WHEN the annual meeting of the Maritime division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association was called to order at the Hotel Admiral Beatty here this afternoon by Chairman J. L. McDonald, of Moncton, there appeared to be a unanimous sentiment that C. V. Monaghan, vice-chairman of the division, would be elected to preside over the Maritime body during the ensuing year. It is customary for a chairman of the Maritime division to hold office one year only at a time. The re-election of H. R. Thompson, of Amherst, the secretary, by unanimous vote was conceded by the delegates.

Important subjects affecting the Maritime Provinces were on the order paper. A discussion of the "Produced in Canada" movement and consideration of matters relating to the maintenance of improved conditions in the provinces by the sea were also features of the business session.

CANADIAN CLUB LUNCHEON

AT the conclusion of the business session late this afternoon an early lunch was eaten at the Admiral Beatty as guests of the Canadian Club of Saint John. The principal speaker at the luncheon will be J. H. Fortier of Quebec City, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and one of the leading business men of this country. President Fortier is a fluent speaker, both in French, his mother tongue, and in English.

ABOUT 50 DELEGATES

There were about fifty delegates present when the Maritime division meeting was called to order, including 33 from Saint John. Besides Mr. Fortier, visiting delegates from outside the Maritime Provinces included J. E. Walsh, of Toronto, general manager of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association; W. S. Falls and J. J. Harpell, both of Montreal.

Up to noon ten delegates had arrived, all from the Maritime Provinces, the remaining out of town men coming in on early afternoon trains. The only business session is that of this afternoon. Tomorrow the visitors will be guests of the Board of Trade and local manufacturers, who will present motor cars for a sight-seeing tour of Saint John and vicinity, and later entertain them at luncheon at 1 p. m. at the Riverside Golf and Country Club. The visitors will leave for Montreal on the early evening trains. President Fortier, General Manager Walsh and other delegates of the Maritime Manufacturers' Association, will visit Halifax before returning home.

INDIA'S ONLY WOMAN RULER GIVES UP THRONE

Begum of Bhopal Abdicates in Favor of Son

GOVERNED 700,000

Is Mentally Alert and Physically Vigorous Despite Her Advanced Age

LONDON, May 18.—India's only woman ruler, Her Highness, the Begum of Bhopal, has abdicated her throne in favor of her son, Nawab Zada Hamidullah. For a long time she has contended for the Islamic right to name her successor, who under ordinary procedure should have been the son of her deceased eldest son, Nawab Nasrulla Khan.

RULED FOR 25 YEARS

The British Government finally acceded to her desires. The abdication of the Begum brings to an end a period of eighty years of female rule in the little state of Central India of 6,992 square miles, with a population of about 700,000. She has ruled Bhopal for a quarter of a century with vigor and statesmanship. Although now 68 years old, she still is mentally and physically vigorous, nevertheless she long had wished to see her only son established as her successor before her powers failed her.

NEW RULER 31 YEARS

Accordingly she came to London last September, with her son and his three young daughters, to arrange matters with the British government. The necessity for the special arrangement lay in the fact that two elder sons, both of whom died in 1924, left no heirs, and the eldest son of her eldest son stood next in the line of succession, according to the laws of primogeniture. "Nawab Zada Hamidullah is now 31 years old. He has been carefully trained in statesmanship under his mother's direction. He was on the staff of the Prince of Wales during the Prince's visit to India and also served in the war. He has a splendid reputation.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 18.—Rain started during the night and is continuing to fall here today, bringing welcome relief to the men who have been anxiously fighting the forest fires menacing the districts north of this city. Dangerous fires are also raging in Northern Ontario along the North Shore of Lake Superior, not far from Port Arthur and Fort William. Reports from the head of the lakes this morning was that the clear weather which had dried up the forests was continuing, and that there was no rain in sight. The Ontario fire has been more menacing. The lumber companies affected, had their men out fighting the flames and airplanes of the forest patrol are carrying men and fire fighting equipment to the points where the danger appears the greatest. Yesterday afternoon there were fears that the water supply of Loch Lomond in the watershed of Loch Willam, was in danger of later advice during the night indicated that this danger was very remote.

In Manitoba there were a great number of fires which according to last reports, had not obtained great proportions, but nevertheless presented a serious situation. Officials of the Dominion forest patrol reported late last night that there were 47 separate outbreaks in the Lac Du Bonnet district along the north shore of the Red River, which carried the fire fighters from one danger point to another. Farmers burning over ground preparatory to ploughing and seeding, are blamed for most of the blazes.

TROOPS REPULSED

TANGIER, Morocco, May 18.—More than a hundred members of the Spanish Foreign Legion are reported to have been killed and a large number wounded in fighting at Rio Martin near Tetuan. Another party numbering 360 are reported to have been surrounded in a ravine by the tribesmen, all being captured or killed.

Special to The Times-Star. FREDERICTON, N. B., May 18.—Chief Justice Sir Douglas Hazen and J. Morris Robinson of Saint John have presented the Barristers' Society of New Brunswick with a portrait of the Hon. George D. Ludlow, first Chief Justice. Chief Justice of New Brunswick, Chief Justice Ludlow was appointed November 25, 1784, and died November 13, 1868. The portrait is to be unveiled on Tuesday, June 1, when the Appeal Division, Supreme Court, will be in session. The members of the bar are requested to attend in their robes.

Here, as in the territory now being swept by the flames, warm, dry weather is following in the wake of a cold, backward spring, through parching the woods before vegetation has a chance to provide a safe covering and thus creating a serious fire menace. With the approaching holidays when fishermen and others will be entering the woods, New Brunswick is rapidly approaching a critical period in regard to danger from forest fires.

The christening will take place probably some time late this month, at the Chapel Royal, St. James and the Archbishop of Canterbury will most likely perform the ceremony. It is wrapped in many layers of blue paper, to preserve the whiteness of the lace. Over all is a muslin cover tied with pink satin ribbons. Little lavender bags of silk sur-

LEADER FEELS LIBERALS HAVE LOST PRESTIGE

Conservatives Allowed Credit For Defeating Strike

BALDWIN SUPREME

Premier Proves Executive Qualities and Statesmanship In Crisis

By HERBERT BAILEY, British United Press. LONDON, May 18.—The future of David Lloyd George as the leader of the Liberals in the House of Commons is hanging in the balance, British United Press learns from inside sources today. While he has not actually threatened to resign it is known that Lloyd George is highly dissatisfied with the attitude of his party towards the strike. He feels that a great opportunity for the revival of Liberalism has been lost and that the Conservatives have been allowed to get all the credit for defeating the strike and promoting a mutually satisfactory settlement. As a result the Conservatives are stronger now than they ever have been.

BLAMES NEWSPAPERS

Lloyd George is also very disappointed in the fact that the Liberal newspapers all over the country were the slowest to resist the attempt of radical labor to suppress the newspapers and were the last to recover from this paralysis, as a result of which they lost much influence to the Conservative papers who had displayed far more enterprise and determination. On the other hand, there are many in the Liberal party who claim that the eldest son of the Liberal party, leadership during the struggle. In the Commons he lost a good deal of influence and allowed Sir John Simon to get a step ahead of him with his notable speech pointing out the illegality of the general strike, which unquestionably was an influence toward early settlement.

BALDWIN LAUDED

In contrast to this dissatisfaction with leadership, Stanley Baldwin on the other side stands supreme. He has astonished even his own supporters, many of whom, while admitting his ability and amiable qualities, doubted his determination and executive qualities. His party and the nation at large have found him commanding in action, temperate in victory, and statesmanlike in his outlook. For the time being he has silenced even critics within his own cabinet.

MINE LEADERS MEET PREMIER BALDWIN TODAY

Industrial Peace Gradually Being Restored in Britain

NO EXTRA TAXES
Paper Offers Prizes For Most Sensational Rumors During Strike

LONDON, May 18.—The dock workers remain on strike at Manchester, and no settlement has been reached at Cardiff, but, generally speaking, industrial peace has been restored in Britain, and the first regular newspaper issues in London show a unanimous desire to fulfill Premier Baldwin's plea for harmony without reconciliation.

CONFER TODAY.
The miners' executives discussed the government plan for a settlement with experts Monday and will meet Premier Baldwin today. It is already clear that a settlement is more likely to break down in the opinion of the owners than of the men.

The former object particularly to the drastic legislation re-organizing the industry and to the allotment of the whole proceeds of industry for the first quarter of the present year to wages for the men, provided these accept a slight reduction not applying to any earnings less than forty-five shillings a week. This cut would probably be five per cent. as a starter.

This plan, the government calculates, will enable the industry subsidy of £3,000,000 to keep the industry going longer than the month it would have lasted under pre-strike subsidy.

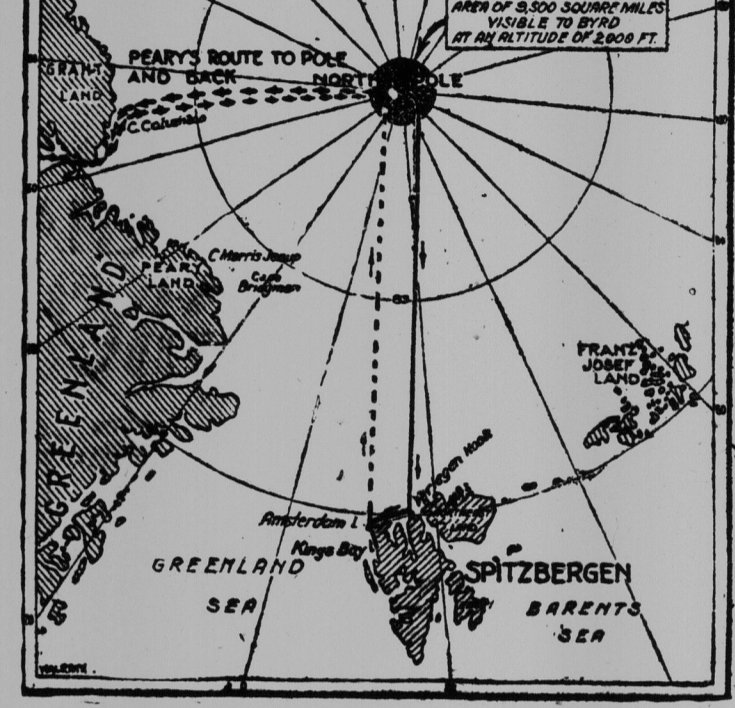

HUMOROUS SIDE
The high Tory Morning Post and Labor organ, the Daily Herald, today alike scornfully mention the strike. Many newspapers deal only with the humorous aspects of the strike, today's sketch offering prizes for the wildest rumors spread in various quarters of the King and the assassination of the Prince.

Tourists contemplating trips to England are assured that reports of the rapidly returning to normal, reports of a strong tone on the stock exchange and of returns of workers in various forms of industry are given in the Communicator, portions of which follow:

"The effect of direct taxation in England will appear mainly in the next year's estimates," Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer told the House of Commons Monday. He said it was quite possible that increased trade may effect the temporary loss of profit to British industry. "I see no reason at present to propose additional taxation," Churchill continued.

PEARY SPENT MONTHS ON JOURNEY

SHOTS NEEDED TO STOP RUM RUNNER

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 18.—The coast guard cutter CG-2830 made its first capture of the season just before daybreak today, when it overhauled a speedy 45-foot Canadian rum runner off Braddock's light, placed three men on the boat under arrest and confiscated the rummer and 150 cases of ale.

The capture followed a spirited chase in Lake Ontario, three miles north of Rochester, which ended only after the speedy government boat had placed five shots across the rum runner's bow.

The three men taken in custody gave their names as Wm. Sheldon, Frank Gordon and Ulrich Mead. All gave their addresses as Toronto. Sheldon, according to coast guardsmen, is now facing charges in connection with the capture of the Dancer, an alleged rum runner fast in the ice in Lake Ontario, in the same vicinity as today's capture. The prisoners were charged with smuggling and held for arraignment before United States Commissioner Phillips.

INDIAN FAKIR TO GIVE PERFORMANCE

RAHMAN BEY TO STICK SWORD THROUGH NECK WITHOUT DRAWING BLOOD

LONDON, May 18.—What promises to be the most remarkable performance ever given in England will take place privately in the Little Theatre shortly when, in the presence of scores of the leading surgeons, physicians, and scientists of London, Rahman Bey, a fakir, will stick a sword through his neck without drawing blood. He will be dressed as a soldier and will be surrounded by his soldiers, and push halpins through his chest.

Rahman will also lie on sharp nails wrapped in nothing but loin cloth; he will massacre rabbits, chickens, dogs or human beings. He will change his pulse from 110, which is normal, to 90 in a second; he will read the thoughts of the audience. He will challenge any surgeon to operate on any part of his body without an anaesthetic.

LEADING LADY WEDS COUNT IN FRANCE

MARSEILLES, France, May 17.—Millicent Soles, leading lady of France's Premier Theatre, the Comedie Francaise, today became the Comtesse de Segur, in a marriage ceremony being performed by the humble Father Castillon in the diminutive village of Penne-Mirabeau, about ten miles from Marseilles, whether the couple fled to avoid publicity.

As one paper remarks this evening it is the first time "our Comtesse"—to give her the name of one of her most famous roles in the Comedie Francaise repertoire—performed before such a small audience.

She made a visit to Canada and the United States in 1922, where she gave her interpretation of Moliere's classics. On Fire Island, the vessel was bound from Newport News to Boston and northeastern ports with a general cargo.

YEAR WAS GOOD ONE

A year of much success and splendid progress was reviewed at the annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Knox church held last evening with Mrs. R. A. Sewell, president, in the chair.

The report of Miss Laura Graham, secretary, showed that there had been a good attendance at all of the 11 meetings of the year and the membership total was 78.

A thank offering service had been held when Rev. Dr. Stevenson had given an address on the Covenanters of Scotland and Presbyterians.

Offering given had amounted to $140.47. A large number by the collection was by voluntary giving and realized a substantial sum. Mite box societies amounted to $118.82.

Last night $500 was voted to the general funds of the Women's Missionary Society to be forwarded to the Presbyterial. Delegates appointed to attend the meeting of the Presbyterial in Woodstock on July 7 and 8 were Mrs. R. A. Sewell, Mrs. J. Hattie and Miss Laura Graham, with Miss Florence Imlaine as substitute.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., MAY 18, 1926.

THE SAND POINT SPRINKLER.

The Common Council is deliberating a most important subject, one to which every citizen of Saint John might well pay attention. It is the proposal to install a sprinkler system of fire protection in the sheds at West Saint John. These sheds representing a valuable asset to the city—hence to individual citizens—in the form of harbor facilities. It need not be pointed out that our harbor is the main reason for our existence as a city and as the eastern door of Canada for half the year.

For those who do not studied the sprinkler system it may be explained briefly that it is an arrangement of water pipes inside a building, which pipes are fitted with fusible plugs. When the temperature rises beyond a certain point these plugs melt and the water sprays the vicinity, quenching any fire. There is also an alarm bell arranged to draw attention directly to the sprinkler comes into operation. The value of this as an automatic fire protection is apparent, and it is stated that out of a large number of fires in buildings so equipped only three resulted in damage exceeding $100.

This, then, is the installation proposed by Commissioner Bullock who, in introducing his movement, pointed out that in fire insurance alone there would be effected an annual saving of $4,716.40. Commissioner Wigmore, in support, said that, even if there were no insurance saving, the protection would be worth the cost. Commissioner Frink, who otherwise had preached much-needed retrenchment and restraint, added his approval to the expenditure and His Worship the Mayor, concurring in the general opinion, only asked for further investigation of detailed costs and comparison of percentages of insurance now carried with that to be carried after the installation to conform to the requirements of the underwriters.

Commissioners Harding and Wigmore urged the matter be taken up without delay.

So we have our Common Council in complete agreement and it is unlikely that any taxpayer will dissent from his views. Even if a private business, corporation and municipality carries fire insurance on property value. Money derived from fire insurance can compensate for loss of property, but it cannot compensate for loss of business. The fire insurance on property in Saint John involved in a stoppage of our port activities were unnecessary; the far-reaching effects of such an occurrence are apparent to all and would be felt by every one of us.

Therefore let the Common Council proceed without delay to give the city property at Sand Point the fullest protection in their power that the taxpayer may feel that every effort has been made to forestall a calamity which might well extinguish all our hopes for a bright future. Port activities, once stopped, trade would inevitably seek another channel and it is unlikely that the stream could be redirected for a long time, if ever, even after the material damage had been repaired.

Let the good work go on.

GOOD STUFF.

From Mr. A. O. Dawson's address to the graduating class at the U. N. B.:
"May I express the hope that, even though it be at some personal sacrifice temporarily, the young people graduating from the University will take up their life's work in Canada, where they can do much to develop and strengthen the best that is in our land. We can ill afford to lose our college graduates, who have secured their education at the sacrifice of much time, energy and money and who bring to their work youth, health, strength, a trained mind, and broadened enlightenment.

Timely Views On World Topics

SAYS WOBBLING OF EARTH'S AXIS CAUSED BY TIDES
By CAPTAIN T. J. J. SEE
U. S. Navy Mathematician and Government Astronomer, in a Recent Interview.

THE phenomenon of polar motion or the shift of the earth's axis in the globe, which has interested scientists for many years, is due to the tides in the Pacific ocean.

This discovery is one of the most notable triumphs in the physics of the earth and in exact astronomy in the last century.

The newly discovered process for keeping track of the motion of the axis of the earth will be of scientific value because heretofore it has been necessary to calculate the amplitude and period of the oscillation empirically, by actual observation at many stations on the earth's surface.

A permanent international organization to take latitude observations in many countries has been built up after Prof. B. Kustner, then chief observer at Berlin, discovered in 1859 from star places noted at the old Royal observatory that the latitude of Berlin was varying, and that the pole of the globe was actually moving about its mean place at a distance of some thirty feet.

An extensive report on the polar motion has been sent to the navy hydrographic office in Washington, D. C., and also to the International Journal of Astronomy and a European academy of science.

The period of polar motion is 427 days, tidal researches proved, thus confirming a theory advanced by Dr. C. S. Chandler of Boston in 1841, based on variations of latitude believed due to lack of rigidity of the earth.

On behalf of the citizens of Saint John The Times-Star extends a hearty welcome to the Maritime Division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Just Fun

THE frost of all human beings is he who gives most, loves most, forgives most, endures most, thinks most, and scatters his influence, as the farmer does his seed, in good soil. A man is very free when he makes others feel free about him.

HOW TO KILL AN OYSTER.
Don't drown him deep in vinegar, Or season him at all;
Don't cover up his shining form With pepper like a pall.
But gently lift him from his shell, And firmly hold your breath;
Then with your eager tongue and teeth Just tickle him to death.

IT IS TOUGH to pay an "amusement" tax for some of the shows you see.

MARJORIE—"Mama, were you at home when I was born?"
Mother—"No, darling, I was at grandma's, the country."

"Wasn't you awful" spied when you heard about it?"

"Yes," she opened one eye, gasped, and reached for the powder-puff!"

WILLIAM M. HUGHES.
A FORMER prime minister of Australia, William Hughes, as a member of the executive committee of the Miners' Federation, was one of the leading figures in the recent British strike.

Hughes was born in Wales in 1862, and moved to Australia at the age of 20. At 30 he was a member of the state parliament of New South Wales. He was re-elected three successive times, resigning upon his election to the first federal parliament for West Sydney on the Labor party's platform.

In 1904 he became minister for external affairs. Later he was a member of the imperial cabinet and a delegate to the Paris peace conference.

He organized the maritime unions and has been general secretary of the Wharf Laborers, president of the Carriers' Union, and president of the Waterside Workers' Federation.

Three different times he has been attorney-general, and from 1921-1922 minister for external affairs.

DINNER STORIES.
THE professor had taken his class for a ramble in the country to study nature.

"This afternoon, young men," he announced, "when a shady spot had been selected for the lecture, I am going to show you the peculiar anatomy of the one-horned rhinoceros."

Then he took from his pocket a small package neatly wrapped in white paper. He opened it slowly and carefully. A banana and a sandwich fell out. The professor frowned and looked thoughtful.

"Well," he said, "I could have sworn I had eaten my lunch."

THE Dutchman still retained a strong accent, although he had been in the country 40 years, and was a churchwarden. When the rector complained that a certain parishioner had called him a perfect ass, and asked advice, the reply, though well intentioned, sounded ambiguous.

"All you should do will be prout to bray for him, as usual."

POEMS I LOVE

BY CHARLES HANSON ROWNE

"To a Waterfowl," by William Cullen Bryant.

It is almost inconceivable that the first of the American poets write those profound lines, "Thanatopsis," in his eighteenth year, followed by his "Inscription for the Entrance of a Wood" about a year later. He was admitted to the bar at the age of twenty-one, but soon abandoned the law, not finding it to his taste. His poetry is marked by a deep religious feeling—it has been called Puritanical; and those early days of his life, spent near the dark forests of his birthplace, filled him with a sense of the majesty and beauty of Nature. This feeling never left him, though he came to New York to do editorial work; and his love of "green things growing" is evident in everything he wrote. He rendered a great service to English letters by editing the Library of Poetry and Song—perhaps the most complete anthology extant.

Whither, midst falling dew,
While glow the heavens with the last steps of day,
Far, through their rosy depths, dost thou pursue
Thy solitary way?
Vainly the Fowler's eye
Might mark thy distant flight to do thee wrong,
As, darkly painted on the crimson
Thy figure floats along.

Seek'st thou the plashy brink
Of weedy lake, or marge of river wide,
Or where the rocking billows rise and sink
On the chafed ocean side?
There is a Power whose care
Teaches thy way along that pathless coast—
The desert and illimitable air—
Lone wandering, but not lost.
All day thy wings have fanned,
At that far height, the cold thin atmosphere,
Yet stoop not, weary, to the welcome land,
Though the dark night is near.
And soon thy soul shall find
Sons shalt thou find a summer home,
and rest,
And scream among thy fellows; reeds
shall bend,
Soon, o'er thy sheltered nest.

"Thou'rt gone! the abyss of heaven
Hath swallowed up thy form; yet on my heart
Deeply hath sunk the lesson thou hast given,
And shall not soon depart.
He, who, from zone to zone,
Guides through the boundless sky thy certain flight,
In the long way that I must tread
alone,
Will lead my steps aright.

THE PLUMBER

THE bad luck that I call the worst is when pipes in the basement burst, and start the water rushing round. That's when a plumber must be found.

A man's a fool who tries to mend a tiny hole or broken end, in any pipe where water flows. Who's ever tried it, surely knows.

Just get the plumber on the phone and use that coaxing pleading tone, I tried it once, when I was stuck. The plumber hurried, say, that's luck. He spent no time in looking round, but right away, the trouble found. Now, that's real service, if you please. The water flowed up to his knees.

"I'll have this fixed in naught," said he, and then there came a shock to me that jolted more than what was wrong—he REALLY brought his tools along.

An ostrich thinks he's ought of sight when he puts his head in the sand, and so does a man when he puts his in a silk hat.

PERIOD MOTHER EXPLAINED THAT FATHER WAS BUSY DOWN IN HIS LITTLE CANDY ESTABLISHMENT PERIOD THEN MARY SAID COMMA QUOTATION MARK DADDY CAN'T GO TO HEAVEN COMMA CAN HE QUESTION MARK QUOTATION MARK WHY COMMA HE CAN'T LEAVE THE STORE PERIOD QUOTATION MARK

Of these three things should be sacrificed, which should go first?—The Master replied: Sacrifice the soldiers.—And if of the two remaining things one had to be sacrificed, which should it be? Let it be the food. From the beginning men have always had to die, but without the confidence of the people no government can stand at all.

"GOVERNMENT is good when it makes happy those who live under it and attract those who live far away," said Confucius when asked about conditions of good government.

"I have heard," he asserted, "that the ruler of a state or a city is troubled not by the smallness of its numbers but by the absence of even-handed justice; not by poverty but by the presence of discontent; for where there is harmony there will be no lack in numbers; where there is content there will be no revolution. This being the case then, if onbly authorities resist your authority, cultivate the arts of refinement and goodness in order to attract them; and when you have attracted them, make them happy and contented."

There's No Magic in the Marriage Ceremony Which Will Change Drunkards, or Loafers, or Jazz Babies. From What They Are Into What They Should Be—Better Pick the Wife or Husband You Want "As Is."

THERE is no question that I am asked oftener than whether a man or woman will change after marriage. A girl will write me that she is in love with a drunkard, and she wants to know if he will continue to drink after marriage. Or she will say that she is thinking of marrying a young man who has no trade or profession, and she asks if he will go to work and become an industrious man and a good provider for his family as soon as he is married.

A young man will write me that he is in love with a foolish, frivolous, flighty girl, who is crazy about going to wild parties, and jazzing and smoking and drinking, and he wants to know if she will change when she is married, and make a settled, domestic wife. Or he will say that he is engaged to an extravagant girl who spends on clothes everything she can lay her hands on, and he asks if I think she will make a thrifty and economical wife for a poor man.

Both men and women, engaged to be married, will write me that they can never agree about anything, or on any subject, and that they argue and quarrel continually before marriage, yet they want to know if after marriage they will live together in peace and harmony.

DOROTHY DIX

These questions are so foolish that they would be amusing if they were not tragic, for they show how many people still cling to the superstitious belief that there is some magic in the marriage ceremony that has power to alter the entire natures of men and women, and make them over into different beings.

THESE deluded ones see clearly enough the faults and weaknesses of those whom they are tentatively thinking of taking as husbands and wives, and they would not consider marrying them as they are. No woman wants a drunkard or a loafer for a husband. No man wants a pleasure-mad woman or a spender for a wife. No man or woman looks forward to passing the remainder of a life in a perpetual fight.

If they knew that the man and woman of whose habits and characters they disapprove would continue to be, after marriage, what they are before marriage, they would not consider entering into a life contract with them. But they put their faith in the idiotic belief that there is some sort of enchanment in the words muttered over them at the altar that changes the bride and bridegroom from what they are into what they should be.

And on this fallacious belief they risk their whole life's happiness. Generally with disastrous results.

For matrimony works no miracles. What a man and woman were before marriage, they are after marriage. Only more so. For the great majority of people marriage means a letting down of the bars, and a throwing off of restraint and the privilege of being themselves without having to camouflage graces and virtues that are foreign to them.

THE drunkard finds that matrimony has not quenched his thirst, but augmented it, because he has more care to drink in. The lazy good-for-nothing is just as disinclined to work after marriage as before, and has as little shame in letting his wife support him as he had in letting his mother support him.

The girl who lived on thrills and excitement before marriage is bored to death with her husband and children. She whose god was fashion continues to worship at the same shrine as long as she lives.

And the couple who could not get along before marriage discover about a million additional things after marriage over which they can spat, because they are brought into daily and hourly contact over every detail of the life they share together.

OCASIONALLY—once in a blue moon—there is an exception to the rule. There has been a drunkard, now and then, who reformed after he got married. There has been a female Simon Legree who has made a loathing husband go to work. There has been a wild woman who has had enough of night clubs, and became domestic and stayed contented at her own fireside. There have been extravagant girls who became tight-fisted when it was their own money they were spending instead of papa's, and a peace pact when they got married, and thereafter respected each other's taboos.

But these exceptions are so few and far apart that they are not worth taking into consideration in figuring on the advisability of marrying a man or woman who does not come up to your ideal, or he she is into the kind of a husband or wife you want. We may be the darling of the gods and have that sort of a miracle worked out in our behalf. The chances are that we are not, and no supernatural intervention will save a fool from the results of his folly.

And, after all, what right have we to marry, expecting our husbands and wives to change their characters to please us. It is up to us in the first place to take them or leave them as they are.

IF A WOMAN doesn't want a rounder for a husband, why doesn't she marry a sober, settled man to begin with? If she craves the things that money buys, why doesn't she pick out a go-getter for a husband instead of a dreamy poet or a fascinating ne'er-do-well?

And if a man wants a domestic, thrifty wife, who will stay at home and watch the soup pot and count the pennies, why doesn't he choose a domestic girl instead of one who is a fashion plate and the joy of the cabarets?

The truth of the matter is that when you go shopping for husbands or wives you have to know what you want and pick it out in the first place. You can't change it after you get it home. That's certain.

MOVIE producers continue to raid the "follies" for new film faces. Louise Brooks, one of the most recent deserters from the Ziegfeld ranks, is under contract to Paramount.

Now Peggy Fears, one of those glorified yearlies for Los Angeles, has departed for the Warner Brothers contract.

Warner seem to be constantly on the alert for new faces to replace favorites who are beginning to lose their hold on the public. Helene, Costello and her sister, Helene, Jane Winton and Doris Hill are among those recently signed up on the strength of their possibilities.

Miss Fears is a New Orleans society girl and closely related to Edgar Allan Poe. Being a southern belle didn't appeal to her, so she went to New York and within two months was playing with the "follies."

"Minnie" has again made her appearance at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios—and is now receiving a fresh coat of paint preparatory to her next screen vehicle.

"Minnie" is a papier-mache effigy of a woman, mounted on a pedestal, which she uses in a Max Murray picture. The figure is the exact height and build of the famous star, and is used to stand before the camera, for focusing and lighting, in order that she may not be placed under the lights any more than is necessary.

When Miss Murray went to Europe "Minnie" was tossed in the property rooms, and was untroubled again when Christy Cabanne started preparations for filming "Altars of Desire." Miss Murray's new starring vehicle, which Cabanne will direct shortly.

With "Wet Paint" released, Raymond Griffith has begun work on his next Paramount comedy, "Get Off the Earth." This will be a fantastic production in which Griffith takes an imaginary flight to Mars. Trick photography is employed in many sequences and the effects obtained in the early scenes are called startling by those who have had the privilege to preview them.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

THE CHIMNEY SWEEP AND THE RAG MAN

The Twins and the little Rag-bag Whitet, who had lost his shadow, left the fair second-hand store behind the barn, and went on their travels.

Suddenly they all stopped and stared very hard at something or someone who was coming down the road.

"Can this be my shadow?" said the Whitet anxiously. "It's certainly black enough!"

But just then the black creature laughed and showed a row of white teeth. So they knew he was no shadow. It was the Chimney Sweep. "No, I'm not your shadow," he exclaimed. "I like meat and potatoes and pie, and when I'm washed I'm white. But say, haven't I seen you some place before?"

"I don't know. I'm one of the Whitets that lives in the rag-bag in the attic. My parents gave me my fortune in buttons and started me out in the world to improve my education. I lost my shadow first thing when I was crossing the stile," said the Whitet.

"Oh, ho! You should go to the Rag Man then," said the Chimney Sweep. "He knows all about rag-bags people and attic folk."

"Why of course!" declared Nancy. "Come right along, Whitet. We know where the Rag Man lives. Thank you, Chimney Sweep. I think you should have a button for being so kind."

"Certainly," said the Whitet, reaching into his pocket and giving the Sweep a shot button.

"Thank you," said the Chimney Sweep. "Now my shoe will stay on. I lost the last button the day before yesterday down a chimney I was cleaning. It fell through the stove pipe and into the soup, and I heard Mister Smith say he'd found a black bean in his soup at lunch time. I wonder what he'd have said if he'd found my shoe instead of a button."

"I suppose he'd have said that he'd found a black marrow-bone!" said Nick. They all laughed at this—all except the Whitet, who was still too much worried about his shadow to smile.

"Then the Sweep trudged along his way, dragging his broom behind him, and the Twins and the poor little Whitet went on their way on their way toward the Rag Man's house.

"Come in," said the Rag Man's pool parrot, when the door-bell rang. "The water's fine, ha, ha, ha!" he added when they had stepped inside.

"Why, hello, here!" cried the Rag Man in a jolly voice. "I was just going to take my horse and wagon and go out. What can I do for you, my friends?"

"Did you see my shadow?" said the Whitet. "I lost it crossing the stile."

"Why, hello, here!" cried the Rag Man. "As you are wearing the purple bombazine suit made out of the very same old purple bombazine skirt that came in the Smith's rag-bag, I suppose that is where you came from. Your shadow may have scrambled back home to the Smith's house."

"The Smith's?" shrieked the Whitet. "Why, hello, here!" cried the Rag Man. "They moved into an old hatbox. They are very comfortable. That's all the news I have. I'm sorry but I didn't see your shadow anywhere, young fellow."

"So the Whitet and the Twins had to keep on searching.

VARSITY PLAYERS PRESENT PLAY WELL

King's College Students Give Excellent Performance of Comedy at Opera House

The Varsity Players of the University of King's College made a big hit with their Saint John audience last night when they presented the three-act comedy, "Twosomes," before a large and greatly delighted audience in the Opera House.

The students are on a tour with the comedy production and glowing accounts of their play and of their presentation of it had come to the city. There was but one opinion last night—the comedy was an unqualified success. It was a small cast and every member had an exacting part to play. Each gave a splendid character portrayal and handled the "high notes" of the play in a masterly fashion. The staging and scenic effects were well arranged and the whole production reflected much credit upon the students.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Mrs. Ricketts... Miss Mary Fearon

President's Report—In his report as president, Dr. G. J. Truaman said that the university enrollment for the year had been 302. Counting the Summer School and extramural students the total was 378, with a graduating class of 36 in arts, the largest in the history of the university. Fewer students had gone to the university this year of the kind without definite purpose, who exercised a disturbing and retrograde influence. He hoped they might eventually make over or eliminate most students of that kind.

To Study Abroad—Two of the students had been appointed to study abroad next year—Kenneth Palmer as Rhodes scholar for New Brunswick, and Raymond L. Betts, awarded the I. O. D. E. scholarship and who plans to go to Oxford. Several had been awarded scholarships to study in U. S. universities. Up to the present only a small number of Mt. A. graduates had found permanent positions in the U. S. The larger U. S. universities offered many scholarships to aid students of unusual ability and high purpose. Very few were available in Canadian universities.

Seek To Revive Glories of Islam

A Moslem "League of Nations" may be the outcome of the world conference of Moslems now being held at Cairo with 150 delegates representing 200,000,000 followers of the Prophet. The object of the gathering is to adopt steps to restore the unity of the Moslem world which was shattered when Turkey overthrew its Sultan, who for centuries also was Caliph of Islam. The two chief candidates for the Caliphate are King Fuad of Egypt (left) and Aga Khan (right) already the spiritual head of 70,000,000 Moslems. The latter is better known as a racehorse owner than a religious leader. He is a direct descendant of Mohammed.

ties and that was why so many students crossed the line. "Some of our universities," he said, "and the federal government are realizing the importance of providing help for our men at home, and a number of research scholarships provided by the federal government have come to the Maritime Provinces. The business men of our country should not lose sight of this means of holding the brightest of our students for Canada."

Theological faculty was established at Mount Allison in 1861. The conference of the three religious denominations for the United Church brought two colleges in the Maritime Conference under the direction of the United Church. The difficulties that would arise if two theological colleges were maintained in the one conference are obvious. The Presbyterians have a well equipped college at Halifax, adequate to supply the needs of the church for many years. They had no other college in the Maritimes under the control of the church. The Methodists had the Mount Allison institutions at Sackville. In the university there we have little room for additional students, and we are not in a position to present to erect the residence and class room accommodations that would be necessary were all the theological work of the conference carried on at Mount Allison.

"More than that, to many it did not seem wise to take the theological college of the United Church in Halifax away from a large educational centre like Halifax. For the sake of the larger constituency it was felt that the United Church should be represented in the group of professional and other arts schools growing up around Dalhousie University. For these reasons it has been decided by the governing boards of the two colleges and by the Educational Commission of the general Council for the present to carry on the theological work of the Maritime Conference of the United Church in Halifax."

EFFECT OF CHANGE—Students who are preparing for the ministry will be permitted and encouraged to take their arts work at Mount Allison, and while here they will study Greek, Hebrew, sociology, religious education, biblical history and theology, and such other subjects as are on both the arts and theological courses. After finishing four years of course at Mount Allison, they will be able to get their Bachelor's degree in Divinity in three years, and their certificates in two years. This will probably leave at Mount Allison as many theological students as at present.

Mount Allison's greatest immediate loss was given up Dr. W. G. Watson and Dr. John Line. He paid a tribute to each. President Truaman said he was recommending that two men be added to the staff immediately, one to teach economics, the other to direct the physical activities. Plans were ready for the memorial library and if the regents agreed work should begin in June. The summer school, which started in 1924 with 54, doubled attendance last year. There was expectation of 150 or more this summer. Forty courses were being offered by a teaching staff of 20. The president closed with words of praise for his colleagues on the faculty, with a tribute to Dr. Wigle, retiring principal of the ladies' college.

To Graduates—In his address to the graduates, President Truaman said: "You have spent four years within our college halls and have been included into the society of learned men. A good many jokes are made about the college graduate who is supposed to think he is very wise and very learned. You have looked forward with anticipation to this moment, but now it has been reached, you feel that you really know very little. You have learned to use a few more of the tools of knowledge, you have learned how to work intelligently, and the more ambitious of you will go out from here to use these tools and improve yourselves for great service. There are two things I want to say to you today and the first I shall say in the words of Kathleen Harris: "All the real things of life—love, passion, the joy of sunrises, and music and children's laughter, the happiness that fills some heart to the brim, the bitter dissatisfaction that makes some rich, powerful a shams and failure, all the things by which you and I live and suffer and rejoice and die—are not provable."

IN THEIR OWN HANDS—"They are not provable—they are not matters of study but of living. You may well be thankful for your college course; it has broadened your vision, increased your knowledge, possibly given you incidentally a greater earning power; but in the last analysis the things that make a great life are learned in the process of living itself."

Dr. H. S. Bridges this spring he was appointed superintendent.

REV. E. C. HENNINGAR

Rev. Edward Calvin Hennigar, B. A., B. D., is a native of Saint John, N. B. After passing through the schools of Saint John he went to Mount Allison and graduated with honors in classics in 1902 of the class of that year. Every member attained distinction—three in business, two in medicine, one in law who is now a judge, two in university work, one of these now president of Mt. Allison University, and four in the ministry. The only lady in the class, Miss May Hart, became the wife of Rev. Mr. Hennigar, and has done valuable work in Japan in her own field, especially in introducing and promoting the use of good music. Mrs. Hennigar is a member of the famous Hart family of music in the world.

After graduating Mr. Hennigar studied theology and obtained his B. D. at Mount Allison in 1905. That autumn, having been accepted by the Missionary Board of the Methodist Church, he and Mrs. Hennigar proceeded to Japan. Mr. Hennigar has had much success in his work in that land, having given himself to that work. He has also done valuable work as a contributor to the press. He also has been an enthusiastic leader in the cause of social reform. During the winter a course of lectures on the "Religions of Japan" which Mr. Hennigar gave to Mount Allison, attracted many members of the university and others, and these lectures and other public addresses which he has given have been illuminating and statesmanlike in a very high degree.

E. H. COLPITTS—Edwin Henry Colpitts, LL.D., was born in Pointe-a-Bute in 1872. He went to Mount Allison in 1889 and graduated in 1893, taking honors in science. He went from Mt. Allison to Harvard, where he took his M. A. degree. For many years he has been with the Western Electric Company of New York, and was responsible for many inventions in connection with long distance telephony, and his experiments and research made possible the first distance lines in the world. During the war he was sent to France by the U. S. Government as consulting engineer in connection with the installation of the electrical equipment of the army. As director of research in the engineering department of the Western Electric he took a prominent part in the solution of almost every problem connected with telephonic and telegraphic communications. Last year he was called to Broadway to become vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Few men have made a greater contribution in his chosen field than Mr. Colpitts, and Mt. Allison is proud to count him among her graduates. Mr. Colpitts had two sisters and one brother graduate at Mt. Allison.

ALUMNI MEETING—SACKVILLE, May 17.—At the annual meeting of the Mount Allison University Alumni Society, held in the College Chapel today, the following officers were elected: President, Professor F. W. W. DesBarres, Sackville; first vice-president, S. Worrell, Saint John; secretary-treasurer, Prof. W. M. Tweedie, Sackville; assistant secretary, W. J. Wood, Sackville; auditor, Dr. J. M. Palmer, Sackville. Members of the Council elected were Dr. H. E. Bigelow, Miss Leah Border, J. L. Dixon, Dr. H. E. Thomas, Ross Fleming, Dr. J. M. Palmer, Sackville; Moncton; E. R. Machum, Saint John and John S. Smiley, Amherst.

At the annual meeting of the Mount Allison Alumnae Society the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. J. O. Calkin, Sackville; treasurer, Mrs. C. W. Fawcett, Sackville; first vice-president, Miss Dorothy Hunton, Sackville; second vice-president, Miss L. M. Hart, Sackville; third vice-president, Mrs. Colwell, Halifax; secretary, Mrs. F. W. W. DesBarres, Sackville; Mrs. D. G. MacGregor, Mrs. J. Wood, Miss Caroline Cahill, Sackville. Members elected to the Board of Regents for the term 1927 to 1930: Mrs. W. F. Fraser, New Glasgow; Mrs. J. M. Oulton, Sackville.

Keeping Your Schoolgirl Complexion

By FRANCES NODD Beauty Adviser

The Folly Of using just "any good soap" on your face

Leading skin authorities urge it. It has brought natural skin loveliness to more women than any other method known. In your own interest, use it according to the following rule for one week. Note the improvement your complexion shows: Nature's rule to "Keep That Schoolgirl Complexion" Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all. Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge, if you wish. But never leave them on overnight. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away. Just do this and keep your skin soft and lovely—wrinkles will be less a problem as the years advance.

Coax Your Appetite With BONNY BREAD. Tempting to look at—is Bonny Bread with its lovely golden crust—more tempting, when you cut a slice, is the creamy, even texture. The flavor of Bonny Bread—deliciously appetizing and will arouse your indifference to food to a keen-edged appetite and you'll eat and enjoy slice after slice of Bonny Bread—and you'll have it at every meal. Be Sure to INSIST that Your Grocer Sells You DWYERS' BONNY BREAD. MADE WITH FRESH CREAMY COWS' MILK And the Choicest and Purest of Other Materials.

STRONG LEADER IS NEED OF FRANCE

So Says J. H. Rainville, Former
Deputy Speaker, on Return
From Europe

MONTREAL, May 18—A dictator or a strong government leader who could gain public confidence and halt the steady and ruinous depreciation of her currency was the immediate need of France, declared J. H. Rainville, Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons, in the administration of Sir Robert Borden, 1914-17, who arrived here last night after a four months' sojourn abroad.

Although it was recognized that Premier Briand had done a great deal for France, and was perhaps, the strongest man available at the moment, the public have lost confidence in his administration, Mr. Rainville added.

NELSON'S TAVERN IS SAVED FROM RUIN

"Star and Garter," Portsmouth
Housed Many Famous Men
Long Ago

LONDON, May 18—The license of the Star and Garter public-house, Portsmouth, once a favorite resort of Nelson and other old sea-dogs, was saved from extinction recently. The house had been scheduled for demolition but the brewers promised to do the necessary repairs, and the license was renewed.

The Star and Garter has been a hostelry since 1551, and in the days of the "wooden walls" was the resort of naval officers. Earl Howe, Earl St. Vincent, and Lord Nelson regularly stayed there. Nelson's name, scratched with a diamond, appears on the windows, while below it is another signature, said to have been written by Lady Hamilton.

Sir John Franklin, the Arctic explorer, also stayed at the house, and year after year Lady Franklin returned to occupy the rooms in which she had lived with her husband, after all hope of the ill-fated expedition had been given up.

ESCAPED ELEPHANT HAS LIVELY TIME

Drags Motor Lorry Hitched to it to Haul Animal to The Depot

LONDON, May 18—Barnet, a suburb of London, though not actually infested with elephants, is sufficiently overrun by them to become famous as the nearest bit of lively jungle to London. An elephant on its way from the docks to a local depot for wild animals recently gave the natives the liveliest five hours since the Wars of the Roses staged a battle there some hundreds of years ago.

GETS OUT OF CRATE

The animals arrived in a huge iron crate which was lifted from a railway truck at High Barnet station by a crane. Then the door of the crate was opened, and from that point the elephant took charge of the proceedings. It first strolled on to the railway line. Driven from there it mounted the platform and made its way into the station approach, where for over two hours—admired by those Barnet people who had no trains to catch—keepers tried to secure it by hobbling its legs with chairs. With a swing of its trunk the elephant knocked one keeper down, then playfully pushed another away with its leg, and with a backward swing of its trunk sent a third spinning to the ground. Loaves of bread were brought, but though they were devoured with relish the elephant omitted to regard them as a peace offering. A quantity of hay handed to it was tossed contemptuously over its back.

FINALLY HOBBOLED

Finally it was hobbled and persuaded to walk half the length of the approach road leading to Barnet-hill. Beyond that point it refused to move. A motor lorry was fetched, and the elephant was hitched to it; but instead of the lorry pulling the elephant, the elephant pulled the lorry, and away he went with it through all the traffic of Barnet-hill. Delighted at having his own way, he towed the lorry to his destination, and Barnet became an ordinary town once more.

Rats Create Havoc In Ancient Papers

LONDON, May 18—Thirty highly-skilled men are busy at work in the Repair Department of the Record Office in Chancery-lane remedying the ravages which time and neglect have wrought among ancient documents. Many torn fragments are being mounted on new parchment by the use of gause and silk.

"Years ago," said an official, "this work was very badly done."

"Odd documents from the courts and public offices were stuffed into sacks and boxes, and frequently became the food of rats and mice before the Record Office took it over."

A skeleton of a rat, with a copy of a Chancery roll, on which it had been making its meal, is now exhibited in the office.

The roll has been flattened out, mounted and repaired, and it was possible to decipher the writing on the fragments.

Important finds have been made in sacks of crumbling documents, of which there is such a quantity that the Repair Department will be kept busy for a long time.

The first officially recognized School of Hairdressing is soon to be opened at the Regent street Polytechnic in London, that unique educational institution which teaches anything and everything. SURVEY OF EAST END HOUSING TO BE UNDERTAKEN

Board of Health Decides to Look Into Living Conditions There

DEATHS IN APRIL WERE NINETY-FOUR

Few Cases of Notifiable Disease Reported For Last Month

The Board of Health, at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon, decided to make a survey of the housing conditions in Prince Edward, St. Patrick, Erin, St. David's, Clarence, Brunswick and Hanover streets, to determine conditions under which people were living in many of the houses in this locality. The object of this survey is to report on the living conditions of many families housed in the section indicated.

94 DEATHS IN APRIL. Secretary T. M. Burns reported 94 deaths in the city during the month of April. As to notifiable diseases the number of cases reported last month compared favorably with the remarkably low score of April 1925. This year there were only five cases of diphtheria as against three in 1925; 21 cases of scarlet fever this year, 14 in 1925; five cases of measles this year, 11 in 1925; one case of whooping-cough and two of influenza this year against none last year.

There were ten cases of tuberculosis reported last month against 12 in April of 1925 but there were no typhoid or mumps this year whilst last year the cases were one and two respectively.

T. B. REPORT.

Miss Alice B. Higgins, reporting for the Saint John Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, said that the department had made 450 visits to 128 adult and 186 children patients during last month. This work was progressing satisfactorily. In the department of Infant Welfare, Miss H. B. MacKay, supervisor, reported 336 visits and the attendance of 30 babies at the north end clinic, 54 at the Health Centre and 61 in west end. Dr. Warwick,

Clean bathroom fixtures with sub-district health officer, reported on the appointment of Misses McPhail and Richardson as child welfare nurses under the direction of the board and how they have initiated their work, for meeting here tonight and received unanimous support for a province-wide campaign against price-cutting.

FOOD INSPECTOR. Mrs. Marie Furlong-Coleman, food inspector, told of her 347 visits during the month of April amongst the groceries, cafes and other places where food is sold and served. She explained of finding unclean refrigerators in some eating places and how such conditions had been remedied. The matter of unclean meat benches, etc., was also reported to the board and was handled satisfactorily attended to.

In the dental clinic there had been 217 treatments amongst 80 child patients in April and in the pre-school age 10 little ones had their work done gratis by some of the best dentists in the city.

A dump on the Millidge property, Cranston Avenue, had been ordered closed, Dr. H. L. Abramson, government bacteriologist, reported the water supply to be satisfactory and a letter from Dr. G. G. Melvin, Chief Medical Health Officer of the province, gave instructions concerning a house to house inspection as to spring cleanup.

GOOD CHEER MESSAGE. A message of good cheer was ordered sent to John Kelly, chairman of the board, who is undergoing surgical treatment in the Infirmary.

who wants more than one piece must do his shopping accompanied by his friends or relatives, because only one piece of armour will be sold to any purchaser. The armour has been lying at the Tower ever since the days of Charles I. It is nearly all pikemen's and horsemen's equipment, and was probably made about 1650. A helmet sells for about £2. A pair of steel gauntlets, guaranteed to be Charles I's, was sold to an American girl for 35s.

RUBBER HEELS FOR GUARDS. All military men above the rank of private are agitated. The British army's efficiency is threatened with an Achilles' heel. And the post-war moral turpitude of the nation receives the menace without a flicker. Rubber heels for soldiers! Old C. C.'s are turning in the best club chairs, and old R. S. M.'s ginger moustaches lose their military curl. It means taking the click out of the smartest battalions. And the tragic irony is that the Guards, the glass of army fashion and the mould of military form, are being made the corps vile of this monstrous experiment.

Ex-service men alone can fully appreciate the enormity of the scandal. They remember that it was, even during the thickest days of the Mons Retreat, still a "crime" for a Guardsman to unbutton his tunic, and how, when a Guards' battalion moved up in the front line in the muddest trenches, they carried "numbers" carried bags of boot and button polish as tenderly as Mills bombs. And now the Guards are to be rubber-heeled. Farewell content, farewell the tranquil mind! No more a soldier! A Guardsman's salute now will be like a parade ground ghost—lacking all sound and fury, it will signify nothing.

A FIGHTING PADRE. From the top of a bus in Regent street I caught sight of the Rev. Martin Andrews, evidently up on a visit from his Cornish parish of Stoke Climeland. Before it was preferred to this living by the Prince of Wales, he was on the staff of Kharotum Cathedral, where, as on the western front in the war, the troops found him a very live wire. He has the distinction of never having been a subaltern in climbing the ladder from private to field rank, for he enlisted in Australia, where he happened to be stationed as a Church of England minister on the outbreak of war, and he was a sergeant-major in the "Ausies" at Gallipoli. Then he was transferred to France as a chaplain, and he ended as a paré at Corps. I wonder how he finds English country life after his adventure career as combatant and non-combatant. He certainly had a wonderful way with our fighting men.

EPSOM CHANGES. Probably this is the last year Epsom will retain its old-world characteristics. Already the first signs of change are seen for the new rules have banished the gipsies from the neighborhood of the course, and gipsies were most certainly indigenous to the soil of Epsom. Next year the new stands will have been completed, and for once those who pay the top price may not have to bear the brunt of a sheer showing and pushing the scalp. In the end of horse racing was reminded today of a high province of the South Africa Government, to whom it was desired officially to show courtesy. He was given access to the wrong side of the main stand, and there he stumped, squaring and cursing till the Derby was over, an angry man, though creditable report said he had £1,000 to £200 on the winner, Spyon Kop—because it was the only horse running that had an African nomenclature.

A SOUND BUDGET. Mr. Churchill's new budget finds very general approval among Unionists. The soundness of its finance is commented on, and one suspects that many others the absence of "sensations" has been hailed with considerable relief. The sinking fund is proposed, assuming that it is adhered to, is calculated to assist the debt conversion operation which is believed to be in contemplation. Here and there we heard concern expressed about the Chancellor's failure to secure really substantial economies. It was pointed out that he predicted an increase in expenditure next year and a decrease in revenue. There is a suspicion, however, that revenue receipts have been deliberately underestimated. In view of the inquiries which Mr. Churchill is known to be making the failure to impose "luxury" taxes on such imports as furs and diamonds has surprised many Unionists. I understand, however, that he was afraid of injuring the export trade, which, it seems, is much greater than the home trade.

TWO FACTS. Two facts, however, stand forth conspicuously out of the budget welter. One is that so far all efforts to secure post-war retrenchment have been utterly inadequate. Like the plausible endeavoring of Henry V. "They do merely botch and bungle up damnation." What we need is not a mere pruning and shaving, but a wholesale adjustment of Whitehall's outlook. We must get our civil service to think once more, no longer in millions, but in hundred thousands. Another fact that must be recognized is that, but for the coal trouble, past and present, there would have been a substantial relief in income-tax. Coal is costing all income-taxpayers an extra sixpence on their assessment, and will do so for another year at least.

Paper and Prosperity

OUR forests—classed by the early settlers as liabilities—have proven themselves among Canada's most valuable assets. Out of the depths of the forest has grown an enormous Canadian industry of which our pioneer forefathers never dreamed. The Pulp and Paper industry is one of the mainstays of our national prosperity. In one year alone the value of the Canadian pulp and paper production was $223,720,000, of which $154,555,951 was exported. The demand for paper is constantly growing more insistent and it is to Canada that the world looks for its supply.

And it is upon electricity that this vast Canadian industry has been built. Man's ingenuity has harnessed the energy of the rushing torrents and used it in transforming the giants of Canada's forests into the marketable commodity—Paper. By designing, building and supplying machinery and equipment of every type, needed to generate and utilize electric power for paper-mills, the Canadian General Electric Company has been privileged to contribute, in a large measure, to the success of this basic Canadian industry and to the commercial prosperity of the nation.

FOR Acid Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a "little" Phillips Milk of Magnesia in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly. BETTER THAN SODA. For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

REMINISCENCES OF BELMONT, HISTORIC HOME OF LOYALISTS

Early Days in New Brunswick With the Bliss and Wilmot Families

By HENRY WILMOT.

FOR MANY YEARS, travellers on the Saint John River and the adjacent highway, have had their attention drawn to a fine Colonial residence, beautifully situated on the western bank of the Saint John River in Lincoln, Sanbury county, New Brunswick. The river at this point is of noble proportions, three-quarters of a mile wide, and stretching in a straight line nine miles from the City of Fredericton, the church steeples being plainly visible from the river bank. The head of Oronto Island, with its beautiful foliage, lies in mid stream, while on the opposite shore may be seen the historic park of Magdalenville, the site of the first settlement in English descent on the Saint John River. Widely known as the Belmont homestead, it was erected in 1820 by the Honorable John Murray Bliss, a Justice of the Supreme Court, and for a time Administrator of the Government of the Province. Joseph W. Lawrence, an eminent citizen of Saint John, in his "Lives of the early Judges of New Brunswick" refers to the Bliss homestead, as being considered a very fine residence at the time of its erection. In a letter to the writer he referred to it as of much historical interest, and requested a photograph for insertion in his manuscript, which was inclosed to him. He did not live to finish his work, which was afterwards completed by Dr. A. A. Stockton.

Judge Bliss evidently desired to make his dwelling as comfortable as possible. Built with yellow pine lumber, fastened with hand wrought nails, it was lined throughout with brick, making it frost proof; double windows were not needed, and it was delightfully cool in summer. The rooms were large with low ceilings and high mantels, ample provision was made for entertaining on a large scale as three pairs of folding doors were provided. The shingles seem to be the same as when Bliss first lived there, and as it stands today the old homestead appears good for another century. The house was a laborer's cottage, the homestead was the only dwelling on the property from the date of purchase. John M. Wilmot in 1837 until 1867, when the residence now owned by the writer, was erected, followed in 1891 by the brick dwelling, built by R. D. Wilmot, Jr., and now owned and occupied by T. H. Estabrooks, Esquire.

The Bliss Family
The first known ancestor was Thomas of Bolton, Devonshire, born about 1580, a wealthy land owner, and by religion a Puritan. He was persecuted by the church authorities, was imprisoned and finally ruined financially. Due to the persecutions, Thomas and George, left England in 1635 with their families for the then wilderness of America. Thomas finally settled in Hartford, Connecticut, and died in 1640. He had ten children, of whom Samuel settled in Springfield, Mass., and died there in 1720, aged 96 years. He had eleven children, of whom the eldest, Daniel Bliss, of Concord, New Hampshire, one of the most distinguished of the clergy of his time, was the ancestor of the family. He was a member of the Provincial Legislature of New Brunswick, and was also a member of the House of Commons of the United Kingdom. He was a member of the first House of Assembly, and in 1803 was appointed Chief Justice and President of the Executive Council. He continued in office 27 years, and died at Saint John in 1834, leaving three sons, who afterwards occupied distinguished positions. William Blowers became a Justice of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia. Of his daughters, one married General W. H. O'Dell, of Fredericton, and another became the wife of Bishop Binney of Nova Scotia. Henry, a distinguished member of the English Bar, was for some years agent for New Brunswick in London, and was granted a coat of arms. Lewis, the last survivor of the sons of the Chief Justice, died in London in 1814, aged 72 years, and although long absent from the Province, was not forgotten of Saint John. His native city. Two years before his death he presented to Trinity Church the Chancel Window, one of the finest and most costly in North America, as a memorial to his mother. So long as Trinity Church stands the name of Bliss will not be forgotten in the City of the Loyalists.

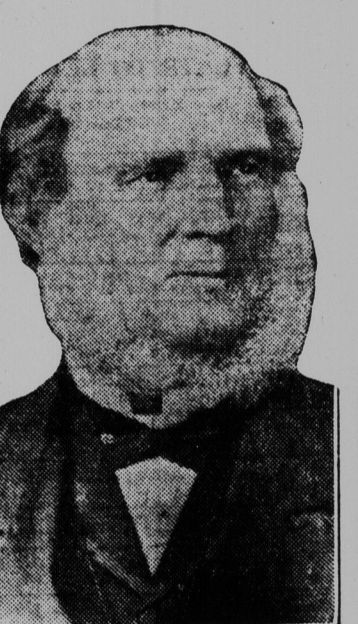

The Wilmot Family
The Wilmot family of Chaddesdon Hall, Derbyshire, is directly descended from Sir Robert Wilmot, of Derby, born about 1545, his wife was Mary Eardley, hence the branch well known in Canada as the Eardley Wilmots.
The present occupant of Chaddesdon Hall, Sir Ralph Henry, Sr., was born in 1740, and died in 1820. He was a descendant of Sir Robert Wilmot in America is uncertain, there can be no doubt of the connection, as a family crest is precisely similar among descendants on both sides of the Atlantic. The historical register of New England shows that Benjamin Wilmot settled in New Haven, Conn., about 1641, and died there in 1688; issue three children. His son William, who married Sarah Thomas, died in 1689; issue ten children. Next in line was Thomas, born in 1719, his wife Mary Thompson, issue six children. His son, Ezekiel, was born in 1740 and died in 1746; issue three children, Mary, Isaac and Lemuel.

Hon. John M. Bliss
Honorable John Murray Bliss, surviving son of Honorable Daniel Bliss and Mary Murray, was born at Concord in 1771, left the United States when a youth, and studied law in Fredericton with the Honorable Jonathan Bliss. For several years he represented York in the House of Assembly, holding the office of Solicitor General until his elevation to the Bench in 1816 upon the death of Judge Upham. Upon the death of Honorable Ward Chipman, President of the Executive Council, he was sworn in as Administrator of the Province, and held the office until the arrival of Sir Howard Douglas. It is a remarkable fact and without parallel in Provincial history that out of a Bench of four Judges, three were members of one family, viz: Chief Justice Bliss, Honorable Daniel Bliss and Judge Upham, his father-in-law. Upon his elevation to the Bench he moved to the beautiful family property at Belmont, the tradition relating that when attending his official duties at Fredericton, his carriage was equipped with outriders in hand some liveries. Judge Bliss was a man of fine presence, and possessed all the desirable qualities calculated to impart dignity to his judicial office. His comparatively early death at Saint John in 1834 was greatly lamented, as among the members of the profession to which he belonged, he was both revered and beloved.

3 Members of N. B. House
It is a remarkable fact that three of the sons of Lemuel Wilmot were members of the New Brunswick House of Assembly at the same time and the fourth, Samuel, a member of the Legislature of Upper Canada. Of the sons, Malcolm, the eldest, removed to West Moreland, where many of his descendants now reside. He represented the county in the House of Assembly and was stipendiary magistrate in Moncton. He must have been of eccentric ideas, as it is related that when Sir Howard Douglas, en route in his carriage, to Halifax, was passing through the town, he was arrested by Malcolm for traveling on Sunday, which was a breach of the law at that time. The magistrate's commission was subsequently cancelled, and the rights to Samuel, the second son, went to Upper Canada and settled on a property near New Castle on Lake Ontario, which he named Belmont. A stream in his vicinity abounded in salmon, and in course of time was deserted by the fish. His son, Samuel, began a series of experiments with salmon spawn by hatching them in trays of zinc, perforated to admit of air; these were placed in a brook and regularly inspected. He carefully protected them in

BELMONT
THE name Belmont originally belonged to the Bliss property only, but after its purchase in 1837 by John M. Wilmot, owner of the adjacent farm for many years, the whole property, containing about 1,000 acres, was widely known as Belmont.
It has since been subdivided, but will always remain of much historical interest, since it has been the home of two Lieutenant-Governors, one previously a Justice of the Supreme Court, the other Speaker of the Senate of Canada and a member of the Dominion Cabinet, who was also a Justice of the Supreme Court and became Administrator of the Government of the Province before the arrival of Sir Howard Douglas.
To these may be added a Justice of the Peace, a member of the Executive Council, two members of the Provincial Legislature, and arrived at Parvatus in May, 1785, two days before its incorporation as the City of Saint John. Four years later he married Mary daughter of Honorable John Worthington of Springfield. He was a member of the first House of Assembly, and in 1803 was appointed Chief Justice and President of the Executive Council. He continued in office 27 years, and died at Saint John in 1834, leaving three sons, who afterwards occupied distinguished positions. William Blowers became a Justice of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia. Of his daughters, one married General W. H. O'Dell, of Fredericton, and another became the wife of Bishop Binney of Nova Scotia. Taxes Only $10
In order to illustrate what drastic changes have taken place since that time in farming and the cost of living: The whole taxes on the property only amounted to $10. Mr. Wilmot usually employed four married men, who paid rent and worked for $16 per month. Referring to a remark once made by the writer that it would be "cheating the climate to attempt to raise wheat in the Province," it is an interesting fact that it was always successfully raised at Belmont, and in addition to the household supply, a ready sale was found for seed. The flour manufactured at that time while sweet, and the bread made from it was superior to any made elsewhere. It is not claimed that we can compete with the West in wheat production. Like Judge Bliss, John M. Wilmot became the local stipendiary magistrate, and during his hours of leisure, superintended his farming operations, and was a diligent student of the province. He died at Belmont in his seventy-sixth year. His wife survived him and died at Saint John in 1860.

Mayor of Saint John
Upon his return to Saint John he began to take an interest in municipal affairs, was elected an alderman, and afterwards became mayor of the city. In 1846, he was elected a member for the city and county in the House of Assembly, and, with the exception of one term, continued to represent the constituency for upwards of 20 years. He was a member for three times a member of the Executive Council and filled the office of Surveyor General of the Province. He was also a member of the New Brunswick Assembly, and recommended an issue of Government paper. He contended for an enlargement of the note issuing function from the banking, and argued that commerce is not a creature of the State, but a function of the community, and that it is the duty of the State to regulate it. The Third Generation
Having now reached the third generation of the family, it will next in line be Lemuel Allen Wilmot, eldest son of William, who was born on the farm in Lincoln on January 31, 1809. His father, Hannah, daughter of Honorable Daniel Bliss, died when he was only 25 years of age. He was a very intelligent, possessed much nobility of character, and her early death was greatly regretted.
In order to become proficient in French, young Allan spent a year with a family in the Province of Quebec. He was a very successful student, and was a member of the University of New Brunswick. First Lieut.-Governor
In 1853 he was appointed a Justice of the Supreme Court and continued to fill that office acceptably until 1868, when he became the first native Lieutenant Governor of New Brunswick after Confederation. Governor Wilmot was a man who made many friends, in private life he was affable in manner and of genial disposition, no man could be a more interesting companion, and his fund of anecdotes seemed to be inexhaustible. He was an active member of the Methodist Church, and throughout his whole life, continued to lead the choir and superintend the Sunday school. He was a man of refined tastes and took an especial delight in his flower garden at Evelyn Grove, which, eventually, became one of the most attractive features of Fredericton. He died in Fredericton in May, 1878, in his seventieth year. Mrs. Wilmot, who was Elizabeth Black of Halifax, survived him.
After the decease of John M. Wilmot, the next owner of Belmont was his eldest son, Robert Duncan, who came with his family in 1831, and continued to reside there until his death in 1891, excepting during his term as Lieutenant Governor, when he occupied Longmeadow House, Fredericton. He was born on October 16, 1809, and was educated at the Saint John Grammar School under Doctor Patterson, Saint John head master. At an early age he entered into business with his father, and was a very successful merchant and shipowner. In 1833, he married Susan Elizabeth, daughter of Captain James Wilmot, of Saint John, and moved to Liverpool, as agent for the shipping which period he was three times a member of the Executive Council and filled the office of Surveyor General of the Province. He was also a member of the New Brunswick Assembly, and recommended an issue of Government paper. He contended for an enlargement of the note issuing function from the banking, and argued that commerce is not a creature of the State, but a function of the community, and that it is the duty of the State to regulate it.

stead and adjoining lands from the heirs of the Bliss estate.
The Belmont Loyalist Home, erected in 1820, was a fine Colonial residence, built with yellow pine lumber, fastened with hand wrought nails, and lined throughout with brick. It was a two-story building, with a central entrance, and a small porch. The house was built by John M. Wilmot, and was the home of the Wilmot family for many years. It was destroyed by fire in 1891, and was replaced by the present Belmont Loyalist Home, which was erected in 1920. The house was built by Robert D. Wilmot, Jr., and is the home of the Wilmot family to this day.

Attacks Scotch System
"He denounced the Scotch system of banking adopted by Canada as the most monopolistic, which if exercised by the State exclusively, would be productive of a large revenue. The power of the bank, in the least, was a beneficial addition to the essential functions of banking. He had a personal experience during the depression in 1847, when the imports were reduced two-thirds and the banking circulation three-fifths. The influence of foreign exchange on the currency, causing irregular intervals of demand for specie and the banks in consequence being compelled to call upon their customers for one-half of the population, namely, the farmers. In fact, its tendency was to injure the latter, as the branch bank system tended to absorb on deposit the funds of private bankers and rural holders of money, and thus dried up the sources from which farmers derived their capital."

Led a Busy Life
Robert Duncan Wilmot led a busy life. Arriving at manhood, he became a partner in his father's John M. Wilmot's business. He was a prominent merchant and shipowner in Saint John. He became an alderman and, later, was Mayor. In 1846, when thirty-seven years of age he was elected to the Legislature with John Jordan, J. R. Partlow and William J. Ritchie, and at once took a leading position. He was no follower or temporizer; his opinions were all ways positive and fixed, and he was capable of expressing them fearlessly and with force. In 1853 he became Speaker of the Senate of Canada, and member of the Privy Council. Two years later he relinquished the Speak

Life at Belmont
Referring to the family life at Belmont, it is interesting to note that when His Excellency Sir J. H. T. Manners Sutton paid an official visit to Saint John, an address was presented by the Warden of the Municipality at the Court House, after which the Governor, with Lady Manners Sutton and the country officials, were invited to a luncheon at Belmont. His Excellency Governor Gordon, during his term of office, was also entertained at Belmont under similar circumstances, and was invited to a luncheon at Belmont. As part of the estate of Honorable George Hayward, M. P., was afterwards added to Belmont, the mention of him may properly be made in these notes. His father, Captain John Hayward, was a member of the first House of Assembly of the Province, and was the first child of English parents born on the Saint John River. He was a very successful merchant and shipowner. In 1833, he married Susan Elizabeth, daughter of Captain James Wilmot, of Saint John, and moved to Liverpool, as agent for the shipping which period he was three times a member of the Executive Council and filled the office of Surveyor General of the Province. Our Many Advantages Should these conditions be permanent, and we should profit by the example of our shrewd neighbors, Maine, with less natural attractions, are reaping millions from tourists, largely owing to the development of their water power. To use a common expression: We should bank on our beautiful scenery, with our fine summer climate, good roads and prospective hydro development, should cause our people to more fully appreciate their many advantages, and thus, to some extent, fulfill the aspirations and justify the great sacrifices made by their Loyalist ancestors.

Big Twilight World Exists Near Neptune
Man lived for ages on this little Earth before he knew that on the outskirts of our solar system, about 27,000,000 miles away, was a huge twilight world 85 times larger than our earth, but so far away and actually so little sunshine that the presence of this huge dark star was not actually discovered until 1846, says Capper's Weekly. Now it is known Neptune has an immense cloud-laden atmosphere. Far beneath lies the real Neptune banketed everlastingly with mist, its short day of seven hours alternating between twilight and darkness. Although far out in space Neptune is not a frigid world, the clouds and water vapor prove that it probably has sufficient internal heat to sustain a tropical vegetation. Large as Neptune is, few earthlings have seen it, as it is visible only through a telescope and at certain times of year.

Robt. Duncan Wilmot
The last of the owners of Belmont to become a representative was Robert Duncan Wilmot, Junior, the second son, who was born in Liverpool, and educated first in Saint John, then Doctor Patterson, and afterwards at the Sunbury Grammar school. He was for a time a representative of Lincoln, in the Municipal Council, and held the office of warden. In the Dominion election of 1887 he defeated Charles Burpee, who had continuously represented the constituency since Confederation. He was successful in three subsequent elections for Sunbury and Queens, but was defeated by Honorable A. G. Blair, who had accepted office as Minister of Railways in the Laurier government. He was afterwards elected Messrs. G. G. King and Colonel McLean in closely contested elections, and in the same contests was never opposed by the same candidate a second time. In 1887 he married Elizabeth, daughter of the late Benjamin Black, of Halifax, who survived him. After the sale of his farm in Lincoln, he removed to Fredericton and died there in his eighty-second year, leaving a son, Allan B., and a daughter, the wife of Doctor George H. Parkes of Montreal.

Interesting Sketch of Famous Residence and 4 Generations of Owners

After the completion of the latter, he remained in British Columbia and held several important railway positions. His four sons all volunteered for service, Lemuel Allan, Lieutenant of Engineers, won the M.C. for conspicuous bravery.
Of the seven brothers and sisters, who called Belmont home, and spent many happy years there, the writer is the only one remaining on the ancestral acres. His residence, built in 1820, on the original site of the homestead, by a Loyalist ancestor, and his children belong to the fifth generation to be associated with the Belmont property.
The writer has, hitherto, endeavored to give a brief historical sketch of Belmont and its owners during its Provincial days, from 1787 to within a recent date, and the question naturally arises: What about existing conditions? The writer has endeavored to apply in the present instance, in 1897, as has been recorded, John M. Wilmot, a merchant of Saint John, bought out the then owners, while since 1917 another Saint John merchant, Theodore Harding Kata, has purchased the whole original property with the buildings, including the writer's dwelling and its surroundings. There is an adage that "he who makes two blades of grass grow where one grew before" is a better gentleman. The latter gentleman, however, has done his best, with the aid of the writer's skill made him a power in any assembly. He delighted to theorize an abstract proposition. A combat on Free Trade doctrines was always to his taste. Thirty years before Protection was adopted by Canada he was its staunchest propagator, and was the first advocate amongst our public men of the greenback as a National currency system. He was a member of the Executive Council of the State. This system, adopted years after by the United States, has as yet only been imitated by the Canadian government. If he had lived today and witnessed the issue of a sum approaching one hundred and fifty millions of dollars in bank currency, giving the banks an enormously profitable business, his protests would have rung all over Canada.

Homestead Improved
If imitation is the most sincere form of flattery, the result of Belmont operations should be satisfactory to the owner. Over a wild area, more thorough cultivation is noticeable, unsightliness has been removed, with benefit to the highway and a marked improvement effected in the general outlook.
In concluding these reminiscences it is interesting to compare existing conditions with those that prevailed during the first half of the last century. Our Loyalist ancestors, in their struggle for existence, and determination to succeed, naturally devoted all their energies to the development of agriculture and in providing churches, schools and the other adjuncts of civilization. These conditions, under the next generation, and largely until the abrogation of the American Reciprocity Act in 1892, the inauguration of Confederation of the year following.
Since that period there has been a steady exodus, especially from the Maritime Provinces, to the United States, and the result has been a depopulation of the rural counties of New Brunswick. There has been small, and in Sunbury has actually declined. "We must have people and, with its prohibitory laws, in a large degree a source of injury to our development. Then, again, our boys who go to Canada, West of the harvest excursions and see the rich fields ready for the plough, can hardly be expected to plant their feet in the laborious work of clearing land in their native province, and so, at present, we are losing our rural population in both directions.

300-Year Old Elevator Is Discovered

LONDON, May 18.—A smuggler's den containing an elevator dated 1644 has been discovered at Dover.

The den was revealed during inspection of a block of old houses on the Commercial Quay in connection with proposed housing improvements. The house is four stories high, and the elevator went from the basement on the water level to the top of the building. Hidden behind "cushion" walls it is still in working order, and there is every indication that the place was at one time used as a smuggler's collecting house.

Reaping the Golden Harvest

Agriculture is the backbone of Canadian development. The money received by the Western farmer for his grain crop is newly-created wealth, which circulates throughout the Dominion and influences the activity of all trades and industries.

To enable the farmer to receive the maximum return, his grain must reach the world's markets at the appropriate time, in sound condition. This essential service is performed by the elevator companies, of which The Alberta Pacific Grain Company, Limited, is one of the most important and most successful in Western Canada.

Alberta Pacific Grain Company owns 319 grain elevators strategically located on railways serving the rich farming centres of Alberta and Saskatchewan. It also controls substantial interests in large terminal elevators at the head of the Great Lakes, and is acquiring one of the largest and most active terminal elevators at the port of Vancouver.

An opportunity to invest in this very essential public utility enterprise is afforded by our offering of Alberta Pacific Grain 7% Cumulative Preferred Shares. The shares are offered at $100, each share carrying a bonus of one share of Common Stock.

The Protection of Purity

PAINT resists the destructive action of sun, wind and rain in proportion to its purity. The protective coating to best withstand weather and wear is MARTIN-SENOUR "100% PURE" Paint, which is guaranteed to be absolutely pure.

Pure white lead and pure zinc oxide are combined in proportions that exhaustive tests have shown to produce the most efficient pigment. With pure, high-grade, filtered linseed oil (bleached for white paint), this pigment forms the most durable paint made. The tough, elastic film does not crack or scale, because MARTIN-SENOUR "100% PURE" paint contains no weakening adulterations.

In every MARTIN-SENOUR product—and there's one for every conceivable painting job, indoors and out—the maximum of purity is found. It always pays to use MARTIN-SENOUR paints, varnishes, stains and enamels.

There's a dealer in your locality who can give you the very information you need and supply the materials for a better painting job at less cost. Get in touch with him.

Palace Theatre Presents Marie Prevost in Mystery, Comedy and Melodrama

Romance, adventure and thrills, are in "Bobbied Hair" Warner Bros. production which opened yesterday at the Palace Theatre.

Marie Prevost plays Connamara Moore, the charmingly willful heroine of this story. She has every opportunity for dramatic as well as comic scenes in this picture, and gives one of her finest performances.

Reed Hovess and John Roche play Bingham Carrington and Saltonstall Adams, Connamara's suitors. Bingham claims that she both her beautiful auburn hair and marry him, and tells that she leaves it unbobbed and marries him.

Produced on an elaborate scale with a cast of recognized stars, the Allan Dwan-Paramount production, "Night Life of New York," which opened at the Unique Theatre yesterday, is just a colorful and entertaining metropolitan story.

FLAG POLE FOR CITY HALL TO BE COUNCIL TOPIC

Colors on Loyalist Day Fly From Short Pole on Balcony

RENOVATION OF SAME SUGGESTED

Schools Have Holiday—Patriotic Aids From Trinity Chimes

The request of His Worship Mayor White that citizens honor the centenary of the landing of the Loyalists here, today, by flying their flags very generally observed. The city flag was hanging from the short pole on the balcony over the main entrance to city hall there being no flag staff on the roof of the building. It is understood this matter will be brought up at the council meeting this afternoon and that probably a flag staff will soon be placed.

HOW OLD'S YOUR FLAG? The display of national bunting in honor of Loyalist Day throughout the city elicited the remark from a patriotic citizen that the whole town seemed due for a replenishment of its flags. Many of the colors thrown by the breeze today were shabby, some were torn. A Union Jack flown from a high staff in prominent location was so bedraggled and washed-out that its changed coloring almost de-nationalized it. With some fresh flags and renovated flagpoles the observer told a Times-Star reporter he felt sure the city would receive a new inspiration and more patriotic and more attractive appearance to visitors. The schools of the city were closed today and the children enjoyed the work of producing their studies and the fine day the weather man served up for them.

Trinity chimes rang out My Own Canadian Home and other patriotic airs at the noon hour.

LICENSE FEE IS DOUBLED TO $50

Chief Inspector Says Conditions Under Prohibition Act Improve

That about 40 persons have been licensed to conduct beer shops in the City of Saint John for the year commencing May 1, 1926, was learned today from W. L. McFarlane, chief inspector under the prohibitory law, who arrived in the city last evening. It was not the intention to issue any additional licenses, it was said. While only 40 licenses have been issued this year, compared to approximately 50 for last year, the revenue to the province from this source will be considerably greater, as each license here costs this year $50, while last year they were $25 each.

SAYS IMPROVEMENT.

Conditions were improving throughout the province all the time, the chief inspector said this morning, and he and his staff of inspectors were now preparing to cope in a more vigorous manner with the bootlegging and of liquor violations, he said. When asked his views as to how the proposed increase in the number of customs officers along the Northumberland Street district would affect the enforcement of the provincial law, Mr. McFarlane replied that it would greatly help matters, but said that while the customs officers' duties were to prevent the landing of illicit liquor, his department was called upon to prevent traffic in this liquor after it had been distributed through the country.

Table with 2 columns: Year ending, Net Earnings. Rows: Year ending June 30, 1924 ($825,846.88), Year ending June 30, 1925 (868,469.08), Six months to Dec. 31 last (494,815.54), Month of December (109,760.74)

The position of the 10-year 6 1-2 per cent. Mortgage Debentures of the St. Lawrence Mills is noted in part by a review of Net Earnings. They show: December earnings reflect the operation of the new sulphite mill. This year's earnings should therefore be $1,200,000.00. Doubled newsprint production provided by new financing will bring the net total to two millions per year. Bond interest totals $520,000, of which this issue covers $130,000. By every analysis it is earned many times over and the two year common stock warrants become most valuable.
