a yard or so to avoid possible violence—European women have lived for any length of time in tropical climates are liable to have large livers and short tempers. Some of the wiser bearers have adopted the custom of shaking the sleeper's toe—a kick aimed from a recumbent position is easy to dodge. But the main thing is to get the sahib to open his eyes and immediately his glance falls on the cup of tea, all is well—the morn salutes.

On the custom of early morning tea, when once contracted, is very hard to break. Consequently Anglo-Indians returning home have introduced it into England where it has rapidly gained in popularity. The spread of this habit is well evidenced by the account of the professor's invention and will doubtless serve to confirm the impression already mentioned that the English are incorrigible tea addicts. There are worse vices.

Odds and Ends

He Touched Wood

A man there was who made this boast, "I have a throat more tough than most, I laugh at so-called Scotch or rye, All that home brewers brew I've tried, I've got a true cast iron inside. Their crackling stomachs go cash in their checks, to kickless booting gin, Of which this throat of mine's afraid. To every potion that's man-sized, I've got a mouth that is bomb-proof, No drink alive can raise its roof, My stomach's guaranteed non-skid." They said to him, "Touch wood." He did.

That's What They Were.

The local church conference was over, and the hostesses were returning from seeing the visitors off at the station. "Who did you have, Mrs. Brown?" asked Mrs. Jones. "Oh, I had a very nice minister!" replied Mrs. Brown. "Who did you have?" "Well, I had two locust preachers," Mrs. Brown said. "Oh, you mean two local preachers?" "No, I had two locust preachers," was the reply. "But locusts are those things which come in swarms and eat up every thing and—" "That's right—and I had two of them!"

Located.

The American statesman was introduced to the Scot as "one of the leading politicians of modern times and the greatest authority upon international law that the world has ever known." The Scot looked him up and down for a moment, and then asked: "From what land d'ye come?" "From the greatest country in the world," replied the statesman with a smile.

Queer Quirks of Nature

By AUSTIN H. CLARK, Smithsonian Institution.

THE Japanese edible jelly-fish is abundant in the inland sea and is also found off the coast of China. A very singular, if not indeed identical, sort is found in the Indian ocean, and closely related kinds live in the eastern Pacific and in the Mexican region, and on our coasts from North Carolina to Cape Cod.

The Japanese preserve these jelly-fishes with a mixture of alum and salt, or between the steamed leaves of a kind of oak. When distilled for food they are soaked in water and flavored with condiments, and when prepared constitute an agreeable dish.

There are several other edible kinds of jelly-fishes. One is regularly eaten in the Philippines, and in times past others were used as food in southern and western Europe, including southern Spain, as we learn from the old books on Cornwall.

PRODUCING ORATORS.

Peterboro Examiner. There is no lack of talkers in this country; parliamentary debates unmistakably prove that fact, but there is a dearth of logical, eloquent speakers with something worth while to say and to say it effectively and concisely. The education of our young people in oratory, by whatever scheme that promises fruitful results, is a stage of development that all should welcome.

GOOD-BYE TO GROUPS.

(Victoria Colonist.) We sincerely hope for the good of this country that the day when the last of group government in the federal sphere of Canada. Political groups have been demonstrated to be narrow and sectional in their views, and when weak and unscrupulous leaders, more concerned about retention of power than the general welfare of the country, are ready to purchase the support of a few groups, then the situation is deplorable.

The Political Fray

Liberal Conservative

MEIGHEN'S WAR-TIME POLICY.

(Toronto Star.) On November 16th last the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, speaking at Hamilton, declared that Canada should hold a general election before sending troops to war. In subsequent references to this declaration he said, "This is the policy of the Conservative party." Sir John Willison, in a cable to the London Times, said: "There is serious and widespread dissatisfaction among Conservatives over the declaration made by Mr. Meighen, the Conservative leader, at Hamilton, that Canada should not engage in war without the approval of the people expressed through a general election. There is no prospect of the party supporting Mr. Meighen in the policy he has announced at Hamilton. But Mr. Meighen is still head of the Conservative party. He is Premier of Canada and leader of a provisional government that is seeking endorsement at the polls. The election on September 14 affords the first opportunity the Conservative party and other electors have had to express approval or disapproval of Mr. Meighen's pronouncement at Hamilton. Supporters of Meighen candidates will indicate approval of the party's policy. The election of a majority of the Conservative party will signify that the people of Canada want a general election to be held while other British dominions are rushing troops to save the Empire. The only way to withhold approval of Mr. Meighen's un-Canadian, un-British and unintelligent policy is to defeat the candidates who stand upon his platform."

A STABLE TARIFF.

(Montreal Gazette.) The tariff, as directly affecting in some way practically all industries and all business, is too important to be left subject to the changes produced by the caballing of groups and the whims of extremists under a system that leaves the Government of the day dependent on a majority of from one to a dozen, which any little group may destroy whenever the whim seizes it or the Prime Minister undertakes to act without its consent. Such a state of affairs has existed under the King Government for the past five years, and recurrence can be prevented by the voters on polling day sending to the House of Commons a straight majority strong enough to permit of the Government having a policy and a will to make it effective.

THE NATIONAL RAILWAYS

(London Free Press.) The statements made by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King and Hon. Charles A. Dunning that the Canadian National Railway will be in danger if Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen is returned to power are almost too absurd to be denied. The Canadian National Railway would not be today a public-owned system if it were not for Mr. Meighen. When the Grand Trunk Pacific were threatened with nationalization, it was Mr. Meighen who was responsible for the policy of obtaining the system for the people. He entered upon an agreement in writing with Hon. Mr. Bennett not to repeat the ideas they contained. We have reason to believe that this rumor is well founded. We challenge Mr. Meighen. We ask him to reply.

MEIGHEN AND BRITAIN.

(Ottawa Citizen.) Nothing more distinctly separatist has been pronounced in Canada since the National movement, which allied itself with the Conservative party in 1911, than Mr. Meighen's declared policy of holding a general election on the question of military co-operation with Great Britain, before sending troops abroad in another war. In effect, Canada is to enjoy all the benefits of partnership within the league of British nations in peace time, but when the hour of peril comes again the Conservative party's policy—as pronounced at Hamilton and in Bagot county—is to hold a general election before shouldering the responsibilities of partnership. In short, to open the way to dissolve partnership.

A RUMOR AND A CHALLENGE.

(Le Soleil.) We challenge Mr. Meighen to repeat his declaration of Hamilton and Bagot county to say simply in the declarations. We know that he has been denounced by a strong group of pretended voltes-faces. Rumor is freely current that he has entered upon an agreement in writing with Hon. Mr. Bennett not to repeat the ideas they contained. We have reason to believe that this rumor is well founded. We challenge Mr. Meighen. We ask him to reply.

THE RIM OF THE LIMELIGHT

AIRY CAMPAIGN.

SALT LAKE CITY—Senator Reed Smoot of Utah has acquired a new hobby. He's an aviation enthusiast, taking a plane wherever he possibly can. He has recently flown here from Los Angeles and is now given over wholeheartedly to the prospect of doing the bulk of his campaigning for re-nomination and re-election by airplane. While the present-day airplane lacks a few of the conveniences of the observation car, particularly for baby-kissing and glad-handing purposes, it must be admitted that it covers more territory in a far more speedy fashion. Perhaps the Gentleman from Utah has solved his political problems.

WHO? WHO?

LONDON—The other day, while London was undergoing that sweet-scented exhalation which follows the national pastime of cricket, a wandering American happened to ask a young Englishman, "Who's this Jack Hobbs I hear so much about?" "When the native had

PRECIOUS.

NEW YORK—In a recent conference with President Coolidge, Will H. Hays, to whom it is the usual thing to refer as "Movie Czar," outlined a plan which provides for the preservation in a time, fire- and shock-proof vault of news films that picture historic events. Mr. Hays mentioned as examples of the sort of thing which should be placed in the vault, the flight of the first airplane, the signing of the Versailles Treaty and presidential inaugurations. "That's all very well, but who's to judge what films shall be preserved for, as the films go, posterity? If Congress is to be given the power—may a benevolent Heaven protect posterity!"

EXPLOITING VERSUS EXALTING

(Winnipeg Tribune.) Like all other young countries, we have too many people exploiting Canada, and not enough exalting her. True patriotism is a sacred thing. It runs deeper than self-interest, party feelings, or superficial flag-waving. It is a spirit of love for all that is true and honorable in the life of a nation.

A FRIENDLY PRECAUTION.

(Boston Transcript.) In deporting alien gunmen, it will, of course, be only the part of decency to see to it that they do not take their guns with them.

Just Fun

LITTLE BOY (sightseeing in Ottawa)—Hey, poppa, when are we going to see the red tape, huh, poppa?

"SOME MEN," said Uncle Ephraim, talks like they was sure of going to heaven when they ain't actually safe 'fun keepin' out o' jail."

POEMS I LOVE

"A Serenade," by Sir Walter Scott.

THIS simple song, with its revealing lover's question, loses nothing, placed beside other serenades. It has the lilt and beauty such verses should possess; and if one finds it almost too simple, he should remember that this kind of amiable loveliness is not easy of accomplishment.

Ah! County Guy, the hour is nigh, The sun has left the shade, The orange flower perfumes the bower, The breeze is on the sea, The lark's lay who trills all day, Sits hushed his partner nigh; Breeze, bird and flower confess the hour, But where is County Guy?

The village maid steals through the shade Her shepherd's suit to hear; To beauty shy, by lattice high, Singing high-born Cavalier, The star of Love, all stars above, Now reigns o'er earth and sky, And high and low the influence know— But where is County Guy?

The village maid steals through the shade Her shepherd's suit to hear; To beauty shy, by lattice high, Singing high-born Cavalier, The star of Love, all stars above, Now reigns o'er earth and sky, And high and low the influence know— But where is County Guy?

As usual the vaudeville shows played to crowded grandstand audiences. Miss May Collier, whose high diving act is replete with thrills, was forced to cancel her high dive on account of the strong wind that prevailed afternoon and evening.

With the exception of a centrepiece being stolen from a booth in the Women's Department, the day passed peacefully for the police and members. Several minor accidents, one of them a calf bite, were treated at the Saint John Ambulance Association booth. The Red Cross nursery experienced a busy but peaceful day.

Mr. Woolley, C. R. first aid organizer, gave instructive demonstrations to large audiences at 8 o'clock yesterday afternoon and again at 10 o'clock in the evening. Girl Guides and Boy Scouts assisted him.

"If Every Woman Waited to Marry Until She Was 28 There Would Be Few Mismatched Couples," Says Dorothy Dix, "For the Woman of 28 Has Judgment Enough to Make a Good Choice."

JUSTICE STRONG, of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn, advises women not to marry until they are between 28 and 30 years of age. "A Daniel, I say," second Daniel, came to judgment! No wiser counsel was ever given to girls, and they would save themselves so many greets and bitter disappointments, if they would only heed the admonition of this man who has had so much experience in adjudicating the difficulties of the mismatched.

DOROTHY DIX

FOR it is the kid marriages that make the matrimonial goats. It is the boy and girl husbands and wives who fight like the Killenny cats.

IT IS the children who rush into marriage before they are ready for it who wreck their homes with a little consideration as they establish their who keep the divorce courts busy, and fill the world with their half-orphaned babies, and the tragedies of their broken lives.

MARRIAGE is no game for children to sit in. It is a gamble even for their elders, and if these experts who have knowledge of life and who have knowledge of themselves and knowledge of the world, so often lost out, how little chance have the poor, unsophisticated little amateurs of winning!

THERE are many reasons why an early marriage almost invariably ends in disaster for a woman. To begin with, no girl in her teens is capable of picking out a husband. She hasn't enough sense. She knows too little about men. We would not trust her judgment on any other matter on earth.

YET at an age when we would let her buy a house on her own initiative, or risk a thousand dollars on her hunch on the stock market, when we hardly permit her to pick out a pair of shoes unaided, we let her jeopardize her whole life's happiness by selecting a husband. And she picks him out on the same principle that she would a new hat, because he is good looking, and happens to strike her fancy for the moment, or because some other girl wants him, and it fires her sporting blood to take him over her.

SHE never gives one thought as to his wearing qualities, or whether he will suit her needs or not. It is literally and sadly true that to a young girl a man's heels are of more importance than his head, and she prefers a youth who is a peppy dancer with a nifty line of jolly, to a man with brains and ambition, and all the virtues.

A GIRL of 18 has no more idea of the kind of husband she will want when she is 28 than she has of the style of dress she will want. Up to 22 or 23 a woman's tastes are in a state of transition, and they change daily and hourly. She has not found herself. She does not know what manner of man her nature demands, and so she claps about whom she is crazy in her teens, bora her to extinction in her twenties.

WORSE still, the mature woman nearly always meets the man who should have her mate, and falls in love with him, and then there is a tragedy as black as can be woven of the warp and woof of unavailing regret for a youthful folly. If she is tied to a husband that she married in her childhood, and of whom she is sick and tired.

The girl who marries too early cuts herself off from all the playtime of life. At an age when she should be carefree, when she should be dancing in the sun, and enjoying herself, she is tied down with the responsibilities of matrimony.

SHE is wheeling a perambulator instead of taking joy rides. She is walking the cobbles instead of darning at nights. She is putting up with the coquines of a husband instead of listening to boys tell her how beautiful and wonderful she is, and the result is that she is disillusioned, worn out, disgruntled with domestic life, before she should ever have entered into it.

THE burdens are too heavy for her young shoulders to bear, and she gets only the penalties of the joy, out of widowhood and motherhood. Her husband and children are a drag on her, not a crown of glory. And when we wrong Nature, we always have to pay her back tenfold. The woman who plays in her girlhood, who does not have her quota of fun and loveliness then, takes it later on.

YOU will find that at least 90 per cent. of the flirtatious married women, the married women who go wrong, and the married women who are never satisfied to stay at home, and are mad for amusement of every kind, are women who were married in their teens.

NO YOUNG girl has had enough experience of life to make marriage a success. It takes age to teach us self-control, and how to make excuses for others. Youth is intolerant. It is quick tempered. It is selfish and egotistic, and it sees things only as black and white, never as gray.

So many a young couple quarrel and fight their way into the divorce courts over differences of point of view, over differences of temperament, who would have been able to adjust themselves to each other, and live in peace and harmony together, if they had been older and experienced enough in the ways of the world to handle each other with the diplomacy of age instead of the brutality of youth.

IF EVERY woman waited to marry until she was 28, there would be few mismatched couples. For the woman of 28 has judgment enough to make a good choice. Her tastes are settled, and she knows the kind of a man she wants for keeps. She has learned to control her temper and her tongue; she has had her fling, and she is ready to settle down, and find her joy and happiness in making a good wife and mother.

Ensemble Costumes Achieve Harmony and Originality

By HENRI BENDEL

THE importance of the three-piece costume and the vogue of the cape, even to the point of replacing the coat, are outstanding features of the Paris opinion.

When ensemble costumes were first introduced, they created a sensation and kind a long felt need in women's wardrobe. They brought the harmony between coat and frock where so often discord had distressed us.

But there was a certain dull obviousness about the first ensembles. The frock usually lacked character, and required the coat to complete the effect. Today, ensembles obey the spirit, but not the letter of the law. They achieve harmony, but not at the expense of interest and originality. The coat, jumper or skirt are each interesting and adequate in themselves.

ALL DIFFERENT The coat may be of one material, the skirt of another, and the blouse of a third, all in different colors, but together they are right and attuned to each other.

One wrap may form an ensemble with several frocks. Just as the same frock may be equally attractive with a long coat, a short one, or a cape. And in Paris one frequently finds a long cape a part of a coat and suit ensemble.

Photographed today are two typical ensembles of the new school for the street, and one for inside wear.

Lavin created the street model in which tan knappa cloth makes both the cape and the frock. Nothing could be more simple than the frock, with its simple lines outlined with white piping and the narrow belt.

The big cape is trimmed with a broad stole of nutria fur against which rests, at the most intriguing spot, a deep red chrysanthemum. Every coat or wrap this season has its flower.

Elegant simplicity characterizes this costume, and something of Lavin's genius for suggesting youth makes it ideally suited to this particular age.

More complicated and subtle is the model from Chantal, one of the new frocks offered for evening, which has its own wrap which may be retained as a part of the costume, or removed with the outer wrap as one desires.

White silk crepe is the material used, the dress relying for trimming upon graceful draperies which form a semicircle at the waist and drop in long and lovely folds to the ankle.

This classic foundation takes on French chic when the coat is added, it being the last word in elegance, trimmed in heavy white silk fringe around the bottom and falling from the elbows to the wrists down the back of full sleeves.

I have written before of the importance of fringe, but I wish to emphasize it by repetition. Fringe is on everything—coats, frocks, capes, and even on hats. Sometimes of heavy silk, sometimes of cords, ribbon, beads, or flowers. There is no escaping it—or no desire to do so.

On "big-tops" of the Oriental Order of Smits, and so forth. And "everybody's doing it!"

Which reminds me—what ever became of the beaded watch fob? Or those little rugs that came in cigarette packages and made such "wonderful" pillows? AND peg-top pants?

SPEAKING of styles—the latest thing in high class bootlegging is to carry your stock in a false top built in a sedan car. Observing the operation of one of these traveling saloons, I noted that from five to 10 cases may be carried, according to the size of the car. So skillfully are these "upper decks" arranged that they escape the eagle eye of prohibition sleuths and consequent seizure.

One bootlegger tells me he has closed up his office formerly used by him, and keeps his supply in his car.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michells

The brave are those who suffer and are strong, who stand dry-eyed, and see their fond hopes go, who do not moan when scarred by cruel wrong, who ask no quarter and who fear no foe. They know, as all men know, that joy is sweet, they know the bliss of beauty and of youth, and yet they have not flinched before defeat nor failed to battle happiness for truth. The brave are those whom, often, men acclaim; or, often, men pass by and never know; but heedless of the garish glow of fame, serene, on their appointed way they go. The brave have fought that Earth might grow more fair, the brave have died untouched by Glory's gleams; the brave form that vast caravan who dare their all to shape life nearer to their dreams.

THIS MODISH DINNER GOWN FEATURES LONG, TIGHT SLEEVES

By Marie Belmont

Shell pink chiffon, with flimsy black lace and silver embroidery, is the combination so effectively carried out in the full-skirted dinner gown pictured above.

Deep black lace makes the lower part of the full skirt, which is quite long, the lace allowing a glimpse of chiffon petticoat beneath. A delicate tracery of silver thread embroidery is used on the skirt above the lace, and the lace and embroidery are used in similar manner on the long, tight sleeves. A seal of black velvet ribbon marks the waist-line.

For one who prefers a similar frock in darker colors for dinner and the theatre, deep blue silver embroidery would be effective.

Florence began emerging from her shell in "The Trouble With Wives" which hinted at a playful buoyancy. She stepped out with a sparkle and a dash in "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter."

Audiences began to perk up and give eye to a new and positively alluring Vidor. They noted that she had bobbed her hair, and that she had broken her short tether of conventional roles.

Hollywood began to flutter about her with most flattering attention. Fan mail swelled to huge proportions. The graceful, but somewhat aloof orchid was transformed into a rose.

She will be seen next in "Sea Horses," and then in "Love Magic," written especially for her by the Hungarian playwright Vada.

These two metals have been found present in the human body, Prof. Bertrand declared, especially in the pancreas gland.

CHICKEN HATCHERY PLANNED FOR HERE

The project for establishing in Saint John a large commercial hatchery to supply day old chicks to the poultry raisers of New Brunswick and other territory in the Maritime Provinces was advanced one step further at a meeting of the executive of the New Brunswick Poultry Exchange held in the city this week.

Those present at the meeting were Harvey Mitchell, deputy minister of agriculture; G. R. Wilson, Moncton, district poultry promoter; Leslie Wood, Fredericton, poultry superintendent of the provincial department of agriculture; A. Goguen, St. Louis, Kent county poultry promoter; J. A. Chaisson, of Rogersville, president, and A. R. Jones, manager.

The aim of the hatchery would be to supply day old chicks of reliable quality at a reasonable cost early in the season, since the early hatched chickens are the winter layers. There is a very large demand for day old chicks and very large numbers are imported from the United States.

WOMAN DIPLOMAT GOING TO MEXICO

Soviet Appointment of Mme. Kollontay Now Definitely Declared

MOSCOW, Sept. 10.—Mme. Alexandra Kollontay, former Soviet minister to Norway, it is now definitely declared, though not officially, has been appointed Soviet minister to Mexico.

Russia's only woman diplomat, it is added, will leave for Mexico about September 26.

The appointment of Mme. Kollontay came as a surprise even to Communist circles in Moscow, where it was believed her recall from Norway a year ago rendered another diplomatic appointment extremely unlikely.

Daughter of a famous Czarist general, Mme. Kollontay was one of those belonging to the old Russian aristocracy who renounced their high lineage to embrace Bolshevism. She is 54 years of age, was educated at foreign universities and has lived abroad most of her life.

All but the last nine years were served in solitary confinement.

WHITE STAR TO QUIT PORTLAND FOR PASSENGERS

Will Still Employ Port in Maine as Freight Terminus

MONTREAL, Sept. 10—The Gazette this (Friday) morning carries the following news item:

Although no definite winter schedule has yet been drawn up and issued by the White Star Line for their Canadian service, it was learned yesterday that Portland, Maine, will not be used this winter by the company as the western terminus for their passenger liners, and that the port of Halifax will probably serve in this capacity during the months of March and April.

"For the balance of the season, that is, during December, January and February, Halifax will be solely a port of call for steamers on the Liverpool-New York or Boston route, as it was for those on the Liverpool-Portland service last year.

TO BE FREIGHT TERMINUS.

"Portland is not to cease being the western terminus for the freight vessels of the White Star Line during the winter months, however, and in all probability the S. S. Welchman, Huronian and Coloman will be operated out of that port to Avonmouth and Liverpool.

"Calls will be made at Halifax for cargo should traffic to that port provide sufficient produce to warrant any of the ships putting in to load.

"It has been pointed out that the volume of passenger traffic through Portland during the winter months is so small that the proposed changes in the company's winter arrangements provide a much more economical method of handling their passenger traffic, while freight carrying will not be affected through the cessation of making the American port the western terminus for the passenger boats."

Garageman's Life Saved by Ancient Timepiece as He Enters Home

HADDONFIELD, N. J., Sept. 9—An old-fashioned watch which Everett Rash, a garage owner of Bataville, a small town near here, carried in his waistcoat pocket, saved his life by stopping a bullet which an unidentified person fired at him as he was entering his home. The bullet smashed the face of the watch and embedded itself in the works near the back of the case.

Bash told the police that he had put his car in the garage behind his home and had entered his home when he remembered he had left his keys in his automobile. He went out intending to get them, and as he stepped into the yard some one shot at him. Rash armed himself with a shotgun and looked unsuccessfully for his assailant.

Dr. Munro Sketches Changes Impending in Schools of Nova Scotia

HALIFAX, Sept. 9—Dr. H. F. Munro, newly appointed superintendent of education in Nova Scotia, addressing a luncheon club here today outlined in a general way several enterprises that would be carried out by his department.

He said an advisory board would be appointed to act with the superintendent and be composed of the heads of the three Nova Scotia universities and selected teachers and that a summer school for teachers would be inaugurated in Halifax next year. Dr. Munro foreshadowed an early appeal to the people for voluntary subscriptions to a fund to further education in the province. The government would do its share, but he thought the public would be asked to contribute.

Morning Stock Letter

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—We think the market accounted for by the retention of the leading stocks did not recover as well as we thought they would. However, there is a good demand for such issues as U. S. Steel and General Motors when they sell slightly, and we do not think they will break much, if any, further. The market is in the same position as it was some time ago. Stocks are high and the public is not yet heavily interested in the market. The outlook for the coming weeks shows that we believe these stocks will discount further property in the next several months. At this stage of the market though one can expect sharp reductions, such as the one we had day before yesterday.

The Prince, judging by his public letters, has a keen wit and an observant eye, and it is confidently stated that he puts into his diary every night what he well worth reading if it became public.

Express Feeling That Canada System Should Not be Meddled With

Special to The Times-Star
MONCTON, Sept. 10.—That the present system of defence in the Empire should not be interfered with in any way by any act in the Dominion was the feeling expressed in a resolution passed by the Moncton branch of the Canadian Legion of War Veterans, at their quarterly meeting held in the Barker House, here, tonight. The resolution further expressed the feeling that certain persons meddling with affairs of defence in the Empire should be more careful in choosing their subjects and their remarks. This feeling, coming from returned men who have experienced the results of inadequate training in various parts of the Empire, was found to be very strong. Indications were not wanting that the same feeling prevailed among the majority of the returned men throughout the Dominion. Ernest Doiron, president of the local branch, presided at the meeting which took the form of a banquet. During the evening tentative arrangements were made to celebrate Armistice Day by a big gathering and banquet of returned men in this area, along the lines of former years. Reports showed the finances of the branch in a healthy condition.

White Race Menace Says Cornell Prof.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—White races, not the yellow, constitute the world menace, in the opinion of Professor Percy L. Clark, Cornell University economist, who is now on a western lecture tour. The white race is multiplying at a far greater rate than the others, having increased from 130,000,000 to 600,000,000 in 175 years, and if this increase is maintained it will mean economic disaster for Europe and America, Professor Clark points out.

BIRTHDAY EVENT

Mrs. Richard Welch, Hillyard street, entertained 20 young people last evening in honor of her son, Frank, on his 11th birthday. The house was decorated with cut flowers, and a birthday cake, illuminated with 11 tapers, centred the table. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. R. McLaren, Mrs. Chittick, Mrs. Margaret Chittick and Miss Helen McLaren. Many gifts were received from friends. The evening was happily spent in games, music, and musical selections were given by Mrs. McLaren, James McCaskill, and Leo Heston.

TO BRING SCULLERS OF RENOWN HERE IF REGATTA SUCCESSFUL

PREPARATIONS FOR EVENTS ARE NOW COMPLETE

Halifax Oarsmen Due Today - Program Starts 2 O'clock

FINAL preparations for the regatta on Courtenay Bay have been completed in so far as the local committee is concerned, and all that is required now is some good rowing weather.

Following Hilton Belyea's sensational victories in foreign and Canadian waters about five years ago, a great wave of enthusiasm for the game was manifested in Saint John, but always the desire to see a real sculling race was denied.

Staging a regatta such as the one here Saturday costs in the vicinity of $400, but public-spirited men got together and chipped in so much until the entire amount was raised.

Excitement promises. The four-oared race between the McGinnis and the McGinnis crew promises to be exciting, while there is considerable interest in the race for the Ross Cup in which are entered Art O'Connell, possibly Harry Giggis, the senior singles should provide the public with plenty of action.

Meeting in tonight. A meeting is called for this evening at eight o'clock in Thomas Nagle's office, when all officers are requested to be present and given their position.

First game with Moncton tomorrow. The C. N. R. Team and Watermen will meet on East End Grounds at 3:30 o'clock.

Excitement promises. The four-oared race between the McGinnis and the McGinnis crew promises to be exciting, while there is considerable interest in the race for the Ross Cup in which are entered Art O'Connell, possibly Harry Giggis, the senior singles should provide the public with plenty of action.

Local Clubs Follow Latest Developments In Amateur Situation

Fans Back of Demand For Full Inquiry Into Amateur Situation

HAD Noah Webster been on the work of revising his famous book in these days, he would have had occasion to add some new meanings to several words. Changing conditions have changed many words. In giving the definition of "fan" Mr. Webster speaks of it as an instrument for cooling.

With him, any sport grows. Without him, sport dies. By the money that he pays at the gates, he provides the equipment and the means for sports. And lots of them give when they are no where near the gate.

He's the fellow who loves a clean, square contest whether it is on the rowing course, in the boating ring, on the baseball diamond or the golf links or the tennis court. He'd never kick a fellow when he's down, but on the contrary exuberantly yells his encouragement at fair play.

Yet he gets it under the belt a dozen times a season—and comes back for more. You can't down his love of sport although he is kicked all over the lot, figuratively speaking.

Probably it is because he is not organized. Someday, they'll wake up to this fact and form an association.

Just at present, he is in a helpless state, but slowly and surely he is making himself heard above the din of charges and counter-charges in the present amateur controversy.

The Telegraph-Journal believes that in demanding a thorough and impartial inquiry into certain conditions affecting the M. P. B., it is giving voice to fandom in general throughout the Maritimes.

Is there one fan absolutely satisfied with the present condition of affairs? We ask this of the fan because he is well worth considering in this matter.

LET us get rid of such influences and by wise and careful leadership it can be done. But when the leaders get fighting among themselves, it is not to be wondered at that the fan clamors for action.

Now it may be that in getting rid of these depressing influences, amateurs may have to dig right into the vitals.

There is no gainsaying the fact that there is much of camouflaged amateurism existing today. But who is to blame? The men or the system.

And, what is the remedy? These are big questions and the Maritimes may as well lead the way, keeping in mind the future of the game and the chap who makes the game possible—the fan.

Excitement promises. The four-oared race between the McGinnis and the McGinnis crew promises to be exciting, while there is considerable interest in the race for the Ross Cup in which are entered Art O'Connell, possibly Harry Giggis, the senior singles should provide the public with plenty of action.

NATIONAL LEAGUE LEADERS COME EAST

Cardinals Start Series With Lowly Braves and Cubs Face Quakers

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The West has invaded the East with two fighting teams to battle for the 1926 National League pennant, and a chance at the world's championship.

St. Louis, leading the league, and three full games ahead of Cincinnati, near the end of a dramatic season, will match today the first of a series with the Boston Braves, buried deep in the cellar.

Little change took place in the standings yesterday. Cincinnati spent the day resting. With Hornsby and his Carl pitching staff still perched in the Yankee grandstand, gaining probable world series pointers, Pittsburgh and Chicago resumed the fight for third place but managed only to split two games and drop a lone point each to the leaders.

PIRATES SPLIT BILL. Joe Bush hooked up in a pitching duel with Percy Jones of the Cubs, 8 to 1 in the first game, and made sure of his 2 to 1 victory by doubling in the second inning to chase Pie Traynor and in heading for the shores of the Atlantic. The Reds visit Brooklyn, and Pittsburgh goes to New York.

ONE VICTORY NEEDED. With only one more victory needed to clinch the United States title for the seventh consecutive year, Vincent Richards and the United States captain, R. Norris Williams, today faced the opportunity to settle the issue in the doubles match with the French team Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon.

U. S. HAS LEAD IN DAVIS CUP SERIES. Wins by Tilden and Johnston Over French Aces Give Defenders Edge.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—The hold of the United States on the Davis Cup, emblem of world tennis supremacy, seems secure for a least another year in the hands of her famous veterans, "Big Bill" Tilden and "Little Bill" Johnston. Holding the ramparts today against the challenge of France on the courts of the Germantown Cricket Club, the two "Bills" beat back the invaders decisively in the opening two singles matches of the challenge round.

DUDEEY KNOCKS OUT ARMY CHAMPION. NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Joe Dundee, of Baltimore, leading contender for the national doubles championship, knocked out Eddie Barnbrook, army champion of Camp Holabird, Md., in the third round of a scheduled 10-round feature bout at Madison Square Garden tonight. Dundee weighed 146; Barnbrook, 145.

ROTHESAY SCHOOL. About 90 boys will be in attendance at the Rotherham Collegiate School when last night by Rev. W. R. Hibbard, principal. There will be two new members of the faculty, Mr. Jackson of Nova Scotia, and Gordon McPhail of Woodstock. During the holidays the organ, formerly in St. Paul's (Valley) church, has been installed in the memorial chapel at the school. 72 new members of the staff succeeded Guy Ryder, now teaching in Montreal, and Rev. Seywyn Coster, curate in Montreal.

MATTER IS NOW UP TO CLUBS IN JURISDICTION

President Doyle Says He Will Call Special Meeting on Request

OFFICIALS of local amateur club are keenly interested in the latest development of the amateur situation wherein S. P. Doyle, president of the M. P. B., puts the issue up to the affiliated clubs. The suggestion that a special meeting be called was put before President Doyle and he said that in this respect if three affiliated clubs demanded a special meeting, he would grant any reasonable request. He said he had absolutely nothing to conceal but on the contrary welcomed any investigation. President Doyle appealed for fair play in the entire matter. He said that no good purpose could be served through newspaper crossfire and said that the real place to settle these matters was at the meeting of the M. P. B.

The matter now is up to the affiliated clubs and it is altogether likely that local clubs will move in this direction, conscientiously believing it will serve a good purpose. It is felt that if justice cannot be secured at this meeting, then an appeal should be made to the parent body, the A. A. U. of C.

BLAKENEY'S STATEMENT. H. E. Blakeney of Moncton, said that in a statement on the Monday fasco he was wrongly quoted by the Sports Editor. Mr. Blakeney says he said Mr. Doyle would telephone him by o'clock, if possible. The last two words were left off in Mr. Blakeney's statement, altering the meaning. He adds that in fairness he may not have been heard distinctly over the telephone. The correction is noted here in the spirit in which attention is called to it.

MINSTRELS AT IMPERIAL WIN BIG AUDIENCE

Van Arnam's Entertainers Present Excellent Circle and Olio

Two large audiences yesterday were generously entertained by the performances of John R. Van Arnam's Minstrels in the Imperial Theatre. The program presented was, on the whole, an excellent one, with many particularly good numbers.

OILIO EXCELLENT

The olio, presented after the intermission, contained a good number of high-class vaudeville acts, all of which were well received. The opening number was a selection from "Orpheus," played by the minstrel orchestra, with Del Paciulli in command. The work of Allaire, European juggler and boomerang hat-thrower, was one of the high spots on the program.

Messrs. Wright, LaFon, Gonder and Avery favored the audience with a number of quartette selections, both grave and gay, but all of a high order. This was followed by a remarkable demonstration of concordance ability on the part of LeBaron, the Frog-man, who was loudly applauded for his work.

Driscoll and Roberts again presented a song and dance combination, during which several new dance steps were demonstrated. Their encore was of the Harold Lloyd strain, both laughable and clever.

Gene Gerald's female impersonations were well received, and included two or three vocal solos, with Herschel McQueen at the piano. An interesting comedy duo, Bright Light from Darktown, presented by Messrs. Gilmore and Clifton, also was a big hit, and the program was brought to a close with a group of selections by the jazz-band, combined with the Messrs. McGuire, Clifton and Driscoll.

The whole show was pronounced an excellent one. It will be repeated again this afternoon and this evening.

PROXIES CONSIDERED

Although the question of the proxy of the National A. C. at the recent annual meeting of the M. F. B. A. U. of C. was thoroughly gone into at last night's meeting of the executive at the home of the president, C. W. Ellsworth, nothing definite was announced at the close of the meeting. The matter was discussed at some length.

RIGHT THIS WAY TO THE MENAGERIE

RAIN SLOWS TRACK AT INDIANAPOLIS

Guy Trojan Takes Feature Event on Grand Circuit Races—Other Results

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 9.—The Grand Circuit races here today were slowed up, so far as time performances were concerned, by a muddy track and slippery turns as a result of heavy rains last night. The feature event, the Plute, Water purse of $2,000 for 210 trotters, brought out only two starters, Guy Trojan and Hollywood Leonard, the former winning in straight heats.

The 218 trot was won in straight heats by Sayde Worthy. Highland Scott won the three-year-old pace while Marg. Al B., and Simmie Asoff each won a heat in the 218 pace, which was unfinished.

U. S. BEATS FRANCE IN DAVIS CUP MATCH

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—The United States triumphed over France today in the first match of the challenge round for the Davis Cup, world championship tennis trophy, when William M. (Little Bill) Johnston vanquished Rene Lacoste, 6-0, 6-0, 6-0.

Westville Now Even With Springhill Team

SPRINGHILL, Sept. 9.—Westville evened up the provincial championship today when they defeated Springhill by a score of 7 to 5 in one of the most exciting games of ball ever witnessed here. It was anybody's game until the last ball was delivered in the ninth. The game was featured by heavy hitting by both teams.

Canadian Girl Makes World Record Jump

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 9.—Miss Ethel Catherwood, Saskatoon school girl, competing in a provincial championship field meet here, leaped over the bar at 5 feet 2-1/8 inches to better by more than a full inch the old world's record for women by the running high jump. She eclipsed the Canadian mark by almost three inches.

What was claimed as a world's record for the women's high jump was established by Miss D. A. Green, jumping 5 feet 1-3/8 inches at London, August 2 last. Previously the best mark accepted was 4 feet, 10-9 inches, set by Miss Katherine Lee, of Chicago, in 1923.

Baldwin Heargear Causes Comment

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Straw hats are almost obsolete in England, but they have just received a last-minute revival through the appearance on the streets of Prime Minister Baldwin topped with a "boater," as the straw is called in England. The Premier's political audacity in sponsoring a form of headgear which has almost passed out of the book of styles has caused much comment.

While straw hats are in disfavor, however, the "topper" is enjoying a boom. Not since the beginning of the war have so many shiny tall hats and collapsible opera-hats been seen in London. The manufacturers are busy, not only meeting the demand of the male dresser, but also satisfying a new fashion in women's millinery, which suggests that a crown of the same material of which "toppers" are made will supercede the interminable felt this winter.

WILL NAME REFEREE NIGHT OF CONTEST

Champion and Challenger Will Resume Training Today—Big Gate Expected

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 10.—While reports from the training camps of both Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney indicate their interests in the selection of the referee for the title battle here Sept. 28, this question will not be answered until the night of the fight.

"The man who will referee the Dempsey-Tunney match will not be known to anyone but myself until the night of the fight," Frank Wiener, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, is quoted as saying. "In fact, he will not be known until after the preliminary bouts have started."

Wiener denied reports that he might himself be the third man in the ring, saying he wouldn't take the job for $100,000.

Dempsey crawls back into his working clothes today—a fishy emerald green pair of fighting trunks, with a jersey to match, to start the intensive campaign of his training grind, after loafing through the three-day layoff. The champion, sunburned and thoroughly rested, intends to set a betting pace for his sparring mates. He promises to cast off all restraint in the whirl of gloves, and to work within the next ten days as he never has worked before. Dempsey, weighing around 197 pounds at present, desires to bring his weight down to about 187 or 192 by the time he reaches the peak of his training and then maintain that figure until ring time.

"Hindenburg Crop" Is Latest Style Shingle

GENEVA, Sept. 9.—The latest thing in women's hair-cuts is the "Hindenburg crop." Several of the prettiest girls in Geneva, after a period of discreet seclusion, have now appeared with their hair cropped and stiffly pampadoured as in the German general. The effect is startling, but for some faces not so severe as it sounds.

MAYOR LOOKING INTO MATTER OF COST OF AUDIT

Speaks of Petition Presented for Investigation at City Hall

Speaking of the petition presented to the Common Council asking for an audit and investigation into civic management and the assessment law, Mayor White said today that a petition signed by 8,000 citizens was a thing that could not be dismissed lightly, and it would receive the attention of the members of the council at an early date. His Worship said he was getting information as to the cost of an audit, and when this had been obtained he would make it public and leave it to the citizens to say whether or not they wanted to go to the necessary expense. Whatever this cost was, it would have to be added to next year's tax levy, and it was for the people to say whether they wanted that or not.

The city had now a permanent auditor, and a very careful one who minutely scrutinized every detail before paying out any money. With regard to the employment of a municipal expert to advise on possible changes for the better in civic administration, he had been giving this much thought since the council's action and section would be taken soon along this line.

SEE THE FALLS

At high tide the water of the Bay of Fundy reaches a higher level than the water of the Saint John River and forces its way through the gorge of the Falls, creating a "fall" running up river. At low tide the water in the Bay becomes so much lower than that of the river, that the fall of water is reversed and flows down into the Bay. At mid-tide, when the level in the Bay and River are about equal, the falls disappear entirely, and the water at the Falls becomes smooth to the surface of the lake. To fully appreciate this wonder of the world should be seen at all three stages.

THE SETTLEMENT: "Me an' a town feller was settin' on a log by the shore yesterday afternoon, an' I seen somethin' 'comin' to the top of the water. It went up this mornin', an' after a little spell come up, an' we could see it was a muskrat. We seen it head, an' then its tail. Fer half an hour we sot there an' watched the critter go down fer a spell, an' then come up fer a spell—an' then it didn't come up no more. This afternoon about the same time it was there agin—actin' the same way. I callate it was feedin'—an' that's it's feedin' ground—an' I s'pose it has a home under the wharf that's quite close to where it was divin' an' swimmin'. It goes on doin' business every day—just the same as if they wasn't any election—or exhibition—or Annik-jans estate—or anything like that. The town feller said he bed some notion o' tryin' to start a muskrat farm. I s'pose he was thinkin' about the furs he'll pay for this fall when the fashion sheet comes out."
