THE HIGHWAY OF LIFE.

As we grow older and wiser we feel our deficiencies more, for it requires a certain degree of knowledge to know how much is to be learned. Our idea of excellence also remains low until the mind and character are developed. Accordingly you will find many men, who account themselves complete merchants and gentlemen, when in fact they are but beginners, and perhaps give but a bad promise for the future in their department. Merely to buy and to sell; to know how to make a bargain to understand the quality of the common articles of merchandise, is very far from being all. All this may be learned by one who cannot speak his own language, and who has no conception of the real use of trade.

Commerce is the great civilizing agent of the world. Let it work as it ought in hand with peace and good-will among men.

The man who understands the nobleness of his calling, occupies a situation far above that of mere buying and selling. He cannot be narrow minded; he cannot stoop to the mean contrivance, by which men try to over-reach each other. He is not contented merely to make money and to spend it. He takes a large view of society and its interests, and is prepared to receive light from whatever quarter it may come.

Thus regarded, commerce becomes an interchange of ideas as well as of goods, yet they are often separated to the most painful degree, and those who engage in them often remain ignorant and uneducated.

We may go through nearly the same amount of remarks with regard to the mechanic. There is every opportunity for the young man to lay hold upon his work in life with the vigorous determination to make the most of himself, and to play his part in the world manfully. In the great western valley, which is determined to become the garden of the world and will contain in itself a greater population than that of the whole of Canada at this time a prudent man may hesitate to say what the West and its leading cities will become for fear of being accounted visionary. But I doubt if any expectations have been formed that will not be accomplished and surpassed; and it is upon the young men that it chiefly depends.

Having railways that will meet their heads on the waves of the Atlantic, and bath its feet in the waters of the Pacific ocean.

There never was a country or an age in which greater opportunities were offered to young men than our own. They need an army drawn out in battle array against the thousand bar-rooms, and against the many demoralizing influences so busily at work among them, whose own interests are chiefly in peril.

But in our estimation of the West let us not overlook the advantages that we have at home living on the farms in the stalwart, county of Bonaventure on its seaboard, looking out on the broad waters of the old bay sleeping its unrest from day to day, and its harbors of safety, in touch with a railway that will become a great iron hand surrounding our land of bloom and bright visions.

Wednesday morning traffic on the Fredericton end of the Canada Eastern branch of the Intercolonial Railway was tied up owing to an accident of a serious nature at the bridge across the Nashwaak about Marysville. The accident occurred early in the evening and it was shortly after noon the following day before the track was clear of wreckage and trains able to pass along the line. The wrecked train was in charge of Con. Robert Henry and Engineer Hurb Delyea in charge of locomotive No. 113. Five freight cars ran off and tore up the top of the bridge carrying the rails for practically the entire length of the structure, about 200 feet. The engine, wing plow and passenger car in the train did not leave the rails.

WHY PROHIBITION

Some Facts about the Saloon and its
Evils

Who wants a drunkard for a husband, a wife, a brother, a sister, a business partner, an employee, a companion, or a friend? Then why should anyone want the drunkard
factory to be kept running?

Every asylum is an argument against the grog shop, for more than half the inmates are there because of rum.

Every poorhouse is a protest against liquor-selling, for three quarters of the paupers are the victims of the saloon.

Every jail is an indictment of license for the rights of the criminals are the finished products of the rum traffic.

Three out of four of the dollars paid in taxes by the voter are simply the contribution which the people are compelled to make to defray the running expenses of the saloon.

But some people tell us that there will be as much liquor sold under prohibition as under license. Then why is it that all random is up in arms against prohibition, and pours out money by millions and fights tooth and nail to put it down?

As the liquor men make it plain enough that they do not want prohibition, it will be perfectly safe for temperance people to vote for it.

The fact is, there is no more need of proving that prohibition is a blessing than there is of proving that the sun shines. It is self-evident—Truth

ACCOMMODATION

The question of accommodation in local option municipalities is getting to be less and less of a bugbear. It is a question which generally settles itself
in business principles; the demand
creating the supply.

But a change is coming over the situation which is a surprise even to the temperance workers. We knew that in California and other places liquor sellers were voluntarily going out of the whisky business because of its unpopularity. The experience of these men has taught them that they can make no money without a bar with it, as they draw to their houses and satisfy a more respectable class of customers. But we did not know until recently that in Ontario
we are beginning to reach the same conditions. Yet such appears to be the case Metcalfe village (400), in the township of Osgoode, near O'tawa,
had two hotels, one of which was conducted by P. C. O'Conner, who previously had a license. The other house was taken over as a temperance house by Mr. Chas. Bradshaw. Threats were heard—no one would go there—
the other house would beat him out.
Yet Mr. Bradshaw went on keeping guests and observing the law. The "temperance house" is getting on the business, and Mr. O'Conner has advertised a big auction sale of horses, cows, carriages, harness, etc. He purposes leaving Metcalfe. Moral:
Temperance houses, fairly well conducted, pay.

At Smithville, I am told, commercial travellers never remained overnight if they could help it, hurrying to Hamilton. Since local option has come into force, it is said they frequently stop there for the sake of the rest and quiet comfort afforded.
It is counting very clear that the only right kind of hotel is one with or the sale of liquor connected with it.

THEY MUST HAVE THEM

The statement was made in a Los Angeles (Cal.) paper, the effect that a cloth exist in that city—those effects, according to the admission of its president, were devoted to preparing boys to become patrons of the saloon and gambling-house.

Also a very reliable western paper
reports having found on a single street
in Chicago twenty saloons, each of which has an annex equipped with taxis and story-books, to which children are invited to come, bringing their little friends, and when there they are treated to sweetened wine.

To some these reports are rather startling, but they need not surprise us.
Success in any line of business requires foresight and due precaution against the failure of trade in the time to come.

As the sawmill must have logs and the gristmill must have grain, so the saloon must have boys.

Prudent foresight is requisite on the part of the millowners, lest the supplies of raw material fail, and so their profits should cease, and their expensive machinery lie idly rusting out and causing them loss. So the thrifty saloon-keepers, foreseeing that the material now being passed through their mills will soon be used up, find it necessary to bestir themselves to make sure of continued supplies.

Since the commonwealth has recognized the saloon business as legiti-mate has given its license and guaran-

MATRIMONIAL.

The marriage of Miss Annie May Robertson, of Robinsonville, Restigouche Co., to Mr. Wm. J. Murray of the same place, was solemnized to St.
Paul's church at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Archdeacon Forsyth. The bride wore a becoming travelling suit of gray broadcloth and gray hat. She was unattended.

At the same time and place Miss Jane Firth of Robinsonville and Mr. David Cochran, now of Campbellton but formerly of New Richmond, Que., were united in matrimony, the same clergyman officiating. The bride was gowned in a stylish gray broadcloth suit and hat of same shade. She was unattended. After the ceremony, Mr.
and Mrs. Murray and Mr. and Mrs.
Cochran left for their respective home in Robinsonville and Campbellton.

ANOTHER USE FOR THE PHONOGRAPH.

Here is a strange story about a pump and a Phonograph. A New York firm several years ago put up a large pump
for a water company out in California.
It always did its work well until lately.
Something got out of order about it a few weeks ago, and while it continued
to work, its action was not as satisfactory as it had been. The manager of the water company had it examined by such experts as he could get, but they were not able to decide what the trouble was. They suggested that it would be better to take it apart, or that some one from the New York factory should come and look into the matter.

The manager was not willing however, to act on either suggestion. If he pump were taken apart, he would lose a good deal of valuable time; and if a New York expert were sent, New York it would cost them a good deal of money. So he cast about for some other means of getting out of the difficulty.

All at once an inspiration came to him—he would call in the services of a Phonograph. If a physician could determine what was the trouble with a man's heart by listening to its action through a stethoscope, why might the pump doctor not diagnose its disease by listening to its throbs and pulsations by means of the Phonograph?

Acting on this novel idea, the manager got a phonograph and spoke into its receiver. The result was that the pump's symptoms as clearly as he was able Then he placed the receiver so that the pulsations of the pump might be recorded on the waxen roll.

The roll was then sent to the firm in New York, and when its members heard its story, reproduced by a Phonograph
there, they at once discovered where the defect in the pump was, and suggested the remedy. The result was that the pump began running again as satisfactorily as when it was brand new.

Youth's Vitality Snapped Away

Your child looks poorly, is tired and fretful. You would like the boy or girl to be more robust, more energetic and vivacious. The "something" that is wrong is simply this. Stomach and bowels need attention. Constipation and indigestion must be relieved, new life and vigor are required in the blood.
Slight assistance is needed for the kidneys and liver. N. thing is so effective as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They put new life into young folks. Write for the ones. Every child should use this medicine regularly because its benefits
are not to be had in any other way.

GILLETTE EIS SENTENCED

Herkimer, N. Y., Dec. 10.—Chester D. Gillette was sentenced today to pay the death penalty for the murder of Grace Brown. He will die in the electric chair at the Auburn State Prison during the week beginning January 28th, 1907.

If Gillette's appeal does not prevail and he goes to the electric chair,
he will be the thirtieth man to be electrocuted. The first man that had the penalty for murder by death in the chair was Wm. Kemmer, who was electrocuted in Auburn in August, 1890, and the twenty-ninth was Henry M. Manzer, the Oswego County murderer, who killed Cora Sweet and was electrocuted on September 12, 1905.

Water Cure for Constipation

Half a pint of hot water taken half an hour before breakfast will usually keep the bowels regular. Harsh cathartics should be avoided. When a purgative is needed take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They are mild and gentle in their action. For sale by All

POPE REJECTS FRENCH GOVERNMENT'S OFFER

Parish Priest must remain
in their churches until Driven out by violence

Paris, Dec. 10.—France seems to face an alarming religious crisis.
The reports at the eleventh hour of the Government's final proffer, under which Catholic worship was to be continued under the common law, turned out to be true. The deadlock now is apparently complete. According to the Pope's orders declarations under the law of 1881 are prohibited, but the parish priests must remain in their churches until driven out by violence. The official confirmation of this communication has created a sensation both in Government and in Catholic circles.
Cardinal Decot, Archbishop of Bordeaux, Archbishop Gornain,
and others who had advised compliance with the law, have hastily instructed the parish priests in all the churches of Paris, bishops and priests, after mass, read the letter from Cardinal Richier, Archbishop of Paris, communicating the direction of the Holy See to the French clergy to "continue services in the churches, but to abstain from any declaration" and Cardinal Richier's own instructions, in view of the order issued by the Prefect of the Seine yesterday forbidding for the present the employment of ceremonial diaphan-es at marriages or funerals. The church wardens, whose legal existence will expire next Tuesday, were thanked yesterday for the pulpits of the various churches.
Prayers also were offered for the protection of God during the coming period of pers-cution. The Government regards the action of the Pontifex as little less than a summons to the Roman Catholics to open rebellion, as rendering the situation exceedingly grave and possible as entailing the most deplorable consequences. Premier Clemenceau and M. Briand, Minister of Public Worship, were in conference all day yesterday.
There is no sign of the Government faltering, but it recognizes that it may be forced to resort to extreme measures.

Rome, Dec. 9.—Despite rumors of attempts at a conciliation between France and the Vatican.
Vatican authorities deny again, and with emphasis, that any negotiations to this end are under way.
Church officials are very indignant at the attitude of M. Briand the French Minister of Public Worship
They declare that France apparently grants facilities for the practice of worship, but actually she is striving to dismember the organization of the church by striking at the clergy. According to the latest instructions the clergy will not yield except to force.

Do Your Ears Ring.

When they buzz and seem slightly
deaf, beware of catarrhal inflammation.
This grows steadily worse, but can be cured by Catarrhazone. J. H. Ham-mill of Greenmount, P. E. I., proved the merit of Catarrhazone and writes:—
"No one could have worse catarrh than I had for years. It caused partial deafness, bad taste, upset my stomach,
made me sick all over. Catarrhazone cleared my n strils, stopped the cough and gave me a clear feeling in my breathing organs. I am absolutely cured."
Doctors say nothing is better than Catarrhazone. Try it and you'll say so too. Two sizes, 25c. and $1.00 at all

FIRE ON SHIP

Three Master Had Narrow Escape from Destruction

PARRISBORO, N. S., Dec. 6.—The tern schooner Bluenose, Capt. McNamara, from Hantsport, N. S., for New York, with a cargo of lumber, arrived here today with her forward house badly gutted and foresail destroyed by fire. The vessel was anchored off the river waiting for the tide to make when the fire occurred. The fire was caused by the sailors hanging their clothes to dry too near the stove, and they caught.
The crew lost all their effects and the vessel was only saved from complete destruction by the prompt action of the officers and crew. She will repair here and proceed.

A heavy gale is blowing here tonight
from the southeast, accompanied by snow and rain, and only two of the large fleet of schooners which has been widely bound here sailed, and they will have a rough time in the bay.

Fruit-a-lives

"FRUIT-A-LIVES" differ
from any other remedy in the world.

They cure, absolutely, Stomach, Liver, Kidney, Bowel and Skin Troubles.

Because none of the usual remedies have given you relief, is no reason why you should not give "Fruit-a-lives" a good, honest trial.
Fresh fruit acts directly on the three great eliminating organs—Bowels, Kidneys and Skin. But fruit contains only a minute quantity of the medicinal principles and in order to receive any marked benefit from fruit, one would be compelled to eat more than could be assimilated by the system.
"Fruit-a-lives" contain all the curative virtues of fruit in a wonderfully concentrated form.
In making "Fruit-a-lives," the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes are combined—and, by a wonderful discovery of a famous physician, a chemical change takes place in the juices, by which the medicinal action is many times increased. Then tonics are added, and the whole compressed into tablets.
"Fruit-a-lives" contain no Calomel—no Cascara—no Senna—no Morphine—no violent purgatives—only fruit juices and tonics.
"Fruit-a-lives" act directly on the Bowels, Kidneys and Skin—strengthening them—and arousing them to vigorous action.
With the Kidneys healthy—the Bowels moving regularly every day—the Liver active—and the pores of the skin doing their full share towards ridding the system of waste—there can be no disease. "Fruit-a-lives" mean health for every member of the family.

Feerenti, and Italian, was sentenced here Thursday morning by Judge
McClatchy, under the speedy trial

THREE TRYING TIMES IN A WOMAN'S LIFE

There are three periods of a woman's life when she is in need of the heart strengthening, nerve toning, blood enriching action of

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

The first of these is when the young girl is entering the portals of womanhood. At this time she is very often pale, weak and nervous, and unless her health is built up and her system strengthened she may fall a prey to consumption or be a weak woman for life.
The second period is motherhood. The drain on the system is great and the exhausted nerve force and depleted blood require replenishing. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills supply the elements needed to do this.
The third period is "change of life" and this is the period when she is most liable to heart and nerve troubles.
A tremendous change is taking place in the system, and it is at this time many chronic diseases manifest themselves. Fortify the heart and nerve system by the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and this tide over this dangerous period. Mrs. James King, Cornwall, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled very much with heart trouble—the cause being to a great extent due to 'change of life.' I have been taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for some time, and mean to continue doing so, for I can truthfully say they are the best remedy I have ever used for building up the system. You are at liberty to use this statement for the benefit of other sufferers."
Price 50 cents per box, three boxes for $1.25, all dealers, or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

PROHIBITION.
Rev. E. Tennyson Smith's Monition campaign has been the means of stirring up the civic authorities to actually imprison some of the condemned Scott Act violators. The zeal of the prosecutors had been growing cold.

From time to time stories leak out to the effect that certain druggists are preventing the perfect working of prohibition in P. E. Island. The druggists, having a license to sell liquor for certain purposes considered necessary, are under a great temptation to sell for illegal purposes—there is many in doing so.

Recently in Albert Co., N. B. which is as thoroughly prohibitionist in sentiment as any country in Canada, four doctors in two adjoining parishes were at the same time under charge of illegally issuing prescriptions for liquor. At least two of those doctors, if not the whole four, are known to be financially interested in the drug-store business. An amazingly large number of persons in the surrounding country had within several months preceding the trials been afflicted with illness in the treatment of which alcoholic liquors were prescribed. In spite of the opposition of many learned physicians, alcohol appears to be a very popular medicine in some districts it would seem to be considered a panacea.

These faces bring us face to face with this question: Who should own the liquor that the law allows to be sold? When the referendum on provincial prohibition is taken, this question of ownership of the necessary liquor must be settled. In our opinion, the defects of the P. E. I. Act could be greatly lessened by the introduction of government ownership and sale of the liquors absolutely needed for industrial and medicinal purposes.

The British House of Lords last week formally recognized their obligations to the will of the House of Commons when the latter was known to really voice the sentiment of the people. Acting on this new principle, the Lords passed the second reading of the T. des Disputes Bills. This bill expressly gives workmen the right to strike and persuade others to quit work, and also practically guarantees Trades Union funds from liability for any damage caused an employer by strike or persuasion. The Union do not possess any such immunity in the United States or Canada.

The Lords have killed by amendment the government bill establishing secular education in place of religious schools, evidently giving that an appeal to the would so decide.

Relations of church and state in France are very serious, civil war is not improbable. Opposing parties are in a balanced in power armed and is pretty certain; but for the good of humanity we hope that the world has seen its last religious war.

President Roosevelt's message to Congress last week was long and vigorous, but could only with difficulty be distinguished from previous campaign speeches of Wm. Jennings Bryan. There seems to be little hope of Bryan ever becoming President, for as his program finds popular favor, the Republican leaders appropriate it as their own.

Two important questions to be dealt with at the next session of the local legislature, Hon. Mr. LaBilloy informed the convention at Dalhousie the other day, are the lumber question and the granting of legislation that will enable Mr. Malcolm to Boat Bonds to complete the International Railway. It seems the lumbermen of the province are to meet at Fredericton while the legislature is in session to discuss the lumber question, but Mr. LaBilloy did not state—or it is omitted from the report—what is the particular object to be considered.—Globe.

Fire broke out at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening in the Commercial Hotel and despite the earnest efforts of the fire department the building was completely destroyed. When it was clearly seen that the building could not be saved every effort was put forth to save the Royal Hotel and the double tenement house to the west, and in this the department was successful. Three straws were brought to play on the fire two from the fire engine at hydrant in front of McKee's Shoe Store and one from the hydrant opposite the store of Geo. G. McKee & Co. No. 1, C. R. water was used as stated in the Tribune, and we would also like to correct the statement made by our contemporary. In Tuesday's issue he says that the hydrant at the I. C. H. station was either frozen or out of order. Now we have it from good authority that the hydrant was neither frozen or out of order, but through the mistake of the first man at the hydrant who declared that the hydrant was broken no hose was attached.

We were amused to see another statement in the last issue of the Tribune. It says "the real cause of the small stream of water was the cutting down of the spillway some four feet last summer." We do not know that our confere is a past master in hydraulics, but we do know that four feet increase of head of water at reservoir would not make a pound of difference in the water pressure on fire hose, considering the long distance the water is conveyed the loss of pressure by friction, thus entailed and the large number of open taps in the cold season.

Most of the strikes agitating Canada have been peacefully settled during the last few days. Labor troubles here have not reached the bitter stage at which the American disputes have arrived. After several month's duration, the Lethbridge Coal strike has been settled by a conference at Indianapolis between Premier Scott of Saskatchewan; W. L. Mackenzie King, deputy Minister of Labor, and John Mitchell, head of the United Mine Workers of America. The West is thereby saved from great suffering this winter.

Each year, United States railways, by bad management have been killing and wounding thousands of people; but very little comment was passed on the fact by the big newspapers. But since a few days ago, when two officials of great railway companies—Samuel Spencer and General Philip Schuyler—were accidentally killed, ominous mutterings of a storm have been heard, and the public will demand an increase of double tracking and a decrease of accidents.

Some manufacturers are sharply criticising the new tariff, but the bulk of the people appear to be satisfied with it. The former, judging by the rapid rise in the cost of living, are making enough money now without the government giving them more protection. The opposition party in parliament has had very little to say against Mr. Fielding's budget.

A very important election took place in East Hamilton, Ontario, last week. Allan Studholme, Independent Labor Candidate, standing on a socialistic platform calling for public ownership of public utilities, defeated the conservative candidate J. J. Sooty, by a vote of 2337 to 1493; although at the previous election he had been defeated.

The conservative majority had been 880. Another feature of last week's contest was the great number of voters who stayed home being evidently indifferent or discouraged. In the House of Commons there are two Labor Liberals, Smith of Nanaimo and Verville of the Maisonneuve division of Montreal. A Labor candidate in St. Mary's Montreal, lately attempted to wrest that division from the Liberals but failed.

CHARLES MATHEWS AND MR. TATTERSAIL.

Charles Mathews, the famous English actor, once indulged disastrously in his well known taste for mimicry. The ridicule on this occasion was at the expense of Mr. Tattersail during the sail of blood stock conducted by that well known auctioneer.

The first lot gentlemen, said Mr. Tattersail, is a bay filly by Smolenko." Itc.

The first lot gentlemen echoed Mr. Mathews in the same tone of voice, "is a bay filly by Smolenko."

The auctioneer looked somewhat annoyed, says the writer of "English Comedians of the Past," but proceeded:

"Well, what shall we begin with?" "Well, what shall we begin with?" replied the echo.

Still endeavoring to conceal his vexation, Mr. Tattersail inquiringly called out:

"One hundred guineas?" "One hundred guineas?" echoed Mathews.

"Thank you, sir," cried Mr. Tattersail, bringing down the hammer with a bang. "The filly is yours."

Cleveland, Dec. 7.—A common beetle last night temporarily disabled a Lake Shore locomotive pulling a west-bound passenger train and raised pandemonium along the route for twelve miles from here to Berea.

The bug managed to fall into the whistle of the engine. For an hour the whistle blew—blew demoniacal screams, falsetto scream drawing excited crowds to the track. It was at milking time. The cows became unmanageable and many a pail of milk was spilled by the otherwise peaceful bossies. Horse and sheep fled in terror.

The hysteric screams made rural doctors run from their supper table. They grasped their medicine cases and raced to the railway stations in anticipation of a fatal wreck.

The engineer unable to stop the whistle and fearing that he would run out of steam, threw open the throttle wide and made for Berea. There the station master and engineer almost had a fight. The former insisted that the noise be stopped and the engineer yelled back in his ear that "she won't stop." The engine was run on a siding where railway mechanics found the big bug in the whistle.

Ottawa, Dec. 6.—Mr. Brodeur, minister of marine and fisheries, has ordered an inquiry into the circumstances which prevented prompt aid being sent to the Norwegian vessel which was shipwrecked off East Point, Prince Edward Island.

No satisfactory explanation has yet been received here as to why the life boat was not sent by special train from Charlottetown. As soon as Lloyd's agent notified the department here a telegram was at once sent to the agent of the marine department at Charlottetown asking him to at once send aid to the vessel. The Minto was sent but the P. E. I. Railway wanted $60 for the special train to convey the life boat and for some reason it was not sent, as it ought to have been.

Crows are hardy birds," remarked the boarder who is always delving in ornithology. "In cold weather I have known them to go five days without food."

"That's nothing, chicked the comedian boarder. "I have known crows to go five days without anything to eat."

Great Scott! What kind of rows were they?"

Why scarecrows?"

And the landlady was so tickled over the joke that she put sugar in the coffee instead of coffee.

"So you don't care for Baston girls?" interogated the windmill drummer.

"No, by heck," drawled old Farmer Hardapple. "They put on too many frills with their words. For instance, my niece came from Boston and one day she told me to 'occlude' the door. By the time I got the dictionary out of the garret and found out what 'occlude' meant the drafts had given the old woman the neuralgia, started up grandpa's rheumatism and laid up all the children with the whooping cough. No, mister, I don't believe in unnecessary words."

RISKS HIS LIFE TO SAVE FIVE OTHERS

Member of Steamer's Crew Swims to Drifting Barge with a Life Line

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec 7.—Captain Larsen, of the steamship Florida, reports that through the bravery of a member of his crew five men were rescued from what seemed to be impending death.

The Florida left Port Arthur, Texas, on November 16th towing the barge Providence, loaded with 1,300,000 gallons of crude oil in bulk. Heavy gales were encountered all the way to Cape Hatteras. Then Captain Larsen attempted to shorten his tow lines. Both hawsers parted and the barge was adrift.

After two hours' battle the barge was picked up. Capt. Larsen, believing that his tow would break away any moment, called for a volunteer to make the hazardous journey from the ship to the barge by means of the towing line. A sailor responded.

Ropes were fastened to his body and he started hand over hand toward the barge. He made the journey safely. The ropes he carried with him were fastened around the men on the barge and each were hauled aboard the ship the unknown rescuer being the last to be hauled aboard the Florida. The barge was then cut adrift.

We the undersigned beg to extend our heartfelt sympathy to the family of the late Claude Christie who died in the Eugene hospital of Cranbrook B. C. on the 22nd day of Nov 1906. He had been a warm hearted friend to all he came in contact with, and his loss will be felt keenly by his many friends, he also was a personal friend and came to us all. We all trust God will help and sustain them in their great loss.

For Thin Babies

Fat is of great account to a baby; that is why babies are fat. If your baby is scrawny, Scott's Emulsion is what he wants. The healthy baby stores as fat what it does not need immediately for bone and muscle. Fat babies are happy; they do not cry; they are rich; their fat is laid up for time of need. They are happy because they are comfortable. The fat surrounds their little nerves and cushions them. When they are scrawny those nerves are hurt at every ungentle touch. They delight in Scott's Emulsion. It is as sweet as wholesome to them.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

The Adventurers

Sercombe frowned. "This is nasty," he said, sitting down again. "You are right. Will they take me?"

"They have a warrant," I replied. "Yes, yes; true. Well, we must dodge them. I reckon the castle can do that if the castle can stand a siege," he said, smiling.

As we were considering, Sercombe still with his smile upon his face and the rest of us about the room, Sheppard leaning upon the back of a chair, there came a knock at the door. We all started, but, recollecting that it could be no more than Mrs. Main, I answered to the rap. Mrs. Main it was.

"No, sir; he said he would like to see you."

"Very well," I answered slowly, "show him into the library." And when Mrs. Main was gone I said: "This brings the matter to a point. Jones is here after you, captain. His men were watching."

"Of course," put in Sheppard, "there's the outlet from the treasure chamber."

"Now we're getting at it," said Sercombe easily.

"And the only path to that is by way of the guardroom, and as like as not Jones' men are without," I retorted.

"There's my room with the secret staircase," interrupted Montgomery.

"We looked at him. 'By Jove!' said Sheppard.

"You're right," I said.

With that I went off to visit Jones, whom I found in a most portentous mood and with his internal notebook to hand.

"I have reason to believe, sir," said he coldly and in his best official voice, "that a man for whom I have a warrant out is harbored in the castle."

"Ah!" said I coolly. "And who might that be, sergeant?"

"One Captain Sercombe, sir, seen entering the castle an hour or so back by Constable Buckle."

"You seem very well posted in the affairs of my house," I answered and lit a cigarette. "Perhaps you will be good enough to find him." And I turned on my heel. I felt that this was the only way in which to take my friend Jones' official impertinences. He reckoned us for Sercombe's companions. The captain had been seen to enter, and I had no defense save to leave the police sergeant to his own devices.

"I beg your pardon, sir," he said; "I have your leave to search the castle."

"Every inch of it," I answered indifferently. "How long do you propose to take, a fortnight?"

Jones coughed. "If you will give me your word of honor, sir, that Captain Sercombe is not within the castle," he began.

"I will give you nothing, not even a compliment on your imagined smartness," I interrupted sharply. "You are as blind as a bat, and I will leave you to stumble about in your own way; but one thing I will not have, and that is your men trespassing on my premises."

As they did an hour or so ago, if you have business, have business, but if I find any one hanging about the copest I will take my own way with him."

Jones started at my angry rejoinder, and he appeared a little embarrassed.

"You have your remedy, sir," he said, but I made no answer, merely moving to the door. "I will take your word for it, sir," he repeated.

"I have not given it," I said.

"Well, sir," said Jones, "I bid you good evening."

I knew well enough that the prospect of that interminable search had made him wince. It would be folly for him to undertake it, and so he withdrew with this slight discharge of courtesy.

Sheppard met me with the news. Montgomery had undertaken the job of guiding the captain through the gallery, and after that Sercombe was to conduct him to the rendezvous on the river. He had given Sheppard particulars of the place, and it did not appear as if we could miss it, but time was passing, and if anything was to be accomplished we must be away. Our preparations were accordingly pushed forward, nor were they very elaborate.

An encounter, maybe a bloody one, might be looked for. Certainly we could not afford to dispense with our weapons, but beyond them there was little to delay or incumber us.

Sheppard and I got forth of the castle and reached the great gates just after dark was fallen. As we passed through I thought I perceived the black shadow of a man hovering among the bushes near by, and I put him down as Jones.

At the foot of the gorge we turned, and, following the road to the right for a quarter of a mile, dipped quickly with the bend of the brook eastward and for the border of the farther country. The first part of the way took us through the outlying stretches of the forest, but presently the woods thinned the margins upon either side, and behind was open country, broken into fields and pastures, with here and there the shining windows of a farmhouse or cottage. About this point it occurred to Sheppard that we were being followed.

"I set a man cross from that last stile," he declared, "and I'll swear I heard a rustling in the bushes."

"Very well," said I. "If Jones is after us Jones will have a long tramp, and the sooner we dispatch him on it the better."

"What will you do?" he asked.

"Sit tight," said I. "And keep mum. Here's an excellent corner for silent meditation," and I dropped into a black patch of bracken, whither he followed me.

We had been following a footpath which wound through the copse close to the stream, and a little distance to the left we sank into his hiding place and waited. Some five minutes after, the footstep of a man sounded softly behind us, and he came into the plane of sight. Dark as it was I made him out for one of Jones' men, and my opinion was confirmed by the stealthy manner in which he proceeded.

"We'll let him pass," I whispered, "and then follow him. Rustic police are no harm to us."

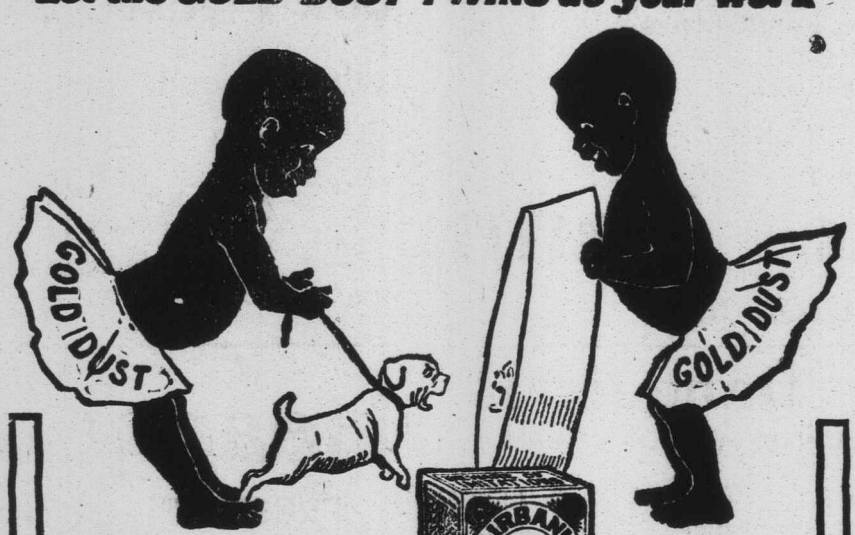

Five minutes later we emerged, and resumed our journey, diligently opening our ears to the sounds of the night, but nothing was audible to alarm us, and we reached at last a spot where the path ran down to the water's edge between thick trees. Opposite, the dark bulk of a little jetty was just discernible and beyond that the lights of a house.

"This is the place," said Sheppard. "But I see no signs of the others. Yet they must have got here before us."

"Let us wait," I suggested, and meanwhile we are better in hiding."

We concealed ourselves among the trees and passed ten minutes in some anxiety. "Was it possible," I asked myself, "that Montgomery and Sercombe had already encountered Hood and his accomplices, with a tragic result?"

Suit? Or, again, had Jones happened upon them and taken Sercombe? Perhaps even the captain had been dealing treacherously with us all through."

But these speculations were scattered at the approach of voices and a noise of oars in the water, which here ran deep and wide, a mile from its junction with the Ray. We listened with increased excitement, but as yet nothing was visible in the darkness. The boat seemed to draw up at the foot of the path below us, and there came the noise of two people landing.

"It's all right," I whispered to Sheppard. "Here they are."

And I was on the point of jumping up when I heard a new sound opposite, and a figure rose and stood in the pathway. As we strained our eyes

At Sercombe's feet was a prostrate figure, to make out what this might be I heard the approaching feet of the others. Then somewhere out of the night these words floated to us: "Captain Sercombe, I arrest you in the name of the queen."

There was a violent exclamation and the noise of a struggle and afterward a short cry and a hoarse crack.

I Sheppard and I leaped to our feet and reached the path, where ten paces from the water stood Sercombe and at his feet a prostrate figure.

"What is this?" I said anxiously.

"Oh, you there, gentlemen?" said Sercombe, puffing. "This knave would have ruined our whole venture. But I reckon I've given him his stomach full."

"Yes, you have," I said bitterly, bending over the man. "He's about done for."

"Look!" said Sercombe. "Only struck his head on a log. He's all right. Don't waste time over such swine." And he made for the boat, where I could perceive Montgomery.

"Understand this, Captain Sercombe," I said—"I am not here to break innocent heads or to imperil honest lives, and if, as you say, I will have him taken where he can be cared for."

Sercombe laughed harshly. "You are so infernally particular, Mr. Great-orex. But have your way."

"You're well," I said, "when I take him over to the house yonder."

We carried the unfortunate man aboard the boat and pushed her off. Montgomery putting to the jetty. There we landed the body. Suddenly Sercombe stopped.

"This is my affair," he said, "not yours. You won't be able to show your faces after this if you're mixed up in it. Besides, I may get definite particulars as to Hood if I go up."

He shouldered the unconscious form of the policeman as he spoke and departed, staggering under his burden. In a little he came back.

"It's all right," he said easily. "I told the farmer that it was a friend of mine who had met with an accident, and he has promised to look after him till I return. I am to call in an hour's time." He laughed. "And I've found out that Hood left half an hour ago, having borrowed the old gentleman's boat. There's some good in charity after all." And once more he laughed.

At the word Montgomery and Sheppard bent to the oars, and the nose of the boat shot downstream.

CHAPTER XXII.
ND now," said I to Montgomery, "please explain. I think we none of us contemplated a boating expedition. Where are we going?"

"Hood's got on before us, you know," he explained eagerly. "Captain Sercombe and I got away safely and reached this ferry twenty minutes before you, but the boat had gone!"

"You mean Hood's boat?" I asked.

"That's it," Sercombe broke in. "I reckoned we might nab Hood in the act, but we came too late by ten minutes. I recognized the place from his description. For the matter of that, it's easy to find, but there was no boat. That meant we must carry the expedition a stage farther ere we could drop on him. Presently Montgomery and I happened upon this tub a bit lower down. She's no great shakes, but she'll do to come up with him."

"And when we do?" said Sheppard.

"I don't want to put too fine a point on it, sir," said Sercombe, "but it means cutting out, and if we are not prepared for cutting out, why, we had best turn the nose of the boat upstream again."

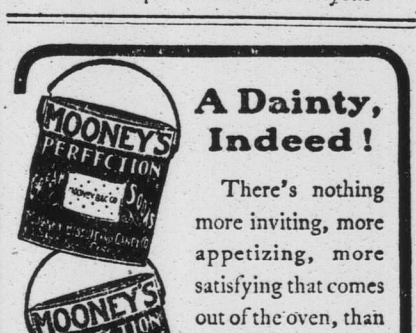

There was silence after this, but Sheppard and Montgomery applied their oars, if anything, a trifle more smartly.

"We're not going to turn back now, if that's your meaning, captain," I said. "We only want to understand where we are and what we have to expect."

THE POSTAL EXPRESS

Important Announcement Made in Parliament

LAST WEEK

Premier in Favor of Telegraph Companies under Gov't Control

Ottawa, Dec. 7.—The settlement of the Lethbridge coal strike and the proposed postal express legislation were two important statements made by the postmaster general in the house Thursday.

The member for South Toronto (MacDonald) introduced a bill for compulsory voting and providing for sufficient time for employees to vote. It was read a first time.

Mr. Lemieux said that the proposed postal express legislation consisted of an arrangement for the transmission and delivery of postal parcels c. o. d. It is contemplated that the post office should be the means by which parcels should be despatched and collections of any charges thereon made by the department on some definite scale. The details have not been perfected, but are now the subject of consideration. Parliament will be more fully informed when the project has been completed.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux replying to Mr. Smith (Nanaimo) said that the Lethbridge strike was settled on the following basis. An increase of wages of about 10 per cent, to most of the employees, the appointment of a check weighman. That was to be the only reduction from the pay roll except in respect to doctor's fees, coal, power oil and other supplies furnished by the company and if the men desired for a sick benefit fund and library. All employees, whether the members of an organization, must be on an equality. The men involved in the strike will have the preference of employment over strangers, if they apply within reasonable time. Disputes in future so to prevent strikes, may be referred to the superintendent of the mine and if necessary to the general manager and two of the company employees can appear on behalf of the party seeking redress and failing an adjustment the matter is to be referred to arbitration both parties agreeing to abide by the award of the arbitrators. The strikers withdrew their demand for a complete recognition of the union, for the deduction of union dues by the company, for an eight hour day and other less important concessions. The intervention of the department was requested by Hon. Walter Scott and MacKenzie King conducted the negotiations for settlement.

CRISIS OF GIRLHOOD

A TIME OF PAIN AND PERIL

Miss Emma Cole Says that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has Saved Her Life and Made Her Well.

How many lives of beautiful young girls have been sacrificed just as they were ripening into womanhood! How many irregularities or displacements have been developed at this important period, resulting in years of suffering!

A mother should come to her child's aid at this critical time and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will prepare the system for the coming change and start this trying period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities.

Miss Emma Cole of Tullahoma, Tenn., writes:
Dear Mrs. Pinkham:
"I want to tell you that I am enjoying better health than I have for years, and I owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

"When fourteen years of age I suffered almost constant pain, and for two or three years, I had soreness and pain in my side, headaches and was dizzy and nervous, and doctors all failed to help me."
"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended, and after taking it my health began to improve rapidly, and I think it saved my life. I sincerely hope my experience will be a help to other girls who are afflicted, from girlhood to womanhood, for I know your Compound will do as much for them."

If you know of any young girl who is sick and needs motherly advice ask her to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and she will receive free advice which will put her on the right road to a strong, healthy and happy womanhood. Mrs. Pinkham is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge.

the expense of the company. In the meantime the police are using their old Winchester and Lee-Enfields.

In answer to Dr. Black, Sir Wilfred said that the lease to the Dominion Atlantic of the Windsor branch expired 1914. When the time arrived its renewal would be a matter for serious consideration.

Sir Wilfred Laurier said that arrangements were being made for perfecting the train arrangements and connections with incoming steamers at Rimouski next summer to prevent delays to the mails.

Mr. MacLean (South York) moved the second reading of his bill for two cent passenger fares and bringing sleeping car companies and telegraph companies under the railway commission. Several speakers voiced their opinions on the bill, Mr. Lancaster pointing out the difficulties that prevented the adoption of a uniform two cent rate all over the country.

Sir Wilfred Laurier said that there were many things in the speech of Mr. MacLean with which he agreed and there were also some heresies. It was in the best interests of the public that the bill should be read a second time and afterwards referred to the committee on railways and canals.

UNIFORM RAILWAY RATE NOT FEASIBLE

The premier did not see any great objection to the placing of sleeping car companies and telegraph companies under the railway commission. As to fixing a rate of two cents a mile on railways Sir Wilfred agreed with Mr. Lancaster as to the difficulties of fixing a uniform rate. Some districts would require a higher rate than others. The railway commission was appointed to deal with all such cases and with charges of discrimination which had been referred to by Mr. MacLean.

As to telephone companies, in regard to compulsory connection the premier said that the matter had been discussed last year very fully. He suggested that the bill should be read a second time.

Mr. Borden thought the whole question was one for the railway commission. He agreed to the second reading and the sending of the bill to a committee.

When the house met at eight o'clock to deal with Mr. MacLean's ticket scalping bill he was seated in his seat and the house adjourned.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever. It is caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

INDIAN HAD MANY WIVES.

In Charlottetown this week Commissioner McEwen was questioned about a peculiar case in which the leading figure was James Nolan, alias Strong alias McAdam a half breed having from Nova Scotia Nolan reached Prince Edward Island about 1870, and there married Phoebe McAdam. In 1882 a Bathurst Indian woman appeared at Nolan's home, and for some reason, not waiting an interview with her, Nolan took his departure, going to Stirling and changing his name to Strong. At St. Peter's, C. B., he married again, and in due time deserted his second wife. At Sydney he entered the liquor business and married a third time. In 1903 he died, leaving an estate worth $20,000. In his will he recognized the children of all three marriages. It is over the will that the trouble has arisen. It is claimed that Nolan was four times married. Another complication in the case is caused by the fact that Phoebe McAdam was herself married after being deserted by Nolan.

The next commission for taking evidence in the case will meet at Bathurst, N. B.
