Capital Completely in Hands of the Revolutionists---Entire New Cabinet and President Named to Guide Nation---Manuel, Queen Mother and Queen Dowager in Mafra, Near Lisbon.

Lisbon, Oct. 5.—Portugal is a republic.

The house of Briganza, which dates from the end of the fourteenth century, as represented by King Manuel II., has been declared overthrown and a provisional Republican Government set up in its stead.

Theophile Braga, long in the foremost ranks of the Republican party, has been chosen provisional president and is guiding the country's destinies. A new national flag of red and green is flying over all public buildings and the warships on the Tagus River.

King Manuel, with the Queen Mother Amelie and the Oueen Dowager Maria Pia, has taken refuge in Mafra twenty-three miles from Lisbon.

Already the Spanish minister, in full uniform, has called to pay his respects to the Republican leaders.

Says the City Had Already Decided On Prices With the Other Municipalities and the Schedule Prepared By Manager Dark Was Unfair Both to the City and Customer.

At a special meeting of the water commissioners held in Mayor Beattie's office at noon today a letter was received from Engineer Sothmann, of which he denied that he had forced in any way the city to withdraw the schedule of prices submitted by Manager Dark to the commissioners some

Mayor Beattie said that the schedule submitted by the hydro-electric commission was too complicated, and too vague, and he made a plea that, in face of the competition to be met by the city, some leeway be given the commissioners in the sale of power. Manager Dark also stated that the hydro-electric schedule would not work out to the best advantage of the city. Enginer Sothmann wrote the letter Hon, Adam Beck, and the latter in turn forwarded it to Chairman Pocock.

Mr. Sothmann's Position In the communication Mr. Sothmann stated that he wished to correct some errors in the report published in The Advertiser some days ago regarding the hydro-electric commission, in commission deciding the rates for power and lighting in the city. Found Guilty of Shooting Miss Frank and Sentenced to Three Years in Prison.

TOUCH LIQUOR'

Prisoner Declared He Is Changed Man and Is Sorry For What He Has Done.

"Your lordship, I ask, in the name of he Lord Jesus Christ, for mercy. I am very sorry for what I have done, and believe that whiskey is the cause of my trouble; but as long as God leaves breath in my body, I will never touch liquor again." This declaration, wholly unexpected, and delivered in a most dramatic manner, from a man with all the appearances of being entirely penitent, fatigued from a gruelling examination and an entire day of extreme nervous tension, yesterday, it is believed saved John Prodger from a sentence to a long term in Kingston penitentiary.

As it was, he was given three years.

The Verdict. After being out an hour and fifteen minutes, the twelve jurors filed into the room shortly after 6 o'clock, and delivered the verdict of guilty upon the first and most serious count on the indictment of shooting Miss Elizabeth Frank, with intent to murder. The jury recommended mercy. Prodger was keyed up almost to the point of breakdown, and as the clerk slowly read the verdict he settled

Bad Company. "You have been the victim of bad company and a bad habit, but the use of intoxicants does not render a man not liable for his crime. #### FINISH THE HARBOR.

. The deputation which will wait upon the Minister of Public Works to urge harbor improvements at Port Stanley will have no difficulty in making out an unanswerable case.

There is not a harbor of refuge on the Canadian shore of Lake Erie. The captain of a ship in distress, caught in a gale near the north shore, knows that there is more hope of safety in heading for the American side. Even the fair-weather harbors on the Canadian side are appalling distances between. There ought to be more than one harbor of refuge, but if there is to be only one. Port Stanley has the greatest No other Canadian port on Lake Erie can show such a volume of traffic, except Port Colborne, which is Niagara River. The coal business alone would justify the improvements. It has reached great proportions, and is growing rapidly. All these western counties share in its advantages.

A great deal of money has been spent very profitably and usefully on Thomas and Port Stanley, and of the should invest imperially. wide district which gets the benefit of water carriage, are grateful, but the work is only half done. The long pier against western gales, but from the east side the harbor is wholly exposed. No ship in a heavy storm, with assurance of safety. The deputation this: will ask that the short eastern pier be removed and another built 200 feet east of the long pier. This will necessitate the erection of a breakwater in the shape of a half-moon to the south east. With two breakwaters, Port Stan ley would be equipped against "all the winds that blow."

OLD WORLD PROBLEMS.

The Canadian Minister of Labor has just returned from Europe, where he attended several international con ferences dealing with social questions The most important of these was the unemployment convention, held at Paris. It brought together from many countries men and women who have devoted their lives to a patient study employment insurance through munici- halters round their necks. pal subsidies to trade union out-of-work funds; Prof. Edouard Fuster, and the famous Prof. Jay, of Paris; Mr. Seebohm Rowntree and Mr. W. H. Beveridge, from England, the latter the author of a book on unemployment, and now director of labor exchanges. From Germany there were the pioneers of the labor exchange movement, such as Dr. Freund, from Berlini, Dr. Flesch, from Frankfort, and Herr Dominicus. from Strassburg.

The conference emphasized the uni versality of unemployment. The German delegates reported that 25 per cent. of the trade unionists were out of work in Prague, and seventy or eighty thousand in Berlin. The French delegates gave the number of unem_ ployed in France at 400,000 to 500,000. Unemployment is the most vexed secular problem that besets the civilized world, and the conference made no hair to be cut and calling for it in a day pretence of furnishing a ready-made or two. solution. The delegates carefully studied and classified a mass of data from which some general principles could be deduced for the guidance of statesmen and philanthropists. The utility of the labor exchanges estab- per cent of the population might do worse lished in Great Britain was fully acknowledged. There was a concensus that the most practical line of advance lay in the direction of insurance against unemployment. There was a difference of opinion as to whether the system should be local and municipal, after the Ghent plan, or national as in Germany, and as it will be in Great Britain. At the same time there was no disposition to ignore the necessity of surrounding unemployment insurance with safeguards against the shirkers, the wastrels and the unem_ ployables. For this class other machinery would have to be provided.

Mr. King has doubtless gathered useful information at the various congresses he attended, and will give Canada the benefit of it. Happily this young country is comparatively free from some of the evils which beset

CHANGES IN THE CONFERENCE. | day in the hearts of those who read his There will be some significant changes in the personnel of the imperial conference next year, compared with that of four years ago. Hon. Alfred Deakin, premier of Ausralia in 1907, has been replaced by Mr. Fisher, a Laborite. Dr. Jameson, leader of the Jameson raid, and premier of Cape Colony in 1907, is now leader of the Opposition in the new South African parliament, and will have no place in the next conference. Natal was represented four years ago by its premier, Hon. F. R. Moor, but Natal has ceased to be a colonial unit. Sir Robert Bond will be replaced by Sir Edward Morris, his successor as premier of Newfoundland. Only three overseas delegates of 1907 will return: Sir Wilfrid Laurier, a member of every conference that has been held; General Botha, in 1907 premier of the Transvaal, and today premier of South Africa; and Sir J. G. Ward, premier

In 1907 Mr. Deakin, Mr. Moor, Dr. Jameson and Sir J. G. Ward insisted on raising the fiscal question. They played into the hands of the British tariff reformers, and gave offence to the free traders, who very properly resented what was virtually an intrusion into the domestic politics of the mother country. Sir J. G. Ward will find himself alone next year if he tries to precipitate a similar discussion. There is every likelihood that the conference will take the position of neutrality assumed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier overwhelming percentage of the best in 1907 when he said: "This is a matter altogether in the hands of the British people. I would have no hesitation at all in resenting any attempt to force upon the Canadian people anything which the Canadian people would not believe in, even for the broad idea of doing good to the whole empire. I think that the best way to serve the whole is by allowing every part to serve and recognize its own immediate in-

It was characteristic that when the near such havens as Buffalo and the trouble broke out in Lisbon a British warship was just around the corner.

> There is an insurgency movement in the Canadian west as in the American careers as wage-earners in professions west; but it is not confined to one

The injunction to "think imperially" Port Stanley harbor in recent years, is not very definite, but with such a for which the people of London, St. field as Canada British capitalists cess?" was asked.

It is all due to the well-known fact that in her weaker physical state self-protection has demanded an early development of the perceptive faculties. Age for age, girls perceive understandingly what boys scarcely notice. The differences between the two sexes are so great that it is unscientific to class them together, and there is a growing suspicion that each is injured by current co-educational method, the boys unduly stimulated and the girls retarded. In spite of this self-evident conclusion pedagogues seem bent upon the impossible task of making the boys keep up with the girls-a plan sure to be followed by far-reaching bad results. Provinces Cut Off. No news has been received from the provinces, as communication largely been cut off and dispatches and messages of all kinds have been suppressed.

All through the night artillery and rifle fire was incessant, and towards dawn it increased in intensity. At 11 o'clock last night insurgents, encamped on the heights of Avenida da Liberdado, tried to force their way to the centre of the city, but were driven back by the loyal troops. As the latter passed the barracks of the First Artillery they discovered that it was in the hands of the rebels. They charged on the civilians and dislodged them with considerable loss to the rebels.

The night firing was carried on in complete darkness, the electric lights having failed.

Reis Leads Insurgents. The insurgents were led by the retired admiral, Carlos Reis. Their forces were greatly augmented desertions from among the anarchists and they succeeded eventually in getting control of the city.

The inhabitants today are parading the streets, most of them with rifles their hands, singing the Portuguese Marseillaise, which has now become the national anthem. Cross ambulance and parties, police and men from the fire brigade are patrolling the streets and removing the dead and wounded. BY LOUIS TRACY. Author of "The Stowaway," "The Message," "The Wings of the Morning," Etc.

Today, unhappily, neither Prince Michel nor his wife was in tune for a family conclave. Monseigneur was ruffled, distinctly so, and Madame was on the verge of tears.

when Alec entered the room he was aware of a sudden silence, accentuated by a half-repressed sob from his mother. Instantly, he took the blame on his own shoulders. He expected difficulties; but he was not prepared for a scene.

"Why, mother, dear," he said, bending over her with a tenderness that contrasted strongly with Prince Michael's affected indifference, "what is the matter? Surely you and dad have not been worrying about me! You can't keep me in the nest always, you know. And I only want to earn the wherewithal to live. That is not so very terrible, is is?"

The distressed woman looked up at him with a wan smile. She seemed to have aged since the morning. There was a pathetic weakness in her mouth and chin that was noticeably absent from her son's strong lineaments, and it occurred to Alec with a pang that he had never seen his mother so deeply moved. "I suppose one must endure the world's changes," she murmured. "It was foolish on my part to imagine that things could continue forever on the same lines; but I shall not grieve, Alec, if no cloud comes between you and me. It would break my heart—"
"Oh, come now!" he cried, simulating winter.

"Well, sir. candidly speaking, I have not. But I saw in a newspaper the other day a paragraph of advice to a young man. 'No matter how small your income may be, live within it; that is the beginning of wealth,' it said. How profound! I applied it to myself My inthe beginning of wealth, it said. How profound! I applied it to myself. My income is nil. There I encountered a serious obstacle at the very start of the Great Money Stakes. But——, "This is a grave discussion, Alec. I have that to say which may pain you. Pray be serious,"

"Oh, I am—quite serious. My ponies and the dog eart are in Dumoni's cata-

"On, I am—quite serious. My ponies and the dog cart are in Dumont's catalogue for the next sale. I resigned my membership of the polo club today. Tomorrow, or eke tonight. I look for a job. "I—er—suppose you—er—look to me for some assistance?" coughed Prince Michael.

His wife rose. Her face was greywhite, her eyes blazed. "Alec knows we are poor. Why torture him—and me? I refuse to allow it! I refuse!" Her voice took a tragic note, thin and shrill; there was a pitiful quivering of her lips that wrung her son's heart and he was utterly at a loss to understand why a discussion as to his future should lead to this display of passion.

"But, mother, darling," he cried, "why are you grieving so? You and dad must maintain a certain state—one begins by assuming that—and that it is no secret that the Delgrado side of the family was not blessed with wealth. Very weil. Let balance, eh? Really, why weep?"

Alec's gallant attempt to avert the storm failed again. His Serene Highness muttered words in a foreign tongue that sounded anything but serene. The Princess did not understand; but her son did. His brows wrinkled and the good-humored gleam died out of his eyes.

"Perhaps, sir," he sald stiffly, "this subject had better be discussed when my mother is not present."

Prince Michael looked at him fixedly. For some reason the little man was very angry, and he seemed to resent the implied slur on his good taste.

"I am determined to end this farce, once and for all," he vowed. "Before you joined us, I told the Princess—"

The door was flung open. The young man who had followed Joan and Alec his pink and white face was crimson now, and his manner that of unmeasured, almost uncontrollable excitement. He gazed at them with a wildness that bordered on frenzy, yet it was clear that their own marked agitation was only what he expected to find.

gazed at them with a wildness that bordered on frenzy, yet it was clear that their own marked agitation was only what he expected to find.
"Ah, you have heard?" he snapped, biting at each syllable.
"Heard what, Julius?" demanded Monseigneur, with an instant lowering of the princely mask, since Julius dabbled in stocks and was reputed well-to-do.

"The news! The news from Kosnovia!" Prince Michael affected to yawn. "Oh, s that all?" he asked.
"All! Grand Dieu, what more would you have? It means—everything."

"My good Julius, it is long since I was so disturbed. What, then, has happened? The Danube in flood is no new thing."
"The Danube!" and the newcomer's voice cracked. "So you do not know—sire?"

The little word seemed to have the explosive force of nitro-glycerin. Its de-tonation rang through the room and left them all silent, as though their ears were stunned and their tongues paralyz-ed. Alec was the first to see that some ed. Alec was the first to see that some event far out of the common had reduced his cousin. Count Julius Marulitch, almost to a state of hysteria. "We are at cross-purposes," he said quietly. "My father, like the rest of us, read this morning's telegram about the overflowing of the river—"

Count Marulitch waved his hands, frantically. He was literally beside himself. His full red lips, not at all unlike those of the youth in Joan's picture, moved several times before any sound came.

A FEW DOSES WILL REGULATE KIDNEYS

The most severe Backache or any Urinary or Bladder misery will simply vanish.

The Blessed relief that follows the use of Pape's Diuretic is a revelation to sufferers from backache or kidney, bladder and urinary disorders. The time to cure kidney trouble is while it is only trouble-before it settles into Dropsy, Gravel, Diabetes or Bright's Disease.

Pape's Diuretic acts at once upon the kidneys, bladder and urinary system; cleanses, vitalizes and regulates these organs, ducts and glands and completes the cure within a few days. The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary derangement, or feel a constant, dull backache or the urine is thick, cloudy, offensive or full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, you should begin taking Pape's Diuretic as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure. Misery in the back, sides or loins, sick headache, inflamed or puffy eyelids, nervousness, rheumatism and darting pains, heart palpitations, bilious stomach, Prostatic trouble, listless dizziness, sleeplessness, weak, wornout feeling and other symptoms caused by inactive, sluggish kidneys simply vanish. Uncontrollable urination (specially at night), smarting, discolored water and all bladder misery ends.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker, or any mercantile agency will vouch for the responsibility of Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, Ohio, who prepare Pape's Diuretic-50-cent treatment — sold by every druggist in the world.

No Better Remedy at Any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of warm water and stir for two minutes. Put 2½ ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents worth) in a 16ounce bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold instantly, and will usually stop the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, throat tickle, sore lungs and asthma, and an unequalled remedy for whooping cough. This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is a prime favorite in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guiaicol and all the natural healing pine elements. ## DETROIT COLT WINS IN RECORD TIME

Justice Brook Takes the $5,000 Stake By Smashing Mark of 19 Years.

ONE ENTRY DROPS DEAD

Anna Belle Lee Falls in Stretch-One Race Goes Six Heats-Summaries.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 5.-A Michigan colt, owned in Detroit, today won the $5,000 Kentucky Futurity for 2-year-old trotters, and broke a world's record which had stood nineteen years.

This was the brown colt Justice Brooke, trained by Dromore Farm, of St. Clair, the property of George W. Moore, of Detroit, and driven by the Dromore trainer, Roy Miller. This was the only sensation of the afternoon, although the 2:19 trot was a long-drawn-out and hardfought event of six heats.

The Favorite Drawn. In the pool selling on the Futurity, Miss Stokes, winner of the Horse Review stake at Columbus last week, was the favorite, Justice Brooke being second

Just before the start it was announced that Miss Stokes had been drawn on account of sickness. There was considerable play on the black colt, Silent Brigade, to beat the Michigan crack, but the first heat clearly showed which was best, for Miller took the Dromore ride to the front as soon as Starter Walker sent them off, and never was headed, Silent Brigade making a break and Main Leaf not being able to force the Michigan colt to extend himself.

Silent Brigade was flying when the word was given in the second heat, and the clip was terrific for baby trotters, but on the upper turn Silent Brigade cried enough and Justice Brooke came on

The New Record.
Miller was out for the world's record, and he kept the brown fellow at it clear to the wire, which was reached in 2:091/4 the fastest heat ever trotted by a 2-yearold stallion, either in a race or against time, the best previous record being that of Arion, who trotted in 2:10% at Stockton, Cal., in 1901. Detroit, Oct. 6.-After Mullin had pitched a good article of ball in the regulation period of the first game, the tail end of the Naps' batting list fell on him for five hits, two of which were doubles in the tenth inning, and scored five runs, cinching the game.

Misplays were what cost the Tigers the game, and but for these it would not have been necessary for the contest to go into overtime.

Double plays also cut a big figure in heir scoring, and three of these, Lajoie figuring in all of them, checked rallies that would have given the game to Jennings' men and prevented the slaughter of the extra period.

It took only until the second inning before the Tigers got to Blanding in the second game. Two runs secured in this round and two in the following inning gave the champions more than enough to win, Cleveland being able to get but two rounds off Summers during the five innings which the game lasted. #### BADLY CRIPPLED WITH LAME BACK

COULD NOT WALK STRAIGHT. Very few diseases can cause you as much pain as a Lame Back. Sitting down is torture—getting up pretty nearly kills you—walking is agony. Even when you lie in bed, that nagging pain keeps up its ache, ache, ache -and when you roll over or try to get up again, well, it brings tears to your eyes. Mr. Mackenzie, an old resident of Elmsdale, Nova Scotia, knows what it s to have a Lame Rack—and he knows too, what to take to cure it and be free of pain and suffering. "I was badly crippled up with pains across the small of my back. I could

The Globe

Mr. Business Man:

Publicity is in the air. The nations are advertising. Provinces, cities and towns are advertising. Railways are using bigger and better spaces today than ever before. Churches and charities are making public opinion through newspaper display. The men who are doing all this are students of current events. They are keeping abreast of the times.

As a business man are you making public opinion favorable to your goods?

If you are a shoe manufacturer, do you realize that the 55,000 subscribers of The Globe purchase annually over half a million dollars' worth of shoes? Opinion is being made continually in favor of some bran! of foctwear. Why not yours?

The same is true of Underwear, Tweeds, Foods, Office Equipment, etc., etc.

If interested consult The Globe or any reputable advertising agency.

PRESENTATION TO MR. ED. CLISSOLD

Pleasant Affair at Meeting in Adelaide Street Church.

At the conclusion of the mid-week service in Adelaide Street Baptist Church last evening, Mr. Edward Clissold, who is severing his connection with the church, to reside in Buffalo. was pleasantly surprised by the members of the congregation, who presented him with a very beautiful Bible.

The presentation was made by Mr. D. H. Gillies, and an accompanying address was read by Mr. C. W. A Woodburne.

Mr. Clissold, who has for a long time edited the church calendar, made an appropriate and appreciative reply in expressing his thanks for thoughtful remembrance.

board of water commissioners, stating that the schedule adopted by the London commissioners was at variance with the schedule adopted by hydro-electric commissioners. He declared it to be unfair both to the onsumer and the city. Later he had a conference with Chairman Pocock and Manager Dark, when he explained the schedule to them, and showed wherein Mr. Dark's schdule was inaccurate.

"We furnish merely the basic rates," said Mr. Sothmann. "The local conditions determine the discount and what price power shall be to the consumers. We are not sufficiently in touch with local conditions to determine what schedule should be adopted locally. We told Mr. Dark how to arrive at that." "I wish to emphasize that I have not tried to force any rates on the city, but as your board has already, with the other municipalities, approved of a schedule. I cannot recommend an-

A Question. "When there is opposition, why should the commission hold us down to that schedule?" asked Mayor Beattie. "Our circumstances are altogether different from those of any other city in the union, and we should not be held down to such a schedule. If we had no competition it would be all right, but where we have a fight on our hands, we should be given an opportunity of meeting competition. Witness remembered how she was dressed, wearing a short jacket black in question, but heard no noise or and white, or grey. He thought the outcry. man with her was young Jardine, he said. He could not identify the party, though he judged the time to be about 8:45 when he met the party in the

Ray Steele said he knew Ed Jardine, but not Frank. He knew Lizzie Anderson. He saw both parties Ed Jardine and Lizzie Anderson, the night of the tragedy, at the fair grounds, about 9:30. He was positive about the time. They were near the peanut stand, not hour the company dispersed, after far from the little booth where witness

Mrs. Capt. McLeod was the next witness. She said she knew the Jardine family well, living next door. She was at the fair on the night in question. She saw the performance and left for home at 9:55, after having seen the Jardine party at the fence near the track.

Capt. McLeod corroborated this, and fixed the time definitely when the performance ended.

Margaret Leonard, a girl about 13, said she saw Ed Jardine and Lizzie Anderson about 10 o'clock together in the place where they were seen by Steele.

Kathleen McDonald was with Margaret Leonard and corroborated her

The Post-Mortem.

Dr. Macklin, one of the post-mortem physicians, then took the stand. He testified having made the autopsy on the body, assisted by Dr. Gallow and Dr. Gunn.

Dr. Gallow then read a report of he post-mortem. Scratches were found on the back of the girl. The majority of the bruises on the body were made after death. They found a wound in the neck which had severed all the ligaments, and a small stab wound above the cut. The clothing examined showed the hat to be stained with blood, as were the handkerchief and hair ribbon.

Burrs were found on parts of the clothing, especially the stockings. All the clothing was stained and soaked with blood, and was cut considerably, in fact, it was certain all the clothing was cut off after death. The blow on the head was caused by the knuckles of a hand presumably, and was a very severe blow. causing unconsciousness. Crowd Excited.

The crowd listened eagerly to the medical evidence, becoming quite excited at times. Drs. Gunn and Macklin concurred with the report.

Hugh McGuire was the next witness, but as the crown attorney said his evidence was very important and engthy, his hearing was not taken. William Brindly then took the stand. Ed. Jardine had been in his shooting gallery early on the evening of the night of the murder. About 9:40 the same evening he saw Jardine and Hugh McGuire having a friendly tussle, and McGuire, a larger man than Jardine, could not down him. Jardine appears almost a complete cripple, and this evidence produced somewhat of a sensation.

Witness said Jardine paid for his shots, which contradicts Jardine's former evidence, to the effect that he had the shots free. He paid 15 cents in the afternoon and 10 cents at night. The object of this testimony was to discredit the statement of Ed. Jardine that he had bought supper for the dead girl, as, according to his evidence he had only 15 cents, after paying his admission to the fair.

Hear Cry of Distress. Mrs. Dan Buchanan next testified she had heard men talking on the night of the murder near the show grounds fence, near where she lives. She heard a woman's cry of distress, and then a man laughed and then there was a weaker cry. Mrs. Chas. Ross, who lives two houses from the scene of the murder, heard the sound of a cry that night, a pitiful wail, very near her house, presumably on the road past the scene of the crime. The time was shortly be-
