HIGGINS KILLED DOHERTY.

Goodspeed Tells Story of the Cold-Blooded Murder.

Fred Goodspeed was called. He said: "I was 14 years old last April. I know what an oath is; it is an oath of God. It is an oath to tell the truth, I will be 15 years old my next birthday. I remember Friday a week ago. I got my dinner on Friday at home as usual, after 12 o'clock. I left home immediately after dinner, and about 1.30 o'clock arrived at the graveyard, where I met Clifford King, Harry Kelly, Willie Doherty and Frank Higgins. I know Doherty and Higgins about a year and a half, and King about this summer. It was about 1 o'clock then. I asked Kelly how much money he had for the picnic. He said about $1.25. I left King and Kelly there.

"Frank Higgins asked me to go to the park and get a feed of berries. At the time Doherty was reading a newspaper. I think he left it there in the graveyard. I didn't take it away. We went right down Brussels street to Gilbert's lane. I can't think of anyone asking for a cigarette. I recollect a young fellow asking if there were any girls going out to the park. I said: 'A sporty fellow like you could easily get a girl.' We went up the park entrance. We were at the park entrance about five minutes and went down the road towards Dave Connell's farm, and went over the hill, picking berries as went. We did not go near the Drury range.

"We had no quarrel as I know of. We came then towards the park again. I was in front picking berries. Right there by the path of Lovers' lane, me and Willie Doherty were picking berries. Frank Higgins was behind us."

"Then I heard four shots and Willie Doherty sang out and said, 'My God, Higgle, you've shot me.' 'Willie Doherty ran up the hill and Frank Higgins chased him up."

When he got up the hill Frank Higgins raised his hand up to hit Willie Doherty on the head with the revolver. Willie Doherty tried to snatch the revolver. He then sank down on his back and said: "If you go and get a doctor I'll swear it is an accident."

"I went to run to the park and Higgins pointed the revolver at me and said: 'If you don't have a hand in this I'll shoot you right here.'"

"So I came back and he hit Willie Doherty over the head five times with the butt of the revolver. Doherty was lying on the ground with his head on his elbow."

"Then Doherty put his hand to his head, groaned and fell back and didn't move after that."

"I helped Higgins gather some sticks and grass, and we picked up some stones and threw them down and buried him over."

"This occurred at three o'clock as near as I can tell. Then we came in the foot path by the restaurant and through the park entrance and in Gilbert's Lane. We crossed down the track where the street railway runs and went to Sandy bank and Higgins threw the revolver in the creek. Then we came up the track and I came along the track home and left him at the foot of Clarence street and went home then."

"I have known Higgins for some time. He made a proposal to me two or three weeks ago to do away with Doherty. He said: 'Do you like Willie Doherty?' I said: 'Yes, I like him just as well as I do any of the other boys.' 'He said: 'I don't like him; will you help me to kill him?' 'I said, no. 'He never asked me after that. 'He blamed Willie Doherty for stealing the money that Higgins had hid. Doherty was the only one who knew where it was and he blamed Doherty for taking it. He told me he went to Brownville Me., with Holm and Will Doherty and stole about $300 worth of goods and money and they were chased by the sheriff. When Will Doherty threw his things over into the water Frank Higgins held on to his things and hid them in an old house or barn. He didn't tell me where."

"He spoke to me about the Oulton case. He said to me one day in the graveyard. This was Willie Doherty who said this:

"Mr. Mullin makes objection, but the evidence is allowed. Witness continuing said:

"He said 'If I was to tell the authorities all I know about the Oulton case I could get some money.'"

"He said it in a fooling, laughing way and I thought he was only bluffing. We started to take a trip Frank Higgins told me, on Waterloo street, to go away that the cops were after me and would arrest me. I didn't get my hair cut or change my clothes. Higgins cut his hair a bit and changed his clothes—different clothes, a standing collar, and a new hat. We gave our names as Marshall. We intended going to Portland, Me., and did not intend to come back. I was surprised when he shot Doherty. I went back and helped because he pointed a revolver at my head. Afterwards he said: 'If you tell a word about that, the first chance I get I'll take your life.' That was the reason I did not tell you the truth."

"I looked into Doherty's face when he lay on the hill. There were no marks on his face. We threw stones down over the body. Higgins shoved him down over the hill with his foot and the coat rolled over his head."

HIDDEN TREASURE.

Philip Joncas Said to Have Found A LARGE SUM Of Money While Working Near Newcastle. Refused to Talk About it.

The Advocate casually heard a remark that, while working about some building near town or in town recently Mr. Philip Joncas unearthed a large sum of money, estimated at anywhere from $1000 to $1500. Our reporter sought Mr. Joncas but that gentleman was not in a talking humor and was very mysterious about the affair. He acknowledged that he had discovered a large sum of money, but as it was in bank notes it was valueless, except a small amount in coin. He would not advance any theory as to how or where it was placed, where it was found or any particulars so that we are of the opinion that the find exists only in his own mind as he would not show any evidence in the shape of coins to substantiate his story. Of course we may be mistaken but this is the impression left after our reporter cross examined him.

OBITUARY.

The last sad rites over the remains of the late Charles Demers were solemnized at his home in Whitbyville on Sunday, August 2nd at 3 o'clock. The body lay in a handsome black broadcloth casket, with silver trimmings, surrounded by many beautiful flowers, among them being a pillow of ferns and daisies bearing the inscription "At Rest," also a wreath and stars, besides several large bouquets.

The service was very largely attended and was conducted by Rev. A. F. Brown of Newcastle, assisted by Rev. J. D. Murray of Redback. The deceased was 52 years old, he filled the office of postmaster at Whitbyville for many years and also carried on a successful dry goods and grocery business. He was highly respected, an earnest, sincere Christian, and a member of the Baptist Church. The bearers were—John Mezzio, Archie Mezzio, Samuel Murch, David Whitney, Peter Russell and James McKendrick. He leaves besides a widow, three sons and one daughter, two brothers and two sisters. Interment in Whitbyville cemetery.

THE CORONATION.

The Ceremony Performed Without a Hitch.

London, Aug. 9.—Edward VII., R. L., by the grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the British Dominions beyond the seas, King, Defender of Faith, Emperor of India, was crowned without a hitch or hitch, and tonight solemnly celebrated the event, for which the world has awaited as perhaps never awaited any other coronation.

In all respects the celebration was impressive and it was carried out with a perfection of detail and lack of accident that has rarely characterized similar displays. That pride of Empire which marked Queen Victoria's jubilee was, and in its stead there prevailed all classes a keen realization that only six weeks ago their king lay in danger of death, and to-day produced thankfulness and genuine sympathy for the man rather than adulation of the King. The feeling was voiced by the Archbishop of Canterbury, when he blessed in one of the coronation prayers the words, "for whose recovery we now give Thee heartfelt thanks." Yet this did not prevent the public from, during appreciation of each military display the short procession gave them a chance to see.

OVER THE WIRES.

Smoke From Alaskan Mountains

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 11.—Mounts Redoubt, Katmai and Augustine, in the Cook Inlet section of Alaska, continue to emit smoke. All three peaks were active when the steamer Santa Ana, which has arrived from the Northwest, was at Cook Inlet. "It was a pretty sight," Capt. Anderson said, "We were in full view of all three peaks, the farthest being not more than fifty miles distant. The smoke did not appear to be very dense, but it was seen here, been scattered over a wide area, and made it almost black for the sky in some places. There was no flame coming from either mountain."

STEAM DERRICK

Goes Over End of Temporary Structure INTO RIVER

Damage Nearly $1000,— Work Delayed But No One Hurt.

Monday morning while work was being pushed to complete the first span to be placed in the Northwest railroad bridge the large derrick which prevents the steam work on which it travels broke and that position piece of machinery with four men went over and fell to the river, a distance of about thirty feet in about twelve feet of water. It is a miracle that no one was injured or severely injured. Peter Johnson, one of his men, severely sprained his arm, was not injured. They all returned, unscathed, but were quite frightened and that hurt.

The steam derrick consists of a large steam train, with engine and boiler, chains, blocks, etc., and is a very heavy piece of machinery and it will be some time before it will be replaced. Our men of the bridge are busy to get on the job, but this accident will delay the work. The damage is estimated at about $1000.

LION STALKING.

Tracking the Monarch of the Jungle Very Dangerous—No Pastime If You May Judge by the Stories Below.

In "A Tale of Several Lions," by Hercules D. Viljoen, in the June Era, the author writes:

"Van Aardt came to me and suggested a little lion hunting. Now, I knew lions as well as he, deliberate hunting for a lion who mounds a murdered mate was a proceeding so temerarious that the most foolhardy of professional hunters would not dare the conflict. But in the near neighborhood of the spot where Madame Lioness had been killed, there was one lion with an earthquake voice whose rumblings fascinated the very spirit of Van Aardt.

"I am going," he said. "I could not let him go alone, for we had fought too often side by side. We started off, my reckless comrade laying out, in calmest confidence, the artless plan he had of walking up to that tumultuous hell of wrath incarnate and of blowing a few lethal holes in it with his Mauser.

As we came nearer, the roars ceased. The lion, weary with his impressions of the night, had gone away from the scene of his herculean feat for rest and sleep. But we found in the jungle's depths the footway he had trod; in a sentry path of 20 feet he had stalked back and forth for twelve hours, calling aloud for vengeance.

Kristiansen, who had looked upon Van Aardt as a hot-headed madman for a time, decided he would use the morning for a peaceful springbok hunt, and took his Kaffir along. He went in the direction opposite to ours. After half an hour's close tracking, the Kaffir, who had been in advance, appeared at his elbow with impish suddenness, and in a whispered word:

"Baas, a lion!"

Kristiansen started ahead of him. There in a tiny clearing not 30 yards away, the monarch stood, his mane quivering with the intensity of his attention, and his brilliant eyeballs gleaming in the effort to penetrate the single veil of cover that hid the hunter from his view. The Kaffir had a faith in his master that was sublime.

"Shoot, Baas, shoot!"

Kristiansen knew that death stood waiting for him in the clearing beyond. The chances were all against a first fatal shot. The wounded lion would tear him into shreds of mangled flesh before he could have time to fly.

Step by step, his very breath pent up, he made the slow retreat. The Kaffir, fancying all his master need to do was to fire a single shot, accompanied him with an expression of disdain. For 10 good minutes, Kristiansen paced backwards, and then came swiftly to the camp again upon the chance of making up a party whose numbers would mean safety in a concerted attack. But the majority of us were away, and that lion, with all the others among the spouses of Farie's lioness, went unmolested from that day forth.

I was in Pretoria a little later and saw a sight that told me how wise Kristiansen had been. The oldest lion hunter of the Transvaal shook me by the hand and used his right hand for the greeting. The other arm hung, withered and helpless, at his side. Only half his face was there to speak to me. The other half went into a lion's maw a few months earlier.

He was hunting springbok with his son, and carried an ancient muzzle loader. A dead shot, the old man decied a buck not 50 feet away, and kneeling, fired. The crack of the rifle was answered by the snarling roar of a wounded lion. The bullet, passing through the buck, had struck the mighty beast as he was about to spring. And it had no more than wounded him.

He leaped for the smoke, coming on in flying bounds, while my old friend fumbled wildly with his powder horn. He was too slow. The bullet had not dropped into the barrel before the lion was upon him. One crunch of his tremendous jaws, and an arm was stripped to the bone. Another, and the side of his face had vanished. The cavernous throat above the prostrate man roared once more, before the teeth should clash together, when the son, running up, put his rifle barrel to the lion's side, and drove a half-ounce bullet through his heart.

The chances are in favor of the lion when accident brings him and man together.

Ruskin's Toys.
The home rule of Ruskin's mother was well nigh Puritanic in severity. His toys were few and his source of amusement limited. He says: "For toys I had a bunch of keys to play with so long as I was capable of pleasure in what glittered and jingled, as I grew older I had a cart and a ball and when I was six years old two boxes of well-cut wooden bricks.

Apply This Test To Your Nerves

Study these symptoms. They are for your guidance. You may not have them all, but if you have any of them your nervous system is not up to the mark, and a little extra expenditure of nerve force may bring the dreadful downfall.

Intolerance of motion, noise and light; twitching of the muscles of the face and eyelids; fatiguing sleep, sudden startings and jerking of the limbs; dizziness and flashes of light before the eyes; irritability and restlessness in every part of the body; headache, indigestion, feelings of weariness and depression; and loss of interest in the affairs of life.

So long as the daily expenditure of nerve force is greater than the daily income, physical bankruptcy is certain to result sooner or later. Nerve force must be increased, and this can best be accomplished by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, because it contains in concentrated form the very elements of nature which go directly to form nervous energy. What Can a Woman Do For a Man?

In Times of Suffering and Critical Illness She Can Honestly Recommend PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND As a Saver of Life and a Banisher of Dis-ease.

Woman's power for good in the home can never be truly estimated. In times of suffering and danger, her judgment and resources are available; her smiles, words of cheer and comfort help to dispel gloom and sadness. The faithful, discerning wife has a full knowledge of the value of Paine's Celery Compound as a banisher of disease; she has had personal experience with it; she has noted its wonderful effects and cures; she has faith in its virtue, and recommends it with full confidence. Mr. J. H. Brown, Port Perry, Ont., says:—

"I was troubled with kidney complaint; the doctors called it an enlargement of the neck of the bladder. Be that as it may, I suffered the most intense pain. I applied to my physician for relief but little encouragement; he thought the only way to obtain relief was to submit to an operation. I went home very much discouraged, and was prevailed on by my wife to try Paine's Celery Compound. I did, but with very little faith in it, purchased one bottle, but the results were marvellous, as I received immediate relief after taking it. The pain is all gone, and my skin, instead of being dry and harsh as it used to be, is as soft as velvet; in fact, I feel like a new man, and never felt better in my life than I do at present."

Among the reminiscences of the class of '05 at Yale is the story of a stout and healthy looking member who was told by his tutor that he was better fed than taught. You teach me. I feed myself, was the retort.

LAZY LIVERS AND SLUGGISH KIDNEYS.

When these organs fail to perform their proper functions, the blood becomes poisonous and suffering and disease commence. This can be avoided by keeping your vitality at high-water mark, the blood rich and pure by taking one Ferrozone Tablet after each meal.

Ferrozone has a mild but rapid action on the liver and kidneys, and is certainly the greatest producer of revitalizing blood known to science. or pleasure in what glittered and jingled, as I grew older I had a cart and a ball and when I was six years old two boxes of well-cut wooden bricks.

With these modest but I still think entirely sufficient possessions, and being always anxiously whipped if I cried, did not do as I was bid or tumbled on the stairs, I soon attained self-control and some methods of life and motion and could trace any day contentedly in tracing the squares and comparing the colors of my carpet, examining the knots in the road of the floor or counting the bricks in the opposite houses.

There were also intervals of rapturous excitement during the filling of the water cart through its leather turncock when he turned and turned until a fountain sprang up in the middle of the street.

But the carpet and what patterns I could find in bed covers, dresses or wall papers to be examined were my chief resources.

CLIMATE OF THE YUKON

Weather Report. The climate of the Yukon Territory is of a peculiar character.

So many conflicting statements as to the severity of the climate of the Yukon Territory have been made, that it is difficult to get a true picture of it. Such a statement has been prepared by the Weather Bureau, based on the nearly 25 years of observations made there.

The statement is as follows:—
A somewhat typical series of observations at Dawson and various other places in Yukon Territory between 1893 and 1908 and a continuous series at Dawson during the past three years, afford data for estimating with a fair degree of accuracy the average climatic conditions of the Klondike. The average annual mean temperature is about 22 degrees; the mean of the three summer months is about 57 degrees, the mean of the three winter months 16 degrees below zero. Spring may be said to be open towards the end of April, the last zero temperature of the winter usually occurring about the 5th of this month. May, with an average temperature of 44 degrees, is by no means an unpleasant month, and the 23rd is the average date of the last frost of spring. Daily observations during five summers indicate that on the average the temperature rises to 70 degrees or higher on 40 days, and to 80 degrees on 14 days; 90 degrees was recorded in Dawson in June, 1899, and 95 degrees in July of the same year. These temperatures, with much bright sunshine and an absence of frost during three months together with the long days of a latitude within a few degrees of the Arctic Circle, amply account for the success so far achieved by market gardeners near Dawson in growing a large variety of garden produce including lettuce, radish, cabbage, cauliflower and potatoes, and warrant the belief that the harder crops both in parts of Yukon Territory and in the Mackenzie River Basin.

As to the average date of the first autumnal frost, the temperature rapidly declining towards the close of the month. Although night frosts are not infrequent in September, the month as a whole is mild with a mean temperature of 42 degrees. October may be fairly termed a winter month, the mean temperature being but 22.5 degrees, and the first zero of winter recorded on the average about the 18th. Ice usually begins to run in the Yukon about the second week but it is not until quite the end of the month or early in November that the river is frozen fast. The temperature on the average during a winter falls to 20 degrees below zero or lower 72 days, to 40 degrees below or lower on 21 days, to 50 degrees below or lower on 7 days, and to 60 degrees below on 2 days.

January, 1896, 65 degrees below was registered at Fort Constantine, and in January, 1901, 68 degrees below was recorded at Dawson.

Observations of rain and snow have until the close of last summer been very fragmentary, but it is probable that the summer rainfall near Dawson is usually between seven and nine inches, and that the total snowfall of the winter is between 50 and 60 inches.

Dawson being situated near the river with high hills or mountains on all sides, is well protected from the winds and a feature of the town and indeed of the neighboring country is the long periods of calm weather which occur.

A Forgotten Friend of Canada.
On April 9, 1841, died Lieut.-Col. Joseph Bouchette, the able topographer who had made what should have been the line of the Maine boundary. Born in Canada in 1774, he was the son of the naval officer who helped Sir Guy Carleton make the perilous trip from Montreal to Quebec during Montcalm's invasion.

At a very early age he entered the office of his uncle, the Surveyor-General of British North America; then he entered the Provincial navy and served for several years as a naval officer. Next he joined a Provincial military corps, and finally, in 1801, he became Surveyor-General in succession to his uncle. During the war of 1812 he rendered valuable services, some of his reconnaissances being particularly daring and successful. In August, 1811, he sailed for England to superintend the publication of his topographical and geographical exhibit and description of Canada. While he was in England he was nominated Surveyor-General, under the treaty of Ghent, to establish the boundary between the British possessions and the United States. His work in ascertaining the position of the several ridges of highlands stretching westward from the exploring line, which he laid out due north from the mouth of the St. Croix River, was most arduous, and was highly commended by the commissioners under the treaty. The line, which he indicated as the correct boundary, has long since been known to have been the true one; the dishonest means by which the boundary was advanced to within a few miles of the St. Lawrence are well known. Later in life, in 1831, he published "The British Dominion in North America," a statistical report of Lower Canada, enriched with excellent maps.

NEWCASTLE, AUGUST 13, 1902.

CIVIC ENTERPRISE MISSED.

That our city council has been unenterprising in the past probably as much as now, is evidenced in the case of our street car service which might have been civic property. In cities elsewhere that the street car service is civic property it is found to be a very handsome asset. During the year ended May 31st, 1901, for instance, the street car service of Glasgow, Scotland, yielded a net income of £117,388 from a gross revenue of £489,469, and the street car service in Glasgow is said to be a model one, with exceptionally low fares. The city of Bradford, England, also benefited during last year to the amount of £9,711 from its street car service. In Leeds the last year's surplus from the city trams was £61,797, which left a net gain to the city of £40,000 after paying all charges for interest, etc. The year's income of the Liverpool street cars after paying interest depreciation and other charges was upwards of £50,000. Only a portion of the street car system in London is under public ownership and control, yet the metropolis made a gain last year from this source of revenue of £37,037. These are earnings which in proportion to the size of St. John represent such incomes as very greatly reduce the taxation, and if the same principle had been applied in this city the people might have had a better and wider service ere now with much more leeway to apply taxation for other improvements.—Telegraph.

By the sinking of a yacht near St. John last Saturday the city has lost two of its popular young men. This sad accident goes to prove the wisdom of Com. Stewart's remarks in reference to life preservers on yachts.

Mr. Stewart forcibly remarked on several occasions that no yacht should be allowed to get under way without having one ring life buoy for each member of the crew so placed that when capsized they would float. If such a rule had been carried out in the race last Saturday St. John would not now be mourning the loss of two bright lives.

S. S. ALEXANDRA.

The Down the Bay Route Becoming Very Popular.

Saturday, Aug. 9th, being a public holiday along the Miramichi it was only natural that a large crowd should decide to spend it on the water or at the sea shore and consequently when the Alexandra left Chatham at 9 o'clock she had a comfortable passenger list of about 300. The day was perfect, hardly a ripple on the water, while the sky was full of light clouds which at times obscured the sun and moderated the heat. All on board seemed bent on having a good time and if we are any judge of human nature all succeeded admirably. McCracken's orchestra was on board and furnished music for those who cared to dance, and most of the younger, and some of the older ones too, did with vim. There were quite parties of old folks, talking over the latest gossip, while here and there a party playing whist or other games.

At Bay du Vin a large number who came prepared with baskets went ashore to enjoy a few hours lounging about under the trees of the grove or by going in bathing after partaking of lunch. A large crowd also got off at Chaudiere Point and many went direct to Prospect Place, where they speedily ate mine boat, Davidson out of house and home.

But a jolly crowd stuck to the boat and worried Steward Thompson and his assistants until they were nearly distracted, and some of the passengers nearly famished. But Mr. Thompson did famously, and notwithstanding the difficulties under which he had to work served the ones who waited until the last with even a better dinner than the first needed. The whole day was one round of fun and pleasure and those who were down, more especially the ones from Newcastle, were delighted with the trip. In reference to the Alexandra, the Advocate with all kindness towards the company and crew makes the following criticisms and trusts they will be received in the spirit in which they are proffered.

The Alexandra is a new boat and although in the way of workmanship and appointments not as handsome and well appointed as she might be, yet, by exercising a little pains she could be made much more pleasant for the travelling public. Although only on the route a little over a month, she is very dirty and the dark red of which her decks are painted, rubs off to the disgust of lady passengers who are foolish enough to wear good clothes. In the toilet rooms, although fitted with closets and basins, yet on endeavoring to wash, one finds no soap or towels and a trial of the water tap reveals the fact that there is no water on tap. The closets are of the low down tank variety with the flushing cord so concealed that it needs a search to find it and on pulling there is not sufficient water to flush the closets. At a very little more expense patent self flushing closets might have been installed and thus everything kept neat and clean. The toilet rooms need a little care as we doubt very much if they have been washed out since the boat has been on the route.

The ladies cabin on the lower deck has not been yet completed or furnished, and we trust that when it is seated the company will not be afraid to have a little upholstery done and keep it neat and clean. It is small but if made attractive, it would be much appreciated.

In building the galley so small, Steward Thompson is greatly handicapped in cooking and serving meals, and the introduction of a dumb waiter to convey orders to the dining saloon above would facilitate matters very much. On Saturday about forty-five people were served with dinner and it took from 12 o'clock until nearly four to do the work, consequently many had to fast until that late hour.

If the company had followed the plan and model of a steamer as at first submitted but which cost considerably more than the Alexandra and then charged 50 cents instead of 25 cents as at present, kept things sweet and clean, given the Steward and assistants proper facilities to serve meals, the boat would soon become more popular and eventually earn more in one season than the present one would in three. Not nearly enough pains are taken to keep the boat clean. If the crew have not time then others should be hired to do this work and it would pay by the increase traffic it would create.

Double Drowning at St. John.

Son of A. A. McClaskey One of the Victims.

St. John, Aug. 11.—The joy of the coronation celebration received a terrible setback Saturday afternoon when word came to the city that two of St. John's brightest and most promising young men had been drowned while yachting at Loch Lomond. The victims are Chester McClaskey, son of A. A. McClaskey, the well known commercial man. He was 24 years of age. When the mounted police went to South Africa he joined and served three months. The other victim is Walter C. Pyne, aged 24, son of Thos. Pyne, sail maker. Deceased worked in McAvity's foundry and was well liked by all who knew him.

There is some difference of opinion as to how the accident happened. Some say a squall struck the yacht, causing it to cant over and fill with water. Others say that McClaskey fell overboard backwards and Pyne jumped in to attempt to rescue him. When the accident happened a launch started at full speed in the direction of the struggling men in the water. Both were good swimmers and it was seen that they were striking out strongly in the direction of the launch. Suddenly McClaskey went out of sight. Pyne kept on and everybody began to think he would be rescued, but just as an oar was put within his reach he sank from view, being too weak to grasp it.

Bird-Shot For Tiger.

No use to hunt tigers with bird-shot. It doesn't hurt the tiger any and it's awfully risky for you.

Consumption is a tiger among diseases. It is stealthy—but once started it rapidly eats up the flesh and destroys the life. No use to go hunting it with ordinary food and medicine. That's only bird-shot. It still advances. Good heavy charges of Scott's Emulsion will stop the advance. The disease feels that.

Scott's Emulsion makes the body strong to resist. It soothes and toughens the lungs and sustains the strength until the disease wears itself out.

My Hair

"I had a very severe sickness that took off all my hair. I purchased a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor and it brought all my hair back again."
W. D. Quinn, Marselles, Ill.

One thing is certain,—Ayer's Hair Vigor makes the hair grow. This is because it is a hair food. It feeds the hair and the hair grows, that's all there is to it. It stops falling of the hair, too, and always restores color to gray hair.
$1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send us one dollar and we will express you a bottle. Be sure and give the name of your nearest express office. Address, J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

The Song The Mower Sings
by Michael Whelan.

I
O bright is the beautiful morning
And sweet is the scent of the hay,
All heaven the earth seems adorning
This exquisite summer day;
While over the uplands and meadows
The sounds of haymaking rings
And we hear in the sweet summer shades
The song the swift mower sings.

II
O blessed be God for the farmer,
Who feedeth the whole wide world,
To this hero our hearts should grow warmer
For him should the flags be unfurled;
The trumpet the drum and the streamer,
The world to the soldier belongs,
But dearer by far to the dreamer
The song the swift mower sings.

III
Accursed is the work of the spoiler,
And "hell" is the outcome of war;
But blessed is the work of the toiler,
And beautiful his evening star;
Above him, beneath the blue heavens,
Sing sweet birds on sunny wings
To the farmer should glory be given,
For the song the swift mower sings.

Well about, those 98c. hat in our window, or rather those hats we are selling at 98c. There are $2.00 hats in this lot, some are not worth quite so much but every hat there, is worth more than we are asking for it. There is no fraud or deception at all, if you choose a $2.00 hat, the price is 98c., if you choose one not quite so good the price is the same, but we guarantee you this "that it is worth a good deal more than 98c."

Mer Lawns at 12½c. per yard, have about touched rock bottom, if they haven't gone below. A few pieces left yet, don't delay if you wish to get any, this is the kind of weather for these goods too. Other kinds of lawns, muslins, etc., from 7c. to 15c., some worth double what we are asking now.

Those suits we talked of last week, yes, we still have some $8.50 to $10.00 serge suits, double breasted, heavy twill. Come in and have a look at them. We dislike hanging clothing around the door in summer, it gets full of dust (the movements of the watering cart are very uncertain) and never has the same fresh appearance after, so if you don't see any suits hanging around, we have them just the same, walk right in and ask about them. The price for these $8.50 to $10.00 suits mentioned above is now $6.75. Of course, we have cheaper, we can you a good suit at $4.75, not a mean trashy thing, but good servicable and strong, good looking too, and all grades from that up.

Still a few white shirts at 29c., and some better qualities.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Regular Monthly Meeting Last Wednesday Evening.

The regular monthly meeting of the Newcastle town council was held in the council chamber last Wednesday evening at 8.30 o'clock.
The following were present: Mayor Morrison and Alds. Hennessey, Hickson, Williston and Fish.
Several applications for entrance to sewers were read and it was resolved that the applicants be notified that as soon as the system was tested their requests would be granted.
The committee of the whole Council made the following report:—
Newcastle, N. B. Aug. 6th, 1902.

To His Worship, THE MAYOR AND ALDERMEN OF THE TOWN OF NEWCASTLE.

I beg to report that in pursuance of an order of the Committee of the whole Council made on the first day of May last, I forwarded the Tenders of the Smart Rhy Machine Co. Ltd., and the John McDougall Caledonian Iron Works on Contracts F and G, to Mr. Chipman, and on June 5th received a letter from him recommending the Tender of the Smart Rhy machine Co.
A meeting of the whole Committee was immediately held and the tender of the Smart Rhy Machine Co. for Contracts F and G, (Boilers and Pumping Machinery) was accepted.
On May 22nd a meeting of the Committee of the whole was called and Mr. T. A. McLean Jr., Director of the Maritime Contract and Mining Co., Contractors for the Power House, appeared before the Committee and asked to be allowed to withdraw his tender for the reason that he had made an error in his calculations. He also stated that rather than take the Contract at the figures in his tender he would forfeit his deposit of $1000.
After due consideration of the facts of the case, the Committee decided to raise the contract price $1225. On condition the work was undertaken at once and prosecuted to completion and Mr. McLean was given three days to decide.
On May 30th Mr. McLean telegraphed his acceptance of the Committee's offer and the Contract for Power House was let to the Maritime Contracting and Mining Co. Ltd. at the amended price of $7,325.
At this meeting the question of a Steel Bridge over the Mill Cove was considered and it was moved by Ald. Phinney, seconded by Ald. Polidin, that Messrs. Fish, Phinney and Hennessey be a Committee of three to select a place for the road to the bridge and ascertain from the persons through whose property this road will pass for what the right of way can be purchased and report to the Council.
A meeting of the Committee of the whole Council was held in the Engineer's Office on June 24th, Mr. Chipman, Chief Engineer being present.
The question of taking Surface water into the Sewers was discussed and the Engineer was instructed to throw out all Catch Tains from the Contents of Messrs. Clark and Connolly and to make no provision for taking in surface water.
He was also instructed not to carry the Prince William street sewer any further than the lower gate of Rev. P. W. Dixon's residence, but to carry out the resolution in reference to extension made by the Council at a meeting held on June 4th, a copy of which was sent to the Resident Engineer.
It was also decided at this meeting to purchase 125 feet of land square on the E. I. Road from Mr. R. H. Gremley for the sum of $100 according to his offer, and the Town Clerk was instructed to have the deed made and executed.
A meeting of the Committee was also held on the 26th day of June, and a communication from Mr. J. W. Davidson is Prince William Street sewer was read and laid over in the meantime.

It was moved by Ald. Stables, and seconded by Ald. Fish, that an eight-inch sewer be laid up Regent street from Pleasant street to or near George Richard's house.
On August 1st the Committee again met to open the tenders for Electric Light Engines and Plant.
Tenders for the Electric Light Plant were received from the United Electric Co. of Toronto and the Canadian General Electric Co. For Electric Light Engine from The Robb Engineering Co., E. Leonard & Sons, The Polson Engine Works, John Ingalls & Son, Goldie and McCulloch and The Watson Engine Co.
After discussion it was moved by Ald. Richies, seconded by Ald. Hickson, that the two tenders for the Electric Light Plant and the tender of the Robb Engineering Co. and E. Leonard & Sons for Engines be forwarded to Mr. Chipman for his opinion and that Mr. Thorold be requested to write Mr. Chipman giving him the views of the Committee on these tenders.
Respectfully submitted,
R. T. D. AITKEN,
Secretary to Committee.

This was received and placed on file.
Ald. Hickson asked of the waterworks cart was allowed to remain idle, an ornament and pun for the whole town.
Ald. Williston said it was hard to please everybody. Last year the waterworks cart was on the go most of the time and it cost about $3 a day to operate it. This year the board of works had to make some permanent repairs to the roads and use the team for this instead of hauling the waterworks cart except on very dusty days. He admitted that several days the cart should have been out but as the team was working out of the town it was hard to get word to the driver. He also said that at present it was difficult to get water and took more time to get than to sprinkle the streets but this would be done away with next season as water could be procured at a any corner.
The Mayor said that the Board of Works should have a report of the summer work made out and suggested that it be submitted at next meeting.
Ald. Hickson moved that the Secretary be instructed to issue a circular letter to those brokers who made offers in reference to sale of town debentures and that such letters be based on or about Aug. 15th.

The following bills and waterworks estimates passed:—
Gazette Printing Co. Montreal, $ 4 00
Jerome Laundry, 2 50
Anslow Bros, 15 25
Contract Record, 4 80
C. & B. Ritchie, 2 40
Mail & Empire, Toronto, 16 80
Expressage, 4 45
Telegrams, March to July, 8 79

ESTIMATES.
Contract A, Clark & Connolly, $4533 71
Contract B, Power House, 1480 00
Contract C, Reservoir, 220 00
Contract D, Iron Pipe, 1360 88
Special Castings, 664 00
Contract E, Hydrants & Valves, 1894 28
Meeting then adjourned.

PRESENTATION.

On Tuesday evening "The Children of Mary" met in their assembly room, at the convent to say farewell to Rev. Mother St. Gertrude, the directress of the society, who had been called to Montreal. A beautiful oak letter box, containing stationery, etc., was presented to her with the following address:—
THE REV. MOTHER ST. GERTRUDE, CONGREGATION DE NOTRE DAME, NEWCASTLE, N. B.
Rev. Mother:—The Children of Mary Society having learned of your intended departure from this, our Convent house, are in the present view moved by the two-fold impulse of gratitude and regret.
You have, for the past six years, been the presiding spirit at all our meetings, and those years have been, in many respects, years replete with blessings, which, however, may not have always met with the appreciation, "blessings brighten as they take their flight."
In accepting the direction of this Sodality, you knew and felt that of the different advantages offered by being, the highest forms are intellectual—are of the mind. Hence your constant and successful effort in supplying the Sodality with a choice selection of books, instructive, recreative and formative.
The Society, thanks to your efforts, has the nucleus of a library which, already considerable, will, owing to the impulse and example given by you, increase in size and importance.
For such blessings we would fain, Rev. Mother, express in adequate language our feelings of gratitude.
That you are about to leave us is, Rev. Mother, a cause of deep regret. That regret is, however, somewhat moderated by the knowledge that obedience calls you to other scenes of activity, and that our sisters elsewhere will enjoy of your wise counsels and unwearying vigilance.
Good, says a distinguished writer, is not a thing of choice. It is a river that flows from the foot of the invisible Throne, and flows by the path of obedience. This Holy obedience is yours. It enables you to see the invisible Hand guiding and directing our earthly career, impelling you to say with Her with whom in life you have

CORONATION DAY.

A Public Holiday Quietly Spent Here.

Whether Saturday would be a public holiday at Newcastle, and if it was, would it be observed as such by merchants, was a question that remained undecided until some of the hustling clerks got their heads together and decided to circulate a petition asking that all places of business be closed on that day and when it was circulated it was signed by almost every merchant. The Mayor then issued a proclamation, proclaiming Saturday a public holiday. It was then too late to organize any extensive demonstration so it was decided that the evening would be fittingly spent in honor of the occasion.

During the morning the 12th F. B. C. A. under command of Lt. Col. Maltby fired a Royal Salute. Otherwise, the day was quietly spent. A large number went down river on the Alexandra, also up river on the Rustler and it was a perfect day for such excursions.

An energetic committee worked at decorations in the park and at night when the lights were lit it showed up in fine shape.
At nine o'clock the torchlight procession headed by the Orange band, was formed or rather congregated as there was no rule or order to the procession it being composed of the average and boys, whose chief delight was to hold a torch and yell at the top of his voice thus drowning the music. After a circuit of the town the band returned to the band stand where it played a choice programme, prominent among the numbers being Rule Britannia and God Save the King. Mr. S. W. Miller sang Rule Britannia, the crowd joining in the refrain. At about 10.30 the band played God Save the King in which the crowd joined.

The decorations of some of the stores and residences were worthy of notice. Mr. A. E. Shaw's drug store was very tastefully decorated with lanterns, and the windows neatly dressed and lighted with wax tapers. Mr. J. Morrison's windows were very tastefully dressed and a large picture of the King displayed therein. The Bank of Nova Scotia and Mr. S. McLeod's were also decorated. Mr. McLeod's decorations consisted of hanging neatly draped over the entrance, with flags.
Miss Murray's residence was very tastefully decorated and lighted and was much admired.

Messrs. Clarke & Co. and Geo. Stables stores were also illuminated.
Altogether the evening was a credit to the town and the committee in charge.
A number of private citizens had fireworks which added much to the evening's fun.

The only disagreeable feature of the evening was the way the small boys, and some larger ones, exploded large fire crackers. Not satisfied with setting them off in the open they seemed to delight in throwing them among a crowd where they did more or less damage to ladies' dresses. In one instance a large one exploded in a carriage in which there were three ladies, and the explosion set fire to one of the young ladies' underskirts and but for the prompt action and presence of mind of the others a serious accident might have resulted.

Y. M. C. A.

Rev. Mr. Palmer addressed the meeting in the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Sunday afternoon last. His address was principally to young men and showed careful thought and preparation. In the absence of Prof. Prince, Rev. Mr. Palmer presided at the meeting. Next Sunday the meeting will be at 7.30 as usual. Ladies as well as men are cordially invited.

DICKENS IN CAMP.

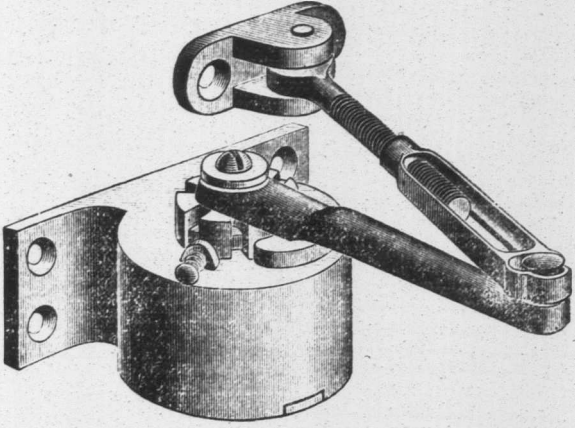

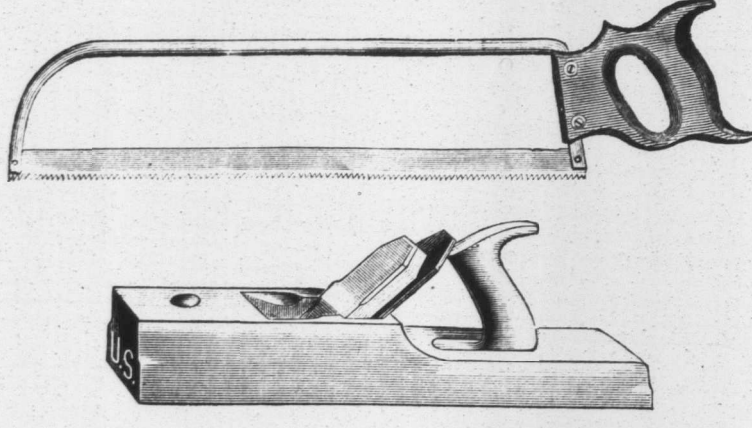

Above the pines the moon was slowly drifting.
The river sang below:
The old sorrows, far beyond, splitting
Their minarets of snow.
The roaring camp-fire with rude humor
Painted
The ready flits of health,
On haggard face and form, that drooped
And flinched
In the free race for wealth.
Till one arose and from his pack's secret
Treasure
A bound volume drew,
And cards were dropped from hands of
To hear the tale anew.
And then, while round them shadows gathered Faster,
And as the twilight fell,
He read aloud the book wherein the master
Had writ of Little Nell.
Perhaps 'twas boyish fancy, for the reader
Was youngest of them all;
But as he read, from clustering pine and cedar,
A silence seemed to fall.
The fir trees gathered closer in the shade,
And
Listened in every spray.
While the whole camp with Nell on English meadows
Wandered and lost their way.
And so in mountain solitudes overtaken,
As by some spell divine,
Their eyes dropped from them like the needles shaken
From out the gusty pine.
Lost is the camp and wasted all its fire
And he who wrought that spell—
Ah, lowering pine and sturdy Kentish spire,
Ye have one tale to tell.
Lost is that camp, but let its fragrant story
Blend with the breath that thrills,
With boyish innocence all the penance glory
That fills the Kentish hills.
And on that grave where English oak and holly
And laurel wreaths entwine,
Drown it not all a too presumptuous folly
This spray of Western pine.
—The late Bret Harte.

A NIGERIA EXPEDITION.

Brilliant British Capture of a King and His Army.
Events in West Africa have so quickly succeeded each other in the last two years that it may be necessary to recall to memory the expeditions against the King of Kontagora which took place during the months of January and February, 1901. The result of that expedition was the capture of the large town of Kontagora and the complete defeat of the King's army. The King himself, however, and the great proportion of his men, escaped in the direction of Kano, and he collected his forces, numbering about 10,000 men, in a fortified camp at Kaya, near the large city of Maska. During the year he made himself a terror to the towns in the neighborhood, and practically put a stop to the trade of the once prosperous town of Zaria.
As this state of affairs could not continue, an expedition known as the
"Zaria Relief Expedition" left Jebba,
the headquarters of the Northern Nigeria Regiment, on Feb. 5 last, with the object of capturing the king and dispersing his followers. This expeditionary force left Jebba with 77 infantry, a seven-pounder gun, and a Maxim gun, under the command of Major N. H. C. Dickinson (Leinster Regiment), 1st Battalion Northern Nigeria Regiment, and Lieut. Wright (2nd Queen's), as staff officer. Lieutenant Farquhar, R.F.A., was in command of the artillery detachment. At Wushishi, which was reached on Feb. 11, a detachment of 27 Mounted Infantry under Captain Porter (19th Hussars), was picked up, and here also the expedition was joined by Capt. Abadie (1st Royal Scots), who acted as Political Officer. On Feb. 20 Capt. Porter was despatched with the Mounted Infantry towards Maska to cut off all retreat in that direction. The remainder of the force moved with all speed towards Kaya, but they found it deserted, and it was entered and burnt to the ground.
Capt. Porter on nearing Maska had in the meantime found that the King had fled with all his followers, and was on his way towards Kano.
In the distance Porter could see the retreating army of the Kontagoras, and all hope of forcing them to stand seemed gone. However, the Mounted Infantry, although tired out, gave chase in the most plucky manner, and skirting the Northern wall of Maska, Porter, who was opportunely joined by Abadie, came up with the retreating army some miles along the road, all hurrying towards Kano.
Some resistance was made, but the King, on being surrounded by the Mounted Infantry, surrendered to Capt. Abadie, the Political Officer.
Meanwhile the Infantry, under Major Dickinson, were hurrying up behind, and completely cornered the whole army of Kontagora. The captive chief, Ibrahim Sudan, is a nephew of the Sultan of Sokoto, the second most powerful man in the Mohammedan religion. His capture, with the enormous number of 10,000 men, is the greatest blow yet struck at the Mohammedan power in West Africa.
The King himself was personally escorted by Major Dickinson to Lokaja gaol, and his men were sent back under escort to their native towns.

Neatly Done.

Dr. Thomas Hume, an Irish wit and friend of Thomas Paine, went into a newspaper office and silently placed on the counter an announcement of a friend's death. Together with 5 shillings, the charge for the insertion of such advertisements.
The clerk looked at the paper, tore it to one side and said in a surly manner:
"See on and six."
"I have frequently had occasion," replied Hume, "to publish these simple notices, and I have never before been charged more than 5 shillings."
"Simple?" replied the clerk grumpily, without looking up. "You say he is 'universally beloved and deeply regretted.' Seven and six!"
Hume laid the additional money on the counter, saying quietly:
"Congratulate yourself, sir, that you are a man of sense, and that you are a man of sense."

Would ask of you a careful examination of the following

The WHIRL of the TOWN

A foreigner with a hand organ was doing the town last Monday.

The S. S. Conaxa is completing her load at Lynch's mill, Nelson.

We still have a number of copies of our Illustrated Souvenir Edition which we mail to any address on receipt of 10 cents.

Thomas Gekkie climbed the park flag-staff last Friday evening and reeled the halyards. It was plucky climb for any but an experienced sailor.

Mr. John Menzies has a beautiful five-acre field of hay at his farm at Strathadam. A few stacks taken at random measured over five feet in length.

A meeting of the Mechanics Institute will be held in the Institute building this Wednesday evening at 7.30. A full attendance is requested.

Messrs. R. G. Anderson & Son recently shipped an order of furniture from their establishment to a Halifax party. This is reversing the usual order of affairs.

Branch No 130 C. M. B. A. of Bathurst are making arrangements for a grand picnic there on Labor Day. A programme of sports is being arranged and a special train will probably run from Newcastle.

An excursion train including seven Pullman cars passed through here Tuesday morning. It carried a large number of manufacturers and their friends who are on a tour through the Maritime provinces.

Mr. James Robinson, M. P., of Northumberland, has purchased through Wm. Walker of this city, a gasoline launch to be used as a pleasure boat upon the Miramichi. The boat is 21 feet long and beautifully built and finished. She was built by a United States concern and is to arrive in a few days.—Gleaner.

We ask all our subscribers who are in arrears to pay up at once. We are in urgent need of funds and would appreciate it very much if this appeal would be sufficient to induce 25 per cent. of those who owe us to send along the needed. Individually the amounts are small but they aggregate many hundreds of dollars all of which we are in need of to publish our up-to-date paper.

The Coronation service in St. Andrew's Church was fairly well attended. At the same time not as largely as it ought to have been considering that the Coronation is a religious service and is to confirm the King in his throne. One can easily appreciate the stream of Leigh Hunt that "The Poverty of Christians is Astonishing Considering the Number of Them." The same service was used as that appointed for use in Westminster Abbey.

Two Armenian fakirs, professional beggars dressed in clerical style, who were run out of Woodstock, last Friday by the police, at the instance of Mayor Belyea, struck Ludlow Tuesday evening and appeared in Chatham on Thursday. They are begging merely for what money there is in it for themselves. They tell different stories and are evidently frauds. They capture a soft-hearted clergyman or two in each place, and then go out and prey upon their congregations. If they are still here they should be run in as frauds.—World.

A bicycle accident occurred Sunday afternoon, between 4 and 5 o'clock, which resulted in the death, on Thursday, of John Cabel son of Samuel Cabel of Napan. The young man and a friend by the name of Al. Parrie, were racing along the Chapel road. When near the new school house, Cabel's bicycle ran into a rut in the road, and in an instant bicycle and rider were thrown into a small bridge. Cabel's stomach came with great force against the handles of the wheel and he also received injuries from coming in contact with a large boiler. He remained unconscious until revived by Dr. J. S. Benson, for whom a messenger had to be sent to town. Deceased was in his twenty-first year. The funeral was largely attended, and Canon Forsyth officiated. Interment at St. Paul's.—World.

Mr. Nash of New York is enjoying a few days fishing on the Seavogle.

The schooner Minneola, a fine looking three masted craft is loading laths at Lynch's for New York.

The S. S. Kentegren has been chartered to load deal from Miramichi to west of England at about 40 shillings.

Miss Gertrude Goodin, dressmaker, will not be in her accustomed place, over Cressman's store, for the next three weeks.

A large crowd went down river from here on the Alexandria yesterday morning, among them were a number of young folks who were to spend the day at Bay du Vin.

Messrs. Fletcher Pickles and Chas. Anslow spent two days at Brown's pool at the Big Hole and caught six grilse on Friday. Saturday was showery with no fishing.

The Bay du Vin wharf is nearing completion and it is expected that the blocks will be connected and passengers will be able to walk ashore by the end of this week.

The J. B. Snowball Co's steamer was placed at the disposal of the company's employees, for an all-day excursion down river today, and a large number availed themselves of the opportunity for an outing.—World.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Russell wish to thank the Miramichi Steam Navigation Co. of Chatham and Messrs. W. & J. Anderson, of Church Point, for the many acts of kindness and the assistance rendered during the search and recovery of the body of their little boy, also to the many friends for their sympathy in their sad bereavement.

The Sun Publishing Company has placed an order with Messrs. R. Hoe & Co., machinists, New York, for a new printing machine capable of printing at a single operation a sixteen-page paper at a speed of ten thousand an hour. This press will exceed in capacity any in New Brunswick. The Messrs. Hoe expect to deliver it early in October. The Sun is to be congratulated on this evidence of its success.—Globe.

There was a crowded congregation at the Baptist church, last Sunday evening to listen to a sermon, on the Coronation by the Rev. A. F. Brown, who touched upon the meaning of the Coronation, and the form of ceremony and "His Several Facts in connection with the Edwards" at the same time giving the history of Westminster Abbey, we have no need to say that the sermon was a master piece from beginning to end. Special music was splendidly rendered by the choir. The service commenced with the National Anthem.

A pretty but quiet wedding was celebrated at the pro cathedral, Chatham, Wednesday, Aug. 6th, when Miss M. H. O'Brien of Ellentown, was united in marriage to P. J. Lloyd of Lower Newcastle by the Rev. T. H. Joyner. The bride was charmingly gowned in white cashmere, with bridal veil and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by her sister Susie who wore white organdie over pink. The groom was ably supported by his brother. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to the home of the bride's mother, where a reception dinner was served to about thirty guests. The bridal party proceeded later to the groom's residence in Lower Newcastle where a reception was held from seven to twelve. The bride was the recipient of many handsome presents.

The McNaughton memorial drinking fountain has been set up in stay-market square, in front of The World building. It is an iron structure on a granite base, surmounted by a lamp, the height being about 15 feet. There are two iron drinking cups, two horse troughs, and a trough for dogs. The fountain has been surrounded, since the water was turned on, by a typical gang of Chatham boys, crawling over it, climbing up it, and sticking their dirty fingers into the pipe that supplies the drinking cups, the latter being their favorite amusement.

THE CHEAP CASH STORE

Our large increase of business is due to the fact that we are showing better values than can be obtained elsewhere. Many people have taken advantage of the low prices and special bargains we have been offering this summer. Our prices are still as low and if possible in some instances lower than before. We have one or two specialties we would like to draw your attention to this week.

MEN'S SUITS.

Our stock in this direction is still somewhat heavy and must be reduced. Regular $9.50 and $10.00 suits, heavy twilled serge, now all one price, $6.75. Call and see them and you will quickly be convinced that they are the best you have seen for the price. We have a big lot of tweed suits the prices of which have also been slashed away down.

BOY'S SUITS.

A lot of these left yet, to be cleared out at reduced prices. All sizes, price, from $1.00 upwards.

MEN'S RAIN COATS.

We have a big stock of these in black, blue, greys, etc., which have been somewhat slow in selling, so in order to clear them out we have reduced prices to the lowest notch, $2.00, $2.50, $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00. No need to get wet for the want of a rain coat.
