A TERRIBLE DISASTER.

On the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Yesterday.

Christmas Shoppers Torn and Scalded to Death in the Mass of Wrecked Cars.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 24.—When daylight broke there was known to be sixty-two dead as the result of last night's wreck of the Duquesne Limited on the B. and O. railroad, near Dawson. Dead bodies filled the temporary morgues in this city, and it is believed nearly a score more will be added to the death list before the day is over. Of the bodies recovered, 35 have been identified and 24 are designated as unknown. Most of the latter were foreigners, principally Italians.

There was also one Chinaman. In the hospitals, three of the injured were expected to die at any moment and five others were in a critical condition. So soon as they were taken from the wreck, the dead and injured were removed to the morgues and the injured removed to the Connellsville cottage state hospital. Twelve victims died between 12 o'clock last night and daylight this morning. As the bodies were received at the morgue they were tabulated and laid in rows. Most of them were foreigners. Two were negroes. The Duquesne Limited was largely used by employees of the B. and O. who work in Pittsburgh, and it was feared that most of them had become victims of the wreck. A large number of the engineering corps lived at Connellsville and used this train to return home every night. H. M. McDonald, of Dawson, led the rescue party at the wreck. Through his efforts the dead and dying were collected.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 24.—The Duquesne Limited, which left Pittsburgh for New York at nine o'clock tonight, was wrecked eight miles west of Connellsville. It is believed sixty-nine persons were killed and twenty-five or thirty others, many of whom it is thought will die.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 24.—When General Mgr. Sims of the Baltimore and Ohio railway arrived at the scene of the wreck of the Duquesne Limited at Dawson, last night, in which 65 persons were killed he was so overcome by the sight of the wreckage that he cried. Spectators were compelled to turn away from the scene. When the relief train reached here thousands of people were waiting. A large number of Connellsville people had gone to Pittsburgh for Christmas shopping and were expected home on the limited. Every available cab and carriage had been held in waiting to convey the injured to the hospitals. Citizens formed a relief corps and helped to remove the wounded from the train.

In addition to those who have died since being taken from the wreck, many others are certain to be added to the number of victims. All have inhaled the steam and are suffering internally. Louis Hilget, the conductor of the train, was in the wrecked cars when the crash came and no one knows just how or what happened to him. D. M. Hills, porter, on one of the sleepers, said that as soon as he could get off his car he went forward and heard Hilget shouting from the top of the bank. He was in terrible agony, but, shouting: "For God's sake I am scalded to death, but some of you get a lamp and flag No. 49 or she will be on us." Even in the moment of his agony and in the face of the danger he was in, Hilget's thoughtfulness of the dying conductor was sufficient to bring words of praise and commendation. When asked if there would be any investigation on the part of the railroad officials, Superintendent D. W. Duer said: "I don't think that an investigation is necessary to explain this affair. It is all too apparent."

Pointing to half a dozen timbers under the dining coaches, he said, "There is the cause of it. An extra freight, westbound, has dropped those timbers on the track and proceeded unconscious of the trouble it had left behind them. Never were more horrible scenes to be witnessed than those about the wreck. The steam from the cars filled the air, many of the stricken people climbing out of the windows ran wildly into the bushes and were held in a deadly delirium. Others were caught in their wanderings and cared for. One man, came rushing into the woods, came back again, went into the baggage car of the relief train and sitting down said: "My God," and the next instant dropped over dead. There was not a scratch on him. He had inhaled the steam.

(Special to the Star).

MONTREAL, Dec. 24.—The dead body of John Carpenter, an Indian of Tusciora, was found on the roadside near Brantford partially devoured by hogs. It is thought he fell asleep in a wagon while driving a load of pigs and the wagon upset, killing him and releasing the pigs who were half starved.

ANOTHER CHANGE

There is Now Hope for a Peaceful Russo-Japanese Settlement.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 24.—The hopefulness in official circles of a peaceful settlement of the Russo-Japanese dispute was reflected this morning on the bourse, which largely recovered from the nervousness which had prevailed for several days. BERLIN, Dec. 24.—Intimation has reached the Japanese legation here that Russia will concede Japan's requests. Inquiries made by the Associated Press as to particulars of this intimation, whether it came from Tokio or St. Petersburg, brought out nothing more than that a peaceful solution is now highly probable.

TERROR OF PLAINS

RED CLOUD DYING. Cruel Sioux Chief and Leader in Many Massacres Waiting for Death in a Tepee.

(Special Despatch to the Herald.) PINE RIDGE AGENCY, Neb., Friday.—Red Cloud is dying in a tepee in a corner of the yard surrounding the little wooden house which the government built for him here many years ago. He is eighty-five years old, almost blind, scarcely able to hear and broken in health and spirit. His once alert mind is beclouded and feeble. Death is surely to occur at any hour.

With the passing of the famous old chieftain will disappear from among men the last of the eminent and powerful leaders of the Indians whose names are indelibly written, many of them in human blood, upon every page of the history of the great West.

Red Cloud first came into prominence as the leader of the red men in the Fetterman massacre in Wyoming. That tragedy, terrible, alike in conception and execution, occurred December 22, 1866, near Fort Phil Kearny. A detail of soldiers was sent to gather wood on the Little Piney, a stream running past the fort. The soldiers had reached a point about three miles from the fort when suddenly they were attacked by Indians. Reinforcements went to their rescue and they were safely brought into the fort.

General Carrington resolved to chastise the offending savages. He sent out one hundred men in command of Captain Fetterman. After a quick two mile march the soldiers came into view of the Indians, who had wheeled around to the north of the old Montana trail. The cunning savages led Captain Fetterman and his men to a high ridge, and there, secreting themselves on either side of it, formed an ambush.

The soldiers had got about half way down the ridge when suddenly Red Cloud rose up on one side of them with some two thousand braves and on the other side Red Cloud rose up with an equal number. The command was taken completely by surprise and the attack was terrible in its ferocity. Not a man escaped.

Realizing that death in cruel form awaited them, Captain Fetterman and Lieutenant Brown, after fighting valiantly until their ammunition was exhausted, killed themselves.

General Carrington brought Red Cloud into great prominence, making him by common consent the leader of the warrior Sioux. In a short time he had established a military dictatorship, attracting to himself all the elements disposed to war and opposition to the government and the army and becoming a terror to the whites throughout the region over which he ruled.

After many months of atrocities, and following a contest with the Indians abandoned the North Platte country and went to the Red Cloud agency, on the White Earth River, whence they continued under Red Cloud to make frequent raids upon the frontier, until about a quarter of a century ago, when he signed a peace treaty.

He then buried his tomahawk and he never has broken his compact with the government. When he fought the whites he did so with terrible earnestness and ferocity. Descending like a whirlwind of death upon a settlement, he always left a gory path behind him, but when he signed the treaty of peace he did it in good faith, and for twenty-three years he has lived in amity with his white brethren.

At the close of the campaign against Sitting Bull and his warriors General Crook, in the presence of thousands of members of the tribe, formally deposed Red Cloud from the chieftainship of the Sioux and commissioned Spotted Tail as his successor. Spotted Tail was no hereditary chief, while Red Cloud was not.

FINDS HUSBAND IN HER UNCLE. DANBURY, Conn., Dec. 24.—Discovering after two hours of wedded life that she was the niece of her own husband and that their marriage was consequently illegal, Mrs. Anna M. Stapelberg has just been granted a decree annulling her union with Herman D. Stapelberg, a prominent hat manufacturer of this city. Judge Gager awarded to her $1,100 alimony.

Mrs. Stapelberg was Miss Anna Mitchell. She can resume her maiden name. In court she admitted that she was induced to elope with Mr. Stapelberg.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS.

The Outlook is Brighter Than Last Year and Traffic is Now Much Heavier.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—Special telegrams from correspondents of the International Mercantile Agency throughout the United States and Canada are summarized as follows: The year closes with a much brighter outlook and with better prospects for gains than 1902. Foreign trade, both wholesale and retail, has been quite gratifying. Stocks are broken and merchants are ordering freely in seasonable lines. Holiday traffic has been larger than last year. Exports have been heavy and trade in all lines for the year constitutes a record breaker.

HALF CENT TO MARIE CORELLI.

Final Result in Opposition to Carnegie Library Site in Shakespeare's Birthplace.

BIRMINGHAM, England, Dec. 15.—At the assizes here late this evening, the jury awarded Miss Marie Corelli, the novelist, half a cent damages, each side to pay its own costs, in a libel suit brought by her against the proprietor of the Stratford-on-Avon Herald, in connection with a recent controversy, in which Miss Corelli opposed the erection of a Carnegie library, on the ground that it involved a desecration of Shakespeare's birthplace. The alleged libel consisted in a statement that Miss Corelli desired to erect a library at the same place. The case attracted considerable attention, and the court was crowded, many fashionable people being present.

Miss Corelli testified on her own behalf for two hours and emphatically denied that she ever intended to erect a library.

FIRE AT SACKVILLE.

Considerable Damage Done to President Allison's House This Morning.

(Special to the Star).

SACKVILLE, N. B., Dec. 24. About eight o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the residence of President Allison, of Mount Allison University. The fire department was soon on hand and after considerable difficulty succeeded in extinguishing the fire, not, however, before considerable damage was done both by water and fire. At one time it was feared that the fire would be serious and nearly all the contents of the house were removed. The fire is supposed to have originated in a defective chimney, and to have been smouldering for some time. The loss is in the neighborhood of $1,000, but is covered by insurance. The house underwent a complete renovation last summer, but another one is now in order.

AFTER THE STRIKERS.

Chicago Grand Jury Votes Indictments Against Nine Men

CHICAGO, Dec. 24.—The grand jury has voted nine indictments against members of the Street Car Men's Union. The charges are riot, conspiracy, malicious mischief and unlawful assembly, and are based on scenes of violence attending the recent strike on the street railway.

WHICH REVOLVER?

A Very Serious Question For a Man in a Pinch.

(V. C.) He belongs to the Canadian mounted police, and thinks nothing of lonely rides on behalf of justice. But the other day he had an adventure that pretty nearly extinguished all his chances of further experience. A number of horses had been stolen and he was sent out to track the thieves. For several miles he rode without catching a sign of his quarry. Then from a break in the bush he noticed two men sitting over their meal. Seven or eight horses were picked close by, and best of all the men had laid all their firearms in a little heap behind them. Slowly and warily, his heart hammering with excitement, he crept up, secured the arms, unloaded them, and fastened them to his own saddle. Then, revolver in hand, he marched up to the thieves and made fast with handcuffs and leg-irons. It didn't take long to tie the missing animals together by their tails, and then, removing the leg-irons, he led the procession off, the horses behind, and the men by his side. All went well until the second day when he suddenly heard an ominous click behind, and knew that one of his pistols must have dropped without his knowledge. For a second he thought the note of his death had been struck. But, fortunately it was one of the unloaded revolvers, and not his own that had fallen. If he had been shot his bones might have whitened unfound for six months or more. For it happened in a lonely part, beyond the outside passing of the world.

Mulai Abd-el-Asis is a charming, kindly, headstrong man, suffering badly from youth, who delights in reforms for the sake of novelty, and lacking the brain power that distinguished his father, Mulai el Hassan, and his grandfather, Mulai Mohammed. While he stayed in his southern capital he was comparatively free from the attacks of commercial attaches and other rogues, whose designs upon the treasury should have been obvious, though he was guilty of many extravagances, including displays of fireworks that made his envoy to England speak slightly of the special display arranged in his honor at the Crystal Palace.

In Fes the agents surround him like summer flies. He has twelve motor cars and no roads to ride them over; he paid between three and four thousand pounds for a yacht sixty feet long that was to be used on the Sebou River, which is no more than thirty feet wide; in spite of the King's prohibition, he purchased a crown at a price I am afraid to name. He has put some of his soldiers into European uniforms and boots, only to find that they run away from Bu Hamara as readily as they did when dressed in native garments.

He has developed an enthusiasm for photography—I have seen some of his work—and in addition to cameras with cases of pure gold, he has an apartment in his palace loaded from door to door with dark plates, and he was persuaded to order 10,000 francs' worth of printing paper. He has a menagerie in the grounds of the palace of Fes, and on a day when it was reported that the lion sent from England had quarreled with and killed the lion sent from Berlin, one of the European visitors to the court suggested to him that a contest between the victorious lion and the Bengal tiger would afford good sport. "No," said Abd-el-Asis, "the lion cost me three thousand pounds."—S. L. Bensusan in Contemporary Review.

DYING, HE SPURNS LIQUOR.

Boy Fatally Injured by Trolley Car Stops Surgeon When Brandy is Offered to Him.

Thomas Goldy, nineteen years old, who lived at Afton street and Kearny avenue, Kearny, N. J., was struck by a trolley car in front of his home on Saturday night. His skull was fractured and he died in a Newark hospital.

When he was picked up unconscious an attempt was made to force brandy down his throat. Before it could be done he opened his eyes and said: "I know I'm dying, but I don't want that because I always promised mother that I would never drink liquor." The boy's father is employed by the government in Taunton, Mass.

It is "How old were Robin and Richard?" and the problem is thus metrically set: Said Robin to Richard: "If ever I come To the age you are now, brother mine, Our ages, united, will amount to a sum Of years making ninety and nine." Said Richard: "That's certain, and if it be fair For us to look forward so far, I then shall be double the age that you were."

ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., DECEMBER 24, 1908.

CHRISTMAS.

This is Christmas eve again, the nineteenth hundred and third anniversary of the night when the star hung low over the little stable in Bethlehem where, because there was no room in the inn, Mary lay in a manger, and the wise men from the East with the great-eyed wondering cattle looking on, made obeisance to the Child that was born. And it is said that, while the angels sang strange songs of peace to the watching shepherds on the hills outside the town that night, there was, for once, no war nor sound of any strife in all the world.

Though half the world today calls itself by the name of the Child who was born that night of peace, there is little of peace in the hearts of nations or of men. Christian England and the United States are industriously shooting people in Somaliland and the Philippines; Christian Russia is whetting its sword as it waits its chance for a stab in the far East; Christian Europe is wondering what its part will be in the great killing which threatens in the not far future. In the ordinary walks of life the struggle for place and wealth was never so fierce and the carelessness of the mass for the individual never so great. Organized labor and capital are at each other's throats and from their struggle comes death and suffering to many not allied with either. The world is more refined, more polished, better educated, but it is just as cruel as it ever was.

But the yearly echo of the angels' song still has its power. For one day in the year at least men can still elude their jealousies and strivings and petty enmities and meet men with hearty good-will and with greetings that are more than meaningless words. And though they harden themselves again the next day, they cannot quite forget the giving and the taking of such greetings. They are better men for having given and taken them. The one day's sun of peace and goodwill kills many a germ of malice and uncharitableness. The world would be a much worse place than it is without an occasional Christmas day.

THE MAN WHO DRINKS.

The Northern Pacific Railway, one of the largest transportation companies in the world, has recently issued an order prohibiting all drinking of intoxicating liquors by its employees whether on or off duty. This action has naturally aroused a storm of protest from the workmen and from many men and newspapers who resent the company's intrusion into a man's private life to the extent of prescribing his conduct during the hours that belong to himself.

But the company is right. It is every day responsible for the safety of thousands of lives. It is responsible for whatever carelessness of engineer, conductor, brakeman or trackman may endanger any of those lives. It has a perfect right to pick the men who it considers are the best fitted to do the work, for the right doing of which it is responsible. And a man who has been drunk at night while off duty has not the nerves the next morning to stand any strain. If he has taken a drink or two on his way to work his judgment is not so sure as it otherwise would have been. No matter how temperate the moderate drinker may be, there is always the off chance of a slip too many, or a stomach grown suddenly too sensitive to stand, without effect, the usual amount. And a company with so much at stake has a right to protect itself from all such chances. Those employees who consider such a rule an encroachment on their personal liberty have perfect freedom to step out.

Though a railroad has more need for such a rule as this than any other concern, there are few businesses today in which a temperate and intemperate man of equal ability have the same chance. In those striving days a clear brain and a steady nerve are more in demand than ever before, and a man with the drinking habit, in however small a degree, is heavily handicapped. It is the growing appreciation of this, as shown by the growing strictness of employers in all lines regarding the use of liquor, that will do more to produce a race of temperate men than any law effecting the sale of intoxicants ever could.

The Star apologizes to its many readers for the liberties it has taken with their patience during the past week. But, really, the advertisers have so crowded over one another in their demand for space in the best advertising medium in St. John, that we couldn't do anything with them. They practically captured the office and took temporary charge with the editorial staff as mere lookers on. But during the hours tomorrow while they are forgetting about business in the joys of their Christmas dinner, we hope to regain control and once more restore the paper to its normal state. We promise better things hereafter, and hope that the good nature that Christmas brings will enable the Star's readers to extend us full forgiveness for our temporary neglect of their interests.

Cheer up, the worst is over; and we've all been broke before. Tomorrow being Christmas day, the Star will not be issued.

CHRISTMAS EVE.

(Arthur Stringer in The Reader.) Across the outland Christmas night, The echoing darkness and the cold, I see the City crowned with light, And every window touched with gold.

Their new gods come, their old depart, Their strange creeds into dust have fled.

Yet He must live, O troubled heart, Who gave to men this Christmas-tide!

He dies not, for still clear His star On such a night stands forth alone, We remember now the Christ we are, And watch, the man that He would be!

And through the dubious outland night, Across the gloom, alone, forlorn, I see glad homes re-crowned with light, And each light swings His star reborn!

CHRISTMAS DAY.

How it Will be Spent in the Charitable Institutions.

Among the different charitable institutions throughout the city Christmas will be observed. In most of them special dinners will be provided and in some cases the inmates receive individual presents.

THE HOSPITAL.

Out at the hospital there is so much confusion resulting from the work now being done that it has been found impossible to carry out the usual Christmas celebrations. But what can be done will be done. A special dinner is being prepared and will be served in each ward. During the day the commissioners will visit the hospital and wish the patients a merry Christmas as is possible. It has not yet been decided whether the institution will be open to visitors.

THE JAIL.

From time immemorial it has been the custom to give the prisoners in the jail a first-class dinner on Christmas Day. There is no rule regarding this but for many years the jailer has gone through the form of asking the sheriff's permission to provide the usual Christmas dinner and this has always been granted. Tomorrow, then, the fifty persons who are not enjoying liberty will be given a prime roast beef, lots of vegetables, plum pudding and "trimmings." The beef usually supplied, while of good quality, is just ordinary beef, but for the Christmas spread, the very best has been obtained.

ST. VINCENT'S ORPHANAGE.

Christmas here will be passed about as usual. Midnight mass will be celebrated by the chaplain, Rev. H. Cormier. Between Christmas and New Year's there will be a large Christmas tree for the children.

HOME FOR AGED WOMEN.

At the Industrial Home and the passed quietly. Many of the ladies have been invited out and will spend the day with relatives or acquaintances. SALVATION ARMY RESCUE HOME.

Considerable preparation has been made for a cheerful Christmas at this institution. There will be two Christmas trees, one for the older inmates and the other for the children, and besides the hearts of the little ones will be gladdened with many thoughtful things from Santa Claus.

MATER MISERICORDIAE HOME.

The inmates of this institution will spend the day as usual.

HOME FOR INCURABLES.

Christmas at the Home for Incurables this year will be unusually cheerful and bright. A pleasant treat is in store for all. Each inmate will be the recipient of a Christmas box. The nurses and attendants, too, will come in for a remembrance.

WIGGINS MALE ORPHAN ASYLUM.

The boys at this institution will receive tomorrow but a taste of the treat that is to follow next Tuesday. Tuesday will be the day when all will be allowed to enter unrestrainedly into the festivities of the season. There will, of course, be the usual pastimes—dipping for nuts and apples and games of every sort, and best of all a special mark of favor for each boy from old Santa himself. On this day also will be awarded the usual winter prizes.

THE ALMSHOUSE.

The usual dinner will be supplied by the commissioners. In addition to this each of the female inmates will be given a special Christmas present for a dress, and the men a supply of underclothing. During the afternoon the children will give a short programme.

THE INDUSTRIAL HOME.

At the Reformatory the boys will be given presents provided by friends, consisting for the most part of eatables. The usual big Christmas dinner will be provided.

C. P. R. CHANGES.

MONTREAL, Dec. 23.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company today David McNicol was elected first vice-president and Wm. Whyte second vice-president. Mr. Whyte, with headquarters at Winnipeg, will have charge of the company's lines and general administration of affairs in the territory between Lake Superior and the Pacific coast.

CHINESE RUSHING TO CANADA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Dec. 21.—Chinese laborers are rushing into Canada by the hundreds to evade the head tax of $50 on every Chinaman that enters Canada after Jan. 1. They are now required to pay but $50. The str. Doric, which recently arrived here from the Orient brought 30 Chinese who were immediately shipped to Victoria. The Japan liner Nippon Maru, just arrived, brought 35 Chinese, and str. On Fe carries 149 Mongolians, all of whom are in transit to Canada.

The Allan mail liner Ionian, from St. John and Halifax, reached Liverpool yesterday.

The Eastern line str. Calvin Austin has been laid up for the winter, so that the St. Croix will probably perform the winter service.

The Dominion cruiser Curlew, Capt. Pratt, reached St. John yesterday from down the bay. She will take up her winter quarters above the I. C. R. pier.

The I. C. R. officials have been made happy in as much as they are to see a large demand created in Japan for the Canadian, but the Manitoba product is really the cheapest in the long run, because it yields more bread and contains more gluten. The Manitoba flour gives 80 pounds more of bread per 100 pounds of flour than does the American. The visit of Hon. Mr. Fisher to Japan and the exhibit of Canadian products at the Osaka Exposition, says Mr. Tamura, have done a great deal to stimulate the demand for Canadian products. Mr. Tamura himself handles Manitoba flour. Whereas formerly he imported none, he now takes regularly between 200 and 300 tons a month. He has a bakery especially for making bread from Canadian flour, which he calls the Canada Bakery. He also has delivery carts bearing the name "Canada."

CANADIAN FLOUR IN JAPAN.

Mr. Tamura, Japanese merchant, who is visiting Ottawa, says he expects to see a large demand created in Japan for flour from Manitoba No. 1 hard wheat. At present most of the flour imported by Japan comes from the Pacific coast states of the union. It is a softer, cheaper and whiter flour than the Canadian, but the Manitoba product is really the cheapest in the long run, because it yields more bread and contains more gluten. The Manitoba flour gives 80 pounds more of bread per 100 pounds of flour than does the American. The visit of Hon. Mr. Fisher to Japan and the exhibit of Canadian products at the Osaka Exposition, says Mr. Tamura, have done a great deal to stimulate the demand for Canadian products. CIGAR MEANS BETROTHAL.

In Slam the lighting of a cigar may indicate a betrothal. A man offers the girl of his choice a flower, or takes a light from a cigar or cigarette, if she happens to be indulging at the time. This action is construed to mean willingness on both sides, and steps are at once taken to arrange for the payment of the dowry. The families of both bride and bridegroom must each provide a considerable sum for the newly mated pair.

In Calcutta, as in many parts of India, a lighted taper or a lighted pipe betokens the acceptance of a suitor. In Siberia it is customary for the girl to present her suitor with a box of cigars as a sign that he is to be master of the house.

RULES FOR SMOKERS.

Dr. Gaze writes in The Berlin Review that a man can smoke without doing himself the slightest harm by following eight rules.

- 1. Smoke only mild cigars.
2. Smoke only good cigars.
3. Never smoke the last half of a cigar or the end of a cigarette.
4. Never relight a cigar.
5. Do not sit in a cloud of tobacco smoke.
6. Do not chew the end of your cigar.
7. Use a cigar holder.
8. Use a long-stemmed pipe.

TEACHERS' SALARIES.

The teachers' convention in Moncton adopted the following minimum salary schedule for the whole province, exclusive of provincial aid.

1st male, $275 a year; 2nd male, $200 a year; 3rd male, $150 a year. 1st female, $150 a year; 2nd female, $120; 3rd female, $115.

"MR. BLAIR APPOINTED?"

OTTAWA, Dec. 23.—It is stated that the appointment of Hon. A. G. Blair as chairman of the railway commission was made by an order-in-council on Friday last. Mr. Blair himself refuses to deny or confirm the statement and the ministers maintain a discreet silence on the subject. The statement, however, is current in every quarter.

CHRISTMAS CANDY.

An expert candy maker has contributed the following recipes for candy making to the New York Tribune. In making creamed sugar for walnuts, almonds, dates, etc., take care to use confectioner's sugar, not ordinary powdered sugar.

Have all the plates exquisitely clean. Many a batch of candy has been spoiled by being made with dirty kettles, forks, etc. If candy is made over a gas stove, it must be watched lest it burn or boil over.

BROWN BETTIES. For brown betties, take two cups of brown sugar, one-half cup of rich milk, and then boil five minutes, stirring constantly.

MIX TOGETHER THE WHITE OF ONE egg, half as much water, and one dessert spoonful of vanilla extract. Add confectioner's sugar until stiff enough to mold into balls.

SOFT CARAMELS. One quart (or two pounds) of brown sugar, one-half pint of milk, two-thirds cup of butter, one-half cake of chocolate are the ingredients.

VASSAR FUDGE. A fudge that literally melts in the mouth requires two squares of chocolate, two cups of coffee crushed sugar, one cup of good milk, one tablespoonful of butter.

DUTCH CREAM NUT CANDY. Stir together two cups of yellow C sugar, one cup of sugarhouse syrup, 1 1/2 cups of cream.

MOLASSES CANDY. Boll even quantities of molasses and granulated sugar, and a piece of butter the size of an egg, until crisp, when dropped into cold water.

PEPPERMINTS. Boll hard for five minutes four cupfuls of cream, one cupful of hot water, twelve drops of oil of peppermint, fifteen drops of wintergreen.

BUTTER SCOTCH. Take two cupfuls of molasses, two cupfuls of sugar, 1 1/2 cups of butter and boll until brittle when dropped in water.

GENESE. For six minutes boll without stirring two cupfuls of white sugar, one-half cupful of butter, one-fourth cupful of molasses, one-fourth cupful of milk, 2 1/3 heaping tablespoonsful of chocolate.

CREAM PEPPERMINTS. For cream peppermints the ingredients are one cupful of white sugar, one-quarter of a cupful of water, eight drops of oil of peppermint.

WANTED—A case of Headache that KUMFORT Powders will not cure in ten minutes.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Dec. 18.—After leaving their little daughter Grace at the country school this morning, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scott, residents of Coleman's Station, on the Harlem Railroad, north of White Plains, started for the village store to buy Christmas presents for her.

At one point there is a sharp curve, and around this the Pittsfield express came at the rate of fifty miles an hour, and before the Scutts could get out of the way the train had smashed the wagon into bits, killed the occupants instantly, cut one of the horses into pieces, while the other animal was thrown twenty feet, escaping with slight injuries.

Edward Davies, the engine driver, said the couple evidently did not hear the train approaching, as their heads were enveloped in fur coats and caps. He says he sounded his whistle loudly, but they paid no heed.

For years the railroad crossing at Coleman's has been considered the worst on the division, and has been known as a "death trap" to those acquainted with its surroundings.

A FAKE APPEAL.

With reference to a story in one of the morning papers concerning Leo Smith, a man who served in Africa, Col. White, D. O. C., characterizes the whole thing as a fabrication.

On October 30th last, Smith again applied through L. Col. White for further relief from the patriotic fund. At the same time a request for an increased pension was sent by Smith through Col. White to the adjutant general at Ottawa to be forwarded by him to the British war office.

To the first request Col. Irwin, C. M. G., secretary of the fund, replied that the matter had been laid before the committee and it was decided that as Smith had already received two thousand dollars, which is the full amount granted for total disability, no further sums could be given.

BRITAIN OFFERS TO BUY CRUISERS.

Proposal to Purchase Ships Building For Argentina.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—An offer has been made to the Argentine government by an English firm for the purchase of two cruisers now being built for Argentina at Genoa. These vessels are called the Moreno and the Rivadavia.

They are each of about eight thousand tons and were contracted for during the crisis between Chili and Argentina—about the same time the Canadian government ordered the construction of the two battleships just purchased by Great Britain.

It is not known on behalf of what country the present offer has been made but it is generally believed to be for the British admiralty.

New Invention Passes Satisfactory Test—Flies Three Miles Against a Heavy Wind.

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 18.—The trial of a flying machine made yesterday near Kittyhawk, N. C., by Wilbur and Orville Wright, of Dayton, Ohio, was a success. The machine flew for three miles in the face of a wind blowing at the velocity of 21 miles an hour and then gracefully descended to the earth at the spot desired. The machine has no balloon attachment, but gets its force from propellers worked by a small engine.

ALARM WORKED WELL.

In the sounding of an alarm from box 146 for a slight fire last evening on the Strait Shore road, the new fire alarm system was given its first trial since its acceptance by the city authorities. From reports received from the different engine houses and from people living in the vicinity of the large bells, it is learned that the working was perfect.

BACK TO DORCHESTER.

A Ticket of Leave Man, Who Behaved Badly, Goes in for Five Years.

John Walsh, a well known character about the city, was taken to Dorchester penitentiary a few days ago, there to serve the unexpired portion of his sentence. Walsh was arrested in 1897 on the charge of murdering John Moohan by striking him with a stone. The arrest was the result of a verdict by the coroner's jury. Walsh was tried and found guilty of manslaughter. He was sentenced to ten years in Dorchester, but on April 10th, 1902, got out on ticket of leave.

For a time no complaints were made against him, but last spring he was again arrested on the charge of assaulting two persons, Julia Walsh and William Quinton. He was convicted of this charge and sent to jail for six months.

A report of this latter incident was sent by Chief Clark to the department of justice, and a warrant was received here ordering that Walsh be taken back to Dorchester, there to serve the balance of his term. This warrant went into effect at the expiration of Walsh's term for assault, and a day or two ago an order from Magistrate Ritchie he was sent up the line. He has yet five years imprisonment ahead of him.

A CARLETON NUISANCE.

In the language of one of the Aldermen, Moses has smitten the rock again and the water flows forth.

For some years persons who use St. John street, Carleton, have loudly complained of the flow of water across the sidewalk at the rock. This water forms mud in summer and ice in winter, and during the cold weather a man who is employed by the city to chop the ice away makes the place much more dangerous for pedestrians.

Engineer Murdoch explains that the flow of water is due to natural causes, but Carleton people know that it arises from the fact that those householders living on the higher levels of Queen street, who have no sewerage, let the water run to keep it from freezing. The wages paid to the man who cuts the ice would provide for sewerage on Queen street, even if those who desire sewerage did not contribute towards the cost.

Meanwhile the water continues to flow and the place is in a most dangerous condition.

THIS TIME LAST YEAR.

Today is bright and warm for the time of the year, but this is no reason why tomorrow should be the same. Many are counting upon tomorrow for an ideal Christmas Day, so far as the weather is concerned, but the probability is that they will miss their count. The weather man at the St. John Observatory says that "a disturbance of decided energy is approaching the Maritime Provinces from the west and will probably arrive here sometime tomorrow morning." This, in other words, means that tomorrow may be rainy and windy.

The Christmas of 1902 was something like today. The ground was bare and the dust blew in all directions. It was sharp though, the mercury being down as low as ten degrees above. The day following Christmas, 1902, was somewhat tomorrow—a day of wind and rain followed by sleet and snow.

STEAMER ASHORE.

Went on Rocks at South Norwalk This Morning—Passengers Rescued.

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., Dec. 24.—The str. Erastus Corning, of the Star Line from New Haven for New York, ran on Cops's Rocks off Norfolk at 3 a. m. She filled with water. Fifty passengers were taken off.

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., Dec. 24.—A thick fog hung over the Sound early this morning. Cops's Island, where the Erastus Corning lies, is about a mile outside the usual track of the Sound Steamers and it is supposed that the navigator of the steamer lost his bearings in the fog. The steamer lies high on the rocks so that her stern is partly filled with water. All her passengers are believed to be saved.

A small boat, which left the wreck shortly after the steamer struck, is missing. There were on board six people, H. Bird, J. McCaugh, Miss H. Shipro, Mrs. E. Wilson, Mrs. C. Shepard and Mrs. A. Fisher. Unless some passing steamer has picked up the party it is feared they have perished.

HELP SANTA CLAUS.

In the midst of the Christmas preparations going on in this city, there are many who are looking forward to no festivities even of the very slightest kind, tomorrow. Not only that, but they are in actual need of the bare necessities of life, food, clothing, fuel, and with no money to procure them. The different churches and charitable institutions of St. John are doing much to help the poor, but there is plenty yet to be done, and at this season of the year, especially, those who have abundance should share with those who have not, to the extent, at least, of relieving suffering. It is Christmas eve, and a good time for any charitably disposed persons to do something for their poorer brothers in this city.

MULLAR REMANDED.

William A. Mullar, who was arrested yesterday for stealing some hundreds of dollars worth of goods from Baird & Peters, was brought before Magistrate Ritchie this morning. The charge was read to the prisoner and he was remanded without being asked to plead. Yesterday afternoon the stolen goods, which had been recovered by the police were taken to the central station. They formed almost two cartloads, and completely fill one of the cells.

An ordinary drunk was fined four dollars.

AFTER FAST HORSES.

The managers of the Shamrock baseball team are now negotiating for the purchase of two valuable horses, which will be disposed of by lottery for the purpose of starting the baseball season next year. Mr. Eaney is acting for himself and others, is trying to secure John E. Moore's Ituna, time 2:10, and E. B. Etter's, Amherst, mare Tonita F., time 2:11-2. Mr. Moore wants fifteen hundred dollars for Ituna, but this price has not yet been agreed upon, and it is understood that the baseball people do not feel like giving higher than thirteen hundred.

MARCUS WINS MEDAL.

A very pleasant reception was held in the rooms of the C. B. U. last night, when nearly four hundred people were entertained.

The final test for the medal was the main feature. Five of the leaders took part resulting in Marcus capturing the medal. The final score stood: Marcus, 606; R. Mayer, 554; J. Long, 512; D. J. Corr, 500; A. G. Cumming, 484. Marcus won the cash prize. Diplomas were presented to Frank B. Fleming, Perley A. Jones, Harry B. Doherty, Alice M. Brannan, Mary C. McCaffrey, and Albert E. Macaulay. The rooms were tastefully decorated by the students.

HOLT LAND ORANGES.

Messrs. Potts & Co. have just received a fine lot of oranges grown in Palestine. Imported expressly for Xmas trade. Also Spanish Oranges in fancy gold papers. If the retail trade wants something fine call at Potts & Co.'s, Market square.

WILL NOT HOLD A RECEPTION.

The Y. M. C. A. will not hold any New Year's Day reception next year, as it has been found that such affairs are not successful in St. John people as a rule either stay at home or attend the theatre or some other place of amusement. The last reception held was not very largely attended.
