Strong Assaults Delivered by Foe on French Positions Last Night Beaten off With Loss to the Enemy

Paris, July 16.—The Germans made a series of strong attacks last night between the Somme and the Aisne, and in the Champagne, where they retained a few french elements.

Between the Somme and the Aisne the enemy delivered a series of strong attacks preceded by bombardments. Three attempts in the vicinity of St. Quentin were broken up by our fire. South of Corbeny several detachments of shock troops attacked our small posts. After a very spirited engagement the enemy was repulsed completely. For our part we made progress south of Ailles and took prisoners. In the Champagne after a very violent bombardment in the region of Mont Hautand Teton, the Germans hurled important forces against the positions we conquered on July 14. Our troops resisted with indomitable energy and tenacity the attack of an enemy greatly superior in numbers. At Teton the efforts of the enemy were without success. The attacking forces, which suffered very heavy losses were not able to cut into our lines. At Mont Haut there was a violent action which continued all through the night. The enemy, who succeeded at first in recapturing a large part of the ground we had won, was hurled back by our troops in a brilliant counter-attack. Certain trench elements are all that remain in the enemy's hands.

British Official

London, July 16.—The following was issued today at the war office: "Hostile raids were repulsed last night with loss to the enemy northwest of Fontaine lez Croisilles and in the neighborhood of Armentieres. We made a successful raid near Oppy. A few prisoners were taken by us."

TOO VAGUE

At the Veterans' headquarters today in the Y.M.C.A., the message was received "Thomas Oakland (Indian) brother, died 3rd Battalion. Can you arrange military funeral at 6 o'clock, Monday." Mr. Yagelkie, Secretary, being unable to get definite information from the spot was unable to arrange anything.

Copenhagen, July 16.—The Berlin correspondents report that Count Brockdorff-Rantzau, the German minister at Copenhagen, has been selected to succeed Dr. Alfred Zimmermann as Imperial Foreign Secretary. Should this report be confirmed it would mean the return of the aristocratic traditions of the German service.

Count Brockdorff-Rantzau is "born" in the German sense of the word and highly connected at court through his twin brother, who holds a high court position, and through his mother, Countess Brockdorff-Rantzau, mistress of the robes to the empress and one of the most masterful and dominant personages in court life.

The new foreign secretary has superficial reputation for being something of a sluggard and late riser with small taste for society. But beneath he is a man of firm, strong hand with considerable energy for execution. He is about the only German diplomat who has won the approval of the amateur diplomatic critics of Germany for keeping the diplomatic house in order and checking infractions of what Germans regard as the neutral attitude of the foreign press. He is a cousin of Count von Bernstorff, and unmarried.

Michaelis' Program.

London, July 16.—A German wireless despatch received here summarizes the opinion of the German newspapers on the program of Dr. George Michaelis, the new Imperial German Chancellor as "unity on internal questions and confidence and solidification regarding foreign problems and the maintenance of the proposed policy of alliances." A majority of the papers, it is stated by the despatch, welcome the new chancellor.

To Speak on Thursday

Copenhagen, July 16.—Dr. Georg Michaelis, the new chancellor, will deliver his maiden speech in the reichstag Thursday. The address is expected to contain an announcement of his forthcoming programme and is awaited with a great deal of interest.

Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff, who were summoned to Berlin by Emperor William, are continuing their conferences with party leaders. Dr. Michaelis is participating in them. Representatives of the Berlin press were received Saturday by General Ludendorff, who discussed the military situation. He said the situation on all fronts was favorable. The pan-German independent league met and adopted a resolution of protest against the proposed peace action of the reichstag majority, declaring the adoption of the majority program would result in the indefinite continuance of the war and the political and economic ruin of the Germans.

Dr. Michaelis is the father of a family of a size encouraged by Emperor William. He had six children, but one son has been killed in the war. Two daughters are engaged in public welfare work and the third daughter is in charge of a soldiers' convalescent home.

Adhere to Terms

Amsterdam, July 16.—According to the Berliner Tageblatt, reichstag party leaders, after they had been received by Field Marshal Hindenburg and General Ludendorff, held a conference in the reichstag buildings and decided to maintain the terms of peace resolutions agreed on before the interview.

A Scrap of Paper

Paris, July 16.—The Paris press hails the retirement of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg from the German chancellorship with varying degrees of satisfaction. Some of the comment is in a jubilant tone, while other editors treat the event soberly. All, however, are agreed that it indicates a crisis in Germany of unprecedented importance. As might be expected, the phrase "scrap of paper" frequently crops up in the comment, and some of the journals trace the chancellor's downfall back to that, early in the war utterance of his: "The Petit Parisien is one of the newspapers that is not

INTERNED GERMANS AIDED CHANG HSUN

Champion of Monarchist Cause in Peking Aided by Teutons To Escape From Dutch Legation To Safety

By Courier Leased Wire

Tien Tsin, July 16.—Republican headquarters here has issued a statement in which it is declared that Chang Hsun was assisted by interned Germans in defending his residence and that these Germans escorted him to the legation quarter, where he took refuge. Foreign advices state that the accuracy of the news from Chang Hsun's forces caused the suspicion that he had sought foreign assistance.

London, July 16.—According to The Daily Mail from Tien Tsin diplomats in Peking met secretly to discuss the extraordinary transfer of General Chang Hsun from the Dutch legation, where he had taken refuge during the fight between the Imperialist troops last Thursday, to the German barracks. Apparently a majority of the diplomats think that Chang Hsun, by refusing mediation and thus causing loss of life, forfeited the rights of ordinary political offenders.

optimistic over the development, for it says:

"Though the chancellor changes, the German masters remain the same. It is they and not the retiring functionary who desired the war to satisfy their appetite for universal domination. In what measure may they have changed their minds, and are they capable of speaking up for peace just in such measure as they realize that victory has escaped them and that defeat is approaching; in such measure as the intolerable sufferings of their hungry peoples are growing.

"Bethmann-Hollweg is being dismissed because of his declarations and mistakes at the beginning of the war, but his successor will be no less bound by his acts and words than was this docile functionary who never dared to take the initiative. Bethmann-Hollweg would never have been disavowed had the hopes of his masters been realized by victory. He, who gets his portfolio will inherit his burden and the same insurmountable difficulties."

The Journal says: "The chancellor was so accustomed to let things by that he seems to be surprised to find himself at the bottom of the abyss. His famous exclamation—'A scrap of paper,' which many thought to be only cynical, now seems like a cry of distress. It seems now as though Bethmann-Hollweg had foreseen the catastrophe.

Tragic Era

In the view of L'Homme Enchaîné, the chancellor's retirement marks the beginning of a tragic era for Germany. "It pictures an immense black gulf yawning beneath the feet of the great militarized nation and terms the chancellor a man of straw."

The Action Française says that the chancellor's departure indicates the depth to which the Germans have descended in their spirit of violence and ambition.

"One can rightly say, 'it continues, that there is a crisis in Germany to-day, but the crisis is the opposite of what was expected. It is not the Left, it is the Right, it is not revolution but reaction, that has brought it about.'"

Nemesis.

Libre Parole says: "The 'scrap of paper' has finished by strangling Bethmann-Hollweg. That is perhaps the sole thing that appears clearly through the obscurity of the German crisis. Liberated long ago by the war party, the chancellor made a supreme effort to hook up with the peace party. The latter has rejected him not because it doubted his ability—all his career showed that he possessed that. But because it considered him comprehending."

The Gaulois concludes its rather biographical article with the words: "And there is the war machine, long oiled and burnished, no longer running as it had been expected it would; and there in the reichstag itself are factious men demanding that the promises of the government be not treated by him (Bethmann-Hollweg) like 'scrap of paper.' There was terrible fatefulness in the words when his simple little scrap of scale is beginning to weigh all by itself, more than the entire credit of Germany."

Nearly all the newspapers comment on the singular coincidence that Dr. Bethmann-Hollweg's career as chancellor ended on an anniversary when his simple little scrap of scale is beginning to weigh all by itself, more than the entire credit of Germany. (Continued on page 2)

NEW GERMAN CHANCELLOR A DARK HORSE TO ALL

Dr. Michaelis First Commoner to Occupy High Position, an Unknown Quantity in Political Field; His Policy as Yet Not Known

By Courier Leased Wire

Copenhagen, July 16.—Germany's first commoner chancellor, Dr. Georg Michaelis, a bureaucrat without even a noble von before his name, has as yet given no indication of his policy regarding reform and peace. Neither the Conservatives nor the Liberals have as yet ventured to call him their own.

The chancellor's first step, which might be interpreted as an indication of an open mind, was to receive representatives of the two divergent groups in the Reichstag and permit them to explain their respective standpoints, the chancellor playing the role of listener to the conversations conducted by the vice-chancellor, Dr. Karl Helfferich, and the reichstag representatives. The German papers unite in characterizations of his energy and fair-mindedness, but are most reserved in their predictions of his probable policy. The papers aligned for the so-called German peace are perhaps a shade more enthusiastic about the political possibilities under the new regime than the radical and Socialist organs.

The Cologne Volks Zeitung, the Catholic organ of pan-German sympathies, says that Dr. Michaelis undoubtedly stands nearer the Right than the Left parties. The line of the comment evidently emanating from Wilhelmstrasse is that the new chancellor regards as his mission the restoration of the internal harmony of the nation, whatever policy may be adopted. No matter what the result, the change will undoubtedly mean the disappearance of the von Bethmann-Hollweg peace program.

Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg's policy regarding the ultimate aims of the war had from the beginning been a personal one in which "the chancellor above the parties" had formed a program above parliamentary parties, the military authorities and the like, and he endeavored by gentle, steady pressure and suggestion to impose it upon a changeful sovereign, oscillating between vistas of brilliant ambition and realizations of "cold facts; upon the pulsant military caste represented by Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff, and a blundering, unbrilliant parliament.

The appointment of Dr. Michaelis undoubtedly means a new deal of the cards. Berlin papers, which were published before the appointment of Dr. Michaelis was known, throw further light upon the circumstances of von Bethmann-Hollweg's retirement. The show that the emperor was confronted by the necessity of dropping the imperial chancellor or virtually the entire Prussian cabinet, the members of which, including the war minister, General von Stein, a soldier, not a politician, submitted their resignations, declaring that they could not remain if von Bethmann-Hollweg was retained.

The Bavarian premier, Count von Hertling, who favored moderate peace proposals, but refused flatly to accept the idea of a parliamentary ministry, which would diminish Bavaria's special influence upon the government, seems to have thrown himself into the struggle against von Bethmann-Hollweg at the last minute. The Bavarian Centrist members of the reichstag started an anti-von Bethmann revolt within the party, and the Crown Prince made valid his long-standing objections to the imperial chancellor.

Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff were again summoned to Berlin, not to interfere, according to the unanimous accounts in the Berlin papers, in the political side of the situation, but to side-track the proposed peace resolution by encouraging reports of the military situation and to inspire the members of the reichstag with belief in the possibility of obtaining that "German peace, worthy of the sacrifices made," to which von Hindenburg over and over again had committed himself in his published reports. London, July 16.—(via Reuters Ottawa agency) A special despatch from Hyderabad, India, says: Speaking at the Nizam's birthday banquet, the British resident-general referred to the exalted part his highness had played in the war. He mentioned the Hyderabad regiment, which was among the first of the Indian troops to leave for the Egyptian war theatre, where, it was still serving, the state defraying full expenses of active service, and also the second cavalry regiment, altogether three lakhs of rupees monthly which will be continued however long hostilities endure.

Early in 1917 the Nizam telegraphed the admiralty £100,000 sterling towards combating the submarine menace and last month Hyderabad invested seventy-five lakhs of rupees in the Indian war loan, apart from thirty-eight and a half lakhs privately subscribed. The speaker further paid a tribute to the Nizam's appeal to Mohammedanis to stand loyal to the king-emperor when Germany forced Turkey to join her.

Paris, Jul y16.—Advices from Ponta Delgada in the Azores regarding the recent attack upon that port by a German submarine declare the shells fired were of 15 centimetre calibre, indicating that the U-boat was probably of unusual size, possibly of 1,000 tons. The vessel is said to carry two or three guns.

Trustees Negotiating For A School Site—Rural Cemetery Question

CONTROL OF TRAFFIC
Praise For System Of Administration In Force In Simcoe

Negotiating for School Site. Simcoe, July 15.—The trustees of the Western suburban school section recently formed, are confronted with difficulty in the matter of getting a title to the site chosen. The Glazebrook property from which the site was chosen is at present in such a condition that it is impossible for the board to get a clear deed. The board is seeking advice as to their power to expropriate and proceed with the building, and allow the question of title to come through later. There is, however, no difficulty in the matter of dealing with the owner, were the last transfer papers of the property properly cleared up. And there is no time for delay, as the residents in the new section have no status in their former sections after Dec. 25th next.

Rural Cemetery. Interested parties held a bee recently to tidy up the Windham Centre cemetery. Talk of a school road-way past there is possibly an impetus. The neighborhood feels, no doubt, that they can no longer afford to have such a community advertisement. This repose of the dead is only one of many of its kind in Norfolk, and like many others, the title of this God's acre, is very obscure. It is said that the land originally included was the gift of one Stephen Pettit, the early owner of the north half of Lot 14, Con. 8. Later on his grandson Gideon Pettit, gave an additional area. Years ago there was a general meeting of heads of families who had buried their departed there, and it is said a small annual tax of $1.50 was levied on each to provide upkeep, but the organization has long since become defunct. Mr. Geo. Henry was in town on Saturday for advice as to what steps could be taken to organize a cemetery company with the school. Some would prefer all such plots to be taken over by the municipality. One man discussing the matter to-day, answered our query as to who has been in charge of the past ten years, with a terse reply—"Our Heavenly Father."

It seems quite evident that the movement which began at Boston in stirring other communities, and no doubt, Windham Centre, Old Windham, and others of the old burring grounds will be put in order and under some direction.
 Street Traffic Under Control. On a busy shopping day such as Saturday afternoon and evening proved in Simcoe, only a few who exercise ordinary observation to be convinced that traffic on Simcoe's streets is pretty well regulated, and that the volume of it demands regulation. The most satisfied people are perhaps those who come here to shop with either cars or horse-drawn vehicles. The latter can move about without fear of becoming a buffer for some reckless driver, and ladies from outside are not obliged to tie up their horses outside the town limits and walk to the business district to do shopping.
 The chief complaint against the auto traffic is the practice of those late to leave town by car, who open the cut out when starting out, and awake the residents all along Norfolk street, north and south from eleven o'clock till after midnight. We got a hint that the net was being spread for a bag of these, and apart from such there is apparently but one worshipper of the cut out left in town.

Necessity for Parking Space. The task of providing parking space for autos, other than along the business frontage, is becoming more urgent. The present condition works out to the inconvenience of the business men and their customers, and the parcel delivery, freight and express men, and to the shoppers themselves.
 Alderman Geo. Doughty, who has just returned from a week's visit with his son in Buffalo, contradicts statements made by other Simcoean, who have been recently across the Niagara border, and have some home praising the American privileges along the line of speeding. He says that on state roads the limit is 20 miles. Only on the federal road is there no limit or oversight, and there is on an average of one killed there every day. Some drivers told him they positively would not venture on it, but always remained on the earth road which borders it.
 A vain attempt seems to have been made here to have the police curbed, but there is too much public sentiment behind the officers of the law to allow the regulations to be ignored.

Scores of patrons of the road lost much time waiting for cars. Electricians have been busy since on the line and field, both of which have been seriously disordered. The management has decided to cut off the current during electric storms in future.

American Comment.
 New York, July 16.—Commenting editorially on the political crisis in Berlin, The New York Herald this morning says:
 "The substituting of a Michaelis for a Berthmann-Hollweg means nothing to the outside world, nor does it mean anything substantial for Germany. As the chancellor who goes was the instrument and tool of Hohenzollernism so will be the chancellor who comes. Neither changes in office at Berlin nor extensions of the franchise in Prussia have any bearing upon the program which Germany presents to the world; nothing that can happen in Germany will have the slightest world significance so long as the Kaiser remains in command in the eyes of the German people."
 Nothing of consequence to the outside world can happen in that country until the Kaiser is in its might and takes the side of the German people against the Kaiser. The fact that there is no Kaiser in that is making for their destruction. Until that time comes or until there are tangible evidences that a movement in that direction is well under way, it will be useless for the nations against which the Kaiser has launched this world war to divert consideration of Germany's internal problems any of the thought they now are giving to the saving of civilization to the world.
 The Sun says:
 "There are one or two deductions which they will not be far from right. One is that there is far wider and deeper unrest among the German people than we have fancied and that it is they who have forced the hands of the government and the Kaiser. Another deduction is that the German people are beginning to read that they are in a well nigh hopeless position, and that they are struggling with disappointment, following a disappointment, and with human loss and deprivation and untold suffering, they are in a mood, to upset the government, and to demand measures looking to an early peace."
 The World says:
 "If pulling down and setting up chancellors, responsible only to the Kaiser and his generals, are nothing more than a trickery as responses to evidence of popular unrest, they are hopeful signs. If they are super-militarism's defiance of Liberty and responsible government, they are savage reminders to an embattled democracy is fighting to the death."
 The Times says:
 "Perhaps the fact that Dr. Michaelis is the first commoner to be made chancellor may be significant. Germany is weary of war, not as the less bellicose nations are weary of the bloodshed and the cost—but with a weariness that has in it an element of terror. The hopelessness of the outcome but German defeat, or the ruin of the world, is becoming evident to all Germany."
 "Germany wants peace before the day of wrath."
 The opinion of the local German-American press shows considerable variation, but nowhere is any support given to the theory that the movement so far has been a racial reshaping of German institutions along democratic lines. The Staats-Zeitung in its English article says that the fall of Berthmann-Hollweg is a "distinct move in the direction of peace."

This is probably for American consumption. In its editorial in German much less emphasis is laid on this significance in the change of chancellors, less also on the idea that real progress toward democracy is about to be made.
 of Niagara Falls, Miss Marion Towers, Mr. Lawrence Dawson and Mr. James Kerr, of Hamilton are among the later arrivals. The roads leading into the Glen have been repaired.
 At Normandale—Mr. Seaville and Mr. Crabb leave to-day with their families for a fortnight at Normandale. The best road to Normandale at present is via "Spooky Hollow."
 At Pt. Ryerse.
 Mr. and Mrs. Jno. C. West, of Simcoe and Mrs. Wm. Cope and children of Toronto, Mrs. Geo. Lea and family, R. E. Gunton and family, of Simcoe; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ballantyne, Mrs. Weeks, Mrs. Edmondson, Mrs. Booth and Miss Master of Brantford are all in cottages.
 Among those at Buck's Inn are: Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Adams and family, and Mr. James Cutting of Hamilton; Mrs. and Miss Bowman, of Kitchener, Stop 40 or Stikney's Corner on the L. E. & N. is the nearest point by rail to Ryerse.
 Odd Ends of News.
 The streets in the vicinity of the canning plant of late indicate that more care is being taken to prevent litter from being scattered about the streets. For some weeks teamsters had scattered even boards of broken cases, bristling with nails, about the place.
 The sewer gangs are on the last stretch of work on Union street.
 The Hamilton Drug Traveller paid $10 and costs, just before eleven o'clock on Friday night. Magistrate Guntin held court on returning from Port Ryerse with this result.
 The police made a search during the same afternoon on a house in the west ward where the Hamiltonian had been entertained and found eight empty "pints of Hiram Walker" and one "quart" of rye. It is alleged that the two men "punished" the whole lot during the day.
 There are rumors of court activity to-day. Liquor, poll tax, and infraction of the road rules are said to be the subjects to be under discussion.

C. L. HENDERSON IN OPPOSITION TO CONSCRIPTION

"Irish Canadian" Wires Mayor of Montreal Re Military Service

By Courier Leased Wire
 Montreal, July 16.—Refusing to sing the British national anthem and substituting for it "O Canada," the 15,000 people who listened to anti-conscription speeches on Fletcher's Field yesterday were persuaded to cheer the name of King George before dispersing by Mayor Martin, M. P., who called the meeting.
 A point made by the mayor in his speech was that people in Ontario had wired him, objecting to the military service bill.
 "The prime minister to-day wants freedom of the press in the province of Quebec, compared with the censored press of Prussian-ruled Ontario. No wonder Ireland demands a republic since home rule in Canada has been made a mockery by order-in-council. The voice of the people must be expressed at the polls, since they are denied the freedom of the press. If Canada is to remain within the empire, Ontario, like Quebec, is against conscription. The masses, not the classes, must rule."
 "The prime minister to-day wants to put us back nineteen centuries. He cannot do it in the province of Quebec, even if they let him do it in the other provinces. I receive letters every day from the province of Ontario. They want me to organize anti-conscription meetings in Toronto."

FOR FRENCH WOUNDED.
 By Courier Leased Wire
 Sydney, Australia, July 16.—(via Reuter's Ottawa Agency)—Fifty seven thousand pounds sterling was subscribed to the fund for French wounded on Saturday, the occasion of the French fete day on the anniversary of the fall of the Bastille. Crowds thronged the streets day and night long. Great enthusiasm was shown and the trial was flowery and worn everywhere. It is expected New South Wales' total contribution to the fund will reach a hundred and fifty thousand pounds.
 The opinion of the local German-American press shows considerable variation, but nowhere is any support given to the theory that the movement so far has been a racial reshaping of German institutions along democratic lines. The Prompt Answer.
 YOU feel almost like shaking hands with a man when he comes to his telephone the moment the bell rings.
 If he answers by saying at once "Mr. Blank speaking" instead of using the time-wasting "Hello" or "Well" you are still further pleased for you have saved valuable time and perhaps avoided a whole series of unnecessary questions to find out to whom you are speaking.
 To always answer promptly and to announce yourself at once instead of saying "Hello" "Yes" or "Well" will go far toward keeping up the quality of your telephone service.

THOUSANDS ACCEPT COOPER'S THEORIES

Right Living and Right Thinking Are Most Important Factors to Health, Declares Celebrated Authority. Wholesale Food, Recreation, Exercise and Fresh Air Also Necessary

The United States has produced many philosophers and teachers, and has been electrified by many orators of world renown, but never in the history of this country have teachings taken such a deep root and spread among all classes so rapidly as have the philosophy and theories of health and right living propounded by L. T. Cooper, the noted lecturer and millionaire manufacturer of Tanlac.

From an attitude of disbelief and criticism, leaders of thought and action have been brought to investigate the spreading phenomena of the growing popularity of this man's philosophy, and hundreds of the sceptics have followed the thousands upon thousands of the masses of the people in becoming not only devout believers in his teachings, but practitioners as well.

Hundreds of thousands are now taking Tanlac, but the most convincing proof of the correctness of his theories is the testimony of the vast number of well known men and women from all parts of the country whom he has actually benefited.

The following is an extract from one of Mr. Cooper's recent lectures on health and hygiene: "Don't expect to get over physical disease by taking my medicine and waiting a few days. It takes a long continuation of abuses to stomach and other vital organs to produce an invalid; and even with the aid of medicine, time is necessary to restore health. Tissue must be rebuilt and the entire system put in working order—and kept that way by food and habits that render health possible."

"Right living and right thinking are the most important factors to health. Medicine only gives the individual a chance. Don't try to live on Tanlac or any other medicine. Whole-some food, exercise, recreation, cheerfulness, fresh air, sunshine and work are the things for you to use every day, and you will notice that I didn't put alcohol or tobacco on the list. Stimulants and narcotics are seldom necessary."

"The people who make and sell Tanlac are interested in each and every sufferer in this country. We want you to get over your trouble and be well and strong again. We don't want the Tanlac treatment to fail in a single instance, and we do not believe it will where suffering of any kind results, directly or indirectly, from disordered stomachs, catarrhal condition of the mucous membranes or liver and kidney derangements."

Co-operation of the Patient Necessary
"But we do say here and now that the faithful co-operation of the patient is absolutely necessary. Use your head and restrain your desires. Don't overload the stomach just because the medicine is beginning to

INTERESTING LETTER FROM A MEMBER OF THE BRANTFORD BATTERY

The following letter has been received by Mr. D. W. Moore, Palace street, from Gunner W. F. Myring, now at the front with the 54th Battery:

Somewhere in France, 11/6/17
My dear Mr. Moore:—Your note of May 3, hand very glad to hear from you, also to grant your request by answering it, which is the least I could do at this time. I might say that I enjoyed myself immensely when in George's company particularly the last occasion when we were at the front with the 54th Battery. I dare say George has told you of some of our escapades and I'll not repeat, but those times are past never to return. Life in Witley, England, is the pleasant time to me, but here in France it is one of stern reality. No doubt when the war is over those who are fortunate enough to return will get a good rest, but I might say nothing should be considered too good for the brave fellows who left home and everything that that means, to come through an inferno like this sudden death, and then to find a resting place which means death and destruction in its path, so great is the concussion of our guns that it blows out the light of our candles in our dug-outs and then, in the ground, quite a depth, the Huns also are shelling us, so you can see how difficult it is to sleep under such circumstances. I never regretted the day when I donned the uniform, and since coming to France, three months ago I have seen things which would make me ashamed of myself had I known what I might have to do. You people at home resting in your arm chairs or sporting about following your usual calling, have very little idea what the boys out here have to go through. I never imagine what it is like nor can any man give any accurate description of the situation to think that Canadians who were never in love with things military, could be actually used to get used to the life of the front. Here they are fighting and serving, and enduring as if they had but at all their lives I could tell you many, many stories of their bravery self-sacrifice and devotion to duty, which would make you fill up with pride. The "France" we used to read of (Sunny France) is sunny no longer at least what we have seen of it. The horrible work of the Hun, greets you on every hand, and what little remains of the old world, the Germans quickly disappears when he sees what he has done to France, we haven't seen Belgium as yet. How any able bodied man calling himself a Canadian can stay at home with Canadians such as there are here their own chums suffering daily and putting up with God only knows what for the sake of Id rather be crucified by the Huns than sit contentedly at home no young able bodied man worthy of the name should hesitate to get over here. Please don't think that I have any scores to settle I'm simply speaking as I feel. Wouldn't it make your blood boil to see the damnable Hun firing at you wounded chums when the stretcher-bearers were carrying him to a dressing station. Why sure it would. Well, this is what I have seen him do time and time again. Oh how I wish I could tell you of some of my experiences I don't wish to boast but many a close call have I had since in France. I am cooking for the Officers and Gunners. My kitchen is under our guns, and the infantry, it is simply three pieces of corrugated sheeting two upright one across each 30 inches wide and two sixteen of inch thick. I build up the sides with two rails and cool the food in Dixies, it is very unpleasant at times. To give you an idea about a month ago old Fritz sent over 470 rounds of big shells trying to put the Battery out of action. The gunners always make for their saps, which are 25 of 30 feet under ground, but they have to be dug out and it was up to me to cook their Sunday dinner. I succeeded cooking Beef steaks, potatoes, onions and making rice pudding for 60 men. The boys never expected dinner that night for his cookhouse it was until I went and told them dinner was ready, the shells were bursting all about me in one of the uprights of my (kitchen), there were no less than 17 holes made by the shells. I had my bootlace cut, got hit in right breast and left thigh, but only slightly. Old Fritz never got one of our guns he spent enough ammunition that morning to bury the whole battery but I have seen him do some cruel work. Only the other morning while watching some of his shells I saw six men struck with one. The other night the Huns made an attack on us by dropping bombs from aeroplanes. These bombs make a fearful noise, and Oh the cries and agony of the boys who were struck was something fearful. Horses too, were hit as they were just bringing ammunition. I was early on the scene next morning, when I saw the cook looking for his cookhouse it was blown to pieces and you could tell where it had been. On another occasion Fritz sent over a big shell which struck one of the Howitzers sending it a hundred yards away and making a hole large enough to put B. City Hall in two gunners were killed and all they could find of these was some of their pay books and so it goes on day after day, it makes your heart sick to see the poor chaps when they get struck here. They lie buried in a blanket and buried in a strange country, even when the Hun very often fires on the burying grounds. We were all through the big fight of April 9, some fight but awful, I dare not tell you it goes on an account of the censor, perhaps at some future date I can give something interesting, but we have got the Huns measure now, it is only a matter of time but it is a

WILLOUGHBY IS BACK IN BOSTON

Pseudo British Officer in Hands of U. S. Authorities

By Courier Leased Wire
New York, July 15.—A despatch to the Tribune from Boston says: Percy Seymour Kelly, of London, England, is back in Boston, but resting in entirely different surroundings from those which he enjoyed a while ago when he was winned and dined as Captain de Willoughby in the fashionable hotels and clubs in the Back Bay as the guest of the city's elite.

Kelly arrived late last evening, accompanied by inspectors Dorsey and Haggerty, and will appear in court to answer the charge of passing a worthless check for $250 on the First National Bank.

Before giving the reporters at the Tombs the account of his visit in Boston, Percy told of his stay in New York, and that he had been a guest at the house of Cornelius Vanderbilt and Police Commissioner Woods. He took much pleasure in telling of his ejection from the Hotel Astor because he appeared in kilts and how he went direct to the home of Commissioner Woods to enter his complaint against the management, and was then invited by the commissioner to dine at his home that evening.

SURVIVORS OF STEAMERS
By Courier Leased Wire
St. Johns, Nfld., July 15.—Preparations have been made here to-day for the arrival of the 900 passengers of the Norwegian-American liner Kristianiafjord, which ran ashore yesterday, 7 miles west of Cape Race. After being landed safely at Portugal Cove, they boarded trains for this city.

Latest advices indicated that the crew remained aboard the steamer, which was badly damaged. Three of the holds were full of water, but it was thought that if the sea remained calm there was a possibility of saving the vessel. The stranding of the steamer is supposed to have been due to the dense fog. She was bound from New York for Norway, and had been examined by the British authorities at Halifax.

MANY HAPPY RETURNS.

Congratulations were showered on His Worship, Mayor J. W. Bowly to-day, on the occasion of his—th birthday. While he is well over the three score and ten mark, the exact age of Brantford's mayor is somewhat in doubt, and while he whispered it confidentially into the ear of a Courier reporter to-day, he quaintly blushed when asked if he would allow it to be published. "I am well over the three score and ten," he exclaimed, "as active as a kitten and as lively as a hawk. I am as vital as I ever was, and only give me time and I will regain my normal weight of 175 pounds."

Although it was exactly at ten minutes past four in the afternoon, many years ago that Mayor Bowly first opened his eyes, and it is doubtful if he has ever closed them since, he devoted the whole day to-day to acknowledging the well wishes of his many friends.

The occasion was dimmed by the death of his sister in late, Mrs. Margaret Bowly, relict of the late Dr. Bowly who died recently at the mature age of ninety-three. The death occurred at Waterford where the funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon.

THE SITUATION

The retirement of Bethmann-Hollweg as German Chancellor, is pretty conclusive evidence that internal affairs in Germany are at the boiling point. He has been the nominal head while the policy of frightfulness has been pursued, and it is hinted that he has been dispossessed of office because he was latterly inclined to think things had gone too far, and had favored franchise concessions. His successor will more apt to implicitly obey orders.

The Russian offensive has definitely passed the initiatory stage and is clearly launched on a basis of permanent achievement with success added to success. There has been hard fighting in the Champagne and Aisne districts, with both Berlin and Paris claiming successes.

Mr. Arthur H. Pollen, known as the foremost British naval critic, during the course of an article puts the query as to whether the army can win the war before the navy loses it. Briefly summarized, he explains matters thus. Great Britain, France, Italy and Russia are all four dependent upon overseas supplies, either in the matter of food, or for the upkeep of munitions and other war material. To this end there is a point at which available ship tonnage will prove insufficient, and that is a condition of affairs which the German submarines are attempting to bring about. Taking the published losses each week of Britain, France and Italy, he estimates that the other losses of other Allied and neutral countries (not published) make the present levy at the rate of about 5,000,000 tons annually. About the first of February, this year, there was supposed to be about 40,000,000 tons available for all the world's needs in sea traffic. Between February, 1917 and February, 1918, it is computed that there will be about 2,000,000 tons of new shipping, and by still additional speeding up, between February 1918 and February, 1919, 4,000,000 tons. This will mean at the present rate in both instances, 18,000,000 tons destroyed, 6,000,000 tons replaced, or a net loss at the end of the period named of 12,000,000 tons. Allowing 5,000,000 tons for the purely military requirements of the United States, now that she is commencing to send over men and munitions, Mr. Pollen figures that there will be available for the general purposes of all the Allies 23,000,000 tons at the beginning of 1918 and 24,000,000 tons a year later. This, he contends, will not be enough unless the extra efforts to raise food in Great Britain and France, during this and next year bring notable results. He is of the opinion that this "U" boat campaign represents the only hope that the Germans now possess for avoiding a final military defeat, and that if the ratio of losses is not checked within a comparatively short space of time the Allies will have to make a settlement of the war on the basis of a compromise. "America, as well as Europe will have been defeated by the submarine. In view of the somewhat pessimistic tone of the analysis it is somewhat of a comfort to know that Mr. Pollen thinks that matters can yet be righted.

There is as yet nothing definite with regard to affairs at Ottawa. Premier Borden will introduce a resolution today for a further extension of the life of parliament, but it is not anticipated that the same will be pressed to an immediate vote. The outcome depends upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Star (Liberal) is responsible for the statement: "Some time ago rumor credited Sir Wilfrid with the intention of accepting the proposal for term extension in order that the Government might suffer all the embarrassment which will naturally be associated with administering a radical measure like the compulsion law. The Opposition leader is no longer reported as favoring this course. It is said, in fact, that Sir Wilfrid is firmly convinced that he can win an election. He has had his scouts out, and he is exhibiting remarkable confidence, in the House and out of it. By means of third candidates where two constitutionalists are running, he hopes to get an anti-constitutionalist follower out of many normally constitutional ridings." The Star correspondent further adds that Sir Wilfrid "has been offered plenty of money to finance his campaign and that he is very confident as to the result."

All of the above tends to confirm the suspicion that Laurier is thinking more of his own chances to get back into power than anything else, and that with a solid Quebec and the foreign vote to help, he thinks the trick can be turned. Such a triumph would, of course, mean a death blow to any aid for the Canadian boys at the front by the selective conscription method. Meanwhile the Liberal members who put patriotism before party, are standing firm.

The most reasonable course would seem to be a coalition ministry, with due recognition of them in the Cabinet and Sir Wilfrid ignored, treatment which he has shown himself to richly deserve.

FOOD PRICES

On top of the figures given by Mr. O'Connor, Cost of Living Commissioner, with reference to the margin on cold storage bacon, comes his figures with reference to cold storage eggs. According to his findings, one concern had a margin of 7.27 cents per dozen in 1916, and handled one-fifth of the total of eggs in cold storage in Canada.

Now cold storage is a very excellent thing, insofar as it enables the preservation of excess produce in a time of glut, to be distributed in a later period of need, but it is the very reverse of that if advantage is taken to secure excess profits from the people. Mr. O'Connor directly states that this has been done, and his conclusions have naturally aroused widespread attention and comment. Nine-tenths of us these days find it a very hard task, with the growing price of everything, to make incomes jibe with outlay, and the public are very naturally and properly sensitive on the subject of monopoly and profiteering. No one expects any men to make heavy investments with regard to market supplies without legitimate returns, but excessive margins constitute a very different matter.

The whole solution would seem to rest in the inauguration of Government suspension and control, and no doubt some steps in this direction will be made. They cannot be taken too soon, in the opinion of the average individual. There has been a dangerous centralization and tendency to monopoly prices in too many directions. Oftentimes the thing has been done in a very insidious way. Take news print paper, as an example. Prices have gone up to an extraordinary extent, and a commission recently appointed in the States to look into matters, has reported that firms interested have had "no articles of association and no by-laws," neither have there been any written minutes or records, but there has been restraint of trade, nevertheless. News print does not come in the edible class, of course, although some people are said to devour papers, but there is reason to believe that the same sort of thing has applied to articles of daily consumption. In the all round interests of the people, the whole thing should be got at and properly remedied.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

There is a hymn which includes the line, "Let some droppings fall on me." There has been no violent need to sing it so far this summer.

Quite noticeable is the amount of heat which can be developed from cold storage.

The author of the term "scrap of paper," is now in the scrap heap himself.

The trouble in Galicia is still bruin for the Teutons.

MILITIA LANDS

The Department of Militia has replied to the city clerk in regard to the resolution passed at a recent meeting of the city council, requesting that the vacant lot on Brant Avenue, utilized as a training ground by the 215th battalion, be cleaned up. There has evidently been some mistake, as the letter states that upon investigation, the Department of Militia has discovered that the title to the site on which the Armories stand is held by the Department of Public Works, as is the gore adjacent, and that this department have made a grant to the Parks Commissioners to look after the maintenance of the grounds.

MURDER IN HAMILTON

Hamilton, July 16.—The body of an unknown foreigner, heavily weighted, and with a bullet wound through the head, was taken from the bay, near station 10, at the Beach this morning. Governor Hopkins, who was called, said the man undoubtedly had been murdered. The body was wrapped in chains and held down with a thirty pound weight. The remains had been in the bay for probably two weeks. It is believed that the man was from Hamilton's foreign colony and the Police are investigating there in the hope of picking up a clue that will solve the mystery.

Sapper James Shawcross, construction Battalion, Wounded

(From our own correspondent) Paris, July 16.—France Day was observed in Paris on Friday and Saturday for the purpose of collecting money on behalf of the French Red Cross Society. The appeal of the French, who have done so much and suffered so greatly in this terrible war, was answered throughout the British Empire. No cause was more worthy and upwards of $400 was raised in town, under the auspices of the Red Cross and Patriotic League.

ENTIRE RUSS FRONT ALIVE WITH BATTLE

Enemy Rushing Troops From Italian And West Front

By Courier Leased Wire Washington, July 18.—The whole Russian front from the Gulf of Riga to Roumania, is reported in official despatches today from Petrograd to the Russian embassy here to be alive with battle. The Germans are said to be rushing up troops from the Italian and French fronts and to be entirely re-arranging their positions.

On the northern front near Riga, German reinforcements are rushing up by sea transport. On the Lemberg front the troops are being shifted back and forth by means of heavy automobiles in an attempt to prevent further advances by General Korniloff. On the southern front in the Carpathians, the Austrians are said to be in full flight.

Petrograd, July 16.—The Russians yesterday captured 16 officers and 900 Austro-Germans in the battle in Eastern Galicia, says the official statement issued to-day by the Russian war department. The Russians also took a number of machine guns. From July 1st to July 13th, the statement says, 854 officers and 35,809 men were captured by the Russians. General Brussiloff's forces also captured 93 heavy and light guns, 23 trench mortars, 403 machine guns, 43 mine throwers, 45 bomb throwers, 3 fire throwers, two airplanes and much equipment.

MANAGERSHIP. Mr. John A. Schultz, owing to ill health, has tendered his resignation as Manager of the Schultz Bros. Company, Limited. He is succeeded in the position by Mr. John P. Schultz, who was formerly connected with the concern.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION At a meeting of the police commissioners held last week, Chief of Police Stelmis was appointed a delegate to attend the annual convention of Police Constables to be held in Quebec on the 17th, 18th and 19th of this month. He left yesterday for this purpose.

ON HOLIDAYS Mr. Ross Beckett, temporary general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., returned to duty this morning after a few weeks' holidays. The staff is now short-handed. Physical Instructor George Mosley, Engineer Fred Owen and Mr. D. F. Thompson, night secretary, all being away on their vacations.

LAWN SPRINKLING Owing to the fact that so far this summer it has not been necessary to do any lawn sprinkling some citizens have figured out that they will escape the charges for the service. Not so. Unless notice was given that same would not be used this season. The levy will take place just the same. The revenue from this source is between $4,000 and $5,000.

WIKES TOUCHED Two electrical wires near the corner of Dalhousie and Charlotte Sts. that were blown together by the wind during the electrical storm early yesterday afternoon, caused the residents of that vicinity to think that one of the nearby houses had been struck by lightning. The insulation on the wires had been worn off, through constant rubbing against the trees, and when the wires were blown together by the wind, a loud report resulted and flames shot out from the tree. A few minutes later they came in contact again, and this time one of the wires snapped, relieving the situation. Hydro men were summoned and repaired the damage.

ILL.

Information has been received by his parents of the illness of Lieut. Fred Lyle, of the 215th battalion. Lieut. Lyle is confined to the hospital in England with inflammatory rheumatism.

WOUNDED.

Lieut. N. F. Macdonald, youngest son of Mr. George Macdonald, secretary of the Soldiers' Aid Commission has been wounded, according to the intelligence that reached the city on Saturday. The injury is not thought to be serious.

NEWLY WEDDED.

A surprise was experienced on Sunday by Mr. W. H. Lane, of the assessment department when Sgt. W. A. Lane, who is undergoing treatment in the convalescent home, Toronto, came up to Brantford, to spend a week-end leave, bringing with him Mrs. Lane. The nuptial knot was tied in Toronto on Saturday, the bride being Miss Kathleen Hampton of the head office staff of the Dominion Bank, Toronto. Sgt. Lane is well known in this city and returns to Toronto to complete his convalescence.

BULLDOG BETTY

A popular addition to the official staff at the Court House is "Betty," Governor Jones' thoroughbred bulldog, that was presented to the Governor a few weeks ago. "Betty" is now on familiar terms with all visitors to the county buildings, and is herself a frequent and welcome caller in the different offices of the building.

RETURNED SOLDIER.

A telegram has been received by the Soldiers' Aid Commission, announcing that Private Miller, 175 Brant Avenue left Quebec on Sunday of noon. No further word regarding the time of his expected arrival in this city has been received, and it is thought that he may have been delayed in Toronto.

KITH AND KIN.

The kith and kin of Terrace Hill met on Thursday afternoon July 12th, in the Shenstone Memorial Church Hall. There was a good attendance and the usual business routine was followed. It was with many regrets that the resignation of the President, Mrs. Hewison was accepted. The best wishes of the Terrace Hill Branch will follow her in her new duties. The next meeting will be held at the home of the New President Mrs. Earthy, 118 Dundas street, when all who have Red Cross work will kindly bring it in.

AUSTRIAN RESTIVE

George Jellie, the Austrian who was thought to be insane, and who is now in the county jail awaiting a hearing in the police court to-morrow morning, went on another rampage this morning. He was seized with a desire to make himself heard and he made a splendid success in his effort. His face, which was badly injured last week, is now healing. When questioned on Friday in the police court as to the origin of his wounds, he claimed that he had been struck by the jail officials. This has been denied, and it is thought that he was injured in a melee prior to his arrest.

RE-ENTER DONOHUE

Another ex-Canadian Leaguer has appeared in the limelight, Billy Donohue, the right-hander whose main possessions were a tantalising round-house out-curve and a faculty for posing on the firing line, has been signed by the Richmond club of the International League. Donohue made his first appearance in the Canadian League with the Hamilton Tigers, where he pitched excellent ball. He later came to Brantford, but was out of condition and was released, going to the Michigan circuit. When he felt like working he was a great speed artist and hard to beat. Empire Bob Bedford, who has seen most of the flingers in the International at work this year, gives it as his opinion that Donohue will make good.

STRUCK BY CAR.

A distressing accident occurred yesterday about twelve o'clock when the little three year old son of Mr. A. R. Burns, grover, was run down by an automobile. The child, in company with another toddler of about the same size, was passing Mitchell's garage on Darling street, and the Burns' boy was knocked over by a Studebaker car that was turning into the garage. Internal injuries are feared. It is claimed that the driver was the London agent of the car.

THE CAUSE OF IT

The weather man, who dopes out the "Probs," rises to explain the cause of so much rain thus far this summer. It is that in the Southern States excessively hot weather has evaporated thousands of tons of water, and the moisture-laden clouds have been wafted north and received added heat on their way. In the north it is cold, and the clouds rise high over the cold current underneath, and then rain is precipitated. It is estimated that since June 1st, 18,000,000 tons of rain have fallen in this portion of Ontario. This gives an average of 5 inches, as compared with normal of 2.79.

UNION SERVICES.

At Brant Ave. Methodist church yesterday morning and evening Rev. J. W. Gordon was greeted with audiences which taxed the capacity of the church. It was the first of the vacation services in which St. Andrews and Brant avenue are uniting. Mr. Gordon announced that Cowan Wallace of Toronto, secretary of the church, had been reported killed in action in June. Sympathy was expressed for the bereaved ones. Miss McLellan sang at both services to the pleasure of all.

POTATOES PLENTIFUL

Messrs. Burnley and Allan have made a tour of inspection of the back yard gardens, in connection with the Thrift League, and are very much encouraged to see large pieces of land, which were growing nothing but weeds, turned into the finest gardens that have ever been seen in Brantford. They state that the people have taken hold with a patriotic spirit in order to help relieve the food situation, and if they stick to their guns and keep off the orange potato bug, by feeding him a little of the "green," authorities are certain the price of potatoes will not be over half of what it was last winter.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

There were large audiences yesterday at all the services. At the early S. S. the attendance was 247. At the morning service the pastor spoke on "Pure Religion," and dealt with the definition of James as a religion of unspottedness. Mr. J. Pickering sang in splendid voice, "If with all your hearts," and Mrs. Secord sang a special solo suitable to the message of the day, "The Clean Heart." In the evening the pastor spoke on the "Love of Christ," "Love Divine" was sung by Mrs. Secord and Mr. Pickering with excellent effect, following the sermon. Miss Gladys Hairod also sang sympathetically, "Angels ever bright and fair."

POLICE COURT

A case of mistaken identity through which Mrs. Annie Deming was mistaken for her sister, and received the punishment that had been intended for that person, this morning formed the basis of one of the most interesting and laughable disputes that has been before the police court in a long time. The sister became engaged in a controversy on a street car last week with Mary Payne (colored), and during the battle applied the term "nigger" to the brunette. This was hotly resented by the African Amazon, who later met Mrs. Deming and scratched her face. The victim of the assault objecting to this unconventional and rude mode of retaliation, complained to the police. A lively war of more or less brilliant and cutting repartee was indulged in this morning, in which the opposing parties seemed each determined to ruin the self-respect of the other. Magistrate Livingston finally managed to say one word, and with the wedge thus luckily formed in the conversation, he dismissed the case, advising the fighters to immerse themselves in their own personal affairs. Elsie Uren, charged with vagrancy was allowed to go with an admonition. She was taken away by her father.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

The Courier is always pleased to note items of personal interest. Phone 139.

Miss Elva and Myrtle Lavery were week-end visitors with Mr. and Mrs. George Yapp, Port Dover.

Master Earl Luff, 102 Northumberland Street, left on Saturday for Chicago, to spend his holidays.

Mr. P. H. Burke, formerly of the Kingston Whig, is a visitor in the city to-day.

Miss Mary Boyd, of Toronto, was the week-end guest of her cousin, Miss Beryl Smith, Fleet Street.

Miss Lillian Boyd, of Uxbridge, is spending a week's vacation with her cousin, Miss Beryl Smith, Fleet St.

Miss Carlin and Mr. Bert Taylor of the public library staff, returned to-day after two weeks' holidays, and Miss Draper left for her fortnight's vacation.

Obituary

The death occurred on Friday afternoon of Isabella Dadds, beloved wife of Mr. W. J. R. Liddell. Deceased, who was 38 years of age, succumbed to the after effects of an operation. She was a member of Sorosis Dummies congregation, but she and her husband had been residing latterly on a fruit farm near Beausville. In addition to the sorrowing husband, she leaves two boys to mourn her great loss, Ronald and Cedric. The bereaved will receive the deep sympathy of a large circle of acquaintances.

The wife of Rev. Mr. Williams, of Paris, is a sister.

Mrs. Gilford Clump On Wednesday, July 11th there fell asleep in Christ Anna Moyle Clump, beloved wife of Gilford Clump, one of Brantford's most respected citizens. Mrs. Clump was the daughter of the late William Moyle and was born in Brantford Township 65 years ago. In 1878 she was united in marriage to Gilford Clump, and moved to her new home in Sorosis Dummies, where she lived happily until eight years ago, when, with her husband, they retired from the farm. In March 24, 1875, she united with the Paris Baptist church, of which she was a consistent member until her death, a period of 42 years. She was carried to her last resting place by her three brothers, Joseph, James and Charles and by Edward and David Moyle of Toronto, and Rev. John Moyle of Burlington, all cousins of the deceased. She is survived by her husband, mother, in her 92nd year, by her two daughters, Mrs. Lieut.-Col. Brooks of Sorosis Dummies, Mrs. Frank Nelson of Ottawa, and by two sons, Norman and Ernest, both highly respected farmers of South Dumfries. The funeral took place on Friday last, July 12th, from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Brooks, and was conducted by the Rev. Llewellyn Brown, of the First Baptist church, and Rev. W. H. Langton, of Paris, to Paris cemetery. "He giveth His beloved sleep."

MRS. PRESTON. A very fine old lady fell asleep on Saturday in the person of Emeline A. Phelps, widow of the Rev. James Preston. She had attained the great age of 87 years and was born in Pleasanton, the daughter of Hiram Phelps, a well known pioneer. She was married in 1853 and is survived by four children, Mr. T. H. Preston, Mr. Wm. Preston, Stratford, Miss Preston formerly in Japan, now at home, and Mrs. E. H. Johnson of Brandon, Man., also by one brother, Mr. T. H. Phelps of Oshkosh, U.S., and one sister, Mrs. Wm. Buckingham, Stratford, Ont. Three of her grandsons have responded to the call of country and are now overseas. Her gracious and loving personality and Christian life endeared her to all with whom she came in contact.

executive committee were empowered to rent a suitable building.

A reception committee consisting of the executive, assisted by Comrades Hollister, Jones and Walter, was appointed to act in co-operation with the Soldiers' Aid Commission in welcoming back returned soldiers returning to the city. The preliminary steps were then taken towards a celebration that the Association expect to hold in the city on Labor Day. During the morning and afternoon it is proposed to have sports, and a day of interesting entertainment similar to the usual Labor Day celebration, and to conclude in the evening by a big military tattoo. The members of the executive and a committee of eight members will supervise the future details of the undertaking.

A feature of the meeting was the announcement that the Borden club had donated an English billiard table and a pool table to the Veterans' that will be very acceptable in the new club rooms.

KILTIES PARADE IN NEW YORK CITY

Troops From Toronto Are Recruiting British Subjects in U. S.

By Courier Leased Wire

New York, July 16.—For the first time in more than a century armed troops of the British empire, under their own regimental colors paraded today in New York City. The parade which was for the purpose of stimulating the recruiting of British subjects for the British army consisted of a detail of eleven officers and one hundred and fifty men of the Forty Eighth Regiment of Canadian Highlanders, headed by their own brass band and pipers.

The Kilties, in command of Lieut.-Col. C. W. Darling, arrived this morning from Toronto. They were met by a detail of the Seventy-first regiment, now in the federal service which has offered the use of its armory as headquarters. The officers will remain during the week at the Biltmore Hotel upon invitation of the management.

Early this afternoon, the Highlanders in parade formation, proceeded to the City Hall where they were welcomed by the Mayor. From City Hall they marched by way of Lafayette street up Fifth Avenue to Forty second street.

In the evening the Highlanders will go to the army of the Second Field Artillery in the Bronx for review with that regiment and the Eighth coast defense command. Tomorrow the detail will go to Newark and on Thursday to Brooklyn. During the day time on Friday the Highlanders will tour the city in buses and in the evening will assist at the mass meeting in Madison Square Garden, which will be addressed by Lord Northcliffe.

On Saturday night they will hold a torchlight tattoo in Central Park and will leave for a week in Chicago on Sunday morning.

KILLED IN ACTION

Private James C. Mitchell, who went overseas with the 52nd battalion, has given up his life for the cause. The information was received by his aunt, Mrs. C. F. Francis. He was badly wounded in the arm on September of last year, and as he could not hold a rifle, was made battalion courier. He was killed on May 25th immediately after delivering a dispatch to battalion headquarters, by a high explosive shell that created havoc in the headquarters building. Had he lived, he would have been 22 years old four days later.

HON. L. J. TWEEDIE DEAD

Chatham, N. B., July 16.—The Hon. L. J. Tweedie, former Lieutenant-governor and a former premier, died at his home near here late last night, aged 67 years. His health had not been good of late but death was not expected. Mr. Tweedie had been in public life for forty years. His wife, four sons and two daughters, survive. One son is a lieutenant in a battalion overseas.

TELEGRAPH TROUBLES

Commercial travellers in the employ of the Great North Western Company are dissatisfied with the prevailing scale of wages and working conditions and are threatening a strike unless these complaints are remedied and the working hours shortened. A committee of the employees was appointed to interview the officials of the company and discuss the question. It is said that the company representatives declined to talk over the situation.

HANLEY AWARDED

An award has been decided upon by the arbitrators in the Hanley vs. Township of Brantford dispute, in which Daniel Hanley claimed $10,000 compensation for damage to his property on the River Road, near Cairnsville, when the road in front of his residence was closed by the Council. Mr. Hanley is to receive $1,500, and the portion of the highway adjacent to his property. In case this land is not conveyed to him he will be paid $200. The township is to assume the costs of the arbitration.

SPIES ARRESTED

Paris, July 16.—According to a despatch to The Matin from Lugano, the Swiss police yesterday arrested the correspondents there of The Berlin Tageblatt and The Budapest Az Est, charging them with complicity in an espionage plot. The plot, which is said to have had wide ramifications, has just been unearthed. The correspondent reports it as being against Italy and in favor of Germany.

Sure! High Heels Cause Corns But Who Cares Now

Because style decrees that women crowd and buckle up their tender toes in high heel footwear they suffer from corns, then they cut and trim at these painful pests which merely makes the corn grow hard. This suicidal habit may cause lockjaw and women are warned to stop it.

A few drops of a drug called freeze-one applied directly upon a sore corn gives quick relief and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out without pain. Ask the drug store man for a quarter of an ounce of freeze-one, which costs very little, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. This drug is an ether compound and dries in a moment, and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. Clip this out and pin on your wife's dresser.

HEAT FLASHES, DIZZY, NERVOUS Mrs. Wynn Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her During Change of Life. Richmond, Va.—"After taking seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel like a new woman. I always had a headache during the change of life and was also troubled with other bad feelings common at that time—dizzy spells, nervous feelings and heat flashes. Now I am in better health than I ever was and recommend your remedies to all my friends."—Mrs. LENA WYNN, 2312 E. O Street, Richmond, Va. While Change of Life is a most critical period in a woman's existence, the annoying symptoms which accompany it may be controlled, and normal health restored by the timely use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Such warning symptoms as a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, lachrymation, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness. For these abnormal conditions do not fail to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

NEW GERMAN Continued from page one applies to the memorials of pan-German organizations. Before the selection of Dr. Michaelis became known, the papers generally agreed that von Bethmann-Hollweg's retirement would be accompanied by sweeping changes in the imperial and Prussian administrations. The feeling was general that large part of the secretaries of state and ministers who had been in office since and before the war and had exhausted their efficiency and availability through long continuance at their posts under the tremendous responsibilities of the war should be replaced by fresh hands and brains, without any incubation of the past. This, in the ultimate analysis, was probably one of the chief considerations impelling the emperor to accept the resignation of a personally sympathetic statesman, who, according to Vorwarts in his political obituary, meant well feebly; whose wish was to conduct the war as a defensive struggle, and prevent its extension to new enemies, but who yielded to forces stronger in purpose than himself, and who wanted to base his policy upon the broad basis of democracy, but who lacked energy and force to draw the necessary conclusions therefrom.

WOUNDED Privates J. A. McNaughton and G. R. Collins of this city are mentioned in to-day's casualty lists as having been wounded.

MEMORIAL SERVICE IN WESLEY CHURCH

Late Fred McGowan and Earl Broun Honored Last Evening At Impressive and Solemn Union Service

"We know not where His islands lift Their fringed palms in air: We only know we cannot drift, Beyond His love and care." These old, familiar words were sweetly and consolingly new, with message of hope and courage to those bowed by the weight of sorrow and grief as they fell from the lips of the Rev. D. E. Martin, in the closing words of his sermon last evening during the joint memorial service conducted in honor of the late Fred McGowan and Earl Broun by Wesley Methodist and Immanuel Baptist churches.

Wesley was thronged to the doors with a mixed congregation, including the young people's societies of both churches, which attended in a body, and the service throughout was one of devout and solemn import, bearing a strain of consolation and encouragement to those stricken by the blow which two weeks ago cut off two bright young lives upon the threshold of full manhood, and which upon a day of festivity and merry-making throughout the Dominion brought a pang of bitterness to the homes and countless hearts. The suddenness of the experience was emphasized by the Rev. David Alexander, pastor of Immanuel Baptist church and the first speaker of the evening, who touched upon the tragic, unexpectedness to all of the accident, as the upsetting of a lantern had cost thousands of lives in the great Chicago fire, accidental collision with an iceberg had taken heavy toll of life upon the Titanic, and the fanatic shot of a Sarajevo student had launched upon the world the war of to-day. All of us were nearer the throne of the Almighty than we supposed. The speaker went on to eulogize in the highest terms the late Earl Broun, a member of his church, having stress upon the joyousness of his nature, his vivacious and civil manner, his cheerful, hearty laughter. "The world," he declared, "is poorer to-day for the loss of Earl Broun." Absolutely honest and trustworthy, his business career had been a successful one, and the future bright before him. But it was upon the spiritual side that the young man's life that the speaker laid particular stress: in heart humble, sincere and earnest, he had been a believer in the law of Christ, but feeling deep below the surface of life the sincerity of Christian impulse.

Unless it was to speculate as to his death; rather, the speaker addressed a consoling word to those who mourned the dead youth, reminding them of the great, overriding Presence and providence. Life seemed in our hands, and after we had seen our visions and formed our plans, it might at any moment be taken from us, by the divinity "that shapes our ends, rough hew them how we may."

"By products of events" was the subject of the Rev. D. E. Martin's discourse, he drawing from the present war countless illustrations of the manner in which God intervenes to draw out from great tribulations sustaining influences and beneficial results. The present war was not the will of God, it was a burden to the world; yet out of it had grown the most important and significant of the world. The religious revival of England; the tightening of the ties of empire; the intensifying of the spirit of the age; the revival of patriotism, the broadening of our outlook upon life the throttling of the liquor traffic. All these had come as by products of the war, and in like manner God might intervene to draw from the sad circumstance of the recent double fatality eventual blessing to the families plunged into mourning. The circumstances surrounding the accident impressed us anew with the uncertainty of life, and made for the widening of sympathy.

Passing on to an individual analysis of the character of each of the young men, the speaker was loud in his praises of both. McGowan, Wesley church had known as a bright and sunny member of his home, an absolutely honest worker in his profession, no man enjoying greater popularity among his fellows; in church circles, he had never been called upon to deliver a sermon before them, but he had been called upon to deliver a sermon before them. To the parents and relatives of these young men, who had cherished the ideals and ambitions for the boys, there was a great deal of thought and affection for the home which he had enhanced and beautified. Entering upon life's work, these two men had suddenly cut off from the future which apparently lay before them. KING PAID VISIT TO BRIDGE

Contrast Between Conditions Now Prevailing And Those of 1916

CANADIANS PRAISED Order of Knight Commander Conferred on General Currie

Canadian Headquarters in France, July 16—The King during his visit, just concluded, on the western front, was intensely interested in the battle scene at Vimy Ridge and in the men who fought there so splendidly. While on the Canadian front he stood on the highest point of the ridge and looked over the plain to the east, where the enemy still struggles tenaciously to retain his hold upon Lens.

The King has seen Vimy before, under very different circumstances. In 1916 he climbed to the top of Mount St. Eloi, at a time when it was a frequent target for German attacks, and he looked toward the Vimy ridge then held by a victorious and confident foe. In the foreground, as memorials of the heroic battles of 1915 between the Germans and the Allies, stand the ruins of Carncy, Souchez and Neuville-St. Vaast, while to the north soared and seemed by abandoned trenches, stood the ridge of Lorette. Within view was a tract of blood-soaked land upon which not less than a hundred thousand men had died in battle. Possibilities of the ridge of Vimy as the prize for which they had striven. In the distance, upon the upward slope, a little beyond the shell-shattered trees that marked the enemy's trenches, line upon line of them, protected by wide belts of wire and stretching back in ordered succession to the summit of the ridge, in all the ground between St. Eloi and the enemy's first line no man could show his head above the British trenches without risking his life. Cheered by Canadians.

That was Vimy as the King saw it in 1916. On this occasion he motored the Arras road while it was lined with Canadian soldiers, who cheered like men who meant it. After greeting Sir Arthur Currie, the Canadian corps commander, and the commander of the division in the corps, the King continued his drive to a point near an "O Pip," which is army slang for "observation post." He viewed from the scene, the court and many other points further back within the enemy's lines.

The King was a sailor before he came to the throne and he still has the sailor's preference for a telescope, rather than the field glass. After he had thoroughly acquired the lay of the land he turned to his immediate surroundings. A little military cemetery where some of our men who died in the very crest of the ridge were buried because there was no road by which their bodies could be taken down to Carncy, first claimed his sympathetic attention. They represented a part of the price in blood and tears of the great victory they had helped to win.

After paying his tribute to the dead, the King visited the German reserve trench, with its smashed dugouts and heaps of wreckage of war material. A general presented to His Majesty an old German soldier in the form of body armor, not unlike the plate mail of the middle ages, which had been worn by an enemy sniper. The King found for himself a case of machine-gun cartridges and a belt of unused ammunition.

Spent Hour and Quarter. The program for the visit called for twenty minutes on the ridge. The King spent an hour and a quarter there, to the perturbation of those responsible for his safety. It is frequently stated. But His Majesty was fortunate. Nothing came within half a mile while the party remained. In the air were a group of guardian planes sent up there to drive away any enemy machines which might venture across.

Before leaving the King warmly praised the splendid valor of the soldiers of the Dominion. He passed out of the corps area as he had entered it, through the ranks of thousands of cheering Canadian soldiers. Earlier, accompanied by the Prince of Wales, His Majesty visited one of the Canadian casualty clearing stations, which was greatly interested in its organization. It was a nurse from this station who was deputed to attend the King, when during his visit he was thrown from his horse and injured. This is the most advanced station of the Canadian group and has now accommodation for 1,400 men, with an operating capacity of 120 stretcher cases every 24 hours. Some of the operating tables have been improvised from the wings of smashed aeroplanes which came down near by. The station is so close to the front that there are frequent air fights overhead.

Later on, at Albert beneath the shadow of the famous cathedral devastated by the enemy, the King conferred on Sir Arthur Currie, the Order of Knight Commander in the Order of St. Michael and St. George. A number of French leaders at the same time received accolade knighthood.

SEMI-CENTENNIAL. An agreement between the executive of the semi-centennial association and the board of works, it is probable that an amicable settlement will be arrived at for the misunderstanding arising out of the account submitted by the board of works for work done at Agricultural Park. While the executive as a body had agreed to paying for the work, one of the number had made such arrangements, and the board of works is in no way to blame for the account submitted. A satisfactory understanding is expected to be reached.

Help Canada Maintain Her Financial Freedom!

Do Your Share towards Financing the War with Canadian Savings Rather than with Outside Capital.

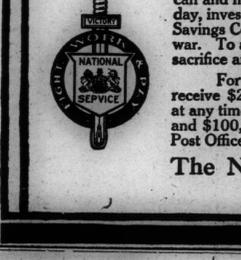

THE problem of meeting the enormous cost of this war is twofold. Not only must Canada get the money—most of it, of course, as loans—but she must get as much of it as possible here in Canada.

We can carry the war-debt if the bulk of the interest goes to Canadians, and so is used again in the country's development. But it will be a serious matter for us if a large proportion of the interest has to be sent outside the Dominion.

For the sake of our own and our children's future this drain on our resources must be avoided! Canada's financial freedom can and must be maintained! An average saving of 15 cents a day, invested by each man, woman and child in Canada in War Savings Certificates, would enable us to carry the whole cost of the war. To approach this average, hard work, thrift, self-denial and sacrifice are required of every citizen.

For each $21.50 you lend the Government now, you will receive $25.00 in three years—or you can get your money back at any time. Certificates are issued in denominations of $25, $50 and $100, and may be purchased at any Bank or Money Order Post Office.

SPLENDID SUM FOR FRENCH FUND

Over $400.00 Realized From Garden Party Held on Saturday

The weatherman who has been decidedly intractable of late, just enough of his grumpiness on Saturday afternoon to provide the most favorable weather for the garden party that was held on the beautiful grounds adjacent to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Livingston, Brant avenue, in aid of the French Red Cross. The attendance was encouraging and well rewarded the efforts that had been expended to insure a successful function. The grounds were beautifully decorated with patriotic effects, and three booths which were all heartily patronized, were also appropriately decorated. In all about $456.00 was realized and this together with the contributions received in charge of Mrs. D. Waterous, will make a comfortable sum to be forwarded to the proper authorities. The home made cooking booth was in charge of Mrs. D. Waterous and Mrs. Philip Buck who were assisted by Mesdames Weekes, Sheppard and John Kerr. These ladies were responsible for $52 to the proceeds. The French table, where fancy articles were displayed for sale, was the centre of feminine interest and in the course of the proceeds. Mesdames W. H. Pitton and H. Whitehead were in charge. The ice cream booth was operated by the I.O.D.E. under the supervision of Mrs. Gordon Duncan and her staff of able assistants who turned over $29 to the general fund. Afternoon tea was served by Mesdames H. Cockshutt and J. L. Sutherland assisted by a staff of assistants. Flowers were sold by Misses Louie Jones, Gilkinton and Johnson. The gate was valiantly guarded by the Misses Carlyle, Howie, Soules and Labord.

COMPROMISE HOPED FOR

Petrograd, July 16.—The semi-official agency, to-day received and made public the following telegram from Helsinki, Finland: "Confidence was expressed here to-day that a compromise would be reached on Monday which will satisfy Finnish demands without any revolutionary acts or a declaration of Finnish independence." The Ukrainian national assembly does not desire annexation, according to official word received here to-day. It was brought by N. V. Nekrasoff, the minister of ways and communications, who has just returned from Kiev.

We must get 500 Volunteer Harvest Helpers this week

Three months ago—when famine and world hunger became a possibility we said to Ontario farmers

YOU MUST PRODUCE MORE FOOD

The farmers have produced more food—and now call upon town and city men to help them to harvest it. Five hundred men are wanted now. More men will be needed later.

But we must have five hundred men at once for from two to six weeks or for the balance of the season. Good wages paid.

Consequently we urge employers to release men temporarily for this work, and keep their jobs open for them. And we call upon all men, who can, to help gather the harvest.

The food crops must be taken off the ground. You need them as much as our own soldiers and Allies in Europe.

Many men will volunteer to do it instead of taking a vacation this year—will you? If so, offer yourself now. Register in person or by mail at the Local Bureau—they will give you all particulars.

LADIES' WAIST. By Anabel Worthington.

Among the things that one must have for the warm days is at least one dainty lingerie blouse. It may be quite simple and trimmed with lace or it may be elaborately decorated with inset motifs of embroidery or lace. Whichever it is, No. 8320 will be a splendid pattern to go by, for it is easy to cut out, and with very little time and effort can be made into a very charming blouse. The front closes in a surprising fashion and the covers are a matter of course. One of the new fishtail collars finishes the neck, and a sort of plastron effect is worked out in the front of the blouse. The full sleeves may be gathered into deep cuffs or allowed to flare at three-quarter length. German or French Val, flax or net are all suitable for trimming.

The pattern, No. 8320, is cut in sizes 36 to 42 inches bust measure. The 36 inch size requires 1 1/2 yards 36 inch material, 3 1/2 yards of insertion and 5 1/2 yards of edging.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

CORDAGE AND STEEL CITY

Motor Trucks Won on Saturday, Easy Picking for

Baschall of all varieties was secured at Agricultural Park on Saturday afternoon when the Cordage Company defeated the Motor Trucks and the Dominion Steel Products overbroke the Holmes when there was a one-sided contest, the result which was never in doubt, the final count being 14-2.

The First Game A stellar brand of ball was pitched by Beckett, in the opening fixture but his good work was offset by the strong support of his team-mates against whom 7 errors were chalked. The game was peculiar, the winner securing only three hits as compared with the Motor Trucks 7. The scoring commenced in the third inning when Powell, the first man at bat was hit by a pitched ball. O'Connor, who followed him hit safely, and both were advanced when Hurley as Beckett grounded out, and scored O'Connell's hit. Beckett tightened up after this stanza and the other three runs were gained in the fifth inning, not one of which was earned, error being responsible for these tallies. A strong rally was made in the last inning by the Motor Trucks when three runs were collected on four hits. This was the end of their scoring abilities however, and the inning ended by Anderson striking out.

CORDAGE AND DOMINION STEEL CITY LEAGUE WINNERS

Motor Trucks Went Down to Defeat on Saturday, While Cubs Proved Easy Picking for League Leaders

Eight runs were scored in the first inning of this game which soon developed into a farce. The Dominion Steel Products secured thirteen hits while their opponents had to be contented with one, garnered in by Syrett, the first man at bat in the sixth inning, when the two runs crossed the plate. In all departments of the game, the victors were superior, especially in the pitching box where Allen who was secured from Sarnia this week twirled the best ball that has yet been witnessed this season. He proved himself to be a valuable acquisition indeed, fielding his position well, handling four assists without an error and making a single and a double in four appearances at bat. In the first inning with the bases full and two men out, Venning, batting for the second time drove a high fly to right field. Gleason in going after the ball stumbled and before he had found it four men had crossed the plate, Venning getting a home run on what would have ordinarily counted only as a single.

SPORTLETS
That fluke home run of Venning's in the first inning of the second game on Saturday is not unparalleled for a somewhat similar miracle occurred in the Three-I League on Saturday.
Rockford, July 14.—Outfielder McCabe made what was probably the "break" home run in Three-I League history in the recent series with Hannibal here. When McCabe hit the ball outfielder Lorraine of Hannibal dashed to the left field fence in an effort to get it. Lorraine thrust his hands against the fence to save himself from injury and the little finger of his ungloved hand became caught between two boards.
He pulled frantically to free himself, while McCabe was tearing a round the bases. Manager Castie rushed over from centre to aid Lorraine, but when the finger was out of the trap McCabe had scored.

FRANCIS QUIMET of Boston, formerly national amateur and open golf champion who on Saturday won the United States Western Amateur Championship.

LEAFS BEATEN IN FIFTEEN INNINGS

Toronto Took Four Out of Five From Orioles; Were Beaten Saturday

Toronto, July 16.—In the fifteenth inning of the second game at the Island Stadium on Saturday the Baltimore team scored two runs and won by 6 to 4 after the Leafs had taken the first game in the regular nine rounds by 3 to 1. Yesterday's double defeat of the Royals by Providence leaves the Leafs and Orioles tied for second place. They meet here to-day to open a series to decide the place.
The soup was cold when most of the fans got home. The second game did not finish until almost 7 o'clock. When the long-drawn-out battle started there were 7,000 fans in the stands. Twice during the fracas rain caused a cessation of hostilities.
Perhaps 10 per cent of the crowd took their departure before the ninth inning when the Leafs were leading by 3 to 1, but the Birds tied the score with three runs in the ninth, and when the tenth opened the figure read 4 to 4. It was a great day for the fans. Jack Dunn and his flock left town disconsolate but determined to get good and even at Montreal, where they open with the Royals to-day, while the Leafs play the first of a series with the Providence Grays at the Stadium.

RED SOX IN LEAD AGAIN

Boston Has Double Victory At St. Louis, While Chicago Loses

St. Louis, July 15.—Boston twice defeated St. Louis to-day, 4 to 2 and 6 to 3. Boston won the first game with a batting rally in the tenth inning after an error by Hohlitzel had enabled St. Louis to tie the score in the seventh. Hohlitzel and Gardner singled and Lewis, who replaced Shorten in the seventh, tripled, scoring two runs. Rogers' wildness lost the second game for St. Louis. The scores:

Birds in the sixth inning, but the Leafs made three runs. In the seventh, Graham was out when Shannon erred on Blackburne's grounder. Thompson was sent in to bat for Lalonde, but Parham walked him intentionally and Hearne struck a home run to right field, making the count 3 to 1. In the following round White-man's single Lajoie's walk and two infield outs got the fourth and last Toronto run.
Hearne weakened in the ninth and was scored on three times, making the count four all. Lamar doubled, Barber was out at first, Lajoie lost Bentley's grounder and two were on with one out. Schultz took William's pop-up but Bues, Shannon and McAvoy singled in succession.
Thornhill pitched the ninth and succeeding innings for the Birds, and the Leafs succeeded in getting several men on the bases but were unable to score them.
In the fifteenth Fewster opened with a roller to Blackburne and was out to Graham. Blackburne made a high throw on Lamar's grounder, but Barber forced the runner to second. Barber then stole second on a questionable decision by Mullin. Bentley scored the runner with a base hit and Bentley tallied when Williams doubled. The Leafs got two on bases in their half of the fifth, but there they stayed until the side was retired.

In the first game on Saturday, after running to first base when Powell dropped the ball on the third strike, Rupp was called out when he turned toward second base. The decision was hotly contested and threats of a protest were made.
A chance for a double play was lost in the first inning of the second game, when with Stewart on first and one out, Rupp hit a grounder. Beckett on second, did not cover his position and muffed the throw, neither of the men being retired.
Venning had a perfect day at the bat. In five appearances he garnered in four hits and a base on balls.
During the second gladiatorial contest, the wife of one of the players, evidently excited over the outcome of the fray, fainted away and the game was delayed a few minutes until she revived.
The attendance on Saturday was encouraging, and considerable interest was evinced by the spectators, who rooted in the good old fashioned way.
The work of Umpires Legacy and Hamburg was satisfactory, as usual, the only complaint being occasioned when Rupp was called out at first base.

Sporting Comment

Around a hotel lobby these days, when the ball players are gathered after the day's game it is at the risk of your life, almost that you mention baseball. The average major league player at least seems to feel that it stamps him as a busher to take an interest in the game that makes him a living. It wasn't that way, in the old days, as we often have heard before, when they ate baseball, slept baseball and lived it from morning till night.
John Montgomery Ward tells a story to illustrate a ruling passion with the old-time ball players. His team had lost several games, and the players were likely to run amuck unless he could get their minds off the defeat. So Ward took them to a theatre to see a thrilling melodrama calculated to make anybody forget everything but the woes of the innocent young heroine and so on.
The play had reached the most thrilling stage, the house was dark but one could feel the suppressed emotion of the audience. Ward himself, was all absorbed. Some one touched him on the shoulder and he started, then asked in a hushed whisper: "What is it?"
This was the answer, the voice of Scrapy Bill Joyce speaking: "Johnny, I've been figuring them guys; put in Sowers to-morrow and we can beat them."

Fred Mitchell and Cy Seymour, former center fielder of the Giants, were walking down the main street in Boston some years ago. Approaching them was a large, hunky, determined looking man.
"I know that fellow; it's Yank Kenney, the prize fighter."
Seymour struck out his hand when they met. "How are you, Mr. Kenney?" he beamed. "Let me introduce Mr. Mitchell. It was at Doy's place on Broadway."
Yank paused in reflection. "Seems like I place your face all right, but can't recall your name," he replied. "I was at Doyle's once, but the only guy I met there was a ball player with the Giants. He is in the insane asylum now."
"What was his name; do you remember?" asked Mitchell. Kenney shook his head.
"Was it Donlin? Bresnahan? McGinnity? Bridwell? Gilbert? Wiltse? Kenney kept shaking his head.
"Ah, I know—Smith. No Was it Strane? No? Seymour?"
"That's it!" almost shouted Yank. "It was a bird named Seymour."
Cy's eyes flashed. "Oh, is that so?" he snapped. "Well, who told you that you could box? I think you're the worst fighter I ever saw in a ring!"
The next moment citizens of Boston were amazed to see a tall, slender athletic looking party sprinting down the street with a large, husky determined looking man in pursuit.

Russ Drive Shatters Last Teuton Hope

More Than 1500 Prisoners Taken In Renewal of Offensive Against Austrians In Galicia; Korniloff A National Hero.

Petrograd, July 16.—Attacks yesterday by the Russian troops in the Lodzany region south-west of Kaniuz, in Eastern Galicia, resulted in the Austrians losing their positions, 1,000 men in prisoners, and a number of guns, the War Office announced today. Elsewhere the Russians held their ground against attacks, and took more than 600 additional prisoners.

A Notable Drive
Gen. Korniloff's magnificent drive through Galicia is arousing the wonder and admiration of all military observers here. In less than a week he has made a westward advance of forty miles south of the Dniester, while north of that river he has held all of last week's gains and is rapidly pushing on toward Lemberg by four routes. Every railroad in the southern quarters of a circle about the Galician capital is in his hands.

Three results have been obtained by the Russian armies in this region. First, a wedge has been driven between the Prussians, under General von Bothmer, and the Austrian forces under Gen. von Kirbach. Their only communication now is by a circuitous route through Krasne and then to the north-east of the Galician capital. Of course the Prussians can pour reinforcements into Lemberg directly from Germany, but the trench front is broken for more than seventy miles and Russian cavalry is pouring through this wide gap, closely following the rapidly retreating Austrians.

The second result gained by Gen. Korniloff is the separation of the Austrian forces north of the Dniester from those south of it. The speedy advance of Russian troops along both banks of the river. At the same time the Russians are moving on Lemberg in the direction of Plochow on the north, from Brzezany on the centre, from Halicz toward Rohatyn and Chodoroff on the south-east and from Stanislaw south of the Dniester along the Dolina-Stryj railroad. In this latter direction, it is announced, they have crossed the Sivka River, captured Krechovice and are nearing Dolina, where the railroad turns north to Stryd.

Peace Hope Shattered
Third and even more important is the moral advantage gained. It has shattered the Prussian hope of a separate peace and in turn is shaking the political constitution of the Kaiser's autocratic Government, while at the same time it is encouraging the Allies, who look upon the Russian offensive as another assurance of final victory.

On the south the activity extends almost to the Carpathians, 50 miles south-west of Halicz. Capture of the latter town marked a distinct phase of the operations against the Galician capital, quite as threatening as the attacks from Brzezany and along the Tarnopol-Zloczow line farther north.

Ever since last September the Russians have been looking down on Halicz from the site of its captured bridgehead, which gave them communication with the station on the railway to Lemberg. The Austrians held the south bank, the town and the bridgehead, which gave them communication with the station on the railway to Lemberg. The Russian front crossed the Dniester eight miles farther down the river, near the confluence of the Bystrizza, on which Stanislaw is situated.

General Korniloff, instead of attacking from the north of the river, pushed on from the vicinity of Mariampol, capturing Jezupol, on the Lukva River, twelve miles below Halicz, and then by a rapid turning movement to the north attacked the town in the rear, where it was most exposed. The Austrians hastily evacuated it and retreated westward toward the Lomnica River, an escape to the south having been rendered impossible by the Russian advance along the whole line between the Dniester and the Carpathians.

EVERS GOT IN DUTCH

He And Stallings Reported To Have Been At Loggerheads For Some Time

New York, July 16.—An open rupture with Manager Stallings is said to have been the reason why Johnny Evers left the Braves to sign with the Phillies for the rest of the campaign. The slovenly work of the Braves does not reflect credit on the managerial skill of the former "mild-mane man." For that reason the rumors say that Stallings has been "riding" his players, including Evers, who recently declined to be placed on the griddle.

When the Braves were here two weeks ago there was riotous. Evers stood on the coaching lines during one of the games when a Boston player went out on a pop fly. The Trojan, directing his remarks to the batsman as he was leaving the plate, shouted "get your alibi ready and put on the boxing gloves." This was taken to mean that Evers wanted the Giants, who heard his remark, to know that he and Stallings were on the outs. At any rate the departure of Evers from Boston is not a surprise to those who know what has been going on under the surface.

MORNING EXERCISE.
I like to rise at early morning, and walk nine miles, the sluggish morning. For when the day is young and tender, the old world is a place of splendor; this planet, as the mornings show it, would make of anyone a poet. I walk long miles through a dell and dingle, and meadows where the wildflowers mingle, and in the woods where birds are calling, and vales where shining streams are babbling; and when I'm tired, beneath a cedar. I sit and warble, gentle reader. 'Tis then I find my inspiration and punch my lyre, to bore

Music and Drama

"THE ROSARY" AT THE GRAND
Throbbing with human interest, "The Rosary" is a play which all will enjoy and none forget. It is one of the few dramas which you can see repeated without its quality to please and entertain losing its attractiveness.

Miss Reade promised to give Brantford players nothing but the best, and in this, her fifth local production, is offering at great expense one of the most soul-stirring plays ever conceived. There is no particular religion advocated in "The Rosary." It is an unusual appeal for "the brotherhood of man," and decidedly not a sermon. To those who enjoy comedy with romance, the play will appeal very strongly, as the action is bubbling over with highly humorous scenes and brilliant hilarity. As a special added attraction, the talented song composer, Mr. Fred Brown, who is a Brantford old-boy, will entertain the audience during intermission with some of his own compositions, featuring the sentimental ballad, "I want to see if my Daddy's come Home," and "They're Khaki Bred."

The seat sale is now on at Bole's drug store, and for the benefit of those unable to attend the evening performances, Miss Reade has arranged for a special matinee Wednesday at 2.30. "The Rosary" will be played Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, and at the Wednesday matinee, and as this is probably the last opportunity Brantford theatregoers will have of seeing this play, large crowds are expected.

The nation. And, from this early walk returning, to my head of song and learning, I find the missus has been stewing a lot of grub, and coffee brewing. And every morning I'm repeating my stup of plain and fancy eating; for walking in the dale and dingle, and meadows where the wildflowers mingle, admiring nature in her splendor, and hearing birds of every gender that celebrate the woodland's beauty in tones melodious and noisy—the morning ramble, all informal, gives one an appetite abnormal. And if I am a soulful poet, at breakfast time I do not show it.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS
Jimmie Hallett, a young American is wandering in a London fog, when a girl running by suddenly thrusts a bundle of papers into his hand and, bidding him run, dashes off; a moment later a man rushes by in pursuit. The bundle proves to contain a number of cancelled checks, drawn by one J. E. Greye-Stratton. Hallett goes to the address given, where he is received by a man who says he is a doctor, but who, as soon as Jimmie enters, knocks him senseless. When Hallett recovers he finds himself alone with the body of a murdered man. Though weak, he gets to the phone and calls up Weir Menzies, chief detective-inspector, of Scotland Yard, to whom he has an unprinted letter of introduction. Menzies finds that the dead man is Greye-Stratton himself, and that the bundle of checks has been stolen from Jimmie. He learns also that Greye-Stratton has a daughter who has lived always abroad, and a stepson, James Errol, a man of shady reputation, on whom suspicion falls. The next day the daughter calls on Menzies; Hallett recognizes her as the girl who gave him the package. The trail now crosses that of a gang of notorious international crooks, led by a man named Ling and a clever woman crook, Gwendie Lyne. Menzies finds Peggy's address and surrounds the house in an attempt to capture Ling and Gwendie. The police have forced an entrance and are hot on the trail when there is an explosion. A smell of gasoline, and the whole stairway bursts into flame. Ling and Gwendie get clear of the net, while the police with Peggy are fighting their way from the burning house. Errol perishes in the flames. They catch one of the minor members of the gang, however, and on a hint from him trace Ling and Gwendie to a Chinese opium den. Without waiting to call assistance, Menzies and Hallett force their way into the nest of crooks.

The door was flung candidly open and a young Chinese, clad in jersey, trousers supported by a belt, and his feet in carpet slippers, faced the pair. He gave not the slightest sign of astonishment, or even of inquiry. His narrow eyes blinked once or twice as he stood one hand on the door-knob waiting for them to announce their business. Menzies swayed a little and there was a touch of indecision in his voice. "I want a drink," he announced. "A drink, lime juice, Mo, an' my-frien' both want a drink of lime juice an'—an' 'a pipe of shag.'" "Come light in," said the Chinese, and stood aside. "You want Jimmie Loo, I go fetch him."

"A drink like juice, Mr. or my friend both want a drink of lime juice—an 'an' a pipe of shag." "Come light up," said the Chinese, and stood aside. "You want Sing Loo, I go fetch him."
A second door barred the passage a few feet farther along and he elided noisily toward it. Menzies reached out to restrain him and then thought better of it. The young man—evidently a sort of hall-keeper—scratched lightly with his nail at a panel and someone opened a tiny trap door and a face peered through. Jimmie realized that they were standing under the full glare of a gas jet and subject to the full scrutiny of the man behind the wicket. There was a rapid interchange of words in some incomprehensible language, and then the click of a latch.

SIEGEL'S

TRYING TOO HARD.
A friend of mine came up on my verandah and dropped into a chair with a sigh of weariness. She looked terribly dragged.
"Been working hard?" I asked.
"No," she said, "but I've been on the go. I've been out every night this week and I'm going out to-night. It seems to me as if I just couldn't get dressed and go."
"Why do you?"
"Oh, I must. I've planned to go to dinner with some people."
"Poor lady, she looked so utterly weary and harassed that I couldn't help pitying her. And yet no one in the world but herself was to blame. She doesn't have to work hard to drive the wolf from the door, she doesn't have sick relatives to keep her sleep starved. She just was trying so hard to have a good time that she lost the good time."
So Many People Lose Happiness That Way.
And she was only one of a vast army of people who do just that.

A full life is a happy one. A crowded life is a miserable one. Sometimes I feel too many engagements crowd themselves into a week. I get so tired that there is no longer any savor to my pleasures and my neglected work hangs like a reproachful ghost. And then I always think of the society people who have one engagement after another scheduled for every moment and I understand perfectly why they—with no work at all to do,—have to take rest cures.

They Must Lead a Dog's Life. Of course they crowd their lives that way because they are afraid of the appalling emptiness. They haven't that great blessing "something which must be done every day whether you want to or not" and so they manufacture a plan that, and overhush the mark.
It is a pitiful thing to search for happiness so clumsily that we crush it in the search.

The One Evening You Really Enjoyed.
Haven't you had a week when you let yourself plan so many things that the only evening you really enjoyed was the one you spent at home?
Of course it is foolish to get into the rut of staying home all the time. But allow yourself enough rest so that you can enjoy your pleasures. A full life is a happy one. When I get over-tired I have a lie-bed-and-read evening. I go to bed about a half hour after dinner, have a reading lamp by the bed and read for an hour or two, then go to sleep. I just love those evenings and I also love my fresh enjoyment of whatever work or pleasure I have planned for the next day.

Good Night Stories

FAIRY GLOOM
Once upon a time there lived a little fairy who had a very gloomy, ugly nature, so the fairies called her Fairy Gloom.
She couldn't see beauty in anything, and because her thoughts were so very gloomy everything seemed wrong in Fairyland. One day she wanted to find herself imprisoned in a hard shell. She was no longer a fairy, but a long green caterpillar, bound by webby threads to her dark cell. Struggle as she would, the walls that shut her from the sunlight would not give way, so she remained in darkness.
"What have I done to deserve this?" cried the fairy.
"Weeping made things worse, for the tears made pools of water at her feet that threatened to rise and drown her."
"I'll have to do something to pass the lonely hours," said Fairy Gloom to herself. But it was so dark that she couldn't see around her.
Then she remembered that one of her fairy sisters always sang when things went wrong, so Fairy Gloom began to sing, and the darkness lifted and she was in a beautiful room hung with soft, downy threads that sparkled like gold and felt like silk in her hands.
"This is lovely," exclaimed Fairy Gloom.
"Yes, it's all in looking at things in their proper light," came a voice from the corner, and Fairy Gloom felt the first time discovered that she had a companion.
At a spinning wheel sat a green caterpillar. The threads whizzed over the wheel in a golden shower.
"This is the same place you were locked in the other day. It was dark because you shut out all the light with your gloomy, ugly thoughts. When you decided it was better to sing than weep the darkness lifted. When you learn that your thoughts lighten or darken your world for you, then you may return to the land of sunshine," said the caterpillar.
Fairy Gloom was taught to spin and the time passed very quickly because she was happy helping the caterpillar weave the golden thread, for she never had time for gloomy thoughts.
One day a tiny door in the cell opened and a beam of sunlight peeped in.
"Now you may go. You've worked out the gloom from your nature so that if you work you will never lose the sunlight again. When you are perfect you will cast off the garb that you now wear and enter the land of fairies," said the caterpillar as she pushed Fairy Gloom outside the door, a beautiful golden butterfly.

the identity of any of the smokers. He relinquished his grip of Sing Loo's sleeve and bounded across to the other door. Someone raised himself on an elbow. "That you, Menzies?" drawled a lazy voice. "I'll give you credit for being a hustler if you get on the go. Take that, you swine."

SGT. DUNCAN MACNEIL OF THE CANADIANS

Says Dr. Cassell's Tablets Cured Dyspepsia Completely

Sergeant Duncan MacNeil, of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, writing from Europe (his home address is 116 Pleasant-street, Halifax, N.S.) says: "For six years I suffered from frequent attacks of dyspepsia, often being in bed for days at a time. When the war broke out I joined the Expeditionary Force and came to England. I had not been long there, however, when my old trouble returned, and I had to go to hospital. While in hospital a friend told me of Dr. Cassell's Tablets, and I decided to try them. The first box brought such pronounced relief that I continued the treatment. To make a long story short, a complete cure was effected."
A free sample of Dr. Cassell's Tablets will be sent to you on receipt of 5 cents for mailing and packing. Address: Harold F. Ritchie and Co., Ltd., 10, M'Cauley-st., Toronto.

Dr. Cassell's Tablets are the surest remedy for Dyspepsia, Kidney Trouble, Sleeplessness, Anemia, Nervous Affections, Nerve Paralysis, Palpitation, and Weakness in Children. Specially valuable for nursing mothers and during the critical periods of life. Sold by druggists and storekeepers throughout Canada. Prices: One tube, 50 cents; six tubes for the price of five. Beware of imitations said to contain hypophosphites. The composition of Dr. Cassell's Tablets is known only to the proprietors, and no imitation can ever be the same.
Sole Proprietors: Dr. Cassell's Co., Ltd., Manchester, Eng.

LADIES' HOUSE DRESS.

By Anabel Worthington.
An unusually good looking house dress like No. 8350 is a find that is well worth taking advantage of, because it can be made at home so cheaply and in so much prettier materials than those which are shown in the stores. It has the new shawl collar just like the street dresses, and the waist is perfectly plain, with long or short sleeves set in without fulness. The dress buttons conveniently at the left side of the front. The waist and three-garred skirt are both gathered at the slightly raised waistline, and a belt covers the joining. The big pockets are another attractive feature, which has been borrowed from the more formal dresses. Materials such as the Japanese crepe, gingham, percale, chambray or Indian Head are appropriate for this type of dress.
The house dress pattern, No. 8350, is cut in sizes 36 to 46 inches bust measure. Width at the lower edge is 2 1/2 yards. The 36 inch size requires 5 1/4 yards, 36 inch material with 3/4 yard, 36 inch contrasting goods.
To obtain this pattern send ten cents to the office of this publication.

Sunlight Soap

The inducements offered with common soaps cannot make up for the purity of Sunlight Soap. It costs US more to make pure soap. But it costs YOU less to use it, for Sunlight pays for itself in the clothes it saves. It does not wear and rub the fabrics as common soaps do.

LUX

How soft & fresh & fleecy!

Just the way you want baby's "woolies" to be. It's been washed with LUX—that daintiest, purest of all soap products. You see, woolens are different from other fabrics—they are especially harmed by alkali and by rubbing and twisting in the wash. LUX—pure essence of soap in flakes—is the only safe way to wash with, there's no need of rubbing or wringing when you use it. LUX really won't shrink woolens—it does them good. Get a package for yourself and see that YOUR folk's woolens get a long, useful, "scratchesless" life.

Sold by all good grocers. British made, by Lever Brothers Limited Toronto.

TIGERS BEAT ATHLETICS

Hard Hitting Encounter Taken By Detroit From The Mackmen

Detroit, July 15.—Philadelphia's defence went to pieces in the eighth inning, and Detroit, scoring four runs, won to-day's game 7 to 2. Daines and Myers were hit hard, but the Detroit twirler was more effective with men on bases. Bush was the batting star. Score: R. H. E. Philadelphia . . . 000110000—2 10 3 Detroit . . . 00210004x—7 12 2 Myers and Schang; Daines and Stange.

WASHINGTON DEFEATED SOX

Walter Johnson Showed Good Judgment In Passing Collins

Chicago, July 15.—Eddie Foster's triple in the ninth inning, when Washington had started a rally, drove in two runs, and gave the visitors the first game of the series here to-day 6 to 5. Johnson's good judgment in passing Eddie Collins with the tying run on third and the winning run on second in the ninth proved to be the game for Washington. Score: R. H. E. Washington . . . 020000004—6 9 3 Chicago . . . 000220001—5 11 0 Johnson and Alsmith; Williams, Danforth and Schalk.

WINNIPEG MAN CURED

Says Dr. Cassell's Tablets Saved Him From Nervous Breakdown. Mr. G. C. Inman, 330 Harcourt street, Sturgeon Creek, Winnipeg, for many years a well-known man in the business life of Canada, says: "I was terribly run down and weak. I had no appetite, and I suffered if I forced myself to eat. My nerves were in a bad way, and my sleep very disturbed. Everything pointed to a nervous breakdown. Then I got Dr. Cassell's Tablets. The first result was that I could sleep, and then my health rapidly improved. It was really astonishing how my strength and fitness came back. Mr. Inman is now in England, managing the well-known firm of A. W. Inman and Son, Printers and Publishers, Leeds, Eng., and letters will reach him there.

DONOVAN TO LEAVE YANKS

Wild Bill On His Last Season With New York Americans

New York, July 16.—Although it would be unfair to blame Manager William Donovan for the failure of the Highlanders, it is said on the best of authority that he will not be retained when his contract expires in the fall. It is understood that President Johnson of the American League will support the owners of the team when they decide to engage a new manager. For several days Col. Ruppert has been conferring with President Johnson in Chicago. They have talked over the wire with Capt. Huston who is with the 6th Regiment of Engineers in Detroit, and it is reported that several candidates for Donovan's place have been discussed. Foremost amongst these candidates is Larry Doyle, former captain and second baseman of the Giants, who now is a member of the Cubs, but is nearing the end of his active career as a player.

BRITISH OFFICIAL

Gains Recorded By Haig's Forces; Enemy Driven Back

Paris, July 17.—German troops made a strong attack on the French positions in the vicinity of the Teton, but were driven back, leaving a number dead, according to a statement issued by the war office today.

The statement follows: "Labor attacks" commencing occurred on the Aisne front, quite spirited in the regions of Cerny, Cavalliers, and Courcy.

"The Champagne the Germans made another serious effort on the Teton. Their assaulting waves caught under our fire, were compelled to return in disorder to their departing trenches, leaving a number of dead. We maintained our gains of Saturday.

"On the left bank of the Meuse our troops this morning made a spirited attack west of Hill 304. According to news thus far received, all our positions which have remained in the hands of the Germans following the actions of June 28 and 29, were the enemy's reconnoitered. We captured prisoners whose number is not yet known.

"Enemy attacks on our small posts in Argonne near Douaumont and in Woerwe, near Regneville, were without result.

British Official. London, July 17.—"We gained ground slightly during the night northwest of Wincey," says a statement of the British war office today.

"In the Neuport sector," the communication adds, "one of our raiding parties encountered a large party of the enemy in front of the German positions. After a sharp fight our troops drove the enemy back to their lines and bombarded them in their trenches."

Paris, July 17.—"Our aerial squadrons carried out bombing attacks on heavy installations in the vicinity of Russian aerial stations at Apenholm on Oesel Island (in the Gulf of Riga)," says an official announcement today. "All the machines returned safely."

Incurable Prisoners. Paris, July 17.—German officers and men aggregating $25, who are suffering from incurable maladies, left Swiss hospitals to-day for Germany. The transfer was arranged by the German and French governments, Germany agreeing to the transfer to France of an equal number of incapacitated French soldiers interned in Switzerland.
