THE HOUSE IN THE WOODS. The Hague, June 15.-It is now expected the peace conference will not adjourn before the middle of July. But there is an additional question of the acceptance by the powers of the decisions adopted by the conference. The delegates who desire to see some tangible result accomplished by the conference recognize that if the members are contented with simply transmitting the decisions to their respective governments, the work of the delegates will simply be pigeon-holed in the various chancellories of Europe, and will not be executed. Therefore the delegates have resolved to adjourn their sittings as soon as their work is completed, and to submit the result to their respective governments, and that the delegates have power to sign a definite document.

IN THE MURPHY ASSAULT CASE

The Jury Could Not Agree on a Verdict.

A Burglar's "Billy" Figures in the Proceedings-Accused Bailed to Appear at Next Court.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON. The June county sessions of the peace resumed in the afternoon at 1:45, Judge William Elliot presiding. The assault case against Scott and Castle occupied the whole afternoon.

The grand jury brought in no bill against John Stanfield, an East End youth charged with having assaulted a special constable in the employ of the street railway company.

James Murphy, complainant in the case against John Scott and Charles Castle, swore that he went to the car stables on the day the assault is alleged to have taken place, May 24. Murphy said he was walking down Lyle street, in company with three other men, when the defendants, who were standing in the doorway of Maker's livery stable, called him 'seab," and other names. He left the other three men at the corner of Dundas and Adelaide, when Castle came up behind him and struck him a nasty blow on the back of the head. Castle again hit complainant on the face and also on the body. Complainant had a headache for some days from the effect of the blows. Somebody called 'Police!" and the defendants started off at a lively clip, north, on Adelaide street. Policemen Johnston and Egleton went after them.

Judd, cross-examining-How many times have you been up at police

Mr. Murphy-I cannot tell you. Mr. Judd-What charges have you been up for?

Mr. Murphy-For hanging around the streets. Mr. Judd-Why were you laid off from the street railway company for a month at New Year's? Murphy refused to answer this ques-

Mr. Judd--You were a member of the union at last strike?

Mr. Murphy-Yes. sir. Mr. Judd-Did you ever give these men any cause to trouble you?
Mr. Murphy-No, sir.

Mr. Murphy-To protect myself. Oliver Pannell sworn, said that both men had called "scab" after he and Murphy, in company with two nonunion men named Dawson and Reeder passed. Witness saw Castle and Scott following Murphy down Adelaide street, and then lost sight of them. Cross-examined, witness said ther were four or five men in front of Maker's livery, but he only took notice Castle and Scott.

John Reeder swore to about the same story as the previous witness. Cross-examined, witness said he saw the men running, and thought they were after Murphy.

Mr. Judd-Why didn't you go to Murphy's assistance? do Mr. Reeder-Had no reason to Detective Egleton sworn, that he saw the defendants on Lyle street. Constable Johnston and he were standing on the corner of Elizabeth and Dundas streets, and Castle and Scott were standing close by. He heard defendants call "scab" after the four non-union men. When Scott and Castle disappeared on Adelaide street, he, in company with P. C. Johnston, started to run in that direction. He saw Murphy standing at the edge of the sidewalk Castle and Scott were standing facing Murphy. When they saw him (Egleton) coming the defendants took to their heels. Policeman Johnston jumped on a wheel and went after Castle, and captured him at the corner of Princess avenue and William street. Scott was arrested the following day. Cross-examined, witness said he did not see the alleged assault. He heard no actual threats made. Constable Johnston, sworn, saw the defendants on the morning of May 24, at about 9:40. He was in company with Detective Egleton. He had chas-ed and captured Castle, who offered cross-examined, witness said all he heard the defendants say was, "I have no use for these — scabs."

Mr. Meredith—How far were you from the men when this remark was made?

P. C. Johnston-About twelve feet. Mr. Meredith-Could you swear that one of these men made this remark? P. C. Johnston-I cannot. Mr. Meredith-Did you take any names of persons who saw the alleged assault? P. C. Johnston-I did not. Mr. Meredith—And why not?

P. C. Johnston—I did not think it

This closed the case for the crown.

THE DEFENSE. George Castle, one of the defendants, sworn, said he had lived in London for over twenty years. He was employed by the M. C. R. as a teamster. He had never been charged with any offense in the police court. He was married and had one child. He, in company with Scott, had gone to Dreaney's livery to hire a horse, but all the horses were out, so they proceeded to Maker's livery on Lyle street, to try and procure a rig. He saw the complainant Murphy pass, but said nothing whatever to him. Mr. Judd-Did anyone cry "scab" after Murphy?

Mr. Castle-I believe the crowd did. Mr. Judd-Did you go up Adelaide street with the intention of following

Mr. Castle-No, sir. Mr. Judd-Were you in any way connected with the street railway company?

Mr. Castle—No, sir, in no way. Mr. Judd—Did you strike Murphy? Mr. Castle-I never raised a hand to

Mr. Judd-What did Scott do? Mr. Castle—He struck at Murphy, who continued to flourish this leaden Cross-examined, defendant told the same story in every particular. The leason he ran was that numerous other persons had scattered and ran. John Scott, the other defendant, sworn, stated that he worked on the M. C. R. He had lived in London three years. Previous to that he had been a farmer in Westminster township. He corroborated Castle's statement. (Scott) was a married man with one child, and lived on Dufferin avenue. He had only used the word "scab" once that day, and did not assault Murphy. Cross-examined, defendant swore he had used no obscene language to Murphy. His evidence was not shaken.

Charles Eggett, an East End youth, employed at Leonard's boiler shop, swore he saw Castle and Scott on Dundas. Did not hear them call 'scab.

Mr. Judd-Did you see Murphy turn down Adelaide street. Witness-Yes, sir.

Mr. Judd—Did you see Scott and Castle come up with Murphy? Witness—Yes, sir.
Mr. Judd—Did either of defendants strike Murphy? Mr. Castle—No, sir. Mr. Judd-You can positively swear

Witness-Yes, sir. Mr. Judd-Did you see Murphy strike

Witness-I did, sir.

Cross-examined, witness said there were about 15 or 20 people present when the police arrived. The reason he had gone to Adelaide street was that he had been standing with a num-ber of others at Dreaney's livery, when Mr. Dreaney told them to take a walk, as too large a crowd was con-gregating. He had seen the two defendants go into Dreaney's livery and enter the office. He had never been up at the police court. He did not know the defendants personally.

Frederick Smith was with Eggett, and saw the defendants overtake Murphy. He saw Murphy draw his "billy" and hit at Scott. Smith corroborated the evidence of the previous witness.
Cross-examined, he stated that he had not cried "scab." or in any way interfered with the non-union men. He saw defendants, and did not hear them cry anything after Murphy. Wm. McRoberts was with Eggett and

Smith. His story was practically the same as that of the two previous witnesses.

This closed the defense. Mr. Meredith, in addressing the jury, said the defendants were respectable citizens and were in respectable posi-If the men were convicted they would lose their positions, and their wives and children would suffer. How could a body of men convict a man on the evidence of a miscreant like Murphy? "Could it," be said," asked Mr. Meredith, "that an honest man would carry such a weapon as this loaded "billy?" Is it from the evidence of such a man that you would convict honest citizens? God help any man if he is convicted because he runs away. I admit it was not a prudent thing to do, but most people would do the same thing under the circumstances. The two defendants and three young men have all sworn that Murphy committed the assault. Can you take Murphy's word against these men? No corporation has any right to interfere with unions. God knows we need unions in these days of combines and trusts. Labor is continually being crushed. I say God help the men of the country if they cannot form unions in an endeavor to get fair

County Crown Attorney Magee said Murphy was a British subject, and was earning his honest day's pay. No one had a right to interfere with him. He thought Murphy was justified in carrying the loaded "billy," as he was afraid of bodily harm from strike sympathizers.

Judge Elliot, in charging the jury, said that people had no right to in-terfere with others who wanted to work. It was a piece of tyranny that men should prevent others from working because they refused to work themselves. The fact that the defendants had run away was the strongest kind of evidence that they were guilty. It was a cowardly and sheepish act.

The jury then retired to consider the evidence, and after an hour's deliber-ation failed to agree. They stood nine for acquittal and three for conviction. The jury was discharged, and the accused were bailed to appear at the next court of competent jurisdiction.

West Huron Election Case Adjourned to Toronto

For the Testimony of a Witness Named Linklater.

Voters Who Claim to Have Received Money-A Number of Charges Abandoned and Dismissed.

Goderich, June 15 .- The third day of the West Huron trial began yesterday at 9:30, and William Young, of the township of Colborne was the first witness. He was examined as to organization in his township, and gave the names of persons who went from there to be present at the nominating convention. At Smith's Hill he introduced one John Wilson to a stranger named Brown, who said he was working up the P. P. A.'s to vote for Gar-Charles Stuart, of Colborne, and Thomas Elliott, said they had a drink of whisky with Brown in the latter's room. Both witnesses were Conservatives, and had voted before the drink. John Wilson, of Colborne, also had a Brown drink on election day, but was promised nothing for his vote.

Nathaniel Boggs, the hotelkeeper at Smith's Hill, was the next witness. He remembered Brown staying at the hotel. Brown got no liquor on polling day, but some days before he did. He got a bottle one time, and he treated over the bar.

Mr. McPherson contended that an offense against section 170 of the elections act had been established, viz., the giving of intoxicating liquor in a tavern on polling day, and asked to have charge 33 amended by adding the name of Brown to that of Young.

Mr. Watson opposed this. When the court resumed after lunch there was some further argument, and the court then allowed the amendment asked for by Mr. McPherson, with leave to the respondent to give further evidence. Mr. Garrow was then called as a witness on his own behalf, and denied any personal knowledge of Brown. He said he understood now that Brown was simply to canvass P. P. A. votes. Judgment was reserved upon the question of the effect of the evidence as establishing an offense against section 170 subject to the right of respondent to give further evidence.

NOT PROVEN.

George Jardine, of Goderich, said he voted at the election. Proudfoot asked him to vote for Garrow. Witness said he did not know. Proudfoot asked him to go over to the British Exchange Hotel in Goderich and wait, which witness did. Proudfoot came in presently with a stranger. Witness went into a room with the stranger, who handed him $2 and asked him to vote for Garrow. Witness afterwards voted.

Mr. Proudfoot was called in answer to the evidence. His account of the matter was that Jardine spoke to him and asked for money for his vote. Mr. Proudfoot said: "We have no money, and turned away. That was the whole conversation. Did not ask Jardine to go to the British Hotel, and did not see Jardine at the hotel; did not see a stranger speak to Jardine at the hotel; it was not true that, directly or indi-rectly, he had to do with buying Jar-

The court held that this charge was not proven. Four more charges were dismissed in quick succession, no corruption being proven.

Mr. M. C. Cameron, barrister, Goderich, said he spoke in the riding at Mr. Garrow's request. He was introduced to Capt. Sullivan, whose photograph he recognized. Witness had graph he recognized. Witness had never contributed to "Club Blazes" or the "Sons of Rest," and was never in their rooms. He went to the club on polling day, without going inside, and asked some of the members to vote for

Peter Wylie, Joseph McMillan, Mur-doch McGuire and Donald McPhail, members of the club, all denied having received any inducements to vote.

The club charge was therefore dismissed. Charge 34 was also dismissed and charges 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, and 41 were abandoned. Charges 43, 44 and 45 were likewise thrown out. Alfred Marriott, of Wingham, voted at the election. Before the election a man knocked at witness' door about 2 o'clock in the morning. The man showed something in his hand when he opened the door and told him to vote for Garrow. Never saw the man before or since. It was a $2 bill he left. Someone was standing out in the street.

Witness kept the money.
Cross-examined, witness said he made no promise, and this did not influence

John Rogers, a Wingham voter, was at the Queen's Hotel at Wingham on the night of the 6th of December, and met John T. Linklater, who told him to stand at the back door. He went there, and a stranger stepped up, with whom he went out to the shed. The stranger gave him a $2 bill and told him not to forget Garrow. Did not know the man at all, but gave a description of him and recognized a photograph.

Cross-examined, witness said that Linklater said nothing about the election.

Thomas E. Gray, of Wingham, an engine driver, said that on, the night of the 6th of December, about 9 o'clock, he met Walter Vanstone on the street. Vanstone asked which viay he would vote. Witness said he would vote for Beck unless he got money. Vanstone said he would meet witness between 1 and 2 o'clock at his oven house and satisfy him, but he did not do so. Cross-examined, the witness said he was joking. He would not have taken the money. He did not get any money in the election. John McLeod, of Wingham, met Linklater before the election about 9 o'clock in the evening. Linklater said nothing about the election, but told him to meet a man in the street at a certain place, which witness did. The man gave witness $2 and told him to vote for Garrow. He did not see the man well, and could not recognize a picture.

Cross-examined, witness admitted that he was sworn at the poll. He said he did not receive the $2 for his vote, for "it never changed his vote any." A number of charges were then dismissed or abandoned.

Mr. McPherson contended that the payment of Mr. Guthrie's expenses was illegal practice which would affect the result. Judgment reserved as to this The evidence was then concluded, with the exception of that of Linklater, which is to be taken in Toronto next Saturday at 10 a.m. The court then hear any application that may be made.

(Special to The Advertiser.) Guelph, June 14.-The Londons defeated the Leafs today in a fair exhibition of ball-playing. Cooper, the south-paw, was rather invincible.Grimshaw, however, found him for a homer, and Damoth for three singles. The latter twirled a steady game for the home team, but suffered on balls and strikes, from Umpire England. This individual is acknowledged to be a fair man in that position, but his decisions today against the home team were costly and very bad. Even the visitors themselves could not but admit England was wrong, particularly in two decisions, one a bunt of Frank's, which rolled towards LeRoy a clear foot in foul territory. The fielder, knowing it was foul, picked it up and threw back to the pitcher easily. Black was threatened to be put out of the game for questioning his decisions. The other was Carey being called out at first on an apparently safe hit.

London Adbertiser. [ESTABLISHED BY JOHN CAMERON IN 1862.]

Managing Director John Cameron

London, Thursday, June 15, 1899.

It is a waste of paper and ink to send anonymous letters to The Advertiser, particularly letters making attacks on people. They will not be inserted in hese columns for love or money, The Advertiser considering them unfair to those attacked, rightly exposed to the suspicion of being fictitious, and regarding them as an insult to the intelligence and courage of the reader. Nor will reading matter advertise-ments be inserted in The Advertiser (unless where the subject matter shows them to be obviously advertisements), without distinctive marks, such as "advt.," or asterisks, or the like. That has been The Advertiser's rule since its foundation.

Sir William • Van Horne's Retirement.

Sir William Van Horne, in resigning the presidency of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has not taken off his official harness, but merely intends to draw a lighter load. He will continue in the active service of the great corporation of which he has been the controlling mind for 18 years. Sir William Van Horne is only 56 years of age-remarkably young, considering his stupendous achievements. He took hold of the C. P. R. in its early and troublous days, when the system was in a fragmentary condition, and the immediate prospects were not radiant. Under his constructive genius, the C. P. R. has become one of the greatest railway systems of the world, a vast consolidation, an organic whole, with telegraph and steamship branches, the former extending over the whole Dominion, the latter connecting Canada with the Orient, and building up our eastern commerce. When the fast Atlantic steamship service is established, whether under Government or C. P. R. auspices, another link will be forged in the chain of empire, and Sir William's conception of a passenger at Euston station, London, buying a ticket straight through to Hong Kong, on an all-Canadian route, will be realized. Financially, the C. P. R. has passed through its doubtful days. One has only to look at its stock quotations to see that. Truly, Sir William Van Horne may well regard his railway career as already crowned.

During his strenuous life-he has been in railway work since he was 14 years old-Sir William has cultivated more than one side of his nature, and has the happiness often denied to successful men who have been absorbed in one occupation, and can find nothing to take its place when they leave it. Sir William is an art connoisseur with few equals on the continent. It is said he would have been a great art- new Potter printing press, with a capahape the heavy cares of business.

Mr. T. G. Shaughnessy, who sucyears of age, and like Sir William Van Horne, began railway life in early the C. P. R., he has been Sir William's right-hand man for years, and has had his chief's thorough confidence. If Mr. Shaughnessy's ability had not already distinguished him, Sir William's testimonial would be sufficient.

Toronto Conference and the Trackmen's Strike.

The action of the Toronto Methodist Conference, in passing a resolution of sympathy with the striking trackmen by a vote of 125 to 16, shows that new Influences are touching the church. The few ministers who opposed the resolution doubtless sympathized with the men in their hearts, but felt the Conference was treading on alien ground. The pulpit should be careful not to weaken its authority by rashly dogmatizing on secular issues; but in this particular case the facts are clear, and if the clergy think there is a moral principle involved it is their duty as well as their right to speak. A body like the Toronto Methodist Conference should be able to judge whether it is in the nature. of oppression that men should be obliged, as the trackmen were, to work for 98 cents per day. The timidity of organized Christianity in approaching questions like these deepens the impression of the toiling masses that the church is an institution for and that the pulpit must adapt itself to its smug surroundings. Many ministers, earnest and zealous men, feel these conditions and regret that they the comfortable and the well-to-do, these conditions and regret that they do not come into closer contact with the men, even of their own congregations, owing to the barrier which the average man's vocation places between himself and his pastor six days in the week. The latter, as a consequence, moves almost entirely among the women and children of his flock. He is thus deprived of the larger and more practical experience of the world, which only association with men in the world can give. It may be said that the church should only concern itself with what is purely spiritual and theological. But the highest Christian thought now teaches that the church must project itself into the social movements of the age if religion is to remain a vital force and not be stranded while the roaring tide of life sweeps by. Evidently the Toronto Methodist Conference does not think that Christianity can be divorced from the socio-

Busy Britain.

A contemporary, which doesn't like the British trade policy, alleges that Great Britain is being left helplessly in the rear in supplying the nations of the earth with steam engines. Is she? The evidence does not show it. Since 1894 the old land has more than doubled her exports of railway locomotives. The trouble at present in Great Britain is that in every department of industry her manufacturers are overcrowded with orders. The last report of the American Iron and Steel Association thus explains the reason why orders that were offered to British manufacturers at a low rate of contract have been let come to this side of the Atlantic: "The British manufacturer is in arrears with orders, and is unable to fill new orders at any price where reasonably prompt delivery is expected."

This is corroborated by Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, president of the Grand Trunk Railway. Sir Charles was asked by a Montreal reporter the other day if the danger to British commerce through foreign competition was as threatening as was reported. Sir Charles replied:

"Oh, I would not be alarmed at all about the situation. When people have more work than they can do, you have a situation that need not cause anxiety. I do not think the case is one of non-adaptability, so much as a case of too much to do. The activity in Great Britain is phenomenal. The railways show in increased returns the wonderful prosperity of the country. Every industry is taxed to its utmost capacity. If some orders have been given abroad, there is no help for it, because the shops and yards, working at their full strength, are unable to keep up with the work. That is all there is in the case. Yes, there has been some complaining as to the loss of work which formerly was undertaken by British firms, but this does not indicate a permanent loss of trade. It means simply a great congestion of business, which renders it impossible for the moment to catch up with When the shops are working orders. at their full strength, and are still unable to fill home orders, outside work will have to go elsewhere, for the time being, but we do not set that down to non-progressive methods or lack of adaptability to modern needs."

What Others Sav.

No Reaction,

[Montreal Gazatte.] The British Board of Trade statistics for May show an increase in foreign commerce of over $40,000,000. There are no signs in that of the reaction from the period of expansion being at hand.

To Many Laborers.

[Simcoe Reformer.]

The Hamilton Conference declines to accept any candidate for the ministry, presumably for the reason that the present supply exceeds the demand. Times have changed since the Master uttered the words: "The harvest truly is great, but the laborers are few."

No Slander of Methodist Church.

[Hamilton Herald.] Quebec never developed a public man who was less of a bigot on racial and religious lines than J. Israel Tarte. individually, but the Methodist Church collectively is not thereby justified in making war upon Mr. Tarte.

The Advertiser's Rule.

[Toronto Weekl; Sun.] Honor to whom honor is due! It is due to The London Advertiser for making it an undeviating rule not to insert reading matter advertisements without some distinguishing mark, unless when the subject matter shows them obviously to be advertisements.
The practice of admitting reading matter advertisements is not honorable to the press. An expert sees through the trick.

The Value of Franchises.

[Denver Post.]

For years American cities have been preyed upon by corporations operating under public franchises. These franchises, given away by careless and corrupt public servants, have been sources of common revenues to the fortunate corporations which secured them. Until very recently the value of these franchises was not appreciated by the general public. The immediate result of it been to fix firmly in the public mind the salient fact that these franchises are valuable to the public, hence recompense. The remote result is a stimulation of thought in the direction of public ownership of such utilities,

The Blow at Canada. [Springfield (Mass.) Republican.] American lumbermen and sawmill men went to Washington and persuaded congress to give the Canadian lumbermen a solar plexus blow in the shape of high Dingley duties on sawed and finished timber. But logs were left free of duty. That was all right—no robbery about that. It operated only to take work from the Canadian mills and give it to the Michigan mills. But when Canada stops the export of saw logs and turns them through the Canadian lumber mills instead, to help Canadian labor, that is "highway rob-bery." It is not robbery for us to attempt to deprive Canadian labor of natural advantage in respect to the United States market, but it is dis-graceful robbery when Canada attempts by the same means to recover that natural advantage.

The tariff is a game which two can play at, and to a less self-righteous and altogether perfect people than ourselves it would appear that Canada was playing our own game with a good deal of skill.

CONFERENCE

A Sharp Discussion on State of the Work.

Owen Sound, June 15 .- The Toronto Methodist Conference concluded its business Tuesday evening. every respect the gathering has been most successful, and profuse have been the praises of Owen Sound's co-operation and liberality. STATE OF THE WORK.

There was a long discussion on the state of the work. It expressed moderate satisfaction with the indications of prosperity. Only 150 members was the result of a year's labors over the wide district of the conference. The fear was expressed that the churches were depending too much on methods which, successful in the past, are not sufficient to meet present day conditions. Catechumen classes were recommended and boys' brigades commend-

Rev. Dr. German said one cause of so few members on the year's work was the removal of young people to the cities. They received letters to Toronto churches, which, to a large extent were never used.

Rev. C. E. Manning justified the re-ort. He did not believe in concealport. ing facts, however humiliating, or in crying peace, peace, where there is no

Rev. Dr. Blackstock praised the honesty of the report. Still it was discouraging. There was a screw loose somewhere. (Applause.) Instead of shielding ourselves from adverse criticism we should know the worst, not live in a fool's paradise. (Applause.)

Mr. C. R. Parsons said the most crucial point was the abnormally small increase of members. The membership had for years been steadily declining. The clause was referred back.
Dr. Ogden deprecated any reference which seemed to reflect on "evangelists" and to give the impression that their day of usefulness has gone. Members had not been lost through evangelists' preaching, but by defective working of the church. He moved an addition to the report commending the employment of professional evan-

Rev. R. N. Burns said to adopt Mr. Ogden's amendment was a reflection on the pastors. Rev. Dr. Blackstock said pastors were ready to preach about anything and everything rather than justification by faith.

Rev. Mr. Hincks was very frank. There was, said he, practically a decrease in membership. The increase was not on a par with the increase of population. Of the 159 increase, 118 came from Toronto. How great an increase this was could be estimated when this 118 increase had to be divided among 29 churches in Toronto. Rev. Dr. Eby was a candid friend.

"One reason of the lack of success is that we preachers are not anxious for

Rev. Mr. Rankin-Most of us, I am afraid, are aiming at being great preachers rather than successful evangelists. I will allow no evangelist to take my place as a pastor. (Applause.)

On a vote only two or three members Supported Dr. Ogden's amendment.
On the clause deprecating entertainment instead of devotion in churches, especially on Sunday evenings, Rev. Dr. German chivalrously defended the noted musical services in Elm Street Methodist Church, Toronto.

Rev. J. G. Bishop—In some of our churches in Toronto there is a greater effort to entertain people than to instruct and save them. (Applause.) There was a long discussion respect-

No Best Day or Night. Sufferings Beyond Description. Dwindled to a Skeleton. All Thought would Die.

Mother Reads of Wonderful Cure by DUTIOURA. Father Goes 5 Miles to Get It. Instant and Grateful Relief.

plete Cure in Nine Weeks, and Not a Sign Left to Tell of His Awful Sufferings

My baby had a terrible breaking out all over his face and head, extending half way down his back, while his arm became one solid, scaly, bleeding sore. A physician gave me a prescription which I used, but he kept getting worse, and suffered beyond description. The pain became so intense that he had to be put under opiates. We could get no rest, night or day. He dwindled down to a mere skeleton. Everybody who saw him said he would surely die. As a last resort a trip to the country was suggested, that the change of air might do him good. As soon as my mother saw the child she got a copy of an Atlanta paper, in which there was an account of a wonderful cure Cuticura Remedica had wrought on a two-year-old child. My father started to the nearest drug store, which was five miles, and purchased CUTICURA (ointment), Cu-TICURA SOAP, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT. We applied as per directions putting plenty of the CUTICUEA on his head, face, arm, and back. The child slept for over two hours that night, improved daily, and in nine weeks from the time he started on the CUMICURA REMEDIES we were able to discontinue their use, and not a sign is left to tell of his awful sufferings.

ing the church committee's commendation of boys' brigades.
Rev. Mr. Bishop said: Boys' brigades are contrary to the spirit of Method-We turn aside from our true work when we enter upon the military training of boys. Enough, perhaps too much, is done in the public schools to develop military spirit. I am not decrying loyalty, I have a military record myself. (Applause.) Still I fail to see any necessity for boys' brigades in Methodist Sunday schools.

Rev. Dr. Stone championed the brigades, as also did Rev. G. R. Turk and

Rev. C. E. Manning. Rev. Mr. Johnson-We preach peace and pray for disarmament, are professed followers of the Prince of Peace, and then, forsooth, we want military drill in boys' brigades. The church parades in Toronto are a curse to our boys. (Applause.) Rev. R. N. Burns—Boys' brigades are a stepping stone into the ranks of the volunteers. If the same zeal were applied to junior leagues as to boys' brigades there would be no laments of decreases in membership.

Rev. G. B. Turk moved that boys' brigades be under Epworth League management. This was defeated and also the original clause. Thus practically the Toronto Conference disapproves of boys' brigades in connection with Methodist churches.

The Cattle Quarantine for Tuberculosis Discussed.

The Yukon Postal Service-Militia Estimates Blocked-London Letter Carriers.

Ottawa, June 15 .- Good progress was made with the supplementary estimates yesterday, a number of items being passed in supply. The postal service to the Yukon, the enforcement of quarantine, the disposition of animals affected with tuberculosis and the improvement of the navigation in the St. Lawrence were the topics of discussion. Before going into supply Mr.Mulock read a letter from Mr. McLaughlin, giving a denial to the charges made against him in the house a few days ago by Col. Hughes, in connection with claims made by his clients against the government for compensation owing to the flood of their lands. Col. Hughes followed with a reiteration of the charges.

LONDON LETTER CARRIERS. Mr. Beattie asked: Are the letter carriers at London required to walk, and not allowed free transportation on the street railway? 2. Are the letter carriers of Kingston, which has about half the population of London, provided with free transportation? 3. Does the government intend increasing the salaries of the letter carriers where they would have been had not their increases been stopped? 4. Will they receive their increases that have been stopped, in a lump sum, or how? 5. How many men are temporarily appointed to the postoffice at London? 6. Is the government aware those temporarily appointed men are If you have any tub butter to offer, let us near from you. Will buy any quantity from allowed no holidays?

Mr. Mulock replied: Transportation by the street railway to the full extent required by the public interest is provided at the expense of the department for the letter carriers at Lon-don and Kingston when on duty. The estimates show the increase proposed by the government. Nine men have been temporarily appointed in the postoffice at London. The government is not aware that any temporary appointees are not allowed holidays. On one of the Yukon items Mr. Bennett asked Mr. Sifton if Mr. J. W. Willison, crown timber agent, was a cousin of Mr. J. S. Willison, editor of the Globe. Mr. Sifton replied that he did not know. Mr. J. W. Willison had been employed on the Globe before he was appointed timber agent, and from the fact that the name was choice, $5 50 to $5 75; common to an unusual one he presumed that he r, $4 25 to $5 25; sheep, choice to exthough he had never been told so. Mr. Taylor asked if his training on The Globe fitted him for the duties of crown timber agent. Mr. Sifton replied that mixed medium and heavy; the bulk of the sales were at $3 90, with a couple the work of timber inspection. In an swer to further questions, Mr. Sifton said that he did not think Mr. J. W. Willison had been recommended by Mr J. S. Willison.

Upon the item for postoffice, Mr. Mc-Dougall (Cape Breton) renewed his complaint with reference to the return of parcel mail matter from Victoriaddressed to Dawson City.

Mr. Mulock reiterated his explanation made when the matter was brought up before, that the department was unable to forward any mail matter other than letters during the winter months, and the parcel in question had been returned by the post-master at Vancouver in his discretion and without instructions. A contract had been entered into for carrying mail of all descriptions during the season of navigation.

This led to a long discussion on the Yukon postal service. Mr. Mulock alluded to the difficulties experienced in providing a mail service when the country was just being developed. At first a monthly service was given, by an arrangement made between two departments, the service being performed by the mounted police under an arrangement made in 1897, which continued through the winter of 1897. 98. This service was continued until September or October, 1898, when it was changed from monthly to fortnightly, and that was until the pres-ent time, unless the contract for a weekly service by the water route has already been commenced.

MILITARY ESTIMATES. Dr. Borden's estimates were then taken up, as the minister desired to catch the night train for Niagara. Mr. McDougall had a complaint about some admissions to the military school at Fredericton, and no progress had been made at 10 o'clock, so the min-ister was compelled to leave without his estimates. In his absence the opposition refused to pass items even for the annual drill, and the postoffice estimates were again taken up. The remaining items for postoffice, also those for penitentiaries, arts, agriculture and statistics were passed.

QUARANTINE FOR TUBERCULOSIS Upon the item for cattle quarantine for tuberculosis, a discussion ensued upon the method of enforcing the law. In reply to questions, Mr. Fisher stated that his department had adopted the policy of not ordering the destruction of animals which are found to be diseased with tuberculosis when ed. The animals are quarantined, and it is left to the owner to determine whether the animal be slaughtered or not. If it is kept alive, however, it is kept in quarantine and not allowed to come into contact with others. In reply to Mr. McMillan (South Huron) Mr. Fisher said that the percentage of diseased animals found upon last year was 5, 6 or 8 per cent.

Mr. Clancy questioned the wisdom of allowing cattle infected with the disof deranged kidneys is the assurance that Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver slaughter them, even if compensation bill as it originally stood, and which had to be made.

Mr. Fisher pointed out that the anitrict. will be brought down. GAME PRESERVATION. Mr. Sifton introduced a bill to amend the Unorganized Territories Game Preservation Act, 1894. He explained that the object is to extend for a further period of years the protection given to buffalo in the unorganized territories. The present law, he said, has been found effective, and has

THE LAKE FISHERIES. Sir Hibbert Tupper was informed by Sir Louis Davies that the government is aware that United States fishing firms control a large part of the fisheries of Georgian Bay and Lake Huron, as well as Lake Winnipeg. The government has heard complaints from Canadian fishermen to the effeet that American fish trusts do attempt to control the catch of fish in Canadian waters, and to regulate the price. The government is doing all it can to remedy the evil by confining licenses in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories to British subjects. Dominion Government does not issue licenses to fish in the great lakes in Ontario. OFFICIALS AS SPECULATORS. Mr. Sifton referred to a complaint made the other day by Mr. Davin, that employes of the department the interior were speculating in lands in the Northwest, and were using their official positions to obtain unfair advantages. Mr. Sifton said he had investigated, and could find no trace of such a practice.

INSOLVENCY LEGISLATION. Mr. Bergeron asked if the government could produce the correspondence from the Montreal Board Trade and other public bodies with reference to insolvency legislation. Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that an opportunity to move for the production of such papers would be accorded next Monday.

IN THE SENATE.

The bill respecting the inspection of petroleum and naphtha was considered in committee, the secretary of state explaining the bill. He proposed an amendment to provide for the burning of naphtha in stoves constructed to burn gas. The practice of using these stoves, he explained, prevailed in the Petrolia district. Some 500 farmers used this class of fuel almost entirely, tests in different parts of the country and it would be hopeless to attempt to stamp out its use. Senator Ferguson claimed that this amendment would destroy the guaranprevented these stoves being used in inhabitable house. Senator Vidal agreed with Senator

A GEORGIA DOCTOR

Says Coffee Causes Rheumatism and Heart Trouble.

"Especial pains must be taken by physicians prescribing Postum Food Coffee to insist that it be boiled long enough to extract the flavor and food elements, otherwise it may be underboiled and disappoint the patient. I was finally obliged to abandon coffee altogether, as it made me extremely nervous and dizzy and upset my digestion. I have laid in bed many nights fearing to go to sleep because of the palpitation and skipping of the heart, and knowing the terrible consequences likely to follow the constant stimulation from coffee.

"I am of the opinion that weak and nervous people who have used coffee a long time should be given a liberal allowance of Postum Food Coffee, as in such cases you have present an extensively lowered tone of nervous impulse, degenerated nerve tissue, irritable heart action, etc., etc., brought about by repeated doses of the drug we call coffee.

"It is a physiological fact that the nervous system presides over and controls the nutrition of the entire body. Postum Food Coffee contains phosphates and albuminoids naturally and beautifully combined, making an admirable nerve and tissue builder. One of my patients, Mrs. A. W., suffered constantly from indigestion and rheumatism, also from trouble with her heart and insomnia.' 'I finally succeeded, after a multitude of arguments, in inducing her to abandon the Coffee and use Postum, with a most flattering result.

"She began to sleep well at once, the stomach and heart trouble disappeared, as did the rheumatism (more gradually, however). Coffee produces Uric Acid and rheumatism in many cases, and the reason for forbidding its use is

"This is but one case I refer to. I prescribed Postum Food Coffee very frequently, as I know of its great a Week From Friday.

Committee

[Special to The Advertiser per C.P.R.] Ottawa, June 15.-The committee on banking and commerce had another session this morning to deal with the new insurance bill proposed by the minister of finance. Mr. Foster agreed that 31/2 per cent of the basis of valuation of insurance investments was necessary for all new business, but pointed out that many people had invested in participating policies on the strength of previous results of such policies based on the existing government standard. He thought the rights of these profit-sharing policyholders should not be interfered with. As a compromise he suggested that the percent standard of 41/2 should be allowed to continue with regard to the old basis till 1912, and that a 4 per cent basis should then be adopted. The present bili provides for a 3½ per cent basis for all new business after next January, a 4 per cent basis after 1907, and basis of 31/2 per cent after 1912. No decision was reached on the insurance bill, and the meeting will be resumed tomorrow. The minister of finance said that the proposal had been fully considered be-fore the terms of the bill had been decided upon. He said that there should be no question of profit-sharing until the safety of the capital for the insured families was assured. He pointed out that the insurance companies would not, under the act, have to start at once accumulating a reserve on all the existing policies, because the actuaries could at once tell just how many policies would fall due when the changed percentages came into effect, and the companies would have to accumulate reserves only with regard to these. Thus the effect on the profitsharing policies would not be as serious as claimed.

The minister of justice has received the report from the medical men who examined into the question of the sanity of Benjamin Parrott, of Hamilton, sentenced to be hung on the 23rd inst. for the murder of his mother. Dr. Lett, of the Retreat, at Guelph, and Dr. Phelan, of the Kingston asylum were the experts. They have reported that there is no justification for setting up the plea of insanity. Parrott is said to be perfectly sane, although it would appear somebody had been coaching him how to act insane. It was also discovered by the experts that there was no hereditary insanity in the family. A brother of Parrott's had become insane through disease. The result of the investigation really means that Parrott will be hanged on the 23rd inst., as there is not likely now to be any reason for interference on the pant of the crown.

THE AMETEURS. The South London Juniors shut out the Kingsmill's store team last evening in a game of ball that isn't seen very often. West, for the S. L. WHEEL. The "boys" who are training at Tecumseh Park furnished a splendid hour's racing for the spectators who were fortunate enough to visit the track last evening. The pacing was done by London's coming tandem team, McGuffin and Crouch, assisted by the triplet, which was ably managed by Bernard, Nightingale and Bending.Several very fast miles were reeled off, and citizens who attend the coming meets are guaranteed some excellent racing.

Chester McGuffin and Ernie Crouch are certainly a coming tandem team.

The Dominion racing board have reinstated Mr. Clay Manville to the amateur class. Clay is indeed very fast this spring, and will probably compete in some of the Dominion championships at Guelph on July 1.

Secretary McCormick is endeavoring to arrange for band concerts at Tecumseh Park this season in connection with the evening meets.

A new coating of cinders is being placed on Tecumseh Park track, which will improve it very much.

CHAPTER VIII.

"You find us, in humble imitation of Mr. Turveydrop, still using our little arts to polish—polish!" said Jessie Kirke, mimicking the famous trowel gesture of the professor of deportment, as Orrin Wyllys entered Mrs. Baxter's drawing-room on the evening of the 4th of January.

The lady president's "collegiate reunions" on the first and third Thursdays of each month had, up to this winter, been declared a nuisance by the class for whose benefit she had inaugurated the series: to wit, the homeless, graceless students, whose intellectual training was committed to her husband and his confreres, while their polite education was left to Fate and the haphazard culture of promiscuous Now, promiscuous society (the society. term is Mrs. Baxter's, not mine) in Hamilton, although less detrimental to the principles, manners and conversational powers of unguarded youth than the same foe would have been in a region more remote from the great humanizing and refining center expressed, to the visual organs, by the square, cream-colored mansion at the right of the college campus—was yet inimical to the best interests (another stolen phrase) of the aforesaid matriculated voungsters.

To counteract the evil, the presidential residence was converted, on the evenings I have designated, into a social reformatory, and the mistress put forth her utmost effort to render the process of amelioration pleasant to the subjects thereof. The success of her system, which had gone into operation two years before, had been less than indifferent up the date of her young kinswoman's arrival. Simultaneously with her appearance at the pillared portal of the cream-colored Center, the cause of elegant deportment and colequial accomplishments began to look up in the contiguous halls of learning. The "reception" on the ensuing Thursday was well attended, the second was a "crush"—the supply of lemonade and sponge-cake being utterly inadequate to the demand.

This was the third, and the hostess. elate with past, and sanguine of prospective, victories, had, with the assistance of her guest, bedecked her rooms with New Year's garlands and floral legends. As an ingenious tribute to the learning of the major portion of the assembly, Mrs. Baxter had accom-plished a Latinization of certain stock phrases of welcome, and was immensely proud of the "classic air" imparted to her salon by these.

'I suppose they are all right," Jessie said dubiously to Orrin, when he in-spected them. "My knowledge of the dead tongue is confined to the musty sayings everybody has learned by heart—'Sic transit gloria mundi,' 'Mirabile dictu,' and the like."

"Salve!" blossomed into being in heather and pink-and-white paper the piano in the music-room.

"To polish! to polish!" reiterated stroking her gloved left nand with her right, and looking so roguish-ly beautiful that Orrin had no difficulty in throwing an expression of intense admiration into his gaze. "Stand off and let me look at you!" said he, brusquely for him, drawing back for better view.

She was well worth it. Native quickness, aided by the marvelous intuition as to effect, and the daring that attempts new combinations of color and untried styles of coiffure and dress. which people name "French taste," had wrought together in her attire. She had a "genius for apparel," Mrs. Baxter pronounced delightedly, adding, "So much for blood! The Parisian eye and Parisian aptitude are, like the poetic afflatus, nascitur, non fit. You are a true Lanneau." There would be no better-dressed woman in the assembly tonight than the country gir!, whose toilet had yet cost less than that of any other who laid claim to the honors of belleship.

Her maize-colored tissue had a full double skirt; the upper looked with rosettes of black lace and narrow black velvet. A bunch of fuchsias—scarlet with purple hearts—drooped above her left temple. Not a jewel was visible, except her engagement ring—a fine solitaire diamond. Instead of a brooch she wore another spray of fuchsias, mixed with feathery green, at her throat, and her only laces were those edging her neck and sleeves. But she was dazzling enough to turn stronger heads than those of the sheepish sophomores, pert juniors and priggish would compose her train, thought Wyllys, surveying her with the deliberate freedom of a brotherly friend. Her eyes sparkled into splendor, her bloom deepened, and the white-gloved fingers toyed nervously with her bouquet as his inspection was prolonged. As the finale, he offered his arm with a sweeping obeisance, and they strolled through the rooms, untenanted as yet save by themselves. "I hardly expected to see that, tonight," said Orrin, touching her bouquet. "The utmost I hoped was tha. quet. "The utmost I hoped was that it might pleasure your eye for a mo-ment, as it passed in review among a host of others."

"There is a degree of modesty which is laughable," she returned. "May I be allowed to ask whose flowers did you suppose I would prefer to yours?"
"Perhaps I feared the rivalry of the chaste assortment of sweet alyssum and white rosebuds I saw left at Prof. Fairchild's door this morning." "Eminently suitable to my 'style'!" interrupted she, ironically. "The fear certainly reflects credit upon your discrimination—and my taste."

"Or," he went on, "the astounding array of camelias, azaleas and orangeblossoms that arrived last night, duly enveloped in wet cotton, sent per express from the greenhouse of a city florist to the millionaire's son—Senior Lowndes. Rumor affirms that he has neither studied nor eaten since he was first pierced by Cupid's arrows—your eyelids doing service as bows—and the sight of the magnificent offering which is to propitiate the blind god has driven him clean daft with rapturous | anticipation. Seriously and frankly, my advice is that you discard my simple gift in favor of the exotics. I am content-or I should be-with the grace already shown me by your intention to give my flowers the place of honor. But Mr. Lowndes may be offended if you did not exhibit his Brobdinagian bouquet. It is already the talk of the place, and everybody expects to see it in your hands tonight."

"It will not be everybody's maiden disappointment," said Jessie, obstin-"The floral behemoth has a big vase and a table all to himself in the music-room, so Mr. Lowndes can play showman to his satisfaction. I re-serve the right of wearing what I please, and my bouquet is part of my Could anything harmonize better with my dress than these scarlet verbenas, divided from the purple violets by the circlet of white blossoms, and capped by one snowy cape jessa-mine—like a queen in her ermine?"

"That is the only member of your family to be had in this frozen region," rejoined Orrin. "I telegraphed to Baltimore in the vain hope of obtaining the golden bells you love."

"Did you? They do not bloom any-where at this season, I imagine. But your effort to procure them was an evidence of thoughtful kindness beyond my expectation and deserts. You do too much for me! I am humbled happy when I recount to myself your favors.' "Don't say 'favors'! If you knew-

"Knew what?" queried Jessie, inno-cently, looking up. He held her eyes for a second by the irresistible magnetism of his; then, saying, with a short laugh that sounded like bitter self-disdain, "What you will never hear from me!" commenced talking fast and gaily about other things. Mrs. Baxter ran in, opportunely, to give Jessie time to collect her thoughts. Unobservant of the gravity of one of the parties to the broken dialogue, and the forced liveliness of the other, the hostess dashed into a profusely illustrated description of the contretemps that had detained her in her dressingroom. It was nothing less serious than the doctor's mistake, in taking from a closet a bottle of ink instead of the scented glycerine she asked him to get.

"For my tender skin (we Lanneaus are deplorably thin-skinned) is fright-fully chapped this winter, and there is no better remedy for this affliction than bay-water and glycerine, as perhaps you know-you who are ignorant roses over the mantel-piece opposite the door of the front parlor. Over that in the back was suspended "Jubemus vos salvere," while "O faustum et felicem hunc diem!" was tacked above hands as I hold them over the basin? gently, doctor, darling! When, presto! ing with laughter, as she had with alarm when the mischance had occur-red. "I spent nearly an hour in endeavoring to efface the murky stains, and I shall be compelled to keep my gloves on the entire evening. Isn't it a pitiable predicament?"

The scarlet scarf was on duty again tenight, but now tied about her waist, the knot at the side.

"I never feel quite dressed unless I have a speck of scarlet artfully brought into my costume," she had said to Jessie, on the evening of her arrival. "It individualizes my attire. I should not know-should not be-myself without it."

Jessie joined in her merriment over the catastrophe that would have angered a wife whose temper was less even, but her heart was beating hard and hurriedly with vague alarms. Orrin had altered inexplicably of late. His sudden alternations of spirits and mysterious allusions were more than an enigma-they were a distress to her "If I knew!" she repeated mentally 'What was he about to say, and why did he look at me so intently? Why did he refuse to finish the sentence! I have wounded or offended him-but how?"

It is a common foible of women who were once handsome to forget they are no longer so.

We all covet strength and admire it. We look at the marvelous muscular development of a Sandow with envy and straightway resolve to buy a pair of dumb bells and get strong, as if the secret of strength lay in muscles.
Strength begins in the stomach. It begins
there because there the strength elements are manufactured, and manufactured, and from there they are distributed to blood, bone, brain, muscle and nerve. If you want to begin to be strong, start with the stom-ach. Put the digestive and nutritive or-gans and blood making glands in perfect working order.

That is the foundation of strength. Exercise puts on the superstructure of develop-organ of the body.

"About twelve years ago I was suddenly taken with a pain in the pit of the stomach which was so violent I could not walk straight," writes O. S. Copenhaver, Esq., of Mount Union, Huntingdon Co., Pa., (Box 222). "It would grow mere severe until it caused waterbrash and vomiting of a slimy yellow water. I consulted a physician and he told me I had a form of dyspepsia and treated me for about six months with but little benefit. I still kept getting so weak I could scarcely walk. I then tried another physician and he told me my liver was out of order and that I had indigestion. He gave me a treatment and I got some better but only for a short time. I then took to using several widely advertised patent medicines, but received no more than temporary relief while using. I then tried Dr. Pierce's medicines, using his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' 'Favorite Prescription' and the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and in two mouths' time I was feeling better than I had for years before. I can truthfully say Dr. Pierce's medicines did me more good than any I had ever taken."

CRASHED TOGETHER

Two Steamers Collide Off the Jersey Const-The Macedonian Di sabled.

New York, June 14.-The Old Dominion steamship Hamilton, which sailed from New York yesterday, bound for Norfolk and Newport News, ran into the German steamship Macedonia off Long Branch. Three passengers and nineteen of the crew were saved and brought to this port. A dense fog prevailed over the lower bay and along the coast. The Hamilton struck the Macedonia on the starboard side, abaft the engine, and cutting into her hull about 12 feet. The Macedonia's crew got out their poats as the disabled vessel drifted away from the Hamilton. One boat containing Capt. J. Kauffel, Second Officer Gudknecht and three passen-gers—Charles W. Moss, F. W. Wright and Herman Brandt—and eight seamen, whose names could not be learned was lost in the fog.

After sounding her whistle for a long time and the boat not appearing, Capt.
Dole decided to return to port, as his vessel was seriously damaged.

When last seen the Macedonia was evidently in a sinking condition. The Hamilton's bow was bent to port and torn for a distance of 20 feet on the port side, while the starboard side was also damaged. The hole in the port side was about 20 feet in length and 15 feet deep. No one on board was hurt.

The Macedonia is in the service of the Ward Line, and flies the German flag. She sailed from Manzanillo on May 28, and Cienfuegos on June 6, with six passengers and a full cargo of sugar

New York, June 14.-The steamer Rescue arrived in quarantine at 3:45 a.m., having on board Capt. Kauffel and six of the crew, and Charles W. Moss and Herman Brandt, two pas-sengers of the Ward Line steamer Macedonia, which collided last evening off Long Branch with the steamer Hamilton, of the Old Dominion Line. Capt. Kauffel says after the Hamilton becare cleared from the Macedonia, and seeing his ship still afloat, he returned to her and endeavored to beach her, but she suddenly took a lurch and sank in six fathoms of water about seven miles south of the Scotland lightship, a mile and a half from shore. The passengers and crew saved none of their personal effects.

MURDERED BY A MOB

A Sick Negro Tried, Acquitted and Then Lynched.

New Orleans, La., June 15 .- Edward Gray ,a negro, who was arrested in St. John parish about a year ago with charged with a series of burglaries was lynched yesterday after having been released by the authorities, because there was no evidence against him. Since his confinement Gray has been very sick, and when released he started to the Home of Friends, in the parish of St. Peter. He made his way as far as reserve, where his strength gave out. Charles Thibodeaux gave the negro a blanket and allowed him to sleep on the porch of an outhouse.

During the night a mob crossed the river, and taking Gray from where he rested, hanged him to a tree. lynching is bitterly denounced, and Judge Rost has instructed the grand jury of the parish to make every effort to bring the guilty parties to justice. Morelle the other negro arrested, was lynched last November.

The Milk Report.

THE MILK REPORT. To the Editor of the Advertiser:

We would like to say a few words through the columns of your valuable paper in regard to our last milk report, rendered by Dr. Hutchinson to the public, through the various papers of the city.

It holds us up wiew in the eyes of the public as most dishonest milkmen. Therefore, if dishonest as milkmen, we will have the same character in all things. We resent this accusation most indignantly, and wish to set the public in the right opinion. A few week ago Inspector Bell collected samples of milk, which were tested and reported as having the cream partially removed. We positively do not add water take cream, or add cream. The milk is delivered as it comes from the "Honesty is the best policy" is cows. an old motto; surely it would be policy in the very least in the case of a milkman, for this accusation, if we were guilty and it was proved, is a violation of the law. Not only is honesty a policy-it is a principle on which we endeavor to stand. The sample was taken from our wagon when almost through delivering, and after the milk had been jolted over the roads from early morning until noon. No doubt the milk tested with a lower percentage than if it had been taken in the morning. But why did not the inspector report the test as a percentage, instead of passing judgment which is both untrue and unjust? Wishing your paper prosperity, and trusting you will find space for this item, we remain, yours truly, SCOTT BROS.

A WOMAN'S PLUCK WINS

How a Drunken Husband Was Made a Sober Man by a Determined Wife

She writes: "I had for a long time been thinking of trying the Samaria Prescription treatment on my husband for his drinking habits, but I was afraid that he would discover that I was giving him medicine, and the thought unnerved me. I hesitated for nearly a week, but one day when he came home very much intoxicated, and his week's salary nearly all spent, I threw off all fear and determined to make an effort to save our home from the ruin I saw coming, at all hazards. I sent for your Samaria Prescription and put it in his coffee as directed next morning and watched and prayed for the result. At noon I gave him more and also at supper. He never suspected a thing, and I then boldly kept on giving it regularly, as I had discovered something that set every nerve in my body tingling with hope and happiness, and I could see a bright future spread out before me — a peaceful, happy home, a share in the good things of life, an attentive, loving husband comforts, and everything else dear to woman's heart, for my husband had told me that whisky was vile stuff, and he was taking a dislike to it. It was only too true, for before I had given him the full course he had stopped drinking altogether, but I kept giving the medicine till it was gone, and then sent for another lot to have on hand if he should recapse, as he had done from his promises before. He never has, and I am writing you this letter to tell you how thankful I am. I hon-estly believe it will cure the worst

G. F. Gibson Acquitted of Bigamy but Will Be Tried for Perjury-Court Adjourns.

When the June sessions of the peace resumed at 10 o'clock this morning, the jury brought in no bill against Chairman John Garnett, of the street railway employes' committee. The grand jury were then discharged.

Mr. Garnett was charged by Manager Carr with putting an explosive on the street railway tracks. George Frederick Gibson, charged with bigamy, was acquitted. Mr. Magee, for the prosecution, said he would consent to the acquittal of the prisoner, as it had since came to light that Mary Ann Langford, whom he is alleged to have married while having a wife living, was also previously married. He had no proof that her former husband was dead, so would not press the charge. The judge discharged the prisoner, who will come up before a judge in a few days to be tried for perjury, he having denied the marriage, which was afterwards proven to have taken place. Woodstock, June 15. - As an express train was approaching the crossing of Norwich avenue, Woodstock, on the G. T. # DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Mrs. R. Stoddard, Delhi, Norfolk Co., Ont., writes as follows: "I was troubled with Eczema for over twelve years, and doctored during that time with four different physicians, but found that they could only give temporary relief. I saw Dr. Chase's Ointment advertised, decided to try it, and before I had used half a box found great relief and change. Altogether I have used three boxes, and am now completely cured. I have recommended it to my neighbors, and can say it is the best I have ever used, and, in my estimation, worth its weight in gold."

Truly Dr. Chase's Ointment works wonders, for it has the greatest record of cures in the history of medicine. The claim that it will cure any case of Eczema, Salt Rheum or Itching Skin is fully indorsed by the evidence of scores and hundreds of cured ones.
