increasing the salaries of civil service servants; concurred in.

On item 28 coming up, Mr. Domville asked why the salary of the Warden of the St. John Penitentiary had been increased $400. He believed that the salary should be proportionate to that of the Warden of Halifax Penitentiary, and therefore, did not object to the increases but he asked the question, seeing that the late Warden had been removed, and a new one appointed at an increased salary. Why was the old Warden removed, and why was the salary of the new one increased?

Cable T-legram. The Sublime Porter treated them with sublime indifference, and he was a naughty man (an Ottoman, probably.—Ed. Trib.) to do so. If the Sultan was in when they celled, he was grossly in-sultan' them to refuse an audience. Compare their reception with that of the delegation from our Evangelical Alliance by the Common Council when His Worship appointed three such well known apostles of temperance as Messrs. Melick, Russell and Martin to assist them in putting down liquor.
