Asquith Declaration Is Setback To Labor Government

TURKEY DEAD; OTHER STRICKEN

M'DONALD NOW FACED BY PROBLEM

Serious Dilemma Confronts Labor Govt. by Speech From Asquith.

A DOUBLE BURDEN

Leaders of Other Parties Willing to Give the New Premier a "Chance."

(By Canadian Press.)

London, Feb. 14.—At the very outset of his career the Labor government finds itself confronted with a serious dilemma, through former Premier Asquith's declaration in the House of Commons that the administration must reconsider its attitude toward "Poplarism" or lose the support of the Commons.

The theory that all citizens have the right to work or to maintenance at public expense has gained this sobriquet of "Poplarism" because of its recent application in Poplar, the metropolitan borough in the East End.

Had the incident arisen in a later stage of the government's existence the situation would undoubtedly have been described as a crisis threatening its continuance in office, since both the Liberals and Conservatives are equally opposed to the government's policy in this matter, and it is therefore obvious that a direct motion of want of confidence, if submitted to the House, would have brought the government down.

Such an outcome, however, is not expected now, as neither opposition party wishes to oust the new ministers yet and involve the possibility of a special election, nevertheless, it is one of extreme difficulty for the ministry and not without its anxieties for the other parties.

The cabinet met late last night and discussed the situation, but whether any definite decision was taken is unknown.

J. R. Clynes, Lord Privy Seal, and deputy leader of the House of Commons, speaking on behalf of the government, has promised the facilities of a special debate on the subject, and it is understood this will take place next week. Meanwhile, there may be developments clearing the way for a settlement.

Whether the Daily Herald, London's only Laborite newspaper, speaks for the government in this matter is doubtful, but today it emphatically supports "poplarism."

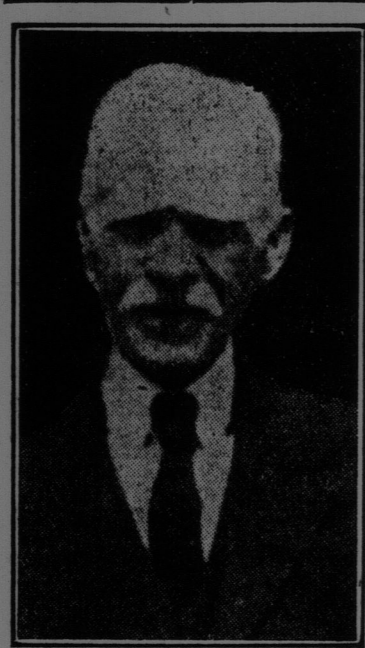

"All over the country," says the Herald, "the workers are keener about this than about anything else. It is an issue upon which Labor can fight united and confident, and it is a good thing that Asquith called for an encounter upon a field where the workers are so clearly ranged together."

"Poplarism" however is not supported by all the ministers, and it is regarded as certain that means will be sought in the interval before the Commons debate to placate the extremists through some method of parliamentary procedure.

While the opposition leaders criticized the Government platform freely there was noticeable throughout the debate a friendly note of moderation and indulgence. Everybody appeared eager to give the new Government the fullest opportunity to make good. This note was emphasized when Mr. Baldwin, turning to the Prime Minister, who looked worn and fatigued, said that his opponents realized his tremendous difficulties and would do or say nothing to embarrass him in his relation with France and other countries.

With a sentiment and kindness which seemed to be shared by the rest of the House, the former Premier added: "We all hope that the immense double burden of Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs which he has assumed may not be—as we fear it will be—too much for him."

PRIEST IS HELD IN SHOOTING CASE

Father Grady, in Pittsburgh, Says Killing of Housekeeper Was Accidental.

Pittsburg, Feb. 14.—Miss Anna McDonough, 45, was shot and killed late yesterday in the study of the parish house of St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic church, where she was employed as housekeeper.

Rev. John J. Grady, pastor of the church, was arrested and is being held on a charge of murder. He admitted the shooting, according to the police, but said it was accidental. Miss Mary McDonough, sister of the dead woman, and Robert Shields, janitor, both living at the parish house, were being held as material witnesses.

Under questioning by police, Father Grady is said to have stated that he found a pistol while cleaning a drawer of his desk in the study. While fingering it the priest said the pistol was discharged, according to the police, and that when he turned about in his chair he saw McDonough stagger out of the doorway of the study into the hall. She died in a few minutes. A bullet pierced her right shoulder and police say her dress was burned by powder marks.

NAMED TO BOOST SALE OF TICKETS

Strong Committee Selected for International Skating Meet Here.

TAKE OFF COATS

Members Start Work Immediately to Make Events Financial Success.

Tickets for the International Indoor Skating Championships to be held in the Arena Feb. 25, 26 and 27, are in the hands of the printers today, and will pass immediately from them into the hands of a strong committee which has been organized to take charge of this important phase of the championship meet.

Here are the men who will look after this department:—

THOS. S. SIMS, ROBERT E. SIMPSON, WILLIAM H. TURNER, ELMER INGRAHAM.

Mr. Sims is the chairman of the committee, and Mr. Simpson is secretary-treasurer. This selection and arrangement were made at a meeting held yesterday, when the complete sale of the tickets and placing them in the hands of the people who will attend the races was given over to the gentlemen named. It is in most competent hands. This committee will meet at once with energy, and held a meeting last night and completed plans.

The arena has been divided for the purpose of the championship meet, into nine reserved seating sections, in addition to the boxes. The reserved sections will be lettered A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H and I, and tickets will be sold for each of these sections. These tickets will cost $1 for each night. The boxes seats will cost $1.50 each night. There are four seats in each box, and the boxes will be sold as units, the purchaser taking all four seats. It is hoped that purchasers of boxes and reserved seats will buy for all three nights at once. The general admission tickets will give standing room to the buyer, will cost 50 cents.

The ticket committee will open selling depots in various parts of the city. In each of these will be a plan of the arena, and each depot will have on sale a proportion of the seats in each section, thus affording a full chance for selection no matter which depot a buyer calls at.

The box seats will be placed at one central depot.—The Phonograph Salon, King Square—while the reserved and rush seats will be on sale at the following shops:—

A. Fred deForest, Prince William street, tobacconist.

A. Fred deForest, Charlotte street, tobacconist.

R. W. Hawker, 521 Main street, drugist.

F. W. Munro, 357 Main street, drugist.

E. R. W. Ingraham, Union street, west, drugist.

Charles Bailis, King street, tobacconist.

H. J. Mowatt, Haymarket square, drugist.

W. H. Thorne & Co., Ltd., sporting goods department.

Buy Early is Good Advice

In placing the seats on sale in several parts of the city at one time, the committee had in mind the fact that the limited seating capacity at the arena will likely be found below the demand for tickets. With the plans of distribution decided upon, residents of all parts of the city will have an equal chance in the rush for reservations. The committee would have the public know these conditions so that they will be prepared to get their tickets as soon as possible after they are placed on sale which will likely be tomorrow or the next day.

Death Threat Is Sent to Judge

White Plains, N. Y., Feb. 14.—County Judge William F. Bleakley announced in court he had received an abusive "Black Hand" letter threatening him with death if he found Dominick Deora, 32 years old, guilty of first degree assault.

As a public answer, the court raised Deora's bail from $5,000 to $10,000, which Deora could not furnish, whereupon he was committed to jail to await trial.

"Joe" Williams, a negro of Tarrytown, at whom Deora is charged with having emptied a shotgun, was asked by Judge Bleakley if, as reported, he had been offered $150 to disappear and not testify as complaining witness against Deora.

"Yes, I got it," answered Williams. "What did you do with it?" "I spent it, your honor."

WOULD PUT JAPAN ON QUOTA BASIS

Secretary Hughes Decrees Proposals of Bill Singleton Out Japanese for Exclusion.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Proposals of the Johnson immigration bill which "singles out Japanese immigrants for exclusion" are inconsistent with the treaty of 1921 and should be eliminated, Secretary Hughes informed Chairman Johnson of the House Immigration Committee in a letter made public at the state department.

"I believe such legislative action would largely undo the work of the Washington conference on limitation of immigration, which so greatly improved our relations with Japan," Mr. Hughes warned Representative Singleton.

As a substitute for the exclusion proposals the secretary suggested that Japan be placed on the same quota as other nations and that the immigration certificate plan now in the bill to provide for selection abroad be made applicable to Japanese nationals.

Queretaro, Mexico, Feb. 14.—Errique Estrada's rebellious forces are continuing in disorderly retreat after the decisive reverse suffered at Ocotlan, while the scattered remnants of the Vera Cruz insurrectionary army are fleeing northward into the Tuxpan petroleum region and southward in the direction of Oaxaca to gain the Isthmian States, according to the declarations of Gen. S. CLIFFORD SUCCUMBS SUDDENLY

Dies Few Hours After Suffering a Stroke of Paralysis.

CUNNINGHAM ILL

Found Unconscious on Jail Floor—His Condition is Critical.

Tragedy followed close upon the heels of tragedy at the St. John County Jail last night and this morning and within a few hours after one of the turnkeys had passed away following a paralytic stroke late last night, another was found stricken by a similar ailment on the floor of the jail office soon after eight o'clock this morning.

Today Samuel Clifford who for more than forty years had filled the office of turnkey, lies dead at his home, 142 St. James street, and his associate, William J. Cunningham, on night duty at the jail, is in a critical condition at the home of his sister-in-law, with whom he resides, at 271 Charlotte street. Both men were popular officials and the fact that both were stricken within a few hours of each other has brought depression and sorrow to their many friends and their fellow officials.

In Usual Health.

Both were apparently in their usual good health last evening. Mr. Clifford, who was on duty with Frank Bowes, the third turnkey, left the jail about 9.30 for his home and Mr. Cunningham came on duty soon afterwards, taking over from Mr. Bowes for the night.

Mr. Clifford went to his home and after supper made a short visit to his wife's niece, Miss Myrtle Fox, who resides in Carmarthen street. Between eight and nine o'clock he again returned home to his wife who on finding that her niece was alone went out to spend a short time with her. On her return home she was shocked to find her husband lying unconscious on the floor near the kitchen stove which apparently he had been fixing. Medical aid was immediately summoned, but the stricken man never regained consciousness and passed away a few minutes before five o'clock this morning.

Co-Worker Stricken.

Mr. Cunningham was in his ordinary good spirits when he took over his duties last night and he was not informed of the death of Mr. Clifford. He had been taken ill suddenly. This morning, however, Mr. Clifford's son, Deputy Sheriff Armstrong Clifford, attempted to get in touch with Mr. Clifford by telephone, but there was no response to his repeated calls.

It was soon after this that Turnkey Frank Bowes went on duty and entering the jail office he was horrified to find Mr. Cunningham lying on the floor alongside a couch on which it was usual for him to rest during the night. A bruise on the side of his head indicated where he had struck the floor when he fell from the couch after being stricken. Mr. Bowes called the ambulance and had the unconscious man removed to the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Cunningham, 271 Charlotte street.

The Late Turnkey.

The late Mr. Clifford is survived by his wife, who was formerly Mrs. Finn, whose maiden name was Miss Marie Copeland; three sons, Armstrong B. Clifford, deputy sheriff of St. John county; S. L. Clifford, druggist of Dalhousie, N. B.; and Kenneth B. Clifford, at home; one step-son, J. Willard Finn of Toronto; one daughter, Mrs. J. Taylor Bond of Toronto; one brother, John J. Clifford of Oshawa, Ont.; and one sister, Mrs. John Anderson of West St. John.

Constable Is Acting.

Sheriff Wilson announced this morning that Constable Thomas X. Gibbons would act temporarily as turnkey until a permanent appointment as successor to Mr. Clifford was made.

Samuel Clifford filled the post of turnkey for nearly 42 years, and during that period has held the respect and esteem of all with whom he came in contact. He was appointed to the (Continued on page 2, third column)

HOMEMADE FLAG

Cloth from two skirts, one red and one white, was used in making a homemade American flag to fly at the first Fourth of July celebration held in Pawnee county. The celebration was held on Pawnee Fork, about two miles above its mouth, not far from where earned stands now. Pending the preparations for this celebration it was discovered there was no flag in the community. So Mrs. Tompkins contributed a red flannel skirt and Miss Post one of spotless white, and the two ladies labored nearly all night; and the next morning at early dawn the product of their labors was flung to the breeze amid the loud cheers of the assembled citizens. A fish pole was used for a staff.

SAYS HE FOUND NO AUSTRALIAN DESERT

Explorer Declares Reputed Waste is Fertile Land—Tale of Adventure.

The so-called "Great Australian Desert," which was supposed to extend over an area of many thousands of square miles in the northern territory and northeastern part of Western Australia, does not exist, according to Michael Terry, a 25-year-old world traveler, Russian war veteran and adventurer, who arrived in New York last week on his way to England to lecture before the Royal Geographical Society and the Overseas Club. He declares the "desert" is rich, fertile land, capable of development of irrigated.

CHAINED TO A BULL

One of the old institutions in connection with the jail, inaugurated under Alderman Lewis' administration as chairman, and continued down to the time of Commissioner Fisher, was that of the chain gang, by whose work the city and county profited to a large extent. They built roads, quarried rock, shoveled snow and assisted in public works of various natures.

THE CHAIN GANG

It was by the chain gang that Victoria street, in the North End, was built, and to this institution must be accredited the work of constructing the artificial lakes in Rockwood Park.

Prisoners of Note.

During the service of Mr. Clifford a number of men whose names have gone down in the annals of criminal history in this province have been confined within the walls of the common jail. Among these was William Hughes, who was hanged on May 9, 1883, after being convicted of the charge of murdering his wife. At that time Mr. Clifford was the only turnkey in the jail, having had no relief before an assistant was secured.

Other prisoners found guilty of crimes, the telling of which occupied the attention of the press in the past were the two youths on trial for the Doherty murder.

Another who spent some time in the county jail was a man named Crawford, found guilty of murder and later adjudged insane and confined in the provincial asylum.

Still another of the prisoners to be incarcerated in the jail here was a man named Craig, who, having been found guilty on four counts in connection with a serious offense, received a most unique sentence, consisting of two years, three years, five years and life imprisonment in the penitentiary, the sentence having been imposed by Judge Duff.

During the year 1920, the jail had its largest number of prisoners, the number amounting to 1,095, while in the year 1921, 89 were sent to the penitentiary, the largest number in this respect in the history of the city.

Mr. Cunningham's Service.

William J. Cunningham has been in the employ of the county jail for about 30 years and, like his former fellow official, Mr. Clifford, has always been an efficient and capable officer.

Mr. Cunningham was formerly a driver in No. 2 Engine House, then located in Sydney street where the patrol wagon and ambulance are now housed. For the last eight years he has resided at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Cunningham, widow of his brother, George Cunningham.

Mr. Cunningham was still unconscious at 2:30 and his condition was practically unchanged. A slight hemorrhage of the brain was said to be the cause of his illness.

CHAINED TO A BULL

One of the old institutions in connection with the jail, inaugurated under Alderman Lewis' administration as chairman, and continued down to the time of Commissioner Fisher, was that of the chain gang, by whose work the city and county profited to a large extent. They built roads, quarried rock, shoveled snow and assisted in public works of various natures.

THE CHAIN GANG

It was by the chain gang that Victoria street, in the North End, was built, and to this institution must be accredited the work of constructing the artificial lakes in Rockwood Park.

Prisoners of Note.

During the service of Mr. Clifford a number of men whose names have gone down in the annals of criminal history in this province have been confined within the walls of the common jail. Among these was William Hughes, who was hanged on May 9, 1883, after being convicted of the charge of murdering his wife. At that time Mr. Clifford was the only turnkey in the jail, having had no relief before an assistant was secured.

Other prisoners found guilty of crimes, the telling of which occupied the attention of the press in the past were the two youths on trial for the Doherty murder.

Another who spent some time in the county jail was a man named Crawford, found guilty of murder and later adjudged insane and confined in the provincial asylum.

Still another of the prisoners to be incarcerated in the jail here was a man named Craig, who, having been found guilty on four counts in connection with a serious offense, received a most unique sentence, consisting of two years, three years, five years and life imprisonment in the penitentiary, the sentence having been imposed by Judge Duff.

During the year 1920, the jail had its largest number of prisoners, the number amounting to 1,095, while in the year 1921, 89 were sent to the penitentiary, the largest number in this respect in the history of the city.

Mr. Cunningham's Service.

William J. Cunningham has been in the employ of the county jail for about 30 years and, like his former fellow official, Mr. Clifford, has always been an efficient and capable officer.

Mr. Cunningham was formerly a driver in No. 2 Engine House, then located in Sydney street where the patrol wagon and ambulance are now housed. For the last eight years he has resided at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Cunningham, widow of his brother, George Cunningham.

Mr. Cunningham was still unconscious at 2:30 and his condition was practically unchanged. A slight hemorrhage of the brain was said to be the cause of his illness.

MORE TESTIMONY AGAINST EMBARGO

Montreal, Feb. 13.—Embargo on the export of Canadian pulpwood would not save a single tree in the Dominion, would mean a drop of $7 or $8 a cord, would force more French-Canadians to leave Quebec land for United States in the price paid to the cutter, and cities, the Royal Commission on pulpwood heard from witnesses today.

GIRL GETS RICH SELLING LIQUOR

Young Stenographer Moves to Bahamas, Makes Fortune in Two Years.

Nassau, Bahamas, Feb. 14.—Miss Gertrude C. Lythgoe, a young stenographer from San Francisco, who came down here on a vacation several years ago, is the head of the largest liquor exporting house in the West Indies. She supplies the rum-runners of the Atlantic coast and has built up a great fortune in two years.

People here call her the "Queen of the Bootleggers," but Miss Lythgoe indignantly repudiates such a distinction. She says her business is strictly legal and she has no right nor desire to inquire where the liquor goes after it leaves her hands.

There are people, however, who hint that Miss Lythgoe sometimes undertakes to ship a big cargo "on her own" and land it in America. Stories are current about her battles with "chickens" and rum pirates off the American coast.

The rum runners all know her as the shrewdest person to deal with who have struck since bootlegging became a "big business."

The SOLID Comfort of Walnut

DARK-GRAINED, lustrous, beautiful—Gibbard Solid Walnut furniture endows the guest room with the magic charm of hospitality.

"Walnut" exclaims the delighted visitor. "I do love walnut."

"Yes, we like walnut, too," replies the hostess. "This is only a moderate-priced suite, but it is solid. Bob says he'd sooner have a Gibbard Solid Walnut suite, no matter what it cost, but really, you'd be surprised to know how moderate in price Gibbard Solid Furniture is."

"Solid! Is this Solid Walnut? Why, solid walnut used to cost a small fortune! And it's a lovely Chippendale design, too. Really, I am in love with it. Solid Walnut—do you mean it?"

"Yes, guaranteed genuine, solid walnut," repeats the hostess, smiling.

And she opens a drawer and shows the guarantee reproduced below, which is attached to every piece of Gibbard Furniture sold.

By specializing in the solid woods, Gibbard has brought good solid walnut, solid mahogany and solid oak furniture within the reach of people of moderate means.

Made in "period" designs—Queen Anne, Chippendale, Colonial, Italian, etc. The decorations are executed by hand carvers. Most any furniture dealer can show you examples of Gibbard Furniture. Ask him to show you the Gibbard catalogue, too. It contains the full line.

Guarantee This is to be a Guarantee that Gibbard Solid Walnut, Solid Mahogany, Solid Oak—made in the United States of America—will be as good as new for all seasons.

Into the drawer under cushions, table tops, chair seats, ottoman, are made of the same quality of solid wood as the rest of the furniture. Look for the Gibbard name plate on each article.

DR. DAVID ALLISON

The name of Dr. David Allison will always be associated in a striking way with the history of Mount Allison University. He was a classical instructor in Sackville Academy before he became instructor in Mount Allison College in 1862, a post he resigned to become President of the College in 1869; and, though in 1877 he gave up this office to become Superintendent of Education for Nova Scotia, he came back again in 1891 as President of Mount Allison University, holding this position until his retirement from active work in 1910, at the age of seventy-four years. He lived to attain the age of eighty-eight years, and in his retirement his heart was still with the institution which owed so much to him as a great teacher and capable administrator.

The Republican politicians, who are looking for scapegoats, but the President is firm. In his address in New York on Tuesday night he declared prompt prosecution would follow the all lands investigation, without fear or favor, no matter who was hurt or what the consequences. "In the effort there will be no politics, no partisanship," said the President. "It will be speedy, it will be just."

A PHARAOH'S TOMB

Yesterday more than thirty centuries rolled back, and the teeming millions of earth who have access to the daily printed word stood for a moment in imagination beside the mummy case, covered with plates of gold, which enshrouds the mortal remains of an Egyptian king. Nothing to equal it in splendor and beauty has been discovered in all the more than forty years during which pyramid after pyramid and tomb after tomb have yielded to the gaze of Egyptologists the funerary magnificence of the Pharaohs. It is a little difficult to adjust the mind to a contemplation of that far-off period in human history, when even such civilization as existed was confined to a small portion of the earth's surface; and yet when some of the arts had attained a remarkable development, and wealth and luxury flashed their dazzling jewels in a world where the masses were little more than slaves. Kings and priests there were, and the opened tombs so long sealed and forgotten tell a marvelous story of the honor paid the rulers when they came to the end of life's journey. Many of these tombs had been despoiled by robbers centuries before modern seekers after knowledge of early Egyptian history began their excavations, but that of Tutankhamen escaped, to yield its unrivalled splendor to the gaze of the explorers of today. One reads with wonder the description of the tomb and its contents, amazed at the skill of the artificers of that far-off time and at the amount of human labor involved in and wealth devoted to the building and the decoration of these places of the dead. From the contents of these tombs much has been learned about the kings of Egypt, but of the life of the people over whom they ruled there is no adequate record. One would expect the majesty of death, on such an occasion as the opening of the tomb of Tutankhamen, to subdue the coarser elements of human nature, but it appears the tomb-robbers of ancient days have their successors in point of disregard for the fitness of things among the Egyptian officials of today. Mr. Howard Carter has found it necessary, because of restrictions and discourtesy on their part, to close the tomb and cease to pursue his investigations. This, however, can be but a temporary interruption. The Government of Egypt surely will not tolerate ill-treatment of those who in the scientific spirit are seeking to fill in the gaps in recorded Egyptian history—a most interesting portion of the history of mankind.

A JUST MAN

President Coolidge of the United States is nobody's tool. The Senate on Monday night by resolution called on him to demand the resignation of Edwin Denby, Secretary of the Navy. It has not been shown that Mr. Denby was improperly connected with the oil scandal, but he signed the leases, and the majority of the Senate declares he should resign. The President, however, chooses his own advisers, and he has courteously but firmly invited the Senate to mind its own business. In a message sent promptly in reply to the Senate's demand he reminded that body that under the constitution the dismissal of an officer of the Government is an executive function. He quoted former Presidents Madison and Cleveland, the latter of whom said of the Senators on one occasion:—"They assume the right of the Senate to sit in judgment upon the exercise of my exclusive discretion and executive function, for which I am solely responsible to the people. My oath to defend the constitution, my duty to the people who chose me to execute the powers of their great office and not to relinquish them, and my duty to the chief magistracy, compel me to refuse compliance with these demands."

President Coolidge is not less emphatic in stating his own position. He says:—"The President is responsible to the people for his conduct relative to the retention or dismissal of public officials. I assume that responsibility and the people may be assured that as soon as I can be advised so that I may act with entire justice to all parties concerned and fully protect the public interests I shall act. I do not propose to sacrifice any innocent man for my own welfare, nor do I propose to retain in office any unfit man for my own welfare. I shall try to maintain the functions of the Government unimpaired to act upon the evidence and the law as I find it, and to deal thoroughly and summarily with every kind of wrong-doing."

This is sufficiently emphatic, and will tend to elevate President Coolidge in public estimation. Secretary Denby may be asked to resign, but not until the evidence submitted is conclusive that his relations with the oil deals were improper, and he asserts they were not. His decision to remain in office is somewhat embarrassing to the idle to remain idle. Premier Macdonald must face a difficult situation. A conference of McAdoo supporters is called to consider whether in view of his employment as counsel by Doherty of oil lands notoriety it will be advisable to continue to boom him for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. This is done at Mr. McAdoo's request, a fact that is to be recorded as creditable to himself as a party man.

Mussolini has secured the support of former Premier Orlando, who will return to active politics in Italy as a supporter of the Fascist leader. This is a notable gain for the latter.

HE'S GROWING FEEBLE.

Water in less than a week in the month of May last caused a million dollars worth of damage to the roads and bridges of New Brunswick, and it took old John Barleycorn a whole year to earn sufficient money to cover one-half of the loss.

SHIFTING WONT DO.

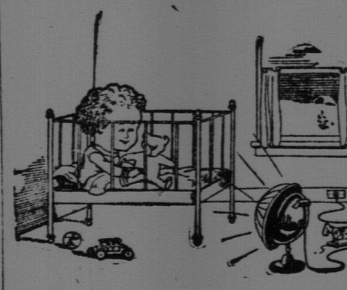

The point to keep in mind is that taxation must be reduced, not shifted from the influential few to the influential multitude. The authorities and all concerned in the question should not overlook the fact that, if driven too hard and too far, it is possible for the multitude to become influential. No more striking statement was ever made by Roosevelt than when he said that "the people never take their own part." They seldom do, but it is always possible to go too far and force that course upon them.

CHURCH CAN ABOLISH WAR.

Churchmen who talk in the East about the opportunity of the Christian church to prevent war are only beginning to realize the vast powers of their organization over the viewpoints and opinions of its members. If the Christian churches of the world set themselves definitely, unflinchingly and dynamically against war, war would be ended. Wars are not born nationally but individually. Wars do not begin with the exchange of bitter notes between nations, but with the meanness of individuals. The war spirit does not rise in exalted and patriotic public meetings, but takes its start in the nature of the men who beats his wife or quarrels with his neighbors. The church can abolish war by setting itself steadily to the task, seven days a week, of making its members healthy in mind, body and soul. If the church will take care of the little leaks in human behavior the big leaks will take care of themselves.

AGE TO THE FORE.

John D. Rockefeller, who is only 84, took his Waterloo on the Florida golf links this week. He came up against General Adelbert Ames. The General is 88, which gives him an advantage of four years over Mr. Rockefeller in experience and judgment. The General not only beat Mr. Rockefeller over nine holes, but went on and finished the 18 holes after Mr. Rockefeller left. Mr. Rockefeller need not despair. Four more years of practice and he may catch up. What golf needs is older blood. The men above 70 are not only playing a large part of the golf of the world but they are playing a part in its business which would have seemed almost incredible even 20 or 30 years ago. Mr. Gompers, still the active head of the American Federation of Labor, remarked a few days ago that at 74 he feels like 40, but the average man of 40 now feels much younger than he did in the days when Mr. Gompers was 40. The life span lengthens, and as it lengthens the health span, the play span and the work span lengthen together. In regard to one Biblical passage the modernists have an advantage over the fundamentalists. That is in the words of the Psalmist: "The days of our years are threescore years and ten." Here at least there is force in the modernist contention that the Bible must be interpreted "to fit modern needs and conditions."

EATING WITH YOUR EYES.

Professor F. Jager of the University of Minnesota says that modern people "eat with their eyes." He illustrates his point by declaring that while dark honey is superior to golden honey in flavor and nutritive qualities, people prefer the golden honey because it looks better. The modern habit of eating with the eyes is rapidly making the people on this continent a race of undernourished dyspeptics. They eat with their eyes when they eat bread, choosing the white, indigestible refined flours in preference to wholesome, digestible whole-wheat flours, simply because the white variety "looks better."

They eat with their eyes when they demand over-refined white sugars. Practically every article of diet is chosen today for its appearance instead of for its nutritive value. And not only is eating done with the eyes in point of quality, but in point of quantity as well. There is an old vulgar saying, which, stripped of its vulgarity, might be translated, "his eyes are bigger than his stomach." People today spend a quarter of their waking hours stretching their stomachs to the size of their eyes. Unless the human race begins to substitute common sense for greed as a diet gauge, or unless evolution forces overtime to provide us with a new and harder digestive apparatus, the practice of "eating with the eyes," is going to produce generations so physically unfit that even all the resources of science cannot keep them long alive.

EXCOMMUNICATION.

(Saturday Review.) Must I, like Adam, leave the enchanted woods? And shall I hear their call no more? Shall I hear the dove's retentive note Murmur of sanctuary at the open door? Shall I no longer tread the winter hush Of leaves the lavish autumn spread? Will that live incense crumble in sleep. Sleep for me now forever in the dead? Will spring once more about the larches play Like children kissing, being kissed, And I no more see the birches' naked limbs Flush to the spring and vanish in green mist?

IF I SHOULD KNOCK AT THE CATHEDRAL DOORS

Will there no verged workman win Consent from summer's robed and mitred priest? And to the choral benediction let me in? May I no more with sacrificial fires Stand suppliant at autumn's gate? Must I with empty brazier turn away And be forever excommunicate? —E. Temple Thurston.

She—"Isn't it a nuisance, dear? Mother sent me a recipe for some wonderful floor polish, but I've mislaid it."

He (tasting soup suspiciously)—"Are you sure you mislaid it, darling?"

Strange, Strange! This is veracious: A clergyman from Cambridge, Massachusetts, has occasion to preach to the inmates of an insane hospital. During his sermon he noticed that one of the patients paid the closest attention, his eyes riveted upon the preacher's face, his body bent eagerly forward. Such interest was most flattering. After the service, the speaker noticed that the man spoke to the superintendent, so as soon as possible the preacher inquired: "Didn't that man speak to you about my sermon?" "Yes." "Would you mind telling me what he said?" The superintendent tried to sidestep, but the preacher insisted. "Well," he said at last, "what the man said was: 'Just think, he's out and I'm in.'"

WEDDINGS

Bacon-Thompson.

The wedding of Miss Bernice R. Thompson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Allan Thompson, of Hatfield's Point, to G. Edward Bacon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Bacon, of Central Greenwich, was solemnized by Rev. H. A. Goodwin, B. A., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Britton, 68 Victoria street, Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 12, at 3 o'clock. Owing to a recent bereavement in the bride's family, only immediate relatives and friends were present. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, George C. Jones, was very pretty in a gown of black Canton crepe with silver trimmings and hat to match. Shortly after the ceremony the bride and groom left by the Valley train for their future home in Central Greenwich, where a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents. A dainty supper was served. The groom's present to the bride was a handsome muskrat coat. Many other beautiful gifts were received by the happy couple, including cut glass chins, silver, linen and substantial checks. They are very popular in their community.

Popular Montreal Man Now Eats Meat

Gains Ten Pounds and Feels Fine Because DRECO Has Put His Digestive Organs in Sound, Healthy Working Order.

Mr. H. Bouthillier, of 276 Bleury Street, has a wide acquaintance in the City of Montreal, where he has practised his profession for many years. He has had many conversations with his clients in the course of his career, but none more profitable than those which resulted in his taking DRECO. It was recommended to him by men who had evidently experienced its remarkable powers and Mr. Bouthillier is only too anxious to pass the good word along.

"DRECO has put me back on my feet," he says. "Ever since my return from overseas I have suffered greatly with my stomach. It was weak and touchy and I would hardly digest anything. Today, thanks to DRECO, which was highly recommended by people coming into the shop, I am able to eat and digest it properly. DRECO has done me so much good that I have gained ten pounds in weight and what is more remarkable, I have only taken two bottles of it."

Why suffer the miseries of faulty digestion when this splendid remedy, DRECO, is within easy reach? Let its wonderful corrective and tonic properties restore your digestive organs as it has those of so many others. DRECO is a purely herbal preparation and contains no mercury, potash or habit-forming drugs.

Mrs. G. Willford Campbell was a charming hostess yesterday afternoon at her residence, Leinster street, when seven tables of bridge were played. The drawing room and library were prettily decorated with American Beauty roses and the scene was greatly enhanced by the light from rose candles. GET PET TO MATCH! Colors Must Harmonize, Fashion Decrees

(By Marian Hale)

In Paris it is reported snails have become so popular with women for pets that there is a great scarcity of them for restaurant use—and the Parisian loves his snails. But the snail as yet has not penetrated the exclusive circles of Manhattan as a pet, any more than as a food.

If you don't carry a monkey, cat, dog, goat or rabbit, your only alternative seems to dangle one of those flat, lifeless, but wicked-looking dolls from your arm.

These are the days when a woman has her hands full.

New York.—Discard your pet, if it does not match with your new costume. Or, at least, get a costume to match your pet.

For this is the dictate of fashion. That cunning, chocolate pomranian that was just as nervous last year with your brown coat is all wrong with the new gray one. No matter how much attached to him you may be, you should get some sort of a gray beast to match.

Since black and white are popular colors this season, what is more appropriate than a little white bunny attached to a leash strolling along beside a black satin costume? Or an all-white rabbitkin coat?

The rabbit may be seen not only on the Paris boulevards, but along Fifth avenue, New York.

Dog Too Common
Cats, leashed, are too common by this time to attract much attention. The Siamese or Persian variety are acknowledged to be more sublime and more decorative than just a plain Tom or Tabby.

A consistent pet is the monkey, particularly the most modest, because of its appealing diminutiveness. If he is small enough to sit comfortably in a champagne glass he has attained the ideal development, though the garden variety is a few sizes larger.

What's Price?
I priced a nifty looking monkey at a Fifth avenue pet shop and found I would have to part with just one hundred and fifty dollars before they would wrap him up for me.

Mrs. Samuel Parkhill. At the tea hour Mrs. Spence was assisted by Miss W. Carrick, Miss Mollie Lingley and Misses Elsie and Laura Spence.

Mrs. Rupert Wigmore was hostess last evening at her home, West St. John, for a chain party to aid the funds of the Royal Arms Chapter, I.O.G.E., of which she is regent. There was a good attendance of members and a good sum was realized. Other members are intending to take this pleasant method of strengthening the financial position of their chapter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Robertson, 155 Adelaide street, are delighted to have with them again their son, Mr. Gordon W. Robertson, who was operated upon for appendicitis in the General Public Hospital recently. He returned home yesterday.

WIDE ACTIVITIES OF Y. W. C. A. DESCRIBED

Two Officials Are Heard in Addresses by Local Association

The world scope of the Young Women's Christian Association was visualized in graphic word pictures by Miss Greta Finley, president of the Montreal Y. W. C. A., in her address in the Recreation Centre, King street East, yesterday afternoon and following Miss Finley, Mrs. Percival Foster, field secretary for the eastern division, told of the Association's ideals of bringing girls into fellowship with Christ and made a stirring appeal for support of the work in St. John.

As a practical suggestion Mrs. W. J. Angus called for volunteers to give what time they could to the work of the St. John association. Her plea was heartily applauded. Mrs. A. W. Estey, the vice-president, was in the chair and the afternoon's programme included vocal songs by Miss Jessie Jamieson with J. P. Browne as accompanist, duets of piano and cello, by Mrs. Hayward and Miss Winnifred Hawker, nursery rhymes and interpretative dances by little Miss Lola Harris, the youngest Y. W. C. A. member, and a "Gretchen" dance by Miss Mary Rowse and Miss Frances Kerr.

HAVE SKATING PARTY.
An enjoyable skating party was given by the Dominion Lodge, I. O. G. T. last evening at Lily Lake. Tobogganing was also enjoyed. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Kirkpatrick, High street, to whose home they returned for a delicious supper. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. G. Jones, Mrs. Thomas Cunningham, Miss Joyce Cunningham, Miss Jean Burton and Miss Elva Chapman.

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

(Unless otherwise specified, these recipes are planned for four persons.)

DRIED VEGETABLES.
Dried or dehydrated vegetables, whether home cured or commercially prepared, have many delicious possibilities.

They lose none of their natural sweetness in the process of drying.

There are two good ways of preparing dried vegetables. They are soaked for a long time in cold water or put into rapidly boiling water and kept at a high temperature until tender. I prefer the long soaking in cold water for several hours and then gentle simmering until tender.

This method allows the vegetables to absorb their natural amount of water and swell to their natural size. But the rapidly boiling process is desirable when time is an object.

Keep in mind, however, that dried ripe beans must soak at least eight hours in cold water. This is true of any vegetable rich in protein.

Dried Corn.
Dried corn can be used just as canned corn and has a rich sort of nutty flavor entirely lacking in the canned product. It is seldom necessary to add sugar to dried sweet corn. Let the corn soak overnight or five or six hours in cold water to more than cover. As the water is absorbed, add more. Then simmer an hour, adding water to prevent burning. Or pour rapidly boiling water over dried corn and boil rapidly for two hours. Add boiling water as needed. The corn should be tender when ready to season and should be solid enough to allow the addition of milk.

Baked Spinach.
Two cups dehydrated spinach, 1/4 cup dried mushrooms, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup white sauce, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika.
Four boiling water to cover over spinach. Let stand five minutes and drain. Pour over cold water to more than cover and bring slowly to the boiling point. Cook until tender and water is absorbed. Soak mushrooms in cold water for an hour. Drain and pour over boiling water. Drain. Melt butter, add mushrooms cut in small pieces and saute five minutes. Add butter and mushrooms to spinach which has been chopped and seasoned with salt and paprika. Add white sauce and turn into a well-buttered baking dish. Bake 20 minutes in a hot oven.

Dried Pea Timbales.
One cup dried peas, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 sprigs dried mint, 4 tablespoons milk, 1-8 teaspoon pepper.
Wash peas and let stand overnight in cold water to more than cover. In the morning add a pinch of soda about the size of a pea and bring slowly to the boiling point. Add mint. Simmer gently until the peas are tender and the water is absorbed. Rut through a sieve. Beat egg with milk, salt and pepper. Add to pea pulp with butter and mix well. Turn into buttered molds, cover with buttered paper and bake in a pan of hot water until firm. It will take about half an hour. Serve with one cup of white sauce to which one-half cup of diced cooked carrots have been added.

FORMS JUNIOR BRANCH
Miss Elva Chapman, superintendent of Juvenile Temple, Dominion Lodge, I. O. G. T., assisted by Mrs. Walter Crawford, organized a juvenile branch Tuesday evening in Dominion Lodge Hall, Murray street. The new organization will be known as the "Sunshine Temple," No. 35. There were many children present. The programme greatly interested the older members of the audience. Miss Chapman emphasized the importance of temperance work among the children. At 8 o'clock the Dominion Lodge held a brief session. Graver Beasley presided over the proceedings, which were followed by a practice of the members of the Dramatic Club of the Temple.

Dissolve
Just pour Rinso into a basin and add boiling water. It dissolves instantly and makes a good thick soapy solution. Use enough Rinso to get fish lasting suds.

Use enough
Then fill the tub half full with lukewarm water. Pour the thick soap solution into your tub and stir up the suds at once. Put your hand through the suds into the water—if the water will feel soapy all through. Even after you have put your clothes into the tub, the suds should stand as if they do not, add more Rinso solution.

With Rinso—snowy-white clothes just by soaking

Soak
Soak your clothes in these foaming suds for an hour or two—overnight, if you wish. (Colored clothes not longer than half an hour.)
This soaking takes the place of rubbing. It loosens the dirt so that it rises right out—year after year if that's only cock heads and cuff edges and seams and knees of children's clothes need any rubbing. For this light rubbing just sprinkle a little dry Rinso right on the fabric.
"Don't rub your year-old ones!"

Rinso does the whole job—
with it you need no other soap

WAS INTIMATE OF ROOSEVELT

Tale of Interest Told by a Brother of W. S. Ferris of St. John.

A tribute to Theodore Roosevelt by Sylvane Ferris of Pasadena will be read with interest in New Brunswick...

It is one thing to read about the great in various biographies, histories, and articles. It is quite another, at ease and listen to someone who has had a real and intimate friendship with some personage who has carved his name in lasting letters upon the pages of fame...

Sylvane Ferris of 47 Bonita avenue, Sierra Madre, knew Theodore Roosevelt, the anniversary of whose death the nation observed on Sunday, January 6. He knew the great man, not from the casual standpoint of the politician, the writer, or the statesman, but from the close and intimate association of a long and personal friendship...

Mr. Ferris' beautiful Sierra Madre home shows the love, admiration, and respect, in which he holds the departed warrior-statesman's memory. In one corner of the living room, stands the 45-90 sharp buffalo rifle, which was Roosevelt's personal, and favorite, big game piece of many years, and which he gave to Mr. Ferris. The cartridge pouch encasing the original cartridges, which "Teddy" carried himself, are with it, and no amount of money could buy them.

On the wall hangs a group photograph of Roosevelt, Mr. Ferris, his brother, Joseph Ferris, A. W. Merrifield, and George Meyers, taken at the first Progressive National Convention in 1912, at which Mr. Ferris was delegate from North Dakota. In the guest room hang other pictures of the President, duty inscribed, while the Ferris household is filled with Roosevelt's books bearing personal inscriptions on their fly-leaves.

Describes Statesman. "Sylvane Ferris, from these little glimpses, knew Roosevelt and in a reminiscent vein yesterday had the following to say about "The American." "He was the cleanest, noblest man I ever knew or even read about. I never knew him to do or say an unclean thing. Out on the range, sweating, laboring, in and out of a thousand hazards and difficulties, I have never heard him swear. I never saw him use tobacco in any way, and never knew anyone who did see him. Some years ago there was a vicious slander against him regarding intoxicants. It was a deliberate, malicious, and unqualified lie. He never took them in any form, during all the long and strenuous years I knew him, and he certainly would not have broken the clean habits of a lifetime to please unscrupulous enemies."

"He was kind. On the hunt he would never kill a buffalo cow if the calf was running, nor would he allow her to be killed by anyone else, and he found no sport if the game itself did not have better than an even break. The men at all loved him, for he made himself out of them, and he was always approachable by the lowliest. "One peculiar thing was this. In our ranch work, myself and A. W. Merrifield, who was in partnership with Roosevelt, and I, were always known to our friends, and ourselves as Ferris and Merrifield as the case might be. But Roosevelt always had the prefix, Mister used when he was addressed. He did not demand this; but somehow or other we couldn't help it, and no matter what mission we were on, or what exciting situation we faced, it was always, Mr. Roosevelt."

"He did not claim to be a great horseman in the sense the professional cowboy uses the word, but there was no horse that he would not mount, regardless of consequences. He was the best friend I had, and when he became great, his position did not affect that friendship in the least—he was just the same old Mr. Roosevelt. "It is not for me to pay small tribute to the great, and I can only say that he was one of God's own gentlemen." Tells of First Round-up. Mr. Ferris accompanied Roosevelt on his first round-up, and speaking of the incident Roosevelt in his autobiography says: "The first time I was ever around a round-up, Sylvane Ferris, Merrifield, Meyers and myself, each chose his own string of horses. Three or four of the animals I got were not easy to ride. The effort, both to ride them and to look as if I enjoyed doing so, on some cool morning when my grinning cowboy friends had gathered round to see whether the high-headed bay could buck the boss off, doubtless was of benefit to me, but lacked much of being enjoyable. "The time I smashed my rib I was bucked off on a stone. The time I hurt the point of my shoulder I was riding a big sulky horse named Ben Butler, which went over backward. I heard Sylvane again, "That's all right! Come along! Here, you! Go on, you! Hl, hi, fellows, help me out! He's lying on me!" Sure enough he was; and when we dragged Sylvane from under him, the first thing he did was to execute a waltz dance on the iniquitous Ben. He never became a good dance partner."

This was the companionship in which, off and on, for 15 years Mr. Ferris was associated with Theodore Roosevelt, and his simple statement that the great man was "One of God's own gentlemen," must indeed be true.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL. Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty. Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient purifier of water in nature, but few realize its value when properly prepared and taken into the human system for the same purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better it is. It is a natural purifier of the blood, and carries out of the system all the impurities which collect in the stomach and bowels after eating and drinking of other odorous vegetables. All druggists have charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal is that which is prepared in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges; they are composed of the finest quality Willow charcoal, compressed to extreme fineness, and impregnated with a natural and perfectly safe cathartic. It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels, it disinfects the mouth and throat from the polt of the most offensive mucus. It is the most effective remedy for indigestion, flatulence, gas, and constipation. It is the most effective remedy for all the ailments of the stomach and bowels, and it is the most effective remedy for all the ailments of the throat and lungs. It is the most effective remedy for all the ailments of the head and eyes. It is the most effective remedy for all the ailments of the heart and lungs. It is the most effective remedy for all the ailments of the skin and hair. It is the most effective remedy for all the ailments of the nervous system. It is the most effective remedy for all the ailments of the reproductive system. It is the most effective remedy for all the ailments of the urinary system. It is the most effective remedy for all the ailments of the circulatory system. It is the most effective remedy for all the ailments of the respiratory system. It is the most effective remedy for all the ailments of the digestive system. It is the most effective remedy for all the ailments of the excretory system. It is the most effective remedy for all the ailments of the locomotor system. It is the most effective remedy for all the ailments of the sensory system. CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts.

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form. A good water and salt diet, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritations. "The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and salt get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before or after the meals for a few days and your kidneys may then set fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium and sodium used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders. Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

OUTPUT OF 1923 $214,000,000 Coal Contributed Over One-Third of Canada's Minerals.

The estimate of Canada's mineral output for 1923, issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, says the Financial Times, showed a value of $214,000,000, 12 per cent over 1922. Of this, $74,269,000 is the value of coal $37,968,000 of non-metals and $89,963,000 of metals. It will be worth while to examine each of these groups briefly in turn.

Bigger Market For N. S. Coal. Coal is by far our most important mineral, contributing over one-third of the total value. Even at that we exported considerably more coal than we produced. The attempt to reduce the amount imported by bringing Alberta coal to Ontario was not particularly successful. The longer and more expensive grades of fibre; and, besides this, the uses of the shorter grades are developing very rapidly. Nickel Reaches Pre-war Output. Gold leads the metals group, with $24,882,000. This is slightly less than last year, due to power shortage in Northern Ontario last winter. The coming year will see this total increased substantially, due to the enlargement of old mills and the construction of new ones. Silver also has fallen off by one and one-half millions, being $10,944,000 this year. The output in ounces is, however, slightly greater, due principally to the two important mines in South Lorraine. Michel has made the greatest strides during the year, its output being valued at $18,483,000, or over three times that of last year. This is the pre-war output, and it seems likely that it will grow well beyond this from now on.

Copper, Lead, Zinc. British Columbia has a magnificent record for the year, due principally to metallurgical science. In spite of the low prices of copper, lead and zinc, large increases are recorded for all three. Somewhat over one-third of the Dominion's copper came as a by-product from the Sudbury nickel ore. The remainder, valued at $7,993,000, came from the Ansoy mines and the Britannia concentrator. The old Rossland mines will add a substantial quota next year. The value of lead, all produced at Trail, with the exception of four million pounds each from the Kingdon mine in Ontario and Keno Hill, in the Yukon, was $7,887,000, an increase of more than $3,000,000 over 1922. Zinc has a smaller increase, to $3,960,000, all of it produced at Trail. Coal Most Valuable. The year's results illustrate well our points about strength and of weakness in mineral production. Our most vulnerable point is coal and iron ore runs it a close second. Coal we must always import in large measure into Ontario, though we can better our present case, materially by using hydro-electric power and peat fuel to better advantage, and by bringing in more coal from Nova Scotia and Alberta. According to the best authorities, we can provide the blast-furnaces in Ontario completely with Canadian iron ore. Premier Ferguson of Ontario has this matter in hand, and we can look for some decisive action during the coming year.

We have in abundance, and conveniently distributed, most of the important non-metallic minerals. Petroleum is an important exception. But materials such as gypsum salt, natural gas, clays and limestone are mined from coast to coast. Phenomenal Deposits. Nature has endowed our country with phenomenal deposits of asbestos, nickel, lead, zinc and cobalt, and our copper deposits are outstanding in at least the Empire. This puts a good fraction of our mineral industry in an assured position, as was well exemplified during the past year. The companies of the large foreign copper producers were operating only with difficulty. The Canadian plants prospered. Canadian lead and zinc were sold at a profit in world markets, in spite of low prices. Our nickel and cobalt hold the world markets, whatever the price. Quebec asbestos still fills the larger part of the total annual requirement. The mineral output for 1923 has a trifle less than one-quarter the value of some of our agricultural products. Mining will become a much better second to agriculture in Canada as the years roll by. MINER.

LOCH LOMOND CLUB MEETS. At a meeting of the Loch Lomond Protective Association, held last evening, it was decided to petition the Federal Government to have the dam across the Loch Lomond removed and the city to have the fishway in the Robertson dam reconstructed. It was also decided to ask the Government to have the Loch Lomond road put in good condition.

Beware of Imitations! Frenzied Bidding Follows Passing of Bobbed Vogue in London.

London, Feb. 14.—Three hundred dollars for a single plait of hair weighing three ounces! To such frenzied bidding has the passing of the vogue of bobbed hair and shingled locks some women, who must hide the ravages of time and are determined, coat way it may, to conform to the whim of fashion. For it is becoming increasingly difficult to collect "cuttings" from the girls of France and Italy, once a sure source of supply. Silver-White Dearest. Most difficult of all to get is silver-white hair for which London is the finest market. Very fine, naturally wavy silver-white hair of a length up to 25 inches is being quoted at $40 an ounce wholesale, and there is very little of it to be had even at this figure. And by the time it has been curled and prepared as a "transformation" or plait for the hairdresser its cost has risen. One dealer's agent spent a week in a Savoy village recently before he could obtain a head of silver-white hair. It now rises in a London merchant's office, just when the plausibly pedlar, despaired of victory the woman's husband joined forces with him, and after two days of weeping the owner gave way. Next to silver-white, blonde hair of pale hue and ashy tint brings the best prices. It costs from $15 to $20 an ounce, and is eagerly bought by hair merchants in any quantity. Golden hair, strangely enough, is not expensive, for it is not difficult to get, and can be prepared artificially with a peroxide stain. A solution of this chemical will give a natural golden color to hair. Wives of Agents. In addition to a sharp pair of scissors the pedlars who scour the continent in quest of new victims carry an assortment of brightly colored handkerchiefs and dress materials. The scissors remain out of sight until some simple maiden with a good head of hair has been shown the tempting goods. With a sigh, the girl confesses she has no money with which to buy such fine things. The pedlar with a shrug begins to pack away his goods. Then, Mrs. Rose Craig. "Toronto, Ont.—From the time of my earliest girlhood I had always heard my mother speak in highest praise of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for women's ailments, so it is not at all strange that after I married and had backaches, nervous spells and other distresses that I should recommend to my mother had always said of this Prescription, and I found it relieved me of my aches, pains and nervousness. It gave me renewed health and strength and so greatly benefited me that I have no hesitancy in saying that Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is absolutely perfect as a tonic and nerve for women who are ailing or nervous."—Mrs. Rose Craig, 237 Hackley St.

Official France Thinks Well of MacDonald's Speech

CORDIAL TONE IS PLEASING

Better Atmosphere Bound to be Created, is View in Paris.

SAY HE'S SINCERE

Confident That Working Solution of Problems Will be Result.

Paris, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press, via Reuter's.)—French official circles keenly appreciate Premier MacDonald's cordial tone towards France in his speech in the British House of Commons on Tuesday and the creation of a healthier atmosphere is bound to be facilitated by the British Premier's speech. The authorities here are convinced of the sincerity of Premier MacDonald's desire for close Franco-British co-operation and his determination to appreciate the French point of view and both sides can come to the power most deeply interested in the settlement of the reparations problem and the question of France's security.

Confidence is expressed in French official circles that upon the basis of the cordial atmosphere which has now been created both sides can come to the task of working out a practical solution of the problems that can be carried through in a spirit of mutual understanding and conciliation. The Paris evening newspapers give Premier MacDonald as good notices in connection with his speech in the House of Commons as he received from the British press.

HAS NEW PLAN FOR TAXING AUTOS

The Quebec Government, it is announced, will propose a new plan for the taxation of motor vehicles at the present session of the Provincial Legislature. Hitherto, says the Toronto Mail and Empire, Quebec has imposed taxes upon automobiles in the same manner as has Ontario. That is to say, the amount of the annual license fee payable by the owners of such machines has been in proportion to the horsepower of their engines. By that means a graded tax has been evolved.

The Quebec Government, however, contemplates the introduction of a graded tax based not on the power of the motor vehicle but upon its weight. In addition, the Government plans to levy a tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline.

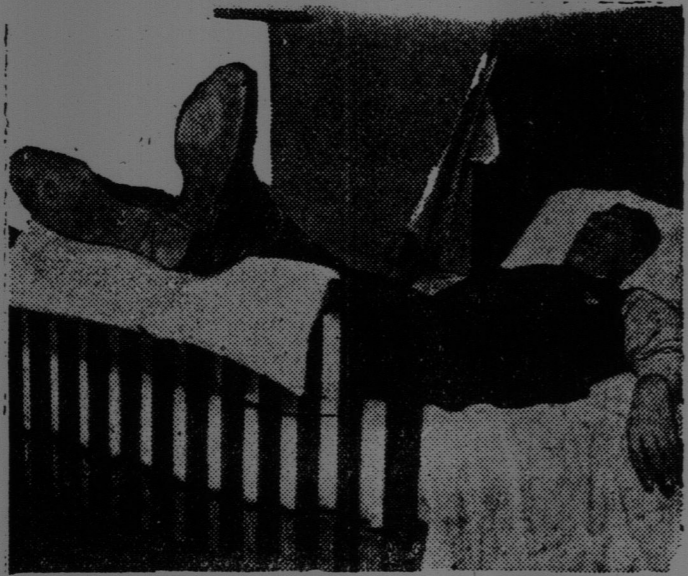

More Equitable. The idea of the ministry, its members state, is not to increase the motorist's burden of taxes, but to distribute it more equitably. It is pointed out that at the present time a light gas-driven motor car pays a larger tax, based on horsepower, than some heavy electric automobiles. Moreover, there is a difference due to the difference in power, in the fees paid upon gas-driven cars of different makes, but of practically equal weight. Finally, it is stated that the motorist who uses his car for only a portion of the year contributes as much to the provincial treasury as the man who drives it daily and nightly the year around.

The Quebec Government seeks to alter this condition of affairs and to establish a relationship between the taxes the motorist will pay and the wear and tear his machine will occasion on the roads of the province. It argues that a motor car will wear out in proportion to its weight, the speed at which it is driven and the distance it travels. The administration eliminates the speed factor from consideration because the law establishes speed limits. It proposes to deal with the weight factor in assessing annual license fees and the distance factor by the gasoline tax.

It asserts that by taxing cars at the rate of 70 or 80 cents per hundred pounds and gasoline at two cents a gallon, it will take from the automobile owners of the province approximately the same amount annually as at present. It may be observed also that under the scheme tourists from other provinces and from the United States would also contribute through the gasoline tax to the provincial revenue. Their contribution, it is estimated, would amount to about $100,000 a year.

The scheme would have a tendency to increase the use of light cars by the people of Quebec, just as heavy taxation based on the number and bore of engine cylinders has tended to popularize low powered cars in a number of countries. It also requires those who travel most on the highways to contribute most for their upkeep. Representatives of the Quebec Provincial Motor League and the Royal Automobile Club of Canada seem to have found no serious fault with the plan, provided it did not mean a general increase in automobile taxation and that satisfactory arrangements could be made for collection and administration of the gasoline tax. The idea will doubtless commend itself to owners of small cars and its operation will be watched with interest in Ontario.

HYDE PARK IS BUSIEST CORNER

More Traffic There Than at Any Other Place in the World.

London, Feb. 14.—Hyde Park Corner is the busiest spot in the world so far as traffic is concerned.

This obvious inference is drawn from a written reply by the British Home Secretary, Mr. Bridgeman, to a question, asking for the figures of the traffic census taken in 1912, 1915, an annually since 1919, showing the number of vehicles passing given points

Point	No. of Vehicles
Hyde Park Corner	56,038
Trafalgar Square	42,042
Piccadilly Circus	41,270
Marble Arch	35,594

At the Mansion House, at Piccadilly (St. James'), Oxford Circus, and Sloans street the figures were in each case over 31,000, while points as far removed from the hub as the Angel at Islington and Hammersmith Broadway stand above 20,000.

BOARD OF TRADE PRESIDENT URGES BOOST FOR ST. JOHN'S BIG HOTEL

G. E. Barbour in Letter Has No Hesitation in Recommending It.

The following from the president of the Board of Trade is of interest and importance in connection with the new St. John hotel project:—

St. John, Feb. 11. To the Members of the Board of Trade St. John, N. B.

Dear Sirs:—A special letter to the President of the Board of Trade received today recommends the preparation of a comprehensive programme of things that can be promoted by the city and province this year, and this letter has brought me the thought that, interested in preparing big programmes that we may fall to see something which we can do and which lies right at our hand.

To my mind, St. John has a responsibility right at hand and it is one which I believe every member of the Board of Trade will want to promote as he is able. I refer to the Admiral Beatty hotel proposition which is now being put before all our people by a local firm. No one doubts that the building of this hotel will be a great thing for St. John and that it will be a success financially and in every other way, if we back it up to the limit of our ability. The backing can start right now, and I hope every member will do his bit, whether it is big or little. I am sure the promoters will be delighted to receive some perhaps unexpected support, even if it is only warm words of appreciation. But that won't build the hotel—it's financial support that counts. I have no hesitation in recommending it.

WANTS $1,200 HE SAYS MARY GOT FROM HIM

Boston Tailor Says Girl Borrowed Roll "To Show Mother."

THEY DENY IT

Now Trongone Has Mary Nardini Indicted in Strange Case.

Boston, Feb. 14.—Antonio Trongone, 40, a tailor, wanted to be nice to Mary Nardini, 19, of Somerville, whom he had employed for several years, he says, so on Jan. 8 he allowed her to take $1,200 in order that she might show her mother how nice such a large sum of money looked.

Trongone now regrets the act of kindness, according to his statements to Inspectors Finn and Flaherty. He says he was unable to obtain the return of the $1,200. He had Mary arrested on an indictment charging her with the larceny of the $1,200. She was bailed for her appearance in the Superior Criminal Court.

The inspectors said they had never heard such a strange story before as the basis for a larceny charge. Trongone, who lives in the North End, says he went to the Shawmut National Bank, Jan. 8, and drew $1,200 by check. He received 12 $100 bills. "What a bunch of money you have," he alleges Mary said.

"Yes, $1,200," replied Trongone. "O, will you let me have it? I would like to show it to my mother. I'll bring it back tomorrow," said Mary, fairly dancing with delight, Trongone says.

"Yes, you can take it home and show it to your mother, Mary," said Trongone, "but be sure and bring it back tomorrow."

Mary left with the $1,200, according to Trongone, and he says that was the last he saw of the 12 new $100 bills. The next afternoon, Trongone says, Mary called him on the telephone, stating that her mother didn't believe she got the $1,200 the way she said she did and refused to give it up.

"Are you trying to kid me, Mary?" asked Trongone, according to his statement to the inspectors. "No, but I'll get it and I'll call you on the phone tomorrow," he alleges Mary said.

The next day Mary is alleged to have called on the telephone, but could not report any further progress in regard to the recovery of the $1,200. In the course of a few days Trongone journeyed to the girl's home, he says, and told Mrs. Nardini that the time for looking at the pretty money had expired and that he wanted it back. Deny Story.

Mrs. Nardini confessed herself ignorant of the entire affair, according to Mr. Trongone's statement, and on top of that Mary denied ever having taken the $1,200 to show her mother. Going before the Grand Jury Trongone told the same story he told the police. An indictment was returned against Mary.

She denied to the police all knowledge of the affair. She remained at headquarters until bail of $2,000 was secured, then departed with her attorney and some friends.

TRANSMITS 1,000 WORDS A MINUTE

Magnetic Telegraphic Drum Recorder Invention Exhibited in London.

London, Feb. 14.—Striking evidence of the advancement made in invention during 1923 is found in an exhibit of telegraphic and other instruments at the British Imperial College of Science and Technology. The most notable development is a telegraphic delay in submarine cabling has been largely eliminated by utilizing the action of light on selenium, which responds so rapidly that the signal sent out is recorded even before the full current has passed over the wire.

A magnetic telegraphic drum recorder is shown, capable of speeding up messages to 1,000 words a minute. This is effected by the current of the incoming signal passing through coils contained in a rapidly revolving iron drum and turning it into a magnet for a brief space, thus attracting a slight piece of iron, shaped like a brake shoe. This operates a fine syphon tube charged with ink, causing it to record the signal on the paper tape as it files past it.

Another exhibit is an "indulator," or an instrument used in high speed wireless telegraphy, capable of printing on an endless slip of paper up to 300 words a minute.

Another device which appealed both to laymen and professional is the complicated photographic apparatus for taking motion pictures at the rate of 5,000 a second.

When Every Nerve and Muscle Must Respond

HIGHLY-TRAINED ATHLETES rely upon the alertness of their bodies and brains. Above all else they value responding muscles, unflinching nerves, abounding health and vigor. They eat foods that are rich in nourishment, easily digested, and quickly assimilated.

For them, Grape-Nuts.

The starches which form a large part of the whole wheat and malted barley, are converted into highly-energying sugars in the exclusive process of long, slow baking to which Grape-Nuts is subjected. Easier and more rapid digestion—and a supply of potential energy is the result.

The phosphorus and iron content is equally important. These are body-builders—builders and repairers of tissues.

And then—deliciously tempting in flavor! With cream or milk it is a perfectly-balanced food; highly concentrated; easily digested; economical—there are many helpings to the package; ready to eat. At all grocers!

LAW FACULTY AND STUDENTS DINED

Are Guests of U. N. B. Club at a Delightful Function.

The banquet at the Clifton House last evening, given by the U. N. B. Club to the undergraduates and faculty of the Law School, proved a most enjoyable function and served as a medium by which the past traditions of the university were impressed on the minds of the guests by graduates of the institution.

students of the U. N. B., members of the Law School faculty, and practically the entire student body of the Faculty of Law were present. Following a delicious meal, H. P. Bennett, the toastmaster, called upon the company to sing the national anthem.

Recall Other Days.
Col. E. C. Weyman, proposed the toast to Alma Mater. Col. Weyman spoke of the important part the University played in the history of the province in giving to public life many of the leaders in all branches. He referred to the illustrious success of Bliss Carman, Sir George Foster, the late Chief Justice Barker, the present Chief Justice, Sir Douglas Hazen, and others whose success redounded to the glory of their Alma Mater.

The toast was responded to, on behalf of the lady graduates, by Miss Grace Flemming, and for the men by Dr. W. W. White. Dr. White traced the history of the University of New Brunswick from its inception in 1800, as the New Brunswick College, through the stages of its progress to its being called King's College in 1848, and then from its having acquired its present title of University of New Brunswick in 1860, up to the present time.

The U. N. B. was not large, he said, but in this it had an advantage over its larger sisters, in that the opportunity for personal contact between professor and student in the U. N. B. was greatly beneficial to the fostering of better college affiliations.

A New Phase He Says.
He then touched upon the Carnegie Foundation plan for University Federation and on the University of New Brunswick's refusal to enter into the scheme. In doing this, he said, the University had entered into a new phase in its existence. It must now progress or be wiped out of existence, he said. One means of accomplishing more, he said, was in increasing the Government subsidy from $25,000 annually to $50,000, and on this he was assured the Government looked favorably.

The hope of the U. N. B., he said, was in its faculty of Forestry, for it had the greatest laboratory of any college in existence in Canada for the study of forestry in the 12 miles square of timber land, granted to the university in its original charter. He touched on the U. N. B. acquiring a law faculty, and felt that this new acquisition would fill a long felt need.

The toast to the law students was proposed by Dr. E. J. Ryan in a witty and pleasing manner. This toast was responded to by Judge H. O. McInerney, K. C., professor of law, Dr. J. Roy Campbell, one of the members of the law faculty, and a member of the present faculty, and Frederick McGuire, president of the Students' Society. The toast to the ladies was proposed by A. B. Gilbert and responded to by Miss Margaret Teed.

attention and several members of the board spoke of still other cases where relief would be needed. The funds of the society are at a low ebb because of the heavy drain last month and it was hoped that the situation as regards unemployment was to be relieved in some measure through increased work at the winter port. Among the cases spoken of were those of households in which the father was ill or had no work and the mother was endeavoring to work by the day to keep the household together.

Secretary's Report.
The statistical report of Miss Robertson gave details of the work of the month as follows: Applications received, 164; requests for employment, 85; Employment was found for 17; recommended, 84; relief procured for 82; visits made, 103; clothing was given to 14; cases investigated, 19; asking transportation, 31; showing relief had been given 52 cases and clothing procured for 14.

PRESENTATION MADE.
Mrs. Fenwick D. Foley, East St. John, former organist of the Reformed Baptist church here, was presented a handsome jardiniere and pedestal last evening at her home by the choir. Rev. Leslie Sears, pastor of the church, made the presentation on behalf of the members. Rev. Mr. Sears spoke in happy terms of the work of Mrs. Foley. Mrs. Foley was thoroughly surprised at the gift and thanked all for their appreciation and kind words. Refreshments were served by the ladies of the party.

SAYS 'SHOOK DOWN' AMBITIOUS COPS

Witness Gave Former Saloonkeeper $26,300 to 'Fix' Promotions.

New York, Feb. 14.—Police Officer Patrick J. Twomey, who was suspended last March in connection with alleged promotion graft, was a witness in General Sessions at the trial of Michael J. Burke, a former Harlem saloonkeeper, who is charged with taking $26,300 from eighteen policemen under the pretence of obtaining for them promotion to the rank of sergeant through fraudulent Civil Service examinations. Twomey was the principal witness at an investigation of the charges against Burke in 1922 by Commissioner of Accounts Hirschfeld. At that time he was alleged to have admitted that he accepted $1,600 from the policemen and turned $26,300 over to Burke, who formerly was a policeman. Burke was alleged to have pretended that he had influence with employees in the Civil Service Commission who could "doctor" the examination papers so that the names of the eighteen would be placed at the top of the eligible list. However, when Twomey was called to the witness stand by Assistant District Attorney Carstarphen, he asserted that his memory had failed him on many important incidents, although he had testified before Commissioner Hirschfeld and later before the Grand Jury to collecting the money and giving it to Burke. Reminded by Judge Nott that he was under oath, Twomey said: "When I testified before Hirschfeld I was a sick man. I hadn't slept for weeks. I was on the verge of a nervous breakdown and later on I was told by a clergyman to get the matter off my mind or I'd go to an insane asylum." It was not until Judge Nott told him that he would go to the Tombs on a perjury charge if he wasn't frank in his testimony that Twomey admitted he was introduced to Burke in August, 1921, a few days before the Civil Service examinations were to take place, and that he gave Burke the $26,300, which he had received from the policeman. He said that the month following the examinations, and after Burke had sailed for Ireland, he heard that the names of the eighteen policemen had not been placed at the top of the eligible list and inquired at the office of the Civil Service Commission why the policemen had not been permitted to pass the examination. Twomey also admitted that it was this inquiry which led to the investigation and that he had given to one of Hirschfeld's men a paper containing the names of the eighteen policemen and the amount of money he had received from each. GIVE CHILDREN PARTY. St. Andrew's church C. G. I. T. gave a Valentine party yesterday for the children in the Children's Home and the small people had a wonderfully happy time. Their entertainers played games with them and then provided a fine supper of which a cake was an important part. There are 30 children in the home at present and all but the five babies were old enough to share in the pleasure. Miss Alice Murdoch is the leader of the C. G. I. T. group and Miss Margaret Porteous, president.

INTEREST KEEN IN VOTING CONTEST

The three contestants in the Mayoralty election were running very close in the voting competition at St. John the Baptist High Tea last night but Ronald A. McAvity still held the lead. The votes followed: R. A. McAvity, P. L. Potts, 1,980; and Mayor G. Fred Fisher, 1,930. The contest will close at 9:30 Friday evening. There was a "mysterious lady" last night and William Alexander guessed correctly that she was Miss Jeanette Fraser. During the evening St. John the Baptist orchestra gave a fine programme of music. The watch, a prize at the spon table, was won by Rev. H. Ramage. The bean board prizes were won as follows: Ladies, Miss M. O'Brien; gentlemen, Joseph Breen.

NO INQUEST NECESSARY.

After making an investigation into the death of Brenton Gibson, colored, who was found dead yesterday about noon, Coroner F. L. Kenney decided that he had died from alcoholism and no inquest was necessary. His relatives at Sheffield Mills, N. S., have been notified and his brothers are on the way here to look after the body.

HURT AT LONG WHARF.

Charles Jones, aged 25 years, residing at 35 Broad street, was injured early yesterday morning while working as a longshoreman at the east side of the Long wharf. Jones with others was engaged in discharging steins from a car. One of his feet was crushed by the sling. The city ambulance was called and the injured man conveyed to the General Public Hospital, where he is being treated. While the injury was quite severe it is understood that it is not serious.

STEAMER COOK IS PAINFULLY HURT

William Aitkenhead, second cook aboard the steamer Canadian Planter lying at the east side of the Long Wharf, was badly injured on Tuesday night about 10:30 o'clock. He had been ashore and was returning to his room on the ship. In boarding the steamer he stepped from the gang plank and then on a hatchway with the result that he fell into the hold of the ship. The fall was not considered very much by Aitkenhead and he climbed out quite satisfied that he had received no broken bones and retired to his berth. Yesterday morning at 9:20 o'clock he found that his side was hurting considerably. The city ambulance was called and he was conveyed to the General Public Hospital where he is being treated and it is thought that perhaps he has suffered a fracture of a couple of ribs in his fall.

Toronto. Dear Sir,—Some little time ago my daughter was severely scalded about the legs with boiling water. Immediately following the accident we plastered the wounds with "Mecca," keeping this on every day and the result was that the child suffered not a day's pain and from then until the wounds healed she did not suffer at all. In few months there was not the sign of a scar to be seen. Yours truly, Mrs. H. D. Treddler.

BLOOD POISONING Given up to die with Gangrene in fact. "This is to certify that I was given up to die by three Local Doctors and also Toronto Specialist, as my foot was half eaten out with a Gangrene sore and poison was working through my system. After five months persistent use of "Mecca" Ointment my life was saved, nature restored the lost flesh. I am well and working. "Joseph Gouldland." Affidavit—Dr. Mayor Joseph Davis of North Toronto says: "I hereby testify that above is the truth, as I helped make his will. It was marvelous to say the least. (Sd.) "Joseph Davis." I did so and in 4 days, it had drawn all the pus and inflammation out and avoided an operation. Yours faithfully, H. F. Kisser.

COLDS ON THE CHEST Toronto. Gentlemen,—I feel it my duty to let you know that I firmly believe "Mecca" Ointment used as a poultice saved me from developing pneumonia through a recent cold. After the first application I was greatly relieved, and would certainly recommend the use of your Ointment to those suffering from colds on the chest, or any bronchial trouble. Yours sincerely, John J. McKay.

IMPORTED RUSSIAN DIRECTOR
WRITES OWN FILMS FOR NEGRI

Feels He Has the Type of Character Suitable for Screen Star.

By JACK JUNGMEYER.
Hollywood, Feb. 14.—With eloquent gesture he strode his own command up a company of women from the remembered pages of De Maupassant, Anatole France, Loti, Bourget, Renan, Daudet—blending them to a type with a suggestive couplet—"elegant erotics."

"That," he said, "is the type of woman Pola Negri plays in the literature of fine eroticism."
Such was the interesting prelude to Dimitri Buchowetski's first Hollywood interview. Interesting because this Russian director was imported by Famous Players-Lasky to produce Negri's next picture. And significant because he has written just such a part for her in "Men," an original for the screen.

Buchowetski knows continental women, from Moscow to the Riviera.

Actor, playwright, picture director, son of a celebrated opera singer, connoisseur, protégé of art circles, he was from youth a welcome and prominent figure in European salons.

He knows Pola Negri too, having directed her in "Mad Love" and his most recent work, "Peter the Great," done in Germany for Famous Players-Lasky. Only two of these "Danton," "Mad Love" and "Peter the Great," exhibited in New York, has been hailed as a picture of the highest order.

Buchowetski has shown his mettle in such pictures as "Danton," "Mad Love," "Othello," and his most recent work, "Peter the Great," done in Germany for Famous Players-Lasky. Only two of these "Danton," "Mad Love" and "Peter the Great," exhibited in New York, has been hailed as a picture of the highest order.

Buchowetski is one of those rare motion picture practitioners who are equally capable as playwright, actor and director. His initiation into movies from the Moscow Dramatic Theater was as lead in a story he prepared for the opportunity. He followed it by acting in eight more of his own screen vehicles. In 1917 he added picture directing to his repertoire, quickly stepping to prominence. All this before he'd reached 24.

"The screen," he said, "will be badly handicapped until it becomes independent of stories and books and written directly for this medium. It will, of course, be little more than a limping imitator until it finds its own self-expression. It must become self-sufficient."

The proof of Buchowetski's direct-to-screen pudding lies in his own product as author-director.
"I believe the finest film products will come when the director is also the author," he maintained, without any sense of vainglory. "Then the director, having originated it and lived with it, will not have to attempt to visualize another's conceptions."

Dimitri Buchowetski has an agile mind in a ponderous body. He is genial, expansive, exuberant. His vigorous artistic impulses are bedded in sound brain and marrow. He has a habit of breaking into song, with a voice that has in it some of the Caruso "falsetto," when other means of self-expression fail. The robustness of the Russian without his melancholy, the polish of the cosmopolitan, an almost boyish delight in his work, a vast capacity for friendship, but stony firmness for his professional convictions—these are the Buchowetski elements soon to be revealed in his first American-made picture.

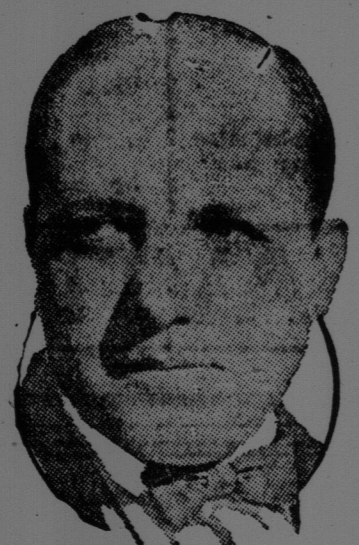

GALLAGHER & SHEAN TO JOIN THE FOLLIES
Agreement to End Litigation With Shuberts Over Contract Reached.

Gallagher and Shean, members of the Ziegfeld Follies until a recent decision establishing the validity of a prior contract with the Shuberts, will join the Fourth Annual Production of the Greenwich Village Follies on tour in Akron, Ohio. This arrangement, made possible by agreement between the Shuberts and A. L. Jones and Morris Green, managing directors of the Greenwich Village Follies, puts to an end the litigation of the Shubert Amusement Company against the comedians.

Under the terms of their new contract, Gallagher and Shean will remain with the Greenwich Village Follies until the end of this season and will be started next season by Mr. Jones and Mr. Green in a new farce comedy.

FOUND SWEETHEART WITH ENEMY
Andre's homecoming to Gavrilac was an unhappy one—his friend Philippe had just been killed by the Marquis d'Aray in a duel. But he hurried through the beautiful gardens of the chateau, eager to see Aline, his childhood sweetheart, once more. There, in the very spot where she had sworn to love him always, stood Aline coquetting with his hated enemy, the Marquis. Andre rushed forward, and in one of the dramatic moments in "Scaramouche," the Ingram-Metro picture at the Imperial Theatre Monday.

LOST MONEY RESTORED.
L. C. McLean, a commercial traveler, while in Moncton a few days ago, says the Transcript, lost a roll of bills amounting to $55 and a check for $39. The money was found in the subway by W. H. A. Cox, C. N. R. parlor car conductor, who reported his find to the police. Later Mr. McLean communicated with the police and the money was restored to him. In appreciation of Mr. Cox's honesty, Mr. McLean offered a reward of $10, but this was declined. Mr. McLean, however, insisted upon payment of a reward, and Mr. Cox accepted $5, which was donated to the Protestant orphanage fund.

TWO SMALLPOX PATIENTS.
There are now two smallpox patients in the Moncton Isolation Hospital. Another case was diagnosed late yesterday afternoon as smallpox, the patient being Moses Murray, who lives on Gorang Road, near Leger's Corner. He returned a few days ago from the same lumber camp at which the other patient, Arthur Ferguson, had been employed. Murray was taken to the hospital. The school at Leger's Corner has been fumigated and will remain closed for a week.

Unities of Stage Are Instilled Into Film Drama By Niblo

(By JACK JUNGMEYER.)
Hollywood, Feb. 14.—The mature intelligence and artistic comprehension of Fred Niblo is aptly expressed in "Thy Name Is Woman," his latest production. Adapted from the story by Karl Schoenliker and the play brought to the American stage by Benjamin Glazer, Niblo's rendition comes as a worthy successor to his "Blood and Sand," "The Three Musketeers," "The Famous Mrs. Fair" and "Strangers of the Night."
It is a story of Spanish intrigue which Niblo focuses to powerful intimate drama by concentrating almost exclusively upon the triangular play of passions among the crafty old smuggler, his young wife baffled of maternal yearnings and the artless soldier over whom she exerts her sway.

EDITH ROBERTS

FRED NIBLO

"Thy Name Is Woman" receives its title from the picture personification of hope, enigma, love and misery in an aged outlaw's primitive wife, played by Barbara La Marr. William V. Mong portrays the smuggler; Ramon Novarro, the young Spanish soldier spy, who sets out to win a sergeant's stripes by playing upon the wild heart of the woman he sees as Hope and Love, only to discover that she is Enigma and Misery as well.

He maintains the old dramatic unities from which the screen shows marked tendency to digress. Virtually there are but three persons in his cast, and virtually the action is confined to the smuggler's isolated hut. By limiting his explanatory excursions to a few scenes essential for atmosphere, after the true manner of the short story form instead of the novel, he creates in the beholder the sense of inevitable tragedy.

and his observing cameraman have discovered and corrected in "Thy Name Is Woman" some of the ineffectual posturing, camera angles, and casting mistakes that have delayed Miss La Marr's fullest progress.
This is by far her best performance. Novarro's soldier role calls for a heavy, stolid characterization of callow youth whose virile heart is putty to the wiles of his temptress. He does it with understanding. William Mong, always interesting, contributes a sharp etching of a tragic figure in his smuggler, markedly free of melodramatic gesture. Edith Roberts maintains her consistent excellence.

Only in the conclusion of "Thy Name Is Woman" does Niblo come back for a moment to the conventional. And I learn with compensating assurance that this ending he himself does not like; that he did it against his better judgment because someone insisted that it should meet the tradition of "public demand." The production was made for Louis B. Mayer.

MARLYNN MILLER TO ACT 'PETER PAN'

Musical Comedy Star's Debut in the Legitimate Next Season.

New York, Feb. 14.—An announcement of unusual interest in the theatre was made this week by Charles Dillingham, who made it known that Marlynn Miller will be seen next season in the title role of "Peter Pan."

The announcement puts two sets of rumors at rest, for there had been many reports regarding Miss Miller's artistic future since her break with Florenz Ziegfeld, as well as reports regarding the eventual disposition of the Barrie play in America.
The production will mark the debut of Miss Miller in the legitimate field, although it does not mean that she is withdrawing permanently from musical comedy. Miss Miller, Mr. Dillingham said, was selected by Sir James Barrie from a list of ten American actresses presented to him for serious consideration.

Barring a single production by Jessie Bonstellers' stock company, "Peter Pan" has been played in this country only by Maude Adams. When Miss Adams withdrew from the stage the play disappeared with her, so far as America was concerned, and was then held for a long time in the hope that Miss Adams might be willing to reappear in it. As this hope gradually disappeared the search for another actress began. One of the conditions laid down by Barrie, it is said, is that Miss Adams would have to approve the new choice, and it assumed that this obligation has been met.

CRACK SWORDSMAN KILLS YOUNG PRIEST
Phillipe, the idealist, indignantly denounced the noble who had permitted one of the peasants to be shot for poaching on his domain. He does it overheard the youth and challenged him to a duel. Expert swordsman against student—poor Philippe had no chance. Over the dead body of his friend, Andre-Louis Mouru swore to carry on the fight of the people against the nobility. See how he kept his oath in the Metro picture, "Scaramouche," playing at the Imperial Theatre Monday.

A talking picture of Abraham Lincoln in which the great Emancipator, impersonated by Frank McGlynn, will deliver the Gettysburg speech, is to be presented this week in New York. The sound accompaniment is said to be present throughout this picture, music also having its place in the production of the camp-fire songs in several scenes. Dr. DeForest is the inventor of this "talking movie," or phonofilm, as it is styled.

ALICE TERRY

—the screen's acme of beauty and refinement, assumes the most important role of her illustrious career in this famous photo-romance, a worthy successor indeed to the same producer's "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." With Miss Terry in the tender portrayal of sweetheart and dashing handsome Ramon Novarro as hero, the love interest is exceptional.

MARGARET ANGLIN IN PLAY BY WILDE

St. John Actress Reviving Stage Classic in Chicago Theatre.

There is good news says Saturday's Chicago Journal of Commerce, in the announcement that Miss Margaret Anglin is to open an engagement at the Blackstone Monday night, not only because of the position Miss Anglin occupies on the American stage, but also because she is bringing a revival of Oscar Wilde's "A Woman of No Importance" which is seen all too seldom nowadays.
Miss Anglin has been a valuable contributor to the worthwhile of the theatre and a glance over her achievements reveals a list of roles which are formidable. It has been two seasons since she was seen in Chicago, and at that time unfortunately, her vehicle was one which failed to do her justice. In the meantime she has appeared in several important offerings of which the Wilde masterpiece occupies a place of its own. Her "Joan of Arc" was hailed as a notable triumph of the theatre, and during the summer she followed

COULDN'T SLEEP HEART WAS BAD NERVES A WRECK

Mr. H. A. Reid, Upper Musquodoboit, N. S., writes:—"I am very thankful for the benefit I have received by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills."

When I came home from overseas, in 1920, my heart was very badly affected by concussion, and my nerves were a dreadful wreck. I was very short winded, and could not possibly sleep at night, in fact, I was in such a condition I felt as if I did not wish anyone to speak to me. I thought I would try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before I had taken two boxes I could enjoy a good night's rest as well as anyone.
There are lots of returned men who are suffering the same as I did, and I feel sure that if they would only try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills they will receive the same relief that I have.

JERSEY MOVIE MEN DEFY SUNDAY LAW

Friends of Statute Get Evidence Against 17 Theatre Owners.

New York, Feb. 14.—Efforts will be made to obtain the indictment of seventeen proprietors of movie picture and vaudeville theatres in Jersey City, who last Sunday defied the charge of Supreme Court Justice James F. Minton to the Hudson County Grand Jury that New Jersey "Sunday laws" must be observed and no places of amusement closed on Sunday.

The seventeen theatres in Jersey City and thirty others in various sections of Hudson County were open as usual, most of them playing to capacity audiences. Neither police nor county officers intervened.
Herbert Clark Gilson, general counsel for the Society for the Prevention of Crime and the Protection of Morals, which has led the fight for the enforcement of Sunday laws, said a meeting would be called today of members of the society and members of the Clergy Community Club and the Lord's Day Alliance, that evidence of Sunday violation might be tabulated. This evidence, he said, would be turned over to Prosecutor John Milton for presentation to the Grand Jury.

Prosecutor's Warning

A few weeks ago a request to have the matter brought to the attention of the Grand Jury was refused by Prosecutor Milton, but he intimated Saturday that if evidence of violation of the law was again brought to his notice he would take official action.
Those who advocate strict enforcement state that the action of the theatre owners in opening yesterday is a flagrant disregard for the law. Every effort to have the law enforced will be made, they declare.

Statement by Gilson

After Mr. Gilson had been notified by members of his society that the theatres had openly defied Justice Minton's charge he issued the following statement:
"We have the evidence against the offenders and will ask that it be submitted to the Grand Jury. I feel sure that Prosecutor Milton will present this evidence."
"At the time of his refusal to present evidence against the blue-law violators a few weeks ago he asked a delegation of closed-Sunday advocates to obtain the opinion of a Justice on blue-law effectiveness. Justice Minton's opinion of last Friday meets the request for evidence."
"I am surprised to learn that theatre managers have defied the law and the highest court in Hudson County."
"We have the evidence against the offenders and will ask that it be submitted to the Grand Jury. I feel sure that Prosecutor Milton will present this evidence."

Drug Stores Also Open
Not only theatres, but news stands, drug stores, confectionery shops and other places, all of which were included in Justice Minton's category of establishments coming within the scope of the law, were open for business on Sunday.
Frank La Pointe of Hoboken, Foreman of the Grand Jury, said he would call the managers and see if they had any complaint to make.
"The charge has been made," he said, "that because these theatres are open on Sunday they are disorderly houses. If that is true on Sunday, then it must be true on other days."

At the State Theatre, Jersey City, a benefit performance was given for St. Michael's Roman Catholic church, of which the Rev. Monsignor John A. Steppard, vicar general of the Newark diocese, is pastor.
In some residential quarters where there has been a neighborhood protest against the opening of theatres on Sunday no attempt was made to convert the wishes of the residents. In other sections efforts of various societies to close the theatres were unsuccessful, residents petitioning to have them continue their performances.
All of the downtown theatres in Newark, Jersey City, Hoboken and other cities and towns were open.

CITY DECIDES TO PAY POWER BILL

Commissioners Accept Settlement Offer of $64,000—Will Issue Bonds.

The city council this morning agreed to accept the offer of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission in settlement of the bill against the city for current and to issue bonds for $64,000 to pay the amount due under this agreement to December 31, 1923. There was some criticism of the attitude of the government in placing the Simms load through their own substation instead of through the city.

Mayor Fisher read a telegram from Hon. J. E. Michaud, stating that he was speaking for both the government and the commission in his offer made to His Worship and also received a letter from the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission saying they had received a copy of the bill of the New Brunswick Power Company amounting to $243,633 and they considered this a fair and reasonable charge. In view of this, he thought the city should act fairly by the government and not have the impression go abroad that St. John was trying to get the better of the government. He thought this was the best offer that could be secured and should be accepted.

Commissioner Thornton said at one time His Worship had recommended the paying of the bill in full and thought at that time it was the best offer. So far as acting with the government was concerned he did not think there was anything to complain of. He thought the council had done wisely in this and other matters. He referred to the price in the contract, 1.2 cents per k.w.h. When the matter was under discussion there was a demand to sign for current and to place a maximum had been wise for the Power Commission today admitted the cost was in excess of 1.2, and he thought it probably was nearer 2.1 cents per k.w.h.

He also contended that if the bill had been rendered as the contract provided the bill would have been $12,000 instead of $64,000.

Commissioner Wigmore said he did not think the city had used the government unfairly, but he did think the city had not been used right in the matter of the Simms load. He had taken this matter up with the chairman of the Power Commission and also the matter of a service to the residents of Beaconsfield.

Commissioner Frink said he wanted the advice of the city solicitor that the offer be accepted because of the uncertainty of litigation written into the minutes. He was going to vote for the motion for a bond issue because he saw no other way to pay the bill, although he did not like the idea of bonds for rental. He was in favor of serial bonds and let the operating surplus when there was one reduce the amount outstanding. He moved that there be added to the resolution a clause saying that bonds be issued for the $64,000 if found necessary or expedient.

The amendment carried.

A further reduction in the rates for electricity for lighting purposes in the city of St. John by the New Brunswick Power Company was forecast this morning by H. A. Pooler, general manager of the company. He said that a meeting of the directors would be held in a few days to consider the matter.

The figures for 1923, covering consumption and earnings, he said, had been completed, and the indication was that they would warrant a material reduction in the rate to local consumers. He expected that some definite announcement in this connection would be made at the end of this week or early next week.

CATCH 8 TRYING TO CROSS BORDER

U. S. Immigration Officials on Maine Line Making Drive.

The United States immigration officials on the Maine border are making a big drive on those who are trying to get around the quota regulation by coming to Canada and then smuggling across the border. Within the last week they have caught eight persons who have been apprehended and will have to stay in jail until next June before they are brought to trial, as the next court does not sit until that time. The officers say they intend to keep a close watch on the border line from Eastport to Edmundston and they are especially active between Eastport and Houlton.

NOT SO MUCH GRAIN HAS BEEN SHIPPED

Figures compiled to date show that 7,000,000 bushels of grain were shipped from the C. P. R. elevators in West St. John so far this season. During the same period last season 9,900,000 bushels had been shipped. At the present time there are 1,100,000 bushels in the elevators and there is a steady movement eastward. The outlook for the remainder of the season is favorable and while it is not expected the record shipments of last season will be equalled it is confidently expected that this year will surpass last year's. At the present time there are five steamers docked at Sand Point ready to receive grain.

RETREAT ENDS

The official closing of the three-day retreat for the unmarried men of the Cathedral Parish took place last evening when, after a recital of the rosary and an able sermon on the means to salvation was delivered by Rev. A. MacDonald, C. S. R., of St. Peters church. There was a large congregation of men present.

This morning the men attended a special mass which was celebrated at 7 o'clock by His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc and received Holy Communion in a body. At the close of the service, His Lordship addressed the men, congratulating them on the success of the retreat and urging them to keep in mind the lessons taught and profit by them.

A retreat for the single women of the parish will be opened after the vespers devotions on Sunday evening.

As Hiram Sees It

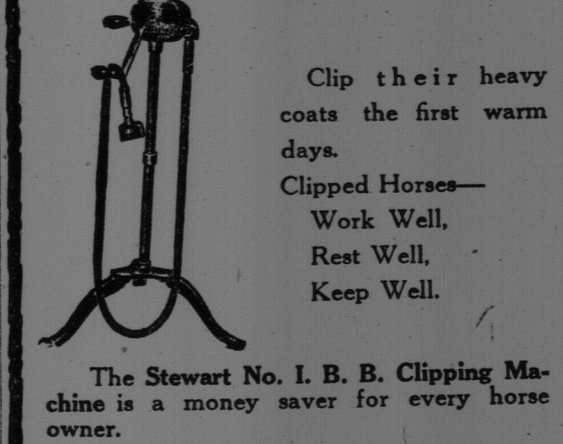

"Hiram," said The Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "the Legislature will be meeting soon, and the members will be juggling with our dollars again."

"Well, sir," said Hiram, "it's time they called a halt. It's awful the way they spend money. Why you'd think Noo Brunswick had a heap of gold in the sulkies as Doc Frink says about that there City Hall, where you kin just shovel it up. Look at the debt o' the province—growing bigger all the time. An' that there Valley Railroad slung around our necks. I tell you we got to call a halt right now—yes, sir."

"It does me good to hear you," said the reporter. "I infer that The Settlement will not be sending any delegations up this year."

"We won't," said Hiram. "Why won't we? Don't we want three bridges an' fifteen mile o' road put in shape? Don't the farmers want some help? Yes, sir—we'll be right there—an' we'll git what we want or bust the Governor—By Heav!"
