TOOK CHILDREN AWAY TO SOCIETY SHELTER
Photographs Were Exhibited as Those of Offspring of Worthless and Drunken Parents.

The right of the Children's Aid Society to exhibit photographs of children rescued from alleged worthless parents has been questioned. A rather remarkable case was brought to the notice of the authorities by members of the Woodgreen Methodist Church, from which it appears that thru the temporary illness of a highly respectable woman living on Elliott street and the unfortunate arrest of her husband for intoxication, the officers of the society, who heard the facts related in court, took charge of the children, two boys and a girl.

Campbell Speakers Drag It in at Final Meeting in Killburn Hall.

Toronto, Jan. 14.—The last public meeting in the West York bye-election was held to-night in the interests of Mr. Campbell in Killburn Hall. Mr. Matthews occupied the chair, and there were with him on the platform many local politicians. The hall was crowded with dodgers, on which were the words "Votes for Campbell and Letter Carriers," and the tenor of the speeches was one indicative of the idea that to receive justice from Ottawa it would be necessary to vote for the government candidate.

Interests There Are Much Larger Than Has Been Supposed.

All the British interests are controlled by the International Ethiopian Railway Trust and Construction Company.

REVOLT AMONG LIBERALS MAY LOSE LISLET SEAT
Good Chance of the Independent Candidate Scoring Over the Government Nominee.

Montreal, Jan. 14.—A despatch from Quebec says: Great interest is manifested here in the result of tomorrow's voting in Lislet. Should Mr. Caron, the Independent Liberal candidate, succeed in winning the Conservative vote and in taking in twenty or so Liberal votes, he would be elected, for elections are run on very close lines in this county and majorities are rarely won. The result is evidently very appreciative as to the result and is daily appearing very strongly to show an example of party discipline and to treat Mr. Caron as a Liberal rival against his leader.

ONE CENT MORNING PAPER | NO. 83 YONGE STREET, TORONTO

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP A PRESENT VITAL ISSUE.

The Mail Howland in his contention that the question of municipal ownership is no longer a live issue in this city. It takes the ground that the question has been finally disposed of, that there is nothing which makes the question of civic ownership a present practical issue. This is a surprising statement to make in view of what has transpired and is transpiring in regard to the acquisition of the gas plant by the city. Two methods of settling the gas controversy have been proposed. One emanates from the ratepayers of the city and the other is proposed by the City Council. By a vote of 13,862 to 6,477, taken a year ago, the electors of the city expressly decided in favor of acquiring the gas works and of operating them as a municipal service. We gave the vote in detail on Saturday last, and in order to remind our readers of the strength of its declaration in favor of civic ownership an account of the vote we again reproduce it by wards, as follows:

Wards	For.	Against.
1	1,298	807
2	2,272	1,290
3	1,482	1,462
4	2,805	1,171
5	2,761	1,119
6	1,821	728
	13,862	6,477

Majority in favor, 7,385.

The members of the City Council take upon themselves to disregard these plain instructions from the people as to how they wish the question settled, and propose a settlement of their own. This is a matter which seems to have originated in the solicitor's department. The aldermen apparently know little or nothing about it until it was announced that the solicitors of the city and of the gas company had agreed to a settlement of the case, which has been in the courts for several years. The solicitors were never authorized by the Council to settle the case, and the aldermen received no instructions from the people to have the case settled otherwise than by acquiring the plant.

We have, then, this surprising state of affairs. First of all we have a direct mandate from the people authorizing and commanding the mayor and Council to take steps for the acquisition of the gas works and the company's business. In the second place we see the council wantonly disobeying this mandate and proposing a settlement of their own. In either case it will be necessary to apply to the legislature to obtain confirmation. If we purchase the plant, it will be necessary to apply to the legislature in the matter, and the aldermanic settlement involves the consent of the legislature for discussion, and that the time is very opportune for deciding whether the gas company's service shall be operated as a municipal work or continue under the old system.

In comparing the two methods of settlement we find that in the one case we have a direct expression of opinion from those whose authority ought to be final in the matter. In the other case we have an expression of opinion of a body of 25 individuals whose action clearly convicts them of disregarding the instructions of those whose servants they are. We would like to know whether the legislature should carry out the wishes of the people, so unmistakably expressed a year ago, or whether it should follow the advice of a small body of men who clearly do not represent public opinion in the matter.

We take it that when the question is presented to the legislature that we will have no difficulty in convincing that body as to what are the wishes of the people who are directly concerned in the matter and who are the only ones that should be directly concerned in the matter. We take it, will have no alternative but to accede to the wishes of the people as expressed by the plebiscite of 1901. Mr. Ross says he believes in plebiscites.

Now as to the merits of the two proposed settlements. The details of the aldermanic settlement have been placed before the public during the last few months, and it has been clearly established that, instead of solving the gas question, we would really be getting deeper in the mire were we to adopt that mode of settlement. The settlement gives the city no redress for the overcharges that have been made during the past ten years, and in regard to the future it provides for a reduction of only 10 per cent, whereas it has been clearly shown that a reduction of that amount would not be sufficient to pay the interest on the debt, and that by this time the citizens should be entitled to a reduction of 20 per cent. per thousand. Not only does the settlement deprive us of what we really should get if we went to law, but the company is still more strongly entrenched in its position and in its ability to disregard the evident intentions of the Act of 1887. The aldermanic settlement enables the company to pile up a much larger surplus, and postpones the time for making a reduction in the future. The evils complained of since the Act of 1887 was passed will be perpetuated in an aggravated form by the aldermanic settlement, if it is allowed to go thru. Quite different is the settlement proposed and authorized by the ratepayers. That settlement involves the rental of the plant of the company at a fixed annual charge of $175,000. It does not involve the raising of one dollar capital. It simply means that the city will apply to the legislature to define the interest of the shareholders of the company as being equivalent to a guaranteed dividend of 10 per cent. per annum on the paid up capital. The legislature can very reasonably be asked to define the interests of the shareholders in this way. It will not interfere with the vested rights of the shareholders or with any individual. It will do justice to the company and to the citizens of Toronto, and injure no one. It is not necessary to produce figures, because they have already been produced, to show that municipal control and management of the gas works would result in the immediate reduction in the price of gas to 70 cents and to the reduction, within the course of a year or two, to 60 cents, with the tendency thereafter still downwards. It is, perhaps, superfluous to state that 60 cent gas would create a veritable revolution in domestic life and in the manufacturing interests of the city of Toronto. Sixty cent gas would support coal gas as a means of heating our homes. It would supply manufacturing establishments with only a small amount of power with as cheap power as is obtainable anywhere on the continent. The city would be able to light its streets for half the present cost, and more efficiently at the same time. But perhaps the greatest benefit of 60 cent gas would be from its indirect results. The city would have in its own hand an effective means of regulating the electric light companies. The reduction of gas to 60 cents would cause a corresponding decrease in the rates charged by the electric concerns for light and power. It would break up the monopoly now exercised by that company, and which is becoming more objectionable every year. With the city in possession of the gas plant, the proposed consolidation of the electric companies for the handling of Niagara Falls power in this city would become a monopoly that it has prepared to exercise in the city of Toronto. The advantages of municipal ownership of the gas plant are so decided and so numerous that we hardly think it necessary to enlarge upon this point.

Far from being a dead issue, the question of municipal ownership, and especially as it concerns the gas works, is one of the liveliest questions now before the people of this city. The issue is involved in the controversy with the gas company, and it must be settled within the next few weeks, or at any rate before the present session of the legislature is ended. The Council must decide immediately whether they are going to ask the legislature to confirm the agreement originating with the solicitors of the company and of the city, and confirmed by the aldermen, or the agreement recommended by the people. If the Council ask the legislature to ratify the aldermanic agreement, they certainly will be acting in opposition to the wishes of the people who have elected them, if, indeed, they will not be betraying a trust imposed on them. It is to be hoped that the aldermen will wake up to a sense of their responsibility in this matter. They certainly can make no mistake if they follow the course mapped out for them by the people, whereas they will most certainly be running their heads against a stone wall if they try to get their own settlement approved by the legislature.

The issue is to-day a simple one. Shall the settlement endorsed by the people, or that arranged by the solicitors and aldermen, prevail? A choice must be made at once. A new Council has just been elected, and the people expect the members to show where they stand individually on the issue. Let there be no further juggling with the question. Let the aldermen be placed on record, so that we may know which of them are working for the people and which for the corporations.

A MISCHIEVOUS PAMPHLETER.

A literary smart Aleck, who is ashamed to disclose his identity, has just published a 16-page pamphlet ridiculing the proposed affiliation of Trinity University and the University of Toronto. The writer evidently has no good object in view, but is bent upon mischief. The point to be made here is that Trinity University was brought into existence to offset the malignant influence of Toronto University. He proves from documents printed about half a century ago that the founders of Trinity looked upon the provincial university as an institution that would "utterly destroy all that is pure and holy in morals and religion." It would "lead to greater corruption than anything adopted during the madness of the French revolution." Its establishment would result in the growing up of a "corps of infidels." It was destined to "utterly strike," and bring about a train of evils, which are set out at length in the pamphlet, but which are too numerous to mention in a newspaper article. The writer points out that the predictions of the founders of Trinity College half a century ago have not been realized, but that on the contrary the provincial university, notwithstanding these maledictions, has proved a great success, having, it is claimed, a larger number of Church of England students attending its lectures than are connected with Trinity College.

In dealing with the question of the amalgamation of the two universities, it is not necessary to delve into past history. It is sufficient to take things as we find them. The state of the Province of Ontario has entirely changed since that time. Many things happened in Canada and in other countries 50 years ago which cannot now be defended. We do not, however, think of dragging these things before the public in carrying on the affairs of to-day. The friends of Trinity University are still loyal to that institution, and they desire to retain its distinctive features as an Anglican college and its social and collegiate associations. At the same time, they recognize the value of the Provincial University, and they are anxious that Trinity College should ally itself with it and reap thereby advantages it can by its connection with the institution. If there once existed an antipathy between the two institutions, that antipathy has been replaced by a better feeling. It should be the endeavor of all who have the welfare of the country at heart, to encourage harmony among the different sections of the province by trying to excite class distinction and religious bigotry. The smart Aleck who is the author of this pamphlet evidently has the latter object in view. We think that he will be disappointed in his expectations, and that his pamphlet, instead of postponing the amalgamation of the universities, will probably tend to hasten the event. At all events, we are quite satisfied that it will have no influence upon Provost Mackenzie and the corporation of Trinity College, and upon negotiations with Toronto University.

MR. B. E. WALKER ON NATIONAL TOPICS.

The official statements made yesterday at the thirty-fifth annual meeting of the Canadian Bank of Commerce are indicative of remarkable progress made in the part of that really national institution. As the president in his address noted, the bank's total assets at the close of 1897 were less than $20,000,000, while at the present time they are over $70,000,000. The deposits have grown during the same period from less than $10,000,000 to over $51,000,000; and the circulation from less than $2,500,000 to over $7,000,000. The total number of branches in 1887 was 33, while they now number 67; and with the exception of Montreal and New York, all of the former were located in the Province of Ontario, whereas at present, there are branches in British Columbia, Washington, Oregon, the Yukon Territory in the north, and London, England, in the east. The growth along all lines shown above is, of course, partially explained by the absorption of the Bank of British Columbia. As the bank has just charged the date of its annual meeting, its reports presented covered only half a year, but for the six months ended $17,500,000, and for the same period in 1901 a dividend amounting to $250,000 was paid, and a balance of $450,000 was carried forward. The absorption of the bank's deposits grew to the extent of nearly four millions, and the circulation nearly two millions.

Mr. Byron E. Walker, the general manager, in his address to the shareholders, touched upon the vital national importance. One of these was the necessity of the improvement of the decreasing tonnage of the St. Lawrence route, and calling upon the Canadian people to let such a cry go up on this question as no government could dare to disregard.

Mr. Walker spoke with evident satisfaction of the initial progress eastern Canada has lately made as a producer of steel and as an exporter of coal and iron.

The importance of this year's enormous grain crop in Manitoba and the Territories was dwelt upon, and the fact that the great Canadian railway would henceforth have two Canadian railways carrying its output to the coast.

Mr. Walker does not apparently take a pessimistic view of British Columbia and trusts that the legislature of that province will not by unwise labor laws continue to kill the goose that lays the golden egg.

The general manager takes a hopeful view of the general situation in Ontario, and proposes good things as a result of the production of iron and steel at our Lake Superior and Georgian Bay ports.

He notes, with pleasure, the decline of the speculative tendency, and the growth instead of healthy investment in many communities. Mr. Walker's full report appears in another column.

NEW CANADIAN ENTERPRISE.

On another page of this issue is found the prospectus of a new corporation, which it is hoped will prove the pioneer of an exceedingly important Canadian industry. It refers to that of the Ontario Sugar Company, Limited, an enterprise incorporated to grow and carry out to manufacture and sell sugar therefrom, etc.

The company, as will be observed, started out with a remarkably strong directorate, and another favorable feature of the enterprise is the fact that the capitalization includes no watered stock. In fact, new shareholders will be carried over on the same basis as the directors, who have given their time and labor gratis to the venture.

As many Toronto readers already know, the beet sugar industry has grown to enormous proportions in France, Germany, Holland, Belgium, the United States and other countries, in which countries the sugar is required to handle the product. Why, therefore, should not the industry be carried out in this country? At present Canada consumes each year upwards of 320,000,000 lbs of imported sugar, and the contemplated factory could hardly turn out more than 15,000,000 lbs per annum, so that it would break the market for its output.

It has been proven that Ontario is naturally adapted for sugar beet culture, and this company has secured the services of a prominent agriculturist, Mr. Ph.D., who has had charge of the experiments conducted by the Agricultural Department of the Ontario government in the various districts of the province during the past few years. Mr. Ph.D. has secured method pictures of the village and surroundings and fine colored views of the play authorized by the Ontario government, which is a popular lecturer. The sale of seats at popular prices begins Thursday morning at the hall for the performance on Saturday afternoon and evening.
