LA MARQUISE DE FONTENAY

Their Majesties' Ready Sympathy Pleases Public—A Royal Bankrupt—Scapegraces of Reigning Families

King George and Queen Mary's timely and sympathetic visit to the scene of the great colliery explosion at Silverwood, near Rotherham, in Yorkshire, and the solicitude which they both manifested for the families of the victims, have done much to increase their hold upon the regard and affection of the English people.

King Victor Emmanuel III. is always one of the earliest on the spot when any great misfortune happens to his people, such, for instance, as the earthquake at Messina, and in the southern Italian provinces.

His late father, King Humbert, did not hesitate an instant to visit the cholera-stricken patients in the hospitals, at the time when that plague was raging at Naples, and met there on a common ground of mercy and charity, the Cardinal Archbishop of the city.

King Alfonso of Spain, whenever there are any of those terrible inundations which spread devastation and suffering in his dominions, gets there as rapidly as he can, which is not saying a little—while on the occasion of the last serious outbreak of the bubonic plague at Lisbon, the most exalted Queen Marie Amelia, a princess of France, spent day after day at the hospitals, tending the victims with her own hands. She, by the degree of M. D.

Emperor Francis Joseph has always been conspicuous for the very active personal part he takes in the rescue work, whenever a disaster befalls his people. At the memorable devastation of Conspoda, by the floods of the Theis, he nearly lost his own life by drowning.

In Germany, the sovereign considers it part of his "maître de Roi" (his business as king) to manifest in this practical form the sympathy of the throne, either in person, or through one of the princes of his house.

Count Osthelm, whose financial troubles are now engaging the attention of the London Bankruptcy Court, and concerning whose identity the English authorities seem to be somewhat undecided, is no other than the former Prince Hermann of Saxe-Weimar. In fact, he was until 1892 the heir presumptive to the Grandducal throne of Saxe-Weimar. He is retained in his status as a prince of the blood, he would have been immune from the jurisdiction of the English bankruptcy court, and from that of every other English tribunal, by reason of the extra-territorial rights which full-blooded members retaining homes in foreign countries, like ambassadors and ministers in the countries to which they are accredited.

The ex-prince, who is about twenty-seven years of age, was attached as lieutenant to the crack regiment of Guards of the Guard in Berlin in 1905, and as heir-presumptive to his cousin's throne of Saxe-Weimar, and to the numerous private estates that belong to the chief of the family, was received with open arms by the court of the Kaiser, to whom he is pretty closely related. But he had inherited from his spendthrift father extravagant tastes, and ere long became involved in monetary difficulties, of so serious a character that he was transferred by way of discipline to the 11th Lancer Regiment, stationed in the dull little town of Saarbürg. In the hope of restoring his shattered fortunes, he became in 1906 a suitor for the hand and incidentally for the fortune of Marie Bonaparte, who has since married Prince George of Greece, and whose wealth is derived from her father's part ownership of the public gambling tables of Monte Carlo. But although Prince Hermann was much nearer a throne than George of Greece, owing to the fact that his father Prince William of Saxe-Weimar is virtually excluded from the succession, and that the grandducal heritage by either of his marriages, yet his reputation was such that both Marie Bonaparte and her father rejected his suit.

The failure of this plan for a rich alliance induced Prince Hermann still further into difficulties, and ultimately he intervened—that is to say, he was judicially declared not merely insolvent, but was placed under "curatel," being thereby deprived of all civil rights and legal responsibilities, as if he were a lunatic, his affairs being vested in the hands of a trustee. The investigation of his conduct in connection with his financial troubles resulted in his being first of all placed in the retired list, and then removed from the army altogether. Being virtually next in the line of succession to the Grandducal Crown, it was considered necessary under the peculiar circumstances to lose no time in eliminating him therefrom, and he was accordingly reduced in 1906 from the status of a prince of a sovereign house, to that of a mere noble, restoring to his cousin the Grandduke, the title of Count Osthelm, and a small annuity on condition that he keep out of Germany.

In 1910 he married at a Registry Office in London, Wanda Lottereva, a Milanese chorus girl, known on the stage as Wanda Zelens. She first attracted attention by winning first prize in a beauty contest at Milan as the loveliest woman in Italy, while afterwards she was the star of the Maxim scene in the "Merry Widow," at the Gaiety Theatre, in London. This union, of course, still further estranged the ex-prince from his royal and imperial relatives.

He came over to this country not long afterwards, and with his wife was a conspicuous figure at the great New York Horse Show at Madison Square Garden of that year, but received no attention on the part of New York society. The marriage was short-lived, largely owing to the Count's constant financial troubles, and his inability to furnish his wife with the luxuries to which she had been accustomed by her pre-nuptial admirers. So she brought a suit for divorce against him in the Parisian courts, and founded difficulty in obtaining a dissolution of her matrimonial bonds.

The Wrong Kind of Sacrifice

By RUTH CAMERON

"TO live with the saints in Heaven is untold bliss and glory. But to live with the saints on earth is quite another story."

The wife of a neighbor of ours has incontinent tuberculosis and has been ordered to spend the winter at a health resort. She leaves at home a husband and four children of whom the oldest is sixteen. A married sister who has no babies of her own has come to take charge of the home for the winter.

Her sister's stay as pleasant as possible, and had been paying our first call. In the course of this call the sister—despite the presence of one of her small babies had—managed to us that she did not like children; that it almost broke her heart to close up her beautiful home to which she was devoted, and that she had been obliged to give up a long-planned sea trip in order to take charge of her sister's household.

Practically our whole stay was taken up in hearing of the sacrifices she had made and in condoling with her. Said Molly, the little stenographer lady, as we walked down the street, "Poor Mrs. Crawford. It's hard for her, isn't it?"

"Why poor Mrs. Crawford, Molly?" cried the lady-who-always-knows-somehow, with spirit. "Poor babies. I don't know what you know that she's perfectly happy? Didn't you see how much pleasure she got out of telling us how she was sacrificing herself? I don't doubt she takes it out of those poor children an' it's just as well that she should. It's the best punishment for her."

"Do you know what I think would be the best punishment for her?" said the lady-who-always-knows-somehow. "I think it would be to let her see some of those people who love to sacrifice themselves and then take it out of those who make the sacrifices for them. Poor Mrs. Crawford, indeed! Why, in my opinion, she should be put to death at once."

"But I don't blame her a bit, do you?" "It seems to me there is scarcely any species more trying than the 'saints on earth' who put their heads into everybody with whom they come into contact. They simply gloat over a chance to sacrifice themselves. They seize each opportunity to tell you how they will sacrifice for you. They are the delight of posing as martyrs."

"Do you know what I think would be the best punishment for her?" said the lady-who-always-knows-somehow. "I think it would be to let her see some of those people who love to sacrifice themselves and then take it out of those who make the sacrifices for them. Poor Mrs. Crawford, indeed! Why, in my opinion, she should be put to death at once."

Approx of his present title of Count Osthelm, it may be mentioned that it was bestowed upon him by the Emperor of Austria by Duke Charles Eugene of Wurtemberg upon Charles and Alexander, his natural sons, in 1870. It is a title of nobility, and is hereditary in the male line.

Ex-Prince Hermann of Saxe-Weimar's father, Prince William of that ilk spent a number of years in the United States under an assumed name. His youthful career having been almost as stormy as that which afterwards distinguished his father, he found it necessary to leave Europe and after some active service in the Foreign Legion of the Dutch East Indies, came to this country, and under the name of William Rohde, earned his living in various capacities, as a waiter, a salesman, clerk, book-agent, and even restaurant waiter, kept body and soul together—the only prince of a reigning house who can boast of such extraordinary vicissitudes. Overlaid by illness in New York, his relatives took compassion on him, brought him home, and nursed him back to health.

He is now a lieutenant in the 2nd Regiment of Cuirassiers of Paderborn. He is now a lieutenant in the 2nd Regiment of Cuirassiers of Paderborn. He is now a lieutenant in the 2nd Regiment of Cuirassiers of Paderborn.

A PLEA FOR MRS. MCGEE. Charlotte Patriot.—Is Mrs. Minnie McGee insane or is she not? Was she insane when she put her children to death, or was she clothed and in her right mind? We note that the jury complex with their verdict, a strong recommendation for mercy. Now, under ordinary circumstances if any human being were guilty of such a monstrous crime, no jury without stringing up sufficient reasons would bring in a verdict with a plea for mercy. Why have they brought in this recommendation? Because they are all big game hunters. They are all big game hunters. They are all big game hunters.

REPORT PERSISTS IN SPITE OF MANY EMPHATIC DENIALS

Reported Engagement of Heir to Astor Millions Chief Topic of Interest at Newport

Newport, R. I., July 26.—Up to the present writing, the persons who have denied the reported engagement of Vincent Astor, heir to the millions of John Jacob Astor, and Miss Margaret Andrews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Andrews, include the following: Vincent Astor; Mr. Andrews; Miss Andrews and Mr. Andrews. Nevertheless, the cottagers here, with each denial, are just all the surer that the engagement is a fact. The announcement is so confidently predicted, will come early in August and to those doubters who point to the repeated denials, the believers in the engagement report: "Pooh! Anything's fair in love, or course they'd deny it."

Mr. Andrews, father of the lovely twenty-year-old girl upon whom young Vincent's affections are centered, is the latest to make a formal denial. "It's a ridiculous absurd," he declared. "Why, she's a baby, a mere child, and the idea is preposterous."

Miss Andrews is indeed just a child. She is not even formally "out" yet. Her debut will be made next Friday, although up to a few months ago the great event had been planned for next summer instead of this. After that, say the gossip, will come the announcement.

Vincent Astor, meanwhile is fleeing the country—perhaps to escape the whisper of persistent rumor. A better guess is that he goes for a visit to his mother, Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, in London. He paid a flying farewell visit to Miss Andrews, arriving and departing in his new ninety-horse power Fiat racer, built of a special model. During his stay in Newport he was the guest of his chum and rival for Miss Andrews' affection, Hermann Oelrichs.

Miss Andrews is silent, when gossip hints at romance in her presence. When the rumor first began to fly she denied it. But since then she has "refused to answer," and only a blush or a diffident glance answers any mention of "Vincent" now.

So in spite of all denials, old dame Rumor is sure she is right and insists that the two are caught in Cupid's toils.

Young Astor has developed remarkably, say his intimates, since the tragic death of his father. From an irresponsible boy he has become a man, with a man's sense of duty and a keen grasp of the details of the vast business which he oversees. Something over $100,000,000 are his to manipulate and to guard.

Astor's friendship with Miss Andrews dates to his Harvard days. They were friends then, and then the engagement was first rumored. Her own denial stopped that of young Astor's remark for a time.

WICKED, WICKED. "I suppose your wife was more than delighted at your rise of salary, wasn't she?" asked Jones of Brown. "I haven't told her yet, but she will be when she knows it," answered Brown. "Well, I thought I would enjoy myself a couple of weeks first."

BRITISH PUBLIC MEN ARE TERRORIZED BY THE SUFFRAGETTES

Premier Asquith and Others Fear For Their Lives and the Safety of Their Families

London, July 26.—Completely terrorized by the Suffragettes, English public men are guarded as at a time of Nihilistic activity in Russia. They are no longer worried by the risk of mere annoyance. They fear for their lives and the safety of their families.

King George's advisors have warned him strongly against any public appearance for the present. Scotland Yard's impregnability and resources are taxed to the utmost to protect the cabinet, their wives and children and their homes.

Premier Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George, Home Secretary McKenna, Winston Churchill, the first Lord of the Admiralty, and other cabinet ministers, have received the most ferocious threats anonymously, what will happen to them unless they declare for equal rights at the polls. Not only are they assured that they are in danger of being killed, but that the burning of their homes and the kidnapping of their children are planned.

The bitterness and determination of the Suffragette campaign were again evidenced this afternoon, when Premier Asquith was attacked at the Chester Railway station on his return journey from Dublin. Another attack was attempted upon his arrival here. At Chester, Dr. Jessie Murray and Mary Gray, two Suffragettes, rushed the premier and shouted: "Be warned in time!" Other women, who resented the attack on Mr. Asquith, turned on the suffragettes and were handling them roughly when a clergyman, who was standing nearby, rescued them. The two women were detained by the police.

On the arrival of the prime minister's train at Euston station tonight, another woman attempted to attack Mr. Asquith, but was prevented.

AN IMPROVEMENT. "I got a new attachment for the family piano," said Mr. Growler, "and it's a wonderful improvement." "What is it?" "A lock and key."

DOUBTFUL. "Jones is extremely attentive to his wife." "Still very much in love with her, eh?" "Either that, or he is afraid of her."

NAVAL COLLEGE FOR AUSTRALIA

$200,000 Collected by Trustees of Dreadnought Fund—Home For Immigrants

Sydney, N. S. W., July 26.—In the patriotic duties of increasing the value of its defense force and of adding to its population, the Commonwealth has taken two very decisive steps during the past week. So that the coming generation of naval servants of the King may be trained in all the branches of their profession with out having to go to England, it has been decided to establish a naval college for the Commonwealth and as a preliminary move towards its erection, the trustees of the Australian Dreadnought fund have collected the sum of $200,000, which has now been given the federal treasurer towards the creation of the college. It is hoped that the institution will be completed in 1914.

As regards its immigration policy, of which various notices have been seen, taken in Canada, the British immigration league which has done good work here and in other parts of the world, has now decided to establish a home for them; and with the object of securing its erection at the earliest possible moment, has voted $20,000.

TUBERCULOSIS SANITARIUM AT BANGOR

Accommodation Increased—Great Success in Treating Incipient Cases

(Bangor Commercial). The work at the sanatorium on Ken-dalweg avenue which is carried on under the direction of the Bangor Anti-tubercu-losis association is progressing most favor-ably, and only recently one of the patients there was discharged as a completely ar-rested case. At the present time six pa-tients are staying at the sanatorium id-ly, and in that immediate vicinity there are five others who are under the care of the association.

Arrangements have been made whereby Dr. W. C. Peters is now the regular visit-ing physician for the sanatorium, and makes a weekly visit there, examining the patients. Miss Madeline Mosher, the visit-ing nurse, makes daily visits, and in this way the condition of the patients is kept under close watch, and they have the best of care and attention.

It was only recently that the new stable in connection with the sanatorium build-ings was remodelled so that it now af-fords excellent sleeping quarters, and a room for at least fifteen patients comfort-ably. The association has recently received ap-plication for care from a lot of advanced cases, and attention is given each case as the application comes to our clinic or ap-plying to our office. It is hard to reach. When it is learned that four out of five of the incipient cases may be arrested, if not per-manently cured, it will be seen how im-portant it is to take the disease in its very beginning.

"The difficulty is," said Miss Mosher, the visiting nurse, "that people wait too late before coming to our clinic or applying for examination, and when they do come their case is so far advanced that it is hard to do anything for them. The bene-fit of coming early was shown only re-cently when a girl came to us with an incipient case. Within a short time she had gained thirty pounds in weight and the disease had been checked so that we were able to send her to her home wonderfully im-proved by health.

"Of course we like to have all cases re-ported to us, no matter how far they have advanced, for we are able to take pre-cautions to prevent the spread of the disease to other members of the same family where it has progressed too far for us to do a great deal for the patient. In this way other cases that might develop from communication with the one that is ill are checked, and so much is gained in stamping out the evil as a whole."

"Advanced patients may easily be shown how to care for themselves, and how to decrease the element of danger of others in the immediate family, and this is most important."

The Anti-tuberculosis association has a large number of cases under its direction, care and observation, and is doing a splendid work in aiding the elimination of tuberculosis from the state, which is the ideal that all workers hope some day to attain.

REV. W. P. BEGG, D.D., WELL KNOWN HERE, DEAD IN NEBRASKA

His Widow, Formerly Miss Fannie Smith of St. John, Survives—His Career

The Argosy, published at Anley Nebraska, on July 11, contains the following: "Rev. W. P. Begg, D.D., late of Yorktown, Iowa, died suddenly at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. L. Howell, on the evening of July 3rd. He had been suffering for some time from the disease that caused his death but did not relinquish his charge at Yorktown until the first of June, when he made preparations to come to Anley, to spend his last days. Dr. Begg was born at Lanarkshire, Scotland, in 1843 and took his master's degree at Glasgow university before coming to Canada. His degree of doctor of divinity was conferred in 1894 by Queen's university at Kingston, Ontario, where he was special lecturer for some time. Since coming to Canada his life has been spent in the active ministry of the Presbyterian and Congregational churches of Canada and the United States, with the exception of three years, 1901 to 1904, when he occupied the chair of philosophy at Labor college, Iowa. In 1870 he married Miss Fannie Smith, of St. John, N. B., who survives him, together with three children, Mrs. C. L. Howell, of this city; Wm. A. Begg, of Medicine Hat, Alberta; and H. Todd Begg, of Sussex, N. B. Interment was made in the Anley cemetery."

Rev. Mr. Begg came from Woodstock to St. Stephen about thirty-seven years ago and was the beloved pastor of the Presbyterian church for about five years, and is affectionately remembered by many of the older members of that congregation. At the close of his pastorate here, he returned to Scotland, but remained there only a few years when he again returned to America.

SPORT NEWS OF A DAY, HOME AND ABROAD

Baseball. The Woodstock team arrived from Fredrickton last night and if the weather is favorable they will play a game with the Marathons on the Marathons grounds this afternoon. Winkler will pitch for the Greeks and it is likely that McLaughlin will pitch for the visitors. If arrangements can be made a double header will be played tomorrow, the first game beginning at 2 o'clock. Foley will pitch the first game and White the second. The Greeks play in Fredrickton on Monday and it is likely that they will play double header with the Fredrickton nine here on Tuesday. Cooney, who played one game at short stop with the Marathons has been signed up with the Waterford team in the Cape Breton League. Fredrickton Wins from Woodstock. The Fredrickton nine won from the Woodstock Colts by a score of 3 to 2 at the Capital yesterday. The game was played on a wet diamond, but the game went for ten innings. Harrington was on the mound for the winners, and Whitney, a new twirler, pitched for Woodstock. Each team had seven hits. The game was fairly well attended.

Table with columns: Team, A.B., R., H., P.O., A., E. Rows include Keany, Ganley, Duggan, L. Conley, B. Conley, Callahan, Hoyt, Fitzgerald, Harrington, Woodstock, Corcoran, Duff, Black, O'Donnell, Sions, Farley, Kings, Lamouray, Whitney.

The New York team played a tie game with the Toronto International League team at Toronto yesterday. The score was 2 to 2. Orin National Umpire. New York, July 25.—The National League through President Lynch, has purchased the release of Umpire Al Orth from the Virginia League. Orth's work as an umpire in the Virginia League has been highly praised by major league scouts. The new umpire will probably report to President Lynch this week and will be given an early opportunity to show his worth. Franchise Not For Sale. From an authoritative source comes the information that Manager John Gannell of the Rochester team, has made an offer for the Montreal franchise in the International League. He was unsuccessful. President Liebenheim is credited with the statement that the franchise is not for sale, and that as long as there is an International League franchise in this city he will control it. Liebenheim is in a position to retain his present unprofitable holdings should he care to do so.

Expenses Too High. Whether the Sketers return to Jersey City after their western trip is a question. It depends to a large extent on the success of the owners in locating money in the meantime to conduct the club. Messrs. Lillis and McCrean claim they can't conduct a club at a cost of over $8,000 a month and without better support from the fans. Some day the International League directors will see the proper light and merge the Jersey City franchise with the one at Newark and do away with two clubs in New Jersey. For years this has been talked of, but not until the present time has a merger of the two franchises been considered seriously. In these days of class A.A. baseball Jersey City is not the right town to support an International League club. When the owners of the Sketers say that it costs them $8,000 to run their club they are not stretching the figures. I can't close to $8,000 a month to pay the players on the Rochester, Buffalo, Baltimore and Toronto clubs. Rochester, Buffalo, Baltimore and Toronto are the only towns classed as possible money-makers this year. Newark, and Providence may break even but it is doubted by men who study International League affairs, Buffalo will be doing well to make any money at all as it is said Stallings' salary list calls for more than $8,000 per month. Salary isn't the only expense attached to a ball club. It cost one club, not Rochester, about $20,000 for actual running expenses last year. This year the club will cost more. President Chapin, who seldom talks in dollars about the conduct of his ball club would not tell what it cost him last year, but said $28,000 would be too low. "Salaries are too high in the league," said a student of baseball finance the other day. "It costs more to run the Rochester, Toronto and Buffalo clubs than it does some major league clubs. It keeps

THE RING. Tonight. Johnny Connelly vs. Mickey McIntyre, at Glace Bay (N. S.). Bout Not Called Off. San Francisco, July 25.—Abie Attell and Harlem Tommy Murphy will fight twenty rounds at Promoter James W. Coffroth's Eighth and Howard street arena on Aug. 3. This announcement was made by Promoter Coffroth following a conference with Attell. Several days ago the former feather-weight champion startled followers of the boxing game by declaring he had cast off his manager, Billy Nolan, and would not fulfill and engagements made by the veteran trainer-manager. Mike Gibbons' Success. One year ago Mike Gibbons was working for $250 a day in the Great Northern shops and was absolutely penniless as to money. He had been working for four years at the tinmith's trade, and in his own little way was making a success—that is, a living for himself, wife and baby. Today the same Mike Gibbons has $32,000, a show for nine months' work in the ring. Last October, in company with his manager, Eddie Reddy, Gibbons left for New York to attempt to force an entrance into the eastern fight game. Before leaving St. Paul, the Gibbons-Reddy company took a careful inventory of their worldly goods and found that by living moderately they could "break" into the Gotham town, take a chance at the ring game—the big one, and, if the worst came to the worst, have enough of the filthy lucre to pay their fares back to St. Paul. Prior to the invasion of the East, Gibbons had fought a few alleged important battles. He had been handed a few dollars for going through a test-run pantomime with Jimmy Gibbons at Milwaukee and also had drawn down the princely sum of $45 for disfiguring the physiognomy of one "Red" Hood of New York. Later he won a fifteen-round slashing battle with Clabby at Winnipeg, and it was the happy result of this battle, together with the sight of the few bills gathered in on the affair that brought about the thought of Gibbons and real money. It was a desperate chance in the minds of the two boys, but was the one and only opportunity to settle for once or all the most important question, viz: Was Mike Gibbons to continue laboring for $250 a day or was he to attain that height of which he had so often allowed himself to dream? The eastern invasion proved a big success. Thanks to the untiring determination of Manager Reddy. The first fight was staged and brought about a Gibbons victory. Being something out of the ordinary run of affairs in Gibbons the promoters offered Reddy other matches. Again Gibbons won, and then the fighting world began to ask who is this Gibbons? The St. Paul lad has lost weight all and today he is considered the best 150-pounder in the world. His name has been christened in the official slab in the boozers' hall of fame and the city of St. Paul has been well advertised as a result of his achievement.

GREAT GAINS IN BRITISH TRADE. Proclamations of Industrial Decay Utterly Dishonest—Figures Tell the Story. (Montreal Shareholder). When we turn to the industrial situation in England, we find from actual statistics how utterly dishonest has been the proclamation of the industrial decay of the United Kingdom. Notwithstanding many adverse conditions, including strikes of the most serious character, the trade returns continue to expand. The trade returns of the United Kingdom for the year 1911, which were issued recently contain details that, in spite of the gloomy forecasts of the adverse factors, was a record twelve months. The figures for the years 1907 and 1910 are not only equalled but surpassed, while the first six months of the year 1912 are far behind. Imports. 1911 1910. British exports... 2,680,157,327 2,680,357,024. Re-exports... 454,119,298 430,384,772. Total... 3,134,276,625 3,110,741,796. Imports from foreign countries increased from $207,808,738 to $208,807,706, while those from British possessions and protectorates increased from $170,469,390 to $171,520,731. Exports to foreign countries increased from $283,018,830 to $295,275,184, and those to British possessions from $147,320,942 to $138,844,144. Re-exports to foreign countries decreased from $91,011,310 to $99,961,800, while those to other parts of the empire increased from $12,390,991 to $13,097,284. The increase in British exports is almost wholly made up of manufactured goods. These account for nearly $200,000,000 out of $234,000,000 increase.

MARYLAND PROGRESSIVES. Baltimore, Md., July 25.—The Maryland progressive Republicans assembled here in a convention today and selected its delegates with half a vote each and a like number of alternates to the National Progressive convention in Chicago, Aug. 6. Resolutions were adopted empowering a committee of seven to select eight presidential electors independent of those names on the regular Taft ticket and declaring that no elector now on the Taft ticket shall be placed on the progressive ticket unless he first resigns. The significance of this latter clause lies in the fact that six of the existing electors on the Republican ticket are Roosevelt men.

SOMEWHAT COSTLY. "I am very sorry to hear that your wife and Mrs. Eze are so long on speaking terms," remarked Mr. Businessman to his partner, as they travelled up to town in the morning train. "I'm afraid that is so," agreed his companion. "and—confound it—it's going to cost me money! In what way?" "Well, my wife proposes to give a big dinner party, so that she can snub Mrs. Eze by not inviting her!" sighed the poor husband wearily.

CARE OF CREAM FOR BUTTER MAKING. It is a recognized fact that the price received for butter is very largely influenced by its quality and this is in great measure determined by the care given the cream from which it is made. This matter is recognized by the department of agriculture at Ottawa as being of vital importance to the creamery patrons and buttermakers of Canada consequently there has been prepared by the chief of the dairy division under the direction of the dairy commissioner, a bulletin on "The Care of Cream for Buttermaking." It commences with the health and feeding of the cows and follows the subject through the various stages of milking, separating, storing and delivering the results of experiments conducted on farms and in creameries are given to show the advantages of separating a rich cream, properly cooling and storing it, as well as of making frequent deliveries. The bulletin says:—(Keeping the cream 48 hours in two days at the farms has, no doubt much to do with the old cream flavor so common in gathered cream butter, and an accurate expert to have this defect removed so long as cream is gathered less than three times each week.) The bulletin which is No. 22 of the Dairy and Cold Storage series concludes with a summary of important notes for patrons, creamery owners and buttermakers. Sufficient copies have been issued to supply the needs of the Dominion. Requests for supplies for this purpose should be sent to the Dairy and Cold Storage Commissioner while individual copies may be received from the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. This bulletin is issued by authority of the Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Agriculture.

AMUSEMENTS. NICKEL-FRIDAY SATURDAY VITAGRAPH'S "THE FRENCH SPY" IN THREE REELS. Thrilling Wartime Melo-drama. GENERAL DERIMENT, with his wife and daughter Mathilde, on their way to Algiers, are captured by pirates. Mrs. Deriment resists but her hands are bound, she is forced to "walk the plank." Her daughter is struck dumb with fear. The general and Mathilde are sold as slaves to the Moor, allies of the Arabs. Mathilde escapes. Riding across the country she appeals to the French consul for help. He sends her to the rescue of her father. Colonel Birrell, a French officer, falls in love with Mathilde and marries her. Colonel Birrell starts to the front at the head of his regiment, after bidding his wife good-bye. In order to be near him, she disguises herself as a French laundress and joins his regiment unknown to him. A detachment of French soldiers capture Mohammed, an Arab Chief. He shows defiance and would have shot the colonel had it not been for Mathilde piercing the Arab's arm with her salve. Later, when a spy is needed to enter the Arabian lines, Mathilde, volunteer, after a wild ride across the desert, she reaches the enemy's fortress, disguised as an Arab boy, semi-dressed; she is looked upon with reverence by the Arabs, as one possessing the power of prophecy and a seer of vision. In a battle with the Arabs, Colonel Birrell is taken prisoner and carried to the fortress; Mathilde is recognized by her husband, who warns her to be on her guard. The colonel suffers torture rather than betray the secrets of the French Army. Mathilde, as previously instructed, fires a flaming arrow high in the air from her bow. It is seen by the French forces; it is the signal for attack. They soon burst into the fortress, routing the Arabs, with great slaughter, saving Mathilde from Mohammed Bey, who had desired to make her his slave. They release Colonel Birrell, who rushes to his wife's side, clasping her in his arms, and joining in the shout of the victorious Frenchmen. ANOTHER GREAT FEATURE!

HEARING IN CASE OF NEPISQUIT LUMBER COMPANY

Petition Presented For Distribution of Assets—Judgment in Case of Rochester vs. Agar

In the matter of the Nepisquit Lumber Company, Limited, and its winding up, hearing was continued before Mr. Justice McLeod in chambers at 10 o'clock this morning. H. A. Powell, K. C., appearing for W. H. Harrison, presented a petition asking that the greater part of the assets in question had been given. Mr. Powell argued that the mortgage was to be secured, not only by the properties held by the company, at the time the said mortgage was given, but also by all properties acquired thereafter.

W. A. Ewing, K. C., H. F. Puddington and Fred R. Taylor, who appeared for other creditors, argued against this contention, claiming that the debenture holders were only entitled to the proceeds of the properties acquired previous to the giving of the mortgage.

The evidence of George Gilbert and Edridge P. Mackay, the liquidators of the company, was heard with respect to the assets of the company. Hearing was adjourned until this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when the taking of evidence of the liquidators will be resumed. A. G. Teed, K. C., appeared for the liquidators.

Circuit Court.

At the adjourned sitting of the March circuit, Mr. Justice Lindsay this morning rendered judgment in the case of Richmond Rochester of New York vs. Miles E. Agar. A verdict was given for the plaintiff for $2,014.44, but the amount was not definitely decided further. Judgment was adjourned until next Friday when the matter of costs will also be argued. This was an action to recover about $2,000 for rope sold to the defendant. A large portion of the claim was admitted and a set-off was claimed with respect to the balance. There was an alleged shortage in the quantity of rope shipped, and the defendant also claimed the benefit of a debt due Henderson Black, of St. John's, Quebec, by the plaintiff, the case in action being assigned by the former to John Connor, and by him to the defendant.

F. R. Taylor appeared for the plaintiff and Recorder Baxter, K. C., for the defendant.

MODERN BRICK BUILDING ON BRUSSELS STREET FOR UNGAR'S LAUNDRY

Enterprising Company Will Have One of Most Modern Plants in Eastern Canada

The property formerly owned by Richard Walsh in Brussels street, and recently sold by Jardine & Rive, will be the site of a modern laundry plant. Ungar's Laundry are to erect a fine four story brick and concrete building which is expected to be one of the finest in eastern Canada. Preparations are already being made for excavating and E. Neil Brodie, who is the architect in charge, will call for tenders shortly for this work. It had been hoped that the building would be ready for occupancy by the late fall, but on account of the nature of the excavation, solid rock, it will hardly be sooner than January before the structure is completed. The location is considered an excellent one for a laundry and it will no doubt be but the beginning of other up-to-date buildings which will before many years replace some of the older wooden buildings on the street.

The present premises of Ungar's laundry, which they have occupied for years, is the property of J. W. Myers. Though there have been a number of extensions made for excavating and E. It had been hoped that the building would be ready for occupancy by the late fall, but on account of the nature of the excavation, solid rock, it will hardly be sooner than January before the structure is completed. MAGISTRATE'S OPINION ON RULES OF ROAD

Satisfied There is Law Enough, But Will Write to Commissioners—Inmates Found Guilty—Burglars Allowed to Go

There were quite a number of spectators in the police court this morning to hear the judgment which was to have been delivered by the court in connection with the charges made against W. C. Cross and J. A. Belyea, who appeared yesterday for Mr. Carritte for infringements of the new rules relating to automobiles. Mr. Cross was charged with going around the corner of Union and Dock streets at a furious rate of speed, and Mr. Carritte was charged with driving his car on the wrong side of Mill street, viz: the right side. A. A. Wilson, K. C., appeared for Mr. Cross, but Mr. Carritte did not appear. His Honor said, therefore, that he would defer judgment until Monday morning at 10 o'clock when all interested would be present.

In commenting on the charge in Mr. Carritte's case His Honor referred to the argument put forth by Mr. Belyea yesterday that there was no law which side teams should be driven on. He stated that he had looked over the matter at some length and felt satisfied that there was enough law to prohibit people from driving on the wrong side of the streets. He noted several cases, including O'Brien vs. Corbett, and Wright vs. Dolan in which the offence charged was practically the same as in this case. His Honor said, even if there was no law, or even if there was no custom, people should have a little common sense, or as the late Justice Tuck would say "a little horse sense." "It is a nice time we would have if drivers of wagons and automobiles did not follow the custom of going and coming on different sides of the roads. Why, teams would be running into each other and the commissioners when next they meet in regard to this matter. However, I will not intend sending a communication to the commissioners until the matter and give judgment on Monday morning."

His Honor delivered judgment in the case of Mrs. Mirco, charged with keeping a house of ill repute in Germain street, and of Clarence Clark and Mary Stoeber, charged with being inmates. He adjudge all three guilty. Clark was fined $10 or nine months in jail, but was allowed to go on suspended sentence. The two women were remanded for sentence. His Honor told them, however, that they would be sent out of the city instead of to jail.

Hearing in the case of George Fowler and Oscar Lee, charged with breaking and entering a C. P. E. freight car and stealing therefrom a quantity of rope, was continued this morning. J. King Kelly, K. C., appeared for Fowler, and E. S. Ritchie for Lee. Police Constable Lucas told the man who was with him was Long. Consequently, the case was adjourned until Monday morning.

Fowler had told him that Long got in the car and was winding the rope out to him. Witness stated that the clothes case as would come off the bags of rope. Sgt. Scott told of seeing Long and Fowler together on the night of the robbery. The witnesses were remanded. The case will come up for hearing tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Harry Rogers, arrested last week on a warrant charging him with trespassing on the C. P. E. tracks near Bentley street, and trying to communicate by lying down in front of a moving train, was brought in and allowed to go on condition that he go to Woodfield to work with William Johnston, foreman of the St. John Ice Company, pleaded guilty to the charge of obstructing the sidewalk on the main street with fifteen cakes of ice, and was fined $20.

After the regular sitting of the police court, His Honor went down to the guard room and disposed of several juvenile cases. Harold and Robert, charged with breaking and entering the home of Ernest James in Coburg street and stealing therefrom a talking machine valued at $200, pleaded guilty to the charge. They were given a good lecture by His Honor and told that they were liable to be sent to the Boys Industrial Home for four years. They were allowed to go, however, on suspended sentence.

Albert Carleton, aged 10, and Alexander Thompson, charged with breaking and entering Harry Smith's grocery store in Winslow street, West End, pleaded guilty and were also allowed to go on suspended sentence.
