Now Confronts the British War Office.

The Call for Volunteers to Relieve Regiments Is Ignored.

The Kaiser Will Mot Attend the Coronation of King Edward-Chamberlain Strikes Back at His Critics.

CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS IGNORED London, Jan. 13 .- The British war office is confronted with a serious condition of affairs. Its call for volunteers to relieve the regiments at the front has so far met with absolutely no response, and has served to intensify the widespread indignation existing among all the volunteer regiments. In the first place, volunteers answering the call would only receive a shilling per day, while the yeomany, in which many volunteers have already enlisted, receive 5 shillings per day. The only solution for the deadlock appears to be for the war office to introduce conscription or withdraw the new regulations. These have stirred up strife to an extent which has not existed for many a year between the government officials and the voluntary arm of the service.

IMPRACTICABLE RULES. According to the new rules every regiment must go into camp for one week each year, and the government grant will be reduced in proportion to the number of absentees from the camp. The volunteers' commanders say it is impossible to get more than 40 per cent of the men together the same week, so different are the occupations of the volunteers. In addition the war office refuses to recognize drills which are not attended by a percentage of men which it has hitherto been found quite impossible to attain, and imposes battalion parades of such strength that there is no drill hall or drill grounds in London large enough to enable the battalions to maneuver.

KAISER WILL NOT ATTEND. A Berlin cable says: Following close after the snub administered to Great Britain on the subect of the Prince of Wales earlier in the week, when the semi-official North German Gazette denied that Emperor William had urged the Prince of Wales to visit Berlin on the occasion of his najesty's birthday celebration, pointing out that the prince had been invited at the request of King Edward, the North German Gazette today pointedly denies that Emperor William will attend either the memorial service in honor of the late Queen or the coronation of King Edward. The paper says the state-ments in the English newspapers on the subject are untrue.

WALES' VISIT TO BERLIN. The same paper says the Prince of Wales' visit will be only for a day. It is intended simply as a token of King Edward's personal regard for Emperor William. The Prince of Wales, there-fore, has declined all invitations to entertainments proposed in his honor, including a reception by a German tration. regiment of which King Edward is colonel, so that the Germans may be under no misapprehensions regarding the private and personal character of Had the Prince of Wales been here this morning he would not have been able to read any German periodical that did not contain lampoons on his father, caricatures of Lord Kitchener. or the brutal descriptions of British inhumanity in South Africa. These things do not affect the inflexibly correct attitude of the government, but they intensify the already heated feeling against Britain. Joseph Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, in speaking at Birmingham Saturday night, took occasion to notice the criticisms showered upon him in the German Reichstag last week, especially Count Von Buelow's castigation. In referring to the animosity of foreign nations, he said he was well aware that in some quarters it was attributed to the "indiscreet oratory of the colonial secretary."

"What I have said," continued the secretary, "I have said. I withdraw nothing; I qualify nothing; I defend nothing, As I read history, no British minister has ever served his country faithfully and at the same time been popular abroad. I, therefore, make allowance for foreign criticism. I will not follow the example that has been set me. I do not want to give lessons to a foreign minister, and I will not accept any at his hands. I am responsible only to my sovereign and GET ANOTHER SCAPEGOAT. "I do not deprecate the importance the good will of foreign nations, but there is something more impor tant. It is the affection and confidence of our kinsfolk across the sea. Even our great losses in the war that has been forced upon us have brought in their train one blessing of infinite and lasting importance. That war has enabled the British Empire to find itself, and has shown to all whom it may concern that if ever again we have, as in the past, to fight for our very existence against the world in arms, we will be supported by the sons of Britain in every quarter of the

"How can I be made resonsible for what Lord Grey has called filthy lies,' and what Lord Rosebery described as 'vile, infamous falsehoods,' which have been disseminated in foreign countries without a syllable of protest, without the slightest interference by responsible authorities? My opponents must find some other scape goat; they must look further for the causes of hostility which I do not think deserved, but which always comes to the surface when we are in difficulty, and which I am glad to say has never done us serious harm." Mr. Chamberlain said that when the present ministry came into office it was at a time when the country was at peace with the world, but the cab-inet had to meet at least six burning questions of international importance. These legacies which Lord Salisbury had to take up included the Venezuelan boundry question, the Samoan difficulty and the French position or the Nile, all of which the government successfully grappled and disposed of. DOCK MONOPOLY IN LONDON. The dock charges of the port of London, considered in the report of Mr. Choate, the United States ambassador, to Great Britain, are still being exacted, and there is small chance of their being brought to an end. Under the caption, "The Throttling of Lon-don," the Daily Mail has printed a series of articles exposing what a helpless victim London is at the hands of the dock monopoly. The paper advocates the handing over of the con trol of the port to a specially constituted public body, declaring that once London's life is allowed to course freely, and the throttling hand of obsolete

Dublin correspondent of the Sunday Observer relates that the national convention of the United Irish League, which opened in Dublin, Jan. 8, was a great success, and that it was the first Irish gathering in that city since the death of Parnell really inspired by a spirit of unity.
"No one present," says the Sunday Observer, "could fail to feel the firm hold that Mr. John Redmond had got on the country, and no question of an alternative chairman was ever thought of. He was undoubtedly more generally supported by the people than any-one since Parnell and the feeling prevails that the national party opened a new and victorious chapter." George Wyndham, chief secretary for Ireland, in speaking at Belfast at a luncheon given by the Marquis of Londonderry, declared frankly that the government would never introduce the principle of compulsion into the purchase and sale of lands. He said that it was proposed to introduce a bill in parliament dealing with the land question in Ireland, by which the price could be determined upon by the parties concerned, the government seeing that both parties were fairly treated.

COLONIES A FACTOR. "Our American kinsfolk," continued Mr. Chamberlain, "have agreed to a treaty to enable the construction of an inter-oceanic canal, which I believe will be of great advantage to the commerce of the world, as it will be of great advantage to the United States. I might have included the struggle between the Boers and Great Britain for supremacy in South Africa, but I say these are solid achieve-ments in the cause of peace, and if we have been unable to remove continental prejudice, which has always existed, but was never more coarsely exercised, we have at least been enabled to settle many substantial differences which might have caused in-Extolling colonial patriotism, Mr. Chamberlain said: "Only a day or two ago I read in an influential Canadian paper an edi-torial which declared that the pro-Boers in England were injuring the empire abroad and destroying the which is our national safeguard. This is only a sample of the loyalty expressed in every colony of the empire. This is a new factor in politics. You must hereafter consult the colonies upon every vital question of imperial politics

Mr. Chamberlain concluded by paying tributes to Lord Kitchener's stern resolution, the army's cheerful courage and Lord Milner's wise adminis-

GIVE US STRAIGHT NEWS! London, Jan. 13 .- The Saturday Review prints an article complaining that the news and views concerning the United Kingdom are furnished to the Canadian press only by way of United States channels, getting considerably muddler in the process. It declares that the prevailing tone of comment on public affairs in Great Britain thus reaching the Canadians is one of sour dissatisfaction and petulant criticism. Everything is represented as seen through American spectacles. The Review urges the establishment · of a special British-Canadian news service, which should, if necessary, be subsidized by the state. Such a service, it declares, would create a better mutual understanding between Canada and Great Britain.

Prospectors from all other localities are coming to this part of the country, and the richest strike has been made by the Steel Mining Company, backed by a number of Sazinaw (Mich.) lumbermen. The ore body of their mine is said to be fully 1,200 feet wide, and extends a distance of two or three miles. It is said that already several million dollars worth of gold is exposed, and ready for the stamp mills. Brief Inaugural Address-The Mic-Mechan Charges To Be Investigated-Appointments.

The newly-elected members of the city council met at 11 o'clock this morning in the council chamber of the city hall. Mayor Beck sat in the chair to detect, and with every opportunity of the chief magistrate, and the alder- to detect any irregularities or 'milking men who took their places before him were Ald. The council chamber itself was graced by the presence of Mrs. Beck and a small party of her friends. The business was of the usual inaugural character, and the time consumed in disposing of it was much the same as in other years. In the absence of the ex-mayor, Ald.

Winnett briefly introduced the new mayor. THE INAUGURAL PRAYER.

Mayor Beck asked Rev. Canon Dann, of St. Paul's Cathedral, to open the meeting with prayer. He prayed fer-vently that the divine blessing might be upon all municipal interests, and that wisdom in their consideration of the city's business might be granted to his worship the mayor and to the members of the council. He prayed that the Almighty would bless with his gracious guidance the purpose for which they were gathered.

Upon the conclusion of Canon Dann's prayer, Ald. McMechan, seconded by Ald. Douglass, moved that the thanks of the council be extended to him for his kindness in opening with prayer the first council meeting of the year. and Mayor Beck, in conveying to Canon Dann the thanks of the council. said that he was personally grateful to him for his kindness in opening the bell and McMechan. first meeting of the council. agreed to exchange their positions, Ald. McMechan saying that he thought that his work was cut out for him on INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

Mayor Beck's inaugural address was extremely brief. He said: "Gentlemen of the Council,-I regret the absence of Mr. Rumball, who, had he been in the city, would have introduced me to the council, which office, however, has been ably performed by Ald. Winnett, acting for him. "We none of us can regret the cause of Mr. Rumball's absence, but wish him many years of happiness. "Allow me to express my pleasure at meeting you for the first time in your official capacity, and the hope that we shall strive to work in harmony, and always have as our aim and object the best interests of the citizens of London, irrespective of party, race or creed. The bylaws relating to the McClary Manufacturing Company, and the Geo. White & Sons' Company, having received the approval of a very large majority of the ratepayers, the necessary steps to obtain the sanction of the legislature to these bylaws will have to be taken by the council. "I have not been able to carefully examine the finances of the city, but I intend to do so at the earliest possible moment. "I believe it is necessary that the strictest economy consistent with the proper administration of the affairs of the city should be exercised by the council, and I ask your hearty co-operation in reducing the expenditure wherever it is practicable to do so. "I do not intend to deliver any lengthy address to you. I am sure the citizens will prefer to judge us by our works, and I trust that at the end of the year the affairs of the city will have been so managed by the council that they will meet with the hearty approval of the ratepayers. "I know that I will receive your advice and assistance in the performance of the duties of the office of mayor, to which my fellow-citizens have elected me, and I intend to show my appreciation of the honor they have conferred upon me by devoting my time and energies to promote the best interests of the citizens."

It was moved by Ald. Greenlees, seconded by Ald. Stevely that the address and printed in the minutes of the council, and that the suggestions contained in it be referred to committee. COMMUNICATIONS.

STRIKING COMMITTEES. Ald. Jolly moved, seconded by Ald. Abram, that the five aldermen had received the highest votes at the polls be a striking committee to name the standing committees for the year. These were Ald. Beattie, Cooper,

They retired for this purpose, and the council adjourned until their return to the council chamber. The report was as follows:

the board of works. Ald. Stevely said, that as an old member of the council, Ald. Gerry's request should be recognized. This brought about the first division of the council. It was a straight party vote. Ald. McMechan called for the yeas and nays, resulting as follows, the vote being upon the Gerry amendment: YEA. NAY. Ald. Greenlees, Ald. Beattle. Ald. Stevely, Ald. Campbell, Ald. Douglass. Ald. Winnett, Ald. McMechan, Ald. Abram, Ald. Gerry-5 Ald. Jolly, Ald. Dreaney.

Ald. Cooper-7. CHAIRMEN. Almost immediately afterward the committee reported that they had chosen chairmen as follows: No. 1, Ald. Beattie; No. 2, Ald. Cooper; No. 3, Ald. Winnett.

Ald. Douglass made an amusing "break" in reporting upon the election of chairman of the finance committee. "I have pleasure," he said, "in reporting that No. 1 committee unanimously elected Ald. Beattie as mayor for 1902," Everybody gasped-and then laughed heartily at the slip.

Blushes suffused Ald. Douglass cheeks, and he hastened to rectify the

HOSPITAL MANAGEMENT. Ald. Campbell made two motions, of which it was necessary to give no-tice. One referred to some board of health matters which he wished referred to Nos. 2 and 3 committees; and the other was that to No. 1 committee be referred a motion to the effect "that it is expedient to secure legislation to procure a more representative form of government for Victori Hospital."

Ald. Cooper objected to this, but as it was simply a reference to committee it was allowed to pass. NOTICES OF MOTION.

Notice of motion was given by Ald. Beattie that all boards and trusts that receive their money from the city be requested to send in their estimates by time of its first meeting in March; and upon Ald. Winnett's suggestion, he added that the three chairmen of committees be a special committee to meet representatives of these boards and endeavor to keep the estimates down.

When bylaws were being considered Ald. Campbell moved that the third reading of the plumbing bylaw be deferred until the first meeting of Febru-[Continued on page 6.]

Transmural Ventilation.

[London Telegraph.] in the year 1878 Dr. Flugge proved that air will go through the walls of a closed room, at a rate depending mainly on the difference of tempera-ture between the inside and the outside -the latter being the lower. With walls of ordinary thickness he found that about one-fourteenth of the air in the room would be changed per degree centigrade per hour. In other words, if the outer were 14 degrees words. If the outer were 14 degrees centigrade colder than the inner, the air of the room would be completely changed in an hour by transpiration through the walls. M. H. Wolpert has re-examined this subject, and he finds that in a chamber with 60 cubic yards capacity, having walls of masonry covered with paper, the air will be changed at the rate of one-fortieth of its volume per degree centigrade per hour. When the paper on the walls contained oil varnish decidedly less air permeated, while without paper at all much more went through. It is desirable, therefore, that the ex-terior of houses should be clean, and a heavy rain is a blessing in this respect. Also it follows that the greater the difference between inside and outside warmth, the more copious this spontaneous ventilation. found that when materials like slag and glass were used, through which air could not pass, the cements employed were, as a rule, highly per-

BURNED IN THEIR HOME

Sad Fate of a Family in Four Persons Badly Injured by Fire at the American Sco.

Five Men Killed in a Railway Collision-Mme. Nordica Among the Injured-Other Mishaps.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Henry Pearlstein, his wife and five children, ranging in age from 11/2 to 12 years were burned to death yesterday morning in a fire that destroyed a two-story frame building at 1,047 Broadway. Joseph Supowski, who owned the building, and Karl Bracki, Supowski's brother-in-law, have been arrested. Supowski carried an insurance of $9,000 on the building and its contents, which the police say is a very liberal valuation.

The Pearlsteins and another family ived in rooms above the shoe store, and were asleep when the fire started. Supowski told the police today that he accidentally dropped a lamp. few minutes after the fire began there was a terrific explosion that blew out the front of the store. Plate glass windows on the opposite side of Broadway were shattered and the sound of the explosion was heard two blocks away. The family living in the rear flat barely escaped with their lives. The Pearlsteins were awakened, but before they could reach the only stairway leading from their rooms the fire had undermined the floor in the hallway, and it collapsed under their feet. carrying their down into a seething mass of flames. Their charred bodies were found four hours after the firemen had extinguished the flames. The body of the mother and baby were found together, the little one tightly clasped in its mother's arms. Pearlstein's body was found close to that of his wife. He also held one of the children in his arms. The bodies of the other three children were found huddled together, close to the father's

FOUR BURNED.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 13 .-The home and contents of Henry Plaunt were destroyed by fire Saturday morning, and the eleven inmates barely escaped with their lives. Four members of the family were horribly burned in making their escape from the house, their passage being through a mass of flames. A 10-year-old boy saved his life by jumping from a secend-story window. Plaunt, clad only in his night clothes, bare-headed and bare-footed, ran four blocks through a blinding snowstorm to give the alarm. An explosion of a lamp was the cause of the fire.

FELL ON THE LAMP. Montreal, Jan. 13 .- Amy McPherson, package by return mail.' 20 years old, daughter of Daniel Mc-Pherson, Lensignan street, got up Saturday morning at 3 o'clock on account of feeling sick, and after lamp became so faint that she fell on the lamp. Her clothes became ignited, and she was so badly burned that she died four hours afterwards.

FELL FROM THE BUMPERS. Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 13.-Charlie Thomas (colored), aged 20 years, fell from the bumpers of a stock train as it was pulling into the Michigan Central yard at Montrose, early Saturday morning, and the wheels passed over his left leg, badly crushing it. He was taken to the hospital, where a surgeon amputated the limb near the The shock was too much for the unfortunate young man, and his life slowly ebbed away until death relieved his sufferings about 1 p.m. He and gave his name as above, claiming to have ridden on a freight train from Springfield, Ohio, to Windsor, Ont. Thomas said he rode on the bumpers of a stock train from Windsor, had fallen asleep and was knocked off upon the track, being stopped entering Montrose.

FIVE MEN KILLED.

Rome, Ga., Jan. 13.-As a result of a ilision between a passenger train and a freight train on the Southern Railway early yesterday morning, near Reeves Station, 20 miles north of Rome, Mme. Lillian Nordica, the singer, was injured; her accompanist, E. Romaine Simmons, sustained a bruised hand; Engineer Frank Track was killed, and three other employes of the road were injured. The train to which Mme. Nordica's private car was attached was a mixed passenger and freight, and left Atlanta Saturday night for Chattanooga. A mile north of Reeves, while going at a rapid rate, the passenger train met a freight on a sharp curve. When the collision occurred Mme. Nordica was asleep. The sudden jar threw her from the bed to the floor. It is understood that she sustained a badly bruised shoulder and the muscles of her neck are said to have been strainer. A doctor who attended the singer stated that Mme. Nordica was not bad-

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a discovery of great value to the medical profession and the public. They are dyspepsia and disordered digestion. Almost everybody's digestion is disordered more or less, and the commonest thing they do is to take some one of the many so-called blood purifiers, which in many cases are merel? strong cathartics. Such things are not needed. If the organs are in a clogged condition, they need only a little help and they will right themselves. Cath-artics irritate the sensitive linings of the stomach and bowels and often do more harm than good.

Purging is not what is needed. The thing to do is to put the food in condition to be readily digested and as-similated. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this perfectly. They partly digest what is eaten and give the stomach just the help it needs. They stimulate the secretion and excretion of the digestive fluids and relieve the con-gested condition of the glands and membranes. They put the whole digestive system in condition to do its work. When that is done you need take no more tablets, unless you eat what does not agree with you. Then take one or two tablets—give them needed help and you will have no trouble.

It's a common sense medicine and common sense treatment and it will cure every time. Not only cure the disease but cure the cause. Goes about it in a perfectly sensible and scientific

Both occupants were hurled to the ground and Mrs. Wendland received injuries from which she died Saturday. The boy was not seriously injured. ANOTHER RAILWAY COLLISION. Chicago, Jan. 13.-A passenger train crashed into the rear of another express from Cincinnati on the same system last night at the Baltimore and Ohio Railway Company's siding near Forty-ninth and Wentworth avenue. Two men, both train attaches, were seriously and possibly fatally injured. A possible large loss of life was pre-vented by the fact that at the rear of the forward train was the empty dining-car Delmonico. The locomotive of the train plowed its way half the length of this car. The cook (Robert Hatchen) was caught in the wreck, and was terribly burned by the fire, which caught from the overturned stove in the kitchen. He probably will not re-cover. The other injured man was Fireman John Tuberty, who jumped from the rear engine. He was badly cut and received internal injuries. Wm. Wallace, engineer, jumped and escaped with slight bruises.

into a well on the premises of Mrs. McCoy, a block from his home. Booth's skull had been crushed with an axe, and the body put into the well, head downward. Clots of blood and a bloody axe were found near the well, and what appeared to be a bloodstain was found on the kitchen floor of the Mc-Coy house. Mrs. McCoy and a daughter have been arrested. They say they know nothing about the murder and that both were not at their house Friday night. The Kansas City authorities have been notified to arrest another daughter, who is believed to have left on an early train. Booth received $100 on Friday and his pockets had

ANOTHER BANK

In Connection With the Everett-Moore Embarrassment.

Syndicate Has Secured Loans in Banks at Various Voints From Maine to California.

PEOPLE'S BANK OF PAINESVILLE CLOSED. Painesville, Ohio, Jan. 13 .- The People's Bank, of this city, closed its doors Saturday on account of the suspension of the Euclid Avenue Trust and Savings Company, of Cleveland. Dr. H. C. Brainard is vice-president, and C. H. Stewart, a director of the local bank. A big run was expected on the bank, which it was thought it would be impossible to meet. No statement of assets and liabilities has yet been made. A statement issued by the bank Oct. 1 last, showed its total resources to be $230,640; capital stock paid in, $50,000; individual deposits, $173,640; undivided profits, $7,-000. G. G. Grant, one of the directors of the bank, made the following state-"There is no reason why the bank should not pay every dollar. This bank was run independent of the Cleveland ban't and its securities are ndependent. It is impossible to realize quickly on securities on account of close connections, but we have less than $500 with the Cleveland bank." EASTERN CREDITORS LENIENT. Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 11.-The bankers' committee in charge of the Everett-Moore syndicate today received a telegram from Henry A. Everett in New York, stating that the eastern creditors would co-operate with the committee in granting extensions. F. H. Goff, of the law firm of Kline,

Carr, Tolles & Goff, has been made a member of the committee, to represent the unsecured creditors of the WHAT THE COMMITTEE EXPECTS

It is the expectation of the bankers' committee to make arrangements for the complete financing of the en-tire system. The statement was made today that all but two of the roads composing the system are already well

According to Chairman Newcomb, arrangements will be made to pay the employes of the Sandusky division by the last of next week. Arrangements were made today to meet the pay roll of the Federal Telephone Company at the same time. The members of the committee unite in the statement that the object of their work is solely connected with the affairs of the Everett-Moore syndicate. They are not considering the affairs of any outside bank.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 13.—(Special to Detroit Free Fress)—The bankers' committee having in charge the af-fairs of the Everett-Moore syndicate, spent much time Saturday discussing natters pertaining to the placing of the Lake Shore Electric Railway Company in the hands of a receiver. The committee feels that the appointment of a receiver is the wisest course, in view of the fact that $40,000 of the company's money is tied up in the Euclid Avenue Trust and Savings Company, which has assigned. The step was taken to prevent the possi-bility of receivers being appointed in any of the different counties in which the road runs.

THE TELEPHONE INTERESTS. In regard to the telephone interests of the syndicate Chairman Newcomb asys that there is so much to do that the matter has not fully been taken up yet. He says, however, that the syndicate may never go on with many of the telephone projects that are not now well on towards completion. This is thought to be positively all the completion of the telephone is thought to be particularly so of the

In closing up the work of the week the statement was made that the committee has received the consent of an extension of time from over 80 per cent of the unsecured creditors. The syndicate has secured loans in banks extending almost from Maine to California, and the fact of these concerns being so widely scattered makes the work of securing all the consents a trifle slow. The sub-committee, who left Friday on a tour of investigation on some of the syndicate traction interests, did not report the result of the work Saturday. The general committee expects a written report early this week.

GROOM 84, BRIDE 29.

Another of Those Oddly Mated Couples Reported From Prescott, Mich.

Prescott, Mich., Jan. 13 .- Major Robt. R. Sangster, of Reno, aged 84 years, and Miss Anna Belle McCormick, of Midland county, aged 29 years, were married on Friday. The bride has been teaching school with much success in Iosco county for the last six years. The groom is well-to-do.

When the civil war broke out Sangster entered the Union army as an infantry captain in the volunteers, and was mustered out at the close of hostilities as brevet major-general. He was wounded in the battles of Bull Run, Chancellorsville, the Wilderness and Gettysburg

The newly-wedded couple will reside at Whittemore, Mich., after returning from Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto, at which places they will spend the winter.

STRIKE CALLED OFF. Wilkesbarre, Pa., Jan. 13. - The 700 men employed at the Buttonwood colliery of the Parish Coal Company, who went out on strike because a number of non-union hands were employed about the works, have declared the strike off.

MAY NOT GET ANY PENSION. Washington, Jan. 13 .- The proposiion to vote Mrs. McKinley a pension of $5,000 a year for life may fail. Motives of delicacy restrain members of ongress from talking much about it, but they believe it is undesirable to nsion presidents' widows, particularwhen, like Mrs. McKinley, they have already a competence. BATHED BUST IN WHISKY. Chicago, Jan. 13.—Convinced of the error of his ways by the words of the Rev. Ray Palmer, who was pleading in the Woman's Temple with his audience to forsake liquor, P. S. Procksch, a teacher of music, rose to his feet with a shout. Taking a bottle of whisky from his pocket, he hurled it to the platform. It struck the bust of Miss Frances Willard, which stood near the speaker's desk, and broke with a loud report.

FISHERMEN LOSE HEAVILY. St. Johns. Nfid., Jan. 13.—Owing to the extremely mild weather, the frozen herring fishery in Placentia Bay, pursued by a large fleet of American vessels from Gloucester, is practically a failure. It is impossible for vessels to procure a cargo, and there is no frost to freeze the fish. Heavy losses are certain to befall the American, Canadian and Newfoundland interests concerned. GRACEFULLY?

How to Acquire and Preserve a Graceful Appearance.

Some Useful Reminders in Regard to Personal Carriage-Learn to Balance Something on the Head.

One of the secrets of keeping always slim and graceful is to learn to hold one's self well. The thickening of the figure, which robs it of its youthful beauty, is to be avoided by care in holding the body upright and thus preserving the muscles firm and well

A well-balanced figure gives a regal carriage and graceful movement. Always walk with the head well up and the shoulders well back. The back should be kept straight to bring the shoulder blades into their place.

chest will thus be thrown forward and the bust be properly curved. The whole weight of the body should be thrown upon the hips to preserve a perfect balance. The leg should be thrown forward from the hip, and the ball of the foot should be placed first on the ground, so as to avoid the ugly habit of walking on the heels with the toes turned up.

The tendency to turn in the toes should always be corrected, as this habit is fatal to any grace of carriage. When going upstairs, or climbing a hill, do not stoop, but hold up the head. It is better both for the lungs, as well as the sake of appearance. Never hurry along the street as if you had not a moment to spare when there is no occasion for it. The feet should be lifted well off the ground. A scurrying, shuffling walk is so easy to ac quire, but is very difficult to correct when once the habit is formed.

Very often a woman's gait is ruined by the wearing of tight boots or very high heels. The latter produce a rolling motion. Always wear a pair of boots which do not pinch, and that have low heels, when going for a walk. Nothing is more fatiguing than a long walk in high heels or tight boots. Do not swing the arms about. This has not only a very ungraceful effect, but a masculine look, which should be avoided. It is as well to carry a parasol or sunshade, unless wearing a muff, so that the hands have something to occupy them. If you are inclined to stoop it is a good plan to walk about with the hands behind the back whenever it is possible. We know of no more excellent method of attaining grace of motion than that of learning to balance something on the head when walking. Begin with something very light and unbreakable, and when able to preserve a good bal-ance try a bowlful of water. The woman who can carry a bowl of water on her head without spilling a drop has certainly mastered the art of balancing her figure, and carrying herself well and gracefully.

WHY will you allow a cough to lacerate your throat or lungs and run the risk of filling a consumptive's grave, when, by the timely use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the pain can be allayed and the danger avoided. This Syrup is pleasant to the taste and unsurpassed for relieving, healing and curing all affections of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc., etc.

$ How to Make a ROUGH SKIN SMOOTH

There are some whose skin is naturally very tender, so much so, that a slight change in temperature, either heat or cold, will cause it to become rough and scale. This is very annoying, whether it makes the skin sore or not. A trouble of this kind is due to the skin being too dry, the underlying glands not giving it food enough. It must, therefore, be fed artificially. This may be done by using OLA CREAM, a scientific skin food. OLA CREAM is not a thin, watery fluid, but is of a creamy consistency. Prepared from a valuable formula, consisting of healthful ingredients, which feed the skin, building up the tissues, supplying to the glands that which they lack to prevent roughness.

Anyone who is troubled with roughness of the skin or chapped hands will find OLA CREAM a sure preventative. We are receiving many testimonials for OLA CREAM. We have made a study of the care of the skin, and will be glad to give any information to anyone writing us.

Hawley, vice-president of the Eric Canal Traction Company, has been on this side several months quietly securing concessions for the operation of European canals by electricity. The Erie concern today secured control of about five thousand miles of canals in England, and on this continent. As a result cargoes will shortly be shipped on the same bill of lading Duluth, Minn., to Brussels Bruges, Ghent and Cologne, and later to many points in the United Kingdom, France, Germany and Italy.

At the forthcoming session of parliament the British legislators will be asked to grant permission for the erection of central power stations for the propulsion of traffic on at least two British canals. These will be operated with American capital, though their control will nominally remain in British hands.

Mr. Hawley said today to a representative of the Associated Press: "Yes, it is true that the traction company is making considerable progress in securing all water routes by electricity operated canals throughout

MARCONI'S GREAT WORK. London, Jan. 13.-The news from Canada that M. Marconi has decided to remain longer than was expected in the Dominion, with the hope of negotiating with the Canadian Government for the privileges of an Atlantic station and trans-continental connection, has caused a further stir in telegraph and cable circles. There is no doubt that M. Marconi intends in the very near future to endeavor, at least, to transmit commercial messages across the Atlantic by means of his wireless system. His company is making all preparations to begin conclusive experiments as soon as possible. It is understood that the powerful appar-atus which sent signals from the Liz-ard to Newfoundland is being duplicated for erection on the other side of the Atlantic. Mr. Cuthbert Hall, manager of the Marconi Company, said that Mr. Marconi's experiments had proved everything desired; that it was now only a question of appar-atus, which resolves itself into a simple question of time. Asked whether atmospheric disturbance or electrical influences from other sources would interfere with the accurate transmission of messages, as has been the case with wireless telegraphic communication in the past, he said their experiments had proved that, with the tremendous power generated by the apparatus employed for trans-Atlantic communication, there was practically no danger that communication would be destroyed. As a proof of this, he said, the station at the Lizard, which operates with a very powerful current, is not at all affected by the working of one of their ordinary stations, which is located about seven miles distant. With these ordinary stations they had been able successfully to communicate at a distance of miles. He had no hesitancy in saying that with the increased power of the

Gir! Wrote Love Message and Threw It Into the River—Brought Her & Husband.

McKeesport, Pa., Jan. 13 .- One year ago Miss Clara Plumb, of this city, wrote a love message on a sheet of note paper, inclosed it in a bottle, and in the presence of several girl friends threw it into the Monongahela River. She had frequently declared that she would never marry unless her wedding had a touch of romance associated with it. The note she wrote asked the finder to correspond with her letter from Thomas Morgan, of Wallsher message from the river at his home 300 miles from where she had started it on its journey. They exchanged photographs, and finally a meeting was arranged. On last Monday Morgan came to McKeesport and met the girl. It was a case of love at first sight. They were married at once and left for Morgan's home.

ONE TO THREE OF RADWAY'S PILLS, once in twenty-four hours, will socure regular evacuations from the bewels. Persons who for twenty years have not enjoyed a natural stool, and have been compelled to use injections, have been cured by a few doses of Radway's Pills.

True comfort for the aged and others afflicted with Costiveness and Paralysis of the Bowels.

Persons advanced in life often suffer from indigestion and from paralysis or inability to evacuate from the bowels, likewise from urinary difficulties. We have the evidence of a large number of aged persons from 60 to 30 years of age who had daily been compelled to resort to injections to empty the howels have to injections to empty the bowels, have been cured by the use of Radway's Pills. Two or three pills every night in all Two or three pills every night in all cases insure a natural evacuation from the bowels and the regular flow of urine. In cases where there is irritation of the bladder, Radway's Resolvent should be used with the Pills. If these organs are kept regular, life may be extended to a much longer period. By keeping the Liver, Stomach, Bowels and Kidneys in a healthy condition the blood will continue purs and dissolution checked. If Radway's Pills and Resolvent are used by the aged, life will be prolonged to the full measure of time. Another great end is secured by nourishing the body with these remedies—the faculties will remain in a healthy condition. A weak, feeble and decaying body enfeebles the intellect and clouds the brain.

Extension of Canadian Trade.

The manufacturers of Canada are taking steps to bid for a share of trade with the West Indies. On the 27th of this month a delegation, composed of the president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and several gentlemen representing manufacturing interests in various parts of Canada, will set sail for the West Indies, to investigate conditions relating to their own particular lines of association, will make a protracted tour of the West India Islands, in order to obtain information regarding the articles imported in those islands, which Canada might be able to sup-

Mr. Wilcox has had considerable experience in connection with the development of export trade, and understands thoroughly the ability of Canadian manufacturers to meet its demands.

Sydney Fisher at West Durham.

At West Durham, a few days ago, Hon. Sydney Fisher delivered an excellent speech on the condition of the country. The country was so evidently prosperous, said Mr. Fisher, that the Conservative Opposition could only acknowledge the fact, and try to make out in some way or another that this prosperity was due indirectly to their action rather than to anything that the Government had done. The Government was not disposed to claim all the credit for this prosperity, although when the Mackenzie Government was in power and there was a severe depression the Conservatives declared that the Government was entirely responsible for it, and Mr. Mackenzie was driven from power largely because the country was not prosperous under his administration. Mr. Fisher said he might claim the converse of that and say that under the Liberal administration the country was now prosperous, and therefore the Liberal Emperor and his Ministers and by Mr. Government was entitled to credit for Nosse, we are sure, nothing will be that prosperity. He did not want to left undone that will conduce to profitim the entire credit for that pros erity, but desired to point out that d the Government and Administraon been wrong that prosperity could hardly have come about in the extraordinary degree in which it has during the past five years. Secondly, he thought he could prove that the Government had contributed in no small degree to that prosperity and helped the people of Canada to reap a better and fuller profit under the present condition of affairs than they could have done under the old regime. As a general rule the general trade of the country was about as good a test of the prosperity of the country as could be taken. The returns showed that the aggregate trade of the Dominion under the Liberal Administration for the five years-1897 to 1901-was $1,560,000,000. and the aggregate trade for the previous five years under Conservative rule was $1,103,000,000. In other words, the aggregate trade under Liberal administration was $456,000,000 more than for the same period under Conservative administration. That the farmers had largely benefited from this increased trade was shown by the fact that the exports of products of agriculture and of animals and their produce during the five years of Liberal administration had been $368,000,000, as compared with $254,000,000 during the last five years of Conservative administration. In other words, the farmers have during the past five years put into their pockets $115,000,000 more money for the products they exported than during the same period under the preceding Government. The Conservatives posed as the friends of the manufacturers, and claimed that their were placed in power it would be disastrous to the manufacturing industries. These predictions, had, however, been falsified by the test of actual experience, as shown by the fact that under the tariff policy which the Conservatives denounced during the first five years of Liberal administration the Canadian manufacturers exported goods to the value of $62,000,-000, while during the last five years of the much-vaunted Conservative policy, under a protective tariff, they had only been able to export goods to the value

Not only were the manufacturing industries of the country not destroyed, but they were stimulated and expanded in a much larger degree under the Liberal policy than under that of the Conservatives. The foreign trade increased from $239,000,000 in 1896 to $366,-600,000 in 1901, an average increase of $29,000,000 a year under the Liberal Administration, as compared with an average annual increase of $3,701,000 during the eighteen years the Conservative party directed the affairs of the country. Especially in the exports of agricultural produce of all kinds had the increase been remarkable. The ex-

than the increase for the whole period of eighteen years during which the Conservatives were in power. An annual average increase of $200,000 was shown in the export of manufactured goods from 1878 to 1896, as contrasted with an annual average increase of $1,320,000 since the present Government entered office, or about $1,000,000 a year greater increase annually than under the National Policy. These figures proved beyond controversy that the policy of the Liberal Government had contributed largely to the present pros-The force of facts such as the fore-

The new Consul-General for Japan to Canada has arrived. He is no stranger, having been for some time resident in Chicago, where, in the days when Japan had no consul-general in the Dominion, he overlooked the Dominion for his sovereign as well as a large part of the United States. Mr. business. Mr. Wilcox, secretary of the Nosse is a well-educated and progressive statesman, and he is a warm friend of international trade between the Britain of the East and this country. In an interview, he announces that trade between Japan and Canada is growing very fast, and there are many indications that the increase will continue.

One article in which Canada can do a big business with Japan, Mr. Nosse says, is in salted salmon, of which the Japs are very fond. Hitherto, the Japanese have obtained their salmon supplies from the Russian Asiatic coast, but now dealers are looking to British Columbia for their supply, and judging by the great catch of this year, their wants can readily be met at most reasonable prices. Japan also promises to import our lumber freely and they are ready to buy machinery agricultural implements, electric apparatus, cottons, and many other Canadian manufactured products. Becoming luxurious in their tastes, as civilization and wealth is more widespread, the Japs are big buyers of bicycles, and the automobile, if it can be cheapened, may yet to a considerable extent displace the jinrikshi. Japan, by the way, is to have big international exposition in one of its big cities in 1903. A wonderful nation of 40,000,000 of busy mortals, when we consider that its era of modern progress only set in less than 40 years The appointment of a consulgeneral for Canada is a proof of the growing importance of the commercial relations between Japan and the Dominion in the eyes of the Japanese able trade and international amity.

Empire League Meeting in the City Hall Tomorrow Night.

The meeting to be held in the City Hall tomorrow (Tuesday) night, to consider the formation of a branch of the British Empire League, will be presided over by the Bishop of Huron. It is needless to say the meeting is entirely non-partisan, and designed to help on that great spontaneous movement making itself felt throughout the British Empire in favor of closer relationship and co-operation among the various parts of the vast domain in all quarters of the earth which own the British flag.

The Upper Tendom.

We do not often go to "Debrett" for news, but we find the volume of this standard authority on everything that relates to the "blue bloods" of the British Empire worthy of perusal in this coronation year. We are reminded, for example, that with the demise the late Queen, the Hanoverlan dynasty came to an end, and that of 'Saxe-Coburg Gotha (or, perhaps better, of Saxony)" commenced. The title of Prince of Wales does not pass to the next heir-apparent, but becomes merged in the crown until and unless renewed at the sovereign's will by 'creation," as has recently been done in the case of the present heir-apparent. The title of Earl of Chester (the peerage which is now always joined to the title of Prince of Wales) and policy stimulated the manufacturers of of Earl of Dublin also become merged the country, and that if the Liberals in the crown; but, on the other hand, the ancient titles of Duke of Cornwall (creation by patent 1337) and Duke of Rothesay, with its minor creations (by Act of Scotch Parliament 1469), pass immediately to the next heir-apparent. Again the plume of feathers hitherto generally spoken of as the Prince of Wales' feathers is not in reality such, but is the badge of the heir-apparent, in whom it is vested, whether created Prince of Wales or not. The title of for the time being, no matter whether there cannot be two princesses royal at the same time. It is noteworthy that during the past twelve months the number of new honors conferred reached the unprecedented total of 1,700, which is equal to all the honors of all the preceding five years, including the Jubilee period of 1897. Between Dec. 6, 1900, and Dec. 5. 1901, three peers (Goschen, Milner and Ridley) have been created, one viscount (Cromer) has been promoted to an earldom, and one baron (Roberts) raised to an earldom, with special remainder; while six peerages have become extinct or dormant, and one etage, and six baronetcles have become extinct. The number of new new companions or members have been nominated to the various orders. One has been succeeded by his son, a disinguished member of the permanent military force of the Dominion, who, y the bye, was a former well-known resident of this city. One peeress, Jane, Baroness Carew, who died recently, was born in 1798, and so spent portions of her life in each of the three centuries. It is believed that this is the only instance of the kind, though there are several ladies who run this record close.

The Two-Faced Campaign.

Hon, G. O. Taillon, Postmaster-General in Sir Charles Tupper's ephemeral Cabinet, is conducting a campaign in he Laval (Que.) Dominion bye-elecion against the present Dominion Government. His principal plaint is that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is doing nothing for his fellow-countrymen in the Province of Quebec, and that he is influenced by the English-speaking electors in Ontario, Manitoba, and other parts of the Dominion. This ex-Conservative Min ister is particularly strong in his deunciation of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, because he refused to coerce Manitoba on the school question. The electors Ontario-particularly those of West York, where a bye-election is now n progress-should make a note of the description of campaign that is being put up in Quebec by the opponents of he present Government. It is an unworthy policy that calls for one set of cries in the Province of Quebec, and nother diametrically opposite in the Province of Ontario, as is the case with the present Opposition.

importance of Farmers' Institutes

It is auspicious that a keen interest is being taken by the farmers of the Province in gatherings of the nature of Farmers' Institutes, winter fairs, live stock shows, and the various conventions relating to particular branches of husbandry. Perhaps in no other occupation does there exist the possibilities for advancement as in farming. It s a calling as old as civilization, and as vital as the wants of man. Those engaged in it are surrounded by phy-, sical conditions favorable in the extreme to the maintenance of sound health, and therefore congenial to intellectual expansion. There was at one time an idea that a farmer did not require any special education; the theory was that as his busalso keep pace with it. We have heard the idea put forth about as we have stated it. The theory, however, is absolutely false, as it tends to contravene the well-grounded fact that every man is in some way the architect of his owr fortune or failure, as the case may be. The plain truth of the matter is, that a man's business will not be successful unless he possesses the elements of success in himself, which surely must include, among other things, knowledge and perseverance. That the latter idea is becoming current is seen in the interest manifested in the various meetings, held to advance the interests of the agriculturist. The season at which many farmers' institutes are held throughout the province is at hand, and farmers will be given an opportunity of attending what is virtually their normal school. At these meetings they are given the results of experimentation that they could not conveniently obtain for themselves. They are brought as a class more closely in contact with the work done at the Ontario Agricultural Collegt at Guelph, which is the Mecca of farming operations.

The export trade returns of the province show that during the past five years great advances have been made in all branches of husbandry. More favorable commercial conditions must doubtless be credited with a share of the increase. But much of it is due to the fact that the farmers of Canada, and especially the farmers of this Province, have taken occasion by the hand by manifesting a greater interest in their work, and becoming better informed in regard to the ins and outs of their most important and ancient call-

Competition for the Big Canal.

Though there is a bill before Congress providing for the construction of the interoceanic canal through Costa Rica and Nicaragua, it does not follow that that will be the route finally chosen for providing the great waterway between the Atlantic and the Pacfiic. The Panama Canal, un-"Princess Royal," too, belongs of right dertaken by a French company, after to the eldest daughter of the sovereign expending many millions of dollars, got stuck for want of funds, and now born during the reign or not; and its directors offer to sell their torks and railway to the United States for $40,000,000, being the price named by the United States Isthmian Commission as the value of the property to our neighbors. At one time, they asked a much larger sum, but now that til they have been purified. This is in they see the United States means business, they have wisely resolved to be reasonable. It is contended by those who favor the Panama route, that it possesses these advantages: (1) Less cost by $6,000,000; (2), shorter distance by 134 miles: (3), smaller operating expenses after completion by $1,300,000 a year; (4), national harbors at both termini, which are wanting on the grown from $50,000,000 in 1896 to $80,000,000 in 1901, an increase of $30,000,000 in 1901, an increase of $30,000, on one of $30,000 one

It is said the United States have always Canadian lord (Aylmer) has died, and favored the Nicaragua route, that a United States company has already done part of the work, and that the transcontinental railway companies are at the back of the advocacy of the Panama route, as it is expected a canal so built would take longer to complete than the Nicaragua route. If it is true that the Panama Canal would be the shortest and cheapest one, it would be an odd thing for the railway companies to favor it. The United States authorities are lucky in having the two offers-that from the Panama Canal authorities, with $40,000,000 as the price, and that from Costa Rica and Nicaragua, which engage to grant the right of way for $25,000,000. As, however, these Central American Governments are needy concerns, it need surprise no one to see them come down in their price, or mayhap offer a free right of way. It would be funny if, in order to prevent the Panama route from being chosen, the two Governments immediately to the north should offer to grant a bonus to clinch the building of the waterway by way of Lake Nicaragua. There seems to be an impression that the construction of the canal will confer great benefits on the countries through which it will pass.

The Liquor Act of Manitoba.

[From The Canadian Law Journal.]

The decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, given on Nov. 22 last, in the matter of the liquor act of Manitoba, reversing the decision of the Court of King's Bench for Mani-Satins, Colored Satins, White, toba (21 Occ. N. 212, 13 Man. L. R. 239) has not only caused consternation Creme and Colored Taffetas. among politicians and activity among prohibitionists, but has set constitutional lawyers at work to revise their opinions or impressions of the constitution. The argument was heard by the tution. The argument was heard by the Committee in July last. Mr. Haldane, K. C., Mr. C. H. Campbell, Attorney-General for Manitoba, and Mr. R. O. B. Lane were counsel for the appellant, and Mr. Edward Blake, K. C., and Mr. F. H. Phippen (of the Manitoba bar) for the respondents. Mr. E. L. Newcombe, K. C., watched the case for the Dominion Government. The judgment Dominion Government. The judgment of the board (Lords Hobhouse, Macnaghten, Davey, Robertson and Lindley) was delivered by Lord Macnaghten, who said the only question the board would attempt to answer was iness increased, his knowledge would the first one asked: Had the Legislative Assembly of Manitoba Juris enact the liquor act: and, if not, in what particular or respect has it exceeded its power? The court below had answered: It exceeded its powers in enacting the liquor act as a "The drink question, Lord Macnaghten, as reported in the Times Law Reports, "was not to found specifically mentioned either in classes of subjects enumerated in s. 91 (B. N. A. act), and assigned to the Legislature of the Dominion, or in those enumerated in s. 92, and thereby appropriated to provincial legislatures. The omission was probably not acci-lental. The result had been somewhat remarkable. On the one hand, according to Russell vs. the Queen, 7 App. Cas. 829, it was competent for the Dominion Legislature to pass an act for the suppression of intemperance applicable to all parts of the Dominion, and when duly brought into operation in any particular district deriving its efficacy from the general authority vested in the Dominion Parliament to make laws for the peace, order, good government of Canada. On the other hand, according to the decision in Attorney General for Ontario vs. Attorney-General for the Dominion (1896). A. C. 348, it was not incompetent for a provincial legislature to pass a measure for the repression or even the total abolition of the liquor traffic within the province, provided the subject was dealt with as a matter of 'a merely local nature' in the province, and the act itself was not repugnant to any of the Parliament of Canada. Lord Macnaghten went on to say that careful perusal of the judgment Lord Watson in the latter case led to the conclusion that, in the opinion of board, the case fell under s. s. 16 of s. 92, "generally all matters of a merely local or private nature in the province," rather than under s. s. 13, property and civil rights in the province," and that seemed to the board, as now constituted, the better opinion. The controversy, therefore, seemed to be narrowed to this one point: Is the subject of the liquor act a matter 'of a merely local nature in the Province' of Manitoba, and does the liquor act deal with it as such?" Their lordships answered these questions in the affirmative, regarding the case decided in 1896 as conclusive upon that point, showing as it did that "matters which were substantially of local or of private interest in a province—matters which where of a local or private nature from a provincial point of view—were not excluded from the category of 'matters of a merely local or private nabecause legislation dealing with them might or must have an effect outside the limits of the province, and might or must interfere with sources of Dominion revenue and the industrial pursuits of persons licensed under Dominion statutes to carry on particular trades." The view of the board is apparent from the words quot-

The Hohenzollern was placed in dry dock at Kiel Saturday to have her bottom scraped and painted. She is under orders to be fitted out for a ten weeks' cruise, and will sail for New York January 22, according to present plans, arriving there about February 3. Prince Henry will sail early in February on one of the North German Lloyd steamers. He will be attended by several officers of high rank, whose names have not yet been announced. The date of the launching of the emperor's yacht, it is understood, has een fixed for February 26.

POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE. The length of the prince's stay in will depend in part on the wishes of President Roosevelt and the programme for his entertainment. Prince Henry's visit to America is regarded by the court as another evidence of the emperor's desire to win the goodwill of the American people and government for Germany. The Lokal Anzeiger says: "The emperor responded to the friendliness of President Roosevelt in permitting his daughter to christen his majesty's yacht with a courtesy which gives to the affair uncommon political cance. Hon. R. R. Dobell Accidentally Killed in England.

Thrown From His Horse While Riding Along Folkestone Cliffs-Biographical Sketch of the Late Cabinet Minister.

Toronto, Jan. 13-(Special to the World): "Folkstone, Jan. 11.-Hon. R. R. Dobell thrown from his horse today and killed. MACPHERSON." The above cable was received by the World Saturday afternoon. The signer is Mr. David Macpherson, brother of Mrs. Dobell. Half an hour afterwards Lady Kirkpatrick received a message from Mrs. Dobell confirming it. It is surmised that Mr. Dobell was riding his horse along the cliffs at Folkstone when the animal shied, and threw him to his death over the cliff. The late Mr. Dobeil has been in England for over a month. His sojourn in Folkstone was to get the benefit of the baths there.

The late Mr. Dobell leaves a family of five, besides a wife to mourn his untimely taking off. The eldest daughter is married to Mr. Dominick Brown, of Dublin, the youngest to Major Amyot-Hull, of London. The eldest son, W. M. Dobell, is head of the firm at Quebec. The second son, Major C. M. Dobell, D.S.O., is at present serving in China. The youngest son, Alfred Dobell, is studying medicine in Quebec. he two sons in Quebec leave on Wednesday for England. A press cable says the Dobells arrived at Folkestone a week ago, and were joined by Major Hull, a son-in-law, and family. Mr. Dobell and Mr. Hull rode together Saturday, attended by a groom. When they reached the foot of Shorncliffe camp, Mr. Dobell's horse was startled by a motor car, and Mr. Dobell was thrown, falling heavily on his head. He was picked up unconscious and never regained consciousness, and was practically killed by the concussion. The family will remain at Folkestone for the inquest.

A SAD LOSS. Ottawa, Jan. 11.-The news of Mr. Dobell's death was a shock to his col-leagues of the cabinet. Sir Wilfrid Laurier was notified of the sad occurrence by a cablegram from Mrs. Do-

Hon. R. W. Scott said the death of Mr. Dobell would be a great loss to the city of Quebec, of whose interests Mr. Dobell was always solicitous. It would be a loss also to the Dominion, the secretary of state said, as Mr. Dobell was a citizen of public spirit and farreaching influence in business circles. Mr. Dobell, accompanied by Mrs.
Dobell and their daughters left for a European trip two daughters Adair, who was a member of the To-trip two ronto police force for about 28 years, months ago, and it was Mr. retiring on a pension about ten months Dobell's intention to have left Engago, died Saturday morning. Sergt. land for Canada in about three weeks. Adair was a native of Ireland.

Richard Reid Dobell was the son of the late George Dobell, of Liverpool, England, and was born in that city in He was educated at the Liverpool College, and came to Canada in 1857 to embark in the lumber trade. He was instrumental in promoting the adoption of the cold storage principle on trans-Atlantic steamers. He was a director of the Quebec Railway Bridge Company. Mr. Dobell was a delegate to the congress of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, held in London in 1892, and also to the conference held in London in 1896. In 1892 he went to Cape Town to speak there in behalf of the commercial interests of Canada. In 1894 he was elected president of the deep waterconvention in Toronto. Mr. Dobell was known as the projector of the new Atlantic cable, which it is proposed to lay between Clew Bay, Ireland, to Greenly Island in the Straits of Belle Isle. He was an ardent Federationist, and was long identified with the Imperial Federation movement. In 1896 he assisted Lord Rosebery in founding the British Empire League, to the council of which he was elected. Mr. Dobell contested Quebec West for the House of Commons as an independent in June, 1895, and secured a majority of seven votes, but subsequently lost the election on a recount. At the general election in 1896 he appeared as the regular candidate of the Liberal opposition, and was returned by 231 majority. On the formation of the Laurier cabinet in July, 1896, he was called to the Privy Council and appointed a minister without portfolio. Mr. Dobell married Elizebeth Frances, eldest daughter of the late Sir David Macpherson, of Toronto.

French, the veteran showman, died at his late residence, 20 Lincoln avenue. He had been ill for months, but an attack of erysipelas was the direct cause of death. Col. French was born in Woodstock, Conn., Aug. 7, 1821, his father being a farmer. He received but little education, and left home at 20 years of age. Locating in the south, he worked hard, and soon had a general store in the Tuckapaw region in Louisiana. A little later he went to New Or-leans, where he built up his fortune. He dealt in the finest horses, embarked in the cotton business, and many times ran the blockades on the Mississippi. Finally he joined the Confederate army and served at the front for the lost cause. In 1864 he became the backer of the Thayer & Noyes' circus, and in 1867 he was forced to attach the circus on a mortgage of $30,000. After the war the government had imported a shipload of camels and dromedaries to establish a mail route from San Antonio to the Pacific coast. It was a failare, and Col. French bought about 40 of the animals for a nominal price and hitched them all to his big band-wagon for the street parade. Col. French owned the elephant Empress, as great a card in her day as Jumbo. He sold the circus at Trenton, N. J., but kept the animals and brought them here, building winter quarters at Highland Park. He would lease them to traveling shows in the summer and take care of them in the winter. In 1889 fire destroyed the barns and all of the animals. After the fire Col. French went to Cheboygan and ran the Grand Central Hotel until 1892, when he sold out and moved back to Detroit. Col. French is survived by the widow and four sons and daughters-Mrs. L. B. Swift, of Fresno, Cal.; Mrs. Frank Talbot, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Mrs. Maude Manne and Frederick M. French, of Detroit.

Friends Arrested on the Charge of Stealing.

On Saturday night Detectives Rider and Nickle arrested a young man on the charge of stealing. He registered as C. C. Russell and gave his address as 1,272 Delaware avenue, Buffalo. It is probable both of these are fictitious. His linen is marked "J. M. H."

It appears that Russell came to this city shortly before Christmas. He introduced himself at the Bishop's Palace as the graduate of a Jesuite col-lege in Buffalo, and he was hospitably received, both at the palace and at other Roman Catholic institutions and Skirts, "a lady's full skirt, think of private homes. He had a taking way so taking that things seemed to disappear after he had been around. A pawn ticket in his posses-sion was found to be for a gold ring, stolen from the landlady of Russell's poarding house.

Russell stands about 5 feet 9 inches, has auburn hair, which he parts in the middle, and is clean shaven. There is a scar on the side of his neck. When arrested he wore a fedora hat and melton overcoat, with velvet collar. The detectives expect to lay several charges against him.

PECULIAR MEETING OF BRIDE AND GROOM

Finale of a Matrimonial Correspondence-Jerry and Carrie Made Happy.

Durand, Mich., Jan. 12.-When the fast Grand Trunk train came in from the west Friday night, a young lady lugged two big telescopes into the de-pot and asked when the next train left for Grand Rapids. She was told she would have to wait until 6:25 a.m. She made herself as comportable as possible, making herself at home near the

When the flyer came in from the east wo hours late a man came in and asked the same question of the man at the window. He went to a hotel to get a room, but finding it full he returned. He, too, located himself near the stove, directly opposite the young lady. After a silence of about an hour the man asked the young lady where she was going. She said: "Grand Rapids. And you?" He replied the same. The man leaned back and caught a nap. Shortly afterwards he awoke and gazed across to see how his unknown fair companion was making out. At her feet lay an addressed envelope, and In her hand she had the pages of a letter. She herself had followed his example, and was peacefully sleeping. He picked up the envelope and saw that the address was his handwriting, and addressed to Miss Carrie Bowers, Leavenworth, Kas. He awakened the lady and asked her name. She saw the envelope in his hand and said it was addresse to her.

The man exclaimed: "And my name is Jerry McGuire"-and there was a scene. She found herself in his arms, and they talked excitedly.

The force around the depot were soon told the entire story. The couple were to be married on Sunday, Jan. 12, at the home of her uncle in Grand Rapids, having become acquainted through a matrimonial agency. SMALLPOX IN WEST LONDON

Two Well Developed Cases in an Empress Avenue House.

Pleasant Young Man Who Made Many Patients Promptly Removed to Smallpox Hospital and the House Quarantined.

> The house at No. 23 Empress avenue, West London, occupied by Mrs. Crockett, has been quarantined by Medical Health Officer Dr. Hutchinson, two clearly developed cases of smallpox having been discovered in the family. The two victims of the malady were promptly conveyed to the smallpox hospital. The two pa-tients, who are brother and sister, have just returned from a visit in Chatham, where they stayed at a hotel whose hostler was taken ill with smallpox while they were there. Two other members of the family, mother and sister of the patients, have been quarantined.

> Just why the health officers of Chatham were so lax in their duty as to permit persons to leave a hotel from which a smallpox patient had been removed is not clear.

POINTERS IN REGARD TO BACON AND PORK.

The Canadian Trade in Britain Endangered by Undesirab's Hogs Being Marketed.

Toronto, Jan. 13 .- A great many undesirable hogs are being marketed by the farmers throughout the Province of On-tario. These are being converted into tario. These are being converted into export bacon and forwarded to Great Britain, and because of their quality are sold there at a loss. This loss must ultimately be borne by the farmers, although the packers at the present moment are being severely punished.

As an example we quote the condition of the trade at the George Matthews Company's factory. Ottawa, for the months of November and December, 1901, and the first week of January, 1902. In November, 1901, a total of 8,970 pigs were received at this factory. Of these 5,703 were selects, 1,602 were lights, 1,244 were light fats, 86 were heavy fats, 97 were sows, 5 were stags, 13 were cripples were light fats, 86 were heavy fats, 97

December, 1901, the selects numbered 2.875, the lights 1,172, the light fats 720, the heavy fats 51, the sows 74, the stags
7, the cripples 35, and the stores 217.
From Jan. 2 to 4, 1902, 1,068 hogs were received. Of these 276 were selects, 508 were lights, 156 light fats, 10 heavy fats, 14 sows, 6 stags, 7 cripples and 92 stores.
This makes a total for the nine weeks of 8,854 selects, 3,282 lights, 2,120 light fats, 147 heavy fats, 185 sows, 18 stags, 55
cripples and 529 stores; total, 15,190.
Pigs termed "selects" are those that can be made into the best class of Wiltshirt bacon, and are the sort that have made Canadian bacon famous on the English market. In order to keep up the price of hogs, the packers must receive English market. In order to keep up the price of hogs, the packers must receive the sort of hogs that will make the finest Wiltshire sides. To make this, the packers must have smooth, deep, well-fed pigs, with a large amount of lean meat in the carcasses in proportion to the amount of fat. They must be well finished, and weigh on reaching the packing house from 180 to 200 pounds. On the pigs termed "lights" the packers lose at least $1 per head. The "light fats" can be cut up and put into the fats" can be cut up and put into the retail trade, but too large a number of these light pigs would at any time glut the local market. The "heavy fats" can be worked up, when not too "heavy" can the local market. The "heavy fats" can be worked up, when not too numerous, but will sell for at least one-half dollar per hundred. live weight, less than "selects." "Sows" and "stags" are very poor property, and can only be used in supply a very inferior trade. In order to be of any value to the packers, "sows" and "stags" should be made as fat as possible. "Cripples" are of little or no value to the packers, and are always fed at a loss to the farmers. "Storest should never reach the pork packers, yet should never reach the pork packers, yet thousands of them are sent every week to the market by the farmers. to the market by the larmers.

If the farmers continue to market such a large number of undestrable pigs, it will seriously injure the Canadian bacon trade in Great Britain, and will bring about greatly reduced prices for hog throughout Canada. F. W. HODSON. A STRANGE CAREER. New York, Jan. 13 .- The death of Mme. Adele Preveau Friday night in a miserable shelter which she called home, ends a career of romance and misery. Adele was born near Paris 72 years ago, and early in life married the Count De Doreau, at that time high in official favor. A dispute in a Paris club over a gambling debt resulted in a duel, and the count was resulted in a quel, and the coult was killed. The young widow married Henri Preveau, who came to this country to live. The young couple moved in the highest circles in Washington. Later Mr. Preveau came to New York where he died. His widow New York, where he died. His widow inherited from him considerable pro-perty, but the fund disappeared, and the old lady, driven to the last resort of poverty, made application to a poorhouse. From this she was taken by a negro woman, and it was in the house of this woman that she died.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

"Hamlet." One only requires to view the "refined cold" of Shakespeare's plays to realize One only requires to view the renneugold" of Shakespeare's plays to realize the worthlessness of the dross which is served up under the guise of modern drana. The bombastic, swashbuckling, romantic play, the tinkling musical comedy, the ridiculous farce, all seem very empty when held up beside the work of the master, with a noble and exalted thought in its every sentence of beautiful, undefiled English. It surely a reproach to the patrons of surely a reproach to the patrons the drama that out of the 108 nights the present theatrical season in t world-acknowledged master of the drama. Whatever be Mr. Mantell's shortcomings as an actor, he is entitled to all praise for his efforts to present to the public in as elaborate a form as their support warrants, the plays of Shakespeare.

Mr. Mantell was greeted by good houses at both performances on Saturday, and the appreciation accorded his efforts was evidenced by numerous curtain calls, Mr. Mantell's interpretation of the role of the ardent Romeo was a pleasing but conventional one. It was in his charac-terization of the melancholy Dane that Mr. Mantell displayed his individual conception of the part. Instead of following slavishly in the footsteps of other exponents of the role, he makes a sincerendeavor to give an independent version of the part, and in the main he succeeds well. His reading betokened succeeds well. His reading betokened study and research, and proved illuminative and instructive. Mr. Mantell's support is fair, and any defects may be attributed as much to the public's indifference to the legitimate as to any niggardliness on the part of Mr. Mantell's management. Miss Marie Booth Russell essayed the leading female roles in both plays with success. Mark Price was distinctly batter in his Mercettio in Russell essayed the leading female roles in both plays with success. Mark Price was distinctly better in his Mercutio in the afternoon than in his Claudius in the evening. Miss Minnie Monk was effective as the nurse, but her Queen Gertrude lacked sincerity. Miss Ella Harmon was capable as Lady Capulet in the afternoon. A. H. Hastings, as the garrulous Polonius did some of the best work of the evening. "THE DAIRY FARM."

"The Dairy Farm," Eleanor Merron's successful domestic play, will be the attraction at the New Grand next Saturday, matinee and evening. All the scenes in this charming work are laid in the old villege of Hurley on the Hudson. and the characters introduced many well known to the quiet life of the many well known to the quiet life of the country. Among them are the country squire, the village postmaster, the miser, the village peddler, the plowboy hero and the poorhouse girl heroine. The story told is one of love interwoven with the brightest kind of domestic comedy. The play will be elaborately staged, with all of the original scenery, costumes and realistic effects that have made it so popular.

popular. AT THE LONDON OPERA HOUSE After playing in all the principal cities in the United States and Canada, Thos. P. Kelley's Big Lady Minstrels come to the London Opera House for matinee and the London Opera House for matines and evening performance next Saturday. One newspaper, in speaking of them. says: "It is a glittering combination of pretty girls, beautiful costumes, and new music. The company numbers twenty-five artists and includes all the old favorites who have helped to make this show a success for the past few seasons."

"A TRIP TO BUFFALO." Toronto Saturday Night says of "A Trip to Buffalo," which comes to the New Grand tomerrow night: A clean New Grand tomorrow night: A clean show and a funny show must be the verdict on "A Trip to Buffalo," the new musical extravaganza in three acts given at the Grand this week. The book and lyrics are by Harry B. Marshall, and the score by William Loraine. The scenario embraces the Sultan's palace at Constantinople, the deck of a ship at sea, several portions of the Pan-American "mid-way," and finally the grand court of the Exposition, with the illumination of the tower and pavilions. The music is light and catchy, and the comedy work, while of the conventional order, is well done throughout. Eugene Rogers as Abdul Damit XXX; "Jack" Marshall as his Dutch confidential adviser; "Marty" O'Neill as Muly Rafferty, chief of the Sultan's secret service; Florence Wolcott as Ameta, the flower of the harem; Fanny Deboid as Kalesba, another, but a faded, flower; George E. Deban as a Yankee showman; Florence Sinnott as Bessie Russell, a newspaper woman, and Bessie Russell, a newspaper woman, and Bertie Fowler as Vanity Vasser, a so-ciety belle, were all very entertaining. The chorus was both comely and pret-tily garbed, and there were a hundred laughs for everybody.

HOCKEY. THE KEYSTONE-QUEEN'S GAME.

Owing to the ban upon them, Peel and dern aid not play for the Keystones, of Pittsburg, in their game against Queen's The Pittsburg Dispatch thus describes the game:
The Queen's College hockey players, The Queen's Conege nockey players, from Canada, who some years ago beat Yale, and since that time have been traveling on their shape, will limp back into Canada today sadder and wiser. Last night, after the battle, they gathered around Manager Conant at Duquesne Garden, and made him promise that he would have a few books on backey that he would buy a few books on hockey and send them up to Canada. They have come to the conclusion that they know nothing about hockey and they go home filled with bitterness toward the man who told them they knew something

The Canuck bunch were not sure they were alive last night when the Keystones got through. They certainly never had a chance for the game. Five thousand people crowded into the Garden and cheered the Keystones as they play ed hockey all around and over the pride of Canada. Three to none was the final

Sixsmith shot the first goal for the Keystones about the middle of the first half. There was a lively scrimmage in front of Queen's net, and it looked for a minute as if someone would be hurt. This ended the scoring in the first half There was a time, however, when elected. Ald. Gerry moved that Ald. Stevely's name be substituted for Mr. Carrothers', but Ald. Stevely asked that his name be not considered, "as things had been settled, anyway."

PUBLIC LIBRARY BOARD. The city council's appointee to the board of the Public Library is Mr. Joseph Judd, who won in competition with Mr. Henry Macklin, whose name was submitted by Ald. McMechan.

WESTERN FAIR BOARD. The city's representatives on the Western Fair board will be Ald. Abram, Campbell, Cooper, Gerry, and Stevely.

Ald. Cooper first moved that Ald. Abram, Campbell, McMechan, Cooper, Gerry and Winnett be the board. This was one too many, so he struck off Ald. McMechan.

Ald. Stevely asked if Ald. Cooper was to be on every committee and every board, while other aldermen were to be on none at all. He moved that his name be substituted for that of Ald. Cooper. "You got a fair show last year," he said to Ald. Cooper.

Ald.Cooper—Yes, I know what you did last year. I didn't get what I wanted.
"It doesn't matter," Ald. Stevely said,
"a little fair play doesn't hurt." Ald. Winnett volunteered to retire in Ald. Stevely's favor, and the slate as SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

As successors to Messrs. Heath and Hamilton Collegiate Institute trus-Mrs. Lawrence Dampier, wife of the tees, the following were mentioned: Messrs. Peter Birtwistle, John Mcmanager of the Bank of Commerce at Lean, Alfred Wilkins and Dr. Ziegler. 8, 9; McLean, 7, 7; Wilkins, 5, 6; Zingler, 4; thus placing Birtwistle and Mc-Lean on the board. COURT OF REVISION.

Mr. John Forrestal was appointed a nember of the court of revision. ANOTHER FOR COOPER.

Ald. Campbell and Ald. Cooper were ppointed to represent the council at the Children's Aid Society, Ald, Greenlees was first named, but as a joke upon Ald. Cooper, he suggested that as Ald. Cooper appeared anxious to be on all the committees and boards, he be placed also on this one.

Ald. Cooper protested that he would not have it, but the aldermen, irrespective of party, refused to accept his refusal of the proffered honor, and laughingly voted him to the position. Again he protested, but unavailingly, since the vote had passed. RECEPTION AND MANUFACTUR-ERS' COMMITTEE. No provision seemingly had been made for this committee; so when all other business was finished, Ald.Campbell asked "if the powers that be" in tended to appoint such a communee. "I don't think that's very nice, now," said Ald. Cooper. "You shouldn't have given yourself away, Neil," rejoined Ald. McMechan. The committee will consist of Ald. Douglass, Stevely, Gerry, McMechan, Cooper and Beattle.

ADJOURNMENT. The council adjourned at 12:30, havng rushed the business through in an hour and a half.

THE INMATES OF THE HAREM

Dominion Ministers Will Meet Various Types of Beauty and Character

> Not Sit at Table With Her Husband.

[New York Tribune.] "The fact that all Turkish women must dress alike in the streets gives rise to the impression of a sameness of character that does not in the least exist among them," says Mary Mills Patrick, president of the American College for Girls in Constantinople. "A superficial observer who meets these veiled figures in public places, shroudkind of a life these figures really lead, without any clew to the solution of the problem. Yet life in Turkish society is as real and varied as in America, and often far more dramatic.

"There are decided types among Turkish women. There is the butterfly who lives for pleasure; the domestic woman, and even the strong-mindwoman, and, in addition to these, a class exists not found in America. the women who belong to court so-

"The butterfly is often a Christian woman, and was perhaps brought to Constantinople to be sold to the highest bidder, and throughout all her childhood was taught to look forward to a possible life at the capital, to be made gay and bright, with plenty of money and flirtation and social suc-cess. She has, perhaps, the bright blue eyes and golden hair that are so rare among the Turks to give her the place of eminence that she desires. Because of her beauty her husband showers her with presents and fills her life with pleasure. Her eyelashes and eyebrows are painted, but not very noticeably, and diamonds and other beautiful stones flash from her hands, her wrists, her neck and her hair. The dress which she wears under her street robe is from Paris, and her shoes are low, even in winter, with pointed toes and very high heels.

NOT MUCH HOUSEKEEPING. "The domestic Turkish woman pre-sents a great contract to the brilliant creature that we have just described. She is rather large and stolid-looking, careless as to her dress, and of a simple and amiable character. She has a very easy life cofpared with that of her American sisters. There is not much housekeeping in a Turkish house, and what there is is done by slaves and servants, who consider themselves permanent members of the family and realize what is expected of them. Rooms furnished with rugs and divans are comparatively easy to keep in order. There is a chef in the kitchen, who sends his best efforts to the dining room in the men's apartments, a place seldom visited by the women of the household. Their own simple food is served to them at irregular intervals, when they feel hun-gry. There is perhaps a French governess to teach the children, who does News in a Nutshell. not like the irregular life in the harem, and an exception is made in her favor, and she dines at the master's table, where the food is served more to her from the other half of the establishment. "The domestic Turkish woman does not look after the house particularly, nor have much care of the children. When things go wrong she is not held responsible, but the lord of the household calls up the servant or slave in charge of that department of work of any consequence in Montreal came and threatens him with unknown evils if he does not mend his ways. The lady of the house does not necessarily know how to sew or even to read and write, although that degree of ignorance is now quite rare in large cities. She spends her time in smoking, drinking coffee, and overlooking the nurses who have the care of the children. THE EDUCATED MOHAMMEDAN

WOMEN. "Let us now turn to that product of modern progress, the educated Moham-medan woman. She may be found here and there, perhaps in the harems of princes, or of pashas, or even some-times in the middle classes of society, The state board of railroad commis-sioners will conduct a formal investi-anywhere as yet. She reads English, French and German readily, with a good pronunciation, having the aptitude for languages usually found with Turkish women. She knows all about American life. She knows that there are four states in America where women vote, and often wonders when there will be any voting in Turkey, either for men or women. She reads the daily papers and has decided opinions in regard to all political affairs. The advanced Moslem woman has a During the past week the Canadian Private room, instead of living in the Pacific Railway has moved 1,400 cars of western wheat to Fort William, and this room are found some unusual articles for a Turkish house, namely a writing desk, some bookshelves, upon which stand many of the new books of the day, and on the walls hang some really fine engravings.

"One Mohammedan woman has even published several books herself, and is at present writing a series of articles for one of the daily papers, which are of so progressive a nature that the censor of the press has obliged her to cut out about half of what she has written. She longs to travel, but that is not yet allowed to a Turkish wo-man, at least beyond the bounds of her own land. She has been to Egypt and Syria, but that does not satisfy her, and she even dreams of going to Paris and Berlin to work in the libraries there. She scorns the frivolities of ordinary society, and contemplates forming a club, where kindred spirits may discuss congenial subjects, but that has not yet been possible. Her influence in the press is already felt, and one may foresee that she will form one of the elements in arguments of the "Political Justice" retailed openly at the head of his table before cabinet ministers; and those of the "Natural History of Religion" before Bishops. He made the grave mistake of fancying that she might make a final display of her strange form of romance by perhaps running off with some democratic adventurer, just to prove her belief in the doctrine of universal equality—that she might do worse than marry a penniless ensign, even if she cared to go through the ceremony of marriage at all. Of course, in fancying any such thing he only showed how With her earlier life, as has already appeared, her Denethorp subjects were not very familiar. Her mother had died soon after her birth, and she had been almost constantly in London with her father, and scarcely ever at her country home, for which, being a man of pleasure and politics, he had no taste. It was generally supposed that she had refused countless offers of marriage from countless suitors, who were attracted by her wealth or beauty, or both; and it was known that at about the age of four-and-twenty she had gone abroad with her aunt, a Mrs. Lester, whose husband was something in the diplomatte pervice. After some years she returned With her earlier life, as has already with her aunt, a Mrs. Lester, whose husband was something in the diplomatte gervice. After some years she returned home again, and then both her father and herself took up their residence at Larl's Dene, where, very soon afterwards, Mr. Clare died. She was his only child and sole heir; and by the time that she came to the property, all her vague reputation for "oddness" had entirely passed away. She was a great lady, and she evidently intended to play out her role of great lady to the fullest extent. So successfully did she carry out her intention that she very soon became regarded with an aimost awiul reverence by all within reach of her influence, and with rebellious dislike by those with whom she, as a staunch Tory and High Church woman, had long declared open war—that is to say, by the reformers of the cloth mills and the growing body of Dissenters. To those who acknowledged her authority, she was generous and even kind; but to those who did not she was certainly not kind, and could be very often ungenerous. She was, in fact, endowed with no little of that political asperity which has been said by a great politician to be as unbecoming to a woman as a beard. Her views about church and state were both decided and practical, and, like the lady in Moliere, what she wished she wished furiously. what she wished she wished hers would hase desperately astonished those persons who remembered her youth, not in Denethorp, but in London, where it had been principally passed. These, too, had considered her odd, and with reason.

Nature had given her, besides her beautiful person, a precocious intelligence, an energetic mind, strong passible imagination, and gence, an energetic mind, strong passions, a most excitable imagination, and an amount of obstinacy that, in so young a woman, was perfectly appailing. Circumstance and education had given these cumstance and education had given these dangerous qualities a peculiar direction. The times in which she lived were peculiar, and she was, from her cradle, wrapped round in an atmosphere of politics. Her father lived for politics. In the circle in which he moved nothing but politics was talked from morning till night. Politics formed her whole idea of life and society. Being singularly impressible, and only too ready to take en active interest in anything that was active interest in anything that was an active interest in anything that was brought before her notice, she caught the contagion fully. But, unhappily, hers was one of these minds that are never satisfied unless they are in chronic opposition to the general or predominant views taken by the world in which they move. Of course, this love of opposition for its own sake is anything but uncommon. But while the Lydia Languishes of her age and acquaitance were dreamof her age and acquaitance were dream-ing of romantic elopements with im-pecunious ensigns simply because their pecunious ensigns simply because friends wished them to marry sensibly and to be well off in the world she was bent upon saying and doing things that made everybody stare, simply because her friends wished her to live the life of a cenventional fine lady, and either not to think for herself at all, or else to think as she was told. It was certainly not that she in reality likely being a fine lady lass, but that she loved opposition more. Had she been a woman opposition more. Had she been a woman of real genius or genuine independence of character, she would very likely have made a name for herself, but, as it was, she only got called names by the society in which she lived, which could not comprehend how an English girl of good family could even play at holding such strange and revolutionary notions as hers.

The truth was, that considering her character, there was nothing more strange in her holding these notions than there would have been in her holding the very opposite, had circumstances been different. She was simply wild, romantic in her own way, and ambitious of notoriety. Had her father and his set been the friends of Mr. Fox, she would, on the same principle, and with no more reason, have called herself a Tory of the extremest sort; but, as he and his friends were steady supporters of the cabinet of that day. she was bound, in order to be in her natural state of opposition, to take up with the other extreme. Not only so, but her natural tendency to eccentricity, which, in her childhood, had led her to scorn dolls, and to rebel against needlework, caused her, when she grew up, to affect a learned and philosophical contempt for the usual amusements and pursuits of her age and station. Her heroes were Washington and Lafayette; her authors Godwin and Rousseau. She scribbled a little herself, both in wild prose and vapid verse, and even carried her speculations into regions to which a young, unmarried woman is generally supposed not to possess the key. As may be easily imagined, her father—who never had time to see very much of her, who was quite unable to control her, and who could not in the least understand her, partly, no doubt, because the greater hers.
The truth was, that considering her nothing more could not in the least understand her, partly, no doubt, because the greater share of her obstinacy was a part of her inheritance—was terribly annoyed, and even alarmed. It was certainly not a pleasant thing for him to hear the

she cared to go through the ceremony of marriage at all. Of course, in fancying any such thing he only showed how little he understood her real character. Her republican ideas did not in the least affect her family pride, which was greater than his own. But the mistake, under the circumstances, was not unnatural; and he was accordingly delighted when, after many unpleasant demestic scenes, his wife's sister, Mrs. Lester, offered, for a time, to relieve him of this enfant terrible.

But, as has been said already, they became good friends again before he died; and woe now to any one who, in her presence, should drop a slighting word even of my Lord Castlereagh. Her opinions had changed, but not her nature. Nevertheless, with all her politics and all her narrowness, she was a very good woman in her way. She tried with all her strength to do what she thought was right, and she hated with all her soul what she thought was wrong. Doubtless she would have been a better woman still—better, at least, as a woman—had it been her lot to have had children of her own upon whom to expend some of the spare energy of her nature. She had, to a great extent, endeavored to supply the want by adopting, not only as her heir, but as her son, the orphan grandchild of Mrs. Lester, who was now, like Mark Warden, about to proceed to Cambridge. Certainly in every material sense the chosen heir of Earl's Dene was to be accounted one of fortune's favorites. With whatever faults or drawbacks it might have—for nothing is quite perfect—no finer place, no better estate could well be found, out of the hands of the peerage, in all England. If, in addition to the enjoyment of its real advantages, its owner should take a fancy to have a handle to his name, he would have but to ask and to obtain. Indeed it was rather a matter of surprise in the neighborhood that the late owner had not done so. The artist could Guelph, Ont., Jan. 13.—The first game in the intermediate series of the W. O. H. MADE AFFIDAVITS. Toronto, Jan. 13.—Major C. Von Straubenzie, secretary of the recreation committee of the Royal Military College, Kingston, wrote on Saturday to the O. H. A. secretary, Mr. Beaton, seeking reinstatement of the hockey club in the association. The club was suspended for playing against Hern and Peel, expelled O. H. A. players, in Pittsburg. The application is signed by J. C. E. Porteous, J. B. Cochrane, Capt, R. Rowe, Stanley C. Biggs, R. R. Carruthers, G. P. G. Dunlop, of the committee. Affidavits are submitted by the following players who offended, they having composed the team that went to Pittsburg: Carr, Harris, Degell, Loudon, Ramsay, Trotter, Waldron. THE TUNNEL DISASTER.

New York, Jan. 13.—More than 1,000 men and women assembled in mass meeting at New Rochelle on Saturday night to give expression of public opinion concerning the New York Central tunnel disaster. Many resolutions condemning the railroad were offered and then referred to a committee for action. Another committee was appointed to raise a fund to aid sufferers. George T. New York, Jan. 11.—Sir Robert Ball, professor of astronomy of the University of Cambridge, England, delivered a lecture in Columbia University yesterday on "The Cause of An Ice Age." He explained that the ice age was due to the influence of the planets Venus and Jupiter on the course of the earth's revolution around the sun, and the change of orbit from a circle to an ellipse. He said also that there would be another ice age when Venus, Jupiter and the earth were in a certain position as regarded one another.—This would not happen for several thousands of years.

VICTORIAS 9, QUEBEC 5. Quebec, Jan. 13.—The Victorias, of Montreal, defeated Quebec here Saturday evening in the first game of hockey in the senior series by 9 to 5.

It was a soft and fine June evening in the year 181—, so wonderfully soft and fine indeed, that it was the very type of what an evening ought to be in that best of months. And yet, strange to say, although the inside of the coach that passed through Denethorp every day was full, there were no more than three of its passengers who preferred to closeness and confinement the sweetness and fragrance of the open QUEEN'S WERE OUTPLAYED. BOWLING.

NATIONAL TOURNEY.

Buffalo, Jan. 13.—The entries for the national bowling tournament, which will begin here on Jan. 20, and continue during the week, have closed, and have filled beyond expectations. Representative bowlers of this country and Canada have entered, either as individuals or in teams of two and five men. The Palace alleys, eight in number, will be used. They are entirely new. Manager Floss is engaged in arranging the playing schedule. The five men teams will play first, and at the conclusion of that series the two man teams will follow, the individual matches being the last to be bowled. Bowling will begin at 7 o'clock on the evening of Jan. 20. On the following Friday evening the management is arranging an entertainment for the visiting bowlers, when, if all the matches have been completed, the prizes will be distributed. OLD LONDON

An Epidemic of the Disease and a Scare Anticipated.

Great Demand for Lymph—The Situation in Ontario-Number of New Cases.

London, Jan. 13:-The manager of one of the largest transatlantic lines was asked if he expected an unusual number of Americans to be present in London at the time of the cornation of King Edward. He said:
"No. By May I fear we shall have such a smallpox scare and epidemic, that London will be quarantined when King Edward is crowned."

That this is by no means a pessimistic forecast is evidenced by the fact that the line referred to has begun to have the crews of its ships vaccinated prior to leaving London for New York. Other lines are following its example, fearing that, any day, the American authorities may place London shipping under an embargo on account of small-pox. The vaccination of the crews is only a preliminary to the same operation in the cases of passengers.
On all sides of the United Kingdom extensive and alarming precautions are on foot to deal with the unprecedented outbreak. The total of small-pox cases in London now only amounts to about 900, but the cases are so scattered that they create the greatest anxiety. London's laboratories are all phenomenally busy in turning out lymph, thousands of tubes of which are daily supplied, but even so the demand cannot be met. Almost all of the large firms are ordering their employes to be vaccinated. May. Toronto, Jan. 13 .- A case of smallpox was discovered Friday night on a Canada Atlantic Railway coach at Mada-waska. He came from Bucknam's Mills. Another case was placed in quarantine at Sault Ste. Marie. This one came from a mining camp at Goulais Bay. The expense of quarantining and keeping patients of this nature are charged to the companies who permit their escape—a regulation which has been in force since last May, and which, Dr. Bryce reports, has effected great things in preventing the spread of the disease. Nine new cases were reported Saturday from Cambridge township, Russell county. The infection came from Booth's Mills, Hull. Two cases are reported from Esquesing township, Halton. "Our great satisfaction," said Dr. Bryce, "is the fact that although outside points are causing us plenty of trouble, we have been able to prevent the spread of the disease within our own boundaries to a large extent." A striking illustration of the way smallpox spreads is furnished in the outbreak at Peterboro. It appears a bundle of clothes was sent from Ottawa to Peterboro to be dyed. There after handling the parcel in the dyer's office Miss Frise contracted the disease, not having been vaccinated. William Joyce developed disease from some clothes which had been handled by the young lady. The man was moved to the hospital at Peterboro, and later to a tent were he was completely isolated. Both cases have been quarantined and all the people who received parcels from the dyer's office vaccinated.

WINDMILLS FOR THE WINDY CITY

Novel Proposition to Light Chicago Streets.

Battery Invented by Edison Makes It Possible—Windmills To Be Used to Run the Dynamos.

Chicago, Jan. 13.-The use of a belt of Chicago, Jan. 13.—The use of a belt of windmills to light the entire city of Chicago, was presented as a possibility of the future by Franklin H. Head in a lecture before the students in the College of Commerce and Administration at the University of Chicago.

The picture which Mr. Head suggest-The picture which Mr. Head suggest-ed was a series of windmills running dynamos which would charge storage batteries with electricity. This state-ment was made to illustrate the enor-mous value to the world of a new stor-age battery invented by Edison. Mr. Head had a model of the battery on the chapel desk before him, and made reference to it in a digression from an interesting lecture on "The Steel In-reference to it in a digression from an interesting lecture on "The Steel Industry."

"When I was in New York recently my old friend, Mr. Edison, told me of a new storage battery he has invented," said Mr. Head, after some apologetic remarks in reference to his digression.

"If what he thinks is true, he has made a most valuable storage battery for electricity. The lead storage battery in use on one street car line today is too expensive; it weighs seven tons, and has to be recharged after every four-mile trip. The new battery Mr. Edison has invented weighs in proportion one-fourth and seems indestructible. He has had batteries in his laboratory a year and a half, and they have kept their charges of electricity. His invention is of enormous value to the world.

"There are endless sources of power about us, if only the power they afford could be stored up. Take the windmillit is not constant. But with the new Edison storage battery the windmill could run a dynamo when the wind blows and the power generated could be saved in a storage battery.

"A belt of windmills around Chicago, say for forty miles, could supply storage batteries with enough electricity to light the whole city of Chicago constantly, and possibly to heat it, too.

batteries with enough electricity to light the whole city of Chicago constantly, and possibly to heat it too.

"For manufacturing purposes the storage battery would prove of great value. Take a factory where the manufacturer has 100 horse power provided constantly. At noon, when the plant is shut down, there is a great waste. With the use of battery the manufacturer could much more to him. By the use of a much more to him. By the use of a dynamo and a storage battery, he could have his windmill do the threshing and cut the corn for fodder, while his wife could have it to heat the flat-irons and do the churning. He might put up three windmills and heat his house without the use of fuel."

Mr. Head explained that Mr. Edison had developed a new oxide of iron, an oxide which never occurs in nature, and an unknown composition of nickel, which were used as the poles of the new batwere used as the poles of the new bat

ONE INDIAN'S VIEW.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

At the last nomination day at Mount Brydges, one of the speakers made a vigorous attack upon the Indians residing in the southern part of the township of Caradoc. During his speech he remarked that the said Indians ought to be removed to New Ontario, as the land they occupy could be farmed far better if in other hands. The speaker himself was in New Ontario. Why didn't he stay? Was it too good, or not good enough? The Indians are the rightful owners of the land they now occupy, being recognized by the government; therefore no one has a better right to it than they. I don't suppose the speaker cares whether the Indians are removed to Alaska or South Africa, so long as they leave their land behind them, although the Good Book says: "Thou shalt not covet any thing that is thy neighbor's." The aspirant should rather discuss the reduction of taxes and the general good of his fellow-countrymen, and leave the Indian and his affairs alone, as he an-ONE INDIAN'S VIEW. reduction of takes and the goderal good of his fellow-countrymen, and leave the Indian and his affairs alone, as he appears to know very little about them. JOHN S. MORGAN'S CASE

A Nova Scotia Man Who Delights to Tell What Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Done for Him.

Bridgewater, N. S., January 13. No man could be more enthusiastic in his recommendation of anything than is John S. Morgan, of this place, in his indorsation of Dodd's Kidney Pills as a remedy for Lame Back. For eight years Mr. Morgan was tortured with Lame Back and Kidney Trouble. He tried different medicines without receiving any benefit till at last he commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. He soon began to improve and the improvement continued as the treatment proceeded. He used in all twenty boxes and gained in that time 23 pounds in weight. He is well and strong and attributes his remarkable recovery to Dodd's Kidney Pills and nothing else.

SUNSHINE IN JANUARY. Let's all reform. Let's all reform.
There comes a zephyr soft and warm
To soothe the January day.
There shines a mild and genial ray,
Which makes us hope that this old earth, Which showed of cheer so great a dearth, Has found a philanthropic mood Has found a philanthropic mood And now is trying to be good.

No doubt 'twill now and then relapse To ruthless ways and sad mishaps, But 'twill recover, and at last Be all you wish ere May is past. So let us help the task along, And join the effort to be strong, And conquer strife and still the storm.

Let's all reform. Let's all reform.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN OVENS. Mr. John Ovens, aged 44 years, proprietor of the Lorne House, Ilderton, died on Saturday evening after several months' illness with cancer of the heartfelt sympathy of the community extended to them. Besides his widow, two sons and two daughters survive Frederick and William, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Pauline and Florence. The funeral takes place on Tuesday.

PRIMARY ENTERTAINMENT. The annual treat and entertainment of the primary department of St. Andrew's Sunday school was held on Saturday afternoon, when about 100 of the little tots and their parents were present. Refreshments were served in the Bible class room, and the pro-gramme consisted of selections by the children and a stereopticon entertainment. Recitations were given by Alberta Somerville, Helen Gillespie Margaret Purdom, Jean Purdom, Edna Darch, Herbert Maybanks, Allister McDonald, Wallace Grey, Percy Dowling and Thos. Sullivan, and songs by Margaret Blake, Edna Brownlee and Kenneth Somerville.

THE LOBSTER FROM MAINE. Mr. James Duffield, on Saturday morning, received a case of lobsters from his friend, Mr. Robert W. Scott, Grand Trunk agent, at Portland, Me., formerly of this city, who expressed the wish that his old associates might enjoy them together. Mr. Duffield made up a party, which drove in an open 'bus to the County Club, raiding a wood yard on the way down for enough wood to heat the building. Mr. Duffield had provided a tempting dinner, which was much enjoyed, and the party spent a very jolly time together. In the party were Major Beattie, C. S. Hyman, M.P., C. E. A. Carr, D. H. Bowen, H. B. Elliott, D. B. Dewar, of Hamilton, Fred Trebilcock, R. K. Cowan, David Cowan, Police Magistrate Love, Sam Munro, W. D. Grigg, Dennis Mason, George Meritt, H. B. Coombs and Col. Young.

WILL GO TO THE CONCERT, TOO. At the evening service yesterday, in First Presbyterian Church, Rev. Dr. McCrae, of Westminster, said he had been asked to take charge of the Wednesday evening prayer meeting, in the absence of Rev. W. J. Clark. As there were many in the congregation who desired to attend the Jessie Maclachlan Scottish concert on that evening, it had been arranged to begin the meeting at 7:30 sharp, and close sharp at 8; so that they could go to the concert, too. "I intend," said Dr. McCrae, in his hearty manner, "to go to this concert myself." He went on to say that the date for the concert of the Scottish singer was the only one available for London, or it would have been held on another evening. Dr. McCrae says no Scottish man or woman, or descendent of Scottish cestors, ought to miss hearing the  TANTON-BALLANTYNE. A very pretty wedding was solemnized some days ago at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George Ballantyne, Pine Villa, Caradoc, when their daughter, Miss Marian L. became the wife of Mr. William H. Tanton, of the firm of Acres and Tanton, undertakers, Strathroy. Rev. Mr. Cluff, of Strathroy, tied the knot, and the bride and groom were assisted by Miss Florence Fisher and Mr. Ernest A. Tanton, of London. The bride was hand-somely gowned in a dress of cream silk, with ribbon and lace trimmings, and carried white roses. The brides-maid was attired in pale blue organdie, with valenciennes lace trimmings, Numerous friends of the couple were present from Port Huron, London, St. Thomas and Port Stanley. Mr. and Mrs. Tanton left at 8:15 for western points. Their home will be at Strathroy on their return.

THE LAST TRIBUTE OF A WARM FRIEND

Rev. Dr. McCrae Speaks of the Life of Rev. Dr. Robertson.

The pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church yesterday was very acceptably occupied by Rev. Dr. McCrae, of Westminster, who gave two strong and interesting discourses. At the morning service the preacher referred to the great loss sustained in the death of the late Dr. Robertson. Dr. McCrae said: 'Not only the great Presbyterian nection with the library. Church, but all Canada, today mourns the death of Rev. Dr. Jas. Robertson at the comparatively early age of threescore and three years. Already, in another place, I have given a brief appreciation of the man, his life and work. am not going to repeat that here. The man, his life and work are well known to all Canadians worthy of the name. As a friend of many years, I wish to say only an additional word or two here. Extravagant eulogy over the dead, I know Dr. Robertson abhorred. I well remember his being in my study shortly after the death of that throat. Mr. Ovens, during his short other great man, Rev. D. J. Macdonnel, residence in fiderton, had made many of St. Andrew's Toronto-one of the friends, and the family have the noblest, purest, and sweetest souls that in any church ever graced a Canadian pulpit. I had read to him, from a morning paper, some strong words of appreciation that had been spoken of Dr. Macdonnel's life and work. 'What a pity,' he said, 'that more of these words had not been spoken to cheer and encourage him while he was living. When' I am gone, if you say anything, speak to the living of the rest and home into which I shall have entered, and let my life and work speak for themselves. Florid rhetoric and stacks of flowers, after we are dead, are poor substitute for the words of encouragement, appreciation and help which we need and often don't get while we are living. It is a well known fact that the Presbyterian Church owes to his wise, self-sacrificing, faithful work, and his splendid administration, the commanding position it holds today from Lake Superior to the Pacific coast. But Dr. Robertson was a statesman as well as a Christian minister and missionary. He loved his church intelligently and whole-heartedly. He loved Canada no less intelligently and whole-heartedly. And I have no hesitation whatever in saying that Dr. Robertson did more to make our great Canadian West what it is today, morally and materially, than any other man in our Dominion. This statement may seem somewhat extravagant. It is not really so, however. I make it, having an intimate knowledge of Dr. Robertson's work, and of the history of the west for the past 25 years, and I confidently believe that the impartial historian of the future will amply justify it. A man may be a great official a great functionary, but a very small man. Unfortunately we have too many men in Canada today, who are great functionaries, but very small men. Dr. Robertson was a great man as well as a great official. He had a great heart. He was, without cant, a good man and full of the Holy Ghost. He was a friend than whom none was truer or more unselfish. Therefore, as one who was privileged to enjoy his closest friendship from my student days, I crave permission humbly and gratefully to lay this little flower on his grave today. I am poorer because he is gone. Our Presbyterian Church is poorer yes, and our whole country is poorer, because James Robertson has left us. Thank God, he has left an example which should be an inspiration to every young Canadian. 'He rests from labors and his works do follow

About $30,000,000 To Be Spent in Improvements-Strength of the B. of L. F.

Omaha, Jan. 13 .- The plans for improvements to be carried out by the Union Pacific road during 1902 have just been given out officially. They will result in the expenditure of from $25,000,000 sult in the expenditure of from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 in betterments and extensions. The efforts this year will be directed almost wholly to that part of the road west of Salt Lake and Ogden and the Oregon Short Line. Twenty millions alone will be used in improvements of these lines, and the remainder in pushing the extension of the Salt Lake-Los Angeles branch of the Oregon Short Line, which will be nearly or quite completed by Jan. 1, 1903. Particular attention will be given to the extensions and improvements on the part of the Short Line which competes with the Hill system. Short Line which competes with the Hill system.
