SOMEHOW OR OTHER.

Life is a burden to everyone's shoulder. None may escape from its trouble and care; Miss it in youth, and 'twill come when we're older; And fit us as close as the garments we wear.

Sorrow comes into our homes uninvited, Robbing our heart of its treasure of song; Lovers grow cold, and our friendships are slighted, But somehow or other we worry along.

'Midst the sweet blossoms that smile in our faces Grow the rank weeds that would poison and blight; And 'e'en in the midst of earth's beautiful places There's always a something that isn't just right.

Yet off from a rock we may pick a gay belief; And drink from a spring in a desolate waste; They come to the heart as a heavenly dew, And nought is so sweet to the eye or the taste.

Everyday toil is an everyday blessing, Though poverty's cottage and crust we may share; Weak is the back on which burdens are pressing, But stout is the heart that is strengthened by prayer.

Somehow or other the pathway seems brighter, Just when we mourn there is none to befall; Hope in the heart makes the burden seem lighter, But somehow or other we get to the end.

Select Literature.

Miss Clavering's Nephew.

CHAPTER IV. Continued. As he spoke he exerted all his force, and by sheer strength drew the 'doves' a little to the side.

'Now he cried, and she obeyed him. He turned his head an instant—he saw Florence slighted upon the spot he had indicated, and then there was a great crash, and he was lying stunned and senseless, amidst the wreck of the shattered vehicle and the mangled in his forehead from which the blood was trickling over his pale face.

CHAPTER V, and Last. It was a bright clear morning, exceptionally bright and clear for the first of that most hazy month—April. The sun shined upon every Tortoise shell, and the air was so clear and fresh, it seemed to blow a gladness everywhere. It illuminated the gray old minister with a gleaming light on his millioned window and weather-beaten pinnacle. It made his eyes sparkle, and his face glow with a new life into the sleepy inhabitants. It shone in unclouded brilliancy down upon the High Street, and glancing through the window of Captain Ralph Clavering's room, quivered lightly on the sword and sabre which his little wife was unbuttoning for him; for he had just returned from morning duty in the barracks.

A fine morning, Katie cried, and Captain Ralph, drawing his chair to the inviting breakfast-table. 'The air is keen though, and has given me a wonderful appetite. Well, James, what's the matter? Can't you speak?'

'But James, my man, did not speak, only continuing a series of pantomimic gestures which unambiguously told his master's presence in an adjoining room.

Ralph Clavering put down his untasted coffee, cast a half look of regret at his chop, which he had just prepared to eat, and then he started up, and said, 'Beg pardon, sir, said the man, carefully closing the door. 'Elderly guest called here just now. He said he was General Clavering—your father, sir.'

'What? My father?'

'Yes, sir, said James. 'He comes up to the door with a rattling knock, and before I can get it will open, he says quick as a flash, 'Where's my son?'

'Your son, sir?'

'Yes, he says, my son—Captain Clavering. Well as I did not like his looks, and I thought it might be a plant of the Jews—all the same for that, he did not look much like a Sheriff's officer, but there's no knowing they're up to all manner of tricks—I says quite like, until I should know more about it—as I always do—as you were out of town, sir.'

'I am aware of that,' he says, sharper than ever, 'but I want to know where he can't go all over North Wales, says he, 'looking for Trevillyn Lodge; and then he shows me this, and in his hurry left it behind him.' And James handed his master a crumpled telegram.

'Captain Clavering opened it and read—'Miss Clavering, Trevillyn Lodge, North Wales, to General Clavering. The Sheriff, Stafford. Your son is visiting me. Has met with an accident. Come at once.'

'What can have happened to poor Roland?' exclaimed his friend, aloud. 'And what will he do or say when my father gets there?'

Miscellaneous.

The Russians officially acknowledge a loss of 14,450 killed and wounded, to August ninth.

McCallum, an important witness in the Hackett murder case, is reported to be dying from the wounds he received.

Cattle plague is devastating the herds that are relied on by the Russians for food. The disease is spreading through Germany.

Queen Victoria has been visiting Mrs. Bagster, the widow of Samuel Bagster, the publisher of the Polyglot Bible. She is one hundred years old.

The famous Kentucky natural bridge over Casey's Creek in Elliott county, broke in the centre of its arch a few days ago and fell in magnificent ruins.

During the Russian retreat from Kalover the heavy fire of the Turks exploded a powder magazine. The Russians lost five hundred killed and a thousand wounded, principally by the explosion.

Every detail of preparations show that the Russians have made up their minds for a long war, and are preparing great depots of fire-wood. The Roumanian Government is also asking for lenders for the same quantities of clothing and stores.

More than five million cans of corn are now packed in Maine annually and sold in every part of the world, yielding a business to the State amounting to $1,500,000, and giving profitable employment to from eight to ten thousand people during the packing season.

The Colorado beetle has appeared in large force at Henford, England. The Mayor, the Town Clerk, and the Superintendent of Police collected many specimens in various stages of growth and conserved in alcohol. That they had been imported from America with seed potatoes.

Mr. Wm. E. Gardner, Yarmouth, was instantly killed on Tuesday on board his vessel, while out fishing. He was standing near the companion way, and a plank of the crew to pass him his gun; in doing so it accidentally went off, discharging the contents entirely through Gardner's throat. He fell to the deck and expired almost instantaneously. Mr. Gardner leaves a wife and six children.

Sixteen thousand Hindus, who have observed with anxiety the higher classes of the State, have fallen under the influence of western civilization have become more and more addicted to intemperance, have petitioned the government to close up the distilleries, and to prohibit the import of spirits. The government is strongly opposed to them, and especially near the schools and temples.

Advises from South America state that the steamer "Eten," an iron propeller, was wrecked on the rocks seventy miles above Valparaiso, on the 15th ultimo, and about one hundred lives were lost. The crew were rescued by the assistance, but owing to the heavy sea they could not be rescued. Forty-three of the crew and passengers are known to have been rescued.

The new convention between Great Britain and Egypt for the suppression of the slave trade, prohibits export or import of negro slaves. Egyptian slave traders will be tried by court-martials as assassins. Foreigners will be handed over to their own tribunals. British consular agents are authorized to capture and return to the Egyptian flag the Khedive engages to abolish all private traffic of slaves in Egypt within seven years, and within 12 years in London and the frontier provinces.

Dynamite has been used in Australia for ploughing purposes. Holes from one and a half to two metres deep are made in the ground, and the dynamite put in, the charges connected and exploded simultaneously by electricity. The ground is well mellowed to the depth of the charges. This method is of course employed only in very tough places, and is very expensive, but better and cheaper in the end than the old way.

At Lake Charles, Louisiana, recently several fads were bathing, when an alligator put in an appearance. One of them, not perceiving the approach of the saurian, dived, and just as he reached the surface the open jaws received him. The alligator drove his snout through the boy's skull, making several wounds in the scalp three inches in length. The boy's comrades rushed into the water and began a loud outcry, when the alligator let go his hold and disappeared. The little fellow, although seriously injured, will probably live.

Special Dispatches to the Morning Chronicle.

EUROPE.

ENASSOUR, Aug. 16.—Official telegrams from Mukhtar Pasha state that on Saturday the Russians numbering 35,000 men, 10 regiments of cavalry, and 110 guns, attacked Mukhtar along the whole line, extending from Magarjeh to Yakhar. The cannons were commenced at seven in the morning and at 11 in the evening. The Russians retreated in good order to their encampment, pursued by the Turks. The Turks lost 164 killed and wounded, and the Russians 1200.

The Junction of Sultan Pasha with Mehmet Ali may be regarded as beyond doubt. The army and impetuosity of the Russian will remain united, the Emperor continuing with the army to encourage it by his presence.

Reinforcements are now flowing steadily through Roumania. It is expected that both the Guard and Grenadier corps will be in Bulgaria the first week in September. It is calculated that one hundred eighty thousand men are now on the march to reinforce the army. The next battle will be about Pleven. It is meant to be decisive, hence the delay for the sake of ensuring success.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—A correspondent, commenting on the summoning of the Russian guards to the seat of war, says the guards are long retained near St. Petersburg on account of probable action on part of England; its removal, therefore, is reassuring, as it gives emphasis to the promise that English interests will not be threatened.

A state of siege has been proclaimed in Salonica. CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 20.—The Ottoman Bank has succeeded in placing a loan which will net the Porte twenty million dollars.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Calcutta prospects for autumn crops may be regarded as hopeless in Southern India. It is most critical in Western, Central and Northern India, and good in Eastern India. The agricultural Gazette says that 1877 will prove no exception to the succession of unfortunate harvests.

The report is confirmed that Gordon suppressed the insurrection in Darfur without immediately to negotiate peace with Abyssinia. The King has sent an amicable letter, accepting an interview.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Aug. 20.—Stocks stronger. The Bank of Montreal advanced two per cent.

It has been stated on high authority that the Papal Alegate, having been so informed, will give strict orders to the clergy that in the future they must not carry their flocks into voting against their political convictions. A complaint made by a man in Gasse that his liberty in an election had been infringed upon, caused His Excellency immediately to summon Mr. Languevin before him and not satisfied with Monsignor's promise that the matter would be looked into, he demanded that he issue a mandament forthwith, to be read from the pulpit by the priests of his diocese, making known to their people that they could vote as they liked without incurring the censure of the Church.

GENERAL IGNATIEFF'S BOAST.

General Ignatieff, while conversing with a friend who had hinted that the Russian army actually upon the European seat of war might not be found numerous or effective enough to carry out the mission entrusted to them replied: "Well, you may be right; but we require 300,000 more men to achieve our purpose we can have them, and we will." The correspondent of the London "Telegraph" who relates this incident, asserts that the cash disbursements made by the Russian Government for their armies in the field have, for the last three months, have averaged at least $75,000,000 a month. Now the customs and export duties of Russia are bringing in about $15,000,000 a month. With what means, he asks, are paid the monthly surplus of from fifteen to sixteen millions sterling disbursed over and above that three millions, even supposing latter to be cash and handed over to the military administration? And what addition to this tremendous expenditure would be superintended by the placing of 300,000 more troops, which must be fitted out and brought from no one knows where to the Danube? It is the certainty that Russia's resources cannot meet the demands of the campaign, should it be undertaken, as a matter of fact, that so profoundly depresses her statesman who plainly perceives that even should her military successes prove 75 per cent. over and above the most sanguine crusader of them all could hope, Russia must collapse after peace shall be made, for half a century at least, if she does not subside to the rank of a third-class Power. Besides, especially humiliating to the Czar to know that, however brilliant his armies' victories in the field, he must at any moment forgo the fruits of the holding of England, Austria and Germany.

The St. John Globe announces the existence, in apparently unlimited quantities, of anthracite coal in the neighborhood of Rockport, New Brunswick. A company is at work to shaft more than a hundred feet deep, has sunk sunk and everything bids fair to have the development of this most important industry. Charlotte county is apparently destined to be the source from which the future supply of anthracite for the Dominion of Canada will be drawn. The coal, when burning, has all the qualities of the ordinary Pennsylvania anthracite, giving a light blue flame and burning very freely in an ordinary grate. Its heat-giving qualities are large, and it leaves a regular ash when first kindled the color of sulphur marks the presence of pyrites, but it soon passes away. This is due to the fact that the samples burnt were taken from the upper surface of the seam and from a close proximity to the crushed coal. There is no doubt but that this will not be apparent in coal from the heart of the seam.

A FORTY-SIX SMOKE-SCREEN.—Few men who have large property upon the sea are able to show such a record of it as Mr. Gideon Palmer of Dorchester, N. B. At no time during the past twenty years has this gentleman owned less than six ships, all built by himself and varying in size from six hundred to a thousand tons. His custom has been to sell those which were getting old and to replace them, by new ones, so as to keep the number about the same. These vessels have all been engaged in foreign voyages, yet in the long period since Mr. Palmer first began to build one of them insured and never lost one. This remarkable fact, unequalled perhaps in maritime annals, seems to show that either Providence or Mr. Palmer's captain exercises peculiar watchfulness over his interests.—Chronicle.

THE GREAT WHEAT CROP.

The Chicago "Tribune," which has excellent opportunity for estimating the crops of the Western States, in a recent issue says that the wheat crop is so nearly harvested in the States of the North-west, and has been so accurately estimated that there cannot be any very important difference from the following figures:

Table with 3 columns: Year, Bushels, and Value. Rows for 1875, 1876, 1877, and various states like Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Kansas, etc.

These figures, continues the "Tribune," may be relied upon as being a nearly correct estimate of the wheat crop of the Western States, as they are based upon the reports of the National Agricultural Bureau and confirmed as to the yield per acre by the observation of trustworthy men who have recently visited all of the States above named.

The above figures show that four wheat producing States have 55,000,000 bushels more of wheat to sell than last year; or, in other words, these four States are able to furnish the world with 14,000,000 barrels of flour in excess of the quantity raised last year. In round numbers the farmers of the four States above named will receive the sum of $50,000,000 more for the wheat crop of 1877 than for that of 1876, which the "Tribune" estimates to be an increase of 75 per cent in money value over the wheat crop of last year.

The same authority states that the aggregate wheat crops of Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee will exceed the aggregate of last year by probably 20,000,000 to 40,000,000 bushels. In California the yield will probably be 12,000,000 bushels less than last year.

These figures mean something. They show that the people of the States have a crop which the world must have—that is worth $75,000,000 at least more than that of last year. This is a solid basis upon which to predict a bumper crop of wheat for the coming fall, which must be felt more or less throughout the country.—Boston Journal.

A HORSE KILLED BY A SHOCKER HAYMAKER.—While some haymakers were engaged in cutting hay on Friday last, at Head of Rollo Bay, P. E. I., were practising throwing the heavy hammer, one of them, instead of putting it in the direction of the intended, accidentally threw it in the face of a fine horse belonging to Mr. Artemus Morrison of Little River, killing him almost instantly. The young man, at whose hands the accident happened, generally offered for sale the pick of three good horses, of which he was owner, in place of the one killed. The offer was accepted there and then.—Chronicle.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT: A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It is a simple, but powerful, and has been tried by thousands of people, and has been found to be a most valuable remedy for a large number of ailments.
