DO YOUR RUBBING SCOURING WITH Old Dutch Cleanser

One of the most interesting letters recently received by the Dairy Commissioner, Ottawa, is from a school teacher in Alberta who asks for milk record forms and literature on the subject of cow testing, because—now listen! Some of the boys in the school are starting a contest in recording the production of individual cows, to last one year. This opens a most promising field for every school teacher and for thousands of boys in the country schools. In this Canada would be following somewhat slowly in the wake of many schools in the United States and New Zealand where the use of the Babcock milk tester has been taught for some time. In a dairy country like this, we should be out blaring trails for other teachers and boys to follow.

GOVERNMENT IN CHINA

China as a republic has not shown itself well suited to democratic government. This was to be expected, China has been under despotic rule so long that only through much turmoil and trouble will her people be made familiar with modern methods of government.

And yet a good deal of progress appears to have been made in China, and although of late there has been a distinct reaction, there is no apparent reason to believe that a return to the conditions which existed before the revolution would now be acceptable to the people.

Out of their meagre supply of cattle the maritime provinces are exporting many carloads to the western provinces, and there is also a demand from the United States. The farmer's opportunity is obvious. There should be a revival of cattle raising on a large scale, for the demand will increase.

It is not too soon to remind the people that the Christmas season draws nigh, and that Christmas purchases are made to the greatest satisfaction of the purchaser when there is no hurry in making the choice. After a busy year the citizens of St. John should have a very enjoyable Christmas season.

Hon. Mr. Hasen made it clear to his auditors last evening that in the interest of the Pacific coast salmon fisheries the United States should follow Canada's example and adopt and carry out the terms of the treaty respecting the coast fisheries in boundary waters.

Hon. J. D. Hasen last evening pointed out to the Canadian Club that a much larger proportion than the members had perhaps realized of the tonnage of Canadian vessels is found on the great lakes.

The recent awful destruction of vessels and loss of life on the lakes further reminds us of the extent and the importance of the traffic on our inland waters.

There is a feeling that the requirements with regard to the strength and seaworthiness of lake vessels have not been rigid enough, and this is a matter which should be looked into without delay.

Though coming so close together the members were out in force on both occasions, and at each the names of some new members were posted. Not only so, but Mr. Kuhring was able to announce the coming of two more speakers in the near future whose message will be awaited with keen and universal interest.

For some time the club, through no fault of the executive, had been taking a holiday. Several speakers who were booked had at the last moment to cancel their engagements, and the list of available speakers seemed to be limited. Now the conditions have changed, and there is reason to anticipate a series of very interesting addresses during the winter months.

The closing remark of the British minister is undoubtedly well founded. The people of China are clever, and they are destined to play a great part in the world's history. When the industries of that country are developed, and come into contact with the industries of the western world, the latter will find it necessary to use much greater skill to cheapen the cost of manufacture than has been used in the past, or the Oriental goods will command the market.

But, apart from material considerations, the Oriental mind, brought into closer contact with that of Europe and America, will not only be itself affected, but will produce a noteworthy effect upon the thought of those continents. China and Japan together within the next century will very materially alter the complexion of the world's affairs.

Which is more fit for democratic government—Mexico or China? British Columbia leads all the provinces in the value of its fisheries. The like is true of minerals, while its forests are also of enormous value.

In recent years it has developed a great orchard industry. The population of the province has more than doubled in ten years.

Astronomical observations extending over a period of more than 2000 years have failed to show any sensible changes in the day, but the influences of the tides must become evident after a lapse of a great many years.

One authority has declared that the day may lengthen until it is at least fifty times as long as it is now, and that would be the period of the revolution of the moon around the earth. However, from all reckoning, such a day of 1200 hours will not come for millions and millions of years.

—Roboboth Sunday Herald.

GEMS FROM THE AGONY COLUMN

Queer Requests In The Personals of London Times

MOSTLY AFTER THE COIN

Some Would be Adopted, Others Given Free Holiday Trip, While Relief From Debt and Chance to Make New Start Also Figure

(Times' Special Correspondence)

London, Nov. 8.—If there are any more millionaires who, like Andrew Carnegie, are worried lest they may be disgraced by dying rich, they need not bother about founding libraries, helping universities or building peace palaces, for there is a much simpler way of getting rid of their superfluous wealth.

All that the plutocrat who yearns to be poor needs to do is subscribe to the famous and dignified London "Times," and then to proceed to assist all the folk (and an uncommonly queer crowd they are) who advertise their needs—or alleged needs—in this journal's renowned "agony column." A few months of doing this assistively, one should think, would relieve "Jawn D." of a considerable portion of his superfluous wealth.

It must be unique, this so-called "agony" or "personal" column of the London "Times." In no other journal in the wide world do people go to walk in the wide world of life so persistently advertise their necessities or, in some cases, their mere whims, in, apparently, the fond belief that their appeals will be moved by their appeals and proceed to give up the necessary wherewithal. So unobtrusive and, frequently, amusing are these "Times" agonies that the writer recently resolved to collect a few of the choicest specimens.

Here is a highly "typical" "appeal" which appears in the "Times" fairly early in the holiday season:

Vicar for many years of a large parish and his wife, utterly unable to afford such a luxury, intensely desire a holiday abroad, free from work, from business, from their own company, from their own prejudices such as gratify it, provide means for this happiness? Write, Reverend, O. 191, The Times Office, E. C.

For sheer "nerve" it would be hard to beat this, and one frequently wonders if the ingenious folk who insert them ever get any replies, to say nothing of discovering philanthropists ready to "part" with the first appeal to the "vicar of a large parish" was disregarded, for two weeks afterward it was repeated with the pathetic query, "Or does no one care? No reply to former advertisement."

Here is another, a "country clergyman," this time, "who would be exceedingly grateful for a visit to the vicar of a large parish." A very real kindness. Cannot possibly buy, or would, if there has been no sequel to this "ad." Want to be Adopted.

Folk who have become tired of working and yearn to be adopted by some affluent person or, rather, than blackberries in the "personal column of the Times." Here is the heart-cry of one of them:

A young gentleman, 19-20, unhappy through family misfortune, would be ever grateful if some one really kind and generous would take a deep interest in him or adopt him. Write to X. Y. Z., O. 272, The Times Office, E. C.

And here is that of another:

Will wealthy lady or gentleman adopt or interest themselves in young man with artistic and literary abilities? References gladly given. Genuine. Do please respond.—P. 651, The Times Office, E. C.

Folk who, like the vicar, desire holidays at somebody else's expense like-wise bulk large in the "agony" column. A typical "appeal" of this kind read as follows:

Educated young man (28); very good companion, has five weeks' holiday during August and September, and would like well-to-do person to take him abroad, has great desire for travel, but financial and other circumstances do not allow it. Photo sent.—Reply O. 889, The Times Office, E. C.

A day or two ago appeared:

A widowed lady with two small boys would be very grateful if some kind-hearted person would help her to give them a month at the seaside from the 1st August.—R. G. N., O. 729, The Times Office, E. C.

People who are worried by debts and desire some one else to pay them likewise advertise largely in the "Times." Here is one such modest request:

Would Like Debts Paid

Will large-hearted lady or gentleman assist advertiser to clear himself of debts amounting to £100.—Reply O. 483, The Times Office, E. C.

Next we have a "loyal churchman" who has given the leisure of twenty-five years to church and charitable work in 235 through domestic affliction. Could repay with interest next year; also "a struggling business man, for sixteen years in moneylenders' hands," who appeals for "private loan of £25 to free him," not to mention "Annie's" who wants "temporary help, to save myself and family from disaster," and who inquires pathetically, "Can I find a friend?"

There are self-styled hard workers who want only a chance to hustle, and advertise in the "Times" for it, and there are also avowed "slackers" who, however, have seen the error of their ways and long for a helping hand—or a plant job! Here is one of the former:

Young professional man too shabby to obtain engagement. Will any one provide suit and linen, &c.—Refs.—O. 679, The Times Office, E. C.

Then there is "Alphonsus," who advertises, candidly:

"A slacker" nothing-will-ever-be-come-of-him; abilities, lacking application; no vices save indifference, convinced he can be useful, desires financial help.

Of course he does, and so does "O. 390," who declares:

I realize now—at 30—how I've "fool-ed" away my chances. Am now in "dead earnest"—do you help? I've done some "traveling" and specialty-selling; have good organizing abilities.

There literally is no end to the variety of these appeals in the "Times."

Here, for example, is one from a "working-man" who, having discovered the laws of heredity, "prays for an opportunity to make his important scientific discovery widely known while on his bed of ease." A lady, who "earnestly appeals for donations towards the education of a young girl (ten years of age) who is now in a superior school training for her future livelihood, but cannot remain unless help is given."

Curious to learn what fruit, if any, is borne by all this "appealing," the writer inquired of the manager of the "Times" advertising department if these would be "readers" appeared to be successful in discovering Good Samaritans.

"Yes," he replied, "I think in a good many cases they are. Of course, there are quite a lot of people with plenty of money and soft hearts, and I think that a fair number of them are touched—in both senses—by these appeals. In fact, I've more than once thought of advertising myself and asking some plutocrat to adopt me or treat me to a trip around the world. Of course, we pay little or no attention to the replies that individual advertiser receives, but I was told only a few days ago by a lady who had received several replies to her advertisement.

It is a fact, too, that many of these say that they accept of advertisement in which financial aid is requested without assuring ourselves of the donor's bona fides; invariably asking for at least one unquestionable reference as to character and so forth. But I agree with you that our advertisers, especially the vicars who advertise for motor-cycles and continental holidays—constitute a weird company."

Another queer variety of advertiser in the "Times" is the religious type. Send the "Times" a "distress" appeal which is between a "distress" appeal and an advertisement for a lost dog, one of the quite often comes on a text from the Bible, or some such injunction as "repent while there is yet time" without any other matter whatever, the inserter's idea apparently being that a chance reading thereof may be the salvation of some erring one.

The height of absurdity was reached the other day when the following was solemnly printed in the "Times" personal column.

To the Times' official who attended to my advertisement:

"A courteous, friendly, wise, attentive man, well endowed with patience, sympathy, and ready helpfulness; his mind pathy, and ready helpfulness could aid did plan how advertisement could be vantage me; wished me, in cheery words, my hoped success, therefore I praise him and his virtues bless.—E. T.

Perhaps his excessively grateful weight is somebody who advertised asking to be adopted by "a person of wealth," and actually succeeded in getting away with it.

HALF SPEED TO WIN BRIDE FOR SKIPPER

Paris, Nov. 18.—Not long ago a trans-Atlantic liner, which plies between France and the River Plate, reached Bordeaux fifteen days behind its schedule time. Not storms or icebergs or treacherous reefs had been the cause of delay, but a lady's conquering eyes.

On the first day out of port the captain fell in love with the youngest member of a returning theatrical troupe. On the second in sailor-like style, he proposed, but "No!" was the answer he received from the little actress, who did not relish such hurricane wooing.

"Very well," quoth the captain, "if you think my proposal too sudden I will give you time to get accustomed to me." And he yielded down to the chief engineer to slow the engines down to half-speed and keep them there till further orders.

So the liner dawdled on through the tropics, and every day the captain proposed and every day he was rejected.

The little actress rather enjoyed the situation, but the rest of the passengers—unromantic business folk, to whom time was money—began to grumble. Finally a deputation of them implored her for goodness sake and in the name of their children and check-books to accept the captain provisionally.

"La donna e mobile," they reminded her, and she could cry off again as soon as she landed. The little actress consented and the order was full steam ahead again till the fair land of France was reached.

And the best of it is that the little actress is going to keep her word and marry the captain after all. Probably she meant to do so all the time.

M. Clemenceau, a French statesman, owns a motor which has acquired the habit of riding home in a cab. He enters one and refuses to leave. Finally the cabman sees the address on his collar, takes him home and gets his fare.

RECENT STRIKE OF OIL AND GAS IN WESTERN ALBERTA

The Geological Survey has received a sample of the oil recently struck in No. 1 well of the Calgary Petroleum Products Company, situated at Black Diamond, sixteen miles west of Okotoks, Alta. This oil was struck at a depth of about 1,500 feet. It is what is technically known as a "white oil," being transparent and of an amber color. It is phenomenally light for a natural mineral oil, having a specific gravity of about 62 Baume. Evidently it consists largely of gasoline in an automobile.

"White oils" are rarely found in quantity. They would appear to be the result of filtration through clay strata, under pressure, of the lighter portions of petroleum. That this has occurred in the present instance is made probable by the fact that at a higher horizon in this well a flow of gas of 2,000,000 feet a day, was struck. This gas is also peculiar in the large amount of gasoline it contains. It probably represents a further stage in the process of filtration. The amount of oil present has not yet been determined, so that the commercial value of the strike is still unproved. If higher level is any criterion, this may prove to be the exceptional case and a considerable quantity of oil, for a "white oil," be obtained.

Whether oil is present in large quantities or not, the strike is of importance as the "white oils" are usually found only in the vicinity of large bodies of the ordinary petroleum. Thus it is an excellent indicator.

D. B. Dowling, of the Geological Survey, who visited the well a little before the strike was made, reports that the well is located on an anticline in Shales of the Pierre formation, and that the oil was encountered in underlying Bellefleur. On either side of the anticline are the Edson beds are exposed. Going eastward, therefore, the covering will rapidly thicken. Westward toward Moose Mountain, according to the work of D. D. Cairnes of the survey, the formations are folded into a number of anticlines bringing lower formations faults are encountered. Between this faulted ground and the well are several anticlines where prospecting for oil might be undertaken. These anticlines probably run in the direction of the main structural lines, that is, roughly parallel to the mountain ranges. Mr. Dowling is now in the field, having been commissioned by the director to examine

HON. J. D. HAZEN DESCRIBES WORK OF DEPARTMENT

Minister of Marine and Fisheries Addresses Canadian Club and Tells of Varied Work Under His Control

The men's Canadian Club met last evening at Bond's restaurant, when, after luncheon, Hon. J. D. Hazen, minister of marine and fisheries, gave an address on The Marine and Fisheries Department. Rev. G. A. Kurling presided. In opening, Mr. Hazen explained some of the functions of the different departments under his control. As to the naval service branch, some people might imagine, he said, that it was limited to looking after the Niobe and Rainbow. It had, however, many and varied duties to perform. A large number of ships are under its control, employed in guarding the fishing interests in Canadian waters, preventing smuggling and depredations from our neighbors to the south, and in many other ways. Yet, notwithstanding all the precautions taken in these matters, the service is still not as efficient as it should be.

The fisheries of British Columbia, he said, have been growing in importance at a greater pace than in any other part of the world. In a few years' time or fifteen years, this industry will be of great value. For their better protection a contract has been placed with a Dublin firm for the construction of two vessels, now nearing completion, to be used along the Pacific coast. These will be sufficient for the purpose, and will soon be necessary to increase protection along the Atlantic coast as well.

The hydrographic survey in Canada is also under the control of the marine and fisheries department. The charting of Hudson Bay and adjacent waters, and elsewhere, has been found inefficient. Owing to this fact, and to the frequent change of marine currents and natural changes, it will be necessary to re-chart in these quarters, and it will be the duty of those engaged in the survey to do this. Some difficulty had been experienced in getting competent men for this work, but some good men had now been found, among whom were men from the U. S. B. The survey is proceeding as rapidly as possible, and before very long every foot of Canadian waters and coasts will be properly charted.

Canada's Alaskan. With regard to wireless telegraphy, as an aid to navigation, the speaker said that Canada is ahead of all nations in this respect, possessing a complete chain of stations through the country. He next referred to the life-saving stations, remarking that Canada does a better service through their agency was much larger than many people supposed. More such stations, he said, are being established, and he believed that the necessary and statistical concerning them will be called for from time to time.

The principal duty of the fisheries department is to administer the control service; the former seeks to prevent smuggling, the latter enforces the provisions of the act. The salmon fisheries of the St. John river, and adjacent rivers, were next referred to. As the result of much vigilance in protecting salmon—the Tobique Salmon Club has done great service in preventing the unlawful taking of fish—it is now possible to take them in places where, but a few years ago, they were not even to be seen. The increase in their number is due to two things: artificial propagation and the protection service.

During the last few years there has been an increase in the number of lobsters caught in the vicinity of St. John. Fishermen are gradually beginning to learn the benefits to be derived from the observance of the law respecting them. During the last season the catch near Richibucto was the largest for some years. This is in large measure due to the establishment of hatcheries in which experiments are still being made with a view to increasing the number of this valuable shellfish.

Mr. Hazen next referred to the increasing scarcity of shad. In the hatcheries for this fish the treatment is different from that of salmon. The shad hatchery near St. John is an experiment. There is a floating hatchery on the Kennebec, and it is hoped that by means of these and other hatcheries the supply of this fine fish will be appreciably replenished. If these means fail and there is a continued scarcity of shad it may become necessary to prohibit the taking of this fish altogether for a stated period.

The figures showing the aggregate external trade of Canada for the fiscal years 1907-8 (when the department of marine and fisheries was created) to 1912-13, was next referred to as demonstrating a trade expansion unequalled in any other part of the world. The figures for the former year being $181,927,852, and for 1912-13 $1,068,284,449.

In 1868 the total number of lights, as navigation aids, was 215, with 212 keepers, and in 1911 there were 1,021 lights with 976 keepers, maintained at a cost of $1,700,000. British Columbia, in 1868, had two lights and, in 1911, 101 lights. In addition to these lights it was of course necessary to maintain fog signals and other aids for seafaring men. The number of vessels on the registry of shipping in Canada for the year ending Dec. 31, 1912, was 8,288, and the net tonnage more than 800,000. There were more than 48,000 men and boys on the registry as employed in these vessels.

The speaker then made brief reference to the old conditions of shipbuilding in St. John, and, continuing, reverted to the fisheries, with regard to which there has been a great awakening of interest during the past two years. He pointed out that the total value of the fisheries of Canada for 1906-7 was $20,000,000, for 1908 $25,499,840, for 1909 $28,451,000, for 1910 $29,029,000, for 1911 $29,260,000, and in 1912 $34,667,872 the highest since Confederation. In 1907 there were 84 fish hatcheries, in 1909, 44, and in 1912, 65. There will be a new hatchery near Little River soon, for salmon and trout. A fish advisory board has been appointed, who will obtain particulars of illegal fishing and advise the department as to the best course to pursue. Illegal fishing is rampant in the older provinces and reorganization is requisite. These older provinces will be dealt with soon, as a result of the advice to be given by this board.

Young Eddie Montgomery, Just In From "The Seven Seas," Tells of How, as He Hung to Halliards, a Great Phantom Ship Rushed Down Upon the "Annie Reid" as She Skirted Far Off Semaphore Bay!

Eddie Montgomery and the Annie M. Reid of Glasgow On Which He Met the "Flying Dutchman," Phantom-Ship.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Edward Montgomery, seaman's apprentice, aged 18, sat on a coil of rope, with a marlin-spike in his belt, gulping slungluncheon from a big dinner plate.

It was high noon, on the sunny deck of the square-rigged Annie M. Reid, where she lay tied to the Erie Basin breakwater, among tugs, lighters, sailing craft and steamers from the seven seas.

"Any adventures this voyage?" I asked. "The frank-faced English lad grew suddenly furtive. 'Follow me!' he whispered mysteriously. 'Halt! The captain might warn my hide with a tarred rope-end if he glimpsed me talkin' to a reporter.'

I listened, and followed him into the fore-castle, as the wedding guest followed the Ancient Mariner. "Ye—ye—ye!" he gasped, as we seated ourselves on his bunk. "Seen what?"

"The Flying Dutchman. Only, she's not like the old one you read about that scuds past at night with sails set and spray flying and not a soul aboard. 'She's a steanship, with two funnels, storned an' she'd plow right through you—or you'd plow through her—tell me, mister, is me hair turned white?'"

"Ever since I ran away from Hull, 19 months ago, an' shipped on the Annie, I'd been lookin' for the Dutchman. But nothing happened."

"We sailed to Australia, makin' the 10,000 miles from Montevideo to Adelaide in thirty-eight days, roarin' past the Cape of Good Hope at fifteen knots, with the port-rail under water an' all sails drawn, an' no seaman able to walk the deck. Oh, she's speedy, is the years ago, was next spoken of. Express companies are given a guarantee that there would be shipments at least 10,000 pounds of fish per trip of the cars along the Atlantic coast, under the protection of the guarantee. The provision of $10,000 last year for a fish exhibit at the Toronto exhibition had stimulated fishing along the Atlantic seaboard, the speaker said, adding that the total value of the fisheries in New Brunswick for 1912 was $4,888,000, as against $4,184,000 in 1911.

Our Salmon Superior. After remarking that the salmon of New Brunswick are much superior to the British Columbian fish the speaker referred to the conditions at the United States boundary of the Fraser river. There had been, and were still, innumerable able traps there for catching fish and "snags" that prevailed in both Canada and the United States recognized this, and a treaty for the regulation, by which the control of the waters on each side of the boundary line was made. The protection of the fisheries on boundary lines by federal authority, in the case of Canada, and state control, in the case of the United States, had been found to be awkward, and the treaty, made in 1908, provided that, after a representative from each country had framed regulations, each country should pass legislation to make them effective. Mr. Taft, on receipt, in 1910, of regulations so framed sent them to congress for concurrence, but they were remitted to various states for review. They were held up by the senate and no further action on them has yet been taken. The United States hoped to close the matter next session.

In conclusion Mr. Hazen expressed regret that he had not prepared with an address less wanting in continuity. Dr. Bridges tendered a vote of thanks on behalf of the club.

APPROVES USE OF FORT HOWE AS PUBLIC PARK

Resolution Adopted by Common Council — Refinery Company Has Spent $453,557 — Asks Refund of $20,000—No Opposition to New Laundry

Routine business with little of outstanding importance occupied the common council at its regular weekly meeting yesterday afternoon. Tenders were opened for the construction of the new warehouse on Petting's wharf, but no award was made, as a bond issue must first be voted by the full board. For this purpose a special meeting of the council will be held this afternoon at 2:30 when Commissioner Schofield will be present.

Regarding the paving work in Mill and Dock streets, under contract to the Hassam Paving Company, a report of the city engineer was submitted by Commissioner Aggar, who said that in the recorder's opinion, the contractors have fulfilled their contract, the paving was unsatisfactory. The commissioner recommended that the Hassam Company be called upon to make repairs under the terms of their contract as were called for in the city engineer's report.

A letter was read from the secretary of the Playgrounds Association in which reference was made to the fact that the association had been in correspondence with J. B. Hartley, commissioner of public parks at Ottawa, relative to the proposed conversion of the Fort Howe property into a park.

The matter had, however, said the mayor, become a political issue, and was dropped. Commissioner Aggar said the suggestion had come from persons not interested in politics. He thought that the spot should be taken advantage of, as being central and majestic appearance, and moved that the council immediately declare the site of the fort as a public park, and that the city engineer be authorized to look over the ground with a view to carrying out the plan.

A communication from Herbert McCleary and Andrew Norwood, mates of the ferry boat, asking for the return of the salary was referred to the acting commissioner of harbors.

A letter from L. R. Wilson, treasurer of the Atlantic Sugar Refineries, Limited, stated that the company had expended the sum of $468,237.35 up to the end of October, and called for the city to remit $20,000 of their deposit according to agreement. A motion was carried that the sum of $20,000 be granted if the statement were found correct.

A bill for $150, being the city's annual salary of the recommissioned of Commissioner Aggar the request of Messrs. Garnett and Monahan for permission to erect a sign in front of their pool room on Union street was granted, provided the sign should not exceed the regulation size.

Commissioner Wigmore moved that dues be paid for sewerage by R. J. Sullivan and Mrs. Katherine Bradley be returned, as it had been found that public sewers already existed in the neighborhood of their houses. Adopted.

On the motion of Commissioner Wigmore, it was decided to purchase for the city a property at Spruce Lake for $200. That Laundry Question.

Commissioner McLeary read the by-law which he had prepared before the last meeting of council relative to the exclusion of laundries from a certain district. This matter had been mooted at the account of the petition property owners in the neighborhood of Pitt and Union streets, where the laundry of the city had been located. Mr. Armstrong's permit be nullified. The commissioner decided that the laundry would not constitute a nuisance, and the by-law received no support.

The following tenders for the construction of the warehouse on Petting's wharf were opened: H. B. Whitenack $3,281; George M. Lawson $3,470; S. A. Williams $3,700; C. J. Stackhouse $3,700; John A. Adams $3,669; J. McDonald $3,528.

The tenders were referred to the commissioner of public affairs. The matter will be taken up today at the adjourned meeting of council when the bond issue involved will be voted on.

THE NEW FORD PLANT The Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, will locate at Coldbrook Dec. 1. The Telegraph learns that the execution of the lease was completed yesterday between Hon. William Pugsley and the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, for the lease to the company for a term of years of the new factory buildings at Coldbrook. The lease goes into effect Dec. 1, at which date the Ford Company goes into possession.

These buildings, which have just recently been completed, are up-to-date in every respect, being constructed of brick and concrete at a cost of upwards of $70,000.

GLoucester's Iron Mines The Chatham World states that the iron mines in Gloucester will be operated as usual, and will not be closed because the Canada Iron Corporation is in liquidation. The World says that Captain George E. Corbett of Annapolis, and J. H. Stewart, M. P., have had a conference with the provincial government, and Mr. Corbett will continue the operation of the mines, shut out in the vicinity of 100,000 tons of ore annually.

You would not put a coarse mass of animal fat, colored by various mineral poisons (such as many crude salves are) into your child's blood by way of the stomach? Then why do so by way of the pores?

It will heal sores, ulcers, abscesses, eruptions, various ulcers, cuts, burns and bruises more quickly than any ointment preparation. It is antiseptic, quickly stops the smearing of nose, eye, eases itching, relieves sore and blood-poisoning. It is a combination of healing powers and scientific purity. M. J. BUTLER WOULD ACT

Though no further word has yet been received by council for St. John in the matter of a date for the hearing by the railway commission of the case of this city in regard to the alleged discriminatory character of the Guelph-Bowling agreement, Hon. Dr. Pugsley has been advised by M. J. Butler that he is willing to act as an expert before the board of railway commissioners.

Mr. Butler, formerly deputy minister of railways, and chairman of the board of management of the government railway, was for some time manager of the Dominion Steel Company and is now manager of the English firm of Armstrong, Whitworth & Co., in Montreal.

- FACT HUNGER - As children, our first demand is for nourishment; our second for facts. All through life we go about searching for information. We make a new acquaintance; but before we will accept him as a friend or invite him to our home we ask for facts about him. We visit a foreign land; and from the moment we step across its border we are asking questions—searching for facts. We are asked to try a new food product; isn't it instinctive with us to ask at once: "Who makes this new article?" "How is it made? what goes into it?" "Is it worth the price charged for it?" Facts—we are simply hungry for them. Strange, isn't it, that we should so often have to search for them? Odd, that some manufacturers still withhold the facts about their product. Not always because they are facts to be ashamed of—for there are many worthy articles yet unadvertised. But it will not be so much longer. The fact-hunger of the human race is becoming keener and keener. The more facts we get, the keener our relish for more of them. Soon it will be impossible to sell a man or a woman anything until everything has been told about the goods that can be told through Advertising. The public has discovered that Advertising tells much-needed facts—that, in fact, Advertising satisfies fact-hunger. If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper. If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 303, Lansdowne Building, Toronto.

Smith vs. Langford

Nov. 17—Gumbo Smith, of Ia, was given the decision over Langford, of Nova Scotia, at the twelve-round bout here tonight. Smith was clearly the victor in the early part of the bout, scoring several blows to Langford's head and body, and made no serious attempt to knock Smith out. But as the bout went on, the California heavyweight, wearing Langford assumed the aggressiveness of Nova Scotia, at the short range, while the latter unsuccessfully at Langford's to many and so strong were d's blows in the closing rounds of the fight which, in the eighth round, resulted in opening Smith's cheek the left eye.

The representative of a local troupe called on the National first-acter and endeavored to sign him to a contract for Washington and other cities. Gandil laughed at the idea. "What could I do on the stage?" he asked. "I will furnish the dialogue for you," said the theatrical man, "and arrange have two other men in the act with me." "I got roasted enough during the summer months on the ball field," said Chick. "What would happen to me before an audience in a theatre? The me? EX-CHAMPION IS TOO HEAVY NOW TO ROW

With his defeat by James Paddon, it is thought that Richard Armit's career as a sculler has come to a close after having little more than six years. It is difficult at this moment to appraise him, but there is no doubt that at his best he was a brilliant sculler. It would seem that the effort to reduce himself from 238 pounds to 180 pounds in ten weeks proved too big a task, and that he now runs so quickly to flesh that a thorough training on his part would necessitate at least a six-month period. Armit will not be thirty years of age until the 28th inst.

Paddon gained his title of Australasian champion early this year, when he defeated Alf Felton. Born at Evan's Head on November 19, 1886, and barely twenty-seven years of age, he is one of the biggest men that ever sat in a boat and certainly the "greatest" champion Australias has possessed. His height is 6 ft. 4 1/2 in.; he weighs in condition 198 lbs. 12 1/2 in. round the chest and has an expansion of 6 in. He is described as a powerful and well-developed man. That Paddon has some pretensions to sculling is self-evident when it is transpired that he had been placed in the hands of Harry Floyd, an amateur judge, who had a great deal to do with the rise of Armit, but with whom he afterwards disagreed. Armit, it may be mentioned, never lost while advised by Floyd, a man who has ideas and uses them. He believes in building a boat that suits a sculler's eccentricities—if he has any—and is not bound by rules. Thus for Paddon, an abnormal man, he ordered sculls 9 ft. 10 in. over all. Barry's are 9 ft. 7 in. and most Australasian 9 ft. 6 in.—with 2 ft. 9 in. inboard. Thus the Australian champion has 7 ft. 10 in. leverage outboard against Barry's 6 ft. 11 in.—a big difference.

His Career

Paddon has been on the water all his life, and is accustomed to heavy boats, both on the sea and river, his occupation being the cultivation of the oyster. He won his first race at Lisimore in 1910, an amateur event in club shells, over a mile, and altogether rowed nine of those races, including his championships, without being beaten. He was never defeated in this class of boat, although at times giving good starts. In October, 1912, he joined the professional ranks, sculling his first race at Gerald Head, when over a course of two miles, with 42 seconds start from Armit, he finished second. At Rowanwater a little later, with 18 seconds of Syd Kemp, he won, whilst in April last on the Parmanatta in the big professional handicap, although unplaced in his heat, he finished so strong and hard as to gain high opinion. This he followed by defeating Felton for the Australasian championship.

Englishman, taking another draught, but still offering none to his neighbor. "I presume you're a bit of a footballer yourself?" said Mac. "I am," was the reply. "I thought so," said the Scotsman. "You're a grand sculler, but you're no good at passing."

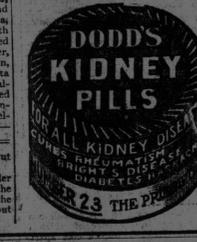

HOME BUTTER MAKING

Market reports invariably quote creamery butter higher than dairy butter, which is the designation given to that which is made on the farm. It is unfortunate that circumstances at times make it impracticable for dairy farmers to patronize a creamery. When this can be done, not only are the profits, as a rule, increased, but much hard work is taken away from the overburdened members of the family.

There is no good reason why butter made in the home dairy should not be as fine as that made in a creamery where cream produced under all manner of conditions has to be made up. All that is necessary is the carrying out of a well established system in feeding the cows, caring for the milk and cream and the churning and putting up of the butter. In order to teach the proper method of carrying out these various operations, there has been prepared, under the direction of the dairy and cold storage commissioner at Ottawa, a bulletin entitled "Butter-making on the Farm," written by Gen. H. Barr, chief of the dairy division.

This work, which may be secured free from the publications branch of the department of agriculture, explains the common defects of dairy butter as well as the conditions that are necessary to produce fine flavored cream. It then deals with churning, washing, salting, working and packing butter, and considers the modern necessary utensils and their care. These are shown in clear illustrations.

This bulletin, which is No. 17 of the dairy and cold storage series, concludes with the following recommendations:— "Keep good cows, feed them liberally, keep them comfortable and clean when in the stable, skim a rich cream and keep it cool, churn at a temperature that will give a flaky granule in the butter; use clean, pure water for washing butter not more than three de-greer colder or warmer than the buttermilk. Put the butter up in neat, clean, attractive packages, and keep everything in and about the dairy clean and attractive."

Madge—Is she a good conversationalist? Marjorie—No, I couldn't get her to talk about anybody I knew.

TO THE PENITENTIARY

Two Years Sentence Imposed Upon George Adams

A sentence of two years in Dorchester was this morning imposed on George Adams by Magistrate Ritchie in the police court, on a charge of stealing $10 from his employer, Thomas Wisted. The latter said he had no desire to prosecute the man and "wanted the whole world to know" but he was told by the court that the case was out of his hands now and the sentence would be carried out.

His Honor said that theft was becoming all too common about St. John, particularly cases of theft from employers, and he intended to do all that he could to put an end to it.

HIS ARM BURNED

Rayce Bailey Injured in Fire Caused by Gasoline

It was a rash act for Rayce Bailey, aged about sixteen years, this morning to tamper with gasoline in the rear of the store of J. E. Fitzgerald, plumber, Deek street, for there was a fire nearby in a stove, and in some way the oil caught and burst into flame. The young fellow was painfully burned about the arm and rushed into the street sounding the alarm. He made for J. Benson Mason's drug store at the corner of the street and his burns were there dressed. Afterwards he went to his home at 408 Main street.

The flames spread and the side of the wall caught fire but the damage done was slight. An alarm was sent in from box 6 by some passers-by and the department responded quickly. The blaze was soon extinguished.

MYSTERY SHIP A NOVA SCOTIAN

(Halifax Chronicle)

It is believed in Halifax shipping circles that the British ship Marlborough, referred to in a despatch from San Francisco this morning, as having been found on the Patagonian coast after having been missing for twenty years, is a Nova Scotian vessel. Twenty-four years ago a staunch and able sailing vessel, called the Marlborough, and owned by E. Churchill & Son, of Hantsport, N. S., the well known shipping firm, sailed from Nova Scotia and was never heard of again. The ship was of recent build at that time and considered as seaworthy a craft as there was afloat. No explanation could be offered for her disappearance and as time wore on, the mystery became almost forgotten. The recent discovery as stated in this morning's despatch, of a vessel called the Marlborough grounded on the rocks in a cove near Punta Arenas, Patagonia, and skeletons of her crew of thirty men, has revived the old story.

SALMON AND MISPEC STREAM

A citizen, who would like to see the salmon and trout have free access to the Mispec stream, has suggested to the Times that the matter is of present interest, since the Fish and Game Protective Association is now holding its sessions in St. John. He informs the Times that it would only be necessary to open the sluice in the dam at Mispec and the fish would be able to go up and, as is pointed out that persons standing on the bridge can see the salmon in the pool below, evidently seeking an opportunity to go up the stream.

COBEQUID HERE FOR NEW SERVICE

Steamer to Open the New West Indies Business—Open to Public Thursday Afternoon

The steamer Cobequid of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company which will open the new service from Canada to the West Indies, arrived in port this morning and docked at the Pettigrew wharf about ten o'clock.

The Cobequid left London on Nov. 6 and, considering the recent storms that have swept the Atlantic, twelve days is considered a remarkable passage for her. In speaking to a Times reporter this morning, Captain Howson said that only on one day they did not encounter head winds.

The Cobequid is a vessel of 5,000 tons, she is 400 feet over all, and forty-seven feet beam. She is a single screw propeller steamer with an average speed of twelve knots. She is well fitted to accommodate forty first-class, sixty second-class and ninety third-class passengers. Her cargo capacity is 5,000 tons. On her trip out here to open the service she carried no cargo.

The Cobequid will leave on Nov. 23 for Halifax and will leave there on Dec. 2 for the West Indies. The round trip from St. John will take about six weeks. J. Allison, the company's representative from London, is making the trip.

The Royal Mail Steam Packet Company has boats connecting at Trinidad, West Indies, to almost every harbor on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of South America, and will have a fortnightly service from this port to the West Indies. The Caraquez, Chaleur and Chignecto will arrive in the order given to continue the service.

The new steamship will be open to the public for inspection on Thursday afternoon between three and five o'clock. The officers included—J. Howson, master; C. E. Wiley, chief officer; D. H. Douglas, chief engineer; J. E. Porter, chief steward; W. H. Lister, surgeon.

Matter of Charge Against Russian in The Police Court

Unable to speak a word of English, a Russian laborer Vasily Virshvray, aged forty-eight years, could not plead this morning in the police court as to whether or not he was guilty of a charge of breaking and entering the home of Mrs. Kovana Christanovich, in Main street, and breaking and destroying a trunk and other articles. J. A. Barry appeared in his interests. He said that a sum of money about $45 was owed to the defendant and that the case was one of misunderstanding between him and the plaintiff. The matter was adjourned until tomorrow morning when an interpreter will be on hand.

A case against William Wheaton, aged 22 years, charged with assaulting Charles Todd, while the two were employed on a schooner in Lower Cove on Saturday, was brought in this morning. It was said that one was as much to blame as the other.
