For Payment of Breach of Town Hall and Permanent Street Work.

A meeting of the Town Council was held in the Council Chamber Tuesday evening. His Worship Mayor McKay presiding. Councillors Bellisle, Miller, St. Onge, Rogers, Dunlop, Graham and Graham.

The minutes of the last regular meeting and several special orders were read and approved.

A communication was read from Town Solicitor Gair setting forth the town was liable for the treatment of Mr. Thompson, a poor patient of the Soldiers' Memorial Hospital, from Jan. 25th to which date the Secretary of that institution notified the town as to his being there, and was legally liable from that date until his discharge from the institution. "Laid on table to be taken up later."

The Mayor of Mont Joli wrote that an offer was being made to purchase the route of the Transatlantic cable from via the Matapedia Valley by the St. John river route and Council discussed this as an important matter and should receive prompt attention.

Mr. Worthing suggested a strong resolution be drafted and forwarded to the President of the Canadian Motor League.

George Graham made a motion covering this which was carried.

Witney McDonald wrote the council through some error he lost last night's copy in December last which was justly so. Referred to Electric Light Committee with power to act.

The town engineer submitted an offer from O. A. Alexander for the heirs of the Alexander estate, offering the land necessary for opening up streets and widening existing streets about three and three quarter lots for $1800.00. Councillors in favour of the offer.

A communication was read from Walter Sutherland complaining of an amount of $10 which had been considered before for the day's water service leading to his house. He contended that this service was from an amount of the low water pressure. Referred to Water and Sewerage Committee with power to act.

A communication was read from Dr. Pleasant asking the town to bear the expense of sending a little girl aged 13 years, belonging to Mrs. Harquail, to a sanatorium.

On motion of Coun. Moore's a delegation from the Red Cross Committee was asked.

Mrs. D. A. Harquail was the spokeswoman of the party and made an eloquent appeal for this little girl referred to. Her father was a hard working man who had a sick wife and son suffering from the same disease. Mrs. Harquail stated she had been informed that three months at such a sanatorium would practically cure the child. The cost would be $150 per day and it was possible an older brother of this little girl upon whom the same disease had a firmer hold, would be taken into the institution free of charge. The little girl had been discovered by the Health Nurse while visiting the school.

Coun. Belle-Ile moved that the necessary grant be made to send the little girl to a sanatorium for a period of three months. Carried.

Mrs. Harquail expressed the thanks of the delegation.

An application from Earl Lutes for the job of driving one of the motor trucks was placed on file for future reference.

The Secretary of the School Board wrote setting forth the amount required this year for school purposes would be $30,000. Placed on file to be taken up when the estimates were being considered.

Geo. G. Melvin, Chief Medical Officer for the Province wrote requesting blue prints of water and sewerage system also for information as to source of water supply, that he be notified of any changes being contemplated. He pointed out the necessity of the Provincial Board of Health having all such information in view of the fact that in some towns in this province typhoid was contracted by reason of impure water supply. Referred to Water and Sewerage Committee.

Town Engineer Sly wrote stating that his term of office expired end of some May.

Coun. Duncan said that Mr. Sly's term had been very satisfactory for the past year and he moved that Mr.

INSULIN GREATEST DISCOVERY OF AGE IN ATHOL FIRE

No Person Should Die of Diabetes, Says Doctor Ringer.

New York, April 23.—Insulin, discovery of Dr. F. G. Banting, which has been used with complete success in the treatment of diabetes at the Montefiore Hospital, according to the report of hospital physicians given before a meeting of the board of directors last night.

Dr. A. L. Ringer, attending physician, reported that eighty patients, five of whom were in the last stages of the disease, have been treated at the hospital. He said that five of patients treated were in a coma out of which few sufferers from the disease have ever come. One, a young man of 22, was in the last stages of the disease. Three injections of insulin were administered each day for several days, and yesterday the patient was sitting up and reading a magazine. Another patient, past fifty, pronounced incurable, was now on his way to Europe.

"From the results obtained at Montefiore Hospital," said Dr. Ringer, "I can state unequivocally that no person should die from diabetes. Insulin is undoubtedly the greatest discovery of the age."

STORE ROBBERS CONFESS GUILT

John Roy, Wm. Harquette and John White Sent Up for Trial.

On Saturday morning last, John Roy, William Harquette and John White, all of Chathamville, were taken to the court by Mr. Bellisle, there to stand trial on charges of stealing from the general store of the Richmond Manufacturing Co. at Richmondville.

At the preliminary hearing before Judge Matheson at Melrose, evidence was elicited to the effect that quantities of merchandise were surreptitiously disappearing from the Richmond store for the past two or three months. Bellisle then took these goods at night to the store and hid them in a closet. The store manager, Mr. J. W. McMillan, was notified of this violation being kept and did not say a word to the store for several nights. Early in the morning of Thursday, the 19th instant, however, these men appeared on the premises and gained entrance to the store through the back door using a key which they had in their possession. From their position behind the counter the manager turned a flashlight on the looting visitors and recognized Roy who apparently was leading the first. The culprits took their hold-up money and Mr. McMillan started to follow he was obliged to abandon this chase as one of the men fired three revolver shots in his direction.

Chief Alderman notified and hurried to the scene accompanied by Officer Smith and after looking over the premises with Mr. McMillan they secured search warrants and searched the houses of these under suspicion. Their assumptions proved correct and their search, consequently considerable quantities of merchandise were identified by Mr. McMillan as belonging to the Richmond firm. Co.

The three culprits vehemently protested their innocence and made strenuous efforts to escape arrest but the police force were referred to the three were safely lodged in the lockup.

During the hearing the three men finally admitted their guilt and consented to giving firm bonds. They also requested Speedy Trials. H. A. Gair represented the prosecution.

Roy is charged with $2000.00. White is charged with $2500.00. Harquette is charged with $2500.00.

Coun. Moore moved an amendment that Mr. Sly be engaged at $250 per month for the season is under-considered.

Coun. Belle-Ile moved an amendment to the amendment that Mr. Sly be engaged at $250 per month and be engaged from month to month.

The amendment to the amendment was carried.

The resignation of Robert Burns as policeman was accepted.

Five applications for the position of policeman were referred to the Police and License Committee.

Benjamin Larsen, assistant engineer, the police force were referred to resignation to take effect not later than May 5th.—Accepted.

The Electric Light Committee was authorized to engage a man to fill Mr. Larsen's position, and place his name before the council for appointment.

Town Clerk Harris of Annapolis Royal, N. S., wrote wanting to know if it was the intention of the council to sell the old fire alarm bell. The town clerk was instructed to write him to the effect that it would be some time yet before a decision could be arrived at with regard to selling the bell. If the new whistling machine shortly to be installed proved satisfactory the bell would be for sale, otherwise the council would not dispose of it.

Several applications were read for a reduction in the assessment of the various writers, all of which were referred to the Assessment and Appeals Committee.

The lady employees in the C. N. R. offices wrote the council protesting against their being assessed on such information in view of the fact that in some towns in this province typhoid was contracted by reason of impure water supply. Referred to Water and Sewerage Committee.

A communication from the Manager of the Electric Light Plant stated that his term of office expired end of some May.

Coun. Duncan said that Mr. Sly's term had been very satisfactory for the past year and he moved that Mr.

PARTRIDGE FROM HUNGARY TO N. B.

Suggestion Favoring Importation Made to Chief Game Warden Gagnon.

Fredericton, April 23.—Suggestions that Hungarian partridge, or quail, be imported into the province for the purpose of replenishing the supply of game birds, have been made to Chief Game Warden L. A. Gagnon. These suggestions have been made simultaneously with the announcement of a new British export industry which has been established for the purpose of shipping eggs of English peasants to the United States where these will be hatched and distributed from the American State Game League. The initial export of these eggs is being undertaken shortly which shipments of a consignment of 10,000 eggs will be commenced from England. Special precautions will be observed in the shipment of these eggs which require cool quarters and daily turning.

The Hungarian partridge is at present being bred at various places in the United States and provides a game bird suitable to the American climate, while game authorities doubt the ability of the English peasants to sur-

The Farm Grounds Should be Made Attractive

The Canadian Horticultural Council believes that Canadian farmers are rapidly learning to appreciate their surroundings, because it is now beginning to be realized that it pays from a cash standpoint, that it will help country life to be what it should be, the most attractive of all and because it will fit in no small measure and in conjunction with the rural telephone, rural mail, good roads and radio help to keep the young people at home and contented.

Farming should be, and some day will be, the most independent, attractive and satisfactory profession in all the world, and one of the most important steps towards that end is, that of having the home surroundings just as attractive as those of our citizens who live in the towns and cities. This end can be accomplished much more cheaply and with more beautiful results, as the farmer has everything including an adequate space to work with.

The appearance of a place is a very safe index to the character of the owner. Poor stock, poor vegetables, diseased fruit trees and wormy fruit go hand in hand with unpainted buildings, filthy barnyards and unimproved grounds unadorned, and yet the majority of our farms are in this condition. In fact, those with really well laid out and well kept grounds and orchards are the exception.

Making the home grounds tidy and well kept, not only adds to the pleasure of life, but it is good business, for it should be remembered that the front yard of the farm is the show window of its place of business. It is also good business because it attracts the buyer for the products of the farm or the farm itself, as every price paid for the products of a farm is a store that has an appearance of being up-to-date, well-kept, of having fresh goods, and we are willing to pay the price for these things rather than take a chance on the others.

It also pays because well-kept grounds and buildings bring returns out of all proportions to their cost. In fact, in a consideration of this matter, the word "investment" not "expense" should always be thought of.

Any farm, the house of which is framed with trees, porches shaded with vines which possess a certain expansion of lawn, the objectionable features hidden from view by trees, shrubs, or vines, has risen in value entirely out of all proportion to the time or money spent.

Such a place will sell for a great deal more than a neighboring place exactly as good but in the condition too commonly seen throughout the country today.

And the problem of beautifying the farm is not an expensive one. If the orchard trees may be so placed as to be of a very ornamental nature and profitable as well. In fact, landscape gardening is today being used for ornamental purposes more than ever before.

With these as the main material plus shrubs, perennials and flowers tastefully placed in clumps, the mass around the foundation of the house and in irregular borders, and with some vines to hide the bareness of the walls, the whole picture is changed. A home not a farmhouse is the result.

Our farm grounds should be improved if for no other reason than that of the women and the children to whom the love for beauty appears even more than it does to men. Make the farm-house and grounds a real home not an eating or sleeping place or an adjunct of the barns and other buildings.

Hot Beds—Their Construction and Management
(Experimental Farms Note.)
A well managed hot bed is an asset to every home garden. It not only ensures a crop of early tender vegetables, but also makes possible the beautifying of the home surroundings with annual flowers.

Hot beds may be classed as underground or surface types. For general use in the Maritime Provinces, the surface is preferable. The hot bed site is an important feature in hot bed construction. It should be well-drained, on a southerly slope, protected by buildings, overgrown hedges or a board fence from cold north or west winds, and where all the possible sunshine will be obtained.

The Treatment of Grain for Smut

(Experimental Farms Note.)
The smut diseases of grain are of considerable economic importance and every farmer should know how to combat them for the sake of his own crops as well as those of his neighbours. The treatments which have been devised are comparatively simple and should find a place in the routine of every farm. The following is a list of the common smut diseases of grain crops, with the treatments for each, followed by a detailed description of the treatments:

WHEAT—Stinging Smut or Bunt—Thorough fanning of the seed grain will remove most of the smut balls. This should be followed by the formalin dip or sprinkle, which gives perfect control. Copper carbonate dust is giving good results and is easier of application, but it has not been tested sufficiently to warrant general recommendation.

LOOSE SMUT—This disease cannot be controlled by seed disinfection because the fungus spores are not carried on the surface of the seed, infection being produced by a small spore of the fungus carried within the grain. Hot water treatment is the only means of control.

BARLEY—Covered Smut—Formal- in dip or sprinkle.
Loose Smut—This is similar to the loose smut of wheat and can only be controlled by the use of the hot water treatment.

OATS—Smut—Use the dry formalin treatment, or the formalin sprinkle. In the case of hullless oats, either of these treatments causes a serious loss in germination and seedling vigor.

CORN—Smut—This disease is not transmitted in or on the seed grain, but is carried over in the soil from one year to the next and spreads in the field from infected to healthy plants, producing the smut "balls" on any part of the plant. A strict rotation should be observed, the collection and burning of the "balls" are the only means of controlling its spread.

TREATMENTS
FORMALIN DIP—Fill bags half full of grain. Add one pint of formalin (40% formaldehyde) to 40 gallons of water, immerse bags in the solution for ten minutes, moving them up and down so as to drive out the air bubbles. Remove the bags and allow to drain and then spread out the grain to dry. Be sure not to replace the grain in the bags used for the seed before treatment, but either new bags or ones that have been soaked in the solution and dried. The solution does not lose strength by use.

FORMALIN SPRINKLE—Dilute one pint of formalin (40% formaldehyde) with 40 gallons of water. Pile the grain on a clean floor. Sprinkle the solution on the grain with a broom or sprayer. Mix well by shovelling over. When the grain is evenly wetted, pile it again and cover with clean bags for two hours, then spread it out to dry and put into clean bags. Forty gallons of solution is sufficient for 40 to 50 bushels of seed. If seedling is done soon after the treatment, adjust the drill to allow a free flow of seed or the stand will be too thin.

DRY FORMALIN METHOD—Dilute one pint of formalin (40% formaldehyde) with one part of water and spray this solution on the grain, shovelling over at the same time. One quart of solution per 50 bushels of grain. Cover the pile with bags or blankets for five hours. The seed can then be sown without drying.

COPPER CARBONATE DUST—Two ounces of finely divided copper carbonate is used per bushel of seed. The seed and dust are put into a barrel and the open end covered by tying a piece of canvas or a sack over it. The barrel is then rolled around on the floor until the dust has been thoroughly distributed over the seed. This treatment can be done at any time prior to sowing.

HOT WATER TREATMENT—This is a difficult treatment unless there is live steam used in the dairy on the farm or unless there is a cheese factory nearby where the treatment could be done. The bags of grain are placed in water and live steam turned in until the temperature is raised to 127 degrees F. Enough steam is then run in to maintain a temperature of 124 degrees to 127 degrees for ten minutes. The bags are then taken out and drained and the grain spread out to dry.

Words Unnecessary.
"Is the boss in?" asked the visitor. The office boy, with his chair tilted back and his legs stretched out on a desk, made no reply. "Is the boss in?" asked the visitor. "The office boy glanced at him, but remained silent. "Didn't you hear me?" snapped the visitor. "Of course, I heard you," answered the boy scornfully. "Then why the dickens didn't you tell me if the boss is in?" "Now, I ask you," retorted the boy, as he repressed his legs on the desk, "does it look like it?"

LIFE WAS MISERY!

"I was reading the other day about Neurasthenia, about the large number of people who were troubled with this disease. It is just what my wife had. She felt miserable all the time and was constantly depressed. She would waken in the morning and tell me that something dreadful was going to happen that day. Life was nothing short of misery for her. She was so depressed that I expected she would lose her mind and have to go to a sanitarium and I kept wondering how I would get the money to pay for her. She could not eat and had no appetite for food. She was irritable and cranky most of the time. If she was crossed in any way, she would immediately work herself up into a violent temper. This worried me because she had always had a kind and gentle disposition and nothing which was said or done seemed to irritate her. I spoke to our family doctor about her and he said that her trouble was imagination and that if she would try and forget about her depression and look on the bright side of life she would be all right. Of course I didn't dare tell her this because I knew she would get into one of her tempers. When she got over these fits of temper, she was always weak and ill and more depressed than ever. The doctor said a tonic might help her and gave me a prescription, but this did not do her any good. She tried all kinds of other tonics with the same result. Careful I was recommended to me and I wish to state that it is the leader of all tonics. Since taking it my wife has changed completely. Now she is always ready for her meals and work is no burden. It is a pleasure for me to recommend Carnol to anyone who is in need of a tonic or a body builder. Excuse me for writing this letter, but I want you to accept my thanks for that wonderful tonic known as Carnol." — Mr. J. M. Toronto.

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, "I have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 7-22

Here and There

Nova Scotia has adopted the "drive to the right" rule of the road, the bill providing the change having received the assent of the administrator of the province.

The year 1922 was a banner year for Montreal in the number and tonnage of ships which came to the port, a total of 6,983 ships of 13,000,000 tons arriving, as compared with 5,541 ships of 9,735,150 tons in 1921.

Canada led the world in 1922 in the export of raw furs to the United States. The total for each fur that year was over 100,000 pelts, valued at $16,000,000. While the general price of furs shows a downward trend, the total catch shows a remarkable increase.

Four of the Canadian Pacific "Empress" liners, the British, the France, the Scotland and the India, are to load grain at Quebec during the 1923 season, and new berths have been provided for these vessels near the grain conveyor, at a cost of $300,000.

When she was alighting from a street car in Vancouver, Mrs. Rose McLaren received injuries which prevented her from concentrating and temporarily did away with her earning power as a spiritualist or psychic reader. She was awarded $1,250 against the railway company.

The addition of the 17,000-ton "Montaurier" to the Canadian Pacific "Empress" fleet marks an important development. Not only is she the largest one-class-cabin ship sailing to and from Canadian ports, but she is the largest in her class on the Atlantic. Her length is 613 feet and breadth 65 feet. Because of her size she will sail to and from Quebec.

Approximately 8,000 tons of silver ore are waiting shipment from the Keno Hill, Yukon, mines. This silver represents the winter haul. Another 2,000 tons may be moved this summer, making the total silver shipments ten thousand tons for 1923. Such an output is worth about $2,000,000 high grade ore running from $100 to $300 per ton.

"The greatest feat of steam transportation of my knowledge," said C. E. Stockill, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, recently, "was the movement of the grain crop of 1922." From Sept. 1 to Nov. 31, a period of 91 days, the Canadian Pacific Railway loaded and shipped an average of 1,265 cars per day. This requires the dispatching of a train every 45 minutes during that entire period, carrying more than 1,000,000 bushels daily. This movement exceeded even that of the bumper crop year of 1915.

One of the many instances of the splendid work carried out at the Liverpool docks is afforded by the Canadian Pacific liner "Metagama." On a recent arrival at that port she started the discharge of her cargo and coaling at 6 o'clock in the morning. Allow me for the usual dinner hour, she took on board in her side bunkers 1,000 bushels of grain. This was completed by 2:45 the same afternoon. At the same time she discharged 1,700 tons of cargo, the greater part of which consisted of package freight, completing this operation by 7:15 the same evening.

NURSE AND BABE MEET DEATH AT LEVEL CROSSING
Kitchener, Ont., April 21.—A nurse Miss Ada Leyburn, and a little baby she tended for the last year and a half are dead as a result of a level crossing accident yesterday. The baby was Eleanor Lang, only child of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Lang, Jr., of this city.

Miss Leyburn stepped in front of the on-coming G. T. R. train from Toronto, when wheeling the child, and before she could get out of the way, the train crashed into her, tossing her to her death twenty feet away. The baby was thrown several feet, sustaining a fractured skull, which resulted in death last night.

The nurse, who was thirty years of age, came from England two years ago.

Precisely.
Frail Counsel—Now, sir, supposing I made a fierce rush at you and endeavored to knock you down. How would you describe my action?
Burlly Witness—I should say you was barmy.

THE BOOZE SITUATION.

Reformers are always plentiful and those who would fain bore the public with verbose and wearisome articles on temperance are easily found, and that is one reason why we have frequently refrained from attacking this over-popular subject. But the time for fastidiousness in taste is past. Conditions existing at present in Campbellton demand a little exposure and a good deal more attention than they are, or have been, receiving. We have, or had, three policemen on our local police force and two prohibition inspectors who are in town a great part of the time. Yet from all appearances drinking and traffic in the liquor business is rampant. Within the last two weeks two men temporarily lost their powers of reason right in our midst—evidently from excessive use of intoxicants. Only the other evening we saw two drunks staggering along the sidewalk. Those who are frequently out late at night report meeting different men zig-zagging their way home in an inebriate condition and many are the hotch parties that last into the wee small hours of the morning.

It would be laughable if it were not so pitiful when some of the supporters of prohibition quietly voice the conviction that everything is pretty quiet in the liquor business. Such glibbo words are a poor prop to the temperance cause. Of course everything is remarkably quiet considering what is going on. In this respect the liquor business reminds us of the planets. How steadily they function and yet what a tremendous task they perform. The liquor business is also carrying on a tremendous work and its damming influence is, as far as we can see, practically unhindered here by the arm of the law.

C. N. R. PRESIDENT PROMISES REMEDY

Montreal, April 23.—The question of extending the western boundary of the Atlantic Division of the Canadian National Railways from Riviere du Loup to Montreal will be given consideration by Sir Henry Thornton, president of the National line, in a delegation of the Maritime Provinces who interviewed him here this morning. At the same time, Sir Henry Thornton does not think that the Maritimes suffer any disadvantages through operations of the road, as the various regions are at present grouped. His explanation was that the original statement drawn up by the delegation at the conclusion of the interview. However, should any situation be disclosed indicating that the Maritime interests are adversely affected, Sir Henry said, remedies would be found and the matter adjusted.

BOND ISSUES ARE AUTHORIZED

The usual departmental accounts were passed.
The monthly report of Chief of Police Adams was read by Councillor Graham, and on motion was received and ordered placed on file.
Councillor Duncan submitted the account of Engineer Trotter who made an investigation of the various rivers as to the possibilities for hydro development. The bill, $670 was ordered paid.
His Worship asked—Coun. Moore to take the chair.
His Worship then submitted a resolution authorizing the issuing of $40,000 Town of Campbellton Town Hall debentures bearing interest at 5 1/2 per cent.
Coun. Graham asked if it was the intent by this arrangement to have the ratepayers vote on this bond issue.
His Worship—This is up to the council to decide but, personally he thought this would add needless expense.
Coun. Graham moved in amendment that the bond issue for the building and equipping the Town Hall go to the people.
The amendment was lost, Graham having secured a majority.
His Worship moved a resolution authorizing the issuing of $75,000 Town of Campbellton Permanent Street debentures at 5 1/2 per cent.—Carried.
Coun. Duncan said a request had been made by the members of the band for a room to practise in. He thought it was up to the Council to grant the request. The band is a good thing for the town.
Coun. Moore moved that the band be allowed the use of the town hall for such purpose.—Carried.
Coun. Moore asked what about a room for the Red Cross. A room was required for the District Health Nurse to hold clinics in. This was required every day. He did not think the Fire Protection Committee could furnish such a room. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.
Coun. Graham asked who was responsible for the leasing of the Town Hall.
After some discussion it was pointed out that the Bylaws say that the Education and Improvement Committee has control of such hall.
Coun. Moore spoke in favor of allowing the use of the Town Hall for meetings in the public interest free of charge.
Coun. Graham thought that all should pay for use of the hall.
Coun. Moore suggested that the bylaws be amended leaving the control of the Town Hall in the hands of the Mayor.
Coun. Moore spoke of the necessity of advertising the meetings of the Town Council or having a regular stated night of meeting, so that the ratepayers got onto the "wolves in sheep's clothing gentlemen" on town hall. He has been going ahead by leaps and bounds. Who are the former councillors who were wolves in sheep's clothing? Come out Mr. Tribune and name them. Surely not such men as Mr. Evans, W. S. Richards, W. H. Miller, A. McG. McDonald, C. A. Alexander, A. A. Andrew, John Harniss is also carrying on a tremendous work and its damming influence is, as far as we can see, practically unhindered here by the arm of the law.

A SORE HEAD

Mr. C. S. O. Crockett went to Fredericton while the legislature was in session to oppose the town of Campbellton bill authorizing this town to engage a town manager. He was patiently listened to by the Municipalities committee but the bill was passed just as drafted by the town solicitor, Mr. H. A. Carr. Some persons are unkind enough to say that Mr. Crockett's appearance at Fredericton assisted materially in the prompt passage of this bill. However, it passed and our friends are sore, sore as a boil, and proceeds to spread his bile all over his paper. So sore is he that he misrepresents matters in an endeavor to prove that he won out at Fredericton. Well if this pleases him it hurts no one. The bill as passed contains the same powers to Campbellton and has the same provisions as the Woodstock bill and that town found no difficulty in engaging a town manager. We presume that when the right man to act as town manager is found and the Council favors his appointment, he will be appointed, despite the ravings of the Tribune.

NAME THEM.

The Tribune asserts that "since our ratepayers got onto the 'wolves in sheep's clothing gentlemen' on town hall has been going ahead by leaps and bounds." Who are the former councillors who were wolves in sheep's clothing? Come out Mr. Tribune and name them. Surely not such men as Mr. Evans, W. S. Richards, W. H. Miller, A. McG. McDonald, C. A. Alexander, A. A. Andrew, John Harniss is also carrying on a tremendous work and its damming influence is, as far as we can see, practically unhindered here by the arm of the law.

PLEASANT SURPRISE.

Last night a large number of the choir and congregation of the Baptist Church went to the home of Mr. Henry J. Currie and gave Mr. Currie and his wife a pleasant surprise.
Mr. Currie has been leader of the Baptist Choir for some months and has rendered splendid service. This service he has given most generously. Mr. Currie, as well as other members of the choir, have been very faithful in their work.
The pastor, Rev. W. Camp, on behalf of the many friends of the congregation presented Mr. and Mrs. Currie each with a handsome and valuable chair. In presenting these tokens of appreciation he assured Mr. and Mrs. Currie that these gifts were but slight tokens of the good feeling of the people and of their sense of the indebtedness for the splendid service rendered. He expressed the hope that they might long be spared to sit together in these chairs and enjoy each others love and companionship. Mr. and Mrs. Currie were wholly taken by surprise. It took Mr. Currie a little while to recover from his sudden emotion but he soon was able to express his gratitude for this kind and thoughtful remembrance of Mr. Currie and himself. In well chosen words which he can always command. He declared that all the choir had accomplished was due to the individual members of the choir who had been most faithful in their service.
Mr. Eugene Savage spoke very fittingly, emphasizing the sense of indebtedness for the service. Each performed his or her duty in perfect faithfulness.
With all others who are seeking to build up the Kingdom of God. He assured Mr. and Mrs. Currie that the church appreciated their efforts as well as the faithful services of all the members of the choir.
After this the ladies served refreshments and a very pleasant evening was spent.
Through Mr. Currie's efforts the church has decided to stand by the choir and install in the near future, a pipe organ. With a fine instrument such as is proposed by the church, the choir hopes to render even better service than ever before.—Cor.

MISREPRESENTATION.

The Tribune goes out of its way in reporting the meeting of the Town Council to insinuate that the temperance organizations or the W. C. T. U. would be refused the use of the Town Hall by the present Town Council. Such a matter was never mentioned in the discussion during the Council meeting, but was manufactured by the Tribune's reporter.

"CLARENCE WAS" NOTABLE SUCCESS

Miss Nita MacDonald and Her Company Ably Presented Difficult Play.

The presentation of "Clarence," Booth Tarkington's famous comedy, at the Opera House on Friday evening last was the most skillfully proportioned effort in amateur theatricals which has been staged in Campbellton in recent years. The previous good work of Miss Nita MacDonald and her company of players led the thronging public to anticipate something really good and there is not the slightest reason to suppose that the performance fell even a little below their expectations.

The comedy itself was essentially different from anything that has been attempted here for some time. It's extremely life-like characters involved, they were, in almost ordinary situations demanded the most exacting work and study on the part of those responsible for their interpretation. The very simplicity of the plot added to the difficulty of putting the pieces over effectively. Unlike the usual comedy, replete with laugh-provoking situations and unusual complications which appeal to the irresponsibilities of an audience of varying taste through the mere fact of their ridiculous improbability, this comedy was a typical bit of modern Tarkington imagination told largely through the art of suggestion and occasional allusions to the accepted principles which apply to professional histrionic work. The lines throughout were free from obvious jokes and it is safe to say that many of the cleverest bits of dialogue, presented as they were through the subtle method of suggestion, passed unappreciated by many of those present.

"Clarence" is a play of the type which is now popular at the big houses and may be classified as being one more of argument than of action. It is laden with clever dialogue but depends for its successful interpretation upon deft characterization, convincing utterances, a finished versatility of mood and manner, the swift and easy change of expression for alternative light and emotional moments and a meticulous regard for the subtle interplay of conversational exchanges. It is a vehicle for professional and the verdict of those who saw it cannot be deduced solely through the application of the so-called "standards" of judgment which exist in the minds of the general public. When the facts above enumerated are considered, the difficulties which Miss MacDonald and her players had to contend with can be easily realized and their splendid performance more fully appreciated.

In his portrayal of Clarence, the chap who drove miles in the army without swearing, Lyman Gilker rose admirably to the possibilities of the role and gave a wholly satisfying interpretation of this original and amusing character. His lines were audible through and spoken with a naturalness which few amateurs achieve. As Violet Pinney, the governess, Rita Kerr was also splendid. Her task as leading lady was by no means easy but she carried over the more emotional moments with evident good judgment.

George Laprak was highly successful as Mr. Wheeler, a business man weighted down with family troubles. To his part he lent nobility, sincerity, a conviction born of natural acting and admirable balance throughout. As Mr. Wheeler's second wife Mrs. C. McClintock gave her usual fine performance. She portrayed the transitory characteristics of Mrs. Wheeler with pleasing precision and good judgment.

As Cora Wheeler, a vivacious young flapper, Winifred Delaney was most suitably cast. Her part was a difficult one but she met its requirements with apparent ease and her remarkable aptitude for sudden change of voice and facial expression added much to the success of her role. She skillfully realized the quiet humor of her lines and her delivery was a model of clarity and carefully modulated tone. In his interpretation of Bobby Wheeler, a grown up kid with troubles all his own, Lindsay Sullivan did splendid work. In portraying the boyish aspirations of this amusing character he showed remarkable ability and a fine regard for vocal inflection which is often unconsciously ignored by the amateur.

H. E. LeRoy in the role of Hubert Stann, "that old grumpy widower," discharged his responsibilities in a most creditable manner and was careful to maintain the dignity that his part demanded. As Della, the Irish maid, Mrs. J. C. MacDonald's efforts were entirely satisfactory. It is doubtful if her work could have been improved upon by any other player. Her ability qualifies her for much more prominent work in future. In the part of Mrs. Martin, Mr. Wheeler's private secretary, Ada Wren gave a very satisfactory interpretation of the role and thoughtfully maintained the quiet voice and subtle hedging of a competent, fastidious John Alexander performed his duties as Butler in a sufficiently capable way to win a positive commendation from the best families. He took his part with naturalness and ease.

Mr. F. C. Schurmeier who has repeatedly delighted and amazed here with his vocal ability, contributed two solos which were vividly received by all present. Lyman Gilker gave a particularly fine rendition of the "Yelling Song" which brought showers of hearty applause. The Russian Dance by Mrs. Ray Ferguson and Miss MacNeil were also splendid and well received. "Clarence" is to be highly commended for its serious purpose at the Hotel Dieu Hospital recently is able to resume his work as track master on the Q. & C. R.

BOARD OF HEALTH CONTRADICTS RUMORS ABOUT WATER SUPPLY

According to information received from the Board of Health there is no truth in the rumors that the carcasses of certain dead animals had been found in a tributary of the Walker Brook thus polluting the town's water supply. The remains of these animals were found but were at some little distance away from the brook so that there was no possibility of their contaminating the water. When discovered these bodies were removed a safe distance away where they will be buried before decomposition has set in. This information, which sounds much more rational than the above-mentioned conjectures, puts a very different face on the matter. Moreover the town has not been using water from the Walker Brook for several days as there is now a copious supply of clear sparkling spring water in the town reservoir.

A sanitary inspector has made several trips through the brook district referred to and no unsanitary conditions have been found in existence which might have polluted the Walker Brook up to this date. As a precautionary measure, however, residents in the vicinity have been ordered to remove all fish which might later find an outlet to the brook. The Board of Health has also issued notices with the warning that in the event of their failure to comply with these requests, legal action will be taken against them at once.

A SOLDIER'S BATTLE WAS THE YPRES SHOW EIGHT YEARS AGO

Some New Told Incidents of Fight in Which Canadians Held Their Ground With Inevitable Courage and Self Distinction.

Written Specially for the Canadian Press by O. P. Brothers, (1st British Columbia Regiment)

Much has been written in regard to the Second Battle of Ypres, which will ever live in the history of Canada.

Writing today—eight years afterwards, one realizes however, that the story of Ypres has still to be told. But the time is not yet and all one can do is to record faithfully some of the happenings during those eventful days.

The first impression that comes to mind is the fact that on the Monday before the battle, that is on April 19, a German deserter came into our lines and when examined stated that the enemy were preparing to launch a gas attack.

The French Command had always insisted upon absolute lack of movement, and in consequence working parties were not encouraged. There were no trenches behind, and no strong points. In short, the position was most vulnerable.

On Monday morning Father A. Godbout said his first mass at the Hotel Dieu Chapel while Father J. P. Levesque preached the morning sermon.

opposite. One other instance will show what odds these gunners faced. Major W. B. M. (now Brigadier-General) King was supporting the men of the 14th Battalion on Friday, and when the German rush had for a time succeeded, and when the enemy, advancing in mass formation, were almost on the top of his guns, he, with superb audacity, sighted his guns at point-blank range, and deliberately waited for the Germans to come on. When they were within 200 yards, then, and then only, did he open fire on his target, a living mass of grey coats.

The Higher Command, including the Divisional staff, had little or nothing to do with the direction of affairs and had it not been that Generals Currie, Turner and Mercer, and their men rose to the occasion, General Smith-Dorrien's fears might have been realized. For instance, so obscure was the position on the night of the 22nd that the artillery were ordered by the Divisional staff to retire, and had only returned to their positions just before daylight, when it was realized that the 2nd and 3rd Brigades were holding.

For four days, the Canadian battalions stuck it out almost on their own, although, of course, reserves were behind them.

The counter-attack was made by the 10th Battalion, under Lt.-Col. R. Boyle, a lancer from Calgary, supported by the 16th Battalion, commanded by Lt.-Col. R. G. E. Leckie, Mining Engineer, of Vancouver. No more daring feat was performed during the war.

Early Electrical Storm Does Damage at Nova Scotia Town.

Yarmouth, N. S., April 22.—Three houses were struck by lightning here Saturday evening during a very severe storm which lasted about two hours.

Not a Gun Was Lost

Although the bulk of the attack usually fell on the infantry, the artillery had a most difficult task, as the British army. In fact, he would not have been surprised if a general retreat had occurred. He had pictured the troops trying to get away across the heath, but that was not to be.

OUR DISAPPEARING FOREST RESOURCES

Drastic Cure Suggested by Canada's Veteran Lumberman.

Ottawa, April 23—When a man has reached the age of 97 years, and has spent his lifetime in intimate touch with forests, his opinion on the value of forest fire protection is invaluable. Mr. John R. Booth, the Ottawa lumber veteran, when asked for his views on the subject, is quoted as saying: "I can see no other remedy for the ever-increasing ruin of the forest resources of this country except to let the people bring themselves to such a tragic condition of scarce timber and pulpwood with extreme costs for every foot or cord they buy that some drastic cure will be sought and applied. Forest conservation will arrive when the absence of it pinches our population hard enough."

Mr. Booth was further asked: "Running back over your life as an operator, what proportion of trees of timber size have been taken out by the axe as compared with those destroyed by fire?"

"I would say one to twenty. That's well within the mark."

"So that fire eliminated Canada would have had a self-replenishing forest supply for all time to come?"

"With the large limit holders that would undoubtedly be true. The nation had been forced to the edge of a timber dilemma not by the lumber-jack but by forest fire."

With the ripe experience of John R. Booth and of a vast number of other operators as a guide, Canada is asking that special precautions be taken to guard against forest fires and has proclaimed the week of April 22 as a "Save the Forest" week.

It might safely be said that there is no industry independent of forest products, Canada is not asking too much of her people that they be careful with fire in the woods.

C. N. R. TO INSURE OWN PROPERTY

Resolution Passed in Dominion Parliament on Friday to Provide for This.

Ottawa, April 20—The House today adopted a resolution to enable the Canadian National Railways to insure their own property. The resolution was introduced by Hon. G. P. Graham, acting Minister of Railways.

Mr. Meighen said that he had no objection to the plan for the National Railways to carry their own insurance and was astonished at the reason the Canadian National railway system was not to be insured.

The insurance, he said, would be very little profit in the scheme for some years. A bill based on the resolution received first reading.

In reply to a query by Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Opposition, as to the experience of the government railways in regard to insurance, Mr. Graham said that the practice of buying insurance from companies had been profitable to the insurance companies.

The International line that the company would save three-quarters of a million a year by carrying its own insurance. The International had had no insurance, but a small sum put aside for this purpose annually had covered all the fire risks.

The Grand Trunk had also a surplus from its fire fund; and with the International and the Grand Trunk funds combined, as Canadian National Railways would have a nest egg of $2,000,000 to begin with.

WOLFVILLE TO HAVE TOWN MANAGER

G. S. Stairs Chosen for the Position.

Wolfville is setting the pace for Nova Scotia by appointing Mr. G. S. Stairs, A. M. E. I. C., to the position of engineer and town manager.

Mr. Stairs is a graduate of the Nova Scotia Technical College and before entering municipal work had considerable experience in hydro electric development in the west. In British Columbia he was employed on the Stave Falls development, near Rastin, and afterwards with the International Joint Commission on the Lake of the Woods investigation.

During the war he served with the Canadian Engineers, and since that time has been on the City Engineer's staff at Halifax.

In this new position he will have charge of all the usual municipal work and also the electric distribution system, which is owned by the town.

DEAR OLD HOME TOWN.

A farmer who was carrying an express package from the city mail order house, was accosted by a local merchant. Why didn't you buy those goods from me? he asked. I could have saved you the express and besides you would have been patronising a home store, which helps pay the taxes and build up this locality. With characteristic frankness, the farmer replied: Why don't you patronise your home paper and advertise? I read it and didn't know you had the goods I have here, nor do I ever see your name in the paper inviting me to come to your store.

E. Sullivan says:—

Talking about records—Mr. Robertson of the McLaughlin Co., left Montreal at 10.40 A. M., enroute for Niagara. Was running an E. 45 McLaughlin, four years old. He stopped for dinner, crossed the St. Lawrence at the Thousand Islands and ran until supper time, filled with gas, ate a hearty supper and proceeded on his way arriving home at 1.30, covering 450 miles. Was not running to make a record. If Mr. Robinson had run four days he would have covered at least 1800 miles, and he did no blowing.

NATIONAL HOSPITAL DAY

What the Day Signifies—Public Are Invited to Visit Public Hospitals.

Although hospitals have existed in one form or another for hundreds of years, until two years ago no one ever thought that it would be a good idea for them to get together with their communities and become better acquainted. The vast majority of the hospitals and the hospitals running on a 24 hour, 365 day year basis had too much to do trying to take care of the sick to wonder what the public thought about them. In 1921 however, the National Hospital Day originated, and that year 1500 hospitals threw open their doors to their communities, held demonstrations of apparatus, nursing procedures, graduation exercises and in other ways tried to show the public what they were trying to do. Last year about 3,000 hospitals held programs and this year about 6,500 will be in the movement.

Matapedia

A bean supper was held at the home of Mr. Octave Gallant Thursday in aid of the R. C. Church. The sum of $39.00 was realized. Miss Paturle was in town Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. John McNaughton of Millstream spent Monday in Matapedia. Mr. Jas. Delaney spent Saturday in Campbellton. The weather has been much finer these last few days and is beginning to look like spring. Miss Mary Delaney returned on Thursday to Normal School to resume her studies there. Mrs. John Harvey and Mrs. Sam Irvine were in Matapedia Saturday. Mr. Joseph Dolron has returned home after spending sometime in the States. The marriage of Mary Ethel Pratt of Matapedia and William Blaquiere of St. Alexia, took place at Matapedia on Wednesday, April 18th.

THE PROPER SPIRIT.

Henry Ford has had his Detroit factory surveyed to find out how many jobs can be satisfactorily performed by men maimed or otherwise handicapped. And 10,000 positions have been discovered—670 that legless men can manage, 10 that blind men can fill and even two where armless men can do the necessary work.

SOUGHT TO LYNCH CONDUCTOR OF CAR

Montreal Crow Incensed With Horror at Tragic Death of Boy.

Montreal, April 23.—Frenzied with horror at the sight of the unrelieved sufferings of a boy of two and a half years, Haimie Dinnerman, who had fallen across the car lines on St. Lawrence Blvd., last night: as a speeding car rushed upon him, and who lay unscathed, Montrealers were incensed to the point of lynch. The crowd which had gathered at the spot of the tragedy, made repeated efforts to lynch the conductor of the car, and only the courage of its occupants, who formed themselves in a solid mass to resist the capture of the car, in all probability saved the captain's life. At the risk of being beaten to death he succeeded at last in rushing over the rails to a nearby shop, the owner of which at once locked his doors and notified the police. The crowd which by then many hundreds strong, besieged the shop and might have effected an entrance, but the arrival of a strong squad of police, who used their batons freely, saved the situation. The conductor got into the car and rushed it from the scene of the tragedy, what had nearly been a double tragedy.

HOSPITAL SIX HUNDRED YEARS OLD

Founded in London in Reign of Henry I. and Still Carrying On.

London, April 23.—Few institutions can rival in antiquity St. Bartholomew's Hospital, which this year is celebrating its eight hundredth anniversary. The hospital was founded in 1123, in the reign of Henry I., and among its earliest patients were English lords and Norman squires, who went to get relief for their arrow wounds. The story of the hospital is the story of progress in surgery and medicine. When it began patients were dosed with powdered snails and confections of adlers, bats and earth-worms. Many thrilling incidents have marked the existence of St. Bartholomew's. The Black Death and the Great Plague crowded its limited accommodations, and both added materially to the medical knowledge which, as the year advanced, was being gathered within its walls. Hogarth, the great painter, served the hospital as a governor, and his painting of the Pool of Bethesda hangs on the great staircase. Of this picture, doctors say it is possible for any medical man to diagnose the different ailments of the patients, so faithfully did Hogarth depict them.

A PROMPT FREIGHT SERVICE FOR FISH FROM MARITIMES

Improved Service for Atlantic Coast To Montreal and the West. Montreal, April 23.—Assurance of prompt freight service was given recently to a delegation from the Canadian Fisheries Association, which was headed by G. T. Bell, assistant to J. E. Dalrymple, vice-president of the Canadian National Railway, to prepare a request for improvement of the Atlantic coast to Montreal and thence to western ports. After considerable discussion, Mr. Bell said that as a result of the conference he could promise that the fast freight service on the Canadian National Railways running on a schedule of 66 3-4 hours from Halifax and 72 hours from Mulgrave, N. S., to Montreal, would be kept as far as was possible running strictly on schedule time.

Ottawa, April 21.—The summer programme for H. M. C. S. Patriot has been arranged so that this vessel may be in Montreal on the 7th of June where the ship's company will take part in the naval and military tournament. At Quebec training will be given to the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve officers and men of that city. The ship will also call at Gaspe, Campbellton and Chatham. It is expected that the Patriot will arrive at Charlottetown about the 27th of August where training will be given to naval volunteers. Baddeck, Sydney and Pictou are also included in the list of ports to be visited. The Patriot will be present at Pictou on the 18th of September to take part in the celebrations being held there, after which she will return to her base at Halifax.

OBITUARY

Miss Lila Sullivan. Newcastle, April 21.—After an illness extending over a year, Miss Lila Sullivan passed away at the home of her mother, Mrs. Daniel Sullivan, about seven o'clock Thursday evening. Deceased, who was a most popular young lady, was stricken about a year ago with bright's disease which was the cause of her demise. She was 21 years of age and is survived by her father, G. T. Bell, assistant to J. E. Dalrymple, vice-president of the Canadian National Railway, to prepare a request for improvement of the Atlantic coast to Montreal and thence to western ports. After considerable discussion, Mr. Bell said that as a result of the conference he could promise that the fast freight service on the Canadian National Railways running on a schedule of 66 3-4 hours from Halifax and 72 hours from Mulgrave, N. S., to Montreal, would be kept as far as was possible running strictly on schedule time.

MARITIME NEEDS TO BE URGED

Action Taken by Nova Scotia Legislature. Halifax, April 22.—The resolution of H. W. Corning, Conservative, asking for a referendum in Nova Scotia on the question of secession of the province from the Canadian Federation, was defeated in the House of Assembly, Saturday when only two members stood for it, while a majority, comprising all the Liberals present, 14 to 4, was given an amendment moved by Hon. E. H. Armstrong that the House should stand by Confederation and exert its might in obtaining cheaper interprovincial transportation, in development of the foreign trade of Canada through Canadian Atlantic ports, and the renewal of efforts to secure a reciprocal trade agreement with the United States and freer access to the markets of the world for the products of the Dominion.

Canadian Home Meat Markets Limited

Head Office: Halifax, N. S. Limited
Branches operating at Dartmouth, Moncton and Fredericton
Further Branches to be opened throughout the Province.
This purely Maritime Company after being in business for thirty years in Halifax, has now branched out for the purpose of opening High Class Sanitary Meat Markets in every live town of the Maritime Provinces, not only to enable the general public to have their meats handled in the most up-to-date manner, combined with a first class delivery service, but also to encourage the raising of live stock by the Maritime Farmer. The High Class Meat Stores will provide a local market outlet, and it is the Company's intention to develop export trade in the near future. There being a good market for cattle and hams abroad especially in the West Indies.
It is the aim of Canadian Home Meat Markets to keep the whole of the profits in the Maritime Provinces. On this account under their Charter of Incorporation they only have Four Thousand Shares to issue. The majority of these have already been taken up principally in Halifax, Moncton and Fredericton, where the Company has a large number of Shareholders, among them being some of the most prominent men in these cities. IT HAS BEEN SUGGESTED THAT A SIMILAR MARKET WOULD BE APPRECIATED BY THE PEOPLE OF CAMPBELLTON, and the Company's next store is therefore planned for this town. Mr. Thomas C. Thornton, Fiscal Agent is staying here for a short while and during his visit a LIMITED NUMBER OF SHARES WILL BE OFFERED.
The Company's capitalization is as follows:—

Preferred Shares [Par Value, $50.00].....$200,000
Common Shares [Par Value, $50.00].....$100,000
With every four shares of Preferred at Par, a subscriber is allowed to take one share of the Common for $10.00.
A Dividend of 7% payable half yearly on February 1st and August 1st is paid on the Preferred Shares, thus making these an attractive investment. After further development of the Company the Preferred Shares will be redeemed at $52.50 leaving the entire profits of the Company to be distributed over the Common Shares of which there are only Two Thousand to participate.
Due to conservative expansion throughout the Province, shares are being sold and capital raised simply and solely for the purpose of opening further stores so that the profits can be increased proportionately. This opening of stores is not an experiment as the Company is being requested to give the public a high class meat service in the respective cities.
The Shares are strongly recommended not so much for the 7% at present being paid, on the Dividend, but for the fact that when it is anticipated will shortly be available over the Common Shares after the Preferred are redeemed.
It is felt that the taking of Shares apart from being a first class investment is the support of a straight and legitimate Proposition, one which has the endorsement of prominent men in the Province, among them being the Minister of Agriculture.
ENQUIRIES AND APPLICATIONS FOR SHARES MAY BE SENT TO CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE, CAMPBELLTON.
A number of shares have already been taken here since this announcement first appeared last week.
The local issue however is STRICTLY LIMITED and on this account early allotment is recommended.

Sporting News of the Week

Best Rookie Bet With the Braves

Johnny Cooney.

The majority of the critics looking over the Braves in training at St. Petersburg, Fla., opine as how Johnny Cooney, Southpaw star acquired from the Eastern league, is just about the money's limousine. When it comes to looking good on the mound Cooney has the edge. He won 19 and lost 3 games for New Haven last year.

Maritime Men for the Olympia Team

St. John, N. B., April 23.—Discussing Maritime Provinces candidates for the coming Olympic games here with P. J. McQueen, of Toronto, chairman of the Canadian Olympic committee, on Saturday, A. W. Covey told of the Maritime branch plans. The names of Belyea, German, Miller, McDonald, Mooney, Smith, (Halifax), Francis and Lapierre were mentioned.

Sumner Trophy Award Expected

Decision by the trustees of the Sumner Cup as to the possession of the trophy as a result of the 1923 hockey season has not yet been made, the latest advice is to the effect that something definite will be known this week. F. Roy Sumner, of Moncton son of the donor, the late Frederick W. Sumner, and H. W. Wood, of Sackville, are the only trustees the place held by the late Colonel Harry F. McLeod upon the board never having been filled. The delay in making a decision is explained by Mr. Sumner in a letter in which he states that more than a month elapsed from the time the colleges were asked to give their versions of the squabble over possession of the trophy until the questionnaires were returned. Mount Allison University has not only repudiated responsibility for the protest against awarding the trophy to U. N. B., but has also publicly stated its official view to be that U. N. B. should be declared the winners. King's College, after the decisive manner in which they were beaten by U. N. B., can have no doubts as to where the trophy belongs and U. N. B. naturally would not object to taking the trophy if King's College. Three of the four colleges eligible for the competition are thus accounted for and it is impossible to see how the trustees can logically do anything else than award U. N. B. the Sumner Trophy. It is not unlikely, however, that the trustees will take steps to take a more specific control over competition for the Sumner trophy as a result of the situation which arose last winter and it is also expected that the membership of the Board of Trustees will be completed at an early date.

Belyea Declines

St. John, N. B., April 23.—Hilton Belyea on Saturday declined an invitation to row at Washington on June 6th against G. Gude.

Jack Stultz Goes to Moncton to Reside

Jack Stultz, who figured on the Fredericton Hockey Club's team in the N. B. and P. E. I. League last winter as a substitute player, and who has been one of the John Palmer Compy's team in the Fredericton Commercial League for the past two seasons, left on Saturday for Moncton, where he has accepted a position and will reside.

Junior Ramblers Trim the Bankers

In what was really the closing event in local hockey this season the Rabbit-town Ramblers defeated the fast Banker squad here recently and thus qualified for a position in the local league for next season's series. As can easily be imagined the match was fast and closely contested. With the speedy Bankers giving their usual fast clean exhibition of hockey the Ramblers were obliged to put their best into the game. This they did and the result was one of the liveliest games in junior hockey seen here this year. The match was also one that tested the endurance of the players for it consisted of one straight period almost an hour in length. In the opening minutes of play the Bankers kept up a steady and aggressive bombardment of the Ramblers goal and despite the efficient performance of Frowl and Young on the defence line, LeBlanc was beat out three times in succession although he neatly stopped several dangerous shots. But this three goal lead did not dampen the ardour of the Ramblers. Their steady work soon began to give them an advantage in the territory play and it was only a matter of minutes until they got the rubber past Bourquin for the first time. This evidently heartened the whole squad for from then on they exhibited surprising speed and broke through with two more successful shots in rapid succession, thus tying the score. At this juncture the Bankers began to pick up again and made numerous fast rushes almost getting the puck through to their opponent's net but the Ramblers' defence line was now impregnable and these repeated rushes were frustrated with amazing regularity. Then with a final burst of speed the Ramblers broke through at an opportune moment and sagged the Bankers twins for the winning goal.

Eastern League to Start

Harford, Conn., April 24.—With the teams apparently well balanced for a tight pennant race the Eastern baseball league will get under way tomorrow for the 1923 championship season. Many changes have been made by the eight clubs since the close of last season, with a view to strengthening their respective teams. In progress since its organization and field will play at Harford, Worcester at Pittfield, Bridgeport at New Haven and Waterbury at Albany. The schedule calls for a season of 154 games, with September 23 as the closing game.

41,500 Seats for Giants Opening

New York, April 24.—While the work at the Polo Grounds will not be finished by Thursday afternoon, when the Giants open their season here against the Braves, there will be 41,500 seats. There will be 35,000 seats in the grand stand and 5,500 in the bleachers. When the work is finished there will be seats for 54,000. This year there will be an innovation in the form of two classes of bleacher seats, the old fashioned 55 cent kind and the newer 75 cent variety.

LADY LARKSPUR

By MEREDITH NICOLSON

Illustration of a woman's face.

CHAPTER I

"The Troops"

"It was here," said Seaside, "that I should spend a year writing a play for a woman only to find that she had vanished—jumped off the earth into nowhere. This was my highest flight. Singleton, the best writer I ever did, and after the vast pains I took with the thing that earned me a woman I never saw could possibly act it is unavailable; worse than that, absolutely undecipherable. Nobody knows I have this script; I've kept quiet about it simply because I'm not going to be forced into accepting a star I don't want. I have a feeling about this play that I never had about my other things. The public has been so kind to my small offerings that I'm trying to lead 'em on to the best I can do; something a little finer and more imaginative, with a touch of poetry, if you please. And now—"

He glared at me as though I were responsible for his troubles. As he knew I had been flying in the French aviation corps for two years and had just been invalided home, I didn't think it necessary to establish an alibi. Fate had been kind to Dick Seaside. In college he had written a play or two that demonstrated his talent, and after a rigid apprenticeship as scene-shifter and assistant producer he had made a killing with "Let George Do It." Fate had earned enough to put him at ease and make possible an upward step into straight comedy. Even as we talked of his comedy house was laughing at his exit. "Who Killed Cock Robin?" just around the corner from the invention of a rejected playwright to cover the non-appearance of a play which nobody would produce.

"That's it always a mistake to write a play for a particular star?" I suggested. "Seems to me I've seen a number where that is among the best-selling sins of our playwrights."

"Old stuff, my boy; but this isn't one of those cases where I had in mind for this play wasn't a star, but a beginner, quite unknown. It was when I was not the inventor of a rejected playwright to cover the non-appearance of a play which nobody would produce."

"I'm not a beginner, quite unknown. It was when I was not the inventor of a rejected playwright to cover the non-appearance of a play which nobody would produce."

"I'm not a beginner, quite unknown. It was when I was not the inventor of a rejected playwright to cover the non-appearance of a play which nobody would produce."

of my two years on the battlement I was just so much ahead of the friends I met in New York who were answering the call to the colors and had their experience of war before them. The straight life that had been recommended by the doctors was not only possible at Barton, but it was the only life that could be lived there. My leisurely manner to employ in beginning a novel that had been teasing me ever since I sailed for home.

Of my uncle I had only the hazy and most grateful memories. Quite naturally it had occurred to me at times, and my friends had encouraged the idea, that my uncle would die some day and leave me his money. There was no particular reason why he should do so, as he had never manifested any unusual affection for me and I had certainly never done anything for him.

Antoine was at the Barton station with the touring-car Uncle Bash had bought to establish communication with the village. Flynn, the big Irish man who had been the doorman at the Tyringham for years and retired because of rheumatism acquired from long exposure to the elements at the hotel's portals, was at the wheel. Antoine greeted me with that air of lofty condescension tempered with a sincere kindness that had made him a prince among head-waiters. As I shook hands with him his lips quivered and tears came to his eyes.

I bade Antoine join me in the back seat that he might the more easily bring me up to date as to affairs on the farm.

"It must be a little slow up here after the years you lived in town," I suggested, "but of course you're all old friends."

"Well, yes; all friends," he acquiesced, but with so little enthusiasm I looked at him quickly. He pretended to be absorbed in the flying landscape at the moment. Flynn, I noticed, was giving ear to our conversation from the wheel.

"It was sad, very sad, Mr. Bashford passing away so far from home, sir. It was a great shock. And he had looked forward for years to a quiet life abroad."

Antoine's speech was that of a well-trained English upper servant, and I imagined that in his youth he had taken some English butler as his model. He spoke with a French accent, but he knew French very imperfectly, and I was surprised when he now addressed me quite fluently in that language.

"You have been with the armies of dear France," he remarked. "The war is very dreadful. My parents were of Verdun. It grieves me to think of the suffering in the land of my people."

As I replied sympathetically in French I saw Flynn strain his ears at the wheel with an impatient frown of his head. Antoine indicated him with a contemptuous nod. "Marry the German woman who worked in the linen-room at the Tyringham! This had caused some trouble, and she is a pretty girl. Gretchen, who was ill for a long time before the master left, and he sent her here for the country air. She is a little devil with her dear Fatherland."

I laughed at the old fellow's gravity and returned to the quiet car on the quiet acres at Barton-on-the-Sound was absurd.

I was pondering the recrudescence of race hatreds due to the upheaval in Europe when he started me by a statement uttered close to my ear: "These have been inquiries for the widow; these have caused me much anxiety. It seems that there are persons anxious to see her. There have been inquiries, one—two—three times."

"Probably some of her American friends anxious to pay their respects, or some of the neighbors making calls of courtesy," I suggested.

A foreign gentleman who acts very queerly," Antoine retorted.

My uncle's widow was a vague, unknown being whom I had never expected to cross my horizon. If she had had no tidings of her beyond her last communication from Bangkok. Still, it was wholly possible that a globe-trotting widow would have been in many parts of the world, and I could see nothing disturbing in the fact that inquiries had been made for her. I said as much. Antoine's answer was another shrug and a jerk of his head toward Flynn, who was then engaged in an alien tongue might conceal our conversation from the big Irishman. When we had reached the farm and were running through the grounds Antoine spoke again.

"We thought we would put you up at the house, Mr. Singleton, if she had been in the garage," he said inquiringly.

"Not at all, Antoine," I answered quickly. "We must stick close to the law in such matters."

"Very good, sir. Stop at the garage, Flynn."

To the casual observer the garage was a charming two-story house following the general lines of the plaster and timber residence, from which it was separated by a strip of woodland and a formal garden. The garage and quarters for the chauffeur were at one end and at the other were a down-stairs living-room, with a broad fireplace, and three chambers above so placed as to afford a charming view of the Sound, whose shore curving about the farm, was visible from the point. On the chauffeur's side was a small kitchen with a sink and a stove, and with my meals when I lodged there.

"The house is in order. You will have your meals at the residence, I suppose, sir," Antoine suggested.

I debated this a moment and when he hinted that dinner could be more conveniently served there than in my own quarters, I said that for the present the Flynn might give me breakfast and luncheon at the garage, but that I would dine at the house.

It was five o'clock when I reached the garage, and Antoine left me after opening my bags, with the suggestion that I could summon Zimmerman, a former valet of the Tyringham, for any service I might require. I knew Zimmerman very well and said I would call him when occasion required.

"He is of that race," said Antoine indignantly in the French which now seemed to come readily enough to his lips.

"Have? Boisterous? You mustn't trust the valet about race questions and he's Antoine Zimmerman is a good old chap, who's probably forgotten the very name of the German town he was born in."

"You cannot forget," Antoine replied with emphasis. "There has been much discussion—much—"

"Forget it, Antoine! I supposed you were all living here like a happy family. Please tell them at the residence that I'll dine at seven."

"Very good, sir," he said in his pompous manner, but I saw that he was puffed by my indifference.

Flynn, having disposed of the car, came to ask if there was anything he could do for me.

"Tony's against the wire and me," he said mournfully. "It's the war, sir, and she and me that'll, sorry, the American flag floats from the garage every day. And if a boat can be like, that's as true to America as though she was born in Boston state."

"I believe you, Flynn," I said, touched by his nervousness. "Don't you worry about Antoine and the rest of them; they're just a little nervous; I'll see what I can do to straighten things out."

As I went about my unpacking I was sorry that I had discouraged Antoine's confidences. That these old hotel servants, dung upon a farm with little to do, should fall to quarreling was not surprising, but what he had said as to the inquiries for Mrs. Bashford had roused my curiosity. In spite of my legal right to live on the farm, I had no intention of relinquishing my my uncle's widow turned up. She could hardly fail to regard me as an intruding poor relation, no matter how strictly I kept to my own quarters.

I whistled myself into good humor as I whistled and started for the house along the driveway, which followed the shore, veering off for a look at the sunset garden one of the few features of the place that had ever interested my uncle.

As I passed on the steps I caught sight of a man sitting dejectedly on a stone bench near a fountain, whose jet tossed and caught a ball with languid iteration. I had identified him as an old Tyringham bell-hop, known familiarly as Dutch, before he heard my step and sprang to his feet, grabbing a pitchfork whose prongs he presented threateningly.

"Oh, it's you, sir," he faltered, dropping the implement. "Excuse me, sir!"

"What's your trouble, Dutch? You're not expecting burglars, are you?"

"Well, no, sir, but things on the place ain't what they was. It's my name, which ain't my name, no registrar, an' I'm campin' in the tool-house. An' me born right there in New York an' American class through. My grandpa came across when he was a lad, but it ain't my fault he was Goldman. Mr. Singleton, I don't know no Goldman except pretzel, sauerkraut, wiener wurst, and them kinds of wooks."

"Those belong to the universal language, Dutch," I answered consolingly. "What is your name, anyhow?"

"Augustus Schortemeyer, and I say it ain't no wooksen Longfellow," he protested.

The point was delicate and not one that I felt myself qualified to discuss. I bade him cheer up and passed on.

As I reached the house I heard a sharp command in an authoritative voice and saw at a glance of the driveway a number of men in military formation performing evolutions in the most sprightly manner. They carried broomsticks, and at sight of the commander brought his company to a very ragged "Present arms!" Their uniforms were that of the Tyringham bell-hops and waiters, and it dawned upon me that this was an armed protest representing the Allies.

There was a dozen of them, and the captain I recognized as Scotty, a troop who had long worn the Tyringham livery. I waved my hand to them and turned to find Antoine awaiting me at the door.

part of the adventure. Am I to assume that you've burned your play and that the incident is closed?"

"Oh, I didn't burn it; I have a copy locked in a safety vault, and Dalton left one heavily sealed at a small exclusive London hotel where, he found that and from parades it was lodged during her two engagements."

"You're morbid," I said. "Show me her photograph."

He laughed broadly. "Never a chance, Singleton. You haven't yet got the idea that this young woman is out of the ordinary. She refused to be photographed—wrote it into her two contracts that this was not to be asked. I never saw her off the stage, and I can't give you a description of her that would be of the slightest assistance to the keenest detective alive. In that pantomime she was a troll, the clown's daughter, and although nobody saw it, she was the whole piece, the elusive sprite that could evoke laughter and tears by a gesture, a lifting of the brows, a grimace. By utterly different methods in 'Honorable Women' she proved her wide range of appeal. Here was the one true characteristic in the piece. When Terry was in her prime you remember how we used to say that only one bird sang like that, and after a rigid apprenticeship as scene-shifter and assistant producer he had made a killing with 'Let George Do It.' Fate had earned enough to put him at ease and make possible an upward step into straight comedy. Even as we talked of his comedy house was laughing at his exit. WANTS TO HELP OTHER WOMEN

Grateful for Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for backache and for weak and dreary feelings caused by my condition. Sometimes I felt so bad that I couldn't do my housework. My neighbor told me of your medicine and I read about it in the 'Toronto Telegram' and thought I would take it. I got very good results. It built me up and I have told several friends what it has done for me. You may use this testimonial as it may be of help to some one who has suffered as I have."—Mrs. J. Lee, 28 Harvie Ave., Toronto, Ont.

Mrs. Lee is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from such troubles, and answer any questions they may like to ask.

Women suffering from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, pains, bearing-down feelings and weakness should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. DALHOUSIE'S BOY SCOUT TROOP

Scout Movement Here Very Progressive—Summer Camp Being Planned For.

Dalhousie has what is believed to be the only Boy Scout organization on the North Shore. This troop carries on its work under the direction of Scout-Master Major Grimmer and registered Assistant Scoutmaster T. C. Goodspeed who were responsible for its organization. Two other gentlemen who are actively interested in the movement are W. A. R. Cragg and the Rev. R. J. Coleman. These two workers together with Mr. Goodspeed who is secretary-treasurer, form what is known as the Troop Committee.

The first Dalhousie Boy Scout Troop was organized in November of last year and although only a comparatively short time has elapsed since its inception, the organization has a good enrollment. All members as yet are in their tender-foot class. Second class courses, work has been done and the boys have also taken up considerable signalling and ambulance practice.

The organization has its Troop Colors which are maroon and brown. The patrol colors are light blue and scarlet and are worn on the shoulders. The patrol also owns its own flag which is in natural colors and has chosen the sea-gull as its emblem of patrol.

At the next meeting of the organization the boys will appear in their Scout uniforms for the first time. A hike to the woods in the near future is being planned for and on this tramp the scouts will be instructed in camp-fire-lighting and cooking. The Troop is also at work on a concert and entertainment to be given next month and this event is being anticipated with much pleasure by those who are familiar with the work and aims of the Boy Scout movement. Plans are also made for a one week's summer camp this coming season and the boys are looking forward to this wonderful outing with keen interest.

Valuable Organization.
Those who are interested in boys work and have the time devoted to it took very commendable steps in organizing the Boy Scout Troops here. As a society or club for boys it is probably without equal in its splendid opportunities for good clean sport, valuable instruction in woodcraft, nature study, animal life and numerous other subjects which are of both interest and value to boys. The system of physical instruction and most important of all its splendid discipline and training in the principles of self-reliance, self-control, duty to others, "fair play" in work or sport and the other indispensable rules which tend to curb the wayward tendencies of the robust, normal boy and develop him into a man of sterling character and real worth who will become not only a useful citizen, but one who will be a power for good in his community.

Four-Sided Programme.
Then there are other boys organizations which have been tried in different places but for some reason or other the undertaking has fallen through. A mistake is often made in trying to stuff lively growing boys with technical knowledge from books or religious training. These things must have their place if a well-rounded man of the right sort is to be the result, but the practical and also the useful side of the boy's life must be given attention as well as the devotional and educational if his interest is to be maintained. The programme of the Boy Scout Troop provides for all these different branches of boys work in a most admirable way.

Useful instruction from books, its place and is implanted in the youthful mind all the more clearly because of illustration through practical demonstration. In this way the boy is never wearied with a struggle to assimilate dry technical knowledge alone for all this valuable instruction is made colorful and interesting through the rules that the organization employs. For instance, if he is given a lecture on the various kinds of trees or plants, this information which would naturally bore the youthful mind, is proven and illustrated through a tour of inspection through the woods. On such a trip the boy sees for himself that what has been told is really so and what his eyes have seen his mind will more easily retain. Then there is the health-giving exercise connected with such hikes which cannot be over-estimated.

Walking is the natural exercise and one which tends to strengthen not only the leg muscles of the growing boy but also the heart, and indirectly, other organs of the body. There are other points connected with this part of the scout programme which have a valuable developing faculty for the boy. One of these is the strengthening of his powers of observation. On these hikes through the country and woods in search of particular species of plants or trees the youth's powers of observation are unconsciously developed and this constitutes a training which will be of inestimable value to the boy in later years.

As has been stated the scouts here are getting up a concert. This is another side of scout work which constitutes splendid training for the youth. Debates, plays, speeches or effort along this general line call for initiative and offer fine intellectual

The Season's Promise in Sport

In conversation with a few of the sport promoters in Dalhousie our representative learned last week that there will soon be some definite developments in sport matters there. Arrangements are now pending for a suitable field for baseball games and other outdoor sports which will take place during the coming season. It is also quite likely that Mr. Trudelle will place the rink at the disposal of those who are interested in tennis as he did last season. If this is the case a tennis club will likely be organized in due season.

It is understood that those behind the sport movement will call a meeting this week or next and begin the initial arrangements for the organization of a baseball club. It is to be hoped that at the meeting some provision will also be made through the appointment of officials for an Athletic Committee by which due attention may be given to other branches of sport such as basketball. There is surely enough material in the shire-town to organize at least a moderate sized track team and if this was got under way it would provide considerable sport and entertainment. It should be remembered that many robust young chaps are more interested in running, jumping, etc. than in baseball and in order to enlist all the boys as members of the Athletic Club, it will be advisable to have the programme include sports activities which will appeal to all.

It also helps to develop the boys' imaginative powers and does much to awaken that heaven-sent gift which is so often allowed to die dormant, namely, creative ability, which is a valuable asset in any calling. In regard to the spiritual or devotional side of the scout programme, this very necessary element has the making of useful citizens in carefully blended with the other activities of the organization and is sure to inculcate in the minds of the boys a higher reverence for good and not only a proper distaste for anything wrong but also a splendid code of conduct which will inspire not only confidence but respect.

The leaders of the scout movement here have expressed surprise that no similar organization for boys exists in Campbellton.

Happenings of The Week

A whist party was held at the home of Mr. Theophile Nadeau here last week under the auspices of the Catholic Woman's League.

The winter reads throughout this district are breaking up rapidly. Travelling is a pleasure and a thorough process for both man and beast.

The ice in the river here is still apparently quite safe, heavy drafts from the Quebec side crossed over to town this week.

Flocks of geese are frequently seen and heard flying over town in a north-westerly direction.

Mr. Clifford, proprietor of Clifford's Pharmacy here will, in a week or so prepare his ice-cream parlor for the summer season.

Mr. George Mercier has been appointed Registrar of births, deaths and marriages for the County of Restigouche. Mr. Mercier succeeds Miss Kate Phillips who recently resigned.

Divine service was held in the churches on Sunday evening at 6.30 p. m. instead of the usual hour of seven o'clock owing to the fact that no electric light was available as the result of the accident at the power house on Saturday morning.

Much excitement was aroused on Monday night when volumes of smoke and outbursts of flame were seen issuing from a chimney on the house of Mr. G. S. Grimmer. The fire was extinguished by quantities of salt, however, before any damage was done to the building or its contents.

With the revival of the usual summer activity Mr. Trudelle states that he will be prepared to cater to the public in so far as their confectionery requirements are concerned. He will shortly set about to prepare his place for the summer's business.

Saturday night the rink was opened to skaters for the last time this season. Considering the date there was remarkably little water on the ice. Owing to the accident at the power house no electric light was available but the manager, Mr. Trudelle, improvised a lighting apparatus which solved the problem very well.

Many people in Dalhousie are wondering whether there will be any steamer service down the coast this season. There have been rumors concerning this matter but whether there is any truth in them or not has not yet been ascertained. This is something, however, which is worthy of the attention of any party or individual who may bring any influence to bear on the matter.

A delegation consisting of W. S. Montgomery, D. G. Stewart, W. F. Hamilton, Herman Groux, the Hon. Pius Michael, left on Monday for Ottawa where they were favored with an interview by the Hon. Minister for Marine and Fisheries. The matter for discussion was the amount of the fee for salmon fishing. The delegation was highly successful in their efforts, and are to be congratulated on the result of their visit to the capital city.

The Dalhousie Graphic Meets With Favor

The page in the Graphic which has recently been devoted to Dalhousie news is meeting with much approval by subscribers here. So far however, very little advertising space has been taken by our local merchants, but it is hoped that as soon as summer industries revive all those doing business here will use some space. It will doubtless prove a source of additional business as many people here seem to have the habit of reading the advertisements of Campbellton merchants and going there to do some shopping which could be done here.

If the local business houses go in for some advertising even on a small scale and keep us advised each week of their offerings in different lines this will be a service which the majority of citizens will appreciate.

In regard to local news many people have the idea that there is nothing of interest happening here. Of course this is a quiet place, especially in winter, but there are many little items which, when collected each week by our news carriers, give everyone a personal solution. We would like to mention every girl who'd be so thoughtful, I can tell you."

DALHOUSIE ELECTRIC PLANT DOWN

Generator Destroyed by Fire Last Saturday Morning—Single Unit Plant.

Many citizens here were rudely aroused from their slumbers on Saturday morning last at about 2.45 when the fire siren suddenly broke the stillness of the early morning. The cause of the alarm was an outbreak of fire at the power house where the dynamo wires had been discovered to be short-circuited.

Before the flames could be extinguished the generator was completely destroyed and as a result the town has been without electric current since Saturday morning as the Warden Gagnon, from Madawaska plant is a single unit one. Consequently lamps and kerosene oil have been much in demand. Saturday for illegal possession of deer meat occurred last week at St. Leonard's, hurrying many people could be seen with lamp globe in preparation for what from St. Leonard's, implicates two young men who were discovered with the carcass of a deer.

Game Act-Violations.
Another report of illegal killing of deer has been made to Chief Game Warden Gagnon, from Madawaska county. This violation of the game regulations follows a recent conviction of illegal possession of deer meat secured last week at St. Leonard's, hurrying many people could be seen with lamp globe in preparation for what from St. Leonard's, implicates two young men who were discovered with the carcass of a deer.

Learning Party.
"New children" said the Sunday-school teacher, "can you tell me of a greater power than a king?"
"Yes, ma'am," cried a little boy sagely.
"Very well, Willie, you may tell the class," replied the teacher benignly.
"An ace, ma'am."

The Eldest.
Mr. Vicar (meeting father and son)—
"Well, my little man, are you the eldest of your family?"
"No, father, I."

Which Made a Difference.
Wife—I don't see why you never use me for a model. My first husband always did.
Artist—Yes, my dear, but your first husband was an illustrator of comic papers.

ONE DEAD
THREE ILL IN BOSTON HEAT

Temperature Reached 87 at Hub on Sunday, Making New Record for April 22

Boston, Mass., April 22—One man died here and three others collapsed here yesterday as a result of the seasonable heat. The thermometer reached 87 in the afternoon, the highest temperature recorded here on an available for the town's use, and it is possible that the pumping at the well will not have to be resumed for there will soon be an adequate supply in the McNish brook. If spring continues to make steady progress.

Some difficulty was experienced in locating a generator of suitable size for the plant here. No time was lost however and it was soon learned that one of the proper dimensions could be acted in about a week's time.

At first the situation presented a rather serious aspect for, owing to the complete lack of electric power, the pump at the artesian wells, which have been supplying the town, with water since last fall, naturally ceased to operate and it was feared that within twenty-four hours the temporary water supply would be completely exhausted. Nature, however, effected a timely reserve and averted this contingency which doubtless would have caused unlimited inconvenience as well as most serious trouble in the event of an outbreak of typhoid.
