LOCAL BAKERS WILL TEST LEGALITY OF THE BREAD ACT

A Merry Fight in Prospect as a Result of the Prosecution of Local Businessmen Under the Provisions of the Nickle Bread Law.

There is a merry fight in prospect over the charges that Inspector McCallum recently made against Johnston Bros., Parnell Bakery Company, and the Dean Baking Company, charging them with selling bread not in accordance with the law.

When the case was called at the police court this morning, Mr. Harper, of the firm of Gibbons, Harper & Gibbons, who is defending Mr. Johnston, stated that notice had been served on the Attorney-General of the Province and the Minister of Justice notifying them that the case would be contested, as his client questioned the constitutionality of the act passed by the Ontario Government.

Mr. Harper asked that the case be enlarged another week in order that the officials mentioned might be here or have their representatives in London.

This was agreed to by the court.

In the case of Johnston Bros., it is understood that the bread was jobbed loaves, while in that of the Parnell firm the loaves were separate. Mr. J. M. McEvoy is representing the Parnell firm.

The City's Position.

Mr. R. G. Fisher, of the firm of Meredith & Fisher, represents the city. He argued that last week, when the case was adjourned it was understood that it was to be heard today.

"It is an important matter for the citizens," he said. "Here is this kind of bread being scattered all about the city. The people want to know where they stand in the matter, and many of them are very anxious."

The magistrate held that under the circumstances, as the notices had been served on the Attorney-General and Minister of Justice, it was only fair that they should have a chance to come or send their representatives.

A GOOD SHOWING FOR THE STUDENTS

Results of the Examinations in Local Collegiate Institute Classes.

GENERAL — COMMERCIAL

In Some of the Forms the Majority of the Students Are in Class I. Which Is Very Creditable.

The results of the Easter examination in the Collegiate Institute in the general and commercial classes are given below. Class I. includes those students who obtained a minimum of 70 per cent; Class II., 60 per cent; Class III., 50 per cent; Class IV., 40 per cent. To insure promotion students should not be below Class II. The subjects after the student's name are those subjects in which the student has failed to obtain a minimum of 40 per cent. The results on the whole are very satisfactory, the great majority of students having obtained a good standing. In some of the forms the majority of the students are in Class I., a particularly creditable showing.

Lower IX.

Class I.—S. Steer 82.52 per cent. R. Laney, M. Colling, F. Jones, C. Jones.

Class II.—Wm. Judd, L. Jackson, H. Lawson, W. Springett (history), G. Neale (Latin), F. Vanstone (French, Latin), A. Lenehan, F. Ashplant.

Class III.—J. Hosie, R. Fotheringham (French, history), H. Fox (literature, French), E. Harper (literature, French), G. Brown (arithmetic, algebra, geometry), C. McKay (geometry, arithmetic, geography), P. Love (geography, science), I. Edmunds (geometry, French), S. Bolton (literature, French), R. McLeod (arithmetic, algebra, geometry), B. DU MOULIN'S SUCCESSOR TO BE CHOSEN TODAY

Canons Sutherland, Abbott, Dr. Patterson Smythe and Archdeacon Clarke Possibilities.

[Canadian Press.]

Hamilton, May 2.—Anglican clergymen and lay delegates from all over the Niagara diocese are here today to elect a successor to the late Bishop Du Moulin. Dean Houston, of St. Catharines, and Canon Sutherland, sub-dean, are presiding over the session. Balloting will begin about 2.30, and it will likely be late tonight before a decision is reached. It is expected there will be fifteen names on the first ballot. From the gossip in well-informed Anglican circles here it would seem that the choice would rest between Canon Sutherland, Canon Abbott, if a local man is elected, while Dr. Patterson Smythe, of Montreal, is the likely outside choice.

It is possible, however, that the matter will be a surprise. One of the best informed clergymen in the diocese says Archdeacon Clarke, of Hamilton, is the only man who has a chance.

FOREIGNERS ESCAPE IN CHINESE RIOTS

Gunboats Protect Them From Attacks by the Rebels.

[Canadian Press.]

Hong Kong, May 2.—Today's advices from Canton, the capital of Kwang Tung Province, and in which city the revolutionary movement originated, indicate that foreigners have escaped harm.

The foreign residential section occupies Shamien, an artificial island at the north end of Canton. A canal separates the island from the city proper. Gunboats are anchored in the canal and guns are mounted on the canal banks commanding the approaches to the island.

On Sunday evening the revolutionists attempted to cross to Shamif with the purpose of capturing the police station there. They were repulsed by loyal troops.

WINTER WEATHER ON MAY DAY

A Drop in the Temperature of Forty Degrees Recorded.

SNOW STORM LAST NIGHT

A Cold Drop Follows the Thunder and Lightning of Yesterday—No Hope for a Change.

A drop in the temperature of forty degrees marked the weather man's celebration of May 1. Practically all the events in the weather catalogue were crowded into a few short hours, but a repetition of the heat spasm need scarcely be looked for by the populace of London today.

Yesterday morning opened beautifully, the thermometer at the local observatory showing 57 degrees. By 2 in the afternoon the mercury had risen to 66, which, owing to the humidity, was as good as a summer 70. An hour later the 70 mark was passed, and then the opening thunderstorm of 1911 occurred.

A Heavy Rain.

Rain in bucket bubbles splashed down, and those who were unaware of the forecast of a cold wave from the west revelled in the beautiful growing weather. The street railway workers were driven to cover, but fifteen minutes later the sun shone brightly again. Then ample proof that it was a sample of "growing weather" became evident. It was certainly growing colder. By evening those who had shaken overcoats shivered and hustled for home, emerging in the evening in a snowstorm.

Cold at Night.

During the night the coldest registration was 29.5, but half a degree better being shown at 8 this morning. The barometer is still rising. So prospects of warmer weather are rather dull for the present.

TWO LONDON STUDENTS MAY SAIL THE OCEAN

Drs. A. R. Gordon and J. P. Johnston Have Left for British Columbia.

Dr. Allister R. Gordon, of Weyburn, Sask., and Dr. Jasper P. Johnston, of Fingal, two of the recent graduates of the medical department of the Western University, will be unable to be present at the convocation on Wednesday afternoon at the Auditorium. These two young doctors left early last week for Victoria, British Columbia, where, upon arrival, they were to write on the British medical council, after which they will consider taking a position as a ship's physician on board a large ocean liner sailing between Canada and Japan on the Pacific Ocean. They also have been in correspondence with the principal hospitals at Victoria, and have received most favorable offers to become house surgeons there.

Both of these gentlemen stood well in their recent examinations and their success, which is confidently expected, in British Columbia, will reflect credit on the medical department of the Western University of this city.

WEATHER NOTES.

The depression mentioned yesterday now covers the lower St. Lawrence Valley, while the pressure is still highest in Manitoba.

Heavy rains have fallen from Ontario to the Maritime Provinces, attended by moderate gales on the Great Lakes.

The weather remains cold in Manitoba, and it has turned much colder in Ontario.

YESTERDAY'S WEATHER.

A depression, situated Sunday night in the Upper Mississippi Valley, is now centred over the Ottawa Valley. Its advance was accompanied yesterday by heavy rains from Sault Ste. Marie to the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Westward the weather was fine, but continued cold in Manitoba.

CITY HALL WILL NOT REALIZE $100,000

If Sold, the City Will Have to Pay Out Probably $25,000 for Office Accommodation.

TROUBLE OVER THE DEAL

Mr. T. H. Smallman Says the City Should Keep the Present Building and Put It Into Proper Repair.

It is quite apparent, after a conversation with a majority of the aldermen, that the council will sell only the city hall site, not the vacant land to the rear, to the Royal Bank.

In fact, there are quite a number of them who are persuaded that the city would not suffer a great deal if the whole deal fell through. It is apparent to these gentlemen that there is not sufficient money in sight to build a hall suitable to the needs of London.

Mr. T. H. Smallman gave it as his opinion that the city would be much better off if the council would expend $25,000 on their own building, as it stands.

"The present city hall is an excellent building," he said. "In appearance it is one of the best we have in London, and I am persuaded after looking the situation over carefully, that it would be a good thing for the citizens if the deal was not finally closed.

Make It Modern.

"My own idea is that we could spend $25,000 on the old city hall and make it up-to-date. It is not necessary to have the auditorium. That could be closed to advantage. It has long been a source of trouble in the council, and in addition it is rented to clubs, and parties, in direct competition with citizens who are paying taxes on halls for amusement purposes. As I said before, this part of the building could be rearranged, and offices built, with the result that there would be plenty of room for many years to come. We would have sufficient accommodation to do the city for twenty years, at least.

Some Figuring.

"When you come to figure it out the city will not have very much money with which to build a new hall. They have $75,000 raised by the issuing of debentures. Then there is the purchase money for the hall, $100,000. According to information received from some of the aldermen who know, it will be three years before they can occupy the new hall. During that period high rents will have to be paid for accommodation of civic officials, as it will require a great deal of room to house them. The sum of $5,000 has been set aside in the estimates to prepare the building to be used for that purpose.

Spend $25,000.

It is not very wide of the mark to state that the city will expend perhaps $25,000 during the next three years. That will have to be charged against the new hall. That will leave but $75,000 or $80,000 out of the money received from the sale of the old hall. Then you will have to get a site. That is going to cost a lot more money than some people imagine. In the final analysis the city will have little more when they start the erection of the building than the $75,000 raised by debentures. Any person knows that such an amount will not construct any kind of building. Certainly there will not be sufficient to build a city hall suitable to the needs of London.

Citizens Didn't Know.

"I am more than ever convinced that the citizens did not know that they were voting away a considerable section of the market when they voted for that bylaw. No person ever dreamed of that. We thought that we were disposing of the city hall, and that was all that was intended. You know what your aldermen said in the council. Many of them had no idea that they were giving the bank so much land. They certainly would not have voted to do that, had they known.

"The fact that the arcade will be closed is not fair to the merchants. I think it will react to the disadvantage of the merchants. As I said before, the citizens will be just as well satisfied if the deal is not closed. It is one of these things voted on by the people without full knowledge of just what they are doing."

Some of the aldermen stated to The Advertiser that the bank might as well give up the rear part of the hall property, as they cannot build upon it.

Masonic Temple Protected.

"There is no question that the Masonic Temple Company are protected by an agreement," said one of the aldermen. "That piece of land 55 by 32 immediately north of their building at the rear of the city hall was deeded by an agreement. The terms of this document are very explicit, and show that no building can be erected thereon. The city solicitor admits the validity of that claim. The north half, 55 by 32 feet, directly south of Smallman & Ingram's, is not so protected, but we have a moral right to see that their interests are conserved. It is of no use whatever for building purposes. If we give it to the bank it will be used as a lever to force Smallman's to pay the price for the use of this land. It is just a little bit of a hold-up, that's all. If we want to go into the hold-up business, why not let us get money from Smallman & Ingram's for the city hall? That would be just as reasonable. We are in a way committed to the sale of the city hall, but I will insist that only the city hall proper is sold."

Mean Business.

It is understood that a large number of affidavits and declarations can be presented to the city council from citizens to the effect that when they voted on the bylaw for the sale of the city hall, it was on the understanding that only the present site would be sold, and that they had no intention of selling a part of the market.

It could not be learned what attitude the Royal Bank would take if the council sold them only the city hall site.

"We accepted the proposition made us by the city," said Mr. F. E. Karn, the manager. "It is now up to the city council."

LAWYER HAD WRIT IN POCKET AS HE ADDRESSED COUNCIL

Smallman & Ingram Were All Ready to Restrain the City in Case an Attempt Was Made to Rush Through the Sale of the Hall.

A writ of injunction has been issued by Fraser & Moore, on behalf of Smallman & Ingram's, preventing the City Council from finally selling the City Hall to the Royal Bank of Canada.

It was taken out yesterday afternoon, and Mr. M. D. Fraser, who was present at the council last night on behalf of the company, had the writ in his possession at the time, though he did not mention it then.

Moral Claims.

However, the action of the Council in putting the matter over for a couple of weeks, made it unnecessary for him to serve the injunction, and it will not be served provided an amicable arrangement can be made between the parties interested. It will be held in abeyance until the next meeting of the council.

"We did not lay before the council anything more nor less than our moral claims," declared Mr. Fraser. "We think we have certain legal rights, established during the 60 years the market has been open at the rear of our store, but we do not care to discuss them at this moment. As I have stated before, the council have the remedy for our troubles in their possession. They can so arranke it, that it will not be necessary for us to go to court to establish our rights. They can sell the city hall site proper, and that will be the end of it so far as we are concerned. We are convinced we have certain legal rights, and we intend to hold them, if at all possible."

BOLT PASSED THROUGH STRAW BUT DID NOT SET FIRE TO IT

Peculiar Freak of Lightning at Lambeth When a Barn Was Struck and Three Cows Killed in a Stable Owned by Norman Bogue.

Yesterday's electrical storm, the first of the season, which did not appear to be particularly serious, played havoc on the farm of Norman Bogue, about a mile north of the village of Lambeth, wrecking his windmill and killing his three cows in the stable, but by a freak of fortune failed to fire a straw mow through which the bolt passed.

Neighbors heard the thunder clap, but as no damage was apparent, no attention was paid until Mr. Bogue discovered that his mill had been seriously damaged. The bolt glanced from the frame and passed into the barn, burning a passage through the straw mow and down into the cattle stable.

Here it passed over several of the animals, killed two, stunned the next pair, and killed the following one. The passage was burned out cleanly, and the destruction of the building by fire was avoided by the narrowest margin.

THREATENS TO MURDER DETECTIVE W. J. BURNS

If McNamaras Are Convicted He Will Kill Their Prosecutor and Captor.

Los Angeles, May 1.—Leon M. Rappaport, general counsel for the Structural Ironworkers of America, arrived tonight. Capt. John D. Fredericks, district attorney, earlier in the day, received a letter threatening him with death if he prosecuted the McNamaras. On a report to be made to Clarence Darrow by Rappaport will depend whether Clarence Darrow will come to Los Angeles. Darrow is still anxious, apparently, to keep out of the case.

In preparation for the defence offices in the Higgins Building, Second and Main streets, have been engaged, and before the trial is ended the entire floor may be in use. Detectives are being put out by the defence to watch those on the other side and to gather whatever may be obtainable that will weaken the case Detective W. J. Burns has worked up.

The threat of death received by District Attorney Frederick was contained in an envelope postmarked "Times Square, New York, April 26." "M. J. Schmidt," sender of a similar threat to Detective Burns, signed it, and the letters are similar in tenor. With much of the abuse eliminated, it reads:

"Mr. Fredericks, District Attorney, Los Angeles: The McNamara brothers are innocent, because I am the one who set the bomb and the Burns detectives are looking for me, but they are not smart enough to catch me.

"They were paid a large sum of money for their work by the capitalists, so they had to pinch somebody, but you can be sure that John J. McNamara is entirely innocent.

"The smart Burns detectives are looking for me in the west, but I am in New York and tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock I sail for Europe, but when this trouble is over I am coming this country, and let me assure you that if the McNamaras are convicted, I will avenge them. I am an all around machinist and clockmaker by trade and can make any kind of an explosive myself, without the aid of any body, and will kill you and Burns like a dog, as I know both of you personally."

Mrs. Ortie E. McManigal will come to Los Angeles and will be a witness in corroboration of the testimony her husband will give regarding his dealings with John J. McNamara. The prosecution will show by her, it claims, that letters to be offered in evidence came from John J. McNamara, although he did not sign them.

CECIL S. GUNN RETIRES FROM BANK

Will Conduct a Realty Business in Winnipeg.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Winnipeg, May 1.—Cecil S. Gunn, manager of the Merchants' Bank here, retired today. He has been in the bank's service for seventeen years. In future Mr. Gunn will conduct a realty and financial agency on his own account.

Mr. Gunn is well-known locally. He is a brother of Mr. Walter Gunn, formerly of London, and now of Winnipeg, and of Mr. J. M. Gunn, of this city.

PROPOSED UNION OF LOCAL LOAN COMPANIES

Amalgamation of Ontario Loan and Agricultural Loan Now Being Voted On.

The proposal to amalgamate the Ontario Loan and Debenture Company and the Agricultural Savings and Loan Company, has been revived in a form which makes it probable that the union will be approved by the majority of the shareholders of each company. The basis of union is the exchange of ten shares of Agricultural for nine shares of Ontario. Agricultural stock is quoted on the Toronto exchange at 129; Ontario at 164. The Agricultural dividend is 6 per cent.; the Ontario dividend was recently raised to 8 per cent. The following letter, signed by Agricultural shareholders, who hold stock of the par value of $212,600, and addressed to the directors of the Agricultural, explains the position of each company:

"We, the undersigned shareholders in the Agricultural Savings and Loan Company, being satisfied that it is in the interests of the said company to bring about an amalgamation with the Ontario Loan and Debenture Company, provided the same can be done upon a proper basis, agree to support your board if an arrangement can be made on the basis of ten shares of Agricultural for nine shares of Ontario.

"The paid up capital stock of the Agricultural is $630,200, and the Rest, according to the last report, is $365,000, and the balance carried forward $43,159, showing the intrinsic value of that stock to be 174. In addition, this company has appropriated $40,000 for 'accruing commission.'

"The Ontario last year earned a dividend of 7½ per cent and added $50,000 to the Rest and $8,030 to the amount carried over, whereas the Agricultural paid 6 per cent and added $25,000 to the Reserve. The earnings of the Ontario upon its capital amounted to about 12½ per cent, while the Agricultural's earnings upon capital amount to about 10 per cent.

"We are satisfied that if the amalgamation takes place between these two companies upon the basis suggested, the earnings can be materially increased, and that the same will show at least 12 per cent upon the whole capital. We believe that the result will be to increase the market value of the stock in the new company very soon to at least 175, as it would be actually worth more than that amount."

The Agricultural directors W. J. Reid, president; Thomas Beattie, M.P., vice-president; T. H. Smallman, Mr. Mussett and Thomas P. McCormick subsequently sent a circular letter to the shareholders, strongly recommending the amalgamation on the basis of ten Agricultural shares to nine Ontario shares. They argue that the new company would have a capital and rest exceeding $3,000,000 which would establish its credit on a first-class basis. The present income upon $100 of the Agricultural stock is $6. The income on amalgamation stock would be equal to 8 per cent upon $90, or $7.20. The immediate result would therefore be an increase of income by one and one-fifth per cent. "The prospects are," the directors add, "that the new company will be able before long to pay 9 per cent, or even 10 per cent, to its stockholders and still place each year a substantial addition to the reserve fund."

The Agricultural shareholders are now voting upon the proposal.

CONCESSIONS CANCELLED.

Managua, Nicaragua, May 2.—A decree has been issued abolishing all concessions which were given on the Atlantic coast by ex-President Zelaya.

WESLEY SCOTT WON HIS CASE CARRIED APPEAL TO TORONTO

Decision in Scott Vs. Vining, a Sequel to a Famous Trial, Was Reversed—The Executors Will Now Carry the Case to a Higher Court.

Wesley Scott, who has carried the action to break the will of his father through the courts for nearly two years, won a signal victory in the divisional court at Toronto before Chief Justice Mulock, Justice Riddell and Justice Clute, today, when a decision, reversing that of Chief Justic eMeredith, who dismissed the action at the last assizes, and carrying with it his costs in both this city and Toronto, was handed down in his favor.

However, the executors have already decided to take the matter to the court of appeals.

The matter was brought up in Osgoode Hall, Toronto, yesterday, Judgment being reserved until today. Mr. J. M. McEvoy is acting for Scott and Mr. M. K. Cowan, K. C., on behalf of Macpherson & Perrin, of London, for Vining, et al., executors of the estate of Harvey Scott.

The Case.

Wesley Scott, the plaintiff, who now resides on Maitland street, with his family, alleges that in 1885, while still unmarried, he made a contract with his father to remain on the Scott farm, near Thorndale, and work the land till the death of his father, when he was to receive the property. In the event of either breaking this agreement, the other was to be entitled to damages.

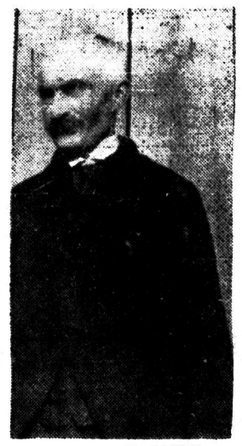

A few years later Wesley was married, and while he always took his meals at the home of Harvey Scott, he and his family resided in a small building on the Scott homestead. There was never the best of feeling existing between the families, it is alleged, and after frequent squabbles, Harvey Scott was shot by Mrs. Wesley Scott on her doorstep after a quarrel over a dog in August, 1908.

Nephew Got the Property.

When the will was read, it was found that the deceased had bequeathed his realty to a nephew, Arthur Scott, ignoring the alleged contract with Wesley. The latter then commenced action to recover the land, or damages and wages for several years as an alternative. In the courts he produced records kept by his father of the cost of maintaining Wesley, and of the salary paid him. The son was rarely in London, although but a few miles away, during his lifetime, and when he was absent for a few hours or a day, he was docked at the rate of one dollar per day, while his wages were reckoned at about $30 per year. Such items as six cents worth of salt, two cents for a sheet of paper, and the like were also deducted by the old gentleman.

Goes to Higher Court.

"The matter will certainly be carried to the court of appeal," declared Mr. Macpherson, of Macpherson & Perrin. "The executors intend to fight the case to the last court." The action will therefore be heard from again at the court of appeal's fall session.

WESTERN CRITIC PICKS THE LONDON PLAYERS

Chas. H. Wheeler Says They Are Entitled to the Earl Grey Trophy.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Winnipeg, Man., May 2.—Charles H. Wheeler, doyen of the dramatic critics in the Canadian west, in a resume of the Earl Grey dramatic competitions, places the competitors in the following order of merit: London first, Winnipeg "Strollers" second, Edmonton third. He says the London company's skillful interpretation of "Lady Huntworth's Experiment" should be given the trophy.

He says that Dr. Bucke's lifelike portraiture of the vicar, and the cook in Miss Michie's hands, were the chief acting features, and the ovation given them at the close was well deserved.

The judges will give the award this week from Ottawa.

FOREIGN MISSIONS UNTOUCHED BY REBELS

Situation Throughout Kwang Tung Province Still Very Grave.

[Canadian Press.]

Hong Kong, May 2.—Advices received today state that the anti-Manchu movement has spread in the West River District through Kwang Tung Province and to Amoy in the southeastern part of Fuken Province. According to the bet information obtainable, the foreign mission have not been molested by the rebels.

Service on the Canton-Kowloff section of the railway to Hong Kong has been abandoned, and the British railway officials have been obliged to come to this city.

It is difficult to obtain reliable news of the presence of the rebels, but the dispatches received are grave. Details of the fighting at Canton came early today.

The bodies of the soldiers killed have been removed. A son of the viceroy of Canton and a maid were found hidden under a bed in the servants' quarters of the palace, which escaped the destruction when the home was set on fire.

The commander of a cruiser was killed, Admiral Li Wo, commander of the royal troops, in the first two days of the fighting, is said to have personally killed ten revolutionaries.

Bluejackets guard Shami, and close by are several British warships and other foreign gunboats.

ALLEGED SCANDAL MAY BE PROBED

Foreman Mulhall Declares That He Will Show Up Charge Against Him.

ENGINEER'S EXPLANATION

Mr. Wright Again Affirms That the Gravel Used by Mr. Mulhall was Not Paid for by the City.

"I welcome the fullest investigation," City Engineer Wright.

"This matter has got to be probed to the bottom," Ward Foreman Mulhall.

"I have done my duty, but the council did not accept it. I do not know at this moment whether or not I will bring the matter up again," Ald. Tancock.

The statements above show the attitude of the three principals in the somewhat sensational charges made by Ald. Tancock in the city council Monday. The parties accused say they are anxious to have the matter finally settled, and the atmosphere cleared. Whether or not that will be done remains to be seen. Mr. Mulhall will consult his solicitor this evening, and it is said to be probable that he will enter a suit for defamation of character against those who first circulated the story regarding him.

Engineer Explains.

"The matter is a very simple transaction," City Engineer Wright stated to The Advertiser this afternoon. "Mr. Mulhall was going to build a foundation for his house and also a cement walk. He ordered some gravel. I think he got it from two or three contractors. It was delivered in the yard behind his own place on Piccadilly street. I had nothing whatever to do with it, but when I heard that gravel was being delivered there, I instructed Mr. Mulhall to get receipts for the money paid for the gravel.

"I thought that perhaps some person might connect the engineering department with the transaction, and I took this precaution to protect myself, and the department. Mr. Mulhall got the receipts, showing that he had paid the money for the gravel. They were handed over to me, and when I had examined them, I gave them back to Mr. Mulhall. He has them at the

LOCAL DRUG CLERKS TO FORM A UNION

A Meeting Will Be Held on Wednesday Night to Consider the Matter.

A meeting of the local drug clerks will be held in the Tecumseh House on Wednesday evening to lay plans for forming a union. Mr. H. B. Archer, of the London Trades and Labor Council, will be present and give the clerks any information they may desire. The clerks will shortly ask for early closing, and it is understood that the druggists are agreeable to this and that all stores will be closed every evening except Saturday at 8 o'clock.

It was stated to The Advertiser this afternoon that very shortly an effort will be made to form unions among the shop clerks, drygoods clerks and other clerks of the city. The idea is to have all the various unions formed affiliated with the International Labor Union.

WHARVES OVERCROWDED

Halifax Delegation to Ask the Government to Provide More Room.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, May 1.—Mr. J. A. Chisholm, mayor of Halifax, at teh head of a delegation composed of several members of the city council and board of trade, arrived at the Windsor last night, and will proceed today to Ottawa, where they will interview the Government on the question of providing more facilities for the exchange of business at Halifax.

The wharves are overcrowded, and the I. C. R. and the steamships have not sufficient room for the landing and loading of freight at the port of Halifax.

CITY HALL SALE WAS LAID OVER

Royal Bank and Smallman & Ingram May Be Able to Get Together.

SELLING PART OF MARKET

People Had No Idea When They Voted For Sale of City Hall That a Portion of the Square Was Included.

The city hall was not sold by the city council last night. Instead the whole matter was laid over for two weeks in order to give Smallman & Ingram and the Royal Bank an opportunity to get together and make an amicable settlement regarding the land at the rear of the city hall, which goes with the hall proper.

Mr. M. D. Fraser, K. C., appeared before the council on behalf of the company. He pointed out that Smallman & Ingram had purchased their present site, and had built a very expensive building upon it, with the expectation that the market would never be sold, or built upon. The sale of the city hall site, or rather the property at the rear, as now proposed, would be a serious detriment to Smallman & Ingram's business. They would be closed in from the rear, and much of the large expenditure undertaken by the company would go for naught.

"It is my opinion that 90 per cent of the people who voted on the bylaw in January last supposed they were voting on a bylaw to sell only the land the city hall is built on and nothing more," declared Mr. Fraser. "That is all that I imagined was going to be sold, and I have found many in the same position."

Mr. Fraser pointed out that the sidewalk at the rear of the store was put down as a local improvement, showing that the city considered the company had rights there.

Selling the Market

The closing of the arcade would be a detriment to business, and Mr. Fraser could not understand why the businessmen down town did not protest more vigorously against the sale of the hall.

"If you were to take the vote today, and the citizens knew that you were selling a large portion of the market, the bylaw would never carry," said Mr. Fraser. "There is a change of feeling now in regard to the hall, and it would be no calamity if the sale was never consummated. Smallman & Ingram's have done much for the city, more than the Royal Bank or any other bank will ever do. We come to you and ask you to help us. We employ from 300 to 400 people. We have tried to boost the city and make it a better place for business and as a place to live in. We ask you not to injure us. The bank will be getting an excellent bargain if the city sells them the actual hall site for $100,000. You can get plenty of purchasers in the future if you ever want to sell. I have come to the conclusion that the citizens will be from $100,000 to $200,000 out of pocket by the time the new hall is built. Do not ruin citizens, I ask, who have spent their money in good faith in London."

People in the Dark.

Mr. T. H. Smallman spoke briefly. He indorsed everything that Mr. Fraser had said. The aldermen as well as the citizens did not know how much they were selling when the bargain was first made. They know now, and they should hesitate, knowing full well what it means to citizens of the city. The bank ought to be well satisfied to take the property as it stands, without the additional thirty feet at the rear.

"The market is too small now," continued Mr. Smallman. "Still you want to decrease the size. That is not right, gentlemen. Give us fair play, that is all we ask. We think we have a right to ask that."

Mr. Fraser pointed out that the agreement did not protect them. It read that all rights and easements of others would be respected. That meant in the last analysis that Smallman's would have to go to law to prove their case, and open the door for much litigation.

"There is no necessity for the expenditure of a large sum of money on law," said Mr. Fraser. "You have the power to prevent that, and you should exercise it."

"If we allow the matter to stand over for two weeks," said Ald Eckert, "would that be satisfactory to you?"

"Certainly," answered Mr. Smallman. "We will be delighted to do anything to settle the matter amicably. As I said before, the council has the means of preventing any injustice."

Protect the Big Store.

Ald. Ashplant strongly advocated protecting Smallman's. As was the case with others, he did not know what the sale of the hall meant until after the bargain was practically closed. However, he could not favor it, if it did injustice to others.

"I was under the impression that the rear portion of the lot would not be built upon," commented Ald. Richter. "I thought the city could sell it, but no buildings could be erected upon it. I am free to say that if I had known that the city hall could be extended to shut off the light of any business corporation, I certainly would not have voted for it. The price was a good one, but I would not take a good price to do an injustice, particularly to so good citizens as Smallman's. It is an excellent industry and should be protected.

"I would not do Smallman's any harm," said Ald. Wilson, "but we would not be doing the right thing by the Royal Bank, if we repudiated the bargain. They may never want to build upon that property."

Looking Ahead.

"We will have to pay $15,000 or $20,000 before we get into the new hall," declared Ald. Saunders. "If the Royal Bank are given a chance to hold Smallman's up for a like sum, the city will be getting little for the exchange, and the Royal Bank will be getting a very cheap site. We would be money ahead if we went ahead with our city hall, and sold the present building three years' hence."

"I am in the unique position of being the only man who voted against this sale," declared Ald. Stevenson. "I thought it was wrong in the beginning, and still think so. The people undoubtedly voted for the sale of the city hall, but only for the site on which it stands. It was the duty of the council, if any detriment to the interests of the citizens crops up, to change all arrangements. I still consider it a gross mistake to sell the hall."

Mayor Beattie explained the negotiations leading up to the sale. He had proved the bona fides of the statement made last December that he had an offer of $100,000 for the hall.

The Mayor Speaks.

"We have gone carefully into the matter," said his worship. "We are informed by Mr. Meredith that Smallman's have no legal rights on the property to the rear of their store. Whatever claim they may have is moral and moral only. The bank will assume all liability. They will defend any suits that might be entered, and they take over the land knowing fully what they are undertaking.

"I would do nothing to hurt Smallman's. No person appreciates more than I do what they have done for the city. I want to do all I can for them. I have endeavored to bring the parties together, but have not succeeded. Perhaps the council will succeed where I have failed. It is my opinion that the bank will ask a cash consideration for granting Smallman's any further privileges. They purchased the property, and they want all the advantages that goes with it.

"Delays are dangerous, and the sale may be blocked. If the council wishes to jeopardize the deal, all well and good. I think the hall should be sold. I also am of the opinion that Smallman's should have taken the matter up at an earlier date with the bank. I feel that we are in honor bound to carry out this deal. However, I have done my duty."

The motion to lay it over for two weeks carried by a unanimous vote.

HAMILTON'S BUILDING TIED UP BY STRIKE

Four Hundred Carpenters Walked Out Yesterday.

Hamilton, May 1.—Four hundred carpenters, including over a hundred non-union men, walked out at 10 o'clock this morning on the refusal of the bosses to meet their demands of 40 cents an hour, a five-cent increase. The employers were given until Saturday midnight to reply, but ever since the union presented its request, the bosses' association persistently ignored it, and this has created a strong indignant feeling on the part of the men. Building is practically at a standstill in the city, and the large concerns employing carpenters have closed up. Both sides declare emphatically that they will not give in. This afternoon a number of bosses signified their intention of paying the wage asked for.

In conjunction with members of the union all over the province, ten iron workers residing in Hamilton quit work this morning.

The plumbers have been granted their request of an increase from 37½ cents to 40 cents an hour.

All but one firm have given the electricians 35 cents as the minimum wage, an increase of five cents an hour.

FARMERS' BANK CASE BEFORE GRAND JURY

Two Charged With Hypothecation of Notes Elect for Non-Jury Trial.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, May 1.—Before the grand jury this morning, the case of Rev. George M. Atlas, who is to be tried for forgery and theft, was heard. The witnesses from Turkey that have been brought by the crown, gave their evidence, and the defence claim that S. Vlahos, who went to Turkey for witnesses for them, was stabbed and killed there.

This afternoon the cases of the Farmers' Bank failure, in which Hon. J. R. Stratton, W. S. Morden, J. J. Warren, A. S. Lown, Alex. Fraser, Dr. J. Ferguson, and John Watson are charged with obtaining the bank charter by fraud will come before the grand jury.

J. J. Warren and W. S. Morden, charged with hypothecating the bank's notes, came before Judge Winchester this morning, and decided to be tried without a jury. They pleaded not guilty.

SHAUGHNESSY BACK

Has Placed Orders For New Liners on C. P. R.

Montreal, May 2.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy arrived home on Saturday from a six-weeks' trip to Europe. In an interview, he said, that Canada was attracting an unusual amount of attention, not only in Great Britain, but on the continent as well. He is of the opinion that no country in the world is more in the limelight at present than Canada. In regard to the question of new steamships for the Atlantic line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Sir Thomas said there was nothing to report at present. While he was in England he had expected to place orders for the new liners, but certain changes had to be made in the plans, and this would cause a week or a fortnight's delay before the contracts could be placed.

With regard to the reported interview, published in New York, in which it was stated that Sir Thomas had said on the question of arbitration that war was a good thing to kill off the surplus population, Sir Thomas said he made no such statement. What he had to say with regard to arbitration was that it would be ideal. "But I am afraid," said Sir Thomas, "that any such scheme would be rather Utopian. What I did say was this: 'Would the world be any better off in a century if there was no war in the meantime?'" Sir Thomas explained that he did not venture to answer that question himself, and that probably the interviewer had supplied the answer.

TO DRESSMAKERS AND OTHERS

Demonstration of Hall-Borchert Adjustable Dress Forms---Wednesday Morning 8 to 12

We take pleasure in announcing a special demonstration of the widely known Hall-Borchert adjustable dress forms. This demonstration will show all interested women exactly how a few simple movements will enable any home dressmaker to adjust these dress forms, so that they will be perfect models for any size bust or skirt desired. The lines and proportions of the Hall-Borchert forms are perfect—one of the reasons why they are used by pattern and fashion houses.

The demonstrator will also call attention to the Hall-Borchert bust forms, which we have placed in stock, and we can promise you an interesting fifteen minutes tomorrow morning between 8 and 12 o'clock.

In addition to the adjustable forms, we offer the non-adjustable Home Dressmaker Forms; waist forms, each $1.00
Dress Forms with stand $2.25
Also with stands and skirt $3.50

Demonstration on Second Floor.

FOUR HOURS ONLY, 8 TO 12 O'CLOCK (Tomorrow) Wednesday.

Our Accuracy of Judgment

Is confirmed by the evidence of your own eyes. Smallman & Ingram interpret the vogue of the fashion centres of the world, and the kings and queens of dress are very glad to co-operate in our efforts to present their very best to London.

The opera, the drawing-room, every function in London, is an indorsement of Smallman & Ingram styles in the apparel of those in attendance.

Scientific merchandising does not crush the poetry out of things—rather, it fosters the subtle charm of the exquisite in dress and adornment.

This store is like a mighty river in its flood-tide, for into it the thousand tributary merchandise streams of the world have poured their units of strength until now it comes bearing on its crest the best of all of the good things of the earth.

It is a very advanced and helpful service that this store offers.

HUGE PLANT ON COAST TO BUILD NAVY SHIPS

A Great Dock at Esquimalt to Accommodate Largest Vessels.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, May 1.—The inauguration of a big ship building enterprise on the Pacific coast, which will be able to take a share in the building of Canada's new naval vessels is presaged by the passing of an order in council on Saturday granting a subsidy for a drydock and ship repair plant of the first class to the Esquimalt Graving Dock and Shipbuilding Company. The subsidy provided for under the statute passed last session is three and a half per cent per annum on the total cost of a period of 35 years. According to the estimate of the engineers of the department of public works on the plans submitted the total cost of the drydock wharf repair machinery, building, etc., will be $2,657,800. The dock will be 900 feet long, 41 feet deep and 128 feet wide, and capable of accommodating the largest vessels afloat. The promoters are Messrs Bullen, the well-known shipbuilders of the Pacific coast, who have associated with Denny Bros., of Dunbarton, Scotland, one of the largest shipbuilding firms in the United Kingdom.

ANOTHER WINE RIOT.

Bar-Sur-Aube, France, May 1. — Excited by the riotous actions at the demonstration of several thousand wine growers, yesterday, the workmen, attempting to form a procession, attacked the dragoons who sought to bar the way. A colonel and several of the troopers were unhorsed and trampled upon. Several of the rioters were injured and order was not restored until late in the evening.

CARNEGIE TRUST PROBE

Former Resident of Truro, N. S., Indicted in Connection With Case.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, May 2.—Charles H. Hyde, chamberlain of the city of New York, who is a native of Truro, N. S., was prepared today to appear before the criminal bench of the supreme court for arraignment on an indictment charging perjury.

The grand jury which has been investigating the affairs of the suspended Carnegie Trust Company returned the indictment last night.

Great secrecy was maintained over the indictment, which was sealed and marked "N. A.," meaning "no arrest." Samuel Untermeyer, counsel for Mr. Hyde, on learning of the indictment, assured Justice Davis that his client would appear in court today for pleading.

Mr. Hyde's indictment is said to have following a story told the grand jury by Joseph Grobin, who is said to have related that he made loans through the Northern Bank to the Carnegie Trust Company, under what he described as coercion. J. V. Smith, Hyde's secretary, is alleged to have received a check for about $4,000 from the Carnegie Trust Company, which Smith is said to have told the grand jury he turned over to Hyde.

MEXICAN PEACE CONFERENCE.

San Antonio, Texas, May 2.—Francisco Carberjo, peace commissioner, last night left San Antonio for Juarez. He said he was confident of the success of the peace conference. He did not think Madero would insist on President Diaz's resigning.

LONDON, TUESDAY, MAY 2.

POOR MR. BORDEN.

The position of Mr. Borden at present evokes a considerable measure of sympathy from Government supporters. Naturally a fair-minded and mild-mannered man, he is constantly being shoved into extreme courses by the swash-buckler elements which seems to have a fatal predominance in Conservative counsels. Mr. Borden saw at first in the Government's naval policy nothing to object to, but was forced into a senseless opposition by the Roblin-Rogers wing. Towards the reciprocity agreement he was at first somewhat complaisant, but the manufactured fury of the anti-reciprocity agitation, which was taken out of his hands by selfish interests in Montreal and Toronto, has again driven him into violent expedients. He can take no joy in the foolish policy of obstruction. Poor Mr. Borden, head of a turbulent and inharmonious crowd, is like a virtuous sheep, butted along at the front by the goats of his party.

Carlyle, in his French Revolution, tells of some aristocrats jeering one day at one of their own number who was following along after a motley mob of sans-culottes: "I must follow them; I'm their leader," was his apologetic explanation.

The party which Mr. Borden heads is a great puzzle. It is absurdy split into east and west on the tariff question, it says and does things without rime or reason, and the leader is expected to put some sort of rational front or mask upon it all. He is well-meaning, but weak. He bobs about as a cork on a troubled water, drawn this way or that, and occasionally cleanly submerged by some subaqueous monster's pull on the string.

ABUSING FREEDOM OF SPEECH.

The forbearance of the Ottawa Government has been sorely tried for years, and has reached a point where patience has ceased to be a virtue. Some form of closure is necessary if the House of Commons is to remain a business assembly. Twice since 1902 there have been eight-month sessions. In 1906 it was decided to open future sessions in November, in the hope of proroguing before the summer months, but the Opposition now threatens to keep Parliament sitting the year round. Impotent in everything else it has this one power. As Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the other day:

"It is well known that the rules of this House are the old rules of the British House of Commons, which have since been discharged by that House, this being found necessary in order to be able to carry on the public business, on account of the abuse of these rules. By the rules which prevail in this House it is in the power of the Opposition to block legislation almost indefinitely. Our rules are those in existence in Great Britain in 1867, and those rules then were not abused. But in Great Britain abuses arose, and the rules were taken advantage of by a minority to block legislation which, in the view of the majority, was necessary for the good government of the country. So, I would like to say, it is in the power of the Opposition to block legislation almost indefinitely."

It will not be possible to amend the rules of debate this session, as the Opposition intends to waste as much time as possible on the reciprocity question. The next session will probably be the last of the present parliamen and it should be the last in which a minority will have the power to paralyze public business. The Government should give notice that its first duty in the new parliament—no one seriously imagines that the Government will not be returned—will be to provide one method of putting an end to sheer obstruction. Unless the sessions are curtailed it will be more difficult than ever to induce business and professional men to enter public life. For any class but the professional politicians, attendance at Ottawa is becoming an increasing sacrifice. The mother of parliaments was driven to the closure by the abuse of freedom of speech. The Canadian House of Commons also is being driven to it by politicians who have allowed liberty to degenerate into license.

THAT CHATEAUGUAY INCIDENT.

The decision of the British committee in charge of the Festival of Empire to eliminate the Battle of Chateauguay from Canada's share in the pageant, is not meeting with entire acquiescence in this country. The British managers may have exaggerated American sensitiveness regarding a battle like Chateauguay. The case is something like the deletion of a Mikado selection from a band programme a few years ago in honor of some Japanese visitors to England; at which Japanese newspapers laughed, oriental fashion. No doubt the battle of Chateauguay is one of the glorious things of Canadian, especially French-Canadian history. But it is amusing, to say the least, to see certain journals and politicians, who are always harping upon the disloyalty of Quebec, bristle over a slight to our Quebec brothers, whose ancestors helped to save Canada for the Empire.

Looking at the matter more closely, though, it appears that the wrong to French-Canada is trumpeted only by way of text for a snarl at the United States. And yet how are the poor Americans to blame in this case, except that they will pay their wicked dollars to see the festival? All the same, the wolf will blame the lamb, though he drink down stream. One of the Toronto papers takes occasion to attack the American school histories: "Let the United States so teach history in its schools that the rising generations of Americans will give Great Britain and Canada their proper due." Is not this a belated bark? Have the Americans not been improving their history text-books for some time past? In the Cambridge Modern History the volume on the United States is written largely by broad-minded American historians. A very high standard of history study is in fact being reached in the Republic owing to the general multiplication of universities and the wide distribution of university ideals.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has bought six vacant lots in Montreal. Can't the Toronto Telegram photograph his bank-book?

Nineteen hundred and eleven has so far behaved abominably. There has been no spring, and summer has suffered a relapse.

Penetanguishene ratepayers have voted $27,000 for hydro-electric power, $16,500, of which goes to the purchase of the existing private plant. Some hydro-electric leaders will consider this extremely quixotic.

Trains will be running into Porcupine by Dominion Day. Projected to open up a farming country, the Temiskaming railway stumbled over silver and gold. Cobalt and Porcupine are literally found money.

When Mr. Borden visited Weyburn, Sask., in 1907 he spoke under a banner bearing the motto, "Reciprocity With the United States." It was put there by the Conservatives of the riding. In his next visit to the west he had better have an advance agent to prevent such accidents.

The Montreal Star has discovered a plot of the Standard Oil Company to capture the C. P. R. It feels obliged to offer some excuse for the continued rise in C. P. R. stock since the announcement of the reciprocity agreement, which was to destroy the Canadian railway system. The Star's explanation is scarcely more imaginative than its attacks upon the agreement.

AT THE DINNER.

[Baltimore American.]

"Beastly function, isn't it?"

"Yes."

"Our hostess is the limit, isn't she? Do you know her?"

"Yes; she's my wife."

THE LAST DEGREE.

[Chicago Post.]

She studied hard in college
To gain her M. A.; then
She soon applied her knowledge
To win her M. A. N.

SOMETHING TO REMEMBER.

[Toronto Globe.]

Canadian electors must remember that the politicians now advising them to let well enough alone advised them in 1896 to let as bad as could be tolerated alone.

THE STRANGENESS OF WOMAN.

[Chicago Tribune.]

Oh, the strangeness of woman who weeps
at the sight
Of a butterfly's wings torn and bruised,
But who laughs at the anguish and grief of the man
Whose heart she has lightly refused.

AN INDICATION.

[Washington Star.]

"Is Biggins the superior influence in his own house?"

"I'm afraid not. He's one of those men who understand exactly what their wives are talking about when they describe what other women wear."

LENGTH.

[Chicago Tribune.]

"Well," panted the defeated foot racer, "you won fairly, but you beat me by only a nose."

"Huh!" gasped the other; "I beat you half a yard."

"Yes; that's what I said."

At which point the hasty interference of the referee became necessary.

THE VOICE OF LABOR IN MONTREAL.

[Toronto Star.]

In Montreal, the bottled of the anti-reciprocity campaign, the Trades and Labor Council has approved the tariff agreement by a large majority. This makes the alleged "straw votes" secured among workingmen by Opposition newspapers look rather silly.

WHAT IT SAYS OF ITS LEADER.

[British Columbia Week, Conservative.]

Mr. Borden is a most estimable man, of the most mediocre attainments. He could never lead a corporal's guard to victory, much less a large party. He has none of the instincts and none of the magnetism of a leader. He has missed every great opportunity of making a stand against the policy of the Laurier Government, and, in some instances, notably that of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway policy, he literally made a "hash" of matters through not knowing his own mind. His stand on the naval question was vacillating, and on the present great reciprocity question feeble and featureless. In no sense does he lead the party at the present time.

THE CUP THAT CHEERS.

[Canadian Collier's.]

After May 1 the United States is to have good tea. This will be welcome news to the thirsty traveller, who comes back from there complaining that he cannot get a decent brew outside the big cities. There may be some history mixed up with this national shortcoming. United States coffee is delicious. The very cheapest restaurants seem to have the knack of getting the quintessential flavor out of the berry. It caresses the palate like the syllables of an Italian love song. But the tea has been downright bad, ever since the Boston tea party, away back in the eighteenth century. Hands across the sea will grip tighter now, for there is nothing puts your true Briton in a friendlier humor than a good cup of tea. Tea is the best stimulant in the world. It cheers, as Mr. Pope says, but does not inebriate, and it has no liverish aftermath like coffee. The rehabilitation of tea in the United States will help President Taft and Sir Edward Grey in their peace movement. It will forward the Anglo-Saxon federation and do other beneficial things too numerous to mention. But, remember, the chief part of good tea is the good making of it, the nice seething of the leaves, the psychological second when it should cease simmering.

A LATE LARK TWITTERS.

[W. E. Henley.]

A late lark twitters from the quiet skies,
And from the west,
Where the sun, his day's work ended,
Lingers as in content,
There falls on the old grey city
An influence luminous and serene,
A shining peace.

The smoke ascends
In a rosy and golden haze. The spires
Shine and are changed. In the valley
Shadows rise. The lark sings on. The sun,
Closing his benediction,
Sinks, and the darkening air,
Thrills with a sense of the triumphing night—
Night with her train of stars
And her great gift of sleep.

So be my passing!
My task accomplished and the long day
done,
My wages taken, and in my heart
Some late lark singing,
Let me be gathered to the quiet west,
The sundown splendid and serene—
In peaceful death.

GENERALLY SPEAKING.

[Philadelphia Record.]

"Facts always speak for themselves," quoted the Wise Guy.

"In which connection it is perhaps needless to add that a woman is an incontrovertible fact," replied the Simple Mug.

THE UNATTAINABLE.

[Puck.]

Young Bachelor—I often wonder if I am making enough money to get married on.

Old Benedict—Well, I don't know how much you're making; but you ain't.

HIS REWARD.

[Life.]

"Who gave ye th' black eye, Jim?"

"Nobody give it t' me. I had t' fight for it."

LOYALTY.

[Puck.]

He may be six kinds of a liar,
He may be ten kinds of a fool,
He may be a wicked highflyer
Beyond any reason or rule;
There may be a shadow above him
Of ruin and woes that impend,
And I may not respect, but I love him,
Because—well, because he's my friend.

I know he has faults by the billion,
But his faults are a portion of him;
I know that his record's vermillion,
He's far from a sweet seraphim;
But he's always been square with yours truly,
All ready to give or to lend,
And though he is wild and unruly,
I like him because he's my friend.

I knock him, I know, but I do it
The same to his face as away,
And if other folks knock—well, they can it
And wish they'd had nothing to say.
I never make diagrams of him,
I never analyse my friend;
For I don't analyse—I just love him,
Because—well, because he's my friend.

CITY HAS A CHANCE TO BUY A BEAR

Englehart Man Has One Tame Enough to "Eat Off Your Hand."

The city may get a real live bear.

At the meeting of the city council last night a communication was received from Mr. Levi Dodge, of Englehart, Ont., offering to sell to the city a bear cub, 1 year old, guaranteed to be thoroughly broken and easy to handle.

"Let No. 2 committee have the bear," suggested Ald. Richter.

"Send it to some other committee," commented Ald. Cooper. "We have trouble enough now without a bear."

"The bear might feel at home with some of you fellows," commented Ald. Eckert.

However, the communication was sent to the board of works.

MANAGER KEENAN ARRIVES IN LONDON

Monday Night He Reported for Business to Mr. J. R. Minhinnick.

"Jo-Jo" Keenan, playing manager of the London baseball club, arrived in London last night from Flint, Mich., and reported for business to Manager Minhinnick. This morning he was busy corresponding with several players, and the first of the local squad will be busy at Tecumseh Park in training within a week.

Myers, of Flint, who has played second base on the Fort Wayne team, Shortstop Brane, a Cleveland semi-pro, and Davidson, of Port Huron, a pitcher and outfielder, were wired today to come along.

They are all young men and very fast, according to Keenan, who will have his entire crew rounded up in a couple of days. The larger leagues are now dropping recruits who were tried out in the spring, and who are now being dropped in accordance with the rules, and in order to curtail expenses. Keenan is very enthusiastic, and believes that the Forest City will show to advantage on the Canadian circuit.

At Death's Door From Kidney Disease

Saved only by "Fruit-a-tives"

Clansbrassie, Ont.

"Two years ago, the doctor made forty-four calls on me, and then said he had done all he could for me. I was suffering with intense Kidney Trouble and Inflammation had set in. Two other doctors were consulted and agreed that nothing could be done to help me.

On the recommendation of a neighbor I took "Fruit-a-tives" and they cured me. To-day, I take "Fruit-a-tives" as my only medicine. I am in excellent health, and "Fruit-a-tives" is the medicine that cured me after I had been at Death's Door for months.

I am glad to be able to give you this testimonial. It may benefit some other woman suffering as I suffered, as I believe that I would not be alive to-day had I not used "Fruit-a-tives."

Mrs. P. E. Webber.

"Fruit-a-tives" — by its marvellous actions of the Kidneys — completely restores these vital organs to their normal strength and vigor—and cures every trace of Kidney Trouble. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit.

ALDERMIN WRANGLED OVER EXPENSE MONEY

Ald. Tancock Said Ald. Cooper Got $5 More Than Anybody Else.

Ald. Ned Cooper's expense money to Toronto at the time when the city of London bill was up for discussion in the Legislature was the cause of a sharp battle between himself and Ald. Tancock in the council last night.

There had been some cross-firing, but nothing of a serious nature until Ald. Tancock gave the chairman a hard rap by stating that he got $5 more than any alderman who went to Toronto.

"Ald. Cooper should explain why it is necessary for him to expend $5 more than an ordinary alderman," declared Ald. Tancock.

"That is a low down mean trick," shouted Ald. Cooper. "He knows that it is wrong, that's what he does."

"Order, gentlemen," Mayor Beattie interrupted.

"You got the money," persisted Ald. Tancock. "What did you do with it?"

"That is the kind of a man you are, anyway," shot back Ald. Cooper. "I was down in Toronto a day longer than the others attending the Good Roads Convention. Part of the money was for Ald. Mitchell. That's how I got it. You are no good any way."

Mayor Beattie finally got order restored, although he had to threaten to fill the belligerents out of the council [illegible].

SLASHES GIRL'S THROAT AND TAKES HIS LIFE

Sensational Attempt at Murder and Suicide at Montreal Yesterday.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, May 1.—Montreal was this morning the scene of an attempted murder and suicide.

John Robinson early this morning armed himself with two razors at his boarding house, 293 St. Antoine, and, going to the ice cream parlor owned by Eudore Larrue, at the corner of Beaubien and Sanguinet streets, without warning slashed Miss Larrue across the throat with a razor and then cut his own throat from ear to ear with the same weapon.

Miss Larrue rushed into the street calling for help and crying "Jack Robinson did this."

When passers-by ran into the store they found Robinson just breathing his last. Miss Larrue was taken to a hospital, where it was stated that she would recover.

Robinson formerly boarded with the Larrues, it is said, and was requested to leave, owing to his unwelcome attentions to Miss Larrue. It is supposed that he brooded over this until he became temporarily deranged.

THREE WEEKS' DEBATE ON RECIPROCITY BILL

U. S. Senate Making Plans For Extensive Hearings on the Measure.

Washington, May 1.—The Senate finance committee gave formal consideration to the Canadian reciprocity bill today, the full meeting of the committee being postponed until tomorrow. At that time plans will be made for extensive hearings on the measure, and it probably will be from two to three weeks before the bill is reported to the Senate.

CHICAGO STRIKES

Twelve Thousand Men Out in and Around Windy City.

Chicago, May 1.—Maintenance of way employees of six railroads, numbering 2,500 men, struck tonight when their demands for recognition of the union and a wage increase were refused. The total number of men involved in strikes and lockouts in and near Chicago as a result of May Day labor troubles is estimated at 12,000. The men out include 2,500 railroad men, 2,500 bricklayers, 6,000 in the building trades, 300 marble workers and 700 in miscellaneous unions.

The maintenance of way strike affects the Illinois Central, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and the Baltimore and Ohio terminal lines, the Chicago Junction Railroad, the Western Indiana Belt Railroad, and the Indiana Harbor Belt Railroad.

AN AFRICAN RISING.

Cologne, May 2. — Dispatches from Kamerun, a German colony of Western Equatorial Africa, which have been received by manufacturers here, report a native rising in the southern districts. An expeditionary force has been sent to pit down the movement.

CHOIR RECEIPTS ATTACKED

Manager of Sheffield Tour Takes Action Against Harriss.

St. Paul, May 1.—The box office receipts of the concert given by the Sheffield Choir, the famous English organization, now making a tour of the world, were attached in a suit brought in the Ramsey County district court by Louis W. Gay, manager of the United States tour of the choir, against Charles Harriss, the financial backer and general manager.

By this suit the St. Paul Symphony Orchestra, which, through its agent, handles the receipts of the St. Paul concert, is forbidden to pay over any share from the sale of tickets to the Sheffield Choir.

Mr. Gay admits in his complaint that his salary as American manager and booking agent has been paid to date, but alleges that a certain percentage of the proceeds was granted him, and that a reasonable and fair amount under that agreement is $4,000, or 10 per cent of the entire gross receipts.

His salary was raised to $150 per month on Feb. 1, he says.

Mr. Gay adds that the United States tour of the choir is ending in St. Paul, whence the choir will proceed to Winnipeg, and from there to Europe. The garnishment suit was served on the box office at 3 o'clock, and the summons in the action against Mr Harriss was handed him later.

LAMP SHADE PARASOL

Black embroidery in bold relief on a white silk background make a most effective parasol, especially when shown in combination with the Alice Maynard hat and the new silk dress.

HOW AN UMBRELLA SHOULD BE ROLLED.

The process of rolling an umbrella up neatly is simple. The majority of people hold it by the handle and keep twisting the stick with one hand, while with the other they twist and roll the silk. Instead of this, they should take hold of the umbrella just above the ribs of the cover.

These points naturally lie evenly with the stick. They should be kept hold of and pressed tightly against the stick and then the cover should be rolled up. Holding the ribs thus prevents them from getting twisted out of place, or bending out of shape, and the silk is bound to follow evenly and roll smooth and tight. If an umbrella is rolled in this fashion until it is old enough to look rusty it will look as if newly bought.

CYNTHIA GREY.

To remove ironmold make a paste with salt and lemon juice and lay it over the yellow mark. Repeat a second time if necessary.

If you wish to economize with regard to your coal, burn a little coke with it; but remember that coke must not be put on when the fire is low or it will deaden it.

To renovate black crepe take a little skim milk and water, and add a small lump of glue to it. When quite hot, sponge the crepe with it, and then shake till dry.

To keep a bed aired put in a stone water bottle filled with boiling water every second day. This is very little trouble, and the bed is then ready for use at any time.

Cocoanut matting can easily be cleaned by taking a large bowl of boiling water with plenty of soda added. Get a stiff yard broom, dip in, and scrub a small piece at a time. When finished take a bowl of clean cold water and rinse the same way. This is also a good way to clean cocoanut fibre mats or street door mats.

Even quite cheap table linen may be made to look as glossy as fine damask if ironed in the following way: After the linen has been washed, boiled and rinsed, wring it as dry as possible, roll it up in a dry sheet, and leave it for an hour. Then iron till it is thoroughly dry. In this way the linen escapes the wear and tear of hanging on a line and keeps a better shape.

Here is a glove hint which is vouched for as infallible in its effects. Procure a tin box or a jar, with a tight, close-fitting cover, and place in the bottom a quantity of lump ammonia. Then suspend the gloves in the box or jar, close it tightly, and allow it to remain this way four or five days. At the end of this time remove the gloves, and every spot will be found to have vanished.

To soften skin that is harsh and inclined to be dry and scaly, bathe nightly in milk that is just on the point of turning. Let it dry on the face. Half a curful will be amply sufficient for the purpose. Soft rain water to wash in will, in a short time, improve the poorest complexion. Even the hair will grow brighter in its tints if exposed occasionally to the wind and the rain.

Never throw away the peel of a lemon. However small or large a quantity you may have, put it to soak in a dish of water for a day or two; then get a wide-necked bottle or jar, put in the peel, and cover it well with sugar; cork up and make air-tight, stand the jar in not too cool a place. The sugar will gradually dissolve. A tablespoonful of the liquid added to cakes or milk puddings takes the place of essence of lemon and imparts a very nice flavor. Always keep the peel well covered with sugar, or it will be apt to turn mouldy.

For cleaning the flatiron when starch sticks to it use a piece of fine wire screening. Put the screening on paper on the ironing board and run iron over it. This is much better than scraping the starchy deposit off with a knife.

Correspondence

Edited by Cynthia Grey.

Dear Miss Grey—Please give me a few rules on introductions, with an example. IN DOUBT.

A.—Simple methods are always best. In introducing a man to a woman the woman's name is always spoken first, and the man presented to the woman. "Miss Black, let me present Mr. Smith," is a favored style. A young woman is presented to an older woman. Pronounce names distinctly, don't mumble. A woman always rises to receive an introduction to another woman. Indeed, one is always safe to rise, and to shake hands as well, on being introduced.

Dear Miss Grey—(1) What will remove a varnish stain from dark green messaline? (2) What is a percolator?
ANXIOUS ONE.

A.—(1) Chloroform or naptha, if anything will. In using naphtha be careful about fire. (2) It is a modern coffee pot with an upper basin for the coffee grounds, the bottom of the basin being a sieve which allows the coffee to filter through when filled with water.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. What will take milk and grease stains out of old rose cloth dress? 2. What will clean a lace net yoke with thread of gold braid running through it? I tried a piece of it in gasoline but it turned the gold braid black. 3. What is the very latest skirt? Would you please answer right away. Thanking you in advance.
A READER.

A.—1. Place a piece of blotting paper beneath the stain; sponge with ammonia; then lay fresh blotting paper beneath and above, and press with a moderate iron. 2. I fear the only remedy is to buy new material and make another yoke. This will be better than trying to clean the soiled one. 3. Skirts cut in straight narrow lines still prevail. Many of them have a piece about 14 inches in width stitched on the bottom to give the appearance of a band. Others have small pleats inserted to make a little fullness.

A FLOWER GARDEN HINT.

All lovers of flowers know they are prettiest when arranged with their own foliage. But the home gardener has learned that when dealing with sweet peas it is not always possible to obtain enough of their leaves for contrast, so he grows some plant that gives the right sort of foliage for floral combinations. The annual gypsophilia, a mass of tiny white flowers, is one of the most attractive of these. Others are the dainty ornamental grasses such as "Job's tears," the "cloud grass," "squirrel's tail" and hare's tail grass, subjects far too seldom cultivated in gardens.

A Bishop's Daughter.

Toronto News: The wheel of chance turned up a live number for a clever young Canadian girl this week.

Miss Mary Hamilton, daughter of the late Bishop Hamilton, of Ottawa, arrived in Toronto on Thursday morning to take a position with Miss Margaret Anglin in the company playing "Green Stockings."

The pretty piece of luck came through peculiar and pathetic circumstances.

Miss Crosby Little, one of the members of the company, received word on Wednesday night that her mother in Chicago was dying. The young lady left on the late train. Placed in a quandary by the incident, Miss Anglin remembered that during her visit in Ottawa, Miss Mary Hamilton had called upon her at her hotel where they spent some time together. Miss Hamilton had been several years in professional companies and was anxious to be with Miss Anglin. Mr. Gallagher, the manager, was called in and also advised that the Ottawa girl be asked to join the company. Miss Hamilton arrived on Thursday morning, went direct to the theatre, rehearsed with the company until noon, and in the afternoon memorized the lines of the part of Madge.

Thursday night she went on and played the role without any show of nervousness, and in a manner that heartily pleased the star and manager. The tour lies through Ontario, thence into the States, concluding at the end of two weeks in New York City.

THE CABLEMAN

BY WEATHERBY CHESNEY.

"I haven't the least idea, Mr. Scarborough, sir, I am pleased to meet you again, but you will no doubt share my regret that I do so under somewhat depressing circumstances. I had the honor to acquaint you yesterday with the fact that this show was going to the devil; I have the honor to inform you to-day that it has gone. Will you let me have the pleasure of standing you a whiskey and soda?"

"What's the matter now?" asked Varney.

"The matter is, sir, that the lady you asked for just now has deserted. The name of Mona de la Mar will henceforth not appear on the playbills of Val B. Montague's American Circus Combination. In fact, I doubt whether that world-famous troupe will ever issue another paybill. Mr. Varney, I include you in my invitation to drink whiskey and soda."

"Look here, Montague, stop talking rot, sir, and tell us what you mean."

"I mean," said Montague, "exactly what I say. That if you ask me what that means, I can't tell you. It is a problem beyond my understanding. My schooner, the Sea Horse, sailed from the harbor of Ponta Delgada this morning, without my knowledge or permission. It has not returned, and I don't know where or why it has gone."

And B. Montague bounced as he gave the news, and saw the look of consternation on the young men's faces.

Then with a sudden change of manner, he collapsed, and said in a quavering voice to Varney:

"What does it mean, Phil? Ruin to me, of course! But what else?"

"Who was on board?" asked Varney.

"The four deckhands, the nigger and the ring-master. I discharged him last night, so he had no right to be there. Except those six, and Mona de la Mar, nobody."

Scarborough and Varney exchanged a look.

"By Jove!" said Varney, and Scarborough gave a short laugh.

Neither of them felt much doubt about the identity of the hooded woman now. Margaret Ryan had not forgotten her vow of vengeance when she came to the islands of the Azores. She had tracked down Mona de la Mar, who had ruined her. She had brought him to bay in the valley of the Caldeira de Morte. The injured and the injurer had met face to face. But what had happened then?

What had passed between them had been acted without witnesses. The curtain had gone down upon a tragedy. But had the woman caused it?

CHAPTER X.

A Message From the Dead.

Patches of fog were creeping across the water, and as the evening drew down they thickened and grew wider. The setting sun flashed on water mirrors of ever diminishing area. In another hour it would be dark, but even sooner than that the fog curtain would be unbroken for minute by minute the reefs in it were closing.

Elsa stood up in her boat, and marked the exact direction of the rock for which she was steering. Fortunately she had had the foresight to bring a compass. She had half a mile to go yet, and the breeze was dying. She would steer by sight, so long as the fog did not hide the rock, if it did she would have to trust to her compass.

"I wonder what the current is?" she mused. "It is setting dead inshore but how much? If I allowed half a point for drift, that should take me near enough to let me steer by the sound of the surf."

The islet for which she was steering lay a little more than two miles from the shore, with deep water close up to its flanks. It was ring-shaped, like a Pacific atoll, but its formation was different. Not the slow, quiet growth of coral insects had made it, but a convulsion of nature. It was the summit of a deep-sea volcano, whose crater raised a brim, a hundred yards across, out of the sea. There was one place on the West, where for a few feet this brim had been broken down, leaving a gap by which a boat might enter, and the water inside made an almost circular lagoon.

Local tradition said that it was bottomless.

It was a place where a ship might have ridden out in safety the heaviest hurricane that ever blew, if it had been possible for any ship to enter. But the opening in the circular wall was hardly more than ten feet across, and underneath there was a broad sill, which rose to within two fathoms of the surface. It was a dangerous entrance, even for a small boat, and when the wind blew from the west, impossible. But Elsa knew it well, and thought that she could manage it, even alone.

She was an expert and fearless boatwoman, but she was not accustomed to having to depend altogether upon herself in her expeditions. The boat was a present, which her father had given her a little more than a year ago; but with the present, he had coupled a stipulation that she should never go out in it alone. The irregular coasts of San Miguel breed treacherous currents, and wind squalls are sudden; but even had the waters been as safe as the Solent, Elsa's boat was too big for one girl to manage.

This, however, was the first occasion on which she had been out in it alone, but today a companion was impossible. For she had work to do which no eye but her own must see.

Did she still believe in her father's innocence? She was acting as though she did; and, for the rest, she tried to force herself not to think.

She had not kept her faith without a struggle. Misgivings had arisen in her mind, but she had strangled them remorselessly at their birth, and by an effort of will made herself believe that they had never been born. There was, however, one moment when the doubts had been too strong to be stifled thus; they had cried clamorously, and had refused to be choked; and for half an hour she had tasted a misery more bitter even than that which had come when she first knew that her father was dead. That moment was when she listened to Scarborough's tale of the embezzlement of Margaret Ryan's inheritance, and had told him passionately that since he believed it he might go—for almost she thought she hated him. She had thrown herself on the couch and sobbed hysterically; for at that moment the knowledge was in her heart that what he said was true.

Later had come the reaction. She took up her faith again, the more unreasonably because reason had forced her to lay it down, and she despised herself for the weakness in allowing the calumny to influence her even for a moment. There was something of obstinacy in this—the obstinacy of a strong nature which fights the more tenaciously when facts and common sense alike are against it, and it knows quite well that it is in the wrong; and there was even more of the beautiful loyalty with which every true woman will always, at whatever violence to her own judgment of right and wrong, defend those whom she loves.

It will be remembered that when Elsa set out to go to the circus at Ponta Delgada, her father's last words to her had been that if—unlikely as such a chance seemed at the time—he was not at the chimelas when she returned, she would find in his desk, in the second small drawer, on the left, a paper that would tell her what she was to do.

This paper was marked: "To my daughter Elsa, to be opened by her between 10 and noon, if by that time I have not returned to destroy it."

Elsa opened it an hour after Scarborough had left her. This was what it contained:

"My Dear Daughter,—I told you this morning that when you returned from Ponta Delgada you might possibly find that I was not at home to greet you, and to hear your report of what and whom you had seen. I might have told you that the possibility was a certainty, but I did not wish to alarm you. By the time you return I shall have succeeded or failed in an enterprise the success of which is so essential that to insure it I am voluntarily putting myself in some danger. While you are doing your best at Ponta Delgada to discover who the unknown enemy is, I shall be engaged in a similar contest with an enemy who is well known to me, an enemy who of late has taken to using threats. Now, little girl, between the known enemy and the unknown I run a double risk of failure, and this is what you must help me to avoid.

"The sealed packet which you will find with this letter contains documents which must at all costs be kept out of the hands of people who would use them to your and my injury. I do not trust to my own ability to safeguard them, nor is it possible for me, watched as I believe I am, to put them into any place of safety. That must be your task. Those who are shadowing me will not consider it necessary to watch you also. Take the packet, and put it in the safest place that you know. When I return, if I do return, I shall not ask you where it is.

To Be Continued.

MOTHERS' DAY

A Movement Which Has Become Very Popular in Canada.

A movement which has proved a very popular one is that of observing the second Sunday in May as "Mothers' Day," by wearing a white carnation. Although only started last year, already it has spread widely. In Canada the sponsor for the movement is W. G. Reek, of Toronto, president of the Canadian Home Journal. He is receiving cordial assistance from the press and pulpit.

In the May issue of the Canadian Home Journal there is a strong appeal for the observance:

"The small boy, with his cut finger, the tiny girl with her torn frock, make an immediate chase for 'Mother'—sure of a wisdom that will repair the injury, even if some wholesome advice be thrown in about 'not doing it again.' Then come the impatient half-grown years, when the exclamation, 'Mother is so old-fashioned,' and 'Mother does not understand that things are different now,' are constantly heard. But the years, those unhaiting years, march steadily by, and we hear the man and the woman, with their own stern problems to solve, admitting regretfully, 'I believe Mother was right,' and 'I wish I'd done as Mother advised me.'"

"So, on the breath of a white carnation, on the second Sunday of May, will come back the oldtime memories, with their childish joy and pain. It may bring the keenest sorrow in remembering happier things,' or it may be but a badge in honor of the living mother."

A very touching little episode occurred last May in a well-known and prominent Toronto family. On the Tuesday morning after Mothers' Day the postman brought a letter from a member of the family who had been a wanderer and rather a black sheep for many years, addressed to the mother of the group. As that dear old person had been with the angels for some time, the letter was opened by a daughter, who read as follows: "Dear Old Mother,—The nurse in the hospital where I am has been telling me about Mothers' Sunday, and I have made up my mind to write to you. I am not long for this life, being far gone in illness, but if you are still alive I want you to know I am thinking of you on Mothers' Day. I am inclosing the white flower nurse pinned on me this morning. Good-bye, dear old mother."

There is an interesting account of "Mothering Day," an observance of 50 years ago, when it was customary to visit parents, especially mothers, on the mid-Sunday in Lent, taking some small gift. Herrick writes:

'I'll to thee a simnel bring,
'Gainst thou go a-mothering;
So that, when she blesses thee,
Half that blessing thou'lt give me."

CATHERINE HOPLEY DEAD.

London, May 1.—Catherine Cooper Hopley, an authority on ephidians, died today. While in the United States at the time of the Civil War collecting material for her book of birds, the authoress was arrested on suspicion of being a British spy, and was imprisoned for a few months.

Knox Pure, Plain Sparkling Gelatine

Is the secret of the cook's good cooking

It figures on every menu—in not one, but several dishes. Knox Gelatine garnishes the meats, gives body to the jells, stiffens the sauces and gravies, thickens the soup, gives consistency to the ices and ice cream, and is the basis for delicious desserts.

Each package makes one-half gallon.

It is economical—goes four times as far as other desserts. It is pure—you add your own flavor, color and ingredients. You know what you are eating.

MARSHMALLOWS

½ box Knox Sparkling Gelatine. 2 cups (one pint) granulated sugar. Few grains salt and flavoring to taste.

Soak the gelatine in ten tablespoonfuls cold water. Heat the sugar with ten tablespoonfuls water till dissolved. Add gelatine to syrup and let stand until partially cooled. Add salt and flavoring, beat with a whip until too stiff, then with a large spoon until only soft enough to settle into a sheet. Dust granite pans thickly with confectioners' sugar; pour in the candy about half inch deep and set in cool place until thoroughly chilled. Turn out, cut in cubes and roll in confectioner's sugar.

HOME BINGLES DECIDE

Magee and Titus Slug for Four Sacks, a Man Being On in One Instance—Many Assists.

Philadelphia, May 1.—Philadelphia's victory over Boston by 3 to 1 today was due to home run drives by Magee and Titus, the latter's hit also scoring Alexander.

Boston's six hits off Alexander were scattered through as many innings. The visitors had 23 assists, an average of one for every putout credited to them. Eight of these assists were made in a double play in the fourth inning, when Paskert and Doolan were run out. Score:

LEAFS STRENGTHING THE TWIRLING STAFF

Two Right-Handers, Rudolph and Another, as Well as Catcher, Secured From the Majors.

Toronto, May 1.—A deal that has been in contemplation for several weeks has been completed by the Toronto baseball club, and as a result two right-hand pitchers and a catcher, who can also play first base, will be turned over to the Toronto club tomorrow by big league clubs. Dick Rudolph, who has been with the New York Giants since last fall, will be one of the pitchers. Waivers have been secured on Rudolph, and also on the other players mentioned. In connection with this the announcement is also made that waivers have been asked on Pitcher Jim McGinley, for years one of the mainstays of the Toronto club, and on Catcher Jack Slattery, who led the Eastern League in hitting last season. Slattery looks good to several of the Eastern League clubs and Newark and Baltimore will not likely let him get out of the league. Some of the clubs may also take a chance on McGinley, who gave every appearance this spring of being back to his old-time form.

NAPS MASSACRED BY TIGER CREW

Del Gainer, Detroit Recruit, Leads Team to Victory Over Cleveland.

HITS ARE PLENTIFUL

Players Have Singles, Doubles, Triples and Four-Sackers—Score 14 to 5.

Detroit, May 2.—Hughie Jennings' Tigers have engaged in several luscious batting feats this year, driven several pitchers back to the dug-out, worn out the rubber at home by crossing it with tallies, and kept the scorers working overtime chalking up pilfered sacks and so forth, but yesterday afternoon they outdid themselves when they made fifteen safe drives off Kaler and Harkness, stole a number of bases and ran the sacks like greyhounds, whipped the Naps off their feet, beat them 14 to 5, winning their fourteenth victory of the season and strengthening their grasp on the leadership of Ban Johnson's league.

The day was cold and bleak and dreary, and the older the game, the colder grew the atmosphere. More than two thousand huddled in grandstand and bleachers and cheered as the former champions walloped the offerings of the two Naps without the least concern for Forest City feelings.

And it was not a former champion either, who started the Tigers on their rampage. It was a young man who looks sure enough like a champion and who had the best day of his career yesterday. His name is Gainer, and he plays first base. His work has shown very well right along, improving daily, but yesterday he showed everything that could be shown. He played a brilliant fielding game, besides getting four hits out of five times at bat. Score:

ENGLISH BOXERS TO VISIT NEW YORK

Representatives of Amateur Association to Meet Championship Winners.

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 2.—The Amateur Boxing Association of Great Britain has accepted an invitation recently extended by the Pastime Athletic Club of New York, and will send five star men to New York to meet the winners of the boxing championship. The English team, consisting of W. W. Allen, R. Warner, Bruce Logan, D. Erskine and W. Spenceley, will leave for the United States on May 6, and the international bouts will be decided two weeks later.

EASTERN GOSSIP.

Jack Phelan has come to terms with the Providence club, and will be carried as a utility outfielder, while Manager Collins gives Perry and Pond thorough tryouts. While Pond won a record of .286 in the New England League, his work at the bat was not impressive in the games he played with the Greys.

Curtis, the catcher whom Manager McCaffery is using on first base pending the return of Gandil to the game, is doing the bulk of the hitting for the Royals.

WINNING BY K. O. ROUTE

Has Failed to Put Brown Away, But He Mauled Easterner With Bad Hand.

Chicago Examiner: Ad Wolgast is whipping them as fast as they set them up in front of him. And not only that, but he is stopping them. He has gained technical knockouts over three tough fighters, George Memsic, Anton Lagrave and "One Round" Hogan within a few weeks' time.

The knockouts were technical only because the referees stopped the contests when the champion was on the point of slipping over the knockout punch. It is to be wondered, after such an excellent performance—excellent even for a champion—if the critics who have been calling the Michigan wildcat a lucky champion, a fighter without the punch who would be whipped by the first good man he met, will admit that the present boss of the 133 pounders is the class—as good and game a champion as the division ever produced. Wolgast deserves all the praise than can be showered on him. He is beating them as quickly and as decisively as Bat Nelson did when he was champion. He is bowling over challengers as rapidly as Joe Gans did in his heyday, and he is knocking all the fight out of them before he even gets warmed to his work.

Defeated "K. O." Brown.

The only man he has failed with is Knockout Brown, whom the champion fought after breaking a hand, at a time when he did not know whether he could cut loose with his left paw or not. At that he beat Brown handily on both occasions, reports from the east to the contrary notwithstanding. Chicagoans who saw their ten-round fight in New York say Brown was a sorry-looking spectacle at the finish.

Wolgast is to fight two more sturdy lightweights before he takes his summer vacation. He will meet Frankie Burns at Colma, Cal., May 27, and Owen Moran in the same ring on July 4. If he beats them both, and there is every reason to believe that he will, his critics will be forced to hail him as the equal of any lightweight champion in history. This boy Burns, who boasts of what is called the hedgehog defence, won from "One Round" Hogan on a foul in twelve rounds. He outboxed Hogan, but did not have him anywhere near dreamland when Hogan put over the low blow.

Should Trim Burns.

Wolgast finished Hogan in two rounds, and although dope on a prize fight often goes wrong, there seems little chance for Burns to beat Wolgast, unless Ad should break a leg or an arm after they get started. Owen Moran will give Ad a great fight. But he is older, a higher liver and Wolgast should win on stamina alone. The little Briton is Ad's own weight and size. He is just as heady, more clever perhaps, a stiff puncher and a grand fighter, but will have to show more than he ever has before if he downs the wildcat in Jimmy Coffroth's ring Independence Day afternoon.

ENGLISH CORINTHIANS WILL VISIT CANADA

Famous Amateur Soccer Football Crew Coming to This Country.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, May 2.—Definite announcement that the Corinthians, of England, one of the most famous amateur soccer football teams in the world, will tour Canada and the United States in September, is made here by Capt. Harry Manley, of the Staten Island football club. The Englishmen will play only one game in New York. They will start their schedule in Canada, and later play at Philadelphia, St. Louis, Chicago and other cities.

BURNS, OF CALIFORNIA, WINS SLOW ONE AT LONDON

London, May 2.—Jack Burns, of California, defeated Herbert Synnot, of Australia, on points in a twenty-round contest here last night. An English sporting writer, in describing the contest, says that both were slow.

DAILY HISTORY OF BASEBALL

MAY 2.

1887.—Edward W. Collins, second baseman of the Philadelphia Americans, born in Millerton, N. Y. Collins led the American League in base stealing last year, negotiating 81 steals—a new record for the junior organization.

1889.—Two National League clubs made sixteen runs. Indianapolis procured this number of tallies off Ad Gumbert and John Tener, of Pittsburg, and the Giants collected this number of counters off "Hank" O'Day, of Washington. The bombarded pitchers have managed to get along pretty well in the world. Tener is Governor of Pennsylvania, Gumbert has held high political offices in Pittsburg and Hank O'Day draws a princely stipend for umpiring in the National League.

1901.—Cincinnati and St. Louis indulged in a slugging bee, the Reds triumphing, 16 to 12. Algie McBride and Dick Harley, now Haverhill's manager, each made four hits.

1904.—This was a bad day for Honus Wagner, of the Pirates, who thrice took the strike-out count at the hands of Bob Wicker. In 150 games last season the Flying Dutchman whiffed 59 times.

1910.—Outfielder Will Collins, of the Boston Nationals, made a home run with the bases filled off Pitcher Lew Moren, of the Phillies, who now is with Cincinnati.

MUSGRAVE AFTER REINSTATEMENT

He Is in Toronto and Wants to Ride in the King's Plate for Seagram.

ST. BASS' WORK-OUT

The Cedar Grove Farm's Champion Makes a Good Impression in Trial.

Toronto, May 1.—Jockey Phil Musgrave, the rider who has piloted several of Seagram's platers, is back in town. He is looking for reinstatement, so that he can ride in this year's plate.

Musgrave was suspended for a couple of bad rides in Jacksonville this winter. He is one of the best in the business, and is a great favorite with Mr. Seagram.

Stop the Minors.

The provincial police, who will have charge of all race meetings in the province in future, in order to see that the provincial license is duly paid, will strictly enforce the regulations governing the age of attendants at the meets. If anyone under 18 is seen on a race track, unless, of course, with his or her parents, he or she will be advised to stay away, and if a young man under 18 is seen to make a bet, or a bookmaker is known to have taken a bet from anyone under the age limit, both parties will be at once put off the track.

There were some lively workouts at the Woodbine yesterday, but the rain this morning stopped practically all the galloping.

The Workouts.

Hickory Stick did six furlongs in 1:17 4-5.

St. Bass, the plater, made them all sit up and take notice with a 1:15 2-5 six furlongs. He did the quarter in :24, the half in :48 4-5, five furlongs in 1:02. He carried 120 pounds.

Lady Lorne and Golden Wedding, of the Woodstock stable, did six furlongs in 1:21 3-5.

Praiseworthy did a half in 51 seconds.

Cape Sauce romped a half in 52 seconds.

Courtown II. did a half in :52, six furlongs in 1:20, and a mile in 1:49 2-5.

Valley Farm stable workouts were: Commola and Whaup, a half in 52 3-5 seconds; Powderman and Legislator, a half in :51, and a mile in 1:50.

Miss Martimas did a mile in 1:54, and a mile and a furlong in 2:08 2-5.

M'FARLAND SAYS CHAMP CAN'T STOP HIM IN 20

Packey Is Willing to Make 134 Pounds at 3 o'Clock, and Bet $5,000 He Will Stay the Route.

[Canadian Press.]

Chicago, May 2.—Packey McFarland, the lightweight, who returned from New York yesterday, said he would accept Ad Wolgast's challenge and make 134 pounds at 3 o'clock, and bet $5,000 that Wolgast cannot stop him inside of 20 rounds. McFarland refuses to make 134 pounds ringside.

INVALUABLE TROPHIES DESTROYED BY FIRE

Cups, Together With $20,000 Worth of Boat Club Property, Burned at Cambridge, Mass.

[Canadian Press.]

Cambridge, Mass., May 2.—Trophies won in many famous regattas in the past, together with a score of racing shells, were lost in a fire which destroyed the home of the Riverside Boat Club, on the banks of the Charles River, early this morning. The money loss is estimated at $20,000, but the value of the mementoes cannot be computed in dollars and cents.

FREDDIE PARENT RELEASED BY SOX

Veteran Goes to Jack Dunn's Baltimore Club, of Eastern League.

Chicago, May 1.—Comiskey today announced the release of Freddie Parent, the veteran infielder and utility man, to the Baltimore Club of the Eastern League. Freddie is one of the oldest players in the American League, having been a member of the Boston Club for several seasons before coming to Chicago. He played with the Hub outfit when it won the American League championship in 1903 and 1904.

Outfielder Meloan, the young "phenom" from the Springfield Club of the Three-Eye League, has been sent back to that outfit for further seasoning.

Providence, May 1.—It took thirteen innings, but Providence took the fourth successive game and the series from the Toronto team today. Maroney, who started for the Grays, pitched gilt-edge ball until the eighth, when he blew up. After Toronto had scored two runs and with the bases full and one out, Dale went in for the Grays. Besides pitching star ball, he made a two-bagger and a single in the remaining innings, his hits winning the game for Providence. Score:

BISONS DEFEATED BY MEN OF NEWARK

Buffalo Had Match Apparently Landed When McDonald Erred.

Newark, May 1.—Oh yes, that McDonald person has a good whip. The Buffalo third-baseman broke all long distance records today, when he heaved a ball from third to the centre field fence. It was a blame poor time to show his prowess, however, for a fellow named Lee on the Newark team walked home all the way from first on the throw and scored the run that beat the Herd, 6 to 5. Score:

FOUR FAMOUS HORSES IN GREAT MATCH RACE

Minor Heir 1.58½, Lady Maud C. 2:02½, Hedgewood Boy 2:01, and George Gano 2:02¾, in September.

Hamline, Minn., May 1.—A contract has been closed between the Minnesota State Fair officers and M. W. Savage, owner of the five fastest and most famous horses in the world, for a three-heat race on Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 4, the opening day of the Minnesota State Fair and Exposition.

The contract calls for the appearance of Dan Patch, the champion of champions, during the entire week of the fair, and for a three-heat race between Minor Heir (1:58½), Lady Maud C (2:00½), Hedgewood Boy (2:01) and George Gano (2:02¼). Intense interest of horsemen all over the world will centre in this race. It will be the first time that these four horses, all of whom have paced miles in two minutes or better, will meet in a three-heat race. Last year they were seen in one-mile dash races, and aroused great enthusiasm in various parts of the country.

PRES. LYNCH RULES AGAINST PITTSBURG

Disputed Decision on Critical Play in Game With St. Louis Upheld.

New York, May 1.—Pittsburg today lost her protest of a critical play in the disputed game played at St. Louis on April 24. President Lynch of the National League found for St. Louis.

In the eleventh inning, with Bresnahan on second and one out, Bliss batted a ball to the pitcher. The latter's throw beat Bliss to first, but dragged Hunter, the first baseman, to the edge of the bag in making the catch. A collision followed, in which Hunter dropped the ball and Bresnahan scored the winning run.

Investigation showed that Umpire Finneran had called Bliss out before he bumped into Hunter, and President Lynch finds that the collision followed from Hunter's position in the path of the runner. Therefore he rules that the ball was in play when Bresnahan ran in, and that his score was not due to intentional interference, but to an unavoidable accident.

Pittsburg protested to get a ruling on the play.

BELIEVE NEW YORK WEAKER THAN CUBS

Gotham Fans Anxious For Chicago Series to Test Giants.

New York, May 1.—New York baseball fans are anxiously awaiting the coming of the Cubs before finally passing judgment on McGraw's Giants for this year. The fact that all the games the Giants have won this year have been from Brooklyn and Boston, generally conceded to be the weakest two teams in the league, and have lost all the games they have played with Philadelphia, a probable pennant contender, is remarked on.

Chicago and Pittsburg are believed to have gone against stiffer opposition so far than the Giants, and the fact that all three teams are practically tied indicates to many Gothamites that the western clubs mentioned are stronger than the Polo Grounders.

FOR CORONATION MEET.

Montreal, May 1.—The Canadian Swimming Association has decided to form provincial associations.

The officers elected were: President, A. M. Hannah, Montreal; vice-presidents, D. Crutchlow, of Montreal, P. O. Suelis of Halifax, Charles Norris of Toronto, and W. Rowan of Ottawa; secretary, L. Norris, Montreal; treasurer, C. Goulden, Montreal. Gordon Johnson, of Ottawa, and George Hodgson, Montreal, were chosen to represent Canada in the swimming event at the Festival of Empire to be held in England this summer.

BROWN AND "AD" MEET ON COAST.

New York, May 1.—Dan Morgan said today that a 25-round fight between Knockout Brown and Ad Wolgast has been practically arranged. It will take place on the coast, following Wolgast's match with Owen Moran on July 4.

Early next month Coulon and Phil McGovern will meet again for twenty rounds. Their recent meeting was at ten, and Johnny shaded the Brooklyn boy.

ST. LOUISIAN TO ORGANIZE BALL LEAGUE IN ENGLAND

Charles C. Spink Will Import Players From America If Project Goes Through.

[Canadian Press.]

St. Louis, Mo., May 2.—Charles C. Spink of this city, will sail for England on Wednesday to organize a baseball league. A few teams already have been formed, but there is no organization. Spink will look over the situation, and if the prospects are at all bright will form a league and import players from America.

ERNEST BARRY DEFENDS TITLE AGAINST ALBANY

English Sculling Champion Wins on Five-Mile Course on the Thames.

[Canadian Press Cable.]

London, May 1.—Ernest Barry, England's champion sculler, retained his title today in a match with Wm. Albany, defeating the latter in a well-rowed race over the four and a half mile course from Putney to Mortlake.

Barry owed his victory to his superior condition. He won the toss and chose the Surrey side of the river, which gave him a big advantage. Despite this, however, Albany was in the lead from two to three lengths all the way to Hammersmith, half-way point on the course. There Barry drew up on even terms, but Albany quickly resumed the lead. The challenger rowed himself out within the next mile, and Barry soon drew away, winning by five lengths. His time was 23 minutes and 2 seconds.

More than 50,000 persons lined the course, and much betting, with Barry a heavy favorite, was indulged in.

The weather was perfect, but the river was rough in spots.

"ONE ROUND" HOGAN CHANGES HIS MIND

Californian Finds He Was Kidding Himself About Retirement.

New York, May 1.—"One-Round" Hogan, who lost in two rounds to Champion Wolgast last week, has reconsidered his determination to retire from the ring in case he was defeated. He has found that the fighting game beats any other trade he knows anything about, from a financial standpoint, and he will be matched to fight a number of local lightweights, including Bert Keyes and Leach Cross. If he wins in these he will likely be matched to fight "Knockout" Brown again.

CAN COUNCIL PAY REWARD FOR FINDING OF THE BODY?

Legal Side to the Question Which Must Be Explained—The Municipal Act Permits of No Offering of a Reward for a Body

Can the city council pay $100 reward for the finding of the body of Freddie Wilson?

This problem is now becoming as difficult of solution as that regarding who actually found the lad's body.

It will be remembered that the council in February offered a reward of $100 for the recovery of the boy dead or alive.

Some months have elapsed since the council adopted this resolution, but it was never rescinded, and stands today as it did the day after the motion was made.

It is possible that steps will be taken to prevent the council paying over the money.

In fact, there are several who will take that action, it is said, and the opinion of a well-known legal firm has been obtained as to the rights of the council in the matter.

No Power.

"The council have no power to offer any such reward," the lawyer informed The Advertiser. "The municipal act provides that the council may offer and pay a reward for the apprehension, etc., of a criminal. This provision does not cover the case. In my opinion, and in this I am backed by authorities, the payment of the reward would be a misapplication of the funds of the council. Any ratepayer is at liberty to apply to the courts for an order prohibiting the payment of the money, and holding the individual members of the council personally responsible for the money thus misapplied."

The reading of the act is consequently very plain, and it appears that the council will consider the payment of the money at some length.

Up to the present time no claim has been put in for the money. If the grant is legal, Mr. Roger Hutchinson, High street, is entitled to it.

However, these legal difficulties have arisen, and it is quite certain that the aldermen will not make the grant out of their own pockets.

WATCHMEN AT RAILWAY CROSSINGS

Railway Commission Refuses to Apportion the Cost, As the City Asked.

GRAVEL CONTRACTS LET

A Long Debate in the Council on the Subject—Other Business Dealt With Last Night.

City council sessions have been long this year, but the high-water mark was set last night, when the aldermen sat until midnight.

Not that there was so much business to be transacted, but the aldermen were in a talking mood, and as a result much of the time was consumed in profitless debate. There were some sharp passages, as usual. Ald. Cooper and Ald. Tancock being particularly aggressive.

The Dominion railway commission, in a communication to the council, refused to give an ex-parte ruling on the apportionment of the expense of maintaining watchmen at railway crossings in the city.

It will be remembered that some weeks ago the council wrote, asking the board to arrange the cost of maintaining watchmen between the Grand Trunk Company and the city. It was the intention to place a man at Egerton street at night, and also at Rectory street.

The commission state that every crossing must be dealt with on its merits, that a general rule cannot cover the whole ground, if the city desired to bring to their attention of the commission any particular crossing, they would give a ruling. The communication was filed.

Gravel Tenders.

As usual the gravel tenders caused a long debate. For an hour or more the aldermen endeavored to delve into the mysteries of this feature of the work of No. 2 committee. When it was finally settled the lowest tenders in all cases were accepted. F. Hutchinson gets section 1 for unscreened pit gravel, that being the only change.

Mr. J. C. Judd, K. C., appeared before the board on behalf of Mr. W. J. Anthistle, to protest against the imposition of a curb and gutter on north Wellington street. He pointed out that there were practically no houses on the street and a curb and gutter were not necessary. The matter was sent back to No. 2 committee.

Deputy Engineer Wright notified the council that the walks and curbs and gutters on Dundas and Richmond streets were in bad condition and should be replaced. The matter was sent to the board of works.

Mr. Wright notified the council that it would require $100 to fit up a new diamond in Queen's Park for the Methodist Baseball League. This matter will also be dealt with by No. 2 committee.

Road Roller Engineers.

Mr. H. A. Waspe and Mr. F. H. Reid were named engineers of the road rollers for the coming year. Mr. Wright notified the council that Mr. Fred Groves, who was first selected by No. 2 committee for one position, had taken a permanent job with the water commissioners, and was not available, so the two mentioned above were given the places.

Ald. Wilson will get light on Hyman street. At the last meeting of No. 3 committee his request for lights was refused. In the meantime, however, the water commission have strung poles on the street, and the council, on motion of Ald. Wilson, instructed No. 3 committee to have the lights placed at once.

The Bruce county council wrote, asking the co-operation of the city council in petitioning the Ontario Government to take over the Bell Telephone trunk lines. The finance committee will deal with the communication.

The East End Baseball League invited the city council to attend the opening game on Saturday next. It was accepted.

Dr. Porter, secretary of the convention to be held here on May 17 and 18, by the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, stated that he would be in the city shortly to complete arrangements. Dr. Porter could not say how many delegates would be present.

Coronation Service.

Rev. J. G. Inkster wrote, asking the city council to co-operate with the Ministerial Alliance in arranging a special service in the armories at noon on Coronation Day, June 22. He asked the council to undertake the expense of the programme and look after the seating accommodation.

A special committee, composed of Ald. Eckert, Ald. Ashplant and Ald. Cooper, was named to meet the alliance and discuss the matter with them.

The Western Fair board wrote, saying that the transportation building needed reflooring. The board of works will look into this matter.

Two money bylaws, one to raise $57,000 for waterworks purposes, and the other to obtain $90,000 for Niagara power, were given two readings, and will be sent to the Ontario railway and municipal board for their approval before being passed finally.

Those present at the meeting were: Mayor Beattie, Ald. Eckert, Richter, Stevenson, Bennett, Ashplant, Donnelly, Tancock, Wilson, Morgan, Mitchell, Saunders, Cooper, and City Clerk S. Baker.

BUYING LIQUOR FOR INDIAN IS A SERIOUS BUSINESS

A Fine of $50 Imposed Upon James Fox by P. M. Graydon.

James Fox, a citizen who has appeared frequently in the police court, and whose abode seems to be in various hotels of the city, was fined $5 or one month in jail by Deputy Magistrate Graydon this morning for procuring whiskey for an Indian named Joseph Kennedy. Fox took the days.

P. C. Alex. Ewan stated that last night, shortly after 9 o'clock, when he was standing behind the Masonic Temple, he noticed Kennedy walking up and down in front of the Clyde Hotel. A few minutes later Fox walked up to him and he saw the Indian give Fox something. Fox went back into the hotel, and the Indian stood by the front door. A minute or two later Fox came out, and the officer saw him slip a bottle to the Indian. P. C. Ewan started across, and the Indian took to his heels. Fox's name and address were taken, and then P. C. Ewan started out to find the Indian. He was discovered by P. C. McCullough in about half an hour.

In the box the Indian made a clean breast of the whole story, and flatly denied the statements of Fox that he had never given him any whiskey at all. He said he had given Fox 50 cents to buy the liquor and 10 cents for himself.

"I will fine you $50 or one month," said the court. "This is a straight case, and you were entirely to blame, as you went and asked the Indian if he wanted a bottle. This sort of thing must be stopped."

80-YEAR-OLD WOMAN UP FOR DRUNKENESS

Mixture of Pathos and Comedy at the Police Court—The Magistrate Was Merciful.

There was a mixture of comedy and pathos at the police court this morning when Mrs. Ann Holland, over 80 years old, who lives alone at 44 Dundas street, and supports herself by stripping tobacco in a local cigar factory, appeared for being drunk.

Mrs. Holland was so feeble that she had to be assisted up the steps into the court room. All traces of her last night's celebration had vanished, and it was with the greatest respect that she bowed deeply to both the magistrate and Chief Williams.

An Aged Worker.

"I think I will send you to jail for a month," said Deputy Magistrate Graydon, in jest.

"Oh, now, your honor," she said, wistfully, "You would be doing that! I'd lose my job."

"Do you mean to tell me that an old lady like you works?" asked the court. "What do you do?"

"I have to support myself," said Mrs. Holland, "and for years have stripped tobacco in cigar factories."

"Don't you think you are too young to be working in a cigar factory?" asked the court.

"I've got to make a living," replied Mrs. Holland.

"I think maybe Chief Williams would go your bail now," said the magistrate, "if you don't drink any more."

"Sure, he is a good man and will do that," said the old woman, with a smile and a bow to the chief.

Chief Went Bail.

"Poor old soul," said the chief, "Of course I will. I've known her 30 years."

"I'll let you go," said the court.

"Oh, thank you, thank you," said the old woman, with her face all smiles. "Good morning to both of you," she said as she bowed again.

"It's not back to them cells you're taking me, is it?" she said to P. C. Kelly, who was assisting her out.

The officer assured her that he was simply going to take her down the back way and allow her to go home.

TRUE BILL RETURNED IN FARMERS' BANK CASE

Charge of Obtaining Charter by Fraud Will Be Heard Wednesday.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, May 2. The grand jury this afternoon returned a true bill against Hon. J. R. Stratton, J. J. Warren, A. S. Towns, Dr. John Ferguson, John Watson, Alex. Fraser, the four provisional directors of the Farmers' Bank, Clark H. Smith and W. Beattie Nesbitt, the first president of the bank, on a charge of obtaining the bank's charter by fraud. The case goes on at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

IS THERE COLLUSION AMONGST CONTRACTORS

Gravel Men Deny That Such Is the Case.

Are the gravel contractors in collusion on city contracts?

Ald. Eckert suspects that such is the case. Monday night he asked a couple of contractors pointed questions along that line, but they strongly denied that there was any agreement whatever.

"I tendered off my own bat," declared Mr. J. Hutchinson, one of those interviewed.

"I never discussed prices with any other contractor," said Mr. R. Henderson.

However Ald. Eckert was not satisfied with the statements made, and it is possible that further inquiries may be made later.

"There may be no collusion, but I do not like the looks of things," declared Ald. Eckert to The Advertiser. "If there is any understanding, we are going to get to the bottom of it. We want things done straight. I have nothing further to say now, but I am going to keep my feet to the ground, and see if we cannot hear something interesting."

GEO. G. THOMPSON PROMOTED

Former Londoner is Made Superintendent of Rural Mail at Washington.

The Austin (Texas) Express contains the announcement that George G. Thompson, a former Londoner, who for some time has been inspector in the United States postoffice department for Texas and Louisiana with headquarters at Austin, Texas, has been promoted to the position of superintendent of the division of rural mail at Washington, which is one of the largest divisions of the postoffice system.

Mr. Thompson was sent to Austin in November, 1910, at his own request, on account of his wife's health. His promotion to the charge of the rural mail division was entirely unexpected, as he was summoned to Washington without any knowledge of the purpose of the summons. In his new position he will have the direction of a department which includes 140 clerks. He has been stationed at Austin by C. B. Anderson, of San Antonio. Mr. Thompson is a brother-in-law of Inspector Richard Griffiths, of the London street railway.

WILL CONFER DEGREES

Convocation at the Auditorium on Wednesday.

In an effort to have the medical convocation at the Auditorium as orderly as possible those in charge have decided to lock the gallery and allow no medical students there. In the past they have been accustomed to take possession of the gallery, and from this point of vantage amuse themselves by dropping all sorts of things on people below and throw torpedoes, paper darts, and other missiles at those on the platform. This naturally has been a source of great annoyance to the principals in the convocation.

Dr. Moorhouse will confer the degrees upon the 23 graduates. They will be presented to him by Dr. F. R. Eccles, and will receive their diplomas from Dr. Waugh. The valedictory this year will be read by Cyril Jarvis, and Dr. Weekes will reply to it. Rev. Richard Whiting will give an address to the graduates.

EAST END LEAGUE

St. John's Athletic Club Wishes to Join.

A meeting of the East End League to consider the application for the admission of the St. John's Athletic Club was called today not tomorrow evening.

It is claimed that the Seventh Regiment team is not very strong, and St. John's are anxious for a berth in the East London organization.

Four applications for the position of umpire have been secured, the applicants being Art Gatecliffe, Fitzmaurice, Phillips and Charles Richardson.

An official scorer will also be appointed. The first games of the season will be played at Queen's Park Saturday afternoon.

To make his boxing club pay Jack O'Brien has cut the admission from six bits and a dollar to two and four bits.

GUELPH AT STRATHROY

Guelph is due to play in Strathroy against a pick-up nine there today and tomorrow. The Canadian crew will work out on Thursday and meet St. Thomas at the Railroad City on Friday and Saturday. Dinsmore, of this city, has reported at Strathroy to the Guelph outfit, where a number of players are on trading.

Manager Minhinnick and League President Ferguson are in Guelph today attending the Canadian League meeting.

LONDONERS ON GUELPH CREW UNDER JOHNSTON.

Guelph Mercury—Abbe Johnston, the manager of the Guelph ball club, has been busy signing up his players and has already got a bunch together, strong enough to make the rest of them go some. Following is the line-up to date:

Jeffries, London, catcher; Smith, Cleveland, pitcher; Mason, Lansing, pitcher; Chapman, Toledo, pitcher; Lane, Detroit, 1st base; Johnston, London, 2nd base; Dinsmore, London, shortstop; Ferris, Toronto, 3rd base; Maher, Detroit, 2nd base; Helder, Detroit, outfield; Ryan, Detroit, outfield. Two more outfielders and another catcher will be signed before the season opens.

LEE SIGNS BIG SQUAD FOR HAMILTON TEAM

Lee has signed the following men for Hamilton, to report today:

Catchers—Barton, Albany, N. Y.; Sadler, Oswego, N.Y.; Jerry Edmunds, Toronto.

Pitchers—Keating, Kolseth and O'Brien, all three from the Lawrence club in the New England League; Rothridge, New York, N. Y.

Infielders—Kenny, a first baseman from the Lawrence club, in the New England League; Grieve, also from the Lawrence club; Killilea, from Summerville, Mass.; Williams, of Oswego; Hopewell, of Chicago; Shea, of Palmerston.

Outfielders—McClifford, of Hillsboro, N. H.; Curson, of Toronto; Carey, of Hamilton.

Wilbert Robinson is authority for the statement that Rube Marquard "is there."

HILLCREST

London's New Future Great, Ideal Suburb

Why Buy a Lot?

Everyone conversant with recent events in London, must know of the tremendous improvements planned by the C. P. R., and now under way in close proximity to the suburb of HILLCREST. It is authoritatively stated that fully one half million will be expended for a new station, roundhouses, car shops, etc. This SURELY means doubling, if not trebling the force of workmen, and what more natural than that they should prefer to live near their place of employment?

Advance in Value Is Certain

It requires little foresight to realize the growth of lots in HILLCREST in popularity and value, and in any event the money you invest will not be subjected to the hazards of mining, oil wells, or the hundred and one other speculative propositions constantly flaunted before the public. In owning a lot in HILLCREST, you have a tangible, permanent chunk of mother earth—something you can readily convert into cash, something thieves cannot steal or cashiers abscond with—a sure thing in your own hands, that no calculating scoundrel can take from you by corporate tricks or clever manipulation.

Lots All Staked and Numbered

C.P.R. Commences Work on New Roundhouse--Other Big Permanent Improvements

READ! READ! READ! What the London Papers Are Saying

From London Advertiser, April 26, 1911.

EAST LONDON NEWS

C. P. R. HAS STARTED A BUILDING BOOM

Big Railway's Changes in East London Are Having Their Effect.

The new C. P. R. improvements in the East End have proved an impetus for largely increased building operations in East London. Plans have been made for the erection of a block of handsome cottages on Quebec street near the site of the new station and roundhouse.

John Hayman & Sons will commence work on the construction of the roundhouse as soon as the railway company have completed the staking of the grounds, which will now only require a day or so.

Several new stores and places of business have been opened in the East End the past week, and once the C. P. R. building operations commence in real earnest, it is confidently expected that a boom will set in in this part of the city. East End merchants and businessmen all report unusual activity in all lines of trade and business.

From London Advertiser, April 25, 1911.

C. P. R. IMPROVEMENTS

Company Are Rapidly Going Ahead With Their Changes.

Considerable improvement has already been made by the C. P. R. Company on their east end property. The grading has been completed for the new roundhouse and station, and temporary tracks have been laid over the entire property to facilitate the work of construction.

A construction gang are at present laying additional tracks in order that the actual work of building may be pushed forward as rapidly as possible once it is commenced. It is understood that John Hayman & Sons will commence work at once on the construction of the new roundhouse, the contract for which they have secured. Construction material is being rushed into the city, and in a day or so the entire property from Quebec street west will be a busy hive of industry.

Affairs of Syndicate Must Be Wound Up

Urgent business necessities make it necessary for the syndicate owning this property to make a quick sale at auction. Each and every one of these beautiful suburban lots will be closed out to the highest bidder. The fact that O. WARDELL & SONS have charge of this sale is a guarantee of a "square deal" to everybody. For nearly forty years they have handled great real estate auctions in their native city, always with credit to themselves and profit to their customers.

Place one number in each of the squares so that when they are added perpendicularly or horizontally the total will make 33. For the neatest correct answers, in order of merit, we will give, absolutely free, the prizes listed below. All prize-winners will be notified by mail, and all prizes must be called for within 15 days from closing of contest. It's not necessary to use this paper. Only one person in a family can enter.

LIST OF PRIZES:

FIRST PRIZE—A beautiful Solitaire Diamond Ring, either lady's or gent's.

SECOND PRIZE—Round trip ticket to New York City, with stop-over at Niagara Falls and Buffalo, and return via Montreal.

THIRD PRIZE—Gentleman's fine 14-karat Gold-Filled Watch, warranted for 20 years.

FOURTH PRIZE—Lady's 14-karat Gold-Filled Watch, warranted for 20 years.

ALSO TEN OTHER PRIZES OF BOYS' AND GIRLS' WATCHES.

The Reason

For years it has been a serious question with Piano Manufacturers where advertising money could be placed to the greatest advantage, and we have finally decided to place our factory advertising appropriation for this season with The Piano Manufacturers' Publicity Bureau, of Toronto, Ont., and use this publicity money where it will do piano buyers, for whose benefit it is conducted, the most good. In other words, instead of spending a large sum in expensive magazine advertising, we are going to give this amount of money directly to the people in this territory, and distribute the above prizes as stated. Start today and try for one of the capital prizes. There is no catch.

The Judging

Representatives from local newspapers will act as judges, and their decision will be final. All prize-winners will be notified by mail, and a list of capital prize-winners will be published in the daily papers.

REMEMBER, IT COSTS YOU NOTHING TO COMPETE FOR THESE PRIZES, ONLY A LITTLE TIME AND ENERGY, AND YOU MAY SECURE ONE ABSOLUTELY FREE.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

If more than one member of a family tries to compete, or if any person sends in more than one answer, they will be disqualified and their answers thrown out.

No employee of our company will be allowed to compete.

The person sending in the NEATEST and most ARTISTIC correct answer will receive the first prize. The person sending in the next NEATEST and most ARTISTIC correct answer will receive the second prize, and so on until all of the prizes have been awarded.

CANADA TO ANNEX U. S.

If Immigration Continues to Grow, Says Anglican Clergyman.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, May 1.—All the local Anglican pulpits were occupied yesterday by visiting church dignitaries in behalf of home and foreign missions. In the afternoon, Bishop Farthing, of Montreal, and Bishop Richardson, of Fredericton, spoke. Dr. Richardson rather startled his audience by declaring that if the immigration to Canada from the United States and other countries continued to grow as it had in the past Canada would annex the United States and not the United States Canada.

PUMPS TESTED ARE SATISFACTORY

New Machinery at Springbank Was Officially Operated for the First Time.

MAYOR GUEST PRESENT

Chief Magistrate of St. Thomas and a Delegation Went Down the River With Londoners.

The official test of the new pumping machinery at Springbank pumping station was made yesterday, and the occasion was marked by exercises of more than ordinary interest.

A large number of the citizens, together with a deputation from St. Thomas, headed by Mayor Guest, were present and were shown through the plant. Later they visited the Horton street station and inspected the machinery there.

A special car took the party down to Springbank shortly after 3 o'clock. The water commissioners explained the new machinery in detail to the visitors. Everything was in first-class shape, Chief Engineer Simmie and his assistants making the old building fairly shine.

Pumping Water.

Chairman Pocock presided. He was delighted at the large turnout of citizens to witness the test, and expressed particular pleasure at the visit from the St. Thomas delegation.

"The celebration today marks an epoch in the annals of the waterworks system of London," he declared. "We will reduce the cost of pumping water here very considerably. Last year we expended about $6,500 for coal and over $1,000 for men to handle it. Next year, or at least the year following, we will be able to pump our water by the overlap. This means that we will pump the water for nothing, thus making a great saving for the citizens."

Chairman Pocock dealt with the sale of Niagara power, and declared that a surplus would be turned over to the city from the electrical department. Over 180 customers were signed up last week, bringing the total now signed up to 1,553. He expected to show enough surplus to reduce the tax rate in London half a mill.

Londoners should be very proud of their water system. Good water was a great blessing, and this city was more than usually fortunate. It cost the commissioners 3 mills per 1,000 gallons to pump the water, and they sold it for 6 mills, making a handsome profit for the citizens.

Mayor's Address.

Mayor Beattie followed. He agreed with Chairman Pocock that the event marked an epoch in waterworks affairs.

"I am persuaded that we well be glad that the change was made," said his worship. "We are more than pleased with the showing made already in our electrical department, and, as Mr. Pocock has said, we are hoping to finish the year with a surplus. I am not going to make a speech. I am glad to be here, and glad to see you all here."

St. Thomas Visitors.

Mayor Guest, of St. Thomas, followed. He was delighted with the new pumping arrangements at Springbank, and hoped that St. Thomas would follow suit. This year they were expending $40,000 in a new settling basin, and soon would have to obtain new pumping machinery.

"While it is true that we have to come to London for pointers on certain things, I think we can also give London pointers," he said. "I can say say without any contradiction that St. Thomas is the best lighted city in Canada. We are proud of that fact. We have no competition in St. Thomas for our power, and I think we have the advantage of you there. However, I am glad to hear of your prosperity, and I hope it will continue."

"Before calling on Hon. Adam Beck, I wish to state that the pumping machinery installed here will cost less than the estimated expenditure, $22,000," explained Mr. Pocock. "We have a capacity of over six million gallons in these pumps alone, besides our other pumps. We are now supplying one million gallons of water a day from the Horton street plant, and that quantity can readily be increased to two millions. With a larger compressor we can obtain three million gallons without any trouble whatever."

Hon. Adam Beck.

"I was wondering, while down here, what some of the old citizens of London, whose names are inscribed on the tablets of this building, would have thought had they been told that some day water would be pumped at Springbank by power generated by water at Niagara Falls," said Mr. Beck. "I do not suppose they would have believed it, but the miracle has come to pass. We are getting it today, and I think it opens up possibilities for the future we little dream of now.

"London is most fortunate in its water supply. We have been free from epidemics. There has not been a case of typhoid fever here in some years, traceable to our water supply; in fact, very few cases have been recorded in our hospitals from any source. This is a wonderful record, and to be fully appreciated, comparisons must be made with other cities, Toronto and Ottawa, for example. I say we should prize this, as it means health and happiness to our citizens, and prosperity to the city.

"We are not meeting in any controversial spirit today. I have no personal feeling whatever against any person who ever opposed the scheme. I hope that in the future harmony will prevail, and that all of us will work together for the best interests of London, our Province, and for Canada.

"I congratulate Mr. Pocock for his excellent services on behalf of the citizens of London. He has done his best to give the city good government, and his optimistic statement today is the best advertisement to the zeal and energy displayed in looking after your interests and mine. Mr. Pocock has not allowed any interests or personal feeling to stand in his way, but has entered into the project with a whole heart. We are proud of him."

Local Competition.

Mr. Beck thought that some good would come out of the competition in the city. While he believed that all utilities should be under Government control, still competition would make people realize the benefits of power and light, and make them more enthusiastic on behalf of their own project.

The chairman of the power commission stated that the city was paying, through its price for power, interest on the transmission line. In addition 1 per cent was set aside for depreciation of the line, to form a fund to make the necessary repairs and changes that would be needed in the future. The sinking fund would not be paid by the city for five years yet. This fund would be paid off in 25 installments not 30 as originally intended.

Mr. Beck congratulated the commissioners on their suspicious opening. He then turned on the power, Chairman Pocock turned on Pump No. 1, and Mayor Beattie turned on Pump No. 2.

The switch board equipment was furnished by Siemens, Limited, of London, Eng., and Stafford. Mr. J. Herbert, the company's representative, was present, and had an oversight on the tests. The synchronous motors, operating the pumps were furnished by the Westinghouse Company, Hamilton, while the pumps were furnished by John Macdougall & Co., Montreal.

The machinery is the most modern made, and the tests yesterday were most successful. Superintendent Glaubitz was congratulated for the splendid manner in which the entire pumping scheme has been installed.

Lunch was served after the tests, and the visitors spent a half hour sightseeing.

The City Wells.

On their return trip the party visited the Horton street plant. The electrical pumps and air lifts were all operated, and their distinguishing features pointed out by Superintendent Glaubitz and his staff.

Among those who went down were Chairman Philip Pocock, of the water commissioners, Mayor Beattie, Hon. Adam Beck, ex-Mayor S. Stevely, ex-Mayor F. G. Rumball, Mayor Guest, ex-Mayor Geo. Geddes, Ald. Price, City Treasurer Perry, Road Waterworks Engineer Thomas Allan, Assistant Engineer W. Allan, Assistant Engineer M. H. Baker, Chas. Johns, in charge of Niagara power station, and City Analyst McLachlan, of St. Thomas; Judge Macbeth, Ald. Eckert, Ald. Bennett, Ald. Ashplant, Ald. Wilson, Ald. Donnelly, Ald. Tancock, Ald. Saunders, Ald. Mitchell, City Engineer Wright, City Clerk Baker, Assessment Commissioner Grant, W. W. Gammage, Superintendent Glaubitz, Secretary Ellwood, City Auditor Jewell, C. H. Hourd, Jas. Greene, Arthur W. White, Frank Cooper, resident engineer of C. P. R., John Marr, and others.

A Real Treat.

Theatregoers are to have a real treat on Thursday night, when Miss Margaret Anglin, the celebrated Canadian actress, will be seen at the Grand Opera House in a new comedy, "Green Stockings." Miss Anglin comes to London after week stands in Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto, where nightly, large audiences gave her enthusiastic receptions, and the critics have agreed that the great artist is given a vehicle in which her wonderful versatility is shown in a complete way.

Besides Miss Anglin the cast includes H. Reeve Smith and Miss Maude Granger, who a few years ago was a prominent emotional star.

Was a Favorite Novel.

Few plays have scored the immediate success accorded the "House of a Thousand Candles." For two seasons it has been given throughout the country by no less than four different organizations. The company that is to appear at the Grand Opera House Saturday matinee and evening includes many of the members that participated in its long run at Daly's Theatre, New York. The success of this dramatization of one of the most popular books of the day is due to the fact its story is original. It tells of mystery but in the most whimsical and humorous fashion that is entirely new to the stage.

"The Dollar Princess."

Not since the Arcadians were here have Londoners been treated to such a dainty musical offering as "The Dollar Princess," which was presented at the Grand last night by a large and capable company, the majority of whom were English. The musical comedy was as is stated in the advance readers, "made in Germany," and adapted for the English stage by George Grossmith, jun. The book is by Messrs. Willner and Grunbaum, and the delightful music by Leo Fall.

In its sensuous music, its charming comedy and its capable cast, this production stands far in advance of the average musical offering, and the Grand last night was packed with an enthusiastic audience. The solos were exceedingly well taken, while the choruses were rendered in admirable style. Mr. Donald Brian, an old favorite in London, was accorded a most hearty welcome, and Miss Dephna Glenn, also made a decided hit with Londoners. The other members of the cast were artists of much ability, and proved highly satisfactory in their different parts. The attraction was beautifully staged.

WILSON BOY WAS DROWNED

Jury Last Night Brought in a Verdict of Accidental Death.

MOTHER TOLD HER STORY

It Looks as Though R. J. Hutchinson Will Get the Reward of $100 Offered by the City.

"That the said Freddy Wilson came to his death by being drowned in the south branch of the River Thames, in the county of Middlesex. From the evidence of the mother, we believe that the drowning took place on or about the nineteenth day of January, 1911. We further believe that the death by drowning of the deceased was purely accidental."

The above verdict was brought in by the jury which last night, under Coroner Dr. MacLaren, investigated the death of little Freddie Wilson.

"There can be no doubt from the evidence," said Coroner MacLaren to The Advertiser, "that Mr. R. J. Hutchinson was the man who saw the body first."

The jury did not make any recommendation as to who is to get the $100 reward, not $200 as has been stated, that was offered for the finding of the body by the city council.

The most important evidence was that of Mrs. Dorothy Wilson, mother of the dead boy, and Dr. F. P. Drake, who conducted the post-mortem examination.

The Mother's Evidence.

Mrs. Wilson told in detail the story of her little boy's disappearance from his home on the morning of Jan. 19, and of her search for him. The river, she said, was frozen over except at the mouth of the sewer, and she was unable to find any footmarks in the snow.

Dr. Drake stated that the body was in an advanced state of decomposition. A number of abrasions on the right leg led him to suppose that the limb had come in contact with something sharp. Death had undoubtedly been due to drowning.

"Were there any marks whatever that would indicate foul play?" asked the coroner.

"None at all," said the doctor.

Finding of the Body.

Mr. R. J. Hutchinson stated that while going over the bridge on Sunday afternoon he noticed the body floating in the water about 25 feet from the north bank and 25 feet west of the bridge, and notified the police. He noticed it first about 3:25.

Mr. Charles L. Mountjoy told of having been called to the spot by Mr. Hutchinson. He gave similar evidence regarding seeing the body.

A. F. Wheatley said it was 3:40 when he noticed the body, as he was passing over the bridge. It was then almost under the bridge and going down stream. He told some boys who were there, and they went down and tried to get it out. He would judge it was about six or eight feet from the bank.

Alfred Henstridge and William Yates told of getting the body out of the water.

Detective Down said it was 3.43 when the message came to the police station that the body had been found. He at once went down in the wagon and looked after it.

The Jury.

The jury was composed as follows: James S. Luney, foreman; Samuel Thomas, William Tibbs, William Culver, William Durhans, A. J. Denney, John Loney, Benjamin Tripp, Ed. Hollday, J. T. Owen, Jas. Bissett, Alf. Bottom, B. Lawrence, David McGill and L. A. Weaver.

A LIBERAL CAUCUS DIDN'T TALK RECIPROCITY

Convinced That Government Intends to Fight to the End.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, May 1.—A caucus of Government supporters this morning decided that the enlargement of the Intercolonial Railway in the east by the acquisition and construction of branch lines and the extension of the railway facilities of the west by the immediate construction of the Hudson Bay Railroad were needed.

The details of the programme will not be disclosed till they are announced in the House, though a hint of them is likely to be obtained from the supplementary estimates, which are expected to be brought down today.

The question of reciprocity and the political situation were not mentioned, it being generally accepted that the Government will stay with the reciprocity fight to the end and will put it through the House if it takes all summer. The announcement by Sir Wilfrid that he would not go to the conference was not discussed, as it is felt that this matter had been definitely settled.

A CLEVER SCHEME

How an Ohio Man Evaded Immigration Laws.

Ridgetown, May 1.—William Wise, of Sygnet, Ohio, with his wife and family of two were taken into custody by the immigration authorities here today on a charge of evading the immigration laws. The method adopted by Wise to get across the line was to present return tickets, Cygnet to Ridgetown.

Wise also admitted that he had shipped his household effects ahead, and that he had secured a position as clerk in a Ridgetown store, where he proposed to remain. Officer Cheyns, however, informed Wise that he must be deported, and, after the latter had deposited a cash bond, he was released, with instructions to go to Windsor with his family next week for formal deportation.

A BRAVE BRAKEMAN

Courageous Rescue From Fire by a C. P. R. Train Crew.

Ottawa, May 1.—Fireman A. Laurendeau, Brakeman A. E. Morris and Conductor E. Carroll, of Ottawa, figured in a courageous rescue at Stittsville, a station on the C. P. R. west of Ottawa, last night, saving the lives of four members of a family named Blake, whose house was burned.

The men were members of a freight crew which pulled into Stittsville at about midnight. One of them noticed the flames from the house at some distance from the station, and dashing over, they were just in time to take out the mother, an invalid, and her three little ones. It was believed that there was another child upstairs and Morris rushed in to get it. One of the walls collapsed and he was badly burned about the hands. There were, however, no other inmates in the house. Morris was brought to Ottawa, and is today in a hospital. He is not seriously injured.

Turriff, of Assiniboia, Says West Is Watching Them

IN RECIPROCITY FIGHT

Objections Raised in Commons to Cutting Out of Chateauguay Battle in Pageant.

Ottawa, May 1.—The last Liberal word on the reciprocity debate was spoken tonight, and was a significant and memorable one. Amid repeated outbursts of cheering, which kept the Government benches rattling continuously Mr. J. G. Turriff delivered the final message from the west with characteristic western frankness. A few weeks ago the Conservatives were predicting that the member for Assiniboia would follow Hon. Clifford Sifton in opposition to the reciprcity agreement. Tonight they got their answer, when the stalwart westerner spoke the closing word for the Liberal party. It is expected that Mr. Verville will speak tomorrow for the Labor Interests, and the further continuance of the debate will be relegated to the obstructionists in the Opposition ranks. Whether the Prime Minister will be relieved in time to attend the Imperial Conference is accordingly solely the responsibility of the party which delights to flaunt its loyalty.

Mr. Turriff was plain-spoken. He had a warning for the Manufacturers' Association, which he characterized as its own worst enemy. He had a word for the financial interests which allowed selfish considerations to warp their judgment. They had "better be a little careful of the spirit of this great and growing west." He had several things to say to the bankers, "and especially to Sir Edmund Walker," whom he singled out by name, amid Liberal cheering.

The West Watching.

The men of the west had their eyes upon this eastern capitalist, who presumed to teach them loyalty and their own business interests.

"They note," said Mr. Turriff, "that Sir Edmund Walker can take the money of the farmer and the artisan, deposited with his institution, and help to move the southern cotton crop at from two to fifty per cent on call loans. (Applause.) They see him send their dollars to New York, and Chicago for the benefit of himself and his shareholders, and yet it does not affect his loyalty. But if the farmer, forsooth, sends a steer or a pig or a carload of wheat or barley to the United States to secure a better price, why, he's disrupting the Empire, and what not. Did ever men hear anything so absolutely absurd?" (Renewed cheering.)

The member for Assiniboia said he spoke for an agricultural constituency of fifty thousand westerners, who knew what they wanted and what was best for them without the assistance of eastern selfish interests.

He recalled that when the Conservative leader visited his constituency in his western tour of 1907 the huge banner displayed over the platform from which he spoke carried the motto, "Reciprocity with the United States." He did not blame Mr. Borden for the motto. It was erected by the Conservatives who gathered at Wexhorn from far and near to do honor to their leader. But it was the one outspoken thing that they wanted, in common with their Liberal neighbors, and they evidenced it by putting it on their most conspicuous banner. So far as he could find out only three small sections of the Canadian people opposed the pact: the Manufacturers' Association, the bankers and financial interests, and the Conservative party in the House, not the Conservative party in the country. (Cheers.)

"What about the member for Brandon?" queried Mr. Blain.

"Let me tell the hon. gentleman that I admire and respect the member for Brandon, a great deal more than any member on that side of the House," retorted Mr. Turriff. "Moreover, if they had one-tenth of the honor and the honesty of the member for Brandon on that side of the House, instead of there being three members on this side of the House who differ from the position of their party, there would be thirty-three on that side of the House who would come out in accordance with their convictions and favor the agreement for the sake of their constituents and their country."

Immigration and Pageants.

Reciprocity in population with reciprocity in trade shared the attention of the Commons today, the House spending most of the afternoon in discussing the question of Canada's relative immigration and emigration with the United States.

Mr. Burrell directed the Government's attention to published dispatches to the effect that it had been decided to eliminate from the pageants at the Festival of Empire the representation of the defeat of a large American force by a small Canadian force during the war of 1812 lest it should prove distasteful to the United States visitors. Mr. Burrell thought there was no force in this objection, and asked an explanation.

Hon. Mr. Fisher said Canada contributed to the general expenses of the Festival. She had nothing to do with the arrangement or character of the pageants.

Mr. Foster was glad the matter had been brought up. Those in charge of the historical pageants should treat them truthfully, and not leave out the most illustrious parts in Canadian history. To take umbrage at such a presentation would be unwarranted and to cater to such an idea was unjustifiable sentimentality.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier pointed out that in the older United States school books, at least, the battle of Chateauguay was not described as a Canadian victory. But he did not think any satisfactory reason had been advanced for eliminating the true character of the Canadian victory. "History is history," observed Sir Wilfrid, "but we have nothing to do in the matter; it was not referred to us. The matter, I understand, is in the hands of a committee. If I had been a member of that committee I would have done otherwise."

Mr. Borden brought up the question of Canada's emigration to the United States, complimented of the lack of statistics on this point. From United States figures it was shown that the total had been 94,139. If these were accurate, it meant that Canada's balance of immigration from the Republic for the year 1909-10 was only 22,000. He thought the Government should provide statistics of emigration as well as immigration.

Hon. Mr. Oliver pointed out that there was a wide divergence in the methods by which the United States compiled statistics and those adopted by Canada. Up to the present time the department had not felt it was justified in making the expenditures necessary to secure statistics of emigration, but it was a matter for Parliament to determine. For himself it was a serious question whether the value of the information would be worth its cost; he would sooner devote all the funds he could get to securing good settlers in Canada.

SCRANTON SWEPT BY A TERRIFIC STORM

Girl Killed by Lightning on the Street and Scores Were Injured.

[Canadian Press.]

Scranton, Pa., May 2.—In an electrical and wind storm that swept this city last night a girl was killed by lightning and an unidentified boy had his skull fractured by a falling sign. Four houses were blown from their foundations, a score of persons injured by flying glass, and dozens of plate glass windows in the business section of the city shattered. The machine shop of the Finch Foundry Company was demolished by lightning.

Hundreds of trees were uprooted in all sections of the city, electric wires and trolley cables blown down, and at least 100 homes and business places damaged by wind or lightning.

The property damage, it is estimated, will pass $100,000. Mary Finots, 15 years of age, was eating supper when the bolt of lightning struck the house. The girl's mother and father and four other children were thrown to the floor by the bolt. One of the other children is in a critical condition.

Montreal, Que., May 1.—Little five-year-old Goldie Schwartz attempted to run across Oak avenue, near Pine avenue, when a Round-the-Mountain car struck her, knocking her down, and before the motorman could stop the heavy car, severed the child's left leg just below the knee. She is hardly expected to live.

You Can Cure Chest Colds

AND BRONCHITIS BY USING DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE IF YOU GET THE GENUINE.

The mere mention of pneumonia and consumption causes a person to shudder, but a cold is such a common thing that it is too often left alone until these other ailments develop from it.

You can readily cure throat and chest colds, croup and bronchitis, by using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. This medicine is both thorough and far-reaching in its influence on the system. For this reason its merits are well-known and its sales enormous.

But there are at least four imitations of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. And imitations are always a little cheaper, how else would they sell. They are never sold on their own merit, but on the merit of the article they imitate.

Their likeness is in name only, and when you are in need of medicine you don't want to depend on a name or imitation. Every bottle of the genuine bears the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author. Twenty-five cents a bottle, family size 60 cents; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

ALD. TANCOCK ON ENGINEER'S TRAIL

Made Insinuation of Crooked Work, But Would Not Put It in Writing.

COUNCIL WITH MR. WRIGHT

Eleven Out of Twelve Aldermen Voted to Make Him City Engineer of London at the Pleasure of the Council.

Deputy Engineer George. W. Wright was last night named city engineer, one alderman alone voting against him: Ald. Tancock.

Incidentally, Ald. Tancock endeavored to bring a charge against Mr. Wright, and Mr. Pat Mulhall, foreman of ward 4, charging them with supplying gravel to Mr. Mulhall, for which the city paid.

Mr. Wright emphatically denied the accusation, and defied Ald. Tancock to bring a charge against him. The latter would not prefer a charge, contenting himself with saying that somebody had told him the story. When the council heard Mr. Wright's answer, eleven of them voted immediately to name him city engineer.

When the report of the special committee was read, recommending Mr. Wright, Ald. Tancock spoke up.

"I have heard some things, and I think they should be investigated before we appoint Mr. Wright," said Ald. Tancock. "It is rumored that certain city officials have furnished gravel to certain people for which the city paid. Workmen were also employed on private jobs for which the city paid."

"Place your charge in writing and name your officials," challenged Ald. Saunders. "Come right out with them, so we will know just where we are at."

"Well, I am informed that Mr. Mulhall had gravel delivered to his place for which the city footed the bill," said Ald. Tancock. "City workmen also helped him lay the foundation of his house, and I am told that they were paid by the city. I think Mr. Wright knew about this, and that is why I want his appointment laid over until a committee looks into the matter."

"There is nothing in this but personal feeling," declared Ald. Mitchell. "Why did you not bring this matter up when the committees were considering the appointment? It is too small and picayune for anything."

"Put your charges in writing," advised Mayor Beattie.

On the suggestion of several of the aldermen, Mr. Wright was called for, and explained the transaction.

Engineer Explains.

"Last year, some gravel was delivered in a lot at the rear of Mr. Mulhall's house by a contractor, not by city teams, for building purposes," explained Mr. Wright. "That gravel was paid for by Mr. Mulhall. He has the receipts to show. I feared that something like this might come up, and I saw to it that the receipts were obtained, and the transaction cleared up altogether. You can verify everything I say by Mr. Mulhall. The city did not pay for the gravel.

"As for the insinuation that city workmen were employed by Mr. Mulhall, with my knowledge, I say that it is absolutely false. It is nothing more than a tissue of lies.

"If Ald. Tancock has anything against me, let him make a direct charge against me, and we will stay with him from start to finish. I am not afraid of the fullest possible investigation.

"I would also point out that every pay sheet signed by the foreman has a declaration attached, to be signed under oath by them. You can readily see that it is necessary to protect the city in every way. The foremen are fully aware of what it means."

An Insinuation.

Ald. Tancock wrote out his motion, but in it no direct charges were made, he being content merely to say that he had heard these charges.

"Be a man," shot back Mayor Beattie. "If you have a charge to make, make it like a man. Your motion is nothing more nor less than an insinuation. Come out into the open."

"He is no man," declared Ald. Saunders. "He is too mean for anything. He has not the courage to make a charge. Pat Mulhall was a fine fellow when he was working after hours for him last year. Tancock paid him little for his work. The trouble with him (Tancock) is that Wright had the backbone to refuse to allow him to take bridge plank for his own use. He has been after the young man ever since."

Ald. Tancock's motion was put, and was lost, Ald. Bennett voting with him, and all the rest going against it.

Ald. Tancock Nay.

When the motion to name Mr. Wright city engineer, was put, Ald. Tancock alone voted against it.

When the bylaw was introduced City Solicitor Meredith pointed out that the council had no power to appoint a man for six months. Every city official is engaged at the pleasure of the council. As a result Mr. Wright's appointment was made to read at the pleasure of the council, although there was a tacit understanding that if at the end of six months his services were not satisfactory, they could be dispensed with.

BRITAIN LAUNCHES 20TH DREADNAUGHT

The "Conqueror" a Duplicate of the "Thunderer" Takes Water on the Clyde.

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 1.—The "Conqueror," Great Britain's twentieth Dreadnaught, was launched on the Clyde today. The vessel is the third "Contingent" battleship ordered in December, 1909, when the admiralty came to the conclusion that Germany was accelerating her programme for the same type of warships.

The "Conqueror" is a duplicate of the "Thunderer," which was launched on Feb. 1. She has a displacement of 22,680 tons, and will be equipped with turbines of a total of 27,000-horse-power, permitting a contract speed of 21 knots an hour. The vessel is 584 feet in length, and was armed with ten 13.5-inch guns, and twenty-four 4-inch guns.

Wholesale charges of grafting made against members of Ohio Legislature.

COURT TO BED EARLY KING GEORGE DECREES

Functions Hereafter Will Be Brought to a Close by Midnight.

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 1.—Following the ban on the nobble skirt by the lord chamberlain, inspired by the Queen, society is eagerly discussing King George's direction that future courts are to be held an hour earlier.

The guests will begin to arrive at half-past eight o'clock instead of at half-past nine. The King and Queen will enter the throne room at half-past nine instead of half-past ten, which will permit the courts to be brought to a close at midnight instead of in the small hours. King George is a firm believer in early hours. He told a friend that a man cannot expect to succeed in business if he doesn't begin work till the day is half over, and he cannot begin early if he is up half the night.

The ruling will have a far-reaching result, leading to seven o'clock dinners and theatre performances beginning at eight o'clock sharp.

FIVE SWEPT TO DEATH WHEN CABLE BREAKS

Perish When Spring Freshed Swamps Boat.

[Canadian Press.]

St. John, N. B., May 2.—A special from Edmundston, on the upper part of the St. John River, says that three men and two boys were swept to death in the rushing waters of the river as the result of the breaking of a wire cable which held the scow boat, used as a ferry between the Canadian and American side of the river. The drowned are two Frenchmen named Dufon and Hebert, an unknown man, and two boys named Mesbovitz, a Hebrew, and Phillips, son of a former C. P. R. station agent. Both boys were about 15 years.

Owing to the swift current, resulting from the spring freshet, the strain on the cable was greater than ordinary.

About 7 o'clock, the men and boys, with a man named Daigle, embarked on the American side and were crossing the river, when the cable broke, and the scow swamped and capsized her. All the occupants were thrown out but Daigle managed to cling to the scow until he was rescued, although in a serious condition. The others were swept away.

A HAMILTON PROBE

Controllers Investigate the East End Sewer Bungle.

[Canadian Press.]

Hamilton, May 1. The controllers today made public their report on the investigation into the east-end sewer bungles. They find that the contractor, Samuel Cheesman, did not do the work according to specifications; that Patrick Nelson, the city inspector, was negligent and that Assistant Engineer J. H. Peddle, who was directly responsible for the work, were negligent. His dismissal is recommended. The board also recommends that action be taken against Cheesman and Andrew Mercer, a contractor on the base line sewer, which was bungled and bulkheads stuffed in the joints where lead fute should have been, to recover damages. There was no reprimand in the report for City Engineer Macallum, although the report recommends that arrangements be made so he can devote more time to outside work. The report will be dealt with at a special council meeting tonight.

GALA DAY FOR BRANTFORD

City to Finance Demonstration on Coronation Day.

Brantford, May 2.—The city council at a late session last night, transacted several items of important business. A movement was launched for a gala day of celebration in Brantford on Coronation Day, the city to finance the demonstration. George Bennett was appointed new building inspector at $600 per year. The restaurant bylaw, which has allowed eating houses open Sundays for only a couple of hours for dinner and supper, was so amended, so that they may now keep open all day Sunday, except between 2:30 and 5 p.m. in the afternoon.

The salary of the police magistrate was advanced from $2,000 to $2,250.

The assessment department was reorganized to save $500 per year, and will now consist of one man the year round for inside work at $800, and two field men for outside work six months in the year at $600 each.

LOVERS IN FIGHT TO DEATH

Rivals for Hand of a Brooklyn Lady Engage in a Duel With Butcher Knives.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, May 2.—Walter O'Bolsky and Waskaw Movski, rivals for the heart and hand of Mary Kalowske, fought a duel to the death with butcher knives in a Brooklyn street house last night, as the object of their joint affections and a crowd of friends looked on. After fifteen minutes' fighting O'Bolsky fell mortally wounded with his enemy's knife piercing his abdomen and protruding from his back. Movski, the victor, fled, and was found, covered with blood, in a cellar. He was locked up.

The men met on the street as O'Bolsky was accompanying the young woman to a moving picture entertainment. The quarrel followed. The girl threw herself first upon one and then the other, sobbing and kissing each, and begging them not to fight on her account.

35 LOADS OF HAY ON SQUARE TODAY

Prices This Morning Ranged Between $13 and $14 a Ton.

BUTTER IS STRONGER

Eggs Are Steady in Price—Spring Chickens Now on Sale in London.

Hay was the principal feature of the market this morning, some 35 loads being offered for sale. In consequence the price fell to $14 per ton, in some cases going even as low as $13. Sales were not very rapid, although there was a fair demand for all that was offered.

There was no straw, and only one load of oats.

The early spring chicken has at length appeared as an additional harbinger of the returning summer time. This toothsome delicacy sold yesterday for something like 40c per lb. The ruling price for a week or two will, however, be from 30c to 35c per lb.

Butter shows signs of better prices and a more steady market. The dairy market opens on Saturday, and cannot fail to have some effect on the price of butter. The opening of the cheese factories this month will relieve the present oversupply of butter.

Eggs are steady in price, and only a few lots were on sale today.

Outside of the hay market, there were few wagons on the square.

R. AND O. DIVIDENDS.

MONTREAL, May 1.—The R. and O. directors declared the regular dividend of 1½ per cent this afternoon, payable on May 13.

NEW R. AND O. STOCK.

Montreal, May 1.—There was hardly a corporal's guard at today's general meeting of the shareholders of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company. The meeting had been called to authorize the directors to issue $1,040,000 of new stock, as announced some days ago. The new stock will be offered the old shareholders, who are on the company's books, on April 13 at the rate of one share in three. The authorization asked for was granted without discussion.

There was no merger talk at the session, although several men connected with the Furness interests were present. There were present at the meeting Rodolphe Forget, M. P., president, and Wm. Hanson, H. Markland Molson, Geo. Caverhill and C. O. Paradis, directors.

The new R. and O. stock will be paid in four installments of 25 per cent, each on June 1, Aug. 1, Oct. 1 and Dec. 1.

NEW YORK, May 2.—(Noon)—Buying orders for pool account were apparent in many specialties and pool activity in a number of low-priced issues was evident. Cotton Oil was strong on expectation of regular dividend being declared, which was done. Reports from the Northwest say that weather has turned cold, but heavy rains are also reported with some snow, which will be of immense benefit to the cereal crops. The cold spell will have a beneficial effect also, for the growth has been too rapid.

LOCAL ITEMS

Writ Over Finger.

A writ on behalf of Bloss Alexander Dodds, who suffered the loss of a finger while employed at the Somerville Paper Box Factory some months ago, has been issued by the plaintiff's solicitors, McKillop & Murphy, against the firm.

Judge Macbeth Thanked.

At a meeting of the Elgin Historical Society and Scientific Institute, held in St. Thomas last night, a vote of thanks was passed to Judge Macbeth, of this city, for a sketch made by the late Judge Elliott in 1845. The drawing is of Colonel George Munro, one of the pioneer residents of the township of Aldboro.

May Dances.

Messrs. Dayton & McCormick gave their opening "May Dance" at the Palace Academy last evening, which was attended by a large number of guests, who thoroughly enjoyed a most popular programme. By special request the weekly dances will be continued every Monday evening during May. All regular patrons are extended a cordial invitation to attend.

The Hamilton Convention.

At the meeting of the Talbot Street B. Y. P. U. last night, Mr. Baldwin, of Adelaide Street Church, gave an interesting account of the Hamilton Young People's convention of several weeks ago. A business meeting was held following the programme of the evening to decide on increasing the contribnutions to the inter-provincial work of the B. Y. P. U. of Ontario and Quebec. The matter was referred to the executive.

Evening With Stevenson.

"An Evening with Robert Stevenson," was the subject of a delightful evening's entertainment which was given by Mr. Bert Hannah at Monday night's meeting of the First Methodist Epworth League. Mr. Hannah, in addition to an interesting and instructive paper, gave a number of interpretative readings and impersonations from the works of the poet.

Trout Fishing.

The trout fishing season opened yesterday and several good catches are recorded in streams and ponds in the vicinity of London. A number of the members of the Dorchester Fishing Club, including Messrs. Thos. Gillean, Samuel Munro, James O. Weldon, Jos. Smith, D. H. Bowen, W. Ward, W. H. Skinner and John M. Daly visited the ponds at Dorchester, and caught a number of beautiful fish. They are reported plentiful this season.

A Famous Lecturer.

William Jennings Bryan, called the great Commoner of this generation, has many who differ with him politically but are greatly impressed with his personality, a personality of strength and earnestness. Big and broad physically, he is a power politically and mentally, in the prime of life, and one of America's foremost citizens. His lecture in the Opera House next Monday night has been given hundreds of times. No speaker on the continent is called more frequently to colleges and universities than is Mr. Bryan.

Officers Elected.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of Dundas Centre Church was held yesterday afternoon at the church, the members electing the following officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. A. PUT ON THE GLOVES OR STOP TALKING

Ald. Wilson Says He's Tired of Personalities in the Council.

Ald. Wilson has assumed a new role, that of peacemaker. He has always been known as an aggressive person, in fact, he has been called belligerent. However, he has changed his attitude, and at the meeting of the council last night made a plea for peace among the aldermen.

"Let us stop this quarrelling," he urged. "We were elected to do the city's business, not settle our personal differences. If it is necessary to quarrel all the time, why not get a set of gloves, hire a hall, and forever end the trouble. I am getting tired of it."

However, no person took the hint, as the bitter feeling prevailing in the council made itself felt later in the evening.

OBITUARY

The death occurred on Saturday evening of George Carnell Wilkey, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Wilkey, of 899 Lorne avenue. Deceased was only ill a few hours. The funeral was held this afternoon to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

The funeral of Mr. W. S. Evans was held this afternoon from the family residence, 392 Waterloo street, to Woodland Cemetery, and was very largely attended. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Manning, of Dundas Centre Church. The pall-bearers were Messrs. A. Hamilton, I. Collins, Bert Willcox, S. Wilson, F. Bedford and George Carley.

The funeral of C. P. R. Agent Charles Ayers was held this morning from the residence of his father-in-law, Mr. P. Foley, 684 Queen's avenue, to St. Mary's Church, and was very largely attended. The services were conducted by Father McKeown. The pall-bearers were Messrs. McKeough, Foley, McKenna, Donohue, Bell and McKenna. Trainmaster Kinsella went as far as White River and returned with the body.

In the death of Robert Mudie Peattie, Corunna, Ont., which occurred at his home on April 2, the Presbyterian Church in Canada loses one of its oldest and most respected elders. The late Mr. Peattie was a man of remarkable vitality, and retained his powers until the very end of a life of 90 years. The deceased was born in St. Andrews, Scotland, on Jan. 1, 1821, where he spent his boyhood days until the age of 16 years, at which time, his health beginning to fail, he took to the sea, where for fifteen years as a sailor he had the opportunity of visiting nearly every part of the globe. He was thus able to interest his friends, relating the experiences of these years, and, being a keen observer of events, there was always something to learn from his interesting conversation. He came to Canada about the year 1850. His lot was cast in the Township of Sombra, County of Lambton, Ontario, where he took up a valuable homestead. For nine years he spent the summers on the lakes, doing his homestead duties in winter, and preparing for himself a home. In the year 1859 he took to himself a wife in the person of Margaret, daughter of John Cunningham, a much-respected family in the neighborhod of Toronto. Their married life of 52 years was spent on the old homestead, till about six years ago, when they concluded to retire in the village of Corunna, Ont. Mr. Peattie did not forget the religious impression made upon his mind in boyhood days when attending Sabbath school in his Scottish town, and while he sought the retiring life of a farmer, in a district where church work and life were rather discouraging, many of the students who spent their summers in the vicinity of Black Creek Church testify to the encouragement afforded them by the earnest way in which this worthy elder ministered to their wants by seeking in every way to make them feel at home. And most particular was he to see that before the students returned to college in the fall he had been remunerated for his work.

ALLEGED SCANDAL

present time. That is all the connection I had with the transaction in any shape or form. The gravel was used in the foundation, and that is the end of it. Not a check passed through the hands of the city treasurer for this gravel, and the work was carried on outside of my department altogether.

Absolutely Untrue.

"As for city workmen being employed on the job, and the city paying the wages of the men, that is absolutely untrue. Nothing of the kind was ever done. I am willing that the most rigid investigation be held. I am willing also to go to the courts with it, or anywhere else where the facts of the case can be obtained."

"Somebody is going to sweat for this," declared Mr. Mulhall. "I have never done anything wrong in all the time I have been in the city's employ, and I am going to see that justice is done me. I am going to consult a lawyer this evening and lay the facts of the case before him. I did not know of this trouble until late this morning, but I am going to stick with the game until it is ended. I never got anything from the city in any shape or form."

Paid for the Gravel.

"I paid for the gravel that was placed in my yard and that is all there is to it. I am also accused of working on a sidewalk for myself when the city was paying me $2 50 a day. That is also untrue. I laid a walk on a holiday for which I received my pay. I get $15 every week, holidays included, and I think I have a right to use my own time on a holiday to the best advantage."

Ald. Tancock Undecided.

Ald. Tancock is undecided as to the course he will pursue. He considers that he has done his duty in bringing the matter before the council.

"I think I did my duty," he said. "When I heard the story I considered that it was due me as an alderman to bring the matter to the attention of the council. That I have done. The aldermen, however, did not accept my statement, and I do not see what I can do any more than I have done.

"I have an affidavit in my possession, made by one of the gravel contractors, to the effect that the gravel used by Mr. Mulhall was not paid for by him. That I have, but the council did not think it wise to accept it. There are other things that might be brough up, but, as I have said, I have not decided what will be the best course to pursue. I will wait a time for developments."

An Affidavit.

It is understood that the affidavit was made by Mr. Alex. Henderson, one of the gravel contractors. He tendered this year and was given several sections to gravel.

Other statements have also been made to Ald. Tancock's lawyer of alleged wrongdoing, and it is possible something will be brought out in respect to these. It is only fair to City Engineer Wright to say that he is not in any way connected with these alleged transactions.

The majority of them are alleged to have occurred prior to his acceptance of the position.

SENIOR EXAMINATIONS OF DENTAL COLLEGE

Toronto, May 2.—The results of the senior examinations of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons were announced last night.

Mr. L. A. Moffatt, London, Ont., takes first-class honors in all subjects.

Industrial Cumulative Preferred Shares A Business Man's Investment

Business men particularly are attracted to these shares, as they are familiar with conditions and can afford to slightly lessen their security in order to increase their income. A purchase of industrial cumulative Preferred shares of high-standing companies is the best form of investment, yielding a high return.

In most cases, on the shares we recommend, the dividend is earned more than twice over. Thus they represent safety, stability, appreciable and steady income (returning from 6½% to 7½%) and in many instances the promise of a mild increase in price.

Our close touch with and careful and continuous investigation of this class of investments has enabled us to compile in letter form information covering the best of these issues. We shall be pleased to send you this information on request—without cost and without incurring any obligation on your part.

LONDON DRAMATIC CLUB

Members Will Not Be Home Until Wednesday.

The London Dramatic Society will not arrive in London until Wednesday afternoon.

They left Winnipeg Sunday night, intending to come straight home. However, they decided to spend last night and part of today in Chicago.

A telegram was received from Mr. H. Campbell Becher at noon stating that they would leave Chicago some time this evening, arriving in London on Wednesday night.

No decision has been handed out in the Earl Grey competition as yet.

Personal Mention

Miss L. Jackson and Mr. William Jackson, of Edmonton, Alta., are visiting Mr. J. H. Moran and Mrs. A. Gorman, Hyman street.

Mr. D. H. Cowan and family leave on Wednesday for Montreal, from which port they will sail for England. They will be gone four months.

Miss Mae Graham, of Windsor, has returned home after visiting her mother, Mrs. M. J. Graham, of 69 Maple street.

Garnett F. Read, of Toronto, who has been in the city for three days attending the funeral of his grandmother, Mrs. John Broadley, returned this morning.

Miss Beatrice Babcock will return to her home in Newbury the latter part of this week, with her little sister, Gertrude Babcock, who has undergone an operation at the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, followed by a very serious attack of measles and scarlet fever.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. O'Dell, who were married in this city a week ago returned to London yesterday from a trip through the east. They will remain at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Gilmore, 427 King street, a few days before proceeding to Alberta, where they will make their home.

HAVANA STRIKE OVER.

Havana, May 2. — The cart men who struck yesterday in protest against the new traffic regulations, resumed work today following the transfer of a police captain who had been particularly objectionable to the drivers because of his vigorous enforcement of the rules of the street.

Never hesitate about giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to children. It contains no opium or other narcotics and can be given with implicit confidence. As a quick cure for coughs and colds to which children are susceptible, it is unsurpassed. Sold by all dealers. 1

"WHY BE SO THIN?"

Thinness Is Embarrassing, Unhealthy and Not Natural—Formula Now Used Which Adds From One to Three Pounds a Week.

Everyone ought to have some extra flesh on the bony structure of the body, both for the sake of health and self-esteem.

Most thin people are sensitive to the harsh, unfeeling criticisms which are constantly being hurled at them by the more fortunate well-figured persons.

Everyone pities a thin, bony horse, but horses don't know it—while thin people are both pitied and ridiculed. It ought not to be so, but it is.

A well-rounded figure, be it man or woman, excites admiration; not only for the figure but for the bright eyes, pink cheeks, red lips, and vigorous carriage which accompany a well-nourished body.

Strength, health, beauty and sound flesh abound, if the blood and nerves get enough nourishment out of the food eaten.

This prescription aids nature; helps absorption, digestion and assimilation; helps distribute the blood and nerve elements which make sound flesh. Get the ingredients and make it at home, and see how very fast you gain in weight.

In a half pint bottle, obtain three ounces of essence of pepsin, three ounces syrup of rhubarb. Then add one ounce compound essence cardiol, shake and let stand two hours then add one ounce tincture cadonene compound (not cardamom). Shake well and take a teaspoonful before meals and one after meals. Also drink plenty of water between meals and when retiring. Weigh yourself before beginning.

Old and New Ideas

The OLD lock the door AFTER the horse is stolen. The NEW, lock the door BEFORE the horse is stolen. Moral: If you are running down to poor health, let me build you up and render you immune from disease and EARLY DEATH before it is TOO LATE.

LONDON AND DISTRICT

—Mr. Norman Ware, B.A., of McMaster University, and a son of Mrs. Whitehead, of Wolfe street, this city, occupied the pulpit of Talbot Street Baptist Church Sunday morning. He left last night for Dauphin, Man., where he will take charge of the Dauphin Baptist Church for the coming summer.

May Day.

May Day passed off quietly in the city today. Not a sign of any trouble among labor men was noticeable, and there is not a strike in sight. The building trades have no grievances, and altogether labor conditions in this city are highly satisfactory.

S. A. Conference.

Brigadier Potter and Staff-Captain Sims, of the Dominion headquarters of the Salvation Army in Toronto, returned home this morning following a conference with Col. Chandler, of the local provincial command, relative to matters of importance in the Western Ontario division. Officers Potter and Sims visited St. Thomas yesterday, where they addressed special meetings of the Salvation Army there.

Yard Inspection Postponed.

The yard inspectors did not start out on their rounds today. It was expected that they would, but in view of the fact that the month of April was rather wet, Chairman Clarke, of the board of health, and Inspector McCallum decided to give the citizens a few days grace. The inspectors will not start out until Monday next.

Moving Day.

The noise of the furniture van is abroad in the land, and everywhere there is the sound of much moving. There are many people trekking this year, more so than is usually the case, and as a result the moving van is working overtime. A number of the vacant houses in the city are filling up, and everything points to a good increase in population.

Adolph—Spencer.

A quiet wedding was solemnized by Rev. Dr. Ross at the manse of St. Andrew's Church on Saturday morning, April 29, when Mr. Thos. A. Adolph, of this city, was united in marriage to Miss Nellie L. Spencer, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Spencer, of York street, London. The happy couple left on the 11:35 train for Detroit and other points west for a brief honeymoon

For Reciprocity.

Mr. Milton F. Henry, of Sombra, in renewing his subscription to The Advertiser, writes: "People here know the benefit of the American market, as cream is shipped from as far as Chatham and east the width of the county away to Port Huron creamery. Also there are about 2,000 tons of hay shipped a year from here up the lakes, and with river navigation, reciprocity, and Detroit near by, farmers here will show what more cash will accomplish."

New Regulations.

The new militia regulations by which London becomes the headquarters of military district No. 1 went into effect yesterday, and the complete new staff, which will look after the management of affairs, reported to Col. Hodgins yesterday afternoon. In future Col. Hodgins will be in charge entirely of affairs in the district without having to go to Toronto as formerly. He and the staff will from now on receive their orders direct from Ottawa. Five new officers and a staff of clerks will commence their work immediately. Temporary quarters for them are being fitted up in the Armories. Later officers will probably be rented.

WILL BUILD NEW STORE

Former Londoner Continues To Prosper in Saskatoon.

Mr. J. F. Cairns, formerly manager of the Grand Opera House in this city, but now a businessman in Saskatoon, is doing remarkably well in the western city.

The Daily Phoenix, in its issue of April 26, gives an account of a new store about to be erected by Mr. Cairns at a cost of between $250,000 and $300,000. It will be one of the most modern departmental stores west of Winnipeg. It will be 140 by 100 feet, with four stories and basement. The construction will be the most modern and fireproof, and the appointments the best posible.

Mr. Cairns started in business in Saskatoon in 1902. He first started in a little store 20 by 32 feet. The business outgrew these quarters, and the next building was 35 by 75 feet. The third store was more modern and twice the size of the previous one, but the business has increased so rapidly that Mr. Cairns has had to greatly enlarge the capacity of the building.

LONDON ART ASSOCIATION

A Paper on "The Latin Quarter" Read by Miss Blackburn.

The London Art Association held their final meeting of the year on Saturday afternoon in the Collegiate Institute. A paper on "The Latin Quarter of Paris" was read by Miss Grace Blackburn, who described in a very entertaining manner the life of the innumerable students who live in this section of the gay French capital. She told of the struggles borne by these students, instances being cited of actual death through starvation; of the Monday morning "money market," with its crowd of models seeking for employment; of the French streets on their national holidays, and the picturesque and interesting scenes of the quarter.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Talbot Macbeth.

POLICE FAST ENOUGH

Chief Williams Sees No Use For a Motorcycle.

An agent for motor cycles was at the police station yesterday with a machine which will make 70 miles an hour. He interviewed Chief Williams with a view of selling him one for use in running down speeders about the city.

"I don't think we need a machine like that just now," said the chief. "The constables are doing fine work in summonsing those who go too fast."

IRON WORKERS STRUCK MAY DAY

Several Hundred Are Affected in Various Parts of Province

BRIDGEMEN CALLED OUT

May Day Strike of Plumbers at St. Catharines Amicably Settled.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, May 1.—The strike of the structural ironworkers went into effect this morning. About 250 men are affected in various parts of the province, principally in Toronto and at Midland, Ottawa and Hamilton. At Belleville and Trenton the men working on Canadian Northern Railroad bridges are called off work pending a settlement of the trouble. Half a dozen large buildings here, including the new general hospital may be more or less seriously delayed as a result of the strike. The men are asking for an increase from 35 to 40 cents per hour, and it is likely a settlement will be made soon. Mr. McGulgan, of the McGulgan Construction Company, sent for the committee this morning to discuss terms of settlement.

Trouble at St. Kitts.

St. Catherines, May 1. — The only labor trouble in connection with May Day here was a strike of the plumbers. They asked an advance of five cents an hour in wages. They were getting 30 and demanded 35 cents. They also asked that apprentices of four years be paid 25 cents an hour, and that is the point the employers objected to. They granted the five-cent advance to the men, but refused the request of the apprentices. However, a conference was held between representatives of the union and employers later this morning, and a settlement was arrived at. Plumbers and apprentices will return to work tomorrow.

Madrid, May 1.—The huge May Day parade of workmen, Republican and Socialists, and many school children was made through the streets today. The paraders sang revolutionary airs.

In consequence of the existing strike of masons, extraordinary military precautions to preserve public order have been taken, and this afternoon no trouble had occurred.

Lovely at Ottawa.

Ottawa, May 1.—May Day found happy conditions among the ranks of labor men in the capital. "Everything is quiet," said Chas. M. Draper, secretary of the Dominion Trade and Labor Congress. "Nearly all the trades here are covered by agreements, and these are satisfactory to the unions generally. There is no talk of a strike or other difficulty in any quarter."

The local body of the Socialists will hold a demonstration in Major Hill Park tonight.

Card of Thanks.

CRITICS LAUGH AT PRICE OF PAINTING

Many Say $500,000 Tag on "The Mill" a Ridiculous One.

London, May 2.—Is "The Mill," by Rembrandt, which Lord Lansdowne sold to P. A. B. Widener, of Philadelphia, for $500,000, worth the $500,000 his lordship got for it? Or is it worth 30 cents? Or what? English experts don't agree on the point. Here is what some of them say:

Sir W. B. Richmond, R. A.—The price is a ridiculous one. It is obviously a dealer's boom and in no relation to the picture's merit, be it a Rembrandt or not. Twenty-five thousand dollars would be a handsome figure for it.

C. Lewis Hind, art critic—It is a hypnotic expression of Rembrandt's inner vision of the wonder of the world bathed in the splendor of lingering light, loath, as it were, to leave the darkening earth. It is a landmark in the history of landscape painting.

Sir Alfred East, A. R. A.—I should say that "The Mill," which is a fine work of art, may be worth $10,000. But as a rare thing, as all Rembrandt's works are, it is worth exactly what it will realize.

Hear Rev. Mr. Boyd, of Adelaide Street Baptist Church, at Lorne Avenue Mothers' Club Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Subject, "Value of Influence." All interested in the care of children welcome at the kindergarten.
