2:15 next morning Q .- Did you see Johnston? Q .- Did you stop him from going to the window?

A.—Yes. Q.—Why? A .- Because he was attracting a crowd on the street.

Q.—How many were in there? A.—About twelve or fifteen. Witness had charge of the door with the hole in it. WAS THE JAILER.

Q.-What were your instructions? A .- To keep the men in there. (Sensation in court.) Q .- About 2 o'clock things got uproarious, I believe. Why was this?
A.—Because all the drink was gone, and the crowd wanted more. (Laugh-

Q .- What did you do? THE BEER RAN OUT.

A .- I gave the keys to Frank Wright asd went downstairs. There I saw Morris Dillon in the reading room, and I told him they would have to get something more to drink up there pretty soon, because they were getting noisy, and I could do nothing with them at all. (Laughter.) -What did Dillon do?

A .- He said there ought to be some more there now. Q .-- What more? A .- Nothing that I remember. There was a noise in the hall then, and I said: "It must be here now." I went out to go home, and saw a barrel go-Q .- How was the barrel brought? A .- Up the front stairs and then through the door in the partition in the hallway.

Q .- You told them that Gray put you on the door? A .- I didn't have to tell them. I believed they understood all about it. Q.-Were you instructed to keep anybody from coming in? A .- No. sir.

Q.-Were you told to let anybody A .- Yes; if they were the right party they were to come in. Q.—Who told you?

A.—Cooper, the one-armed man, told me when I relieved him. I had sole charge from 5 p.m. to 2:15 in the morning of the election. There were twelve or fifteen men in the garret when I left. Some were on mattresses, some lay on the floor, and two or three were walking about. Stevenson and Johnston both tried to get out. I did not see Brock, Loughrey or Griffin while I was there. James Chalmers, the ex-policeman, was up there when I went there. He was up and down. Did not see Ald. Carrothers in the attic that night. John Bartlett was there, and I heard one of the men calling Hugh McGurdy, but I could not place him. Johnston tried to get to the window just before dark. He threw his hat out. He tried to do so again at a later hour. Do not recollect Johnston being struck that night. Saw William Mason in the attic, but do not know Frank Cameron. Did not see Tom Ivey in the attic; nor, to his recollection, Bert Colerick, Alex. Sutherland, or Hugh Sharkey. He saw Goosey Wheeler there twice. F. Wright was there; also Pat Howard and Wm. B. Min-He did not see Thos. Robson or Shack Martin, jun., there.

THEY CRIED "MORE BEER!" There were six or seven men on the mattresses whom he did not look at closely. They weren't able to get up, but they clamored for more beer. (Laughter.) He saw Dr. Mitchell in the attic, but not Mr. Toothe. Q.-Do you say it is untrue that Mr. Toothe was up there after dusk, ordering the men out?

Witness said there was a row at the door once, but witness did not see Mr. Toothe come up. Q .- Did you not tell Mr. Toothe and Mr. McPhillips that Mr. Toothe had come up and cleared the men out of A.-No; that was their own proposition. (Laughter.)

Witness got $2 from Toothe the day before Christmas, and witness then signed a paper which Toothe prepared. It was to the effect that he (Toothe) had cleared out the attle at dusk. Witness was now working for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. David Plewes got him his position. He had vol-untarily told this story to Mr. Love, the lawyer, because he did not want to go into the box and swear to lies that the other side made him try to tell before. He had received nothing

Q.—What was Dr. Mitchell called A .- To attend to Johnston. Q.—Did you see anyone take Pat Howard's money? A.—Yes. Frank Wright. To Mr. Hellmuth witness denied that he had told Wm. Wheeler he would give evidence for whichever side would give him more money. ALEX. HARVEY. Alex. Harvey produced the lease of the Conservative Club premises, which witness owned. The lease was for six years, from Aug. 1, 1895. He presumed the club had put in the partition at the top of the first stairs leading to the second story. To Mr. Hellmuth, witness said there was a joint right of way to the attic between himself and the club.

EDWARD WHITE. Edward White, sworn, said he was a voter in London at the last election, but did not vote. He was in Detroit at the time, and learned some was looking after the London vote. Witness went to the Crawford House, Windsor, and saw Mr. Graydon in the sample room. Witness asked Graydon if he had a vote, and Graydon asked him if he wanted to go to London. Witness said he did not care much. Graydon said, "It will cost you nothing to go." Witness said, "There's no pleasure in riding; is there anything else in it?" Graydon said, "There will be when you get there; Evening Wear I have a ticket here for you to go down." Witness asked how much there would be in it when he got to London. Graydon said, "A ten spot— $10." Witness said, "I would like half of it now." Graydon said he couldn't do it, and told witness to go to the Russell House, Detroit. Witness saw Graydon the same night on a ferry-boat, and they walked up Woodward avenue, and parted on the corner of Jefferson avenue. Little Castellane Born With a Golden Spoon in His Mouth.

An Avalanche of Precious Gifts Pouring in Upon the Houshold.

Paris, Jan. 19-The young son of the Count and Countess Castellane, and scion of the Franco-American alliance of nobility and wealth, may be said to be born with a golden spoon in his mouth. From the time his expected arrival was first heralded, he has been more talked of than anyone else in Paris' American colony, and for week's an avalanche of priceless gifts has poured into the Castellane household. The richest and most tasteful of these have come from the mother's American relatives. The layette itself was bought with the Gould millions, and is the gift of Miss Helen Gould. George Gould presented to his noble nephew a solid gold porringer, antique, wonderfully engraved and crusted with gems Mrs. George Gould has given a for working in the rooms, found in string of diamonds and sapphires. Howard Gould contributed a tollet set, silver mounted, and set with un-cut sapphires and diamonds. Witness said he might have been drinking, and he asked Mr. Toothe for a ticket, but he did not remember crying, or what condition he was in. Mr. Toothe would not give him any money, but teld Mr. McMillan to buy him a ticket. He did not think it was an act of kindness on Mr. Toothe's part, because witness had shown Mahon where London voters in Detroit lived. Witness had told Mr. Toothe a story about what Mr. Cooper had told witness; but some of it was untrue. Cooper had come to the Russell House, and asked him if he wanted to make a little money, as there was likely to be another election. Witness met Cooper, Costello and Johnston in Ames' saloon that night, and subsequently, with others, met Mr. Mc-Killop in a room at the Russell House. The latter made appointments with them to get their testimony. Toothe did not ask witness about his vote after the interview in the Conservative Club about the ticket. It is the hope of your directors that this convention will place on record its appreciation of the great services rendered to this association and the dairy industry of Canada by our deceased friends in appropriate resolutions and The report was received with ap-

THE SECRETARY'S REPORT. The fourth annual report of Secretary J. W. Wheaton, London. was read, and proved an interesting epistle. It stated that the work carried on by the last year has been characterized by the usual vigor, and the various objects of the association made as effective as possible in promoting the welfare of the dairy industry of Western Ontario. The number of annual and local dairy meetings were much larger than during any previous years. cheese and butter making centers, the object of which was chiefly the care of milk for cheese making, the importance of making only the finest quality of dairy products. There was a great need of educating the patrons of many of the cheese and butter factories in the proper care of milk, and the annual meetings seem to furnish an excellent opportunity for reaching them. The number of factories visited was much larger than in the previous season—some 67 in all. The office work of the association has become more important, and the expenditure has increased about 25 per cent. During the year, 900 letters were received and over 1,200 written in connection with the association's work. And besides these, 1,000 circulars were mailed to different facpolicy of the association. These were distributed among the factories. By means of the copying process, copies of eighteen circulars were sent to about 70 newspapers circulating in the West. As far as the secretary could ascertain, these circulars were lished in nearly every newspaper read ening at Sohmer Park. by the farming community. If the articles were read by 100 people in each paper there would have been a grand total of 126,000, who had been last year was 453, but this was not as it should be. With the large territory it covered, and number of persons under its jurisdiction, there should be a membership of at least as many thousands as they now had hundreds. Great difficulty, however, was experienced in persuading farmers to become members.

He paid a high tribute to Lord Rosebery's patriotic policy, to Lord Rosebery's patriotic policy, as shown in his speech upon the occasion of his retirement, and then proceeded to defend the policy of the Conservatives. He said the powers were now generally agreed that if reforms were not granted in Armenia, material pressure would be applied to the Sultan by the rest of Europe. All of them were convinced that unless the Sultan should introduce genuine and effective reforms, the worst results must follow. In regard to the Nile campaign, the Premier said that Dongola was taken because it was on the route to Khartoum, which place must eventually be taken from the Dervishes. He repeated that it was the intention of the British Government to reconquer the Soudan for Egypt. In regard to the treaty of arbitration with the United States, he would say that the people must not think that they were living in the millennial dis-

A Minister deal-ing with a subject involving the honor of his country, or which some persons claim involves its henor, has to think how to furnish an account of the transaction which will soothe jingoes. Arbitration would be a bul-wark for such & Minister, for it would be impossible to say he had trifled with the honor of the country if he said he had submitted the matter to the decision of an impartial tribunal. The Government believed the measure they had taken was valuable in that it would lead to the gradual disappearance of vast armaments by substituting judicial decision for the coarse arbitrament of war. Lord Salisbury said: "I hope that the effort, small as it is, will be so successful that others more extensive and more successful

He heartily congratulated the country upon the conclusion of the differences regarding Venezuela, and gave them unstinted praise for the general arbitration treaty, which was recently signed by the British ambassador at Washington and the American Secreary of State. He said there could not be a better celebration of the 60th year of her Majesty's reign than that her Government should be among the semi-officially announced that the first of the nations to set the example of settling differences by arbitration He denounced the Nile campaign, and asked the Government to justify their Egyptian policy. Winnipeg, Jan. 20 .- Another sensaion was sprung here yesterday by the publication of the statement that Co-lin H. Campbell, Q.C., was the man approached Attorney-General Cameron with the proposition that on Mr. Boyd admitting corrupt practices on the part of agents in Macdonald, the prosecution against the ballot box stuffers should be dropped. The proposition was indignantly refused, and the stuffers will be shoved to the limit of the law. Mr. Campbell is the man who was defeated by Mr. Martin in the Winnipeg bye-election. He was counsel for Mr. Boyd at the election trial.

FREEBORN WAS TRUSTED. There are more startling developments in Macdonald yet undisclosed before the courts, and the "stuffers" are still shaking in their shoes. Regarding the eastern opinion of Free-born, the individual who gave away the ballot box stuffing, Mr. Birmingham recommended him to the western candidate as a first-class man.

The Condition of Mr. George Seney, of Mount Pleasant.

Doctors Were Unable to Agree as to His Trouble-He Was Almost a Physical Wreck When Relief Came.

From the Millbrook Reporter. Mr. George Seney, who resides near Mount Pleasant, Durham county, Ont., is a man well known throughout the country. He is the owner of the Seney House in Mount Pleasant, and until about a year ago conducted it to the satisfaction of all his patrons. Mr. Seney is one of the multitude who owe commission had been instructed to in-vestigate, but which it had refused to tues of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and in a conversation recently with a corbe almost unfit for busines that I felt alarmed, and then I called in two physicians for consultation. The doctors disagreed as to what my gave me some relief, but my constitution was so run down that I was almost a physical wreck. My appetite was very poor, and I was wasting away rapidly. My nerves seemed to be all unstrung, and I was greatly depressed in which the design of the second in the seco pressed in spirits. Medicine seemed to be doing me little or no good, and I did not know where to look for relief. I had heard and read much of the curative properties of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and at last decided to try them. Before I had finished my second box there was a marked improvement in my condition, and after continuing the pills for some time longer. I pills for some time longer I was restored to my accustomed vigor and good health. It is now over a year since I discontinued the use of the Pink Pills, and I have continued enjoying the blessing of good health. I am strong in my commendation of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and trust that the recital of my experience may be a beacon to some other poor sufferer who may read it."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic medicine, enriching the blood and strengthening the nerves, thus reaching the root of disease and driving it from the system. They are beyond doubt the greatest medicine of the nineteenth century, and have cured in hundreds of cases after all other medicines had failed. The great popularity of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has caused unscrupulous dealers to imitate them. unscrupulous dealers to imitate them extensively, and intending buyers are urged to see that every box is inclosed in a wrapper bearing the full registered trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Pills colored pink, but sold in loose form by the dozen, hundred or ounce, or taken from glass jars, are fraudulent imitations, and should always be refused, not matter how plausible may be the story of the interested dealer offering Colds lead to coughs, coughs to pneu-monia and consumption; therefore it is all important to check a cold be-fore it reaches the lungs. Munyon's Cold Cure will positively break a cold inside of twenty-four hours if taken as soon as the cold manifests itself. When the cold reaches the lungs or bronchial tubes the Cough Cure should be used alternately every half hour with the Cold Cure. The Cold Cure is guaranteed to prevent pneumonia if used in the beginning of a cold. Pneumonia, or inflammation of the lungs, can be controlled by the use of these two cures.

The Cough Cure positively cures bronchitis, tickling in the throat, hoarseness, loss of voice, soreness of the chest, difficulty in breathing, hacking cough, and all pulmonary diseases where the lungs are not too far consumed by disease or covered with tuberless. with tubercles. At the directors' meeting, which followed, the provisional officers were re-elected for the ensuing year, and up to the first Monday in February, 1898.

The directors also authorized the executive committee, consisting of the officers of the company, to declare a dividend, as and when they think proper, out of the cash profits derived from the sale of the Finance Group. The members of the company are very much elated over the success with which it has met so far, and the extraordinary prospects of profits in the near future. Great admiration was expressed for the shrewd and energetic manager, and engineer, Mr. Joseph Powell, and the highest appreciation of his services was voiced on every hand. The members present were Roome, Dr. Weekes, Dr. Lockhart, and Messrs. Greenlees, Spittal, Campbell, Burns, Millar, Nicholls, Butler, Coon, Daly, Burness, Sangster, Drewe, Dr. Woolverton and G. N. IVORY LET GO. London, Jan. 20 .- The crown prosecutor today withdrew the charge of conspiring to cause a dynamite explosion, brought against Edward J. Ivory, Alias Bell, the saloon-keeper of New York who was arrested at Glasgow in September last, and Justice Hawkins discharged the prisoner. Shortly after the opening of the pro-ceedings today, the Solicitor-General announced that he had definitely ascertained yesterday that the delivery of the explosives at Antwerp occurred after Ivory left that place, and that there was no legal evidence that the prisoner was cognizant of their delivery. Therefore it had been decided not to present evidence thereon. In regard to the other evidence, there was nothing justifying the Crown in asking for his conviction of a felony charge, and, under the circumstances, he did not propose to continue the prosecution of the prisoner. After complimenting the police upon the intelligence shown in the discharge of a difficult duty, Justice Hawkins directed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty.

The Atlas Liner, Alvena, Goes Down in New York Harbor.

No One Hurt but a $100,000 Cargo May Be Lost.

New York, Jan. 20 .- The Atlas Line and only means one pair for every twelfth person in London, so take your turn—don't lag. We going to make quick work of this lot.

New York, Jan. 20.—In extra line steamer Alvena now lies on the bottom on Sandy Hook bar, her upper deck entirely submerged, a big gaping hole in her port side and in danger of pounding to pieces should the wind shift. The Alvena was run into yesterday by the steamer British Queer near the lighthouse. Both vessel were under a fair head of steam. Th ourse of each vessel was plainly vis ole to the other. Despite this, the Heavy, All-Wool Seamless Fashioned Hose, a good wearer and made to sell at 25c; it is not made of truck sometimes called wool. A dandy for comparatively close quarters that whistless paratively close quarters that whistle were blown. The British Queen round ed to a bit before she struck the Al-vena, and the starboard bow of the former gave the Atlas Liner a swing ing blow just a little aft. of the mid ships, on the port side. A big ho was stove in the vessel's captain of the Alvena headed the ship for the bar, and landed her safely on the sandy bottom in twenty feet o water. The water soon filled the ves sel, put out the fires and stopped th ngines. The British Queen stood by, but her assistance was not needed, a number of tugs being soon on hand. The British Queen had a lucky escape sustaining only the breaking of one of her plates. After making sure that she could be of no assistance she proceeded to the city. The Alvena's pas sengers were transferred to a pile boat, also the mail pouches, a por tion of the baggage, etc. The crew o the Alvena remains aboard of her. It eared the cargo, which is estimat ed to be worth about $100,000, will be a total loss. The Alvena was a bark-rigged steamer of 1724 tons and valued

A SAD ACCIDENT.

In Helping Her Husband, Mrs McVicar, of Mosa, Sustains Fatal Injury.

Glencoe, Ont., Jan. 20 .- A very sad accident happened yesterday morning about 9 o'clock to Mrs. Archibald Mc-Vicar, of lot 7, con. 4, Mosa. It appears that Mrs. McVicar was assisting her husband in loading wheat for the market. She was lifting a bag, when the wagon started, causing her to slip and fall to the ground, fracturing her skull.
Dr. Walker, Glencoe, was immedi-summoned, but when he arrived she had expired. She leaves a husband and four small children.

'Indeed I shall. You did not suppose I would send you off alone, I hope, she answered, and then she further unfolded her plan.

'We would pretend that we both needed a change, after the confinement of the last few months. No one would then suspect any secret reason for our going. We would travel awhile, keeping as secluded as possible and finally go to some large city— Boston we finally decided upon, as we had never been there, and knew not a soul living there—where we would remain until after the birth of my child. Then we would give it into the care of someone, paying well for it, until my husband was in such a position to claim me: and then, as soon as I had regained my strength, we would return home, and no one would be the Wiser for what had occurred.

'This! plan gave me new courage All my former energy returned, and I immediately began my arrangements for my proposed trip. Mamma and her nurse both favored it, and Miss Willford was sent for. I wrote my husband of our plans-or as much regarding them as we told anybody—telling him how to address his letters; and then Nellie and I went away, without exciting the suspicion of anyone regarding our real object. We went first to Philadelphia, where we remained in secluded lodgings for a few weeks, giving our names as Mrs. Marston and maid, Nellie Durham'—Nellie preferring to act in that capacity. Then we proceeded to New York, where we stopped awhile, finally going on to Boston, where my little girl was born."

Geoffrey turned abruptly around, and faced Mr. Huntress as Mrs. Ma-pleson reached this soint in her story. Never until that moment had he suspected that Gladys was not his kind friend's own daughter. But he knew ton. He remembered that Mrs. Mapleson had addresses him as August Damon, and how she had been overcome upon meeting him. He remembered, too, how, when he had proposed leaving the room while she made her confession to her husband, she had said, "If anyone had a right to hear her story, he had," and put-ting all these things together, it flashed upon him that Gladys might have been that little girl who was born, under such peculiar circumstances in

Mr. Huntress met his inquiring glance, and smiled faintly; but he was very pale and sorrowful. It had not been an easy matter for him to sit there and listen to that story, and to have it revealed that Gladys was not his very own. He had always hoped to be able to keep the secret of her adoption. "Is it true, Uncle August?" Geof-frey questioned.

Mr. Huntress nodded gravely. "How very, very strange!" said the young man, with a perplexed face. Then his countenance suddenly brightened!

He leaned eagerly forward, laid his hand on Mr. Huntress' knee, and whispered, excitedly: "Then he-Everet Mapleson-is her half-brother, and that marriage was nothing but an illegal farce!" "That is true-I have been thinking of that very thing," returned Mr. Huntress, grasping the hand upon his knee with cordial sympathy, "and though it has been very hard to have the fact revealed, that our dear girl was not quite our own, yet my joy at having that great trouble so easily wiped out of existence, counteracts all the pain." "What is it?" Mrs. Mapleson asked, ruption, and pray go on." "William, the worst of my story is yet to come." Mrs. Mapleson resumed, turning with a pathetic look towards her husband.

He reached forth one hand, and laid it affectionately upon hers. "Do not think me so hard, Estelle," he said in a low, kind tone; "I do not forget the 'beam' that was in my own story thus: eye, and I have no right to criticise the 'mote' in yours, especially when you have been so great a sufferer, and your hands were so tied by your dependent mother and sister. At first I thought of putting her into some institution, requiring some pledge that she should not be given away within a specified time. But I away within a specified time. But I found I could not do this, so I advertised for some one to adopt the child, promising to give five hundred dollars with her. Then his eyes wandered to Geoffrey.
"How wonderful, that those two family!" he murmured. "I appointed a meeting with Mr. and on Saturday. Mrs. Damon," his wife went on. "They came, and at once I knew that they were the very people to whom I would

"Madame, I knew well enough that your name was not Marston. I felt sure that no mother would give away her child, as you were doing, and reveal her identity. On the other hand, I did not wish the identity of the child preserved. I did not intend that you should have any advantage over me. If I took her, I meant her to be mine wholly, without running any risk of having her taken from me, or of ever learning that she had been abandoned I gave you the name of Damon."

I pretended to give her to you unreservedly, although, you re-member, I would subscribe to no legal form of adoption. I allowed you and others to think me a heartless and unnatural monster for the sake of gaining for my little one a good home and loving care until I could see my way clear to demand her restoration. It was dishonorable—it was a wretched deception, but it was all a part of that terrible secret that had to be guarded at whatever cost. But I had to pay dearly for it, as you will soon realize. "My sister and I left Boston, both of us in better spirits that we had been since leaving England, for we believed that everything had been so successslightest danger of discovery. We came back to our home to find mamma more comfortable than when we left her, having had a bright, cheerful visit with her old friend, while she appeardelighted with the improvement which our short trip had made in us. But she lived only one short month after that. She took a sudden cold, which brought on a hemorrhage that terminated her life in a few hours.

"More than this," Mrs. Mapleson,

Legitimate Mining vs. Speculative Mining.

To Mining Investors:

We invite your careful consideration for the prospectus of the Colorado Gold Mining and Development Company and its auxiliary, the Kootenay Exploration Company, Limited.

As you will notice by the plan presented, our proposition is purely a business one, we confining our attention to working only such properties as have been sufficiently developed to show a profit over our original investment, and as we work collectively an unlimited number of these claims, it gives us an opportunity of presenting an investment of unquestioned superiority.

The groups of properties now under control of these companies are the most important yet offered in the Dominion under one management.

There are many mining companies that have valuable properties, but have not the means to develop them, and it is this class only that we take up and work for the profit in sight, If there is more beyond, we are so much better off but we do not hazard our original investment, therefore, the element of loss, so prominent in the average mining venture, is practically done away with.

Another favorable feature is that every shareholder participates in the profits in direct proportion to the amount invested, no stock being set aside for an officer or director, except as it is subscribed and paid for the same as by every other shareholder, and all are equal partners as their interests may

This is worthy of the favorable consideration of the small investor, for until the Colorado Gold Mining and Development Company was brought out never before did the small shareholder have an equal chance with the promoters of the Company.

The magnificent success achieved by the parent company during the past nine months is sufficient indication of what can be done on these lines under competent management.

We anticipate equally gratifying results for the Kootenay Exploration Company, Limited, and will be pleased to have you join us and receive your subscription for the number of shares desired.

Subscription books are now open at the office of Lownsвкоисн & Co., Bankers and Brokers, 22 King street east, Toronto, Ont., where J. Grant Lyman, Managing Director, will be pleased to receive your subscription. Price 10 cents per share, par value $1, full paid and non-assessable, being subject to no further call.

The price of these shares will be advanced to 20c on Jan. 31. All applications must show a postmark not later than Jan. 30, 1897.

A CAUSE CELEBRE.

Princess Chimay's Divorce Suit Begun -Her Counsel's Statement.

Charlerot, Jan. 19.-The action for divorce brought by Prince De Chimay against his wife opens today in camera. Maitre Allain, counsel for the Princess, said: "The case will be a cause celebre and the divorce of the century, principally because the mother takes the Princess' side, and because of the prominence in it of a king's name. The newspaper statements saying that the Princess' defense will be grounded on nervousness is untrue. The Princess is perfectly well in mind she is willing to allow the custody of their children, but insists on her right to visit them occasionally. It is equally untrue that the Princess has lost her fortune. She still has a good income. When Maitre Allain was asked if the Princess loves Janos Rigo, her gipsy lover, the distinguished lawyer replied: "I am quite sure that she does not."
