CANADIAN LIFE INSURANCE UNDER THE SEARCHLIGHT.

In order to a proper understanding of the principles and methods under which the enormous sums in the hands of life insurance companies have been acquired, it is essential to get a good grasp of the chief plans upon which policies in the United States and Canada are issued.

1. The Non-Participating Plan.

In this plan for a certain fixed premium a certain fixed amount of insurance is guaranteed to the insured or his legal representatives whenever the policy becomes a claim. In this plan the insured knows, or is in a position to know, from the contract itself, to one cent what he or his heirs will receive when the day of settlement comes.

2. The Participating Plan, Sometimes Known as the Dividend Plan or the Mutual Plan.

In this plan the insured by paying a much higher premium than on the non-participating plan, is led to believe that by so doing he virtually becomes a shareholder in the company, and that as long as his policy is maintained in force he will share in the earnings of the company, and that such earnings will be in the form of "bonuses" or "dividends" or "share" in the way of premiums, and in other words, largely increase the face value of his policy or correspondingly reduce the cost of his insurance.

New what is the explanation of the enormous disparity in the amount of insurance in force on these two plans; and how does it reveal the underlying principle upon which the companies on which life insurance companies, for the most part, conduct their business? Let us do something to put the matter in its proper perspective.

First and chiefly, because soliciting agents are encouraged and stimulated in every possible way to "produce business" on the participating plan. To this end the companies and the agents of set purpose and design keep the non-participating contract constantly in the background.

Secondly, because the participating plan, by its very nature, is a plan which is calculated to give the insured a much greater chance of profit than the non-participating plan. The latter is a plan which is calculated to give the insured a much smaller chance of profit.

Thirdly, because the participating plan, by its very nature, is a plan which is calculated to give the insured a much greater chance of profit than the non-participating plan. The latter is a plan which is calculated to give the insured a much smaller chance of profit.

Fourthly, because the participating plan, by its very nature, is a plan which is calculated to give the insured a much greater chance of profit than the non-participating plan. The latter is a plan which is calculated to give the insured a much smaller chance of profit.

Fifthly, because the participating plan, by its very nature, is a plan which is calculated to give the insured a much greater chance of profit than the non-participating plan. The latter is a plan which is calculated to give the insured a much smaller chance of profit.

Sixthly, because the participating plan, by its very nature, is a plan which is calculated to give the insured a much greater chance of profit than the non-participating plan. The latter is a plan which is calculated to give the insured a much smaller chance of profit.

Seventhly, because the participating plan, by its very nature, is a plan which is calculated to give the insured a much greater chance of profit than the non-participating plan. The latter is a plan which is calculated to give the insured a much smaller chance of profit.

Eighthly, because the participating plan, by its very nature, is a plan which is calculated to give the insured a much greater chance of profit than the non-participating plan. The latter is a plan which is calculated to give the insured a much smaller chance of profit.

There is a niche as it made by a saw and this might mean that it was an ordinary meat boner or the victim of the tragedy, if there was one, was cut into pieces before being interred. Subsequently, when other bones were found, which may or may not be human bones, but they were taken out of the same-caveated lot as the skull.

Dr. Jordan says a child. Dr. Jordan gave his certain opinion that the skull was that of a white person, about 12 to 14 years old.

Behind Old Hotel Site. John P. Scholes remembers the locality for many years, that it was not until 1871 that he and James Douglas called the hotel that was years ago an armed ward, a remarkably clever young man who had a spyglass and a gymnasium on Adelaide-street, and Ward conducted a betting alley in connection with the "long-street" hotel, which stood where Porter's optical shop is now.

He did not assign any theory as to how the skull came to be found, nor could he account for it being minus traces of the body.

Mr. Piper's Recollections. Edward S. Piper was seen at Lis house, 18 Bernard-avenue last night as a result in the frame building which was on the site now occupied by the World. This building is now on Avenue-royal, a few doors north of Yorkville-avenue. It was moved up there nearly half a century ago.

Robertson's Landmarks. Vol. I, page 105, has a large engraving of King-street, north side, showing the premises from Yonge-street to The Globe. In the same volume, page 99, is a view of the north side of King-street, showing the shops, among them that of Donald Matheson, clothier. It was a wooden two and one-half story building. This was made in 1836.

Prof. Nelson the Victoria-street barber, was with a Dick Jackson, colored commercialist, who had an establishment on the north side of King, near Yonge, in the early eighties, Jackson was in 1836.

We have passed into stock another large shipment of Carpets just received from the celebrated makers, James Temperton & Co. of Glasgow.

In looking them over you will not fail to note how different these carpets are from the kinds to be seen in other stores.

Observe, too, these Victorian Axminsters in Rose du Barry, light blue and light green—exquisite creations in the Louis XIV style destined for some dainty boudoir or drawing room.

We invite your critical inspection of these and the host of other new designs which constitute our fall importations.

Although quotations are materially higher at the factories we have made no advance on the low prices we asked for these qualities last year.

In the city, in spite of the absence of demonstrators, there is a constant panic. Half of the population is compelled to rely on candles or kerosene lamps for light, while the streets in a large part of the city have been extinguished.

The streets practically are deserted except for the squads of infantry and cavalry which are everywhere.

The shops began to close in the afternoon in even the Morskala Nevsky and other central streets. Many of the inhabitants are reported to be leaving their houses, scarcely venturing out to make necessary purchases of food, which has almost amounted to famine prices.

THE JUDGE MAKER.

Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, K.C., as successor of Sir Wm. Mulock in the cabinet, will be the principal distributor of patronage for the province.

His recommendations will govern the appointment of judges for Ontario, also the promotion of judges. In view of these circumstances it is right that Mr. Aylesworth should be made a judge.

He goes into court supported by the prestige of a cabinet position, which makes him virtual master of the material interests of the judge before whom he pleads, and of the lawyer who opposes him.

Members of the legal profession and to their clients this is grossly unfair; to the judges it is temptation couched in a most insidious and dangerous form. It is obvious that a judge's prospects of promotion should not be in the mercy of a lawyer who is practicing in court every day.

Our judges, but they are all human and they should not be exposed to unnecessary temptation.

The spectacle of Mr. Aylesworth, the judge-maker of Ontario, practicing before judges who may profit from his friendship or suffer from his enmity, is not a healthy one.

SIR WILFRID IS NOT MODEST.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has said many extraordinary things while under the influence of his own eloquence, but he fairly broke his record in a speech delivered the other day.

He said: "I have tried to make money for those who had it not, and more riches for those who had."

There is a grim truth in these utterances in so far as they apply to that exclusive circle of gentlemen who had it not, and more riches for those who had."

Let us see what Sir Wilfrid has really done to justify these self-administered compliments.

Under the country's annual expenditure has been increased from forty millions to eighty millions. The per capita taxation has been materially increased.

Railways, hundreds of miles of them, have been built with the people's money and credit, yet those railways are owned by a few favored individuals, who exact from the public ruinous charges in freight, express and passenger rates.

A very moderate conception of duty to the ordinary everyday workingman would have caused Sir Wilfrid to keep in the people's possession railways which expenditure of money has paid for, railways which would serve them at moderate rates and honestly administered yield profits for the reduction of taxation.

Neither the railways nor any other monopoly has been made to yield an inch of ground under the pressure of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Monopoly under his administration has, on the other hand, grown in power and arrogance and it stands today in Canada as the greatest menace to the comfort of the Canadian home.

The "rich" about which Sir Wilfrid grows so eloquent speak in dividends and reserve funds of the great corporations of the country. They have multiplied at the expense of the people.

There are other things, very simple things, Sir Wilfrid Laurier could have done to enrich his fellow-countrymen. He could have raised the tone of public life by encouraging honest independent utterance in the national parliament, by bringing to his cabinet members of pronounced public sympathies, by discouraging the trickster and the manipulator and by aiding the efforts of individual members of the house of commons to legislate along the lines of public rights. He could have dignified the high offices which were within the gift of his government, by making them the prizes of men of ability and integrity. Capable high-minded judges, honest officials, courageous representatives in parliament and economical administrators of the public funds are worth more to the people than a dozen transcontinental railways built at the public expense and owned by private individuals.

The people do not require the fine arts of politics to make them happy. What they want more than anything else is blunt, straightforward honesty in its representatives, in parliament and in public offices, more public sympathy in its cabinets. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has deliberately set himself against the encouragement of these qualities, in public men and public officials. His appointments to high office have been carried out in brutal disregard

A TUBE RAILWAY UNDER PUBLIC OWNERSHIP IN TORONTO.

The Toronto street railway service is unsatisfactory and always will be unless it is identified with a large, well-organized and well-capitalized company.

As we have pointed out in The World time after time over one-quarter of the earnings of the Toronto Railway every day have to go to pay dividends on six millions of capital, not one dollar of which was ever put in the system.

Complaints which are made every day in unnecessary dividends would do us in the way of improved equipment, as for instance, the highest type of air brake, the highest type of car, the highest type of motor and fender.

It is saying that half the people that are killed in this city are killed because of poor equipment. True, some of the people who are killed are negligent, but even the negligent would be saved in many cases with better equipment.

Is there any cure for this condition of affairs? We know of nothing in the night like that of public ownership, as will be seen in the extract given below showing what public ownership has done and is doing in Germany.

Public ownership has worked wonders in Germany, where the cities are steadily acquiring and owning their street railways, while the cities are steadily in view of substantial service to the public rather than the making of money for individuals. They have accordingly greatly improved their lines.

They have tackled the question of the distribution of railway concentrated population by means of a congested system. They are actually extending their lines so as to give poor people and working people a chance to get out of the crowded centres and owning little homes of their own some distance from the centre, but easily accessible by street car service.

Is there any street car system in America to-day that is working on these lines? We do not know of one except perhaps in Fort William. Post Arthur and in the City of Guelph and perhaps two or three other cities.

Our view of the street railway problem in Toronto is that this city at the forthcoming session of the Ontario legislature should obtain power to create a public utilities commission, the details of which we will discuss hereafter.

It is not to be understood that we are recommending that the city should take over the street railway system, but that it should create a public utilities commission, the details of which we will discuss hereafter.

THE SALVATION OF SHOES.

HAVE you ever yet worn out the upper part of a shoe? If you could get Soles that wore as long as Uppers wouldn't it cut down your shoe bill?

Well—here you are at last—“Quick-Oak” Sole leather, which is tough as rawhide, but almost as light as cork.

Soak it in water for four steady hours and it won't be wet through.

Put the highest priced regular Oak leather in the same vessel and it will be entirely water-soaked in one-fourth that time.

“Quick-Oak” is the safest sole leather that ever happened, because every sole of it can be relied upon for wear and water-resistance every time.

We had to sign a big contract to control “Quick-Oak” Sole for Canada, so that it can now be had only in the genuine “Slater Shoe.”

These shoes are made by the Slater Shoe Company, and have stamped on the lining a slate-frame with the retail selling price, $3.50 or $5.00.

“The Slater Shoe” has always been a pretty safe thing to buy, but “Quick-Oak” Soles now make it safer, longer-lived, more damp-proof than ever.

GRAND TRUNK'S ROUNDHOUSE.

The following description of the Grand Trunk Railway's new roundhouse at Mimico appears in The London, Eng., Railway News of Oct. 14:

The Grand Trunk Railway has recently erected a new roundhouse and machine shop at Mimico, Ont., near Toronto, built according to the Kahn system of reinforced concrete.

Each stall is 22 feet long, 12 feet wide at the base, and 18 feet at the top. The entire structure is built of reinforced concrete.

The interior columns are 14 in. square, and contain each four cast-iron bars of 2 in. diameter.

Diagonals of these steel members are placed horizontally in order to obtain the effect of hooping.

Angle girders are placed in all corners in order to prevent chipping.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

The box play at the Princess already assures extra large houses all next week when Mr. Willard will present five of the best plays from his repertoire, namely, “The Professor's Love Story” on Monday, “The Middleman” Tuesday evening and Wednesday matinee, “Tom Pinch” Wednesday and Saturday evenings, “The Brighter Side” on Friday evening, and at the Saturday matinee, “This Afternoon,” “The Professor's Love Story” will be given, and to-night, “A Fool's Revenge,” which has proven a great success, and attracted a series of large and delighted audiences, will be presented for the last time.

There is something delightfully reminiscent in the appearance of Joseph Murphy in “Kerry Gow” and “Shuan Rhue.” It recalls the days of nearly a quarter of a century ago, when his musical visits were looked forward to with the keenest pleasure.

Mr. Murphy comes to the Grand next week, and all the first class seats have ever held a closer place in the public heart than Mr. Murphy. Years cannot affect the popularity of his plays.

It is a pleasure to follow him in all of the many thrilling scenes in which his plays abound, in pieces so popular as “Kerry Gow” and “Shuan Rhue,” which have been presented so many times and for such a long period. It is entirely unnecessary to comment upon the plot or artistic construction.

“Kerry Gow” is a typical Irish drama of the school which Boccacchi made famous. It has its heart set on the plot, and its success of quiet simplicity and its strong element of comedy.

“The Flaming Arrow,” by Lincoln J. Carter, is the attraction at the Majestic next week, and the theatregoers will have a chance to see a melodramatic creation worthy of the best. The characters are finely and strongly chosen.

White Eagle, the young Rapphoo, is the attraction at the Grand. It is a pleasure to follow him in all of the many thrilling scenes in which his plays abound.

How to Fool a Lazy Liver with Artificial Exercise

EVERY serious Sickness has a small beginning. And, in nine cases out of ten that small beginning is made in the Bowels.

Indigestion, is the beginning of most diseases. It paves the way for all others. Lack of exercise, heavy eating, improper food, are its first causes.

Lastness and postponement, permits it to grow into Chronic Constipation, which means life-long Discomfort. That's why he framed up for Students his famous formula for Happiness, viz.: “Trust in God, and keep your Bowels open.”

The Bowels need adjustment from time to time, just like a clock, or a watch. No “Good time” is humanly possible without this.

And, the time to adjust the watch is not when it has run down, nor when the main spring is broken, but at the very minute adjustment is discovered necessary.

The time to adjust the Bowels is not when your Head Aches, when your Liver is Sick, your Stomach in Revolt, and Nature's Food Process retarded for 24 hours, or longer.

The proper time to adjust them is the very minute you suspect they need adjustment. If your tongue is slightly coated. If your head feels a trifle heavy, or dull.

sketch, “A Lamb on Wall-street,” Hassan Ben Ali's Troupe of Whirlwind Arabs is another great addition. These Arabs have a most clearly defined character, and the furor they created is well remembered.

W. B. Watson presents the Oriental Extravaganza, “The Awakening of Toys,” is also an act that is always welcome. Wood and Ray are as funny as ever.

Counsel for Sheet Metal Workers Asks That Verdict of $7500 Be Quashed.

Judge MacMahon refused at Osgoode Hall yesterday to give immediate effect to the verdict of $7500 obtained by the Metallic Hoisting Company against the Sheet Metal Workers' Union.

The verdict was carried into execution depends upon a series of appeals. In moving that the verdict be quashed, G. O'Donoghue argued that it would be an infringement upon the right of the defendants and thereby engaged in a strike and the announcement of a strike.

Mr. O'Donoghue, in reserving judgment, declared his intention of getting certain information from the court of appeal. Mr. O'Donoghue thinks that the case will likely go to the privy council for appeal.

Verdict for C. P. R. A verdict of $500 has been obtained by the C.P.R. but while getting out of a C.P.R. coach last spring, sustained injuries.

Having the idea that the train was stopping at Milton, plaintiff stepped down and fell 40 feet down an embankment.

Each Should Be Distinct. Mr. Jebb Favours Separate Navies for Each Part of the Empire.

Two interesting English guests were at the Empire Club luncheon yesterday afternoon. One of them was Richard Jebb, the nephew of Professor Jebb, and the author of “Studies in Colonial Nationalism.”

Mr. Jebb gave a genuine imperialistic speech, but said that he agreed with the various speakers of the day in his opinion that the British Empire should be a federation of separate states.

ROBINSON & HEATH

Quality is what counts in fur goods. For instance, you may be able to buy "head-painted" mink at half the price the natural stripe mink is worth, and chuckle over the bargain, but notice what that mink looks like after a season's wear.

It pays to buy good fur. Quality is remembered long after the price is forgotten.

We handle only quality furs.

Above we show a cut of new fur. In Ermine-Muff, $60 to $75. Ermine, $50 to $75. In Mink-Muff, $40 to $65. Mink Tie, $5 to $65. In Russian Sable-Muff and Tie, $500 to $1000.

We have many other designs at lower prices and in different furs.

Hamilton, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—A majority of the members of the council met in the mayor's office this evening with the manufacturers of the east end annex. There were some medical men present also. All endorsed the scheme to provide drainage for the annex.

The whole scheme would cost $56,000. The city engineer says that disposal works will not be necessary at first, and that will reduce the initial cost to about $28,000. The manufacturers' share will be deducted from that, and the ratepayers will be asked next January to vote the remainder.

CANADA AND NEWFOUNDLAND

Brooklyn Eagle: It is announced that Canada will again attempt to bring Newfoundland into the sisterhood of colonies that make the great empire of the north of us.

An appeal will be made to the home country to exert pressure for the unification. At this distance it appears hardly worth while for Canada to exert extreme efforts to bring her reluctant neighbor into the same token, does it seem to be much better worth while for Newfoundland to stay out.

Were uniformity to occur tomorrow, it would involve no important change in the island's government or commercial interests. It might, be sure, be a considerable financial interest in her welfare on the part of Canada, but it would not be the salary of the governor, Sir Cavendish Boyle, who draws $10,000 a year for going to pick tea, and whose withdrawal, as it seems, would result in a sudden continuance of everything that is going on at present.

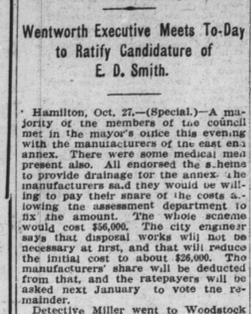

The objection to the union on the part of Newfoundland is sentimental. The people of that island prize their independence as the Swiss prize theirs. There is, moreover, a racial objection to the projected partnership. In that Newfoundland has a large mixture of Irish in its population, and also it is now wedded with the English to such a degree that the type is not assertive, the same reluctance to a completely English rule is felt among those who have ever been entertained by the descendants of the original French settlers in Canada.

Newfoundland has a strong Catholic worship, yet the Catholic is the strongest church and the clergy are jealous of the authority which is implied in their control of a majority of the educational interests. For there are no French schools in Newfoundland, although there is a government grant to the church schools of all denominations. Bilingual is common and industries tranquil.

The proposition is made from time to time that Newfoundland shall cast her fortunes with the United States; but pro-American sentiment is not so general as the Yankees have led themselves to believe. The fact is that the people are more nearly content than almost any other people in the world with their present status, and it is not worth while to be prosperous at a cost of being dissatisfied. They are a sturdy race, kindly, hospitable, brave, and it would be a pity to lower their physical and moral standards by contact with a more mushy civilization and baser commercial methods than they know. Ultimate union with the United States is probable, but so long as the island retains its present characteristics it will resist the annexation.

Division Does Not Help. The Broadway Debating Club of Broadway Methodist Church held a very interesting debate on the subject of whether the "Division of the Christian churches, sects and bodies whose religion is essentially the same really helped Christianity. F. Parmenter and H. Baker argued in the affirmative, and were of the opinion that the division did help. Mr. Darman and Wm. Morrison answered in the negative, and proved to the satisfaction of those present that the division did not help Christianity, thereby being awarded the honors of the debate.

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS CASES IN POLICE COURT

Octogenarian at Wedding Anniversary of Granddaughter—Health Improvement.
Toronto Junction, Oct. 27.—In the absence of Police Magistrate Ellis this morning Mayor Smith dispensed justice at the police court. Thomas Lees, who imbibed too freely yesterday, and was arrested for being drunk and disorderly, was allowed to go on suspended sentence. His worship evidently thought a night spent in the odorous police cells was sufficient punishment. Mrs. Thomas Burton, the 84 years of age, came all the way from Whitevale to Toronto Junction to-day to visit her granddaughter, Mrs. Dr. MacNamara, 106 Davenport-road. At the celebration of the eighth wedding anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. MacNamara to-night, Mrs. Burton was one of the brightest and jolliest in the family, although she was the oldest of four generations represented, as follows: Mrs. Burton, her daughter; Mrs. J. H. Hoover, her granddaughter; Mrs. Dr. MacNamara, and her great granddaughter, little Miss MacNamara. There is a very decided improvement in the health of the town this month as compared with last. The banquet held under the auspices of the young people of Annet-street Baptist Church last night was a pleasant and successful affair. Prof. Horning of Victoria University will attend the meeting of the Brotherhood of St. Paul of Annet-street Methodist Church next Monday evening and will give an address on "Canadian Writers and Their Characteristics." In the Presbyterian Association Football League, Victoria will play Cooke's Church on Bayville Park at 3 p.m. tomorrow (Saturday) instead of 3.30 p.m. Victoria is at present in the lead in gaining season. When you want wood-turning or house-repairing promptly and satisfactorily attended to at reasonable rates, go to 8 W. Hopper's pattern and repair.

Six small boys appeared before P. M. Henderson to-night charged with theft, preferred by County Constable Lloyd, and Barrister R. G. Henderson said that if any charge was made it should be for trespass. The magistrate dismissed all the charges.

THE TORONTO WORLD

Hamilton, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—A majority of the members of the council met in the mayor's office this evening with the manufacturers of the east end annex. There were some medical men present also. All endorsed the scheme to provide drainage for the annex. The whole scheme would cost $56,000. The city engineer says that disposal works will not be necessary at first, and that will reduce the initial cost to about $28,000. The manufacturers' share will be deducted from that, and the ratepayers will be asked next January to vote the remainder. Detective Miller went to Woodstock this evening for W. Silvey, who was arrested there on the charge of stealing an overcoat from Willis Taylor of this city. Elizabeth Rose, a young girl from Port Rowan, was arrested in the city this evening. She said that V. R. Ellis, Wilona, was supposed to meet her, but he failed to do so. The Y.M.C.A. tendered a banquet this evening in honor of E. T. Colton, New York, former federal secretary, S. Barber, Calcutta; W. J. Soutzant, Hongkong; J. Orr Callaghan, president, present; and other invited guests. The executive of the Wentworth Conservative Association will meet Saturday afternoon to make arrangements for a meeting to ratify E. D. Smith's candidature. A formal nomination meeting will not be held as Mr. Smith is the choice of the party, and he has consented to run. Robert Alma, a G.T.R. brakeman, was brought to St. Joseph's Hospital this evening. He was known to the train by a bridge near Clarkson, and was very seriously injured. Edward Knapp, 18 West Murray-street, was taken to the City Hospital this evening with a broken leg. He had the leg broken in the same place about a year ago. Mrs. Connors heard from a letter purporting to be written by Mrs. Connors, who was thought by some people to be the victim of a murder, it was dated Nov. 22, Berlin, and was posted in Guelph. The writer stated that she was with Mrs. Connors' name with the case. Louisa Jones was this morning fined $25 for obstructing the sidewalk with a bundle of Sunday papers. J. Watson Stead of the Bank of Hamilton, is so ill from an affection of the throat that the doctors have given up hope of his recovery. J. Watson Stead of the Hamilton Times was quietly married yesterday to Miss Edith L. Dalrymple, 25 Wilson-street. Thomas Woodcock, 26 Jones-street, the aged man, died of a fever this afternoon. Alex. J. Gartshore has undergone an operation for appendicitis. The Toronto and Sunday World delivered to any address in Hamilton before 7 a.m. daily, 25 cents a month; Sunday, 10 cents. David Harum Cigars, 2 for 15 cents, to-day only, at Billy O'Day, at Billy O'Day's Opera House Cigar Store.
