RY MEMBERS TO CONTROL BEER

WET AREAS GET MORE LICENSES

Issuance of Beer Permits Left to Conservative Members and Defeated Ones.

CLAIM NO PATRONAGE

Representatives Summoned by Premier To State Views on Question.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, April 21.—Issuance of beer permits in the various ridings of the province will be left almost entirely to the Conservative members and defeated Conservative candidates, it was learned this morning. Decision of the government to adopt this means of distributing them is said to have followed lengthy consideration. It is felt that the members of the ridings know the constituencies better than anyone else and the feeling of the people as to the number of licenses that should be issued. In ridings that voted dry it is stated that the number of licenses to be issued will be few. Those which voted wet, however, will be allowed a greater number, depending on the recommendations of the member and the final judgment of the government.

Members Are Summoned.

During the latter part of the past week and the beginning of this, practically all of the Conservative members of the legislature have visited Premier Ferguson and laid their views before him. About twenty of the members were at the parliament buildings this morning, in response to a letter sent to them by the premier asking them to come and state their views regarding the issuance of the licenses and the framing of the regulations.

It is stated that there will be no "patronage" connected with the issuance of the license and persons of other than the Conservative political viewpoint will be treated fairly and they are in the hotel and store or restaurant business.

A wide diversity of opinion is said to exist among the members, some of whom feel that in ridings which voted dry only standard hotels should receive a license.

Refuse to Comment.

Others contend just as warmly that as the beer is said to be non-intoxicating it should be sold with as little restriction as is compatible with adequate enforcement of the regulations.

Government members refused to make any comment on the situation this morning. Premier Ferguson stated that there was nothing new, while one of the members summoned to Queen's Park stated: "The government merely wants our views on the issuing of licenses."

'PATRONAGE,' SAYS ROSS; 'NATURAL,' SAYS DENNIS

Temperance Chief Thinks Issuing of Beer Permits by Individual
Tory Control Is Unwise—Dennis Knows
No Other Way.

"Is that not called the patronage system?" said David Ross, head of London's temperance forces, today, regarding the report from Toronto, stating that Conservative members and candidates would control the issuing of beer permits in their ridings. "That looks as if beer is a purely party affair," he continued. "I think a straight matter of Conservatives and liquor being united. I think it is an unwise plan. The temperance forces will not recognize either party at the next election."

E. R. Dennis, president of the Western Ontario Conservative Association, believes that Premier Ferguson has taken a natural course.

"It is an old story," he said. "I do not see how things will ever be any different as long as there is party politics. Personally, I do not think that the beer is intoxicating, but the government is taking every care of the situation."

VATICAN AMBASSADOR QUESTION CAUSES HITCH

Eleventh-Hour Delay Entails
Change in French Ministerial Declaration.

Associated Press Despatch.
Paris, April 21.—An eleventh-hour hitch, entailing "an important change in the ministerial declaration," occurred this morning, and the document which it was announced last night would be ready to hand over to the newspapers at 11 a.m. today will not be ready until this afternoon.

The difficult question of France's representation at the Vatican is reported to have caused the delay. The Nova Scotia government acted as representatives of Alsace-Lorraine, including several deputies, this morning, then he received a delegation of socialists, later one of radicals, and finally sent for Foreign Minister Briand.

SILENCE AMONG MINERS WILL BE BROKEN TODAY

Canadian Press Despatch.
Sydney, N.S., April 21.—Silence continues among the officers of the British Empire Steel Corporation and the United Mine Workers of America, District 25, whose dispute over wage rates resulted in a 100 per cent cessation of work on the part of over 12,000 Nova Scotia coal miners. A reaction from the voluminous statements that followed the breakdown of the conference last week, at which the Nova Scotia government acted as would-be mediator between the two bodies, was expected to be broken today upon the arrival home of President John Lewis.

INCOME RETURNS ARE SLOW

Receipts to Date Are Only Half
As Prompt As Last Year.

NEW SYSTEM

Collection by Customs Officials
Means Double Handling and Delay of Checks.

Income tax returns are slow this year. The total receipts to the present are just a little more than half what they were in April, 1924, according to Inspector Tambilin.

The reason given is not that there is less money in the country or that people are shirking their obligations. The fact that there are some 52 customs offices collecting slows up the system.

Last year the taxes were paid directly into the office of the federal inspector. This year as a convenience to the public the money may be paid to customs collectors. He in turn sends the checks on to the inspector with the result that the double handling has delayed some of the returns.

Mr. Tambilin said today that the money was coming in every day and being sent to Ottawa. He was not prepared to say just how much had been received to date.

Four members of the northwest mounted police are on duty in the Carling block offices. They are Corp. J. Johnson, Ottawa; Constables Smaridge, Windsor; Lynch of Sarnia, and Kerr of Ottawa. It is expected that the officers will be on duty until the end of the month.

TWO POINTS FROST NOT APPRECIATED

Mercury Dives Below Freezing and Citizens Shiver—
Flowers Unhurt.

When the mercury dives down to below the freezing point as it did last night the artificial life of civilization is a jump ahead of nature. The business man and his wife can put on fur coats. The crocuses and the daffodils can't.

On Sunday night the temperature was 32 and last night 36. Both these drops following the violent wind, thunder and lightning storm of Saturday night and Sunday.

Londoners were going about with coat collars turned up, hands in pockets and a malevolent scowl at the gods of spring.

On the same date in 1924 the figures were: Highest, 41; and low, 30, with a 20th 47 and 32. Even on April 24 of last year the mercury dropped to 31 so that this is no exception to the general rule of a cold spring.

Human memory is short at times. But in spite of the apparent frailty of nature and the comfort of humans it was the flowers which suffered least. Where there are a dozen colds and snuffing countenances there is only one frozen flower, and even at that the flowers which probably recover first. Although the last ten days have been bright and sunny they have not been warm and this has kept the flowers back and saved their necks—comparatively speaking.

RAIN HOLDS UP SEEDING IN SOUTHERN ALBERTA

Canadian Press Despatch.
Lethbridge, Alta., April 21.—Seeding operations in southern Alberta are at a standstill, due to a drenching rainstorm which swept the country from the north beginning about 7 o'clock Monday evening. Reports reaching the city indicate that the rain extends from Vulcan to Coumbs, and from Bow Islands west to the Rockies.

The precipitation is particularly heavy on the Cardston line, where rain began falling about 6 o'clock. About 15 per cent of the seeding in this district is done, and with the soil soaked to two feet in the so-called dry area and from there to four feet in the southwest, prospects for a harvest are exceedingly bright.

BOARD PROBES BRIDGES

Ontario Officials Hold Conference With City and Railway Officials.

ACTION MAY FOLLOW

Sidestep Any Statement That Would Cause Alarm to Riding Public.

Alex. B. Ingram and P. W. Ellis of the Ontario railway and municipal board are in London today, conferring with city and street railway officials regarding condition of bridges used by the traction company. Orders are likely to be issued to the company to put bridges in safe and proper shape.

This morning the railway commissioners met W. P. Near, city engineer; Leonard Tait, L. S. R. manager; and Harry Humeston, superintendent of the road. A lengthy conference of a technical nature was held at the street railway offices, and an afternoon meeting was later found necessary to continue discussion.

Requested by Board.

Today's meetings came upon the request of the railway board, and are not officially linked up with the city's contemplated move in calling in the railway board to hold a court of inquiry over the company's failure to abide by its agreement with the city in the matter of rates of fare.

At the same time orders from the railway board, forcing the company to make expenditure for repairs, would affect the company's case if the city were to take up the matter as an operating default. The company could complain that, because of railway board orders to spend money on bridges, they could not afford to operate at less than the five-cent rate of fare.

Grounds Not Stated.

However, the city's representatives have not yet stated just what grounds the case against the company will be fought on. It is taken up with emphasis on the legal complexity of present conditions. At any rate, official request has not yet gone forward to the Ontario railway board, outlining London's desire for an inquiry.

Principals in today's conference, while admitting the long and tough case would be necessary, avoided any emphasis on the condition of bridges used by the traction company. There was a desire to make any statement which would cause alarm to the riding public.

"We're simply talking over technical matters," the long and tough case would be necessary, avoided any emphasis on the condition of bridges used by the traction company. There was a desire to make any statement which would cause alarm to the riding public.

Street railway officials had no comment to offer on the probable course they would take in improving bridge conditions.

TORY WORKER PLUCKS PLUM

Tom Jones Stands Out in Lead
As New Division Court
Clerk.

BECK WILL DECIDE

Ex-aid, Tom Jones who has long been a faithful worker for the Conservative party in London is about to get his reward. The "fall highest" in local Tory circles have deemed that he shall be made clerk of the First Division Court in London in succession to Col. C. M. R. Graham.

It will be a short time yet, before the official appointment is made, but those who are known to have ringside seats at all Conservative inner councils declare positively that Mr. Jones is the lucky individual who will fall into a job that carries with it each year some $4,000 in fees.

Mr. Jones is known to be a favorite of Sir Adam Beck who in the final analysis has the decision as to what will occupy the swivel chair recently vacated by Col. Graham.

Had H. J. Childs not been appointed as issuer of automobile licenses for this district two years ago, the luscious Tory plum would have fallen squarely into his lap.

Aro, Nigeria, April 20.—Yoruba chiefs, famous for their magnificence since the days of Solomon's temple, were presented to the Prince of Wales at Ibadan this morning.

Some, so holy that their faces could not be revealed, were completely masked by curtains of red coral beads, above which towered head-dresses of fantastic splendor. While addressing the prince, the chiefs were fanned daintily by little bronze-skinned girls from their harems, whose frizzed heads were shaved in complicated geometrical designs like French poodles.

YOUNG FARMER SLAYER TO BE HANGED TOMORROW

Associated Press Despatch.
London, April 21.—Norman Thorne, the young farmer of Crowborough who over a month ago was sentenced to death for the murder of Miss Elsie Cameron, a typist of London, in his hut at Crowborough on the night of December 5 last, and whose appeal against his sentence was rejected by the court of criminal appeals two weeks ago, will be hanged tomorrow.

A certain amount of interest in the condemned man has been excited because the court of appeals refused to submit the expert medical evidence which was given at Thorne's trial to a special commission, as was urged by the counsel for Thorne and which court had power to do.

Building Inspector Appointment Deferred :: Anti-Unionists To File Protest

COUNCIL FAILS TO NAME INSPECTOR OF BUILDING

McBride Recommendation Referred Back To Number Two Committee.

WILL BUY PUMPER

Mayor Dissents As Tenders For New Fire Engine Are Called.

Living up to advance notices, the city council last night used the board of works' recommendation to appoint T. C. McBride to the post of city building inspector, and the matter went back to committee for further investigation. By a vote of 7 to 4, the council decided to open up further discussion by Ald. Harry Bottrell's committee, though the appointment has been before the city legislators for nearly two months.

The upset was one of several that created ripples in the calm that pervaded the 50-minute session. Even though the inspectorship question was devoid of any verbal affront.

Linnell Makes First Move.

Ald. Charles Linnell, noting the hesitancy of his committee chairman, moved to have Mr. McBride made inspector.

In connection with that, I think it would be better to send this matter back to committee for information, and I would so move," declared Ald. L. H. Douglass, supporting statements he had made previous to the council meeting.

"Secondly," offered Ald. Robert Carswell,

"I don't see where you're going to make any headway," complained the mayor. But, unlooked for, support came from No. 2 committee. A vote was called for, and Ald. McKay, Douglass, Carswell, Bottrell, Kilbourne, McCormick and Ashton voted for the motion. Ald. Cliff Smith, Linnell and the mayor, voted against the amendment. Only one member of the committee, which had brought in the recommendation favoring Mr. McBride, was thereby opposed to further information being sought.

Ald. Dolg and Ald. Wenzel were absent from the meeting.

Weight Scale Held Up.

The council devoted a quarter of its session to sending back to committee the recommendation of No. 1 committee for the erection of a new $2,500 weight scale and office building on the market. Ald. Bottrell, Ald. McCormick, Ald. Douglass and others cited objections to the erection of a weight scale on the southwest corner of the market. Some of the aldermen wanted the old building used, others were not content with the style of scale proposed.

On the recommendation of Ald. Frank McKay, chairman of No. 1 committee, tenders for a new pumper truck for the fire department were ordered. Mayor Wenzel was the only opponent.

To Probe Water Rates.

Acting on the inquiry of Ald. John Ashton, a motion was supported to have the mayor, as a member of the public utilities commission, take up the matter of the recent water rate charge imposed on water rates.

"I pay $1.20 for water rates and $1.25 for service charge," pointed out Ald. Ashton. "Why don't they make it all water rate?"

The mayor stated that the council was powerless to interfere so far as an Ontario railway was concerned. The board inquiry was concerned.

Four-Hour Term For Milk Theft

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, April 20.—Perhaps a record short sentence was the one for four hours given Robert Wallace in court today. Wallace was convicted of stealing a bottle of milk from a doorstep. Court ruled that as he had been in the cells since 4 a.m. a sentence of four hours would be sufficient.

Utilities Commission Held the Whip Hand.

However, the council supported the motion of Ald. Douglass to have the mayor take up the service charge question with the commission.

The official regrets of the city of London at the prolonged illness of Sir Adam Beck, M.L.A., were contained in the following resolution brought forward by Ald. L. H. Douglass and Ald. Frank McKay and given unanimous support by the council:

"Be it resolved that the council of the corporation of the city of London at its meeting of April 19, 1925, do hereby express its appreciation of the tremendous and unselfish labors of Sir Adam Beck in the affairs of the city, endeavoring him to the best of its power to hasten his recovery and return to the work in which he is keenly interested."

Baronet Whiskey Runner Finds Scheme Is Bubble; Investors May Lose All

Sir Broderick Hartwell Fails To Win Fortune Through Liquor Smuggling.

CARGO IS CAPTURED

Nearly Thousand People in Britain Stand To Lose Heavily.

By HAL O'FLAHERTY.

Special Cable to The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright.

London, April 20.—The offices of Sir Broderick Hartwell, "the whiskey-running baronet," were besieged today by anxious investors in his smuggling schemes, following the reported capture by American prohibition authorities of a huge cargo of whiskey.

Sir Broderick sailed a month ago on the schooner Aranda to superintend delivery of his seventh shipment of intoxicants, upon which he had guaranteed investors a profit of 120 per cent. In a message just received in London, Sir Broderick declares the intensive American campaign against the smuggling brought disaster having the venture, over 30,000 cases of cargo was confiscated.

The balance of the cargo was smaller craft, which he was forced to charter at exorbitant rates.

His profits already have been consumed by heavy expenses, and unless the small craft are successful in unloading the remainder of the cargo, the investors will lose every penny.

It is estimated that nearly a thousand persons paid Hartwell various sums two months ago, enabling him to buy the ill-fated cargo. Their only published source now lies in the statement published in Sir Broderick's circulars, which said: "Barring marine accidents, in which case I will return your money, I guarantee to return you any money you invest, plus four shillings in the pound, within 60 days from the date the vessel leaves England."

Forty-Seven Mills Fixed For This Year—Garage Bylaw Protested.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Marys, April 20.—An increase of three mills in tax rate, as compared with last year, was made by the council tonight when the rate was fixed at 47 mills.

The town faces a test case regarding the validity of a bylaw passed last year, at the request of garage owners, allowing only one garage to be open on Sunday. A McVittie, who owns a large garage on Main street, asked the council to rescind the bylaw, and when they did not agree stated that he would take the matter to court. Under the bylaw his garage can be open only one Sunday in five, and he declares this an inconvenience to motorists and a distinct loss to himself.

LOEW'S THEATRE

"The Way of a Girl."

Eleanor Boardman achieves a distinct triumph in her latest picture, "The Way of a Girl," which was shown at Loew's Theatre yesterday afternoon in a three-day run. This new picture is pleasing in the originality of its plot. It is a picture of thrills and laughs.

Loew's Boardman takes the part of an impetuous, high-spirited young woman, who is not satisfied with her commonplace existence, but seeks excitement by attending prize fights, artists' balls, and by speeding and slumming, all the while dragging along her very proper and unexcitable fiancé, who suffers like a good Spartan in the hope that she will eventually get tired of such things.

The climax, when she becomes the captive of a couple of modern cave-men, and gets more adventure than she had bargained for, is a masterpiece of Miss Boardman's leading man.

Loew's presents for the first half of this week, an entertaining vaudeville act, two dexterous jugglers, is a probably the best. They offer a unique form of entertainment that drew rounds of applause. The second act is one of song and patter, satisfactorily presented and entertaining. The third is a Spanish dancing turn, lavishly staged, and executed by dancers of grace and charm.

PRESBYTERY TO BE ADVISED OF ANTI-UNIONISTS' PLAN

Meeting in St. George's Church Decides To Send Formal Protest.

TO HOLD RALLY

Rev. James MacKay Says Plans For Young Will Surprise Unionists.

Notice will be served on the Presbytery of London at its next meeting by the anti-unionist Presbyterians of their intention to form, after June 10 next, the continuing, "The real Presbytery of London."

The formal protest to be signed by the anti-unionist members of the Presbytery, both ministers and lay men, was tabled at the regular meeting of the London Presbytery Church association, held last night in St. George's Presbyterian church, East London.

Rev. John McNair, D.D., former clerk of the Presbytery, urged upon all non-concurring congregations the importance of passing a resolution in unison with the continuing Presbytery church, and their appointing of five representatives to the advisory council.

Rev. James MacKay, B.D., pastor of New St. James' Presbyterian church, pointed out that there is no necessity for any non-concurring congregation to pass such a resolution in view of the church union bill recently passed by the legislature.

Leakage Stopped.

"Every congregation which voted not to go into union," declared Mr. MacKay, "automatically becomes a member of the continuing Presbytery church. We do not know that an amendment was coming, but it will stop the leakage which we were fearing. That is what the unionists are finding fault with the legislators for, in that the non-concurring congregations will bear the same relation to the continuing church as they do now to the Presbytery church in Canada."

It was decided to hold a public meeting for the anti-unionist Presbyterians of the synod of Hamilton and London on Wednesday night of next week in New St. James' Presbyterian church, to be addressed by Rev. A. B. Grant, of Toronto, and some other prominent anti-unionist of the province.

The synod of Hamilton and London will have dissolved, observed Mr. MacKay, and we shall have formed ourselves into the continuing synod, and that would be an appropriate time to hear an inspirational address from such a speaker as Dr. Grant.

To Hold Picnic.

The suggestion to hold a picnic at Springbank Park during the latter part of June or early July as a grand rally for the anti-unionist Presbyterians of London and vicinity was adopted with enthusiasm. A committee was appointed, consisting of Mrs. Carney, Elmwood avenue church; Mrs. John Kelman, Chalmers church; Mrs. Stanley Grover, St. George's church; Chas. Pirie, Hamilton road church; and Russell W. Wade, St. James' church, to consider the arrangements and report at the next meeting of the association.

John Kelman, Chalmers church, being done, if anything, is inquired as to what, if anything, is being done in connection with the reorganization of the work in the continuing Presbytery church to carry on the activities amongst the young people of the church.

Mr. MacKay, while being unable to give out anything to the public at the present time, intimated that "nothing is being done, except to give the young people's work, in common with all other departments, is being taken care of."

"For good and valid reasons," remarked Mr. MacKay, "we cannot divulge our plans yet, but I believe that the biggest surprise for the unionists is yet to come."

A. S. Miller, treasurer of the association, reported that he had on hand the sum of $67 for the purpose of aiding crippled non-concurring congregations.

Text of Protest.

The full text of the protest and declaration of independence of the Presbytery of London, and to which Donald MacAlpine, New St. James' church, and Chas. Pirie, Hamilton road church, have already attached their signatures is as follows: "We, the undersigned ministers and elders, members of the Presbytery of London, do hereby record our protest against and dissent from the action of the majority of our brethren in this court in consenting to the merging of the said Presbytery in the Presbytery of which we cannot in conscience approve."

"We do further protest that it shall be our duty and our duty to us to continue to exercise our ministry as office bearers of the Presbytery of the Word of God in Canada, according to the principles and constitution of the said church as it is no such action had been taken."

"And we hereby proclaim it to be our intention to meet together with all other members of this court who shall adhere to us for the purpose of continuing the Presbytery of London as a court of the Presbytery in Canada."

SARNIA OLD BOYS HERE PLAN FOR BIG REUNION

Londoners, formerly residents of Sarnia, have organized in order to form a strong delegation to the Sarnia old home week, being staged July 13-25.

F. G. Parsons, chairman of the newly-formed organization, has called a meeting to further the local plans for the event, which will be held at the Tecumseh House tonight at 8:15 p.m.

Ex-Mayor Geo. A. C. Andrews of Sarnia is expected to be present at the meeting and outline to those present something of the plans for the big event in the Tunnah City.

The executive of which Dr. C. M. Carruthers is the secretary-treasurer, is counting on a large turnout of former Sarnians tonight in order that plans may be well and truly laid for the event.

New York Bankers Manifest Keen Interest in Proposed Note Issue.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, April 20.—Keen interest was manifested in financial circles here today by the announcement of the province of Ontario that it would receive bids for $20,000,000 3½ per cent treasury notes, maturing half next year and half the year following. Several New York banks are expected to put in bids on April 22, on account of the present easy money rates here.

The Evening Post expresses the opinion that if the securities are purchased by New York bankers, the low coupon rates will prevent retail distribution, and in that event the bonds will probably be held by the bankers for investment.

Another bond offering today which aroused interest was the proposed Manitoba loan, calling for bids on April 22.

Tenders were asked on: 1. $3,000,000 2-year 4½s, due May 1, 1927; and 2. approximately $2,500,000 4½s, due May 1, 1927, or approximately $2,500,000 20-year 4½s.

PLANS FOR LAYING OF CORNER-STONE

St. Thomas Board of Education Discusses Details and Sets Date.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, April 20.—At the regular meeting of the board of education this evening it was decided to lay the cornerstone for the new vocational high school on the morning of May 26, which will be observed in place of May 24, as a holiday, and that Premier Ferguson and the minister of education be asked to conduct the ceremony.

Hill Bros. of Hamilton have been awarded the contract for the laying and plastering of the new school at a figure of $14,340.

Two More Teachers.

Dr. Voorden, principal of the collegiate institute is planning the management and organization of the vocational high school, and was empowered to purchase two additional teachers. These teachers will commence their duties in September, when by means of turning the laborers into classrooms and working along a rotary system, the increase in attendance will be cared for. Dr. Voorden explained that when the new school is completed, early in 1926, the curriculum will afford eight different courses in place of the present three or four.

Public School Inspector J. A. Taylor, in his report, asked the board to keep in mind May 22, when they will be asked to take part in the dedication ceremonies at Balalava, street school, when the memorial tablet to the students of the school who served in the great war will be unveiled.

He reported an increase in attendance of 35 pupils since the close of the Easter holidays, and asked that the board sanction the employing of two additional teachers for Scott and Balalava, kindergarten and primary classes. An increase of 35 pupils was registered at Balalava street, with similar increases reported from Scott and Myrtle.

Study Fire Escapes.

As a result of a deputation from the Kiwanis club re fire escapes in the city schools, the board decided to visit the Brantford public schools on Wednesday, April 22, to see the Sprip fire escape in use.

A deputation of residents from the Balalava street school district asked that a light be installed on the school ground in an effort to stop alleged night disorder between 9 and 10 o'clock.

One of the deputation complained that the swarming and loud language was, to say the least, depressing, while another asserted that in the morning he had found some children in front of the Tivoli Theatre this evening, between 8 and 10:30.

Rural Mail Carriers Demand Living Wage:: French Cabinet Calls For Economy

CARRIERS TO FIGHT FOR WAGE REFORM

Garfield Mackinnon Will Place Problem Before Government at Ottawa.

Equality with other branches of the postal service, inauguration of a salary system which will insure a living wage, amelioration of working conditions, and other reforms, long demanded by the Canadian Rural Mail Carriers' association, will again be sought in a drive on Ottawa to be climaxed next week, according to Garfield Mackinnon, of Guelph, secretary of the association, who was in London for a few hours yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Mackinnon was en route to St. Thomas to complete arrangements with President J. A. Vanden for the placing of the men's demands before the government.

Centre of Grievance.
The system whereby tenders are called to fill a vacancy has been the center of much dissatisfaction for years and the elimination of this plan will be urged by the deputation. The primitive method of selling a government job to the lowest bidder has caused much hardship, and the carriers demand that the government should be allowed to select the man best qualified for the job, and that the carriers should be paid for the service rendered, and it is only fair that the mail carriers should enjoy the stabilization which this system allows.

Abolish Contracts.
The association asks that all contracts now existing with rural mail carriers be abolished, and that fixed salaries be inaugurated without delay after a bill to that effect has been passed.

The men also feel that they are entitled to a bonus to reimburse them for the personal losses they claim to have suffered through the houses of the contract system. Other branches of the service have received bonuses from 1914, but the carriers would be willing to leave the bonuses paid from 1915 to the present time. The average rate per mile in Canada is $10, according to the secretary, who contends that it is shameful and inequitable. A standard rate of $70 per mile is asked. The rate paid in the major portion of the United States is $75 a mile.

HUSBAND'S TRIAL OPENS FOR MURDER OF WIFE

Duncan Gammon Spent Five Days With Half-Brother, According to Evidence.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Halifax, April 21.—Duncan Gammon of Pictou, charged with the murder of his wife, Sarah Anne Gammon, his English war bride, somewhere between Pictou and Truro, on or about Sept. 9 last, was a visitor at the home of his half-brother, Elijah Gammon, Scotch Hill, Pictou county, from Sept. 4 to Sept. 9, according to evidence given by Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Gammon at the preliminary hearing which opened in the police court yesterday.

In a statement made public to the Halifax police, the witness, it is alleged, stated he had left Nova Scotia on the evening of Sept. 3 and motored to Quebec with his wife and two young children, left his wife at Quebec with money to buy her transportation to her home in England, and returned to Nova Scotia with the children on Sept. 10.

OFFER OF LIONS CLUB PRAISED
Acting Mayor and Others Unable to State If Balance of Funds Available.

Offer of the Lions' club to finance half of the cost of a new $15,000 bandstand in Victoria park met with favorable comment from members of the council today, though there is no prospect of the city finding the other half of the cost in the public funds of this year.

"I don't know where the money can be found," pointed out Ald. Thomas Cliff, acting mayor, in talking to The Advertiser today. "I'd like to see the finished stand in use this year but we have no funds to use to help the Lions."

However, it is likely that a compromise agreement will be made with the Lions and the parks commission. By this agreement the Lions would construct part of the bandstand, leaving wings and basement unfinished until finances are secured by the 1926 council. The mayor and Ald. Frank McKay, chairman of the finance committee, favor this move and have given their consent that everything will be possible to have sufficient funds forthcoming next year to finish the structure.

From four competitive plans submitted, that of L. G. Bridgman had been accepted by a joint committee. The proposed structure is laid out according to latest ideas on acoustics. It is built with a spacious concrete sounding board that would carry music for the greatest possible distance.

Orgy of Carelessness in Business Also Result, State London Lawyers.

BRUTAL ASSAULTS

Force Resorted To With Any Resistance To Petty Thieving.

Police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon agrees with Judge Castineau that human life is now held much cheaper than in the days before the war. Judge Castineau, in court at Ottawa, said yesterday that from his observations human life was not one-fourth as valuable now as in pre-war days. He also said that as a direct consequence property was cheapened.

The magistrate does not agree on the question of property, but does as far as life is concerned. "You couldn't expect anything else," he said, "after the training of the war years. It was only to be expected that human life was held as cheap as a feather and as sacred as a relic. When you have whole nations carefully coached in killing and inflicting wounds for four years you can't expect all that intensive training to leave no effect."

Judge Is Right.
What Judge Castineau says is, I rather understate the case. Where there are ordinary crimes today as stealing and pilfering there is usually a violent assault as well when there is any resistance. The men engaged in this do not hesitate in bodily violence, and crimes of violence have greatly increased since the war."

Other lawyers and men in close contact with the workings of the law courts in the city and county agreed with this. They complained not only of crimes of violence, but also of a multitude of petty suits to recover things lost during the war years that were not necessities.

Orgy of Carelessness.
Said one of these: "During the war there was an orgy of carelessness that applied to the men but there was a general and international orgy of carelessness. Nothing was regarded as sacred and things were bought to which the people by their financial standing were not entitled. Many of them were not paid for and they were not paid for the things they recovered these luxuries. The war is undoubtedly responsible for a general increase in all kinds of crime. When will it cease? That I cannot say. Until the generation that was overseas dies perhaps, or it may never cease. I do not know."

UNION WILL BATTLE TO RETAIN 48-HR. WEEK

Drastic Economies in Operating Costs Contemplated by British Line.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, April 21.—Following the announcement made a few days ago by the Great Western Railway Company that it was reducing its staff because of a falling off in the revenue of the railroad, it is now understood that the London and Northeastern Railway Company has ordered drastic economies in the working costs of the line.

It is said that if the cut in the operating expenses of the London and Northeastern Railway does not work out satisfactorily, the company will seriously consider the question of reducing the existing salaries of the officials and the wages of the employees generally.

It seems probable that the English railway companies have become alarmed at the fact that nearly all of them are now enabled to pay dividends solely by the sale of millions of pounds from their reserve funds and that they are determined to make a stand for lower working costs.

The Great Western Railway Company proposes to suspend its guarantee of a 48-hour week to its employees, but uncompromising opposition is presented by the secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, C. T. Cramp. He says the railwaymen's union has spent thousands of pounds in establishing the principle of a 48-hour week and if this is abandoned, the railway workers would get it back.

U. S. WANTS SAME TERMS AS ACCORDED BRITAIN

Canadian Press Despatch.
Washington, April 21.—Coinciding with the announcement that "one of the smaller debtors" had begun conversations looking to a war debt funding settlement, the view was expressed at the treasury that if France undertakes further negotiations with Great Britain she should also discuss settlement terms with the United States.

While it was made plain that this government has no intention of advising France formally as to its attitude, that it should receive consideration equal to that accorded the other creditor nations by France, the view was expressed with the knowledge that the information would be carried to European statesmen through the press.

MANY APPLICATIONS IN SOFIA OUTRAGE

Search For Leading Communists Continues—Leader Is Slain.

Associated Press Despatch.
Sofia, Bulgaria, April 20.—Sofia remains surrounded by a strong cord of soldiers and police, and efforts to track down the ringleaders of the conspiracy involving the killing of one hundred and sixty persons in the Sveti Krul cathedral Thursday in an attempt to overthrow the government, are being vigorously carried on.

With the death of Captain Ninkoff, a former officer in the engineers' corps, and a sub-chief of the Sofia communist central executive committee, perhaps the leader of the plot has perished, but Captain Yanoff and several other confederates are still at large. The police have upon Ninkoff today and when he resisted, shot and killed him.

The plot had long been premeditated. Accomplished in the shape of a young student and a carter were secured by bribery. It was the student, the police say, who climbed to the roof of the cathedral a quarter of an hour before the services at the funeral of the murdered General Georgeff, and lit the time fuse of the 50-pound bomb, which carried out the destruction of those gathered below, government officials, high military officers and women and children.

Other accomplices were waiting near the cathedral ready to take advantage of the confusion, which included further assassinations and outrages. Indeed the Communists appear to have secured the services of army officers and state employees, all of whom had been promised lucrative posts in the new government. Many of these men have been arrested, but as the authorities admit, it is impossible always to know who is infected and who is not.

VICTORIA PARK ADORNS SELF IN SUMMER DRESS
Commission Permanently Blocks Roads at Four Corners With Posts.

Victoria park is gradually taking on its beautiful summer dress. The public utilities commission has had the water turned on in the lily pond and also in the large ornamental fountain in the south corner of the park.

Paved beds have been set out, the wire netting at the back of the tarvin tennis court put in shape, the lawns raked and everything put in good order for the park to look its best. The commission has had the four corner driveways to the park permanently blocked by the erection of a row of 16 posts across each entrance, replacing the large wooden horses which were temporarily placed there about the middle of last summer.

INGE SAYS PREACHERS LOOKING FOR APPLAUSE

Noted English Divine Believes New Testament Designed For Individual.

Associated Press Despatch.
New Haven, Conn., April 21.—Very Rev. William Ralph Inge of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, yesterday afternoon delivered the first of his series of Lyman Beecher lectures on preaching at the sixteenth annual convocation of the Yale divinity school here.

The expectations that the English scholar would touch on the tendencies of modern preaching were not disappointed, for Dean Inge criticized what he characterized as the desire on the part of many clergymen for applause. Except for this part of the lecture and several references to C. T. Cramp, the modern problems concerning which he declared "we cannot find in the new Testament any detailed guidance for the problems of modern civilization, we can only find general principles which we have to apply as best we can." Dean Inge confined himself to a scholarly array of material taken from the Gospel to show the growth of the art of preaching.

Dean Inge spoke of the new Testament as something that was designed more for the individual than for the masses. Pointing out passages that stressed the love for liberty, equality and fraternity, Dean Inge said that the English today have liberty, the French have equality and the United States has the greatest of the three—fraternity.

of New Brunswick, was the first minister of health in the world—a live fact for folks who suppose that the maritime provinces are too slow for anything but sails, and who forget that the first street car line in the world was run in Yarmouth, Nova Scotia's outlook towards Boston. Dr. Roberts entered the legislature in 1917. Premier Foster made him minister of health in 1918, while still the war was waged.

The present situation with regard to church union is bound to assume a prominent place in the discussions of the synod. In this connection the synod will appoint a moderator and committees to continue the work of the court during the coming year, which will be a transition period, until the general council of the United church has an opportunity to rearrange the boundaries of the synods, conferences, presbyteries, districts, etc. It is quite possible also that the anti-unionist Presbyterians of the district will withdraw from the synod, and form what will become the first synod of the continuing Presbyterian church.

Consideration of reports will occupy the attention of the synod throughout its sittings, which will extend until Wednesday noon. The reports will be made by Rev. J. R. P. Sclater, D.D., pastor of Old St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Toronto.

EMPHASIZES DANGER TO WOOD INDUSTRIES
Director of Forestry Declares Public Opinion Alone Can Save Trees.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Windsor, April 21.—E. H. Finlayson, Ottawa, director of forestry, who is here to arrange with Col. Herbert I. Stevenson, district forest inspector, for the observance of "save the forests week," last night issued a statement in which he declared the forests of Canada can only be saved by development in public opinion. Mr. Finlayson pointed out that during 1923 throughout Canada, nearly 3,000,000 acres of forest land were burned, and that in the same year 3,000,000 acres of young growth had been destroyed. This year, he said, was a disastrous one, but even worse figures show that forest fires annually destroy 1,500,000 acres of young forests.

"The director of forests declared: 'We have as a nation been deluded as to the extent of our forest supplies. We have neglected our responsibilities in not according proper treatment to growing timber. We have also entirely neglected the fact that the forest is a productive organism capable of sustaining us with wood supplies in perpetuity. In the forested provinces the situation is critical, especially in the maritimes, where the annual use greatly exceeds the growth. In the prairie provinces the losses are appalling. In the west, where constructive steps in forest conservation are taken, the industries dependent on wood will, in the near future, be faced with the necessity of curtailing production.'

Edmonton Fears After Landslip

Associated Press Despatch.
Edmonton, Alta., April 21.—That twenty miles of city streets and lanes are liable to damage through undermining by coal operators is the report of City Engineer Hadd, following a "landslip" in the paving of the scenic river road.

Middlesex hotel keepers are not saying much about the new 4.4 beer until they know definitely what the restrictions will be, License Inspector Walter Bolton stated this morning.

There are 19 hotels in the county and 14 in the city that carry standard licenses, he states.

Bootlegging activities in the county are practically at a standstill. So many members of the franchise department have been secured to cover and the police have been occupied chiefly with rounding up the rubbing alcohol experts.

FEARS BRITAIN WILL LACK MEN TO CARRY ON JOBS

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, April 21.—The fear that when Great Britain regains her industrial stability she will lack men to carry on the jobs because "our best skilled laborers are being sent to the British dominions" was expressed by Robert Topping, member of the former British labor ministry, on his arrival here yesterday.

Ramsay MacDonald's former lieutenant believed that little amelioration of the unemployed situation in Britain can be expected for several years.

SYNOD WILL MEET HERE ON MONDAY

Presbyterians of London and Hamilton To Gather—Antis May Withdraw.

What promises to be a most interesting meeting of the Presbyterian synod of Hamilton and London will open on Monday night next in First Presbyterian church.

Rev. Robert Martin, D.D., Stratford, the moderator, will preside at the opening meeting, the feature of which will be an address by Rev. J. R. P. Sclater, D.D., pastor of Old St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Toronto.

The present situation with regard to church union is bound to assume a prominent place in the discussions of the synod. In this connection the synod will appoint a moderator and committees to continue the work of the court during the coming year, which will be a transition period, until the general council of the United church has an opportunity to rearrange the boundaries of the synods, conferences, presbyteries, districts, etc. It is quite possible also that the anti-unionist Presbyterians of the district will withdraw from the synod, and form what will become the first synod of the continuing Presbyterian church.

Consideration of reports will occupy the attention of the synod throughout its sittings, which will extend until Wednesday noon. The reports will be made by Rev. J. R. P. Sclater, D.D., pastor of Old St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Toronto.

EMPHASIZES DANGER TO WOOD INDUSTRIES
Director of Forestry Declares Public Opinion Alone Can Save Trees.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Windsor, April 21.—E. H. Finlayson, Ottawa, director of forestry, who is here to arrange with Col. Herbert I. Stevenson, district forest inspector, for the observance of "save the forests week," last night issued a statement in which he declared the forests of Canada can only be saved by development in public opinion. Mr. Finlayson pointed out that during 1923 throughout Canada, nearly 3,000,000 acres of forest land were burned, and that in the same year 3,000,000 acres of young growth had been destroyed. This year, he said, was a disastrous one, but even worse figures show that forest fires annually destroy 1,500,000 acres of young forests.

"The director of forests declared: 'We have as a nation been deluded as to the extent of our forest supplies. We have neglected our responsibilities in not according proper treatment to growing timber. We have also entirely neglected the fact that the forest is a productive organism capable of sustaining us with wood supplies in perpetuity. In the forested provinces the situation is critical, especially in the maritimes, where the annual use greatly exceeds the growth. In the prairie provinces the losses are appalling. In the west, where constructive steps in forest conservation are taken, the industries dependent on wood will, in the near future, be faced with the necessity of curtailing production.'

COUNTY BOOTLEGGING NOW AT STANDSTILL

Many Captures Made Recently—Hotels Await Restrictions on 4.4 Beer.

Middlesex hotel keepers are not saying much about the new 4.4 beer until they know definitely what the restrictions will be, License Inspector Walter Bolton stated this morning.

There are 19 hotels in the county and 14 in the city that carry standard licenses, he states.

Bootlegging activities in the county are practically at a standstill. So many members of the franchise department have been secured to cover and the police have been occupied chiefly with rounding up the rubbing alcohol experts.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Spencerville, Ont., April 21.—Fire, which for a time threatened the destruction of this village, and which was brought under control only after strenuous efforts on the part of the entire populace, caused damage estimated at about $25,000 yesterday morning, and resulted in slight injuries to James Baker and Charles Newman, local residents, who were caught beneath a falling veranda. Their condition is not serious.

UTILITIES READY TO MEET MAYOR
Members Prepared To Discuss New Water Service Charge.

While in no way recognizing the right of the council to interfere in the matter, the public utilities commission is ready to discuss with the mayor, as the representative of the council, the water service charge recently fixed by the commission.

Chairman Jared Vining stated this morning that, despite the protests which have been made, the commission still retains the confidence of the majority of the public. In the face of the fact that the commission supplies water to all consumers at cost the rate for the water service charge, "the inherent objection to a service charge," since, if the service charge should be eliminated, it would mean a rate increase in the rates as above 12 cents per 100 cubic feet at present in force.

Done Wise Thing.
In the opinion of Commissioner T. W. McFarland, the council has done the wise thing in not attempting to bring the railway board into the question. At the same time Mr. McFarland believes that the council should question further explanations of the service charge the council might well permit the commission to test out the council's action in having the rail on the conclusion of which the rates could again be readjusted if it is found necessary.

Cailloux Undisturbed.
The government said it would go slowly and carefully in applying the French laws to Alsace and Lorraine. "It is added, 'cannot be pursued except with the best of counsel, in full respect for acquired rights and the greatest care for general understanding and for national unity.'

Cailloux, who was the storm center of the tumult in the chamber, said the government bench, not looking to the right or to the left, and never acknowledging by a single motion either the cries of hatred from the right or the applause of government supporters.

CHOIR TO PRESENT MUSICAL COMEDY

Players of Empress Avenue Church Will Give "The Bells of Corneville."

Another clever entertainment is to be presented in London this week, when the choir of the Empress Avenue Methodist church give the delightful three-act musical comedy, "The Bells of Corneville." This charming production will be given in the auditorium of the Empress Avenue school on Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

The play is exceptional. It is a big undertaking, but rumor says it is progressing splendidly. The scenery is to be particularly appropriate, and the first scene of act 1 shows the seashore, and here the story will begin, with all the choir on the stage.

At one time it was the custom in northern France for all servants to go to the fair each year, where all their masters also gathered and hired them for the coming year. The opening scene will depict the servants leaving for the fair, and as the story develops, it is discovered that Germaine, by refusing to marry the bailiff, makes her uncle furious, and she hires herself as a servant, Grensieux, who is also on the uncle's bad books, hires himself, too.

Henri, who has been away for 20 years, comes to the market-place to look for servants for the new chateau he is opening. It is also learned about this time that Gaspard, the uncle, is in charge of Henri's estate, but that he has been a very poor manager, and things are pretty well upset. Then comes a scene in the chateau, and it is here that the Duke de Luremay is mentioned. Now the marquis had gotten into trouble and had left France many years before, leaving his infant daughter in the care of Gaspard. Serpentine claims to be the daughter. Then come many difficulties and climaxes, before the final curtain drops.

There is a splendid cast, with 45 voices singing the catchy choruses. There is also a number of leading roles. Germaine is played by Mrs. S. Orth; Serpentine, the uncle's servant, by Miss Eva Metcalf; Henri, the Marquis of Corneville, Arthur Rossier; Grensieux, a fisherman, J. F. Chapman; Gaspard, Charles Robinson; the bailiff, Leslie Lucas, and the notary, Jack Smeltzer. There are also six peasants, who always appear with Serpentine.

Berta Smeltzer will assist at the piano during the entire performance. This excellent comedy will be presented in the Ridout street Methodist church on May 2, and on May 15 the choir will take their production to the Byron sanatorium. Announcements have also been made that the players have other engagements as well.

DRAMA LEAGUE IS TO PRESENT PLAY

Will Give "The Chateau of the Glen" by Synge On Tuesday Next.

The Drama League production committee has another offering for its members on Tuesday night next, when a dramatic little one-act play from the clever pen of the Irish dramatist, Synge, will be presented at the Central collegiate institute. The play is called "The Chateau of the Glen," and will feature in its cast Mrs. Arthur Bracken, Basil Morgan, Cyril Hayes and George McCormick. This is the first short play to be presented this season and will form part of a program which will include several musical numbers. May 11 is the date which has been set for the big public production, "Belinda," at the A. A. M. three-act comedy to be presented under the direction of Sidney F. Sims. Mrs. Bracken is to play the title role, and is supported by an excellent cast.

PILATE'S DAUGHTER.

The St. Martin's Dramatic club will repeat the play, "Pilate's Daughter," on Wednesday evening, April 22, for the entertainment of the staff and students of the normal school.

Try This and See Your Wrinkles Melt Away!

Here, indeed, is something startlingly new, different, and wonderful—something to banish wrinkles, age lines and flabbiness from your face in less than fifteen minutes! You merely mix a spoonful of powdered tartaric acid with a spoonful of lemon juice, smooth this soothing, cream mixture over your face—then sit down before your mirror and watch your countenance "grow young." Lines, furrows, sag, actually disappear while you look! Most marvelous transformation you have ever beheld.

There's no cosmetic, no make-up, that could give such an appearance of natural rejuvenation. You wash off the solution and find your skin velvety soft and smooth, with a beautiful girlish blush. Tartaric acid is so harmless you could eat it if you cared to. If you'll procure an original package from the druggist and follow the simple instructions, you most certainly will be amazed and delighted with the result. It costs less than 2 cents per treatment.—Adv.

RETAINS HER BEAUTY DESPITE AGE.

Despite the fact that she will be eighty-one years old on the first of December, the queen-mother retains the beauty and quiet dignity of her younger days to an extraordinary degree, as testified from this reproduction of her latest photograph. British Exchange Teachers Held Up by American Roads

Set Out From London To See Beauties of Atlantic City at Easter.

NOT HOME YET

Two public school teachers from London and one from St. Thomas set out to see the beauties of New York and Atlantic City during the Easter vacation. Miss Sargent of St. Thomas and Miss Letch of Ryerson school, London, are the two British exchange teachers who came to this district about a year ago, and since then they have made the best of their opportunities to see all there is to see.

At the Christmas vacation they were in Algonquin Park, indulging in the winter sports there. At every opportunity they see something more of Canada, and on this occasion, accompanied by Miss Porteous of the Rectory school, they undertook a motor trip to New York for Easter, leaving here at daybreak on Good Friday, expecting to return to London for the opening of school on Monday morning.

Apparently they reckoned without the roads or the weather, or perhaps a combination of both. A wire was received from Miss Letch on Monday afternoon, stating that they were held up at Ver-non, N. Y., and were preparing to head for London as soon as possible. They had not returned when school opened this morning, but the supposition is that the three pedagogues are stepping on the gas in the direction of the old home town.

bench was placed. It was also of interest that the archdeacon officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents over twenty-five years ago. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in her graceful wedding gown of white satin-faced crepe, with its pleated frill and pearl trimmings, wearing the conventional veil and orange blossoms, and carrying a shower bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. Miss Freida Nobbs was her sister's bridesmaid, wearing a lovely gown of pea green georgette over gold cloth, with flowers adorning her hair. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas. Little Miss Jean Nobbs, the young sister of the bride, made a winsome flower girl in her dainty peach-colored frock, with a wreath of flowers in her hair, and carrying a colonial bouquet. Rev. Brant Thomas, B.A., of Owen Sound, attended the groom.

The wedding music was played by Miss Grace Willmot, pianist, and E. Willmot, violinist. During the signing of the register, Mr. Willmot and Miss Willmot also played beautifully. Following the ceremony a reception was held, when the bride and groom were assisted in receiving the many guests by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nobbs and Mr. and Mrs. Churchill. At this time a dainty buffet luncheon was also served.

Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Churchill left on their honeymoon for points east, the bride traveling in a smart sand ensemble with small hat and shoes to match. On their return they will reside on Indian road, Toronto.

There were many out-of-town guests at the wedding, and Mr. and Mrs. Churchill were the recipients of many lovely gifts.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe, and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads; that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxide powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxide powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.—Adv.

LIFE'S GRIM TASK EASED BY NURSERY

Child Made Happy While Mother Struggles to Hold Home Together.

For six years the London Day Nursery has played a vital part in the life of London. For six years, day in and day out, London mothers have taken their little tots to the nursery for safe keeping and a mother's care while they go out to earn their daily bread. Mothers, whose husbands have been stricken down with the ravages of sickness; mothers who have found their lot such that they must go out into the world to earn sufficient to keep body and soul together. These mothers have been enabled to with the comforting knowledge that their babies, at the London day nursery, were safe and sound, happy and contented, in the care of specially-trained nurses. And so for six years the London day nursery has helped London in its advancement, and by enabling mothers to attend work, have saved the city thousands of dollars in relief, even if the human side of this great work were overlooked.

Filling Great Place.

The London day nursery has been tried out and has been found to be filling a great place in the life of the city. In the past year no less than 98 children were given the gentle care of the nurses, with an average of 23 children daily. Sixty-one working mothers, during the year placed their children in the nursery to be cared for while they went to their work. In the past winter no possibly never before, has the value of the nursery been realized in the city. With much unemployment the care of the nursery was in constant demand, a demand which was fulfilled gratis and, even greater than this, children were clothed and fed in the only too many cases where the mothers were unable to keep their homes up on the scarce wages earned, and when both mother and father were without work. Further than that was the scope of the nursery. Through assistance of the women's institutes and city butchers large baskets of food were given to the needy.

Three-Fold Service.

The London day nursery is doing a three-fold service. It gives the kindest of care to the children, and in doing so makes happier and more contented mothers at work, while the employers are getting better service through this contentment. Often the children are brought to the nursery by fathers whose wives are ill, and who cannot afford to stay away from their work. Here again the service is three-fold.

Such an institution is an integral part of the life of London. Such an institution is worthy of the strongest support, and this support must be given if the nursery is to continue a noble and great work. Next week Londoners will have the opportunity of thanking the officials of the nursery for their service in the past, and at the same time, guaranteeing the continuance of this service, for next week the Welfare fund campaign will be in full swing, and this fund must go "over the top." The day nursery is depending on the generosity of London citizens; the Protestant Orphan's home depends on it; the Children's aid society depends on it; the Child welfare association depends on it; ten other great welfare institutions of the city depend on it. Are these to be denied? Can Londoners ignore the call of the child, the call of humanity?

TWO-DOLLAR GAMBLE MAY BRING FORTUNE

Native of Holland, Bankrupt in Germany, Sought Wealth Here.

Who wants a chance at a fortune. Who wants to gamble on a million German marks for two dollars? If you do then J. Van Ryswyk will be glad to accommodate you.

On July 1 last year Mr. Van Ryswyk left his native Holland to seek work and a future in Canada. His business which was in the confectionery line was all in German export trade and that is how he came to be broke and collected his handful of marks. In payments for his goods he received about two and a half million marks which were hardly worth the paper they were printed on. He was broke and the golden west looked good.

He has been living in London since he first arrived and still has the million marks. But that doesn't buy food here any more than in Holland and he is today as he has been since last November, out of work. A salesman by trade, he finds no opportunity in London for his energies. He has tried every factory and office in the city without avail.

"There are a hundred people out of work in Holland today," he says, "but it is better to be out of work at home than in a foreign country."

"There will be nothing doing in a business way in Europe," he says, "until Germany is back at her old industrial strength. France is doing nothing and the rest of Europe is the same. Until Germany gets going again there will only be increased unemployment in Europe. If I could only get something here I would never think for a moment of going back."

LOCAL S. A. OFFICERS PREACH AT OUTSIDE CORPS

Commandant Ford, financial secretary addressed a public meeting at St. Thomas on behalf of the Self-Denial campaign. Lieut. Dickson was in Norwich. Captain Hawkes remained in London attending the Clarence street meetings.

LAST TRIBUTE PAID ALEC MOUNTAIN

Funeral of Well-Known Perth County Resident Held at Avonbank.

The funeral of Alec Mountain, widely known and deeply respected resident of Perth county, who died suddenly at the home of his brother, Joseph Mountain, Downie township, Perth, on Friday last, was held yesterday at the Avonbank cemetery. Friends from far and near paid tribute to one of the most popular farmers of the district, and relatives were present from Mount Forest, Cheltenham, London, Palmerston and Moorefield. The services were conducted by Rev. N. M. Leckie, of the Avonbank church. The pallbearers were his brothers, Joseph, John and Alfred, and William D. Dolson, William Mountain and W. Kirkwood.

The late Mr. Mountain, who was fifty years of age and had spent all his life on the family homestead in the Downs, appeared in the best of health on Friday morning. After dinner he was stricken with indigestion, but rallied in a short time, and it was not thought that he was in any danger. Later, on arriving at the home of his brother Joseph, he collapsed, and within ten minutes he was extinct.

His two brothers arrived a few minutes later from St. Marys with a doctor, but death had come already. Mr. Mountain was a staunch member of Avonbank church, and had taken an active part in promoting the interests of agriculture in the county.

S. A. PLEA MEETS READY RESPONSE

Grand Army of Workers Promised Thousands of Dollars in District.

The grand army of Salvation Army workers under the direction of Commandant H. A. Hurd, financial secretary for London division, has laid siege to the cities and towns of Western Ontario.

The army self-denial campaign has started. In fact it has been won. So great is the power of the army that its officers receive offerings almost before they are asked for.

For some weeks Commandant Hurd has been going from place to place meeting the Rotarians, Lions, and county councils. Almost without exception the people have showed a ready response to help the army carry on for another year.

The army officers have spoken in churches, theatres and city halls of the needs of the army in the next few months. They have been promised thousands of dollars and they will need it all to take care of rescue homes, to finance hospital work, to look after extreme cases.

Commandant Hurd, of the headquarters staff here, has spoken to many large and enthusiastic audiences in Western Ontario within the last month. He has been able to give his own personal experiences to give a true representation of the army work in the lower strata of society that he was seeking to help.

He makes no secret of the fact that he was a scoundrel when he was a sailor. It was at that time, as he terms it, "a scoundrel's trade of the Atlantic off Newfoundland and Maine." He was converted and helped by the army. Many of his own personal experiences go into his talks on the financial needs of the army.

City Churches

ASKIN STREET LEAGUE. The weekly meeting of the Askin street league was held last night when the members were favored with lantern slides of a coast to coast trip. E. Ruse of the city, put on the scene. Mrs. Pearson explained the slides. Mrs. Pearson occupied the chair, and during the evening Miss Minnie Dobson gave an excellent reading.

HALE STREET LEAGUE. The regular meeting of the young people's league of the Hale street Methodist church was held last night. When the annual election of officers was held. The new officers are: President, Will Bedgood, who was re-elected; Christian fellowship vice-president, Miss Eunice Beattie; mission vice-president, Will Wainwright; Christian citizenship vice-president, Harold Revely; literary secretary, Miss Marion Beattie; secretary, Clarence Weeks, who was unanimously elected; assistant secretary, Gordon Lang; treasurer, Olive Poole; pianist, Miss Hilda Revely, and press secretary, Miss Mary Bosse.

MAITLAND STREET B. Y. P. U. The members of the Maitland street Baptist church held their regular meeting last night and were greatly favored in being able to secure Mr. and Mrs. Lacey of the Colored People's church, now visiting London, who contributed four charming numbers to the evening's program. Rev. Frank Lacey was in charge, and the topic was on "The Worship of My Church" taken by Mrs. James Gibson and Norman Harris.

RIDOUT STREET LEAGUE. The members of the young people's league of the Ridout street Methodist church held a social evening last night. Miss Winnie Barnes was in charge, and the devotional exercises were led by the president, M. Muma, and Carl Matthews read the lesson.

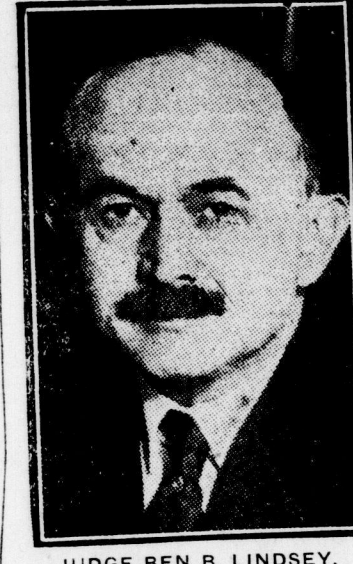

Games, contests and music were then enjoyed by the members, after which a real picnic supper of wieners, rolls and coffee was served. Next week, it was announced, the annual election of officers will be held.

CHALMERS M. B. The regular meeting of the Pilgrim mission band of the Chalmers Presbyterian church was held yesterday afternoon in the small schoolroom. May Duncan, the president, presided, and three hymns, "Jesus Bids Us Shine," "Can a Little Child," and "Tell Me the Stories of Jesus," were repeated in unison as well as five verses of the 103rd Psalm. Two choruses were practiced for the concert being given Saturday afternoon, April 25, when the older girls will sell candy. There is to be a silver collection, and the donations received will be given to missions. All the friends of the children and the ladies of the congregation are cordially invited to attend.

As the meeting of the work, the older girls sewed on quilt patches, while the younger members worked on their commandment cards. The president also read a letter of thanks from Mrs. Duncan and family for the beautiful Easter lily sent to them. Harold Powell acted as pianist for the afternoon. There was an attendance of 30.

TALBOT STREET B. Y. P. U. Miss Pearl Blackwell presided over the regular meeting of the B. Y. P. U. of the Talbot street Baptist church, which was held last night. Miss Eva Holmes read the lesson, after which J. Kells contributed a solo. Rev. W. M. MacDonald, of the Maitland street Baptist church, was the special speaker of the evening, giving a splendid address on "Shall We Convert Our Schools Into Theological Halls?" His talk was much appreciated, and following the topic Mrs. P. Schott sang sweetly.

CHURCH OF CHRIST. Charles F. Dealey conducted last night's meeting of the Christian church, of the church of Christ Disciples, taking the topic on "What Does the Church of Christ Stand For?" The general topic of the evening was "Our Denomination," and the discussion which followed Mr. Dealey's paper was most interesting, and points taken up included the aim of the church, which is to take the Bible as the soul rule of faith and practice; the creed, which only stresses the fact that Jesus Christ is the son of the living God; the church, which is the agency by which the kingdom of God is to be brought in on the earth, and another aim of the church, which is to take the answer the prayer of Christ that they all may be one. Unity is the big thing in the church of Christ, and it

The big "community service contest" started yesterday in London's elementary schools. Today thousands of the children of the city have turned from pupils to "teachers" and are teaching their parents the great lesson of life and the great need of service and welfare as rendered the city by the fourteen great welfare institutions which are appealing to London for their support through the United Welfare fund campaign.

Armed with the impressive information of the activities of these institutions, the pupils of the elementary schools are personifying that great expression, "A little child shall lead them." The tables are today turned, and the children are teaching their elders a lesson that cannot be forgotten.

Yesterday "lesson sheets" outlining that which every citizen of London should know about the fourteen vital community service agencies included in the London Welfare fund, were distributed to the city schools. The demand for the "lesson sheets" was so great that it was necessary to distribute 110 per cent of them to each school. Before the day was out, a further demand was received from some of the schools at the Welfare fund headquarters for additional copies. Even today, the demand for the "lesson sheets" continues to grow.

In the "community service contest," the school child is the "teacher" and the parent or older brother, sister or uncle, aunt or other relative, is the "pupil." To the school which turns in the greatest number of "Welfare knowledge" certificates, in proportion to the enrollment of the schools, is awarded the coveted community service cup.

The children are anxious to win the cup for their school, they are anxious to tell of the great work being done in the city's welfare institutions. It is up to the adult "pupils" to "learn their lessons," and pass the test by giving generously to the Welfare fund and knowing the great good which is being done with the money.

BOY KILLS HIS FATHER AS MOTHER ATTACKED

Harold Braun, Aged 13, of Calgary, Tells Story of Tragedy to Police.

Calgary, Alta., April 21.—Driven half frantic by the heart-breaking cries of his mother who was slowly being beaten to death before his eyes, Harold Braun, aged 13 years, hit his father, Edward Franklin Braun, 41, three times over the head with the high-heeled shoe, killing him almost instantly. The tragedy occurred on the Braun farm, 14 miles west of Didsbury, at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

"He tried to kill mamma, and I killed him instead" was the 13-year-old boy's simple statement to the police when questioned concerning the tragedy. The lad was removed to Didsbury where he was placed in the care of an uncle. He will be formally arrested today on a charge of murder and will be held in the custody of his relatives pending the inquest which will be held at Didsbury on Friday. In the meantime, provincial police and officials of the attorney general's department will decide just how the case will be handled.

SPANK FOR PRANK, IS GRAYDON'S CURE

Would Let Youths See Inside of Court Once in a While.

Recourse of parents to the spanking prerogative would substitute nicely for the summoning of juveniles to police court to explain "teen age pranks," is the comment Magistrate Graydon makes on the breach that has grown between the St. Thomas board of education and police officials over the proper way to handle boys who are mischievously inclined. Chairman A. W. Baines of the St. Thomas board, charges that there exists an unnecessary calling of youths to court, but the London magistrate has not noticed such a condition existing here. Anyway, Magistrate Graydon argues, it does no harm to let a boy see the inside of a court once in a while. Its psychological effect is often so penetrating that it washes away the tendency towards future delinquencies.

The First Step Has Been Taken.

The conference lasting for five days between Premier Armstrong of Nova Scotia, representatives of the British Empire Steel Corporation and its employees has resulted in dismal failure so far as coming to an agreement that would reopen the coal mines. But it has brought forward enough information to cause Premier Armstrong to intimate that it may be necessary to take the people of the province into his confidence and secure legislation forcing a settlement that would guarantee a living wage and decent working conditions for the men in the mines. His answer was a plain, outspoken reply to the taunts of those who have sought to create the impression that the government of Nova Scotia was anxious above all else to curry favor with the steel corporation.

The public can draw its own conclusions about the attitude of the company from two incidents that are reported from the conference. 1. At the conclusion, the remark of R. M. Wolvin, president of the company, addressed to the representative of the miners' organization: "Well, we are going out from this conference prepared to do our dirtiest, and we presume you intend doing the same." It is not possible to make much progress when the head of the company is thinking in that direction. There is nothing in it that shows Mr. Wolvin to be possessed of those qualities of heart and soul so plainly stamped upon men who are qualified to be great industrial leaders. There is nothing in that attitude that would draw from the men with whom he is associated the loyal effort and sincere co-operation that marks the difference between working for a man and working with him.

2. The statement of President R. M. Wolvin to Premier Armstrong that, as a heavy taxpayer in Nova Scotia, he wished to protest against the $20,000 granted for the relief of sickness and destitution in the affected area. Mr. Wolvin did not deny the presence of sickness and destitution; he did not deny that there were children who had not enough to eat and hardly any clothing to wear. These conditions are not matters of theory, but facts established by different investigators who had no other motives than that of establishing the truth. Mr. Wolvin knows or does not know of these conditions—if he does not then he is not a suitable man to hold the high office to which he has been called. If he does know, and still utters his protest against contributing his share to the relief of the victims, it is further proof that he is not possessed of the sympathetic qualities that see in a position of great responsibility an opportunity for entering into the life problems of the men who do the work that makes his position and his ability to pay his taxes possible.

Premier Armstrong has taken his first step; he had definitely and fairly sounded out both sides, and he has enough evidence to warrant him in saying that the people of his province would "go into the trenches and over the top if need be" in the preservation of their liberty. His first step leads to the next, which will be the assertion by legislation that the people, who own the coal areas now leased to the company, constitute the real power with which the company must reckon. If Premier Armstrong is prepared to go through and thoroughly clean up the situation he will have performed a signal service for his province, one that will do more to restore prosperity and good feeling in Nova Scotia than could possibly be achieved through any other endeavor.

Where Law Has a Duty.

A Chicago paper claims there is something very unusual and almost pathetic in the efforts being made by the friends of Russell Scott, condemned for murder in Chicago, to save him from the gallows. It refers to the activities of two young women in holding dances and entertainments in order that enough funds might be secured to carry on the fight for his life.

It is all very spectacular and rather interesting to the outsider, but back of it all there is a reality that cannot be overlooked. Scott has friends who are willing to make every effort to save him; that is natural, and as long as the effort works in a way that does not aim to defeat the ends of justice little fault can be found with it.

There are always two parties to a murder. In this particular case there was Russell Scott and a young man who was working in a drug store, as he had a perfect right to be doing. He was attending to his business when Scott entered the store, and because this young man stood between him and the cash in the premises, Scott deprived him of his life. That clerk had just as much right to live as Scott, yet Scott did not hesitate to take that life away from him.

That drug clerk is gone, and there are no petitions circulated on his behalf; there are no entertainments staged at which people dance and play in order to raise funds on his behalf. The reason is very plain—he is gone and nothing can be done for him. He was not even given a chance to state his case or to show why sympathy and leniency should have been extended to him.

It is here that law and justice come in. It is their duty to take up the case of the man who was murdered; to speak in his place, and to take such action as will thunder out the basic principle that the protection of life is the prime duty of the state, and to make it known that murder is so hideous a thing that it requires the life of the murderer.

There is always that tendency to centralize on the case of the murderer and to strive for his release, forgetting the other party to the crime, who is not able to speak for himself because he is dead. It is the sacred duty of law to be the spokesman for that absent witness.

Colored People and Lynchings.

For thirty years prior to 1919 the average number of lynchings per annum in United States was 107. For the five years ending 1924 the figures were:

1920 65 1923 28
1921 64 1924 16
1922 61

The reason for the decrease is found in the fact that the colored people have set about definitely on the task of doing something for themselves instead of allowing the matter to drift or keep on making individual appeals for the same sort of justice that was measured out to the whites. The colored people are working through their own National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and their methods are commendable.

They seek to impress upon the colored people of any community that they themselves must be beyond reproach, and that from that ground they can apply to the courts and all the machinery of justice for consideration of their grievances. The annual report of the association deals with a number of cases where, by having competent legal advice in court, death sentences have been averted.

The temper of the southern mob when its fury is turned against a colored person is shown by a case reviewed which happened in Nashville on December 16. Sam Smith, 15 years old, shot and wounded a white grocer, and was himself wounded in the affair. He was taken to the hospital and was so fastened that he could not escape. A mob raided the hospital, carried Smith to the outskirts of the city, strung him to a tree and riddled his body with bullets. The grocer whom he shot afterward recovered.

There were seven such cases during the year where negro prisoners were taken from the hands of the law and lynched, and in three instances, instead of the usual lynching, the victim was dragged along the streets of the negro sections of the community, tied to an auto, until life was extinct.

The negroes deserve encouragement for having taken their own case in their own hands. The reduction in lynchings from sixty-five in 1920 to sixteen in 1924 is proof that their association is accomplishing its purpose.

We agree with the suggestion that the press and speakers generally have made enough jokes and puns about 44 beer to last the rest of the season.

The Port Huron Times-Herald contained the following advertisement: "Wanted—Board and room for man and wife. Must be clean and respectable for about two months."

Montreal thieves stole a three-ton boiler and sold it to a second-hand dealer. The theft was fortunately discovered before they had a chance to come back and take the factory.

Glossom Week is being boomed as a great time in the Niagara peninsula, and in this way those who serve coffee and sinkers and rent straw beds for the night expect to take off the first crop of the season.

Windsor delegates who looked over Toronto's schools say they have too much the appearance of factories. And the youngsters who transgress the rules will add evidence that there is rubber belting on the premises too.

Things are not running true to form this year. Here's an engineer in St. Catharines who got word that he had inherited a fortune in England, and so far he hasn't made the remark that he intends to keep right on working.

At a local luncheon where several visiting furniture manufacturers were entertained, the chairman remarked that a good furniture man should have a marble top and carved legs. We suppose he'd carry the parallel farther and say that an up-to-date crockery man would have a glass eye and a handsome mug.

Provincial issues are becoming smaller. In days gone by there was the old skiff "Minnie M." About the same time the famous interview in the piano box. Then it came down to the "calf with the cough"; in more recent days to the coal scuttle in Mr. Drury's office, and lastly to a cigar box in Mr. McGarry's premises.

Reports from Brantford indicate a betterment of business conditions. Some of the factories have taken on more employees, and other enterprises which were abandoned previously are being revived. That is good news, and the whole district hopes more of its kind will follow. Brantford is an excellent city, and the products of its factories have done much to make the name of Canada known around the world. Since the war it has had its troubles getting back to normal, but throughout has maintained a commendable spirit of hopefulness. The recovery of Brantford, though slow, is a matter for congratulation.

Income Taxes

When comes George Tambling to my hut and asks if what I say be true, and Harry Bennett takes me on and puts me through my tracin's too.

This be an anxious time of year when income tax be levied now, folks askin' what you made last year and likewise askin' where or how. 'Tis now we feel an odd respect for them what sit in office here, a-fearin' how they'll take a plank and swat us one behind the ear.

George Tambling be a friend of mine, but when it comes collectin' time, the only thing George says to me is sign upon the dotted line.

He wants to know how much I made a-workin' fourteen hours a day, he'll put me in the village coop if I be not a truthful jay. As I sit there and figure out how I can pare my taxes down, he puts his finger on the place where for six months I be sent down.

For if I writ some figures in what should not be included there, he'd bounce me down upon the floor and put his fingers in my hair.

He wants to know how old I be and where it was that I was born, and if I own some stocks or bonds, or cow that throws a crumpled horn. Likewise he asks what is the job I be at present holdin' down, and if I have a house or lot and where it be about the town.

And if I'm puttin' scads away, or bettin' on the races now, if I be makin' any coin from shippin' bootleg in a scow.

And then George asks me if I pay much interest on a mortgage yet, and what I did with all the cash I made from my election bet. And if I'm makin' money now from rentin' out a four-room shack, a-warnin' me at every line lest I be holdin' somethin' back. And when he's done me with that, when I have figured row on row, he makes me take a solemn oath that what I sot down there be so.

And when I'm done a-flixin' that and he has stripped me of my wealth, then Harry Bennett talks to me, inquiren' first about my health, then sayin' how he wants to get some figures showin' what I make, so he can reckon after that how much the city tax will take.

Likewise he asks me who I be, and if I be a married gent, and how my wages come to me and when and how the wad was spent.

He wants to know whereat I live, and if I wear a Sunday hat, likewise the tabernacle place where I perform my penance at. Most times if he come prowlin' round and askin' questions such as these, I'd pelt the paste pot at his dome and jab the scissors in his knees. But when collectin' time be on I've got to bow unto these two, and take my oaths quite humble like and sign just where they tell me to.—ARK.

To the Editor

Religion In the Schools.

Kitchener Resident Approves of the Statements Made by Bishop Fallon and Principal Gandier On the Subject.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir.—The position taken by Principal Gandier of Knox college and Bishop Fallon of London in regard to religious education in the schools of Ontario will doubtless meet with the approval of all intelligent and earnest Canadian Christians. It is very evident that Jesus Christ would have all Christians co-operate in increasing the knowledge and promoting the practice of Christianity, the greatest and best of all the sciences.

The following statement by Bishop Fallon is a gem: "The Catholic church holds that the supreme co-ordinating principle in education, as in life, is religion. If, therefore, the so-called secular branches of knowledge are taught without reference to religion, or if the atmosphere of the school is not frankly religious, an educational mistake is being made by failure to emphasize the one essential. The church assumes the task and fulfills the duty of teaching the secular branches in such a way that religion becomes the centralizing, unifying and vitalizing force in the educational process."

The following gem from Principal Gandier's address shines beautifully: "Where the Catholics have separate schools provision is made for them, and there is no difficulty. But even in public schools, where all classes are represented, including Jews, surely all could agree that the children should be made familiar with the ten commandments, the outline of the Old Testament history and all the choicest elements of Old Testament story and moral teaching. Nor could any object to the Lord's prayer, the beatitudes and other selections from the teaching of Jesus. In communities that are almost wholly Protestant, as many of our rural districts in Ontario are, what is to prevent the essential elements of the Christian faith being regularly taught from the New Testament?"

Let all Canadian Christians earnestly endeavor to follow Jesus more closely than heretofore. The result will be a closer and more successful co-operation in the great work of promoting God's kingdom on earth.

Kitchener, April 17. C. M. HAGEY.

THE WEST.
Out where the birds are blithe and gay,
Out where nature blocks the way,
Out where life is just a dream,
From unfecked sky to woodland stream,
Where all was made by God's own hand,
A huge, enchanted wonderland.

Away where the wild things build their nest,
Away in the grand and gorgeous west,
Away where the author pens his book,
Alone with his thoughts in a shady nook,
Just a paradise wherein to roam,
The untamed west and the wanderer's home.

Far from the city's wicked life,
Far from the grief, the pain, and strife;
Far from false friends and temptation,
Longing for unknown privation,
Dreaming dreams, to no avail,
Of a wild and wondrous western trail.

CALAMITY FEARED IF HELP NOT GIVEN TO N.S. MINERS

Appeal Is Made To All Canadians To Extend Helping Hand.

CONFERENCE CALLED

Meeting at Ottawa Will Be Held To Deal With Problem.

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, April 20.—Impressed by further direct evidence of suffering and privation among the miners and their families in the collieries areas of Nova Scotia, officials of national service and welfare organizations have united in calling a conference on the situation, to meet in Ottawa on April 27. A provisional committee has been established, and this committee has appealed to organizations throughout the Dominion to immediately redouble their efforts to "avert an impending and dreadful calamity."

The message sent out by the provisional committee follows: "Indisputable evidence from various independent sources that the appalling distress in the colliery districts of Nova Scotia has reached a crisis demanding national action, impels this provisional committee to implore that redoubled efforts be made in all centers to provide food and clothing for starving and destitute families."

"Twenty-eight thousand souls are wholly dependent on relief from outside sources. Available food supplies provide only one meagre meal daily. Under the burden of the heroic endeavor of the past six weeks, relief workers in the colliery areas are at the point of physical exhaustion. The rapidly increasing demands upon the wholly inadequate resources at their disposal threaten the collapse of the activities."

"This committee is convinced that to avert an impending and dreadful calamity, an intensive national campaign for immediate relief is imperative. Associated in this appeal are officers of organizations mentioned hereunder who, through close contact with relief measures, earnestly believe that the situation should be viewed now solely in its humanitarian aspects."

The committee appeals to the following organizations: Great War Veterans' association, National Council of Women of Canada, Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Em-

RUSSIA DECLINES TO ATTEND PARLEY

Soviet Government Takes Definite Stand Against Participation in Arms Conference.

Associated Press Despatch. Geneva, April 20.—Soviet Russia has refused to participate in the forthcoming conference on control of traffic in arms.

The refusal was contained in a stiffly worded telegram from Foreign Minister Tchitcherin, pointing out that the soviet government had repeatedly proclaimed its negative attitude toward the league of nations as at present organized.

M. Tchitcherin added that if on secondary questions, as for instance matters of a humanitarian character, Russia had consented to collaborate in certain meetings under league auspices, this consent in nowise diminished her general sentiment of disapproval of the league.

MAGGREGOR HITS 'ANTIS' PROPOSAL

Declares Plan To Form "Real London Presbytery" Is Unlawful.

The proposal of the anti-unionist Presbyterians of the district to form themselves into "the real London presbytery" and function "as a court of the Presbyterian Church in Canada" is, in the opinion of Rev. D. C. MacGregor, D.D., member of the general assembly church union committee, neither "lawful or warrantable" because of the fact that the Presbyterian Church of Canada has gone into the United Church of Canada.

"The proposal advanced at the meeting of the London Presbyterian church association last night," said Dr. MacGregor, "is merely a further evidence of the unwillingness of the anti-unionists to accept what is now finally decided that the Presbyterian Church in Canada has gone into union."

The general assembly, the highest court of the Presbyterian church, has said that the church is going into union, "pursued Dr. MacGregor. The federal parliament, in passing the church union bill, has recognized the right of the Presbyterian church in Canada to go into union, and the Ontario legislature, by passing the provincial church union bill, has also recognized that right."

"It is neither lawful nor warrantable, therefore, for the continuing Presbyterian church to call itself the Presbyterian Church in Canada," as proposed in the association's resolution, because the Presbyterian Church in Canada has gone into union, and it cannot be in union and out of union at the same time.

"Conventions voted out under the federal church union act, which said that they would hold their property independent and solely for their own benefit. Rev. James MacKay, and other anti-unionist speakers during the campaign appealed to congregations to vote out since only in this way could they preserve their freedom of action and that law, they could determine their ultimate destiny."

"Now the Ontario legislature, without giving congregations an opportunity to decide their own future, passes arbitrary legislation decreeing that their property shall stand in the same relation to the new United Church in Canada, which has gone into union. This is to create a church by act of parliament, and is to coerce congregations to enter the new church."

Will Not Dissolve.
"How does Mr. MacKay," asked Dr. MacGregor, "reconcile this with his appeals to vote out in order to be independent, his vehement contention that the United church has been created by act of parliament and his protests against coercion of every sort?"

Dr. MacGregor takes sharp issue with the statement that "MacKay made at the association meeting last night, that the synod of Hamilton and London would be 'dissolved' next week."

"The synod of Hamilton and London will not dissolve," stated Dr. MacGregor, "nor will the presbytery of London, and both courts will carry on and continue to function as at present until such time as the general council of the United Church of Canada decrees otherwise, and makes provision for the work now being carried on by the above-named courts."

Dr. MacGregor intimated that, of course, he is not disposed to object to the right of the anti-unionist Presbyterians to form a new presbytery, a new synod or new church, except that they shall not be called courts of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

REGARDED MENACE

Canadian Press Despatch.
Hamilton, April 21.—That immediate steps should be taken to counteract the flood of foreign goods and alien magazines into Canada was the statement of Mrs. M. B. Morden, Hamilton, honorary provincial secretary of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, at the convention of the provincial chapter here this morning.

About 300 women from all parts of Ontario were present for the three-day session. Turning to magazines, Mrs. Morden urged that Canadian publications be given more attention, while she suggested a boycott on Hearst publications which she said were controlled by a man "who blasphemes and insults our empire at every opportunity."

Mrs. H. F. Burkholder, Hamilton, provincial president, welcomed the delegates to the city, and Mrs. Bruce Gordon, Brantford, gave the address in reply.

STRATFORD CHANGES ASSESSMENT SYSTEM

New Regulations Will Be Made Effective at Once—Milk Bylaw Considered.

Special to The Advertiser.
Stratford, April 20.—The city council, meeting in committee of the whole following regular council session tonight, recommended that the cubic measurement system of assessment be adopted. Cost of work this year is estimated at $12,000, and it is believed that the whole system will be installed at a cost of $17,000. Work of changing the system will commence almost immediately.

The amended milk bylaw, making it compulsory that all milk sold in the city after May 1 be bottled, was given two readings in council and then referred to special meeting to be held Friday night. Some of the aldermen maintained that compulsory bottling of milk will be a hardship to some dealers, and also that some cows would prefer milk in bulk. A petition for pavements on Romeo street from Ontario street to the C. N. R. tracks was passed, permitting the use of hydraulically-pressed floorboard in construction of frame and veneer houses.

BANK SHAREHOLDER SAYS HE WAS MISLED

Western Farmer Testifies He Bought Stock Under False Impressions.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Winnipeg, April 20.—Evidence of three shareholders and three former directors of the defunct Home Bank concluded the investigation by the Ontario commission in Winnipeg today. Hon. T. A. Cramer, John Persse and John Kennedy were the directors, and H. C. Shott of Eden, R. E. Foster of Melita and Mrs. Dickie of Craig, Man., were the shareholders. The directors were questioned generally upon their attendance at the executive meetings in Toronto, with special reference to what they knew of the relations with C. A. Barnard, K. C.

The agreement of the United Grain Growers with the Home Bank, by which they were made sole agents in Western Canada for the sale of stock, was introduced and identified, but the amount of stock the United Grain Growers disposed of, the amount they paid, or the amount they sold it for, was not disclosed.

Shott, a pioneer farmer, had paid in full for five shares. He had received several small dividends, but when he bought his stock from W. J. Powell, the agent of the United Grain Growers, he swore he was assured he would not be responsible for double liability, and that Powell also said the government was behind the bank and he could not lose. The application he signed was placed as an exhibit, and showed the usual terms of the double liability. He swore that he had not read the terms, but relied upon what the agent told him.

COMPETITION MUST END CLAIMS RAILROAD HEAD

Sir Henry Thornton Promises To Do His Share in Eliminating Uneconomic Expenditure—Asserts Lack of Business Makes Co-operation of Roads Necessary.

Special to The Advertiser.
Shenbrooke, Que., April 20.—A promise that the management of the Canadian National Railways stands ready to do its full share in eliminating any movement which will eliminate uneconomic expenditures and competition in the transportation industry in Canada was given by Sir Henry W. Thornton, chairman and president of the company, in an address delivered before the Shenbrooke board of trade here tonight.

In opening his remarks Sir Henry Thornton reviewed briefly the operations of the system, over the period of three years in which he has been president, and to the feeling which has existed during that time on the part of the Canadian National Railways towards the Canadian Pacific Railway. "Have Not Been Unfair," he said, "I believe," said Sir Henry, "that while we have done everything possible to improve the service, to gain the confidence of the people, we have never said or done an unfair thing, and have always given every credit to our principal competitor, the Canadian Pacific Railway, for the part which it has played in the upbuilding of Canada."

"But, after all, we have come to the position in Canada where we have two great railway systems, but only so much business. It is well known that the remedy for our ills is increased population, but it is not likely that the population of Canada will increase rapidly enough to maintain our two railway systems in that financial state which we would like to see them both enjoy."

Feeling Is Growing.
"There is a growing feeling throughout the dominion that co-operation or co-ordination of facilities and the consequent elimination of waste on the part of these railway companies can serve the interests of the people of Canada better than competition to take business from each other. With that point of view I am heartily in accord. We are not sufficiently numerous to enjoy any form of strife."

"The luxury of fighting is reserved only to the rich. We must make every muscle and every effort of mind and body to save one hundred cents on the dollar."

"If by co-operation and co-ordination we can bring about economy to both the Canadian Pacific and ourselves, we would be wanting in patriotism if we did not embrace that principle and work towards its achievement."

"In doing so we must keep pride in our company and compete only in the performance of good work. If we are charged with the responsibility of administering your transportation systems, and if all those in Canada who have adversity of interests can come to that point, and we can excite teamwork in Canada, we will have done something to improve immeasurably our position."

CANADIAN LAWN BOWLERS INVITED TO NEW ZEALAND

Inter-Dominion Matches Are Planned For December and January.

WELCOME ASSURED

Canadian lawn bowlers have been invited to visit New Zealand in December and January next to play against New Zealand bowlers. In conjunction with a tour of the Antipodes by other Empire representatives, the invitation was made in a letter received yesterday by A. A. Lankford of this city, president of the Dominion lawn bowling association.

It reads as follows: "The President, The Governing Body for Bowling, Canada: 'Dear Sir: At the last general meeting of the Dominion of New Zealand bowling association, I was directed to extend a cordial invitation to the bowlers of Canada to send a team of four to play against New Zealand bowlers during the 1925-26 season. It is expected that six representatives of the Dominion of New Zealand will be making a tour of this Dominion at that time. Invitations have been sent to South Africa and Australia also to visit New Zealand when the British team is here. The occasion might be made one of national importance and the meeting of bowlers from the various parts of the Empire on the day should stimulate that feeling of kinship, the strong and the only bond in our special constitution. The president, P. Meadows, writes me to say that everything will be done by bowlers generally, and indeed by every section of the community, to make the visit a successful and enjoyable one. Although only a young country—it is not much more than 30 years ago since British settlement commenced—New Zealand has already established 233 bowling clubs with a membership of more than 16,000. Our temperate climate is very favorable to the growth of grass, and I am told our greens compare more favorably with others in the Empire. The way of scenery and thermal wonders, these, combined with the welcome of a successful and enjoyable tour, may be able to send, one which will never be forgotten. It is expected that the bowlers from the United Kingdom will be here about December or January next, and if you are able to accept this invitation, your representatives should go faithfully. (Signed) R. W. Shulcrass, Hon. Secretary.'

HURLERS BACKBONE OF LOCAL MINTERS

Manager Baker Has Real Pitching Corps To Start Year.

RESERVE STRONG

Walton, a second baseman who performed in the Mississippi Valley League last year, was the only arrival in the London Teds' training camp yesterday.

He comes highly recommended and has also been boosted by Pete Harris, the local left-hand hurler.

The sudden change in the weather on Sunday following Saturday's game didn't help out much, and as a result of colds the squad yesterday was divided in two. The harder ones went out to Queen's park and tried to escape yesterday's biting wind in the sunny lee of the buildings. The "hangers" worked out indoors at the Y. gym.

Mike Baker was convinced after Saturday's game that he is going to have real pitching to start with this year, and there are plenty of people to say that pitching is 75 per cent of any old ball club any day. Mike doesn't go quite that strong, but he is willing to admit that 60 per cent of a ball manager's worries are over when he has the assurance of at least average pitching.

It would need only two of the new rookie pitchers to be average to make a strong reserve to the veterans, Coogan, Delman, Fields and Harris, for the early part of the campaign. All these pitchers have either worked in better league or are due to.

Baker's infield problems are going to shake themselves out without much difficulty. Out of the material already here and future arrivals there is really no pressing problem in this department.

Stimpson is 40 per cent start on any good outfield, the condition he is in and the way he is meeting the ball this year Stimpson should be back to his 1923 form when he finished with a hitting percentage of .328 against probably the best lot of pitching the league ever had. In Brower, Baker appears to have a fine ace in the hole to shift to either infield or outfield.

CAST IRON PIPE

IS DRIVEN TO 140
Hardest Hit by Speculators For Decline—Specialties Are Bid Up

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, April 21.—With the public temporarily out of the market, the morning price movements were determined almost entirely by the operations of professional traders. Speculators for the decline concentrated on the E. S. Cast Iron Pipe, which was driven down to 140 around the end of the first hour. Postum cereal, Universal Pipe and the Commercial Solvents issues lost to three points. The subsequent bidding up of American Sugar, Coca-Cola, Hudson Motors, Woolworth and a few other specialties imparted greater stability to the general list and brought about some short covering in other quarters. The market turned back again around noon when selling pressure was renewed against E. S. Cast Iron Pipe, which was forced down more than twelve points below last night's close to 134 1/2. Call money renewed at 3 1/2, and the market was temporarily stabilized because of the accumulation of funds in connection with the Dodge Brothers financing.

Market Sidelights

WHEAT.
That the intense report in April is by no means an accurate index of what the final crop is going to be, and that what is being said in the United States will be as much if not more affected by the crop in outside countries as the crop in this country, is a claim going to be made in a statement made by Brookline in this week's letter. "It is practically certain," he says, "that the wheat acreage abandoned above the average is in Brookline's view. The point made in the last year or so is that the trend of wheat prices and the condition of the wheat farmer have had a profound psychological influence on wheat prices and stocks. Because of this, the wheat market is being influenced by the rest of the world is well worth watching."
PLATINUM IN B. C.
America, which everyone is making so much fuss about, has caused the province of British Columbia to announce a little competition in its claim on the authority of Dr. Cammell of the Canadian Geological Survey, and Dr. Potbury of the department of Mineralogy, as well as by the Imperial munition board who have been testing the claims of Hines Creek, Tulameen, B. C., possessors of a uniformly high deposit of platinum and platinum sand coming directly from the primary rocks of the mountain, which is the very heart of the section referred to by Dr. Cammell as the "richest diggings."

MEIGHEN EDGETS AS TACTICS BARED

Has Uncomfortable Time During Revelations in House by Montreal Member.

STANSELL SPEAKS

By E. C. BUCHANAN.
Special to The Advertiser.
By Staff Correspondent.
Ottawa, April 20.—Such a review of the maladministration of past governments and such an accounting of the cost to the taxpayers of today were given this afternoon by Joseph Archambault, the Montreal lawyer, who represents Chamblay-Vercheres, that Mr. Meighen and his leading lieutenants appeared to have the most uncomfortable hour they have experienced this session.

During a considerable period in Mr. Archambault's speech the scene was very much like that of a political ward meeting, when an attempt is being made to drown out the effect of a speaker's utterances by organized heckling. For the better part of an hour the member who had the floor was hardly able to complete a sentence of his well-prepared recapitulation of blunders committed between 1911 and 1921, which had added nearly half a billion dollars to the national debt, owing to the interruptions of Mr. Meighen. The Conservative leader was on his feet almost as long altogether as the average modest member is in making a speech of his own.

Backs His Claims.
The Chamblay-Vercheres member, however, is no mean antagonist in common debate, and the interruptions and interjections failed to sidetrack his review of the administrative and financial record of those who are now attempting to condemn the present government.

He showed that without counting such war scandals as those having to do with paper boots, the famous horse deal, bandages and field-glasses, the national debt had been increased by $492,000,000 by blunders and bad administration, and the annual interest charge on this now huge debt was $25,000,000. Of this $492,000,000, unnecessary war expenditure made up $247,000,000, and Mr. Archambault backed his assertions with statements made by Sir Arthur Currie, commander-in-chief of the Canadian forces overseas.

Meighen Annoyed.
The quotations given by Mr. Archambault from the official record of Sir Arthur Currie's condemnation of unnecessary war expenditure gave the greatest annoyance to the opposition. Mr. Meighen attempted to suggest that Sir Arthur had denied the statement attributed to him, but Mr. Archambault showed that he had not denied those made in the stenographic report from which he read. Mr. Meighen was therefore put to it to dispute Sir Arthur Currie's assertions and continue a reiteration of a challenge that the member for Chamblay-Vercheres bring on an investigation into the former commander-in-chief's declarations.

Mr. Archambault sympathized with the opposition in its plight over the fact that the budget had broken the back of its electioneering campaign. He exposed some of the characteristics of this campaign as it is being pursued from the stump in Quebec, reading from the French Conservative press.

Among other things, he said, the people of Quebec were being told that Sir Lomer Gouin, backed by the Holts and other leading but anxious citizens, was going to England to warn his majesty of what was going on in this country, so that action might be taken to save Canada to the crown.

Liberal Blamed.
Sir Lomer's trip was inspired by the actions of the Mackenzie King government, which were leading this country into the arms of Uncle Sam. While Mr. Monty, former Meighen minister, was telling the people that the government had made a secret agreement to support English immigrants and the Canadian worker was to be replaced by the "Bikee," Archambault was going to the speaker of the opposition leader's charm, was uttering racial appeals that patriotic citizens had hoped were gone forever from the political arena.

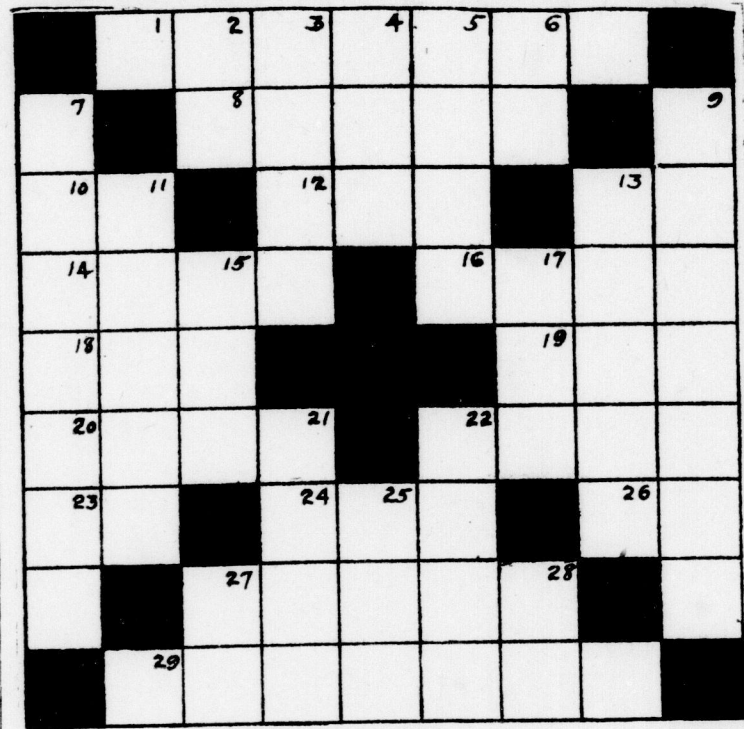

Stansell Speaks.
Tonight an attempt is being made to turn the decks of a number of speakers desiring to be heard, and the sitting is continuing into the morning.

J. L. Stansell, East Elgin, made an hour's plea for a national protective policy. He, too, believed that the sitting is continuing into the morning.

the acting minister of finance had misread the financial situation in his budget speech. He figured that the minister's statement showed a deficit of $16,000,000 instead of a surplus and that the increase in the net debt for the year was $98,000,000. Mr. Stansell regarded it as ground for suspicion that the government had not fathomed the future and produced forecasts of prosperity. This prosperity would not descend from the skies with the advent of the Conservative party to office, but it could be counted on to arrive. He did not advocate an extreme tariff but an adequate one that would do justice to all. Sixty-five countries had increased their tariff since the war, while Canada, unwise, had taken the opposite course.

The prime minister's present intention is to speak on Thursday. Mr. Meighen may have Wednesday pretty much to himself, although his choice of a day has not been made known. While the debate is to conclude the debate Thursday, the list of speakers in the hands of the whips affords no security that it will be realized.

Dr. Gordon of New York Declares More Canadians Welcome in U. S.

UNITY OF RACES

Special to The Advertiser.
Stratford, April 20.—Dr. S. D. Gordon of New York, speaking at the chamber of commerce luncheon today, stressed the thought that people everywhere are "more alike than they are different," and that men of all races are seeking the power to live a life of strong character, made possible through the Bible and Christ.

Aaron Knechtel presided. Rev. F. A. Robinson of Toronto, in introducing Dr. Gordon, referred to the fact that Dr. Gordon was just finishing his mission in Canada and was returning to New York tomorrow, and would shortly be going to Europe. Dr. Gordon said that he had been eleven weeks in Canada, an experience which he had greatly enjoyed and found profitable. He said he found that Canadians were conservative.

"Some of us think that it would be a good thing for us if a little more Canadian air blew across the border," he said.

Dr. Gordon is conducting a short series of talks at the Centennial Evangelical church, concluding tonight.

Robert James Rose.
After having suffered with diphtheria at the isolation hospital for a week, Robert James Rose, aged 75, died this morning. Interment was made in Avondale cemetery this afternoon. He was predeceased by his first wife some 30 years. Twenty years ago he married Martha Ormond of London, who survives him in the city. Mr. Rose was a member of the I. O. RIDGETOWN GOODFELLOWS STAGE MINSTREL SHOW

Special to The Advertiser.
Ridgetown, April 20.—"Minstrel Mimics" the big musical revue, was staged in the McKinlay opera house by the Ridgetown Goodfellows on Friday and Saturday nights. It was composed entirely of local talent, and, judging by the large attendance, is the best musical revue ever attempted by any Ridgetown organization. Mr. Kidwell of Fostoria, Ohio, directed, and was very enthusiastic over the talent he had, and stated that Ridgetown could be justly proud of her young people, who showed a keen interest during the rehearsals. The first part was a scene at a hunt club, where a minstrel circle composed of well-known local people, including Miss Jean MacDonald, the interloper and six "star" comedians caused much merriment. The second part consisted of a golf act, a popular song number and a feature musical comedy act. Miss Bonnie Gagen's "Butterfly Dance" and the vocal numbers by Miss Pauline Schott were two of the most popular numbers of the evening performance. Each were presented with a basket of roses.

Toronto Mother Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ontario.—"I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a splendid medicine to take before and after confinement. A small book was put in my door one day advertising Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine, and as I did not feel at all well at the time I went and got a bottle of Vegetable Compound right away. I soon began to notice a difference in my general health. I was full of aches and pains at the time and thought I had every complaint going, but I can truthfully say your medicine certainly did me good. I can and will speak highly of it, and I know it will do other women good who are sick and ailing if they will only give it a fair trial. Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills are splendid for constipation. You are welcome to use my letter if you think it will help any one."—Mrs. HARRY WESTWOOD, 543 Quebec Street, Toronto, Ontario.

The expectant mother is wise if she considers carefully this statement of Mrs. Westwood. It is but one of a great many, all telling the same story of beneficial results.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for use during this period. The experience of other women who have found this medicine a blessing is proof of its great merit. Why not try it now yourself?

WHY HE SUCCEEDED

From hard work on a farm to the study of medicine in Cincinnati, where he was graduated in 1882, was the course which Dr. R. V. Pierce took.

In his younger days he practiced medicine over a large territory near Titusville, Pa. Finally he determined to put up some of his prescriptions in ready-to-use form in order to reach a larger number of families. He thus early moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and established the World's Dispensary, where he put up Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood as well as the Favorite Prescription for women, carefully preparing them from roots, barks and herbs and placed them with druggists everywhere.

During the last sixty years Dr. Pierce's Discovery, for the blood, has been sold in larger quantities than any other medicine. It is a tonic in its effects on the stomach and digestive apparatus; an alternative in its action on the blood, liver and skin. It increases the appetite, stimulates the digestion, enriches the blood, and makes both men and women young and care free when they were young and care free. Ask your druggist for Dr. Pierce's Discovery, in tablet or liquid form, or send for the trial package of tablets to Dr. Pierce's Laboratories, in Bridgeburg, Ont.—Adv't.

A WOUND IS AN OPEN DOOR

Absorbine Jr. enables you to shut the door quickly.

The skin is Nature's own protection against germs. When it is bruised, broken or cut, that protection is withdrawn. The door is open. As quickly as possible Nature closes it by forming what we call a scab and renders you comparatively safe against infection. But this scab sometimes takes days to form and until it has fully sealed the wound, even until the wound has thoroughly healed again you must furnish the required protection yourself. A few drops of Absorbine Jr. in the water will give you an antiseptic wash that will kill all possibility of infection and help nature to heal the wound. As well as being a very powerful germicide, Absorbine Jr. will draw out the inflammation and bring instant relief.

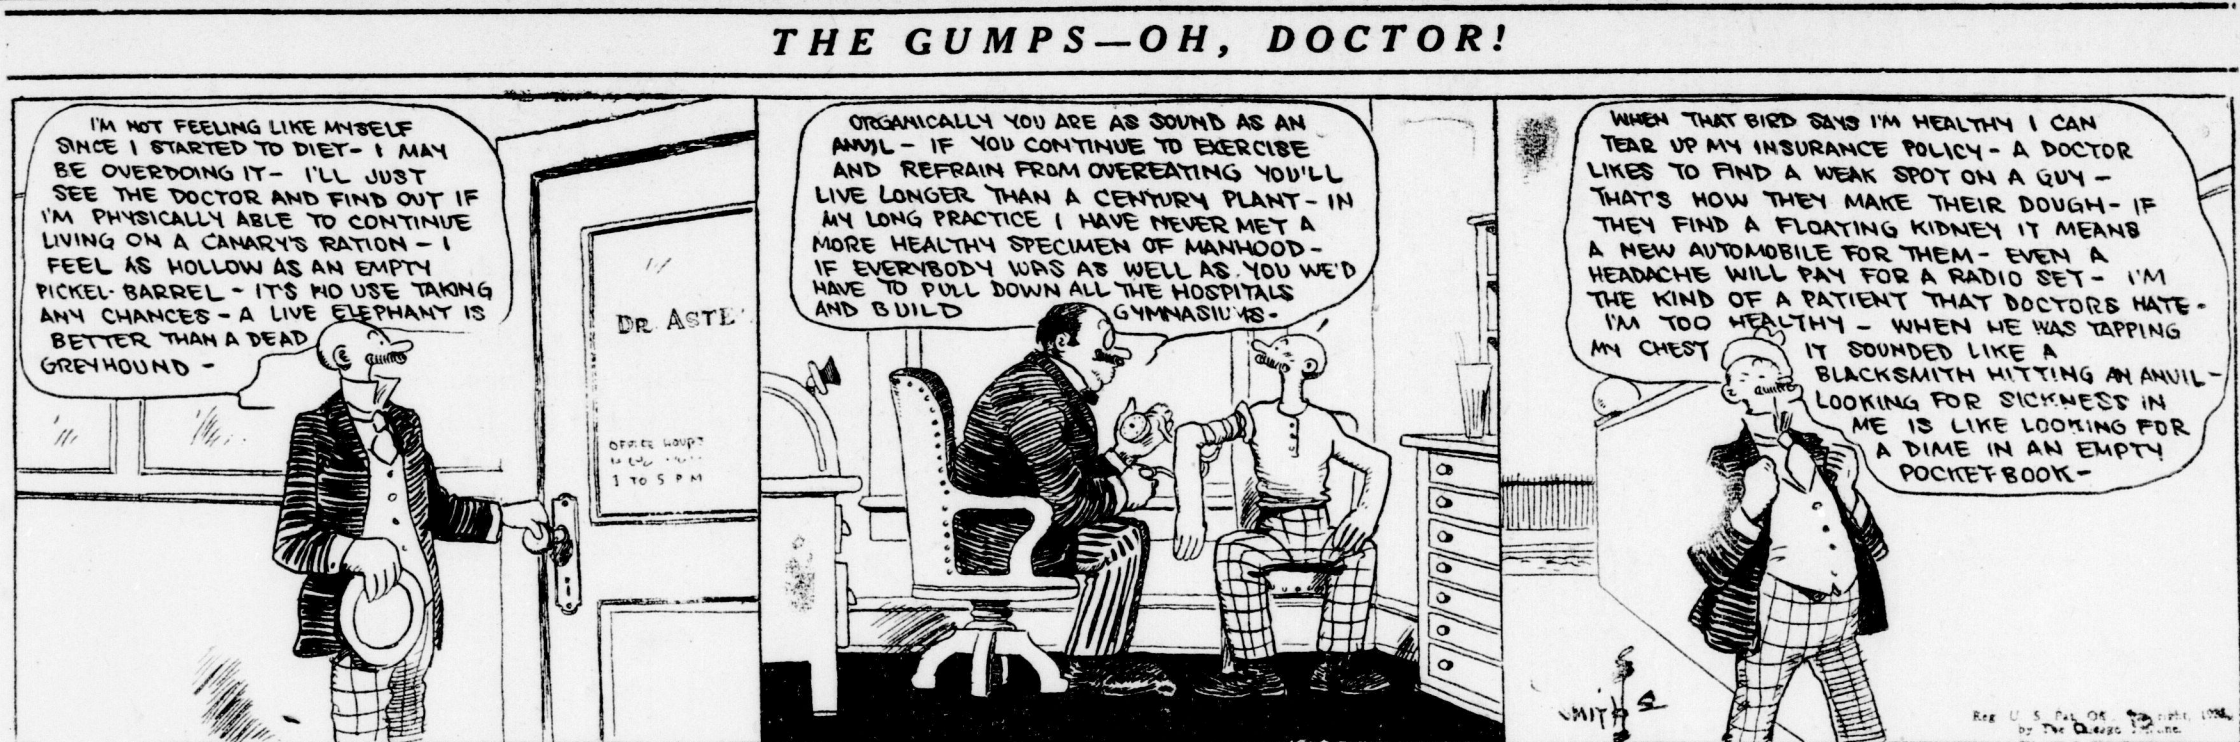

Absorbine Jr. is antiseptic, germicide and liniment in one container—easy to keep always in the house; easy to carry around if you travel.

Shareholders Forced To Pass Hat To Find Who's Who In Company

Toronto, April 20.—Before they could obtain the books of the concern from the auditors, about 20 shareholders of the Petrie Cream Separator Company, who met here today, were compelled to "pass the hat" in order to raise $120 due the auditors for their work. The books were necessary to ascertain who were the shareholders.

Charles M. Petrie, former head of the company, was arrested some time ago on various charges arising out of his operations, and later jumped his bail, which was estimated. Discussing the situation, one of the shareholders asked that $50 be provided for expenses and that he would find Petrie. Several others expressed the belief that he was actually in the city or nearby.

NIAGARA SEES ACROSS LAKE AS COLD WAVE PLAYS PRANK

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, April 20.—For many hours last night Niagara-on-the-Lake saw Toronto's illuminations as clearly as if they were standing on Toronto Island. From Oakville, the spectacle appears to extend all the way from Port Dalhousie, clear around to Hamilton, thence following the north shore to beyond Toronto. From Niagara-on-the-Lake and Port Dalhousie lights could be traced, so clearly defined that the rise and fall of the shore could be followed without trouble from Hamilton, Burlington, Oakville, Port Credit, Mimico, Toronto to Oshawa.

Why not to EUROPE?

WHAT could be so enjoyable as to spend your vacation in Europe? Europe with all its wonders and beauties—London—Old England—Paris—Rome.

And, the voyage itself—the bracing sea air to refresh and invigorate you, and the luxurious comfort of a Cunard or Anchor-Donaldson liner. Every hour of the day aboard will be filled with enjoyment—games on the deck, promenades or relaxation in deck chairs, dances, concerts by the ship's orchestra, card parties, wonderful meals.

From first to last the concern of the entire ship's personnel is the passenger's comfort, pleasure and safety. Remember, too, the voyage embraces the educational value of the trip down the mighty, historic St. Lawrence River.

MANY HEAR STORY OF ENGLISH BIBLE

Rev. H. H. Bingham Addresses Large Audience in St. Andrew's.

Tracing the history of the first translations of the Bible into the English language and showing the widespread knowledge of the gospel resulting therefrom, the Rev. H. H. Bingham, B.A., of Calgary, formerly pastor of Talbot street Baptist church, last night addressed a large congregation gathered in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church in the interests of the Western Ontario Bible Society.

It is just about a year since London has had an opportunity of hearing again the beloved pastor who occupied the Talbot street church pulpit. Last spring he was in the city for a night when he lectured on the "Old Country."

Last night his message was still of the British Isles, and one of the notable figures born when the tide of religion was turning. Before introducing his subject the minister spoke of the joy of again being in the city he loved to be near those with whom he had spent over eight years as a pastor.

The story related by the minister was that of the life of William Tyndall. He was born in Gloucester, England, about the year 1500. At that time freedom of conscience was almost dead. There was no tolerance. People were burned at the stake for their very thoughts.

Dominated Religious World
Cardinal Wolsey dominated the religious world in Britain. It was a dark time for the populace. But light had come, for Wycliffe had lived and labored. Into such a clouded atmosphere Tyndall came.

The clergy were living a corrupt life. Religion had degenerated. It was believed that Tyndall came from a good home, the minister said. He went to Oxford and soon became well known as a linguist of the highest type. He had a fine temperament, possessed a vital spirit of God and was a patriot in the true sense of the word. He was willing to give his life that salvation might come to the common people through a Bible that was printed in a living language.

In 1529 Tyndall the student came under the influence of Erasmus, the noted Greek scholar, and began the translation of the Bible. He was inspired by the love of liberty and religion. He made up his mind to give his life to the one great task: to translate the Bible into the English language.

The results of that first translation were seen in the address by the Rev. W. H. Adeock, M.A., Regina, Saskatchewan. He spoke of the thousands of immigrants entering Saskatchewan from northern and southern Europe, from the United States and other countries.

Report is Submitted
For these people, as for the Indians of the West, the Eskimos of the north, the people of the East the Bible was printed in their own language, and it was due to the British and Foreign Bible Society and the churches that the distribution was being made throughout the length and breadth of the land.

Rev. R. J. Bowen, district secretary, read his report. He said that the work in Western Ontario was progressing favorably. In the last year 3,000 copies of the Bible had been placed in the hands of people living in this district. They were printed in 14 languages. Over 1,200 copies had been delivered in one month. The foreign populations in Western Ontario along the border were receiving attention.

Rev. D. C. MacGregor, D.D., led the congregation in the reading of Psalm 19. Rev. H. J. Uren led in prayer. The scripture reading was taken by the Very Rev. Dean Tucker, I.B.I.

Rev. F. Anderson, D.D., presented several life membership certificates to those who were attached to the society. Rev. (Capt.) J. Garbutt pronounced the benediction.

During the evening three hymns were sung. A trio made up of members of the choir sang "O Lord Divine, Ashford. This was followed by an anthem "O God, Light of the World," by Henrich.

SIX PERSONS INJURED IN N. Y. SUBWAY CRASH

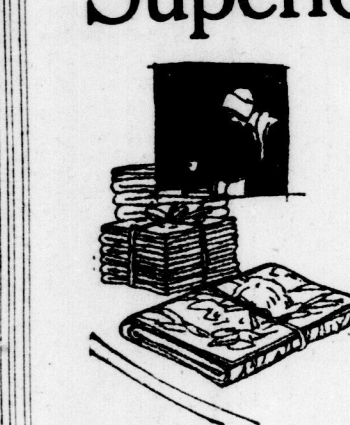

Train Jumps Rails, Knocking Out Pillars and Panic Prevails.

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, April 20.—Six persons were injured when a northbound five-car subway train, containing more than 100 passengers, left the rails at 34th street early today, the last two cars carrying from their fastenings seven steel pillars. A short circuit of the third rail followed, and dense clouds of smoke filled the tube, causing panic among the passengers.

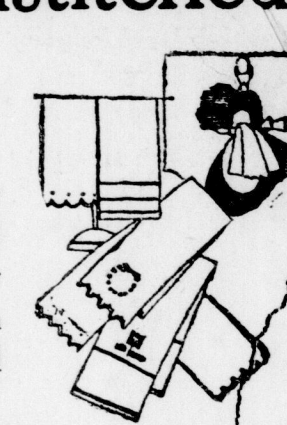

The motorman jammed on his brakes so suddenly that many passengers were thrown to the floor. Passengers in all but the first car were unable to get out. In spite of warnings that this would let in poisonous fumes, one pane of glass was broken.

Smoke issuing from the subway entrances attracted a crowd, and a
