Four Trainmen Killed-Marvellous Escape of Passengers and Others -Steel-framed Cars Prove Their

Halifax, April 13 .- Four men were killed in a head-on collision on the Intercolonial Railway near Windsor Junction, twenty miles from Halifax, on Saturday night. The belated At-lantic express from Montreal and the fast freight from Halifax for Montreal, both running at high speed, dashed to gether on a sharp curve. The Killed.

both of the freight.

The first three died at their posts with scarcely a moment's warning. Brakeman Albert Thorpe of the freight was horribly injured and died fity minutes after the accident, having suffered terrible agony.

Driver Nelson Copeland of the freight was seriously injured, but is now at the Victoria General Hospital in this city, and will recover. He was found lying beside the track with his face badly cut and his hands and arms terribly scalded by escaping steam.

Four postal clerks and a newsboy, who were in the car ack to the engine of the express, had most miraculous escapes. The car toppled over the embankment, and fell bottom up in a lake on the side of the track, being partly submerged at one end. A safe in the car was huried pass the men as they were tumbled about in the car's descent. They were tightly wedged, but by almost superhuman efforts burst out a door and crawled out one by one. None were seriously injured, all escaping with, a few abrasions. None of the other trainmen were injured, and the passengers escaped with a few scratches and cuts by flying glass. The two big compound engines were smashed to splinters; 19 cars loaded with merchandise were wrecked and their contents strewn along the track. Four cars of the express were lifted from their trucks by the impact of the collision, carried over the engines and turned over on the embankment 200 feet away. Marvellous to say, scarcely a passenger in these cars was injured. They were badly shaken up. Only two women were in the train.

They were badly shaken up Only two women were in the train. The cars were steel framed, and that fact probably prevented them from telescoping and averted a greater loss of life. The passengers in the Pullman were asleep when the collision recurred.

Enough Coal to Keep a Large Force of Men at Work for Two Hundred Years. Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 13.-A mam moth bed of coal has been discovered just south of this city by the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre and the Delaware, Lackawana and Western Coal Com-Lackawana and Western Coal Companies after two bore holes of 2,300 feet had been completed. Eleven veins whose presence was suspected were found, but above them eight veins, never before found in the upper coal field, were discovered. These run from four to eleven feet in thickness, while far beneath them was found a branch of the famous mammoth vein of the Hazleton region, averaging thirty-two feet in thickness and divided into three benches, which will make the mining easier than if the thickness was sheer. The field extends from a point almost touching the southern line of this city to the Auchingloss breaker of the Delaware, Lackawana and Western Company, near Nanticoke, and is almost equally divided between the two large companies. It is roughly estimated that the thickness of the veins aggregates 150 feet and that the whole contains about 300,000,000 tons of coal. One of the officials engaged in the boring said:—"There is enough roal there as indicated by the drill to keep a large force of men working for 200 years." An expert estimates that the force required will be about 6,000 men for that period, while the present cost of production the miners who produce this coal will get about half the market value.

GAMEY CASE OPENED TO-DAY.

EVERYTHING READY FOR TAKING EVIDENCE.

Plano Factory Notes-Stenographers' Memorandum Made Public-Mr. Gamey Files More Letters-Manitoulin Witnesses Arrive.

Toronto, April 13.-The Gamey investigation will commence in earnest in the City Hall this norning at 10 o'clock. Both sides have spent a most busy week in pre-paration of their case, and there seems no possibility of any further postponement. The terms of the indictment may possibly give rise to some argument: on the other hand, the commissioners may order the submission of the evidence, with the understanding that what is not relevant will be ruled out as it is presented. There was an impression last right that Mr. Gamey would not be called first by the prosecution, but that counsel would seek to lay a groundwork by locating certain persons on certain days, and by tain persons on certain days, and by possibly inquiring where the alleged election fund came from. Mr. Johnston, the chief counsel for the defence, who has maintained a close silence on matters relating to his case; stated on Saturday that he had been very successful in getting evidence, and that when his winnesses were called there a nere was some uneasiness on Saturday among the counsel for the prosecution as to the possibility of the Manitoulin witnesses getting away from the island, but it was amounced last night that the Gore Bay party would reach the city on the train from North Bay early this morning. Those from Little Current arrived yesterday, having crossed the narrow channel from that town without difficulty. They registered at the Walker House as follows.—T. C. Sims, B. H. Turner, G. W. Spencer and Richard Oliver. There were also G. Silvester and Wm. McVittle of Sudbury, and J. F. Boyd. Sault Ste. Marie. Mr. Turner is President of the Manitoulin Conservative Association, and also owns the telegraph service on the island. It is understood that his evidence is wanted particularly in the latter connection. Mr. Spencer was recently appointed license inspector, and Mr. Boyd is a colonization roads inspector, who has been mentioned in some of the correspondence.

The Sudbury Bank pass book has not yet been produced, and Mr. Gamey has been served by the defence with a paper to produce this book and any other bank books he may have. This fact, taken in conjunction with a recent remark by Mr. Johnston that he knew of a number of deposits by Mr. Gamey, may throw some light on the theory of the defence.

The courtroom has been put in readiness for the 2 rmy of witnesses and workers who will take possession to-day. It is stated that after those whose business requires their attendance have been accommodated there will be no room for the general public, who will have to rely upon the full reports which the newspapers will furnish.

The stenographers' memorandum is as follows:—

Memorandum of a conversation between R. R. Gamey, M.P.P., and Frank Sullivan in the foorth floor of No. 102 Adelaide street west, Toronto, which said conversation was overheard by three hidden witnesses:—

About 8 p.m. Tuesday, March toth, 1903, Mr. Gamey and Mr. Sullivan came into the room in which we were hiding. Mr. Gamey and Mr. Sullivan to take a chair. Sullivan's first question was, "How did you get along with Whitney?" Gamey replied to the effect that Whitney treated him friendly enough. Sullivan said, "You gave him to understand that in a vote of want of confidence that you will support him and that will be all right." Sullivan asked how the Manitoulin people felt about it. Gamey replied that the Executive would not support him as an Executive, but that personally a number of them were with him.

Gamey asked, "How is Stratton?" Sullivan answered that everything was all right; that he had seen Stratton? Sullivan answered that everything was all right; that he had seen Stratton every day; in fact, Stratton insisted upon his calling and reporting every day. A little later he said that Stratton was scared that the whole thing would come out. "One day," said he, "he (Stratton) walked up and down the floor and finally stopped in front of him and said, "Is this man to be trusted?", Sullivan said he is all right

Il you don't do any dirty work, and told Stratton simply to leave the whole matter in his hands and not to do anything concerning it until he had consulted him. (Sullivan). Sullivan further said that whenever he called to see Stratton he did not have to wait his turn, but was sent right up to his private room.

Gamey asked, "Do you think Meyers is all right?" Sullivan said, "Meyer is scared out of his wits and there is no danger from him." Gamey said that Meyers reddened up when he took the money to the smoking room. "Why," said Sullivan, "Meyers didn't take the money to the smoking room. Chase, that fellow that sits outside of Ross' door, took it. Stratton handed it to Meyers, who handed it to Chase. Chase then took it down and left it in the smoking room."

Sullivan asked about the appointment of license inspector. Gamey said that he had decided to appoint Lewis, Sullivan said that Lewis was a good man, as he controlled a large number of votes. His father (Capt. Sullivan) had said so. Sullivan said that Simshad been down to see his father, and his father told him that Gamey had the patronage, and if he wanted anything to go to Gamey.

Gamey asked if he thought Stratton would put up the rest of the money. Sullivan said, "We got him just where we want him and he will be all right," Sullivan further said that now is the time to get whatever we want and the sooner we ask for it the better. He (Sullivan) said that the want and the sooner we ask for it the better. He (Sullivan) said that the island scheme was too small and that the Government were getting a large revenue from the lake deal. Sullivan asked if he did anything further about their mining scheme. Gamey said no, but that they could get out a blanket claim for 640 acres each, but that no claim for 640 acres each, but that no prospecting could be done at present. A blanket claim would hold it till the snow was off. Sullivan said that Gamey could make some new discovery or any old thing so that they could get it pushed through. Gamey said that the people would be on to it if they went in together, as the people of Manitonlin, although they did not think they went in together, as the people of Manitonlin, although they did not think that he got any money, thought that he would get some mining or timber concessions. It was then agreed that another man should be taken in to allay suspicion. Sullivan said we must take care and get all we want to this time. Sullivan said that they could give back the money we have gotten from them if we get a good thing, for they need money very badly now.

Sullivan said that they were afraid that Evan said that they were afraid that Evan said that they going to come

Sullivan said that they were afraid that Evanturel was not going to come down and that they were afraid that he was going over to the other side. He said the Government had given him a room in the House. He said that the Government needed Gamey as badly now as they did last August; several members on the Liberal side were sick, and he did not think Charlton would last a week. Sullivan said the Liberals would be unseated in the three Norths. He knew of evidence that would unseat the candidates in North Grey and North Norfolk, and that he Grey and North Norfolk, and that he could get information that would unseat the member in North Norfolk in half an hour. The Grand Trunk, he said, were going to get their subsidy, and that after that they would tell the Government to look out for themselves, and if so they would have a hard time to win.

Gamey asked if there would be any trouble at all in putting through their deal. Sulliyan said he was sorry that the deal was in Davis' department, but he could easily be worked. Gamey then asked if Davis knew about Gamey being bought over. Sullivan said that Davis and every member of the Cabinet land the said was said that the said was s Davis and every member of the Cabinet knew about it. Sullivan then said that if there was any trouble in putting through their, deal that he had a confidential friend on The World staff and that he would get him to put in a few lines that the Torics had got on to a big Reform scheme. He said that Stratton could not have it come out on any account, as Stratton would certainly have to leave public life and resign.

A great many of the men are quite young, and embrace nearly all callings in different trades, as well as clerks. They are all well dressed, and seem well supplied with money. Among the belonging of the party are 130 dogs.

Mr. Thomas O. Davis, M.P., of Prince Albert, boarded the steamer on arrival and had a conference with Rev. Mr. Barr and the leaders of the party. He placed himself at the disposal of his aew constituents, expressing his readiness to do anything required to facilitate their plans.

Quite a lot of dissatisfaction was expressed by many of the colonists regarding the accommodation and treatment during the voyage, especially in the steerage, which was overcrowded with 1,400 persons. Many of them were anxious to come out as cabin passengers, but were unable to procure berust. They assert freely that Rev. Mr. Barr and the steemboat people grossly misrepresented matters. They were promised that the accommodation and food there, though plainer, would be as good as the second cabin. Instead they say they were huddled together and the woman were without any chance of privacy at any time, with sanitary arrangements filthy and is acree and poor. The second day a delegation waited upon Captain Taylor and demanded him to put back to the nearest port and land them, "Had the done so, the immigrants say, all the people in the steerage would have gone from the steerage would have go he done so, the immigrants say, all the people in the steerage would have gone home. Several now say they will leave the party and strike out on their own account. Some have also written letters for publication in the English papers. Rev. Mr. Barr makes light of the complaints. He says he expected some. The fact was they were a lot of people who were not used to steerage accommodations, and that all would be well when they reached their destination. They intended to lay out three towns immediately, to be named Preston, Lloydtown and Barrview. Municipal government would view. Municipal government would with the party with a full pork-packing equipment, contractors also, ready to go on with buildings, etc., so that in a very short time all would be well. The passengers speak highly of Rev. Mr. Lloyd.

STRANGE STORY.

NO. 99

It Will Be Enacted in the Production of Telstol's Drama at the Grand To-morrow Night

A dramatic event of much in portance is Andrew Benedict's magnificent production of the dramatic by Count Leo Tolstoi, stage versions. by Charles W. Chase, produced with pecial scenery and a cast of extraordinary merit.

Count Leo Tolstoi's "Resurrection" is the story of a young nobleman then deserted her. Ten years later, any disease. Rev. Geo. E. Lloyd, who is looking after the spiritual welfare of the immigrants, when spoken to, said they numbered 1,964. The passage out was fine, except the first day. Then almost everybody was sick. The people are from all parts of the United Kingdom, England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales. 'They have been drummed up since last September,' said Mr. Lloyd, "and this is only an advance party. The world is watching this very boat load of humanity. Next March there will be 10,000 more of us out here, and all England is being aroused to the possibilities in Canada. The greatest exodus in the history of the mother country is about commencing. The South Africa tever is a boom only; Canada's boom is a growth.''

The stay-at-home English people, Mr. Lloyd affirms, are not downcast at this outpouring of their people. The mother isle is overcrowded. Before the steamer anchored on Saturday morning Rev. Mr. Lloyd was presented with a pair of fine horses and a buckboard by the passengers. The steamer anchored on Saturday morning, when the great mass of baggage and effects commended to be asterned to the stage and effects commended to be asterned to the proposed to the contrary and has interested the entire world. In dramatization it loses none of its strength; in fact, with action and the addition of many quaint characters and natural incidents, it oecomes, and is one of the best plays the stage has seen in many years.

"FARCICAL."

It is somewhat interesting to note the view of the Ross judicial commission in the Stratton scandal taken by the United States press. After not ing the heavy sentence to which guilbribers are liable-fourteen years in the penitentiary-the Detroit Free Press says :-

To the American view the whole proceeding thus far, as conducted by the party in power, seems farcical. I has stacked the cards while solemnly insisting that it desires nothing but a fair deal. Acting as a grand jury it is framing the indictment against Stratton, and will appoint the commission to try him.

"In other words, the prosecutors are to prosecute themselves before a tribunal of their own naming, and identified with the Government, which is trying to clear its skirts. Stratton is not the only one accused, and to acquit him is a shield for everybody implicated. In addition to all this, the Legislature is to be suspended during the so-called investigation, so that there can be no supervision by the people through their direct representatives. The acquittal thus foreshadowed would go far toward heading off a trial for the crime of bribery and the Government could point to the vindication of a Scotch ver

Kingston News. The officials of the Kingston peni tentiary are determined to carry on their system of espionage despite the criticism of the press and public. Convicts are instructed to watch the guards, and, if possible, inveigle them into some act that if they commit will lead to their dismissal. On the adoption of the word "jolly" into the English it had the meaning of beautiful, as it has among the French today. The English dramatist Beaumont of the sixteenth century speaks of our first mother as "the jolly Eve." In time, however, it came to mean hi-larious, regardless of physical beauty. But this latter meaning is probably loubtless comes from Yule (Yu-le), the pagan Christmas, so to speak, for be it known that what we new observe as Christmas day was a heathen holiday called Yule, and the Yule festival was one of noisy demonstration.

Yule indeed means noise or outcry, praising in loud voice, chanting, singing, making outcry in honor of their god. From yule, then, to jolly the step is short and easy, both meaning revel ry, rejoicing. Ours is a risen Lord, theirs the same. The words are identical. So, too, in large degree the Christ-mas jollities, praises and those of heathen Yule. Into such close relation do present with the past.

Great Interest Taken in Things Canadian in the United Kingdom-Ireland as a Field for Emigration Work.

Halifax, April 11.-Among those who returned on the steamer Tunisian were eighteen of the Canadian farmer delegates, who were sent by the Government to Great Britain to tell the people there of the opportunities for farming in the Dominion. The delagates have been absent from Canada about two months, and regret that they could not have remained longer. Forty farmers went over, and they were distributed throughout the Briwere distributed throughout the British Isles. Some of them remained in England, while odler went to Ireland and Scotland, and everywhere they received a warm welcome. They held public metings in nearly all of the big farming centres, and the people were particularly anxious to obtain information about Canada. Several of the delegates told your correspondent that they were talking, morning, noon and night. The meetings were all largely attended, people coming from a great distance to hear the addresses, and the majority of them were surprised when informed of the extent of the great wheat fields in the harvest time, and the people could scarcely realize that Canada was such a great producing country. was such a great producing country. ARRIVALS AT HALIFAX.

The SS. Tunisi n and Sicilian Bring 1,900 Passengers.

Halifax, April 11.—Nearly 1,900 new Can-adian citizens were landed here yesterday morning by the Allan liners Tunisian and Sicilian. The former, which carried the royal mails, made the passage from Mo-ville in seven days, although taking the ville in seven days, although taking the southerly route to avoid ice. She had on board 150 saloen, 310 second cabin and 1,067 steerage proseners. The second cabin and steerage passeners, with the exception of 200 Norwegians, were Scotch and English, and composed as fine a body of people as ever landed at a Canadian port. Most of them are young men, embracing all callings and trades, and they were an especially smart and intelligent looking lot, being decidedly the best that have landed here this season. They appear to be in good circumstances, and are looking forward to a happy and prosperous life in Canada. The stories about lack of accommodation at Winnipeg for the new settlers reached the immigrants here, and caused some dismay, but the inigration officials did their best to 'ssure them. PREMIER COMPES' WARNING. Members of the Congregations Must Not be Allowed to Preach.

Paris, April 10.-Premier Combes is actively pursuing the task of enforcing the laws against the congregations. He issued to-day two circulars addressed to the Bishops. One notifies them that they must absolutely forbid the members of congregations from preaching in the churches of their dioceses, and warns them that neglect to do so will result in the closing of those churches in which the law is infringed. The other circular directs the immediate cessation of religious services in all es-tablishments to which authorization has not been granted.

Albert Spinks is Dead.

Toronto, April 11.—Albert Spinks, who was overcome by gas at the Globe Hotel on Monday night, died in St. Michael's Hospital about 10 o'clock last night. Spinks never regained his senses. For three days he was practically kept alive on oxygen gas. Coroner M. M. Crawford issued a warrant for an inquest to be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon. With Detective Davis the Coroner visited the Globe Hotel last night and examined the proprietor and a number of the employees. In all probability the warrant for the inquest will be withdrawn this morning.

Natural Gas at Brantford. Brantford, April II.—Well-diggers drilling on the premises of the Cockshutt Plough Company's new plant struck natural gas at a depth of 400 feet. For a time it was supposed that a valuable find had been made, but such did not turn out to be the case. The drillers think, however, they have a good prospect of finding gas further down, and they will drill 500 feet deep.

In the old days of the James river master on a packet boat which was so crowded that the dog was put in the captain's cabin to be out of the way. says the New York Mail and Express. His owner reached his destination after nightfall and had taken so much wine by that time that he was carried off the boat, and no one remembered

Next morning the captain took the dog on deck with him, but was much afraid he would jump off to the tow-path and try to return that way, and so handsome an animal would have been in danger of being stolen.

Carlo, however, lay perfectly quiet, but with an air of listening that attracted notice. Toward noon he heard the sound of the horn of a packet com ing from the opposite way, and as the boats passed each other he made a leap and was next heard from as having got off at the place where his master had stopped and as having gone at once to the house where he was a

Could human intelligence have surpassed that?
This same dog lay on his master's grave and refused food until he died from starvation. But I do not give this as a case in point.

A gentleman who lived a hundred miles from a city moved there with all his possessions, including a bulldog which had been raised at his father's home, where he had hitherto resided He was locked up in the car with the furniture and in the bustle of unloading disappeared, and two days afterward he reached his former home, coming by an inland route, as was known by par ties who recognized him, so that he evidently marked out his own path without reference to the railroad on which he had been carried away.

THE OMNIBUS.

It Was Introduced by Blaise Pascal

No less a personage than the famou mathematician, Blaise Pascal, is said to have introduced the vehicle which we call the "omnibus." Unlike most other men of learning Pascal was more or less interested in the affairs of prac tical life. He was the inventor of the pushcart that now perambulates our streets, says the Scientific American. In 1661 he had large wagons built for regular traffic in the heart of Paris.

He allied himself in this undertaking with several influential friends, among whom was the Duke of Roannes. In 1662 Louis XIV. granted letters patent to Pascal, in which it was said that these carriages were intended for the comfort of poor people who had to go to courts of justice or who were sick and so poor that they could not afford to pay the two pistoes exacted by the chairmen and the drivers of coaches. At first the use of the vehicle was not generally permitted. A royal decree forbade its use by soldiers, pages, lackeys and other liveried servants, as well as artisans and porters.

Pascal, in spite of the fact that he only lived to be thirty-nine, is said to have made no inconsiderable sum out

After the vehicle had been in use some sixteen years it was abandoned for various reasons. It was not until 1812 that it was again introduced, this time in Bordeaux, which city was fol-lowed in 1821 by Nantes and in 1827 by Paris. The vehicle was improved and rapidly became popular. Now it has been almost displaced by the tramway. In modern times the vehicle was called an omnibus simply for the rea-son that it was intended for the carriage of all, without any restrictions as

It isn't a question of his winning a race, but a question of being able only to keep afloat. The man who is suffering from malnutrition is like the fettered swimmer. THE GIRL WHO IS LOVED.

She Must Be Admired by Those of Her Own Sex.

A woman cannot be said to be truly attractive or popular unless she is loved and admired by the members of her own sex as well as the opposite. She must be welcomed by all, old and young, male and female, or she cannot be called an attractive woman without reservation.

She must be herself, her best self, at all times and with all people. She must think and act for herself and express her own opinions rather than try to copy some person she may admire or who is admired by the lords of creation. Individuality when combined with polite manner and tact is always attractive. A woman's happy, infec-tious laugh is better than medicine or advice, and her cheery presence is as welcome as the sunshine.

A girl to be truly popular never says mean things about other girls, thinking that the men will like her better, and she doesn't try to monopolize the atten-tions of all the men at once, but is willing to let other girls have their share of admiration and attention along with her. She doesn't mope and retreat within herself if there are no men about to admire her, but she cheerfully sets about making the best of matter: without them and making such panions as she has happier and bright-or for her presence.

If she has a grievance, she keeps it to herself, for a woman with a grievance is very soon voted a bore. The weeping fainting sad eved young woman is very much out of style nowadays not only in novels, but in real life, and the healthy, happy, independent, cheerful and sunny girl has totally eclipsed her in popularity .- American Queen.

Education of Women. The progress in education is so marked and so well understood as to need but little comment. When in 1851 Mrs. Stanton, Lucy Stone and I made demand that girls in the state of New York should be permitted an opportu nity for a college education, there was not even a high school open to them in the whole United States. Oberlin, O., was the only college they could enter, and there were no preparatory schools to fit them for that institution. At the present time they are admitted to all the state universities except those of Virginia, Georgia and Louisiana and to all the large universities of the middle and western states. The unwar-ranted and retrogressive action of Chicago university in "segregating" the women students shows that the battle is not entirely over, but the end is in sight.—Susan B. Anthony in Collier's Weekly.

A Sewing Convenience. Here is a good suggestion for the benefit of busy mothers who do their own sewing and have many interruptions, thereby losing thimble and needle: Take some dark cretonne or any heavy material and make a small bag the shape of an open envelope about seven inches long. Sew a safety pin on the point of the envelope, put a small whalebone across the back to keep it firm and straight and stitch it strong. Then put in thread, thimble scissors, some tape and a few button of various sizes. Pin the envelope to the side, and thus equipped many a necessary stitch will be taken and time and temper saved.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Keep Your Temper. Great Kidney Remedy.

Kenlis, N. W. T., April 13.—(Special)
—In this new country where medical attendance is often hard to get the action of special preparations is carefully watched and the results as carefully matched and the results as carefully matched and the results as carefully moted. Consequently, conclusions are arrived at that are of value to the public. And the almost unanimous conclusion is thait as a family medicine there is nothing to compare with Dodd's Kidney Pills.

As a tonic it has made a name for itself, while its cures of all stages of Kidney Disease from Bright's Disease to Backache might be considered miraculous if their frequency did not make them almost common.

The following story told by Thos. L. Hubbs, a farmer in Indian Head municipality, is one of the many that have given Dodd's Kidney Pills their reputation.

"About one year ago," says Mr. Hubbs, "I was thrown from a wagon, causing some strain on my Kidneys. I tried several medicines but could get no relief till I was induced to try Dodd's Kidney Pills relieved me almost from the start and by the time I had finished one box my pains were gone. They have not come back either."

Address By Rev. Mr. Knowles on Social Amusements-Dance, Card Table and Theatre.

Dancing, cards and the theatre formed the basis of the Rev. W. E. Knowles' remarks at the First Presbyterian church last evening. Mr. Knowles argued that these pleasures in themselves were not wrong, but it was what grew out of them, such as jealousy, envy, spite and excesses, made them wrong. He formulated his remarks on the following two texts, one from Romans and one from Corinthians, and he claimed that the one was the complement of the other, "I know and I am persuaded by the Lord Jesus that there is nothing unclean of itself, but to him that esteemeth anything to be unclean to him it is unclean." "Wherefore, if meat make my brother to offend, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth lest I make my brother to offend." Rev. Mr. Knowles pointed out that deasure was the counterpart of toil and men desired amusements because God had so constituted us. In coun-tries where the people had the great-est real amusement there was the least evil.

There were three forms of amuse find that Christ didn't. He laid down great principles for a guide, but left the details for the individual.

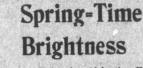

"Does playing cards night after night bring greater preparation for the world that is to come?" continued Mr. Knowles. "Does it cause more purify in woman? Does it arouse more honor in men? If it makes men better able for the duties of the morrow, then it is right. But if card playing arouses bitterness of feeling and makes men say things to insult one another, using expressions that if used on the street would result in the speaker being knocked sidining room, kitchen, pantry, two bedrooms downstairs. one wants an article, why not buy it instead of striving to get it for nothing.

"If the game is so exciting in it-self, why tickle that excitement by playing for a stake. They do things at these card parties which, if done in a common gambling house, would result in police interference.

"Dancing is a good thing in itself. It calls into use one of the noblest faculties, and I wish dancing were more common, just for a little while in your own home, not with all. The dance has a cheering influence on the mind. It gives opportunity for an overflow of spirits. There is something soothing in the harmonious movement of the body. But is the thing they call the dance to-day, this? Is the modern ball, with its painful preparation, lavish expenditure, fatigue and weariness beneficial? It is a bad thing to create rivalry amongst people. The modern ball does this. "There is the theatre. Can we apply Christianity to it. If it takes men and makes them understand the real tragedy of life, then it has a good effect. The theatre of to-day does not do that. If a manager made that his ideal, he would lose money. The actors are guilty of indelicacy and indecent exhibitions.

Fashionable Dressmaking

This is Our Growing ...Time...

We read a great deal these days about Canadian expansion. Our great North-west with its wonderful and untold resources, and as loyal Canadians we are all well pleased to know that the world at large is waking up to understand what Canada really is.

To come nearer home anyone with their eyes open can see that Chatham has struck a growing time—more factories, more population, more houses, better streets and better stores. We are pleased when we hear travellers say that for its size Chatham has more up-to-date business places than any place in Capada. We are pleased to know that this store helps to make that statement possible. Catering as we do to supply every dry goods need for man, woman and child as well as the complete furnishings for the home, this store has grown and grown until to day it occupies the premises formerly occupied by five separate businesses, and carries by far the largest and most comprehensive stocks in the various lines represented of any store in the West.

Still we go on Expanding—To make room for our rapidly growing trade in Carpets and Furniture we have found it necessary to secure the next building at present occupied by Smith's Seed Store. Next month we will have this large show-room added in which to display our furniture stock. In the meantime we are greatly hampered for room, shipments are coming forward every day. Its a necessity to move the stock rapidly, that's one of the reasons why its pays intending purchasers to come in and see our stock of furniture and carpets. Prices are marked in plain figures and we have strictly one-price for everybody. You will be welcome to come and judge of the values for yourself.

Women's Neckwear

Our Spring display of Neckwear for women is one of the most pleasing features in the store to-day. The styles of the season in millinery and gowns seem to have enlarged the possibilities for exquisite decorations for the neck and shoulders. The exhibition presented to day will delight every woman who is nterested in matters of dress.

DRAINAGE JUDGMENT

Re the drainage case of George Hoyle, Rachel Radley, Alice Cummings and Ellen Best vs. Chatham Township. Drainage Referee J. B. Rankin, K. C., gave his decision on Saturday. The plaintiff, Geo. Hoyle, lives in Chatham Township, and the other plaintiffs live in Chatham. The proceedings were taken to recover damages to land and crops alleged to have been caused by the overflow of the Best and Leonard drains in the 7th concession of the Township of Chatham, and for a mandamus to compel the proper repairs to be made to the Leonard drain. The locality was inspected on the 30th ult. and the trial took place on the 31st ult. and the first and second inst.

The Referee, J. B. Rankin, K. C., finds that plaintiffs have failed to prove damages, directly or indirectly, caused by the weant of repair to the Leonard drain or by the defendants in bringing in water from lands not assessed for the Best drain. He further finds that the Leonard drain is out of repair, that sufficient notice was given to the Township to repair this drain and, unless repairs are made within three months a mandamus will issue to compel the Township to make such repairs. The plaintiffs are allowed $80 costs as the cost of a successful application for a mandamus and the defendants costs are to be paid out of the general funds of the Township by reason of the Council of 1892 appointing one of themselves as commissioner upon the construction of the drain and allowing him to give his certificate of completion, while there remained a block of earth, at the head of the drain, wholly untouched by the contractors. This failure to complete at that time is held to be the cause of the litigation. M. Wilson, K. C., and W. E. Gundy for plaintiffs, J. S. Fraser contra. S. Fraser contra.

BRIGHAM YOUNG DEAD,

President of Council of the Mormon Church Passes Away.
Salt Lake, Utah, April 11.—Brigham Young, President of the Council of Twelve Apostles of the Mormon Charch, died in this city to-night after a lingering illness. He was born at Kirkland, Ohio, in 1836, and was the eldest son of President Brigham Young.

THE POPE'S HEALTH.

The Pontiff Received a Number of Hungarian Pilgrims.

Rome, April 13.—Easter Sunday was marked by magnificent weather. A private Mass was held at the Vatican with a few select guests. The Pontific was present, but for the first time in his Pontificate he did not officiate personally. This circumstance has given rise to all kinds of rumors respecting the health of Pope Leo, who, however, was well enough to receive a large number of Hungarian pilgrims.

Minard's Liniment Cures Garget in

lence is attempted in connection with the strike of mill hands at Hawkesbury the aid of the militia will be sought. In anticipation of this 100 men of the Governor-General's Foot Guards, under Major Winter, and the same number from the 43rd Regt., under Major S. Maynard Rogers, are in readiness. If the detachment goes to Hawkesbury, Lient.-Col. Hodgins will be in supreme command. An intimation that the services of the militia may be invoked has been conveyed by Mr. H. K. Egan, one of the directors of the company, to Lord Aylmer, Adjutant-General. A very ugly spirit was shown by the rioters Friday, when Deputy Sheriff Wright and ten special constables sought to clear the rioters away from the bridges leading to an island in the Ottawa, on which the mills are located. The special police were unarmed, whereas the strikers had four-foot edgings. The police tried to clear a way with their fists, but were driven back, and Constable Wm. Courtney of Hawkesbury had a nasty cut on the temple. The police did not resume their efforts to compel the strikers to move. The strike has occurred because the Hawkesbury Lumber Co. refuse to grant the following demands: 25 per cent. increase to all employees, minimum wage to hands 15 cents per hour, a minimum wage to tradesmen of 20 cents an hour, recognition of the union, all work to be done by day labor and not by the job, the holding back of two days' instead of a week's pay. The men decided to strike on Friday last, instead of waiting until May 1, as their organizers advised. Efforts to get supplies of food from the Town of Hawkesbury to the island, where the non-strikers live, were thwarted by the strikers, and recourse was then had to a steamboat, which safely landed what was needed. bury the aid of the militia will be sought. In anticipation of this 100

DEATH OF VIING LIL

Supposed Real Author of Anti-foreign Outbreak.

Pekin, April 13.-Yung Lu, Control ler of Finances and First Grand Secretary, is dead.

Yung Lu was a Manchu. He was said to be the real author of the antiforeign outbreak in Pekin and Tien-tsin, and he commanded the best dis-ciplined troops which opposed the alciplined troops which opposed the allies.

Yung Lu's death removes the greatest power in the Government of China except the Dowager-Empress, and many consider that the Dowager-Empress was under his domination. While outwardly friendly to foreigners since he returned to court, there is no reason to believe that Yung Lu was really less bitter against them than when he was one of the leaders of "Boxerism." His death was largely due to his refusal to consult any foreign physicians until almost in extremis, when he calluntil almost in extremis, when he called in the doctor of the Japanese Le-

THE VISIT TO FRANCE.

The King Will be Accorded a Hearty

Paris, April 13.-The subject dominating all else just now is the forthcom ing visit of King Edward to President Loubet in Paris on May Day, and the decision of the President of the republic to pay a return visit to King Edward in London, probably in the month of Jene. This welcome inter-change of friendship between France and Britain is the result of a carefully-thought-out plan, to the maturity of which the leading London and Paris thought-out plan, to the maturity of which the leading London and Paris mewspapers have most creditably and patriotically performed their parts. It is perhaps more than a mere coincidence that it was during the visit to Baris, at the time of the funeral of the late M. de Blowitz, of one of the most comment London newspaper proprietors that the idea of an exchange of visits first took a concrete form. Coolheaded Frenchmen as well as states manifike Englishmen agree that the two countries since Fashoda and attained highwater mark during the Transvaal war has worked almost as much mischief as actual hostilities. Britain is the best customer of France, and the industrial relations which for the last five years have been impaired by nationalism and jingoism on both sides of the Channel are already waxing stronger. There is always in latent or active form in France a certain amount of floating animosity. This force, like some noxious chemical element, had continued after the close of the war of 1870-71 to be manifested against Germany, until Bismarck adroitly succeeded in directing it against England.

AROYAL HOSTLER.

A ROYAL HOSTLER.

Prince Alexander of Teck Had to Work.

London, April 13.-Secretary War Brodrick's army reforms have produced many strange results. The produced many strange results. The latest is 'that when the Prince of Wales visited his brother-in-law, Prince Alexander of Teck, at Hampton Court barracks, he found him in the stables stripped to his shirt, busily feeding and graoming horses alongside the troopers. Inquiries elicited the fact that Prince Alexander belonged to a regiment which consisted at the time of seven men and two officers. It is a composite regiment of recruits to the 7th and 1oth Hussars, which are both in South Africa, Drafts to these had reduced the composite regiment to nine men. They had to tend eighty-four horses, the War Office having refused permission for the employment of civil help.

This provisional regiment of hussars is included in Secretary Brodrick's first army corps.

The London Standard says Britain, France and Germany will participate equally in the control of the proposed Bagdad railway.

Don't forget to dry the hands and feet of the child well. Dampness etween the toes may cause soreness or even a corn, which may be troublesome to get rid of.

Don't neglect to keep the feeding bottle properly clean. A very little secre-tion in the bottle may cause serious trouble and perhaps result in the death

Useless Belongings.
Give away what you don't really need in your house. Don't let such things accumulate. They will soon fill attic and cellar and overflow into other rooms, where they do no one any good. You are not likely to want them again, and it is a nuisance to have them around. Long ago we should have been obliged to get a bigger house for our growing family if I had followed my husband's tarifty plan of saving things, says a writer in Good Housekeeping.

At first he thought I was extrava gant, but now he acknowledges that if other families would likewise rid then selves of "truck" they are not likely to use again in a thousand years, house-cleaning would be robbed of half its terrors. Thrift is a homely virtue that easily degenerates into miserliness. of us hoard old clothes, unused furniture, discarded bric-a-brac and the like, simply because that habit has besuch things away to worthy folks who need them. Yet we don't mean to be stingy and are ashamed to discover

A Health Hint. No charm that a woman can possess can atone for a tainted breath. It suggests physical disorder or a lack of in-ward cleanliness. Defective teeth, too, are the cause of offensive breath. It should be the object of every woman of refinement that her personality holds the fragrance of absolute purity. This is impossible without healthfulness and cleanliness, and therefore these two prime factors of health and beauty should be cultivated unceasingly. It is said that oriental women rinse their mouths night and morning with lotions that impart a delicious odor to the Cinnamon has antiseptic as well as aromatic properties and is high ly valued by the Japanese for purifying the breath. The medicinal value of cinnamon is too little known. It destroys infectious microbes and when freely drunk in such ways as cinnamor tea it prevents malaria.

After a girl is twenty she is apt to make friends of married women, wom en other than those she has known in early girthood and who have since married. On these married friends she often lavishes affection and admiration in larger quantifies than she has be-fore given her girl friends. Such friend-ships are, if their objects are the right will prevent an intimacy with any oth-er kind, of great benefit to a girl, show-ing her a wider sphere of woman's inice than she has yet investigated. ciation and opens the intellect is valuable.

Few mothers and fewer nurses no-tice when they lay a baby down whether the soft little ear is crumpled under or lying close back to the head, and they rarely take the trouble when they hold a baby to see that its ears are in the natural position, but will hold it for the longest time with the head pressed against their bosom and the ear turned forward instead of back. "As the twig is bent the tree is inclined" applies with as much force to the physical as to the moral growth of a child.

The little pests do not like the borax and will not gnaw through the sack when thus prepared.

Buying Meat.

It is a most wasteful performance to buy meat in small pieces. Recent experiments have shown that a piece of meat weighing one to one and three-quarter pounds lost no less than 45 per cent of its weight in cooking, while in pieces of five to six pounds the loss was only 39 per cent. In still larger joints the loss was even further reduced.

ETHICS OF KISSING.

A WOMAN'S VIEWS ON THE SUBJECT OF OSCULATION.

Men Upon Whom a Modes Maiden May Lavish Kisses Withou Compunction and Those Toward Whom She Should Play the Miser.

There are still occasions, however rare, when inactivity, much as it has fallen into disfavor, continues to be masterly. When a modest maiden is in doubt as to whether or no she should kiss or allow herself to be kissed by any man not related to her by close ties of consanguinity, she best displays her wisdom by giving herself, not him. the benefit of the doubt and so refrain

If she is willing to promise to marry him, he reasons, she ought to be willing to let him kiss her. Moreover, he desires a kiss or kisses upon general principles as something hand, the party of the second part has herself to consider in the matter. A woman should be sure of her own bona, fide intentions of matrimony and dou-bly sure of those of her lover before sets such a sign and seal to the contract. Engagements of marriage are by no means irrefragible, and she who kisses least is likely to have least cause for future regret. At all events a prudent woman will wait until the engagement is announced before she permits any kissing. There are men who have serious objections to marrying any woman who has been engaged man, for the simple reason that they do not choose that any man shall be able to say of the woman whom they take to wife that he has kissed her as her lover. It matters little, rather more, that the kisses have peen given in good faith to an affianced

Elegance of Which Wesley Wrote Has Long Departed. John Wesley was the guest of Lady Moira at Moira House, Usher's island Dublin, in 1775. Writing of the house, the great Methodist said: "I has surprised to observe, though not a more grand, yet a far more elegant room than any I have ever seen in England. It was an octagon about 20 feet square and 15 or 16 feet high, havfeet square and 15 or 16 feet high, having one window—the sides of it inlaid throughout with mother of pearl—reaching from the top of the room.
The ceiling, sides, furniture of the room were equally elegant. And must this, too, pass away like a dream?"
Half a century ago the elegance of which Wesley wrote departed from Moira House. The Mendicity institu-tion dismantled it, took down the interior decorations and covered the gar-dens with offices. It is today as dismal looking a place as is to be seen in or around the Irish capital, which has many reminders that it was once capital in deed as well as in name. Among other notable visitors to Moira House in the days of its glories was Charles James Fox, who there me Henry Grattan. It was in Moira House, too, that Pamela found a refuge while her husband, Lord Edward Fitzgerald, was dying in Dublin Newgate not far away across the river Liffey.

A Feat of Memory. Some light is thrown on the possibil ities of memory culture by an interest ing recital contained in the autobiog raphy of Robert Houdin, the famous conjurer. He taught his son to glance at, say, a shop window and to memo rize accurately, as in a brain picture the window's contents. Then he would ask him to describe the contents, check-ing and correcting him as he went on. On one occasion Houdin was com manded to the Tuileries to give a performance before the French court. As he passed through an antercom to the saloon he bade his son note the arrange-ment of the rooms and the contents of the bookcases. Then at the close of the cntertainment Houdin astonished his audience by giving what he called a "second sight" test. Declaring his un-familiarity with the Tuileries, Houdin, blindfolding his son, asked him to send his gaze through the wall of the room to the chamber beyond, to describe the arrangement of the chamber and to read the titles of the volumes on the shelves of the bookcases. This feat the young lad accomplished, to the astonshment of the court.

Where Barley Is Cultivated. Barley extends over a wider climatic range than any of the other grains and is successfully cultivated over a great er breadth of the globe than any othe cereal. It flourishes under the heat and drought of the borders of the torrid zone and grows sturdily and maturely on the northern verge of the temperate zone, ripening and thriving under various adverse circumstances which wheat is wholly unable to resist. Barley is found in the Faroe islands, near Cape North, the extreme point of Norway; near Archangel, on the White sea, and in central Siberia between 58 and 59 degrees north latitude. Contagious Diseases Among Plants. All the fungous diseases of plants, such as mildew, scab, blight, rust, rot, etc., are contagious. The contagion is carried from year to year in the diseased part, be it leaf, fruit or branch. Nothing is so destructive to the fungus spores as fire, and all affected plants or parts of plants should be cut out and

OLD AGE.

Old age as it comes in the orderly Old age as it comes in the orderly process of Nature is a beautiful and majestic thing. The very shadow of eclipse which threatens it, makes it the more prized. It stands for experience, knowledge, wisdom and counsel. That is old age as it should be. But old age as it so often is means nothing but a second childhood of mind and body. What makes the difference? Very largely the care of the stomach. In youth and the full strength of manhood it doesn't seem to matter how we treat the stomach. We abuse it, overwork it, injure it. don't suffer from it much. But when age comes the stomach is worn out. It can't prepare and distribute the It can't prepare and distribute the It can't prepare and distribute the needed nourishment to the body, and the body, unnourished, faalls into senile decay. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a wonderful medicine for old people whose stomachs are "week" and whose digestions are "poor." Its invigorating effects are felt by mind as well as body. It takes the sting from old age, and makes old people strong.

The Family Marketing A clever woman who has reduced he isekeeping to a science and magnified it into an art comes out strongly against allowing the man of the family to do the daily catering. "Womer should always do the family market ing," she says. "They are less extrava gant than men. A man hates to be thought stingy, while a woman doesn't care. If a man sees a handsome joint he orders it without reflecting that i is too large, perhaps, for his family and that after the first day it will drag out a painful existence through various hashes and stews or else be thrown away. Then, again, if a man orders th dinner he knows just what he is going to have, and there is no room for those pleasant little surprises that are one of the wife's delights."

TWO OBLIGING MEN.

Was the Victim In a Street Car Fare Transaction. It was in a Boston street car. When the car stopped at a crossing, a lady got up and went to the door. As she rose there was the chink of a coin on the floor, but before it occurred to any one to stop her she was out of the car and across the street. Two ladies who had sat next to her looked with anxious indifference on the floor. One of them leaned slightly forward, but said nothing. Just as the conductor was reaching for the bell rope a young man spied the coin and dashed out of the car. He caught the lady who had left the car, handed her the coin, ran back, caught the step of the car as the motors began to sing in crescendo and sat down breathless. One of the two ladies opposite him leaned forward and said coldly, "Young man, what did you do with the nickel I dropped?". The pas-sengers tittered. An old man at the other end of the car turned to his neighbor. "That reminds me," he said, "of something that happened to my wife years ago.

"It was before the days of conduct ors, when we used to drop our nickels into a glot, and they ran down a groove to the box behind the driver.

"My wife had started out with a little change and one of those troublesome five dollar goldpieces which used to be more commonly in circulation than they are now. Her eyes were not good, and so she was nervous about her goldpiece and had it on her mind all the way downtown.

"When she took a car for home, she met a friend and grew interested in conversation with her. She put her coin in the slot absentmindedly. The driver turned as it struck the box. You remember the coin fell into a glass compartment first, and then the drive pushed a lever which sent it into the

"As my wife heard the click of the lever she thought of her five dollar goldpiece. She looked in her purse. Sure enough, it was gone. She went forward and spoke to the driver. He said he hadn't looked very carefully, but he thought there were only three nickels in the glass receptacle when he pushed the lever.

"My wife insisted. The driver said if she would ride to the end of the line the cashier at the station would open the box. This meant a journey of two miles beyond our street, and my wife was in a hurry.

"An old gentleman who sat by the door said he was going to the end of the line and offered to give her $4.95 cents and get the goldpiece at the sta-tion. My wife thanked him and took the money. When she got home, she found the five dollar goldpiece in the lining of her purse.

"Next day I went to the station. The cashier said an old gentleman had made him open the box. There was no gold-piece. The old gentleman had left in a rage, refusing to give his name. He said he had been swindled and did not want to be known for a fool.

Animal Worship Among the Hebrew The Old Testament records show notwithstanding the various revisions through which these venerable book have passed, many indications of ani-mal worship among the Israelites, which must have lasted for ages before the prohibition inculcated in the second line of the Decalogue was for mulated. At a comparatively late date "Jehovah was worshiped under the popular symbol of a bull, while the twelve oxen upholding the layer in Solomon's temple, as well as the horns Solomon's temple, as well as the horis adorning the altar, were drawn from the prevalent bull worship."

Modern research has also proved that the cherubim were represented in the form of winged bulls. M. Lenormant in his famous book on the "Beginnings of History" says that during the time of the kings and prophets "most assuredly the cherubim, as there described, are animals."

PROBABLE SURPLUS.

Dominion Finances Indicate Great

Ottawa, April 13.-It would not be urprising if the close of the present inancial year witnessed a surplus of $12,000,000 or $14,000,000 in the Government Treasury. For the nine months up to March 31 the ordinary revenue exceeded the ordinary expenditures by $14,029,156, and over all expenditures combined the excess of revenue amounted to $10,055,068. As compared with the same nine months of 1902 there has been a gain of $5,245,423 in the revenue and a reduction of $3063,363 in the capital expenditure, while, the ordinary expenditure has only increased by $753,056, showing a total improvement in the national finances of $9,454,836. Taking the average of the past nine months and applying it to the remaining three months of the present fiscal year it would give a total revenue for the year of $62,000,000. Adopting the same procedure in regard to the ordinary and capital expenditure the total disbursements would on June 30 stand at about $47,000,000. There are several payments each fiscal year, of which return is not made until long after June 30. As a counterbalance to this, however, there may be a larger reduction of capital expenditure than has been allowed for. So that on the whole the surplus will not be far off the amount stated above.

The following is a comparative-statement of the receipts and expenditures, showing the total to March 31 of the pare 1902 and 1903:—

Shooting Michael Sullivan.

Detroit, April 13.—George J. Kennedy, the shipping clerk of the Walkerville Bridge Company, who was brutally assaulted while trying to profect the non-union employees of the company, who had been set upon by sympathizers of the strikers at the foot of Joseph Campeau avenue, on Thursday night, and who shot Michael Sullivan to save himself from being killed, has been set free by Justice Whelan. It was clearly a case of justifiable shooting, said the Justice, after hearing the evidence of a number of eyewitnesses of the riot. Vice-President Thorpe and a number of officials of the company and persons who happened to be on the spot when Kennedy was struck down testified as to the reputation of Kennedy, saying that he was a quiet, inoffensive man, and always attended strictly to his own business. Several people who saw the trouble swore that Kennedy did not shoot until it was evident that he had to in order to save himself from being killed. The rioters beat him most unmercifully, they said. Kennedy explained that he sympathized with the non-union men and had volunteered to try to protect them from the hands of the strikers.
