THE WALTHAM CONVERTIBLE BRACELET WATCH

IS easily the first favorite with the ladies. Why? Because of its dainty beauty and abiding accuracy. But that is not all. It appeals to the ladies also because of the many different ways it can be worn. On the case is a little "eye" that folds back snugly against the case when it is desired to wear the watch on chain, brooch or ribbon. You really ought to see this beautiful watch and we shall be pleased to show it to you at any time.

CHILDREN OF ALL AGES

Children of all ages—whether it be the new-born babe or the growing child—have to be constantly guarded as to their health.

None to Spare.

The skipper of a small steamer which ran up and down the Clyde managed one day at low tide to get his vessel on a bank of mud.

After he had exhausted his entire vocabulary in describing the tide, his erring steamer, and his still more rotten crew, he leaned gloomily over the side to wait with what patience he could muster for the tide to rise again.

The Larger the Better.

As a rule, it is the new father who is the bore, and the visitor who tries politely to stifle his yawns while the baby is eulogised.

She was full of advice. She told him what to do and what not to do, how to treat the baby when it cried, how to sing to it, how to talk to it, what toys to give it, what school to send it to, what religion it should follow, and what profession to adopt.

Mr. Jones was just about to ask her advice regarding the color of its coffin when she suddenly jumped up and said she was sorry, but she really must be going.

"Really?" murmured Mr. Jones faintly. "Yes. I really must. Good-bye! I expect your baby will be much larger when I see her again."

"Yes," said Mr. Jones. "I sincerely hope so."

FREQUENT HEADACHES

A Sure Sign That the Blood is Watery and Impure.

People with thin blood are much more subject to headaches than full-blooded persons and the form of anaemia that afflicts growing girls is almost always accompanied by headaches, together with disturbance of the digestive organs.

Whenever you have constant or recurring headaches and pallor of the face, they show that the blood is thin and your efforts should be directed toward building up your blood. A fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will do this effectively, and the rich red blood made by these pills will remove the headache.

More disturbances to the health are caused by their blood than most people have any idea of. When your blood is impoverished, the nerves suffer from lack of nourishment, and you may be troubled with insomnia, neuritis, neuralgia, or sciatica. Muscles subject to strain are undernourished and you may have muscular rheumatism or lumbago.

When he returned the mouse had actually built a barrier ten or fifteen times the size of its body between itself and the fire. With its teeth it had cut away the fuzz on the surface of the rug through the slits in the bottom of the trap, and had heaped this material together into a veritable wall of defense until it entirely filled the trap.

Forty-Eight Years in "Canada's Western Empire"

Colonel John S. Dennis, C. M. G., who rode the plains of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba 48 years ago, when Indians and buffalo were plentiful, knows more about "Canada's Western Empire" than any other man.

Now the four western provinces of Canada have a population of 2,500,000, the buffalo are to be found only in parks in the Canadian Rockies and the Indians are on reservations. There are nearly 20,000 miles of railway in the four provinces, or one mile for each 125 persons; and of 225,000,000 acres of good agricultural land, but 35,000,000 acres are at present occupied and cultivated.

Between 1905 and 1914 about 2,500,000 people settled in Canada, the largest proportion in the four western provinces. They left Great Britain, the United States and other countries for their new home, and Col. Dennis believes that 500,000 each year may follow them until these provinces have a total population of 10,000,000.

A Sagacious Mouse.

Mice have been making inroads upon the family larder and wardrobe, and so the head of the family set a trap, the bottom of which was simply a piece of tin in which the manufacturer had left little slits, or openings, about a half inch wide, parallel with each other and extending the full length of it.

When he returned the mouse had actually built a barrier ten or fifteen times the size of its body between itself and the fire. With its teeth it had cut away the fuzz on the surface of the rug through the slits in the bottom of the trap, and had heaped this material together into a veritable wall of defense until it entirely filled the trap.

India's Products. At a school examination the examiner asked one child: "What are the products of our Indian Empire?" The unhappy infant began nervously to reel off the list she had got by heart: "Please, sir, India produces curries and pepper and rice and citron and chillies and chutney, and—and—and—"

Naming the Baby. They were discussing it—it with a capital "I." The only thing that counted in the whole world. In other words, the new baby. "Have you settled its name yet?" asked the visitor. Wasteful Making of Railway Ties

In our timbered districts, the waste in making hewn or "axed" ties is causing much interest. This is a very wasteful practice, and is one to which government agents have been repeatedly calling attention.

This actual waste, however, is not the only consideration. Operators taking out hewn ties necessarily skin over large areas, using only the choice material and leaving much good timber, but, in all probability, not enough to make a second operation over the same area a paying undertaking.

The waste in hewing ties will be admitted by all operators without question, but they contend that expediency demands it in some parts, due to the difficulty of driving the logs by water to the mills. The fact remains that there is much absolutely needless waste at present. In view of our rapidly disappearing timber supplies as few ties as possible should be hewn in the woods, and operators should take out both the timber and pulpwood when logging areas where it is not commercially possible to take one after the other.

Many people do wrong more from a lack of consideration than from any desire to do wrong.

Rabbit shooting opens up on October 15th and it good for a month with an extra week at Christmas, but it is stated that new game laws may be issued which may lengthen the season.

Mr. Benjamin Elder, of Elsinore, had two barns burned on Sunday evening about six o'clock. During the severe electrical storm that passed over the district, one barn was struck by lightning and before either barn could be saved they were entirely consumed. Both barns were big, being about forty by seventy. There was about seventy-five loads of hay and 45 loads of grain in them and these were also burned. The stock was released and driven out, only a few hens being burned. The buildings were largely covered by insurance.

The Way of the Law

The fact that Mr. Fred Yandt, of Ayton, owns a car got him into trouble and before the Police Magistrate of Hanover one evening last week through no fault of his own. It appears he loaned his auto to three young fellows who work in Hanover and while on a joyride they ran amuck at the bridge at the race at Hanover and were precipitated into the Saugeen. Had it not been for the assistance lent by Mr. Weis, it is likely that they would have drowned. The car was also badly damaged. Constable Beamish laid a charge against Yandt for reckless driving, and he appeared before Magistrate Telford on Wednesday evening of last week. It cost him $15.75.—Post.

Morris Man Fined.

The charge against Jas. Hawthorne of Morris, of having in his possession beer, or wash, for the purpose of manufacturing spirituous liquor, was tried before Magistrate Reid of Goderich, last week. Dudley Holmes of Wingham for the prosecution, and H. B. Murphy M. P., of Listowel for the defence. Inland Revenue Officer Flood of Toronto laid the charge. The beer, or wash, was composed of blackstrap molasses, ground barley and hops, and on analysis showed 24.36 proof spirits. Hawthorne was fined $200 and costs or six months in jail.

Fined For Blocking Road

John Watson was fined two dollars without costs at the Police Court Tuesday morning for blocking the road. Watson had stopped on a narrow piece of road to have a talk with a friend in a motor truck which he met. A motorist came along and wanted past, but it was only after considerable tooting of the horn that Watson moved his horse and wagon. The practice of blocking the road, both by stopping to talk and by heavy wagons that refuse to give an inch of road to a motorist that wants by, is an all too frequent one, and the fine of two dollars in this case is just a nominal one to serve as a warning.

Sent up on Serious Charge

George Dreisinger, a former furniture dealer and undertaker of Hanover, was arrested in that town on Thursday evening last by Chief Ferguson of Walkerton and brought before Magistrate Telford here, who remanded him to jail until Tuesday morning on a charge of abducting Annie Forsythe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fosythe, of Brant. The accused, who is a married man with two children, was ushered before the local J. P. at 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning, and as the information had been changed to that of having carnal knowledge of a girl under 18 years of age, he was arraigned on this charge. The parents of the girl, in their testimony stated that Dreisinger had come to their home on one or more occasions with his wife, and had become acquainted with his daughter. They maintained that he coaxed her away against her will. She disappeared on Thursday, and falling to return home the following day, enquiries were made and they learned that she had left with Dreisinger. The father, Mr. Forsythe, had a warrant sworn out on Friday for Dreisinger's arrest. Annie Forsythe, the girl in the case, gave evidence to the effect that Dreisinger had met her at the Kinloss picnic on August 5th, and had taken her to Kincardine. On the last occasion he had phoned her, and as per arrangement, met her with an auto 14 miles from her home in Brant on Thursday afternoon, and motoring to Harrison they put up at an hotel, until Friday morning, when the girl proceeded on to Toronto and Dreisinger went back to Hanover. The girl maintained that the accused had had improper relations with her, and on the completion of the evidence the Magistrate sent Dreisinger up to a higher tribunal for trial. He was removed to jail. The case will probably be tried at the Fall Assizes which open in Walkerton on Nov 15th. Crown Attorney Dixon is acting for the prosecution and Lawyer Klein for the defendant.

Secured by the West India Trade Agreement and Canadian Ships.

By willingness and ability to provide ships, Canada this year has drawn the West Indies closer to herself and to the Empire. She can make preferential trade agreements with other peoples under the British Flag, without arousing international complications.

Canada possesses men with brains who will make these preferential trade agreements. But to make good these trade agreements we must have Canadian Ships.

If You Have High Blood Pressure You Must Be Careful

When the Blood Pressure is much above normal there is always the danger of rupture of a blood vessel, most frequently in the Brain and producing a stroke, or in the Kidneys, producing Bright's Disease. One should guard against over-exertion or excitement and take HACKING'S HEART AND NERVE REMEDY to dissolve the Uric Acid deposits that form in the Veins and Arteries, making them hard and brittle. This remedy is a wonder; it builds up the entire system by Purifying the Blood, Strengthening the Heart and by producing a normal and healthy condition of the Nerves.

Mrs. Wm. Morley, of Palmerston, used quite a number of boxes of Hacking's Heart and Nerve Remedy and they benefited her so much and she was so pleased with them that she recommends them to all her friends who have this trouble or who are all run down and Nervous. She says "you must be sure to get Hacking's."

Constipation is one of the aggravating causes of High Blood Pressure and it is advisable to use Hacking's Kidney and Liver Pills to drive out the Poisons that generate in the system. These two preparations go well together and you should buy a few boxes from your dealer to-day. Hacking's Limited, Listowel, Ont.

The Man With a Genius for Helping

There is a man, said his neighbor, speaking of the village carpenter, who has done more good, I really believe, in this neighborhood than any other person who ever lived in it. He cannot talk very well in prayer-meeting, and he doesn't often try. He isn't worth two thousand dollars, and its very little he can put down on a subscription list for any object. But a new family never moves into the village that he does not find out, to give them a neighborly welcome, and to offer them any little service he can render. He is always on the lookout to give strangers a seat in his pew at church. He is always ready to watch with a sick neighbor, and look after his affairs for him. I have sometimes thought that he and his wife kept house plants in winter just to be able to send flowers to invalids. He finds time for a pleasant word for every child he meets; and you'll see the children climbing into his one-horse wagon when he has no other load. He really seems to have a genius for helping folks in all sorts of common ways, and it does me good every day just to meet him in the street.

A YOUTHFUL SINNER.

A young chap, who was left to look after the Chinese laundry here some weeks ago during the absence of the proprietor, swiped $4.00 from the till, a sum which Chief Ferguson later recovered from the boy, on Saturday last the proprietor again left home on the C.P.R. not turning in at night, and although another lad was in charge of the laundry, he original thief was discovered hanging about the place. On the arrival of the proprietor on the night train the till was found by him to have been rifled of $3.00, and as suspicion pointed to the former culprit, he was accosted on Sunday and accused of the theft. After first stoutly denying the crime, he later owned up to the deed, and passed over the coin on Sunday night. The boy is starting out in a fair way to catch a place on the degree team of some reformatory, and his folks would be well advised to keep a watchful eye over such a right-fingered offspring, as the mere handing back of the loot after he is detected isn't always going to satisfy the notions of the law, or be construed as meeting the ends of justice.—Times.

He Came.

The scene was a New York theatre, the characters in the play that did not figure in the program were a susceptible man in the front row, and on the other side of the footlights a painted and bedizened actress who lured the other to his doom. Coming to the very edge of the platform and gazing down at our hero, the sister sang "Come to My Arms and Kiss Me." The invitation proved too much for the young man, throwing discretion to the wind he was "over the top" like a flash. He clasped the singer in a half Nelson, changing almost at once to a strangle hold. Of course this was a rare diversion for the audience and almost broke up the show. But stage hands are as a rule unromantic. Their intimacy with what goes on behind the scenes robs them of anything like sentiment. As soon as they recovered from their surprise they formed a flying wedge and attempted to cleave the twain apart, but the hypnotic young man clung to the singer with all his might, and it required the entire house staff to get him away. Of course he landed in the police court and paid a fine. But didn't the singer get just about what was coming to her? No woman or or off the stage can make a virtue of herself without attracting an occasional mariner on life's troubled sea. The actresses insist in singling out young men in the audience and carrying on open flirtation with them, let their be the consequences. Still the susceptible young man is not likely to receive much sympathy. Any swain who falls so easily for a complexion purchased in the drug store at so much an ounce, and the top dressing of hair put on and off with the scantiest attire, is not to put too fine a point on it, too easy.—Renfrew Mercury.

Jack Kichl, a Kent county farmer in the township of Ralceigh, states that he threshed 300 bushels of wheat from four acres of land, an average of 75 bushels to the acre. The yield has been substantiated by the man who did the threshing.

Nearly twenty-five informations were laid last week against auto owners in Durham for standing their cars on the streets of that town without the necessary lights required by the Act, and a fine and costs has been imposed on all. The Chronicle says: There was no doubt a violation of the law, but the public should have been cautioned and warned by newspaper or other publicity before taking action. Anybody can take car numbers when they are standing still and harmless, but why not get after the speeders who are the real menace to the community?

Sad Death by Taking Poison

The very sad death of Mrs. George Hewitt of Keppel, occurred on Wednesday morning in the hospital here, says the Owen Sound Times, after having suffered for two weeks from the effects of a bichloride of mercury tablet taken in mistake for aspirin. Mrs. Hewitt had gone to the cupboard, picked up a box which contained aspirin tablets at one time, and before she realized her mistake she had taken one. She immediately sent her son to the barn where her husband was and called Dr. Frizzell. Although she was taken immediately to the hospital and fought bravely for her life, she was unable to throw off the poison from her system. She was 34 years of age and leaves two sons, aged 8 and 11 years, besides her husband.

A Sweet Mystery

Sugar is not the only sweet stuff that Canadians have to pay much more for than do people in other countries. Honey takes its place on the list of products which seem to have reached the top notch in this country. While its use is not general, yet the figures are so striking as to attract attention. The Ontario Beekeeper's Association has recommended a price for Ontario honey wholesale of from 27 to 32c. And yet honey is being brought thousands of miles over sea and land from New Zealand, and delivered in Toronto at 23 1/2c a pound. In the United States too, the honey prices are much lower, extracted clover honey being quoted at 17c per pound, with buckwheat honey at 12c and light amber alfalfa honey at 15c. Why the difference in prices here and in New York State? Frankly, the Examiner does not know. The Board of Commerce, which Ottawa advices report as coming to life again, may be able to supply the information. Let us hope so.—Peterborough Examiner.

What Prominent Ontario Women Say

Tillsonburg, Ont.—"I found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription very beneficial during my pregnancy. I felt quite poorly, was nauseated and sick, could not eat anything and I was extremely nervous and weak. I took 'Favorite Prescription' and it soon stopped the nausea, my appetite returned, also my strength and I was soon feeling fine and strong. My baby was strong and healthy and has always been so. I consider 'Favorite Prescription' a great help to the expectant mother and am glad to recommend it."—MRS. AMOS MILLS, Box 238.

A HAMILTON WITNESS

Hamilton, Ont.—"A few months ago I was stricken down and was confined to bed about ten days. My strength all left me. It was my first illness since a child. I lost five pounds and felt awfully weak afterward. I could hardly do my work. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in tablet form. I tried a couple of bottles and before I knew it, I was well and strong and had gained 9 1/4 pounds. I can recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to build one up."—MRS. E. MARTIN, 397 Dundurn St.

After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged down by weaknesses of her sex—with eyes sunken, black circles and pale cheeks—such a woman is quickly restored to health by the Favorite Prescription of Dr. Pierce. Changed, too, in looks, for after taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the skin becomes clear, the eyes brighter, the cheeks plump. It is purely vegetable, contains no alcohol.

Fallacies in Feeding Beef Cattle.

Cattle feeding is a business that must be viewed from many different angles if one makes a success of it. What is termed success in cattle feeding is the same as in any other business pursuit, viz., a financial gain or making money out of the business. Different types of feeders must of necessity be handled differently to get the best results. There are mature feeders of the best beef type. The calf or baby beef of the same type. The low grade or scrub adult or baby beef type. Each of these different types and grades must be handled differently.

Most people ignore the scrub in the feed lot. But as long as they are raised they must be fed out or go to the shambles unfitted. Nearly all dairy bred cattle are scrubs in the feed lot no matter how well bred they are in the dairy line. They are poor feeders and never make fancy beefs. In this article I wish to speak of the best grade of feeders of the more mature kind. Say, two-year-olds or better, and with these as with all other sizes or grades, have them of as uniform size, shape and color as possible, for several reasons. First, they will feed better because there are no small ones or underlings for the large ones to fight and abuse, each one being better able to take their own part. Then, if of the same size and color, they look better to everyone, including the commission man and the buyer, and everyone interested will work harder to get the best price, and if the cattle are worthy, to make them top the market. He knows it is to their interest to do so. And a buyer will pay a little more for a nice even bunch.

Now, after you have your feeders, and if not of a uniform size I would advise dividing the feed lot and sorting them up as best you can as to size. If they are to be dry-lot fed. But if they are to be summer-fed in pasture then let them all run together. I like summer feeding on pasture best, as it saves a lot of work. There is no manure to haul out and it is distributed over the pasture better than it can be done by hand or a spreader, and much easier and cheaper. The most essential things about summer feeding are plenty of good leguminous pasture, water, grain, salt, shade and a rack full of good hay.

Now, in starting to feed one should be very careful. Don't try to get them on full feed too quickly. Better be a full month or longer than to get some of them off feed and perhaps scouring. For if so, they will lose more in one day than can be put on in the next week. Cattle rightly started while on good pasture, will gain faster on the same amount of feed than dry-lot-fed cattle. And here again you save the labor and expense of putting up the hay they eat. I like the self-feeders after the cattle are on full feed. It is a labor-saver and they never get over-hungry if the self-feeders are kept supplied. Don't neglect the water. See that they have access at all times to good fresh water. Likewise salt. And have a rack of good hay for them to run to. They will eat more hay than one might think while on grass, and where they have access to good hay they are not as apt to scour or bloat.

As winter or dry-lot feeding is somewhat different from summer feeding I would say, sort your cattle as I have described before, if need be. And if horned cattle, have them dehorned. They feed better and require only about half the shed room and they usually sell better. Don't have your yards too large. Warm the drinking water in cold weather with tank heater. It is cheaper than to warm it with feed. Give them a good dry bed and a good open shed free from draft. What I mean by an open shed is one side open, preferably the south, and all other sides closed tight. And of sufficient size so all can get in and not be too crowded. It should be kept well bedded and dry.

Remember, in your cattle you have a money-making, or a money-losing machine, and their ability to make money depends on the care and feed you give them. If they have a good dry bed where they can lay down in comfort they will put on flesh much faster and with less feed. And then another essential thing is kindness. Pet your cattle and handle them much, always being kind to them. They appreciate it and will reward you by putting on a few more pounds of flesh.

In regard to feed, I would say by all means feed a balanced ration. While corn is one of the most essential feeds it is by no means the only feed, and should never be fed alone. There are several feeds that should be used in connection with corn. And the more variety of feeds used the better results as a rule.
Cottonseed meal should be used and especially if cattle are fed on pasture, as it is somewhat binding and cattle are not as apt to scour. Oil meal is good, but it is somewhat of a laxative. Both are good. Bran and oats are also good and should be used in connection with corn. And if roots are available they, too, can be used to good advantage. As for roughage, good alfalfa hay and corn silage leads them all. Clover hay or soybean hay make good second choice. Corn has a tendency to harden the flesh and no animal will put on flesh as rapidly with corn alone as their flesh becomes too hard. Their flesh and hide should be mellow and loose, what the breeder calls a good handler. And they are easily kept in this condition if properly fed and cared for.

Cattle of different size and ages require different amounts. Don't over-feed until they are on full feed, and then if the different feeds or constantly before them, they will balance their own ration and will not eat too much. Before they are on full feed be very particular to feed regular. Have a few hogs to run with the cattle. Enough to clean up the waste.

The greater number of four-horse teams and even some five-horse teams on fourteen-inch sulky plows for fall plowing is accounted for by the fact that plowing in the fall is usually about one inch deeper than in the spring, and also by the fact that the ground is generally dry and hard to turn. On an average, outfits of the same size cover about a half acre less per day in the fall than in the spring.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON SEPTEMBER 26TH.

Review: Saul, David and Solomon Compared—Psalm 72. Golden Text, 1 Sam. 16: 7.

The characters of David and Solomon, father and son, are presented to us in the Biblical narrative in striking contrast. Different as they are in character, so also are they in their respective careers, in education, early life, companionship, and exercise of kingly authority. They are alike only in their piety and in their loyal devotion to the worship of Jehovah, a loyalty which, however, in the case of Solomon, was weakened toward the end of his life. There is a likeness, too, in their love of justice, but Solomon's extravagances and great enterprises cost so much that he was obliged, early in his reign, to resort to some very unjust and tyrannical measures, both to get money and supplies for his court and army, and to get labor for his lewelling, quarrying, and building.

David was a man of the people. He knew the people with whom he had toiled as a shepherd, with whom he had fought in the wars, some of whom had been his companions in exile, with whom he had shared in many perilous enterprises, whose customs and ideas he understood, and whom he passionately desired to serve. Solomon was brought up in the court, in the royal household. He knew much from observation, and had a shrewd practical outlook upon life which finds expression in his proverbs, but he never had the close contact and warm sympathy with the common people which David had, and as time passed he grew more and more a stranger to them. They saw and praised his splendor and his wisdom, but they were restless and discontented under the burdens which his rule imposed upon them. It was a fine thing indeed to have a splendid temple and palaces in Jerusalem, but the ordinary Israelite thought more of his local sanctuary, the high place where his fathers had worshipped, and was not willing to give up one-third of his time to these remote and costly undertakings. David understood and loved the people. Solomon may have had an academic knowledge of them, but he can hardly be said to have really understood or loved them.

David was a soldier with the readiness, courage, tact, and resourcefulness of the true soldier. He saw the imperative need of national unity and labored strenuously to secure and establish it. Following up the work of Samuel, and inspired by his example, he set himself to make a strong nation out of the divided and jealous tribes and succeeded, or would have succeeded, if it had not been for the ungrateful and disloyal conduct of his son Absalom and the civil war which he brought about. Solomon did seek the same end by his building of forts and by his standing army, and by the building of a temple which was to be a common place of worship for all Israel. But his heavy exactions, the partiality which he showed his own tribe of Judah, and the favor and indulgence with which he treated his foreign wives and concubines, estranged and divided the people whom he would have unified.

David honored the prophets, and when rebuked by them for a sin, or invasion of the people's rights, submitted himself to the rebuke. But Solomon had little regard for the ancient rights of the people, and offended the prophets of Jehovah by building altars for Chemosh and Moloch, and offering worship to the goddess Ashtoreh. It is in the earlier part of his reign that the character of Solomon shines most brightly. It is to that part of his reign that the words of Psalm 72 may refer, if indeed they are intended to refer to Solomon, and not rather to the ideal king of the future, whose coming the prophets foretold. It is clear that Solomon earnestly desired to be such a ruler, and the ideals of justice to the poor, combined with those of wide sovereignty and national stability and permanence which find expression in this psalm may well be those which he had inherited from his father.

Poultry.

Plymouth Rock or Rhode Island Red pullet does not complete her first year of egg production until about twenty months old. A hen already a year old can complete another year of egg production in one year. The first eight months are approximately the period of development and represent only expense. While the pullet may lay more eggs in her first laying year the hen does not have to be hatched and grown on expensive feed before she is ready to lay. Farm poultry keepers need more hens that are good for two and three years of profitable laying. This does not mean the kind of hens that linger around for three or four years without paying their board.

Concrete floors will be more warm and dry if a couple of inches of clean sand are placed between the floor and the stray litter. Garden loam is not a substitute for sand. The loam is soon changed to dry dust and the scratching of the hens will keep the air in the house full of dust. This is unhealthy for the birds and the poultryman who must care for them.

You will like Lantic fine!

For BAKING. For pound, tea and sponge cakes, coffee cakes; angel cake, layer cakes, fruit cakes, coconut cakes, pork cakes, nut cakes, short cakes, macaroons and biscuits, crullers, rolls, buns—ALL cakes—Lantic creams quicker with the butter—because it's FINE.

For BEVERAGES. For tea, coffee, cocoa, lemonade, root beer, orangeade, lemon pop and fruit punch—in fact for all home-made beverages—use LANTIC. There will then be no wasted spoonful left at the bottom of the cup or glass—because it's FINE.

FINE in granulation—finer than all other sweeteners in actual use—finest in results obtained. "Fine" has many meanings to the Lantic user! In snowy glistening crystals of pure cane sugar—all sugar and nothing else—Lantic brings you concentrated sweetening. And because each crystal is fine and even, Lantic dissolves at once—it instantly delivers its great sweetening power without hesitation. Of course it goes farther. Of course it costs less. Of course you will like it fine.

In PRESERVING late fruits such as pears, plums and peaches, it eliminates the danger of over-cooking, which robs fruit of its natural color and shape, and some of its flavor.

In BAKING, Lantic creams quickly with the butter—which makes the cake light and dainty. Creaming need not be tedious.

In CANDY-MAKING fine granulation gives candy a soft velvety quality. Most of the highest grade chocolates and finer candies are made with Lantic. The exquisite "velours" of the best chocolate creams comes from Lantic fineness.

In TEA or COFFEE, in fact in all beverages (hot or cold), every Lantic crystal dissolves at once, yielding readily the full sweetening of the purest cane.

ATLANTIC SUGAR REFINERIES, LIMITED MONTREAL

For PRESERVING. For peaches, pears, plums and grapes—if you use Lantic you can smile at the old caution "Let it simmer until all the sugar is dissolved." While yet the fruit retains its beautiful color and attractive form, the preserving is done!—because it's FINE.

For CANDY-MAKING. For fudge, taffy, butterscotch, caramels and fondants, walnut and maple creams, marahmallow, peppermints, peanut brittle, candied fruits, and of course all icings, Lantic has the call with the best candy makers because it's FINE.

BOMB IN WALL STREET KILLS 31 AND WRECKS BUILDINGS

Explosive Placed in Street Opposite Offices of J. P. Morgan & Co.—200 Injured and Two Million Dollars' Damage Done to Offices and Other Buildings.

A despatch from New York says:—In broad daylight, and in the most prominent spot of America's great financial centre, a red-handed blow was struck at noon last Thursday at the heart of the country's banking interests.

It missed its aim—the house of Morgan—in that no member of that great firm was seriously injured, but claimed as victims many hapless passers-by.

Thirty-one persons are known to be killed, and more than two hundred were injured.

The explosion of a time bomb two minutes after twelve o'clock on the Wall Street side of the J. P. Morgan & Co. office at Wall and Broad streets, killed between twenty and thirty persons, and sent over two hundred men, women and boys and girls to hospitals with injuries, some serious, but in the main superficial.

A couple of million dollars' worth of damage was done to the buildings in the financial district. The Assay and Treasury buildings, near the scene, were wrecked and shot through with hurdling iron fragments from the giant bomb.

On Thursday night, twelve hours later, investigating authorities were almost certain the disaster was due to an infernal machine left on an uncovered one-horse truck in Wall Street directly in front of the new United States Assay Office, next door to the Sub-Treasury, and directly across the street from the J. P. Morgan building.

Throughout the nation—horror-struck at tidings of the catastrophe—the same interpretation was placed upon it, and public buildings and great storerooms of wealth, as well as conspicuous men, were placed under vigilant guard.

The explosion which turned Wall street into a shambles at noon to-day was the result of a deliberate and well-prepared plot, according to Federal and city officials, after an extensive investigation at the scene of the tragedy. They based their conclusions on the following facts:

First: Investigation shows that no wagon carrying explosives from authorized sources was in Lower Manhattan on Thursday.

Second: The effect of the explosion was far greater than any that could be produced by an ordinary explosive-carrying wagon.

Third: Iron missiles made from broken-up window weights unlike any in the Wall street district caused all the damages to the building and were responsible for the loss of life.

Fourth: The coincidence of time and location of the explosion.

Fifth: The fact that three men were observed running east on Wall street about two minutes before the explosion. These men are reported to have fled in a waiting automobile.

Sixth: The discovery of a peculiarly wired box containing electric batteries, that was placed by unknown persons in the automobile of Henry Babb, two blocks from the scene of the explosion.

Seventh: Only four sites in Lower Manhattan are using explosives in construction work and not one of them received or expected explosives on Thursday.

Canada From Coast to Coast

Vancouver, B.C.—The American Nitrogen Products Company, a Seattle concern, who have a plant at La Grande, Wash., have been experimenting in the extraction of nitrogen from the air and have erected a plant at Lake Buntzen on the north arm of Burrard Inlet.

The Indian Government has ordered four million feet of creosoted British Columbia ties. The order will go forward on the first Canadian Government Merchant Marine ship on the new British Columbia India service, which will be in operation this fall.

A four-year-old Ayrshire cow owned by the University of British Columbia has just completed a year's milk production test and established a Canadian record. She is the first of her class to produce in excess of 16,000 lbs. of milk in a year, her production being 16,205 lbs. A stable mate of this cow has just established the Ayrshire four-year-old record for butter fat production.

Cowichan, B.C.—Development work on the manganese deposits at Hill 60 indicate that a large tonnage is now available. The aerial tramway, which has been under erection, is now ready for service.

Lethbridge, Alta.—The annual convention of the Western Canada Irrigation Association had a large attendance, including the provincial Minister of Agriculture, professors from Western agricultural colleges, and directors of experimental farms. The attitude of the average farmer towards irrigation was noticeable for its enthusiasm when compared with that of some years ago when the Association was first formed.

Regina, Sask.—Saskatchewan agricultural societies now have a membership of over 20,000. Half a million dollars is to be spent this year in raising the standard of production and promoting greater interest in pure bred stock.

Timmins, Ont.—English interests are financing diamond drilling on the sand planes on the township of Mount Joy. Work to date has brought forth portions of porphyry and schist rock, and has given rise to the belief that the Kirkland Lake gold area rock formations may be duplicated here.

The theory that gold bearing rock exists beneath the sand is now being much discussed here. Two diamond drill machines are being operated by the English interests. There seem to be good prospects of finding commercial deposits of very promising ore.

Montreal, P.Q.—At the opening of the Empire Timber Exhibition at London, England, promoted by the Department of Overseas Trade with the object of bringing into more universal use the timber grown in the Empire, the promoters gave a special word of praise to Canadian Forestry Laboratories at Montreal. Canada has a fairly extensive and well staged exhibit, some few Canadian firms being individually represented.

Securities Lost in New York Disaster

A despatch from New York says:—As a result of the explosion in the financial district many thousands of dollars' worth of securities have been lost.

Brokerage houses reported that some messengers sent out with securities dropped them and ran as soon as they heard the explosion. Other messengers disappeared in the confusion and have not been heard from since.

A messenger employed by Block, Maloney & Co. found near the scene of the explosion $42,000 in negotiable bonds and three one-dollar bills. The latter were scorched.

British Mine Strike Nearing Settlement

A despatch from London says:—The conference of the Coal Miners' Executive with Sir Robert Horne, president of the Board of Trade, adjourned late on Thursday afternoon without an agreement having been reached in settlement of the controversy between the miners and the Government. Sir Robert Horne declared, however, that new proposals made by the miners constituted an advance toward a peaceful solution of the trouble.

Sir Robert Horne refused to recommend that the miners should have two shillings advance under the present circumstances, but added that if an increased output were assured an advance in wages could be given.

Quite Right. Teacher—"What is it fine feathers make, Tommy?" Tommy—"I don't know, ma'am." "Oh, yes, you do know. Now think. Fine feathers make fine—"

"I really don't know, ma'am." "Yes, you do, Tommy. It begins with the letter 'b.'" "Oh, yes; beds, ma'am!"

United States Receiving German Immigrants

A despatch from Washington, D.C., says:—For the first time since America entered the war, German immigrants are being allowed to enter the United States, it was learned at the Department of Labor. So far, however, this immigration is restricted to Germans who had applied for American citizenship before the war and were detained in Germany at the outbreak of hostilities, and to those who can show "compelling necessity."

A Letter From London

The King and Queen had a most enjoyable trip to Scotland and Wales and were received with immense enthusiasm in both places, an enthusiasm which extended to the Princess Mary, who is becoming more and more popular every day. All the royal children are the admiration of the public, and their popularity has considerably added to that of the queen, who has brought them up with such care and superintended their education to the smallest detail with zeal and attention.

The assertion that King George is a direct descendant of King David may find some confirmation in a wonderful genealogical chart preserved at Hatfield House, wherein the ancestry of Queen Elizabeth is traced back not merely to the Psalmist but to Adam.

As far as the nobility of England have concern in the family tree the coat of arms in given in every case, but is necessarily abandoned long before Methuselah is reached. The chart measures forty-five feet, and is believed to be the largest genealogical tree in existence.

The King made history by taking part in the regatta of the Royal Northern Yacht Club. This was the first occasion on which a reigning monarch has raced his own yacht in a regatta on the Clyde. His Majesty is an enthusiastic yachtsman, and as Prince of Wales was a much more frequent visitor to racing in different parts of the country than his heavier duties of State now permit.

Holyrood is perhaps the most uncomfortable of all the royal residences. Hence it is that since the time of James I. few of our monarchs have cared to live in it. Queen Victoria cordially disliked the place, and declared, after her first visit, that she would have preferred to have stayed at the Calton Jail, just opposite, which is a modern imitation of a mediaeval castle.

The Duke of York, I am told, is left-handed, but this does not in any way interfere with efficiency. He can write equally well with either hand, and is an excellent shot. Ambidextrous rather than left-handed is the correct description of our newest Duke.

When you next read the headline, "Premier sees the King," you might like to recall this little story of the first time King George ever met a Premier. It was in his nursery days—it is just as well to begin young—and Queen Victoria, Mr. Gladstone, and a party of distinguished guests were sitting round a table in the drawing-room, discussing weighty matters. All went smoothly till Mr. Gladstone suddenly felt something brush against his foot.

"Heavens above us, madam," exclaimed Gladstone, "there is something under the table overhearing our conversation!"

He bent down and dragged out the miscreant, who proved to be a small boy, trying to hide his face in his hands.

The Queen burst out laughing, and said, "It's of no consequence, Mr. Gladstone—he is only my graceless grandson, George!"

The future King had been up to some mischief in the drawing-room when he had heard the party approaching, and in order to escape punishment had hidden under the table. He has listened to many Prime Ministers since, but never under similar conditions.

Somebody who has known Mr. Lloyd George "intimately for over forty years" has been writing about his meals. "His diet," we are told, "is simplicity itself. He dislikes anything new-fangled in the way of food. He just loves the plain dishes to which he has always been accustomed. A boiled egg, a milk-pudding, are always acceptable. He has a moderate appetite, is always ready for his meals but refrains from dinner when he is going to make a speech."

L64, the Zeppelin which had a somewhat stormy trip to Pulham recently, had a narrow escape during the war. She was attacked after raiding this country, by Captain Cadbury, D.F.C. and the rear car set on fire by incendiary bullets. After a tough struggle the crew succeeded in extinguishing the flames before they spread to the gas-bags, and she got home all right. BIG BEN.

October 18 Will be Thanksgiving Day

Alberta Wheat Worth Two Hundred Millions

A despatch from Calgary says:—The Calgary Herald says: "Alberta's wheat crop in 1915 was sixty million bushels, valued at $50,000,000. In 1919 the yield was valued at $63,349,000, being 34,575,000 bushels. The largest Federal official estimate of this year's crops is 82,972,000, which, taken at $2.60 a bushel, will bring Alberta farmers the huge sum of $215,727,200. This means, in other words, that the bumper yield of 1915 will this year be increased over four-fold in monetary value, assuming that approximately the present price of wheat holds."

Austria Allowed Credit by Inter-Allied Commission

Vienna, Sept. 15.—Consent for Austria to spend without restriction the present credit of 5,000,000 pesos given her by Argentina has been accorded by the Inter-Allied Reparations Commission.

Artificial Silk to be Made in Vancouver

A despatch from Vancouver says:—An organization has been undertaken here having in view the erection of a plant for the manufacture of artificial silk. This enterprise has its basis in the fact that practically 75 per cent. of the raw material used in the manufacture of artificial silk by the Japanese is a British Columbia product, viz., sulphite pulp.

The organizers claim that instead of shipping this pulp to Japan and having it returned as a costly material, they could manufacture the artificial silk here much cheaper. They recognize that the rhea and rahmi grasses of Uganda, Africa, make a better product, but the fibres of the B.C. forest timbers are already making a satisfactory silk.

“We Eat What We Can and Can What We Can’t” was the clever reply of an American girl to an Englishman’s query as to what they did with the enormous quantities of corn raised in the West.
 Eat what you can and can what you can’t is good advice regarding the Peaches we are offering just now.
 Big, Luscious, rich peaches—just the right kind for canning, and we are selling them at just about the right price.
 Crawfords and Elbertas as to quality at from 90c to $1.35 per basket.
 Other varieties at from 60c to $1 per basket.

Mary Pickford Loves to do Great Things

The famous star of Sunnybrook Farm says: It is one of her best photo plays. I have enjoyed every minute of this production because I ran around in short dresses and act the little kid I always wanted to be. I have been on the stage and screen so long that I never had much time for playing. The days we gave the circus in the barn, the whole studio stopped work and came over to play with us. It was all I could do to keep D. W. Griffith, Henry B. Walthall, Lillian Gish, and some of the others from getting in and playing like the rest of the children.

This attraction along with Charlie Chaplin in “The Floor Walker” will be seen here on Friday, October 1. Over 8,000 feet of film.
 Will be shown here with special. Doors open at 7.30, starting 8.15.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS TORONTO.

With 3500 cattle on sale yesterday, the general opinion at the opening among salesmen was that cattle would run a little higher than last week, but this opinion did not materialize. The market might be quoted just about steady, in keeping with the light supply. The quality of the cattle was generally inferior. There was a fair demand for choice and good butchers, but for the other grades trade was slow.

With about 5000 sheep and lambs on the market there was a good, steady trade for choice lambs, best lambs selling at from 14 to 14½; choice yearlings at 9½ to 16½; light, handy sheep, 7½ to 8½; heavy sheep and bucks, 6c to 7c. The market was well cleaned up at these prices.

With a fair run of calves, the market was steady on the choice veal, and a little easier on the medium and heavy ones. Choice veal sold at from 18c to 19c; medium, 16 to 17½; common calves 12 to 15c; grassers 7 to 8½c. The market was well cleaned up with a good demand for the choice veal.

The hog market is again unsettled, yesterday’s prices being on the basis of 20c f o b, and 21c fed and watered, with the packer’s taking 19½c f o b, and 20½c fed, for the balance of the week. Whether they will get them at that is another thing.

Too Much Fresh Air

Feebly his wavering feet bore Reginald home. There had been one or two good fellows in the bunch, but that enough to explain to our enlightened readers why Reginald’s feet were wavering? Into the front yard he staggered and sank to rest with his head in a bed of tulips and his feet on the walk. But his wife had been awakened by the noise of his approach. Now she opened a window and shouted wildly, “Who’s there?” “Shut the window!” yelled Reginald crossly, “I’m nearly frozen to death now.”

Northway Garments
Style Information
 Fall 1920

Suit coats are no longer in accord with the prevailing idea as to smartness. The coat is the chief feature, skirts being fairly plain with novelty pockets and belts. Pin tucks and silk braid and buttons are principally used for trimming. The collars are mostly of the convertible type.

Skirts are all made on slender graceful lines with a tendency to be fuller and relying somewhat on pleats to dispose of the width. Plaids promise to be much in vogue!

Dresses are given their style character in many cases by the simple lines of a drop waist line known as the sweater effect. For tailored styles full length sleeves will dominate. The three quarter sleeve which usually flares at the elbow will be shown in dresses for afternoon wear. Sash effects and pleated skirts are likely to be popular. The materials mostly used are satin, taffeta, wool tricotine and serge, with lace collars, embroidery and braid for trimming.

Coats may be worn belted or loose. One of the most prominent features will be an extremely large cape collar. Silk twist stitching, furs and fur fabrics will be largely used for trimming. Owing to the prohibitive price of furs, plush and other fur fabrics, made in three-quarter length coats after leading fur models, are likely to be much in demand. Very large collars will top these elegant appearing coats and when worn open cling close to the shoulders giving a slender drooping shoulder line.

A Full Day’s Work and a Full Day’s Pay

It is being demonstrated in all parts of this continent that the work of the country cannot be done with less than a nine or ten hour day. To think otherwise is to reverse the teaching of common sense and experience. Every man has a right to belong to a union, or to remain out of it, or to leave one that he has joined. Every efficient worker has a right to demand a wage which entitles him and his family at least to the blessing of life, health and liberty. A failure to accept these propositions is the cause of most of the present economic unrest. It may be that the country will have to pass through trying experiences before these propositions will be accepted in theory and practice. But they must be accepted and they will be accepted. The individual or organization that combats is doomed to defeat. The sense of fairness, the dicta of common sense, the principles of ordinary morality must conquer in the end. On the other hand the worker must conclude that adequate wages demand adequate service, and the work of the world requires no shorter day for that day’s work than we have now,—Acton Free Press.
