J. A. MOORE OPPOSES VENIGE FOR MAYORALTY

Laborer Crushed to Death By Timbers When Sewer Caves

LIVELY FIGHT IS INDICATED BY MAYORALTY NOMINATIONS

Two of Four Nominees Likely To Qualify Before Nine o'Clock Tuesday.

FOUR FOR UTILITIES

Two Vacancies To Be Filled—
James Gray Hospital Trust-
tee by Acclamation.

Evidence of a genuine renaissance of interest in civic affairs was not lacking at the nomination meetings held at the city hall this morning. They were largely attended, and judging from comment heard the coming municipal campaign is likely to be the liveliest
this city has seen in many years.

Four citizens were nominated to fill the office of mayor. Mayor George A.
Venige was nominated by Charles F.
Jones and Cliff Robinson and also by Charles R. Smith and Arthur R.
Thomson. John M. Moore, architect, was nominated by William Jones and Edith Turt. Ald. G. P. W. McKay was nominated by Ald. Thomas Clift, seconded
by Donald H. Wright, and Ald. H. H.
Bottrell was proposed by Jared Vining,
seconded by T. W. McFarland.

Candidates have until 8 o'clock tomorrow evening to qualify, but it is a practical certainty that Ald. Bottrell and Ald. McKay will not enter the mayoralty contest, although both may figure in the aldermanic election. This leaves the issue to be decided between Mayor Venige and John M. Moore.

James Gray was declared elected by acclamation for the only vacancy on the hospital trustees, there being no other nominations. The city clerk's announcement to this effect was received with hearty applause at the meeting.

Four for Utilities.
There were four nominations for the two vacancies on the public utilities
commission: Chas. R. Smith, stationer, was nominated by E. H. Beck and
J. E. Rickell. The name of J. C.
Doddie was proposed by M. S. Catter
and Lloyd T. Hoeklin.

Commissioner Jared Vining was nominated for another term of office by W. H. Abbott and Col. W. M. Gar-
shore and Commissioner Philip Pocock
by James Granger and Ald. James Mc-Cormick.

The feature of the morning's activities
was the assurance that John M. Moore would not enter the contest, which announcement that he will run will have a decided effect upon the aldermanic
election, for which he will be nominated at the city hall between 7:30
and 8:30 this evening.

Nomination of John M. Moore as candidate for mayor ensures an interesting contest for the position of chief magistrate for the coming year. Mayor George A. Venige, who has already announced his intention of running for
what will be his fourth term if elected,

MINERS' PRESIDENT ALLEGES VIOLATIONS

Lewis Now Awaiting Reply
From Coolidge on Soft Coal Situation.

Associated Press Despatch.
Philadelphia, Nov. 23.—John L. Lewis,
president of the United Mine Workers,
today awaited a reply from his letter to President Coolidge in which he pointed out alleged violations by certain operators of the Jacksonville bituminous coal wage agreement, and asked whether the federal government desired
to intervene, and if not whether the union men would be justified in taking their own measures to enforce it.
Until this reply is received, Mr. Lewis declared he would not have anything
further to say regarding the soft coal situation. He refused to state what measures would be taken by the union
in case the government declined to act.

After pointing out that the Jacksonville agreement, which expires March 31, 1927, was reached with the cooperation of the departments of justice, commerce and labor, Mr. Lewis,
in his letter to the President named
the Pittsburgh Coal company, Consolidated Coal and Coke, Bethlehem Mining corporation, and the coal interests of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh railroad as among those he alleges
have dishonored their wage agreements
with the mine workers.

EXCELLENT MATERIAL IN 19 NAMED FOR TRUSTEE BOARD

All Six Whose Terms Expire Are Renominated and Twelve
Vacancies Are Represented in the List—Two Women Will Try For Election.

Nineteen names have been placed in nomination for the board of education
for next year, and included in the list
is some very excellent material, if the nominees permit their names to go on the ballot.

Two women, Trustee Mrs. John A.
Rose and Mrs. F. J. Greenaway, are the hopes of the women of the city for representation on the board. It is noteworthy also that the six trustees whose
terms on the board expire this year,
have all been renominated, including:
besides Mrs. Rose, Trustees A. R.
Cairncross, G. F. Copeland, B. N.
Campbell, J. B. Wright and Rev. R. D.
Mess.

Other nominees are: Gordon H. Tennent, Dr. E. S. Detwiler, W. A. Martin, Dr. H. Yull, Lebert H. Jones, Dr.
R. J. Gordon, F. L. Smith, C. E. Carruthers, Donald C. McNaughton, F. H.
Curran, Rowland Hill and Wm. J. Kilpatrick.

Many Vacancies.
Twelve professions or vocations are represented in the list of nineteen
nominees, as follows: One each, druggist,
clerk, clergyman, coal merchant, journalist and gentleman, two each, housewife, barrister, physician, manufacturer,
agent, manager and shoe merchant.

Mrs. Rose was renominated for the board by Rev. G. Q. Warner, and his wife, barrister, and shoe merchant, by
A. T. Edwards, while Mrs. Greenaway
was nominated by Col. W. M. Gar-shore and James Gray.

The list of nominees includes practically every name that has been mentioned either on the street or in the press during the past few weeks, giving these people an opportunity to offer
their services to the ratepayers or not as they see fit. Nominees, it is pointed out, must qualify with City Clerk Samuel Baker not later than 9 o'clock tomorrow night or else they will automatically be struck off the ballot of candidates.

DETROITERS HOLD SERVICE FOR LATE QUEEN MOTHER

Associated Press Despatch.
Detroit, Mich., Nov. 23.—Tribute was paid to the late Queen Mother Alexandra at a memorial service held here yesterday. The memorial address was delivered by Rev. G. G. Atkins of the First Congregational church of Detroit.
John Cameron, British consul, and his speech, expressed appreciation for the sympathy extended by the people of this country following the death of the Dowager Queen.

SISTER OF DEAD QUEEN IS SOMEWHAT BETTER

Associated Press Despatch.
Copenhagen, Denmark, Nov. 23.—The former dowager empress of Russia, Maria Feodorovna, regarding whom anxiety was felt yesterday, passed a good night and was up early this morning for a walk in the garden of the royal palace. Maria has been much affected by the death of her sister,
Dowager Queen Alexandra of Great Britain.

Heaviest Fog In Forty Years Ties Up Shipping Off Britain

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Nov. 23.—A dense fog enshrouded most of the ports of the United Kingdom the latter part of the week
with the result that shipping was held up for some time. Indeed, it is said that nothing like the fog has been known for more than 40 years.

Eighteen warships, which were en route to Portland, anchored off Brighton
on account of the fog. The Marsey roadstead was choked with vessels
awaiting a chance of entering the harbor.

Big Field Is Foreseen For Council

Nominations This Evening Are Likely To See 30 Candidates Brought Out.

TEN TO RUN AGAIN

Verschoyle Cronyn, E. W. G.
Moore and John Nash Among Those Likely To Stand.

With two possible exceptions, it looks as though the whole of the presented council will again offer for re-election. The two doubtful ones are
Ald. James McCormick and Ald. Dr.
Douglass. The former is being strongly urged to run again and may consent and although Ald. Dr. Douglass has stated that he will not be a candidate
again, friends say that he may be induced at the last moment to change his mind.

In addition to these twelve prospective candidates there is a list of nearly twenty others whose names will be placed in nomination this evening, and most of whom it is said on good authority, will stand for election.

Among those thus mentioned are E.
W. G. Moore, W. G. Young, W. C.
Nash, Col. Ibbotson Leonard, Verschoyle Cronyn, Thomas Terry, W. C.
Morrison, Allan Towse, Dickson F.
Glass, John A. Croden, Frank Gray,
John T. May, J. A. E. Braden, W. J.
Kilpatrick, Ed. Hayden and G. R.
Drake.

With about thirty candidates on the ballot, voters should have an ample choice for the eight positions on the council to be filled.

The list of prospective candidates is also one of the largest the city has had, and it contains a lot of excellent council timber.

LONDONER IS FREED UNDER HEAVY BAIL

W. Steinman of London Arrested on Liquor Charge
at Bayfield.

Special to The Advertiser.
Bayfield, Nov. 23.—Inspector
William Pellow and Revenue Officer A.
Porter of Goderich made a seizure of liquor and a Buick car on the outskirts of Bayfield, with the result that W.
Steinman, of London, is now out on $3,000 bail.

The officers had just completed a search of the house of James Wansley
for liquor, a complaint having been received from the crew of the steamer
which was found to be carrying liquor.
The search was fruitless, but on leaving the officers
saw a new six Buick coach drive
up to the house they had searched,
and they followed it. The car, finding in a club bag two cans of American alcohol, two gallons in all.

The two officers seized the automobile and liquor and Steinman under arrest, taking him to Goderich jail and also holding the seized car there. He will appear in court on Saturday, Nov.
28.

ter a boiler explosion while she was on

up by the Pan-American petroleum steamer Cerro Azul, en route to this port.

dropped dead this morning. Bryant had just arrived at work, and after removing his coat fell on the floor, a victim to heart failure.

The first crew worked over an hour in an effort to bring back life, without success.

He was employed in the freight repair shops and was 48 years old. He is survived by his wife and four children.
The four children, Helen, Olive, Elsie

been a resident of this city for 15 years.

from his late residence.

TO BE FINGER PRINTS.
A. /ated Press Despatch.
Chicago, Nov. 23.—Prospects that a five-year-old "trunk murder" mystery
might be near solution went aglimmer today. Paul Ward, a waiter, was arrested last night, but after a comparison of finger-prints with those of Eugene Leroy, Detroit wife-slaver, the bureau of identifications said he was not the man wanted.

Choice For London Electors

JOHN MOORE.
John McKendle Moore, ex-controller and prominent architect, will oppose Mayor Venige's effort to win a fourth term. Two others were placed in nomination, but the race is likely to dwindle to a two-entry affair.

Officer Brutally Kicked But Arrests Assailants

P. C. William Clipperton Has His Face Horribly Lacerated in Battle With Two Young Men—Charges Laid Under Criminal Code.

Charged under the criminal code with assaulting William Clipperton, a police officer, Charles Campbell, 29 years old,
and Thomas Hobbs, 18, appeared in police court this morning and were remanded for one week upon request of their counsel, Jared Vining. Bail was not allowed.

Constable Clipperton was attacked by Campbell when he attempted to place
Hobbs under arrest on a drunk charge
on Saturday night, according to the police. He was on Ottawa avenue Waterloo street.

When he accosted the two men, one pulled his cape about his neck and behind. The constable, according to his own story, choked by the neck strap of the garment, was thrown to the ground, and in that position was brutally kicked by one of the men.

Only after his face had been horribly lacerated did he manage to get hold of his baton and with the weapon subdue
both assailants.

Clipperton appeared in court this morning to give evidence. His face was badly scarred and swollen. He suffered from blackened eyes and a broken nose.

Magistrate Graydon refused to allow bail, although he consented to hear the case as soon as a defence is prepared.
Hobbs and Campbell will probably appear for trial Wednesday or Thursday.

Oppell of Leningrad announced today before a conference of physicians and surgeons that he had successfully transplanted a bone from a

the woman, in a short time was able to walk freely.

CUT IN RAILWAY STAFF IS ON TRACK DIVISION

No Other Layoffs by London
Street Railway, Says
Manager Tait.

There has been no cut necessary in
the staff of the local street railway, stated Manager Tait this morning. All that have been laid off are those on the track division who are generally let go about the time. The railway feels the effect of the bus trade keenly, but have not thought of cutting
the regular staff as yet.

With a payroll of over a thousand dollars a day, besides the operating costs, the company believes they should have the revenue that is going to the buses, as it takes a brisk business to finance the operations.

There will be no cut in present in-service, as the directors have not decided to take on the north Normal route.

The railway officials believe the matter in regard to the buses is for the city to decide.

Saturday morning Joseph and Alphonse
Kemp were amazed to see a large seal

it home. It weighed 114 pounds and was nearly four feet in length.

MAN DIES AS COMRADES WORK HARD AT RESCUE

John Barrow Is Crushed and Smothered in Doulton Street Accident.

MISHAP UNEXPLAINED

Workmen Unable To Release
Body Until 15 Minutes
Passed.

John Barrow, 33, St. Julien street, was crushed to death between two timbers at 9:45 this morning when a portion of a new city sewer on Dou-
lton street, in which he was working,
collapsed and buried him to the neck
in timbers and dirt.

An inquest into the accident has been called for tonight at 6 o'clock by Coroner Dr. Cameron Wilson at Harrison's funeral home.

How the accident happened, officials of the city engineer's department are unable to explain. It is the first fatality of its kind to occur during the regime of City Engineer J. Barron.

Mr. Barron and a companion, R.
Main, were working close to each other
when they heard the timbers sides
give a warning crack. Main sprang about the sewer, while Barron was squeezed in a death grip by a heavy timber from each side which crushed
his chest as if it had been paper.

With a muffled roar the released
earth piled down on top of the unfortunate city employees.

The work of rescue started immediately, but it was almost 15 minutes before Barron's dead body was removed from the trench, nine feet deep.

The whaling or timber sides of the sewer had to sawed in two before the rescuers were able to lift the body to the ground above.

Beyond All Aid.

Dr. F. R. Clegg was called to the scene, but Barron was beyond all hope of medical attention.

"I found that Mr. Barron had died
from internal hemorrhage through compression of the chest," stated Dr. Clegg.
"The plank came in on him like a vice."

Mr. Barron was one of the huskiest
men in the employ of the city, over 6
feet in height and weighing 200 pounds.
He has been in the employ of the city
for the past three years, working on paving gangs in the summer and sewer construction in the winter. He was considered an excellent and careful workman by all his companions.

Had Three Children.

Mr. Barron is survived by his wife and three children, one of whom is his six weeks' old. He had just recently left his family from King to St.
Julien street.

Mrs. Barron was not apprised of her husband's death until noon, when Jack Moffatt of the city engineer's department, accompanied by Mrs. Patterson,
public health nurse, visited the home.

RAILWAY BOARD TO HEAR PROTESTS

London Council and Chamber of Commerce Take Action
in Freight Case.

L. & P. S. ENDANGERED

Neither Mayor Venige nor City Clerk
Samuel Baker is of the opinion that a meeting of the city council is necessary
within the next ten days to protest the proposed action of the C. N. R. and C. P. R. to cancel the existing transportation rates on coal from Port Stanley to Erieau.

"We shall certainly pass a resolution
of protest and forward it to the dominion railway board," declared the mayor
today. "As far as I can see that is about all the council can do at the matter. The real work will have to be done by Frank White, M.P. He's the member for London, and not from London. He is the man to get busy on the matter for the question will come before the dominion railway board."

Not Cancelled Yet.

"If the coal rate is cancelled as is threatened, it means the end of the L. & P. S. In my opinion. However,
it isn't cancelled yet, and with cooperation from the London member in the dominion house we may be able to stop the thing and keep the price of coal for London manufacturers within reason."

City Clerk Baker expressed the opinion that the matter could be brought before the council at the last meeting of the year on Dec. 8, and in the meantime the council might as well consider the best steps to take in bringing the question before the railway
board.

Chamber Takes Action.

The chamber of commerce met on Saturday afternoon to consider and develop plans for additional action in connection with the proposed freight rates.

The chamber feels that the prospect of an increased rate on coal to a large extent per ton is a serious outlook. It will affect institutions, churches and every purchaser of coal. The cancellation of existing rates at the first of the year will mean an increase when coal consumption is at its height.

The chamber will present a protest to the railway commission.

LARGER MISSION FOR DR. GORDON

Work on Behalf of the United Church Suggested by Ministers.

FAREWELL ADDRESS

Inspiring Talk Is Given by "Ralph Connor" to Association.

Rev. Charles W. Gordon, D.D., Winnipeg, has made such a profound impression throughout the whole city during his week's mission at St. Andrew's United church, that a move is likely to be made to have him devote his whole time to similar work on behalf of the United Church throughout the dominion.

Rev. W. R. McIntosh, D.D., King street church, and chairman of Middlesex presbytery, speaking at the meeting of the London United church ministerial association this morning, at which Dr. Gordon was the speaker, voiced sentiments along this line, and a request will probably be forwarded to the headquarters of the church that Dr. Gordon be asked to take up such work.

"We have all been rather strongly impressed," declared Dr. McIntosh, "by Dr. Gordon's vivid, modern and acceptable interpretation of the relationship of religion to life, and I believe I am expressing the mind of hundreds of people in London when I say that nothing Dr. Gordon has done heretofore in literature, in patriotism, or any other department, would be at all comparable to the service he might render in comforting the heart of the church and in strengthening and inspiring us through the stormy days that are to come, if he will undertake the work."

An intense devotion. "Dr. Gordon has a colorful personality. He is full of enthusiasm, devotion to Christ, and he possesses the confidence of the church. What inspiration, what comfort, what steadiness, therefore, he would bring to the United church in the most important work of conducting missions, like he has done at St. Andrew's here, in the hundreds of cities, towns and villages in the dominion. I sincerely believe that the United church ought to secure Dr. Gordon's services, along with four or five others of similar power and ability, to carry on this most important work."

Dr. Gordon's address to the association this morning was essentially an intimate and personal one. It proved to be the climax of a series of addresses delivered by Dr. Gordon since coming to London nine days ago. Eleven of those addresses were given during the past week's mission services in St. Andrew's church, beginning with the anniversary services one week ago yesterday, while the remaining five speeches were given to various organizations, including the United church young people's conference in Centennial church, the students of the University of Western Ontario, the London Rotary club, the Ingomar club, and the United church, the ministerial association today.

"It is contact of living men," asserted Dr. Gordon emphatically in his address, "which is the only way that will save the world. The church is the organized instrument for the winning of the world, and no external agencies, other than the church, can do that purpose. We as a church must save Canada, and if Canada is not saved the responsibility rests upon us."

Life is Mysticism. "The Christian religion is mysticism," pointed out Dr. Gordon, "that life itself is mysticism; we see it in the tree and the flower. In our best moments we are all mystics, reaching into the unseen, reaching for what we cannot touch with our hands, but what we can reach with our mind and heart."

"Thus Christ has reduced Himself to a church to show His thoughts to the world, and He has no other way of showing how His thoughts reach into the minds of men. God is cooped up in heaven, cut off from the world. He wants to save the world, but He cannot separate from it, until and unless the church shows what He is to the world, and what He thinks and how His heart beats."

"We should concentrate our attention with the thought, the mind and the purpose of God and the world swings the lariat to bind and hamper us, but our whole anxiety should be to keep the lariat from binding us. Think of the mad dog of denationalism! What we should try to do is to bring the world up against Christ, because Christ can only be saved by the process of incorporation, of bringing men into touch and into contact with Christ through simple faith."

History Repeats Itself As Bishops Pay Tribute

BISHOP WILLIAMS. BISHOP FALLON.

History repeated itself when Bishop David Williams, head of the Anglican diocese of Huron, and Bishop Michael Fallon, head of the Roman Catholic diocese of London, spoke at the Byron sanatorium luncheon on Saturday, opening the Western Ontario drive for the Beck memorial endowment fund for Queen Alexandra sanatorium.

About ten or twelve years ago both Bishop Williams and Bishop Fallon were speakers at a civic banquet tendered the late Sir Adam Beck, K.B.E., LL.D., in the Masonic temple, and at which Sir Adam was presented with a beautiful silver service as a token of the city's appreciation of his efforts upon behalf of the welfare of the municipality.

At that banquet Bishop Williams referred to Sir Adam as "the incorrupt and uncorruptible statesman," while Bishop Fallon commented upon the event as most unique, and voiced the belief, which was often quoted by Sir Adam and others on later occasions, "that tributes after death are not to be compared with tokens of appreciation during the individual's lifetime."

Bishop Williams and Bishop Fallon were intimate friends of Sir Adam Beck. Proof of that was easily seen during the luncheon on Saturday. It was the first public function at which Bishop Fallon had had an opportunity to pay his tribute to Sir Adam and he did so with eloquence and power peculiarly his own.

Bishop Williams, having delivered Sir Adam's funeral oration in St. Paul's cathedral, confined himself more to the work of the sanatorium. Bishop Fallon gave "the dynamics," while Bishop Williams gave more "the mechanics" of the sanatorium. The two bishops collaborated as to the subject matter of their addresses, they could hardly have given two speeches which would more adequately have covered the situation.

History repeated itself when Bishop David Williams, head of the Anglican diocese of Huron, and Bishop Michael Fallon, head of the Roman Catholic diocese of London, spoke at the Byron sanatorium luncheon on Saturday, opening the Western Ontario drive for the Beck memorial endowment fund for Queen Alexandra sanatorium.

About ten or twelve years ago both Bishop Williams and Bishop Fallon were speakers at a civic banquet tendered the late Sir Adam Beck, K.B.E., LL.D., in the Masonic temple, and at which Sir Adam was presented with a beautiful silver service as a token of the city's appreciation of his efforts upon behalf of the welfare of the municipality.

At that banquet Bishop Williams referred to Sir Adam as "the incorrupt and uncorruptible statesman," while Bishop Fallon commented upon the event as most unique, and voiced the belief, which was often quoted by Sir Adam and others on later occasions, "that tributes after death are not to be compared with tokens of appreciation during the individual's lifetime."

PUBLIC VISIT BIER OF QUEEN MOTHER

Servants Watch Over Body in Small, Dimly-Lighted Church at Sandringham.

SIMPLICITY PREVAILS

Associated Press Despatch. Sandringham, England, Nov. 23.—Throughout last night in the quietude of the dimly-lighted little church in Sandringham four servants of the royal household watched beside the oak coffin in which lies the body of Queen Mother Alexandra.

With the utmost simplicity the coffin was taken over the path which Alexandra was wont to use in going from the palace to the church. It was followed by Princess Victoria and Princess Mary of Greece. On arriving at the church it was placed before the altar and over it was thrown as a pall the queen mother's own standard.

No crepe was to be seen inside the little church, nor were the candles lighted. A few wreaths, the floral tokens of affection from the members of the royal household, were placed about the coffin.

Simplicity also marked the funeral service which was held yesterday. The minister delivered a tribute to Alexandra, but did not preach a sermon. The service was attended by King George and Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales and other royal personages. With them mourned a large number of the regular members of the congregation. King George was taken to the palace by the royal car, while the queen mother and the rest of the royal party were the joint tributes of the king and queen.

After the service King George and Queen Mary and all the royal personages returned to Sandringham House and four servants took up their watch beside the coffin, which was made from the royal estate and built by estate carpenters.

Public Visit Bier. From today until Thursday, when the body will be taken to Westminster Abbey for the funeral services on Friday, the little church here will be open daily so that those who desire may pass by the bier and pay their respects to the beloved woman whom many of them had known or seen in Sandringham.

After the ceremony in Westminster Abbey the body of the queen mother will be taken to Windsor Castle. There, on Saturday, it will be laid beside that of her husband, King Edward VII, under the Albert memorial chapel in which they were married in 1863.

Utilities Would Purchase Sulphur Springs Property

Commission Offers To Assist in Financing Construction of New Dam at Springbank Park by Applying Net Revenues From Park Concessions.

Acting in accordance with instructions given at the meeting of the public utilities commission last week, Manager E. V. Buchanan is forwarding to the city council in writing the commission's offer to purchase the sulphur springs property at the foot of Dundas street.

The letter intimates further that the utilities commission is willing to assist the council to finance building a dam at Springbank by applying a portion of the net revenues from the park and by utilizing the profit from the sale of sulphur water to any baths that may be established.

The letter, which speaks for itself, is as follows: "At the meeting of the public utilities commission yesterday I was instructed to write you including copy of C. O. E. Smith's letter of Nov. 13, who therein makes application for sulphur water supply. Under the proposed agreement with Mrs. Moorehead we shall be unable to supply Mr. Smith."

"The commission wish me to reiterate that in addition to the advantages of the water supply from the well, the desirability of a beautiful approach to the river when the dam is built is of incalculable value."

"The commission is willing to purchase the property at any reasonable price, and is willing to assist the council in every possible way to finance the building of a dam at Springbank by applying a portion of the net revenues from the park and by utilizing the profit from the sale of sulphur water to any baths that may be established."

"It might be added that after the city purchased the property from Mr. Goulthart, two years ago the commission spent $443 in testing the well, in leveling off the ground and in installing a drinking fountain."

DRUNK MOTORIST JAILED 30 DAYS

Second Offender Is Sentenced and His Car Is Confiscated by the Court.

A policeman's duty is in the prevention of an offence rather than the prosecution of one, J. G. Gillanders argued in police court this morning, when a resident of Cleveland appeared for the second time in one month on a charge of driving his car while under the influence of liquor.

Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon turned a deaf ear to the argument, however, and sentenced the offender to 30 days in jail, and his car was confiscated.

The man was found at an early hour Sunday morning seated at the wheel of a motor car, and was arrested by Sergeant James Oakley, tried to "kill two birds with one stone," by keeping his eye on two suspects who had entered a King street motor car, and the driver, who, when the officer's back was turned, became involved in the more serious O. A. charge, when he drove along the street in zigzag fashion for about 100 feet.

Because the man had twice been convicted under the O. T. A. during October, Magistrate Graydon imposed a penalty of one month in the common jail without alternative of payment of fine.

SEE RE-ELECTION OF 25 IN COUNTY

Nominations in Middlesex Township Will Take Place December 28.

Nominations throughout Middlesex county will take place on the last Monday of the year, Dec. 28. On that date citizens who are asking for office in the county or township councils will signify their intentions at places appointed by each council.

As is the case every year, there will be some new faces in the county council when it meets on Monday, Jan. 4, according to reports the reeve of Newbury, A. Holman, desires to retire from public service, and will not be a candidate.

Early predictions seem to indicate that around 25 members of last year's council may add their experience to the 1926 body, while about six new councillors will be initiated into the deliberations of that body.

David Calvert, reeve of North Dorchester, and Duncan Graydon, reeve of Delaware, are general favorites of those being mentioned for varden of the county for 1926. Both men have had long experience in the council, and their opinions have always carried weight. Whether there will be other candidates for the chair is uncertain at the present time.

Remarkably successful in his profession as an architect, his firm, John Moore & Co., has designed and built many of the larger buildings in this city. Assisted by his son, O. Roy Moore, his partner in the firm, he drew the plans for both the new buildings for the University of Western Ontario and also the graceful concrete and cut-stone bridge which spans the Thames at the junction of the University of Western Ontario and the city of London.

Major Wenige entered the municipal arena in 1920, when he was elected alderman. During his term as a member of the council he displayed considerable aptitude in getting a grasp of public questions and the year following he was elected to the council. In his first attempt, but the experience gained in public speaking and in campaigning stood him in good stead two years later when he ran for mayor against Dr. J. C. Wilson and defeated him decisively. His service as mayor during the term that followed evidently gave satisfaction as he was accorded an acclamation for the year 1924. Last year John A. Anderson came out against him in the mayoralty contest, but was defeated by a majority of 6,305. This is said to constitute a record majority for any mayor of London.

Friends and opponents alike pay tribute to Mayor Wenige's energy in his official capacity. Few citizens are more known than he has been during the time he has been in public life in London. He conducts a successful retail bicycle business, which he has been advertising has built up to large proportions.

LIVELY FIGHT FOR MAYORALTY INDICATED

He is admittedly a strong candidate. He has a large personal following and with the experience gained in four mayoralty contests, in three of which he was successful, he has developed an formidable contender in the coming contest. On the other hand it has been almost a tradition in London that the mayor should be elected from the ranks of the business community.

The conditions of the contest are such that there is no reason to expect a narrow margin of victory. The contest is expected to be a close one, and it is not unlikely that the contest will be a very close one.

BARBERS TO LEARN OF AIMS OF LEGISLATION

Leon Worthal, President of Federation, To Speak in This City.

Explanation of the reasons for the agitation for the barbers' license law, which is intended to place the profession on a more stable footing throughout the province, will be given by Leon Worthal, president of the Canadian Federation of barbers, at a meeting in Foster hall Thursday night.

Mr. Worthal comes here from headquarters in Toronto, under the auspices of the master barbers of London, who are anxious to make the general public, as well as all barbers, conversant with the aims of this new legislation.

At present there is considerable misunderstanding in regard to the license plan, and it is with the intention of clarifying the air in this regard that Mr. Worthal is coming to London.

Mr. MacFie was a visitor with his family, having received no word from him for several months, he became alarmed, and instituted a general search.

Mr. MacFie was for a number of years head of a saw and planing mill in London. He left the city for the west.

A Situation That Is Serious.

The action of the Canadian railways in cancelling existing coal rates has brought London more than any other city in the affected area face to face with a proposition that cannot be described as other than serious.

For some years there has been a continuous development in the carrying of coal across Lake Erie from Conneaut to Port Stanley and Erieau. The L. & P. S. has been the logical carrier for this from Port Stanley to connections with the C. P. R., Canadian National, Michigan Central, Pere Marquette, and this trade has grown until it amounts to about 75 per cent of the total freight earnings of the L. & P. S. Freight and passenger earnings are about equally divided. The freight earnings in recent years show:

1921	$262,074
1922	206,032
1923	287,289

That means, on the basis of 1923 earnings, the London & Port Stanley, if the present move works out to its logical conclusion, stands to lose about $215,000 in revenue. The road has not paid its way for several years, and with that possible cut in its earning power it could not exist on anything approaching a commercial basis.

The reason why it may lose its entire coal trade is this: The present request for the cancellation of existing rates on coal stipulates to points east of Woodstock. It might be thought on first impression that this would not affect London at all, but the companies carrying coal across the lake have equipment for handling business for the whole of Western Ontario, including Hamilton and Toronto, and there is not a remote possibility of them keeping up a service to take care of a district restricted by the stipulation. So if coal ceased coming to Port Stanley the L. & P. S. would certainly cease handling it.

If the coal trade via the lake points is stopped it means that Buffalo will be the first port of entry from an all-rail haul into Ontario, and delivery through what is geographically the neck of the bottle cannot possibly be as even and as quick a distribution as that now made from Port Stanley and Erieau. Large consumers could not have their shipments coming in on a well-distributed schedule. They would find themselves faced with larger deliveries at times than they have the facilities to handle; that would result in demurrage charges and a needless hold-up of rolling stock.

The prospect of an increased charge for coal to the extent of from 50c to 90c per ton is a serious outlook. It will affect manufacturers, charitable institutions, schools, churches, homes—every purchaser of coal. The proposal to cancel existing rates at the first of the year means that the increase will come in a season of peak-consumption.

The chambers of commerce in Ontario have already taken steps to present a united protest to the dominion railway commission. The industrial development of Western Ontario calls for the placing of raw materials at the disposal of those who desire to use them at a rate that will enable competition with manufacturers of similar lines elsewhere. This vital principle is very much at stake in the present situation.

It would have been more in keeping with the purpose for which the railway commission was formed had the railway companies first approached it seeking permission for the cancellation of existing coal rates and made a full explanation of their reasons for such action. That would have permitted a fair hearing of representations from the coal consumers of Western Ontario and also from the management of the London & Port Stanley. This reasonable course not having been followed, the action of the railways can be considered only arbitrary, and as having placed all the interests affected on the defensive.

Never Heard of Him Before.

Were Prokop Magera to apply today to a Canadian immigration official and volunteer the information that he thought he'd make a good Canadian citizen there might be some doubt in the official mind. Were he to go farther and say that he had no funds, but a great deal of ambition it might not improve his chances.

But it happened that Prokop Magera came in a good many years ago; he was headed for western Canada, and he kept on going until he reached the Bon Accord district, north of Edmonton. Since then very little has been heard of Prokop Magera; we can't recall ever having seen his name in print. He took up his home-stead, has had his good years and poor ones, but his stock of ambition never ran low even if his finances did.

Magera's ambition was not all centered on himself. It extended to his family. Today a son and daughter are attending Normal school in Camrose; at Edmonton another son and daughter are at high school, while another son is preparing to take a course at the Vermilion school of agriculture. Magera's ambition went outside his own family, though that in itself was generous in size. He financed the education of a son of an old friend, and the backing of this little Ruthenian immigrant has given the boy the chance he needed. He now holds the degree of M.A.

Prokop Magera has made a good Canadian citizen. His devotion to his family and his passion for hard work has made it possible for him to project an influence into the future that will carry on and be a credit to him long after he has departed. Canada can stand a great many Prokop Mageras.

The Late A. E. Wigle.

A. E. Wigle, for twelve years telegraph editor of the Evening Advertiser, is dead. To his immediate relatives the keen sense of personal loss will be scarcely more acute than a similar feeling among the members of The Advertiser family.

In the publication of a daily paper there is a close, intimate association between workers that affords unusual opportunities to know and value men for the qualities they possess. It was on this basis that Mr. Wigle won and held the esteem of every member of The Advertiser family. As a telegraph editor he had few equals; no day's work was ever too great for him; no matter how heavy the run of telegraph, it would be carefully handled, well edited and away on time.

Few men have ever displayed such consistent good nature and kindly consideration for others as were evidenced by the late Mr. Wigle. Under any and all circumstances every day was a bright day; it was an opportunity to have a helpful word for the latest recruit in the newspaper family—a chance to give some person else a hand when his own desk was cleared.

For several weeks he had been ill. On Saturday afternoon he came to the office, announcing that he'd be back ready for work on Monday morning. It seems strange, almost tragic, that the tick of the telegraph instrument which would have marked out his day's work should be carrying the announcement that in the short interval between Saturday afternoon and Monday morning the telegraph editor should have passed on.

The Advertiser and every member of the staff pay tribute to his worth. It is a break in the newspaper family just as in the home circle. It was good to have known him and to have been associated with him in a day-to-day contact that ripened into lasting friendship.

Good Luck, Richard.

Detroit has a baby boy that weighs 14 ounces; he is 7 inches in length and his first name is Richard.

When Richard made his appearance in this very old world it was doubted whether he could live, but he had all the appearances of a very young man who had come with the intention of staying. Upon his head, which is no larger than a goose egg, he had a very nice growth of black hair, really more than some of the bald-headed doctors who shook their heads wisely and doubted his chances of existence. His finger nails, toe nails, eyebrows, and all other trimmings had been put on exactly as they should have been. The baby was also in possession of a pair of lungs, not great big ones, but he can cry at very well with them in protest when he considers himself neglected or abused.

Of course, Richard had to have something to eat—all babies do. So they gave him water to start with, of course not out of a tin dipper, because he might fall in and be drowned, but bit by bit out of a medicine dropper, and now he has advanced to the class where he absorbs milk albumen by the same process; so, you see, Richard is getting along.

They have to be very careful of this baby, he's only 7 inches long. He can't be carried around, nor can he be laid down here and there, because there's always the danger of the folks forgetting just where they left Richard. So they've got him all wrapped up in cotton and wool in a basket, with electric light bulbs arranged to keep the temperature even.

Naturally, all our readers will hope that Richard lives and thrives and grows up so thoroughly that some day the boys at school will be calling him "Dick."

Getting Ahead.

George Jones, named yesterday as chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, started as an office boy at the age of fifteen. He looked after the stationery and ink-wells and his salary was $3 a week.

A somewhat similar story, though on a collective scale, comes from Toronto, where forty years ago fourteen boys used to meet under the name of the "Mutual Improvement Society." This summer it was decided to call a meeting, the first in forty years, at the Muskoka home of one of the members. Those attending were W. E. Mason, mayor of Regina; T. H. Mason, prominent insurance broker, of Toronto; Dr. H. Austin Aikins, professor of psychology, of Cleveland; T. Albert Brown, head of Brown Bros., manufacturing stationers, Toronto; Richard Johnson, librarian of the department of railway economics, Washington; Sigmund Samuel, head of Samuel, Benjamin & Co., metal merchants; A. J. Mason, president of Mason & Risch. One member who did not attend was Bront. M. Aikins, a leading lawyer of San Francisco.

This is a great land for the boy or the young man who starts out with the determination to come back somebody.

Now's the Time

By ARK.

I watched the banker at his work, he sorted out a pile of bills, and laid aside one now and then that suffered from old age and chills. These discards they won't circulate, they've had their fling, and now they're through, the place they held it will be took by them what's crinkly like and new.

These old ones had their day, I guess, and if they'd talk with us a while, they'd spin a yarn to spring a tear and wrinkle up as well a smile.

That ten-spot, old and ragged now, has got a patch upon his neck, he looks as though he'd been pulled out from dying in a railway wreck. I'd like to know just where he'd been and how he travelled here and there, and if the doin's that he has did was always up above the boards and square.

I bet he's helped to pay the rent, and took some people to the show, and like as not he's been with them who worried much to see him go.

He's been unto the grocer's store to pay for wrinkled prunes and fish, he's been in pay-day's happy hour and helped to buy a pickle dish. He's paid for boots, he's paid for pants, he's helped to pay the taxes too, 'twould fill a book if I but knew the places that ten-spot's been through.

I couldn't help but heave a sigh that all his useful days was through, I reckoned I knew fifty things that I could make that ten-spot do.

It's just a way the world has got with bills and folks like you and me, when we be comin' to a place we're not just what we used to be. We'd better hustle while we can and work the good that we can do, before they set us to one side to make way for the folks what's new.

PROGRESS OF CIVILIZATION.

PROFESSIONAL shoppers are profitably employed in London and New York. They take up the burden of shopping for weddings and for Christmas presents. An actress may have an entirely new wardrobe purchased for her, and almost always the work is done quickly and efficiently. Last year a New York man engaged a professional shopper. Selections were made for aunts, uncles, wife, sons, daughters, cousins and friends. At a given hour the client was notified and proceeded to the place of appointment for inspection of the purchaser's selections. Twenty minutes later, having supplemented certain changes and additions, the job was done.

WHAT APPLES MEAN.

From the Montreal Examiner.
THE IMPORTANCE of the apple industry in Canada is realized, when it is stated that 200,000 acres of land are devoted to apple culture, that 20,000 railway cars are required annually to market the crop, that the estimated value of the crop is $120,000,000, and that the industry contributes $2,000,000 to the freight earnings of the Canadian railways. This is apart from many minor considerations that might be mentioned. This is certainly a creditable record.

The Boomerang

About Miracle Wheat

By "SODBUSTER"

WILTON GROVE, Nov. 21.—During the recent election we heard a good deal of the Prosperity League, and to some it seemed to be a new thing, but to the farmers not so far we've had a Prosperity League after us farmers for years and years.

Whenever this league feels that the farmers' pocketbook is in danger of getting too fat and cumbersome why they just naturally get busy and sell him some get-rich-quick scheme, something new that will do away with his hard work and make it easier for him to lay away something for a rainy day.

In reading in your editorial in regard to the new Garnet wheat, which is undoubtedly a good variety, because it is vouched for by a reliable man, Dr. Charles Saunders, you state it will bring gold dollars and greenbacks to the farmers.

That statement called to my mind an experience that happened to a number of sodbusters in Wilton Grove with a new variety of wheat called "Miracle" wheat. The man who originated the scheme was a good judge of people out here, for the agent he sent around was from the land of the heather, a thoroughly sincere man, honest with the conviction that he was doing the farmers a great favor in letting them get in on a good thing.

Chance of a Lifetime.

I GOT home rather late the night I favored me with a visit, and as we sat at supper he told me of the merits of this wonderful wheat. It originated in Egypt, was found in the hand of a mummy where it had lain for thousands of years, and had been brought to Canada, and the few kernels were planted in the garden, and each kernel grew four or five stalks and each head of wheat averaged about 40 kernels to the head, making a gain of from 160 to 200 per cent on each kernel sown.

The "Rousian" government, he said, had been sent a sample and were anxious to buy one million bushels to make the Miracle wheat the national emblem of Russia, and would pay about $5 a bushel. In fact, he told a splendid story and told it beautifully, he also told of the good, wide-awake farmers who had bought, and had he brought out his order book at this psychological moment, I guess I would have been ordered as much as anybody else. However, he stayed all night with us and by the time I had the chores done in the morning my common sense had somewhat returned, and I decided not to invest.

Paid For His Keep.

HOWEVER, before he left I took one pound at 75 cents to pay for his supper, bed and breakfast, and we prepared a nice spot in the garden and planted it according to directions. We also planted a pound of common wheat and when we threshed out two samples we decided that the only miracle about it was that so many of us could be caught with the same hook.

I think the time is far enough past that we can all look back at our experience with Miracle wheat and enjoy a good laugh at our own expense, especially as it did not break anybody and none of it has so far been shipped to "Rousia," and I've just about come to the conclusion that one of the considerable worries that go toward making the poor but honest farmer gray-headed and keeps his bank account in a chronic state of flatness is this Prosperity League, or perhaps it is an Adversity League, which seems to have invented a way to transfer the farmers' hard-earned dollars from the man who works with his hands to the pocket of the fellows who live on their wealth.

I wouldn't say they are all like George Washington, for you know whole establishment would be on the road to ruin. The production of foodstuffs is the same problem, I realize that it is not under the same management, and perhaps never will be, but there is an idea there worth working out. As long as farmers and manufacturers view each other with mutual distrust they are doing mutual injury.

Where Foreigners Succeed.

Editor of The Advertiser:—Sir—Your editorial the other day showing the names of foreigners in the Canadian west that had made such progress that they now sit as members in the legislature shows that there are possibilities in these men that make for the betterment of Canadian development if they are given the proper chance to develop.

It would be dangerous to open the doors wide to men of the nationalities of those mentioned, but to me the chief point is that those who often do the most effective work in the west come from lands where the chances have not been nearly so good as they are here in Canada. At first that might seem like saying we had to go down to a lower level to get the men we wanted, but that is not so, because these men have proved by their accomplishments that they do not belong to a lower level.

I have always felt that the foreigners in this part of the country did not have much of a chance. We don't pay very much attention to them except when we get them up in the police station to fine them for something they have done that they shouldn't do. The west seems to give them the chance that they can take advantage of.

The Cash Value of "TIME"

"TIME" for you has a definite cash value because each year you delay insuring means an increase in the premium.

Delay will cost you money—a larger premium. As "TIME" passes you are more likely to become uninsurable. The cost of this to your heirs may be serious.

Even after you have insured your life, "TIME" again has a cash value to you, for each year your policy, "if on the 'with profits' plan, will increase in value by the amount of whatever profits are added.

Turn "TIME" into money by insuring your life now. The Confederation Life Association issues a policy providing that should you become Totally and Permanently Disabled, not only will the Association pay all future premiums for you, keeping the policy in full force and earning profits if on the "with profits" plan, but they will, in addition pay you a regular Monthly Income during disability, and then when you die pay the policy in full. If you should die by accidental means the face value of the policy will be doubled.

Now is a Good "TIME" to get Rates and Full Particulars

Many Bus Lines

(From the St. Thomas Times-Journal.)

NORWAY has 8,313 miles of main highways, and 12,924 miles of country highways which are well maintained and are constantly being improved for automobile traffic, according to a report recently published by the director of public roads in Norway. During 1924, 450 bus lines, with a total length of 7,500 miles, were operated, while many motor truck lines carried farm products long distances to steamers and railroad lines.

Because of the mountainous character of the country, road construction is often expensive, but is considered so necessary to the country's development that the annual expenditures have increased 400 per cent in the last twenty years. The report describes the mountain roads of Norway, and discusses the development of the highway system, methods of administration, finance, construction, maintenance, and the problem of keeping roads open in winter.

COURAGE TO SAIL IS GIVEN GIRLS

Miss Jessie Macpherson Delivers Inspiring Address at C. G. I. T. Conference.

CLOSING SESSION
Miss Bona Mills and Miss Helen D'Avignon Are Also Speakers.

The seas of God are the most dangerous of all to travel, but if one would have but the courage to take the risk of going out on the stormy waters they would be sure to win their way. That was the idea conveyed to some 200 girls yesterday afternoon at the closing session of the C. G. I. T. conference for Western Ontario, held in the First United church.

Miss Jessie Macpherson, was the speaker who encouraged the girls to "further, farther, farther sail." Her address was one of inspiration. She inspired the girls to explore the life to be explored. She told them that there would be those who would be rebuke them. There would be those who would be unfriendly. But she encouraged the girls to sail out at all cost.

The ports of God, she said, were placed far apart, but in them there were treasures of the finest beauty, skill and love. She pointed out that they must have adventure, they must have courage to take the risk. Sail for the deep waters, was Miss Macpherson's advice.

Report of Committees.
Miss Eleanor Hayson gave the report of the resolutions committee, while Miss Helen Ransom, Bramford, gave the report of the finding committee. Miss Bona Mills gave a brief outline of the findings of the conference.

The service of worship was led by Miss Marion Joyce, and during the service Miss Jean Houston, London, sang.

Miss Madeline Boucher of St. Thomas was elected the first chairman of the London girls' conference, convening at First United church, this city, on Saturday morning. Miss Helen Ransom, Bramford, was elected as secretary. The resolution committee was also appointed, and included Miss Eleanor Hayson, London, Miss Jean Mitchell, Bramford, and Miss Jean Mitchell, Woodstock.

At Saturday evening's session Miss Bona Mills was the speaker, addressing the girls on "Other Shores." Her talk was illustrated by word pictures of girls in other lands who were beginning the voyage on life's sea just as the girls at the conference were beginning their voyage. The first two girls pictured were two who had heard of God, a girl from India and a girl from Japan. She also told of another girl in Africa and another in the Canadian west. Girls in nearly every land were mentioned and their ways of living were explained. Miss Mills also pointed out their ideals.

Miss Mills spoke of the ships that passed in the night, telling the gathering that many at the conference were but passing ships, with just a smile or a look as a sign of recognition. She also spoke of the home port, the school port, the office port.

Interchange Carcass.
In speaking of the interchanging of cargoes between ships while in port, Miss Mills pointed out a few of the things that the Canadian girls in India or the Orient. She mentioned culture, art, poetry, courtesy, beauty, efficiency, loyalty, justice and kindness.

Then, in speaking of the ships that are in distress, she left a message with the girls.

"Are we going to keep our God, who gives us happiness, joy and understanding for ourselves, or give him to the other less fortunate girls in the other lands?"

A clever little play, "The Wishing Ring," was given by the Cloverleaf Canadian girls-in-training group of St. James' Anglican church. Miss Kathleen England led in singing a thanksgiving hymn. Miss Olive Ziegler, of the service of worship and Miss Jessie Macpherson led a merry sing-song.

LIBERAL CANDIDATE IN BAGOT POPULAR
G. E. Morin, St. Pie Notary, Well Known Throughout Quebec.

Special to The Advertiser.
Montreal, Nov. 23.—One of the most popular figures in rural Quebec is G. E. Morin, notary, of St. Pie, in Bagot county, who has just been selected as Liberal standard-bearer in the federal by-election in that constituency, which was rendered vacant by the death a few days after his election of J. E. Marcell, M.P.

Mr. Morin, who is 41 years of age, is a native of St. Hyacinthe, and was educated at the college there. Seventeen years ago he went to St. Pie to reside and opened his law office as a notary in fact.

All that time he has acted as guide, philosopher and friend not only to his fellow-townsmen but to all the countrymen. As much as he is a native of St. Hyacinthe, he is in fact a farmer, entering intimately into their social activities and recreations as well as their business affairs. He acknowledged himself fond of all country sports, horse racing particularly. He is a lover of dogs and takes an interest in poultry-raising and is in fact a devotee of the country rather than of the busy haunts of men.

So far Mr. Morin has not taken a prominent part in politics, other than assisting the local Liberals with his advice and by his oratory.

Volunteer Airmen Sought by Britain

Move Is Under Way For the Formation of Home Defence Squadrons.

Associated Press Despatch, London, England, Nov. 25.—Voluntary recruiting of the special reserve and auxiliary air force squadrons, which are to form an important part of the program of home defence against air attack, was commenced at the beginning of this month, following a speaking campaign by Sir Samuel Hoare, secretary of state for air, in the kingdom's industrial centers.

This enlistment of the maximum amount of skilled knowledge of aviation in the country on a voluntary basis is only an experiment, Sir Samuel acknowledged, but it is an experiment that must be tried fully, if merely for the sake of economy.

For the royal air force is bound to be expensive both in equipment and maintenance depending for its striking power on an entire absence of mechanical breakdown in her air.

Original Plan.
The problem before the air ministry is to find from the mass of volunteers the right type of officers and men, with not only the will but also the practical experience through life profession or trade to build up an efficient air unit of defence with the minimum amount of annual training. No other country has yet endeavored to tackle its air defence problem along the same lines.

The squadrons will, of course, be centered around areas industrial, but they will be scattered throughout the country, and the auxiliary squadrons which are to supplement them as soon as they can be mobilized. Consequently, the squadrons will be divided into two classes. Seven will be special reserve squadrons, in which the members will receive regular training, and the remaining two-thirds will be regular reserve squadrons, in which the members will receive only occasional training.

At present, the auxiliary squadrons are already established.

The peace time stations of the seven special reserve squadrons will be: London, probably, Humber, North Sea, Bristol, Lincoln, and Norwich, and two other stations whose locations have not yet been decided. Aerodromes near London, Birmingham and at one other station yet to be decided.

The six auxiliary squadrons will be stationed at: London, Glasgow, Edinburgh, Birmingham and at one other station yet to be decided.

Yesterday's Crime List Shows Four Dead and Three Injured.

Associated Press Despatch. Detroit, Nov. 22.—Four persons were slain and three injured, one probably fatally, in attempted slayings here yesterday, police report.

Richard Brusseau, police said, climbed nineteen years of domestic strife by shooting and killing his two sons, Richard, Jun., 17 years old, and Harvey, 14. He then turned the pistol on his wife and inflicted severe wounds.

Mrs. Brusseau, in a hospital, accused the husband of the shooting, and Brusseau's brother, Louis, said his brother had told him of the crime. Police are seeking the man.

Ross Loney, 30 years old, was killed and his companion, Walter Ruffolo, 25, seriously wounded, by five robbers. The men, who are express messengers, were delivering an $18,000 payroll to the Almsworth Manufacturing Company when they were attacked. The robbers escaped with the money.

Mrs. Agnes Kirckhoff, 31, is held by police in connection with the killing of her four-months-old child. Officers say they have evidence of a man acquaintance of the mother who killed the child by hurling it against a wall. The body was later dismembered and placed in a drain pipe, police assert.

Lewis Takes Drastic Step To Enforce Agreement in Bituminous Coal Fields—Asks If the Government Is Ready To Intervene—Hints Men Themselves May Take Action.

Associated Press Despatch. Philadelphia, Nov. 22.—President Coolidge has been asked by the United Mine Workers whether the government desires to intervene to maintain the integrity of the Jacksonville soft coal wage agreement and, if not, whether the union men would be justified in taking their own measures to enforce it.

The inquiry was made in a letter from John L. Lewis, head of the miners' organization, dated November 21. Mr. Lewis stated that the three-year agreement, expiring March 31, 1927, was reached with the co-operation of the department of justice, commerce and labor, and added that the annual report of the secretary of commerce referred to the compact as an industrial peace in the industry and that no better example of co-operation to secure the elimination of national waste could be presented.

Yet by reading the advertisements, without leaving your home you can tell definitely where the desired wares are, their prices, how they will serve you. You can know actual values long before you buy.

Advertisements throw light on new comforts and improvements, too, you might like to own. They let you see conveniences other folks are enjoying—bring them within easy reach.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Often Means
You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood, and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts: take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water.—Adv.

BISHOP FALLON HITS ATTACKERS OF HYDRO

System Not Out of Danger Yet, He Tells Workers at Byron
Luncheon—Magrath Praises London's Utilities
After Tour of City's Units.

C. A. Magrath, chairman of the hydro-electric power commission of Ontario, declared Bishop Fallon at the Byron luncheon on Saturday with two objects in view, the first, Mr. Magrath informed The Advertiser in an interview, being to visit Sir Adam Beck's home city, and the second being to be present at the Byron sanatorium luncheon, launching the Beck memorial endowment fund campaign for this part of the province.

As it turned out, however, Mr. Magrath's visit to the city meant much more than that, in so far as he was made the subject of felicitations and good wishes for success in his new position, which is perhaps more important, he was accorded moral support in a plain-spoken warning from Bishop M. P. Fallon, to the effect that it is time for opposition to hydro in Ontario to cease.

"Hydro is not out of danger yet," declared Bishop Fallon at the Byron luncheon. "Not out of danger from opposition which does not come out in the open, but which shoots from behind hedges, that in the past has shot, not at the target of public service, but at the target of Sir Adam Beck."

"We have had about enough, if I may be permitted to say so," stated Bishop Fallon positively, "of this public and private opposition to hydro work and energy and development. The people of Ontario have too large a stake, financial and otherwise, to have men engaged in carrying on the work of the hydro commission embarrassed by opposition any longer, or to have them receive anything but the most enthusiastic and loyal support." (Hear, hear, and prolonged applause.)

"I came to London full of expectation to see the home town of Sir Adam Beck, the man who made hydro, and the man whose position I have been called to inadequately fill," observed Mr. Magrath, "and I can truthfully say that I am delighted with the reception which I have received."

"Words are beyond me to express my astonishment at the magnitude and the facilities which you have at Queen Alexandra sanatorium here for the caring of tubercular patients," pursued Mr. Magrath, "because I had no conception that you had anything as large as this. The outlook of the hospital is perfect, and I will be able to go back to Toronto with a first-hand message as to the great and wonderful work the Byron sanatorium is carrying on."

"I appreciate very much the kind words concerning myself, spoken at the banquet, and particularly Bishop Fallon's remarks regarding opposition to hydro. What he said was quite true, and it is hoped that opposition in the future will gradually, if not abruptly, die away, because the enterprise is so big that it requires everybody's hearty and unanimous support."

Praises Commission.
"The organization of your public utilities commission strikes me as being worthy of particular praise," stated the chairman, because of the fact that it brings the waterworks and electrical departments under one head, in addition to the parks and playgrounds, making for economic and efficient administration. Springfield park, I really believe, is without exception one of the finest parks I have ever seen, and though, of course, it is not looking its best just at this time of year, I can readily glimpse something of its delightful facilities to the citizens of the city and surrounding country in its full beauty in summer time."

Mr. Magrath, who was driven about the city by the members of the commission, expressed a keen interest in all that was shown to him, and particularly pertaining to Sir Adam or his connection with civic affairs. The chairman went through the Cavell street sub-station at Horton street. He read the carefully the granite tablet marking the switching on of the power by Sir Adam and Philip Pocock for the first time on November 20, 1910, and looked over the Beck well system, million-gallon reservoir and outside equipment, which produces millions of gallons of pure water for city consumers.

Visits Hospitals.

Other points of interest shown Mr. Magrath during the course of an hour's tour about the city included the following: Ontario hospital; Hon. C. S. Hyman's residence, Mr. Hyman being a personal friend; Thomas playground; Headley, Sir Adam's residence, Richmond street; St. Joseph's hospital, Victoria hospital and medical school; chamber of commerce with Beck emblem; billboards at headquarters; St. Peter's seminary; University of Western Ontario; Brescia hall, and, of course the sanatorium.

"Mr. Magrath is a Canadian, and an engineer who has made his way to the top of the ladder," remarked Col. Abbott, D.S.O., chairman at the banquet, in introducing the chairman, "He has made a name for himself in irrigation work in western Canada, in his work on the fact board during the war, and in connection with the high-ways of Ontario. The future hydro policy in Ontario, the ideals aimed at by the commission and its late chairman are safe in Mr. Magrath's hands."

"I congratulate Mr. Magrath upon the distinction which has been conferred upon him," stated Bishop David Wilton, "and I believe I may say in congratulating him that he is the right man in the right place. I remembered a speech which Mr. Magrath delivered at Ottawa several years ago concerning the relation of capital and labor, and I likewise remember the central theme of that address was that if people would only remember the golden rule, to do unto others as they would be done by, then much of the world's trouble would pass away. And that is the type of public men we need today, men who believe in Christian principles and govern their work and efforts accordingly."

Bishop Felicitates.

"I hope that you may have all of Sir Adam Beck's joys, and none of his sorrows," said Bishop Michael Fallon, "That you may have all of the support which gathered about him and none of the opposition which he had to fight. May the sun shine upon you and may no cloud darken your sky in the position which you hold, enabling you to do so much for the welfare of the people."

Drawing Mr. Magrath's attention to the fact that he had only a newspaper photograph of hydro's new chairman in his office, Manager E. V. Buchanan asked for "a real photograph," which Mr. Magrath kindly consented to send to the commission to hang alongside that of Sir Adam in the commission's board room.

LONDON MUST GO FORWARD

Vote "Yes" On All Three Bylaws For Your Own City's Good

Among Canadian cities London's record of substantial growth is unique. Each year sees a steady increase in population. Building programs are becoming more and more extensive. Prosperity is general.

While London has forged ahead industrially and socially, however, it has lagged sadly behind where public improvements are concerned. Three most conspicuous examples of this are the nurses' quarters at Victoria Hospital, the Victoria and Aged People's Homes and the Ridout street bridge.

The Nurses' Quarters

themselves. At present many nurses are being accommodated in the Children's Hospital, occupying space that should be reserved for sick and crippled children. Others are being "roomed out" at a cost to the taxpayers of $3,500 a year.

These conditions can be righted by the citizens of London at a trivial cost—less than 25 cents a year per individual.

Give the nurses, the crippled children and the adult patients a square deal by voting "Yes" for the Nurses' Home bylaw on December 7.

To maintain its splendid service Victoria Hospital MUST have a new nurses' residence. The present quarters are hopelessly inadequate, unsanitary, and lack proper hygienic arrangements. They are not only unfair to the nurses, but lessen the efficiency of the hospital and threaten the comfort and convenience of the patients.

The Victoria Home and the Aged People's Home

surprisingly low cost. To maintain their present high efficiency, extensions must be made to both institutions at a combined cost of $75,000.

London must heed the appeal of these old people.

Vote "Yes" for the bylaw and help bring happiness to their declining years.

It is the recognized duty of every progressive city to support old and crippled citizens who are incapable of supporting themselves.

The Aged People's Home and the Victoria home for Incurables have been doing this work for years—and at a

The Ridout Street Bridge

None can fairly dispute that a new bridge is one of London's vital needs—a bridge that will be a credit to one of the city's most used thoroughfares.

A new Ridout street bridge has been one of London's chief necessities for years. The present unsightly structure is a menace to the safety of pedestrians and motorists. It is so unsafe that, by order of the Ontario Railway Board, the London Street Railway has been forced to discontinue service on the Ridout street line.

The death occurred on Saturday of W. J. Wilson, V.S., aged 61 years, at his late residence, 82 King street. Born in this city in 1863, the late Dr. Wilson had been a continuous resident ever since. He was a past president of the Ontario Veterinary association, in which he always took an active interest. The late Dr. Wilson was a past master of the Orange lodge, L. O. L. No. 298, and a member of the King Solomon's A. F. and A. M., and St. George's Royal Arch chapter.

Trees Hewn On Castle Grounds Provide Casket For Dead Queen

By HAL O'FLAHERTY
Special cable to The Advertiser and Chicago Daily News Copyright.
Sandringham, England, Nov. 22.—Two gray-bearded laborers stood bareheaded in the gales that swished about Sandringham Castle yesterday peering through the mist toward the building, which for years had been the home of Queen Alexandra and now shelters the grief-stricken royal family. From minute to minute one could hear the stroke of other workmen's axes as they cut trees on the royal estate to be used in the making of Queen Alexandra's coffin.

The whole countryside, drooped and sorrowful over the loss of the woman it loved, is cloaked and costumed in general mourning. In the great park of the castle trees glistened under a

Detroit Man Found in Dying Condition—Wife Dies in Hospital.

Special to The Advertiser.
Detroit, Nov. 22.—As a sequel to his slaying of his wife and two children, Richard Brusseau, 40 years old, sought since the triple murder, Friday, was found in Plymouth, Mich., Saturday, unconscious and dying from a bullet wound believed to have been self-inflicted. He died in Receiving hospital here a short time later without having regained consciousness.

Brusseau, who fled from his home at 1236 Pine street, after the shooting, was found by a teamster. The slayer had a bullet hole in his head, and a revolver by his side. Examination of the revolver indicated two shots had recently been fired.

Mrs. Rose Brusseau died in Receiving hospital Friday night, and the two sons, Harvey, 14 years old, and Richard, 10 years old, were instantly killed when their father turned the revolver on them. Clifford, a 16-year-old son, said to be his father's "favorite," was spared.

DECLARES CROSS IS A GLORIOUS SYMBOL

Father Foristal Preaches Pre-Advent Sermon in St. Martin's.

"And then there shall appear the sign of the Son of Man in heaven." Undoubtedly, declared Rev. Father Foristal in his sermon yesterday in St. Martin's church, the sign of the Son of Man is the sign of the cross.

The cross, he further stated, in ancient times was the sign of ignominy, of disgrace and humiliation, the death meted out to slaves and criminals. With the crucifixion, the evolution of thought regarding the cross entirely changed and it became the symbol of the death and ascension of the Saviour.

The sign of ignominy and humiliation underwent a change, and the cross became the object of veneration and the symbol of glory and joy; posts wrote, artists painted and everyone loved the figure of salvation.

That the cross shall predominate the day of judgment there is no doubt, representing to the just their redemption and the release from their trials and sufferings, and to the sinful the beginning of suffering and humiliation.

The cross, the preacher explained, is the figure of troubles on this earth, and children should be taught to reverence and love the trials that afflict them as a message from God. If crosses do not obstruct our paths we should choose some, as nothing sanctifies like suffering. There are some who put up with trials, not bowing their spirits nor admitting them interiorly as from God. To these, stated the preacher, appearance of the cross on the day of judgment will be a source of shame of their negligence and worldliness.

"As we live so shall we die," so invoked Father Foristal. "Let us salute, respect and reverence God's holy cross, that its apparition on the day of judgment will be a consolation rather than a fear."

HEIR TO OFFICE OF SIR ADAM AIDS SAN. ENDOWMENT DRIVE

C. A. Magrath Speaks When Workers Gather at Byron Luncheon.

BISHOPS BACK FUND

Fallon and Williams Pay Tribute To Late Hyatt Chief's Work.

Tremendous impetus was given the Western Ontario campaign for the Beck memorial endowment fund of $500,000 from the whole province for the Queen Alexandra sanatorium at the luncheon held at Byron sanatorium Saturday noon, an impetus that is bound to bring this week's campaign to a successful issue.

Mindful of tonight's Sir Adam Beck and his great work, particularly his love and devotion to the sanatorium, Charles A. Magrath, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, Right Rev. David Williams, D.D., bishop of Huron, Right Rev. M. F. Fallon, D.D., bishop of London, and Col. E. H. Leonard, D. S. O., vice-president of the sanatorium board of directors, united at the luncheon, attended by upwards of 100 people from London and outside points, in an earnest plea that, as a true memorial to Sir Adam, no stone be left unturned to make the campaign a complete success.

Seated at the head table were the following: Col. E. H. Leonard, D.S.O.; Charles Magrath, Bishop M. F. Fallon, Bishop David Williams, and Vining, Philip Pocock, Dr. W. J. Robinson, J. E. McConnell, T. A. Stevens, J. A. Magee, Gerald Pearson, R. J. Webster, Percy Moore, Frank Jewell, T. W. McFarland and E. V. Buchanan.

"Though I have always had the highest regard for Sir Adam," declared Mr. Magrath, "my admiration is intensified when I see what he was trying to do here for the sick and afflicted. You never have, nor will you ever be, engaged in a more noble task than this Beck endowment campaign. I urge you, therefore, to put forward your very best efforts, and I know that this drive is going to be a success and that Sir Adam's work here will be carried down in the future reflecting the glory of the man who was a credit to his country."

Pledges Whole Support.

"I hope, I trust, I exhort all the Roman Catholic people of the province and of this diocese," asserted Bishop Fallon, "to show the widest, the deepest and most universal generosity to this sanatorium endowment, wherever all crosses receive, under the grace of God, all that human and medical skill can do for them to meet their needs."

"Whatever influence any word or action of mine may have upon the Anglican people of this diocese," affirmed Bishop Williams, "I sincerely hope that they will quietly, without singing the national anthem, said Col. Leonard, "and in doing so to think of him, not as a great king, but as the son of a great queen, Queen Alexandra, after whom the hospital is named, who passed away yesterday."

"I am here to tell you," asked Col. Leonard, after the toast had been drunk in silence, "that Queen Alexandra, one of the foremost figures in England in fighting tuberculosis in old land, a woman of great benevolence and of many good works, should pass away within a few months of Sir Adam Beck and almost on the very day on which we are launching the drive on behalf of this sanatorium for tubercular patients and in Sir Adam's memory?"

POWER OF LOBO DIES IN THIS CITY

Donald Stewart, 93, Had Lived Most of Life On Old Homestead.

The oldest and perhaps the most outstanding pioneer of Lobo township in the person of Donald Stewart, aged 93 years, passed away early Sunday morning, at the residence of his son, D. A. Stewart, 125 John street, this city.

Of Scotch parentage, the late Mr. Stewart was born in Lobo township in 1832, his parents having settled there two years previously. Here he lived until 1903, when he took up his residence on Maitland street.

Many were the interesting stories told by Mr. Stewart of the pioneer days in this district. From a dense wilderness and brush, he helped his father to hew a home for himself and family and on the same old homestead he raised a family of his own in later years. Until a few days before his death he still cherished a great delight in recalling and relating to others his many thrilling experiences of bygone days.

He often spoke of his frequent trips to London as a boy, when the present metropolis of today consisted only of a few scattered cabins, a general store and the customary saloon. He witnessed the construction of the first roads and for many years had watched with pride the growth of Western Ontario.

On the death of his wife, eleven years ago, Mr. Stewart took up residence with his son. Through his life, he had never known the meaning of sickness, and until confined to his bed, some days ago, had enjoyed an active career. He was a staunch Liberal in politics and on October 29 last cast his vote for the King government. For over 60 years he was a member of the old school Baptist church in Lobo and on coming to London joined the congregation of the Talbot street Baptist church, where he had been a valued member until the time of his death.

The late Mr. Stewart is survived by his two sons, ex-Alt. D. Stewart, of this city, and J. A. Stewart, of Strathroy. Two sisters, Mrs. Jane Stewart, of Strathroy and Mrs. J. H. O'Neill, of Toronto, also survive.

The funeral will be held from the residence of his son, D. A. Stewart, 125 John street, on Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. The services will be conducted by Rev. John Trickey, of Drumbo, who for many years was an intimate friend of the deceased. Interment will be made in Lyndhurst cemetery.

The pallbearers will be Mr. McLaughlin, A. D. Gilles, Alex. Stewart, Charles Carmichael, H. D. Steele and J. G. Steele.

WEALTHY ARE NOT GOOD AS RULE, SAYS PASTOR

Good Rich Folks in Minority. Declares Rev. W. M. MacDonald.

"Do churches today bow to wealth?" This was the interesting subject of Rev. W. M. MacDonald's sermon at the Maitland street Baptist church yesterday morning. He chose his text from the book of James, second chapter, to secure that service, and particularly for the young, some one to go out and do all in your power for this endowment fund. Go forward with the golden rule in your hearts, the spirit of doing for others as you would be done by, in order to make this institution a greater power for good even than it is today."

"The immense majority of those who suffer from tuberculosis are young people, and people who come from the cities and who are not constructed upon the most sanitary lines, because of inadequate means. In promoting the work of the sanatorium, you will be accomplishing something by aiding an institution that is doing the utmost that modern science can do for those whose personal means are insufficient to secure that service, and particularly for the young. Some one to go out and do all in your power for this endowment fund. Go forward with the golden rule in your hearts, the spirit of doing for others as you would be done by, in order to make this institution a greater power for good even than it is today."

"I would ask you to remember that the sanatorium is open to patients from whatever part of the province they may come." "Faith without works is dead," concluded Bishop Fallon. "I would ask you to remember that, and add to Sir Adam's faith your wealth and loyalty. I am glad to have invited you here and to say what I have said in affectionate memory of Sir Adam and this, his greatest work."

Backs Fallon's Plea.

"I hardly know where to begin in speaking of Sir Adam Beck," said Bishop Williams, "but I said of him the best and truest things I could say when our hearts were all full of the thought of Sir Adam Beck, his great work, and his great personality on behalf of the service of the people. I don't intend to repeat that, but will merely say 'Amen' to all that my friend, Bishop Fallon, has said as regards our attitude to the sanatorium and the memory of Sir Adam Beck."

"I would ask you to remember that the sanatorium is open to patients from whatever part of the province they may come." "Faith without works is dead," concluded Bishop Fallon. "I would ask you to remember that, and add to Sir Adam's faith your wealth and loyalty.
