OFFICIAL.
 LONDON, May 7.
 The Governor, Newfoundland:
 The Lusitania was sunk off the south coast of Ireland this afternoon presumably by submarine.
 General French reports the recapture by us of further trenches on Hill 60. There is little other news from France.
 The Russian Government report success east of Mlava railway, the Germans in a counter-attack leaving about 1,000 dead. The battle between the Vistula and Carpathians continues with great obstinacy. Covered by heavy artillery fire, the enemy concentrates forces on the left bank of the Dunajec. The enemy's main efforts are directed towards Berez and Jaslo. The Russians severely tried by the enemy's heavy artillery; and the enemy also suffering heavily under the Russian shrapnel.
 Russian success near Strij has developed, 2,000 prisoners being captured.

The Lusitania Sent to Bottom by a Submarine.

NEW YORK, May 7.
 Agents here of the Cunard Steamship Company received from the Liverpool agents this afternoon an urgent report that the Lusitania had been sunk by torpedo off the Irish Coast.
Hullfax, May 7.—Sinking of the Lusitania, confirmed. She was torpedoed.
London, May 7.—So far there has been no report of loss of life on the Lusitania. Believed all saved.
London, May 7.—The Cunard Co. definitely assert that all passengers and crew of the Lusitania are safe, the ship floated two and a half hours after being struck.
Hullfax, May 7.—There is nothing definite yet of the Lusitania disaster. Dispatches repudiate the dispatch published early in the evening and regarded as given out by the Cunard Co. at London, that there was no loss of life. Latest despatches say many were killed, and the injured are now being landed at Queenstown.
New York, May 7.—The Cunard Co. at 1:15 p.m. received the following message from Liverpool:—Queenstown wires that First Officer Jones says that from 500 to 600 were saved. This includes passengers and crew, and is the only estimate we are able to make. In the meantime the injured and dead are being taken up all night.
Queenstown, May 7.—A steward landed here in one of the first boats, said he feared 900 lives were lost. The captain of the Lusitania was W. T. Turner.

New York, May 7.—There were 188 American passengers, all told, aboard the Lusitania, according to a compilation made late to-day by the Cunard offices. The British numbered 956. Other nationalities made up the remainder of 1,253 passengers aboard. Of 1,253 passengers aboard, 290 were first cabin, 602 second, and 361 steerage.
London, May 7.—It is stated that the British Admiralty is not withholding any verified facts regarding the Lusitania, but declines to pass despatches based merely on rumour. It is expected the Admiralty will issue a statement as soon as authenticated facts are available.
Queenstown, May 7.—The Lusitania was seen from the signal station at Kinsale to be in difficulties at noon. She had completely sunk by 2:33 p.m. This indicates that the liner floated for two hours after what was evidently the beginning of her trouble.
New York, May 7.—The Cunard Co. announced to-night at 8:29 o'clock that they received the following message from Liverpool:—Admiralty have had message from Queenstown saying that between 500 and 600 have landed at Queenstown, including many hospital cases, some of whom have died. Also, that a number landed at Kinsale.
New York, May 7.—The Cunard S.S. Company at 9:45 p.m. received the following message from Liverpool:—Queenstown wires that the Stranraer is landing 100 passengers and crew. It is reported by the Admiralty that the travellers Dock and Indian Empire have aboard 200; the tug Flying Fish about 100, and three torpedo boats 45, and four dead. Those landed we are putting up at different hotels and boarding houses, but we cannot give a list of the survivors before the morning, as the passengers are in such a state that their immediate wants must be first considered.

New York, this a.m.—The Lusitania's cargo was valued at about three quarters of a million dollars, and contained a large quantity of war supplies. Her manifest included 280,000 pounds of brass, copper, and wire, $66,000 worth of military goods and 5,471 cases ammunition, valued at $200,000, all which was contraband of war. The ship itself, Cunard officials say to-day was covered by $5,000,000 war risk insurance. Despite the fate of the Lusitania, the Cunard Line permitted the Anchor Liner

At the City Hall.

The Chairman, Messrs. Ayre, McNamara, Mullaly, McGrath, Morris, Anderson and Withers attended last night's meeting of the Civic Commission.
 J. P. Blackwood wrote acknowledging receipt of copy of the Engineer's report re Capt. Jolliffe's property on LeMarchant Road and asked for a reconsideration of the matter of the erection of a retaining wall. The Board is not prepared to undertake the erection at present.
 J. P. Blackwood also wrote re the MacLaughlin property on LeMarchant Road. The Government will be interviewed on the matter.
 H. F. Fitzgerald called attention to the accumulation of debris in the vacant land on Bates' Street. The matter will be attended to.
 W. M. Clapp wrote on the matter of the East End Cab Stand. A special committee consisting of Messrs. Mullaly, Anderson, Morris, McNamara and McGrath was appointed to enquire into the matter of cab stands in the city.
 C. J. Fox, Secretary of the Society for the Protection of Animals, wrote asking that the Board prohibit or regulate the hauling of loads up certain inclines of the city which are considered too steep for horses. The Board will advise the Society to prepare a set of rules and submit the same to the Legislature.
 George W. Macklin asked that a light be placed at Macklin Place. A light will be placed in this locality and also on McKay Street.
 Jones Burton & Co., of Liverpool, England, wrote re quotations submitted to the Board for night cars.
 Capt. W. Strong and others of Mundy Pond, Rood applied for water and sewerage. The Board cannot undertake the work because of the great expenditure.
 Patrick Flynn, Stephen Street, wrote concerning the filthy condition of a drain in that locality. The Engineer will report.
 Patrick Farrell applied for position as watchman at Windsor Lake. No position vacant.
 A. E. Canning offered to sell the Board some trees for Ordman Park. The matter was referred to the Park Committee.
 Mrs. P. Donnelly complained of the disturbance caused by a motor engine, which is installed at Dr. Howlett's premises. The Board is not responsible.
 The Smith Co., Ltd., submitted plans of proposed building. The Engineer will deal with the matter.
 Mrs. E. Cole called attention to a dilapidated sidewalk on Cookstown Rd. The Engineer will report.
 The Engineer reported that Davey Bros. in erecting a fence had made an encroachment on city land. The fence will have to be removed and erected subject to the Engineer's directions.
 Permission was granted to T. J. Freeman for temporary repairs to building on Water Street; to Jackman & Greene for extension to store on Cookstown Road; to Thomas Bates to erect a dwelling house on Allandale Road, and to John R. Harvey, South Side, to alter roof of premises; all of which will be subject to the directions of the Engineer.
 The Chairman informed the Board that two complaints had been made by tenants during the week that their houses had been leaking badly. The owners will be sent a copy of the by-laws dealing with this matter, and if repairs are not made within a specified time legal action will be taken. The law in this respect will be further amended so as to give the Board power to deal with owners of houses which pay an annual rental up to $100.00.
 With the adoption of the various reports and passing of may rolls the meeting adjourned at 10 p.m.

MORE TORPEDOING.

LONDON, May 7.
 The Barrison Liner Candidate, 5,858 tons, was sunk by a German submarine off the Irish Coast. Crew saved.
London, May 7.—The steamer Centurion has been torpedoed by a German submarine off the Irish Coast. Crew saved. Another vessel of the same Company as the Centurion was attacked about the same time.

FIERCE FIGHTING.

LONDON, May 7.
 The Daily News says that fighting on the Gallipoli Peninsula has been of the fiercest possible character. Up and down the rugged coast the tide of battle has ebbed and flowed with the net result that the Allied troops have driven the Turks before them from Seddul-Bahr and spanned the Peninsula along the line of trenches for some ten miles from its tip. Further on northwest they have dug themselves in near the sea, at a number of points, and they have also forced their way six or eight miles inland and attacked the Turkish fortresses. These operations have been costly. The ground is extremely difficult. The Turks are employing the best German trained and led troops, but the degree of the success achieved warrants very high hopes for the immediate future.

HEAVY LOSSES TO TURKS.

LONDON, May 7.
 An Athens despatch to the Daily Mail says that the Allied troops after short engagements which caused heavy losses to the Turks, captured the heights facing Souain Dere Fort, four miles west of Kild Bahr. Possession of these heights promises the speedy reduction of Souain Dere which covers Kild Bahr. The Allies later continued their successes, turning their attention to a section of the Peninsula between Gabatepe and Seddul Bahr.

HOLDS WAR COUNCIL.

LONDON, May 7.
 The Daily Mail's correspondent in Copenhagen, telegraphs that the Kaiser held a war council in Berlin yesterday, when those present included Von Bethmann-Hollweg, Herr Von Jagow, and the navy and army authorities. The main concern of the council was the Italian question which is considered to be most grave.

Transylvania to sail last evening for Liverpool.

Out of her 879 passengers only 12 cancelled their passages. The first intimation of trouble to the Lusitania was published by the Cunard Company shortly after 1 o'clock as an "unconfirmed report" that the Lusitania had been torpedoed, and was based on a message which the Company said it had received at 11:41 a.m. The text of this message was not given out until about five p.m. and was as follows: "We regret to advise an unconfirmed report that the Lusitania was torpedoed by a submarine at 2 p.m. Friday, ten miles south of Kinsale, and sank at 2:30 p.m. We have no news yet as to the safety of passengers or crew." Latest reports to New York now place the number of Americans on board the lost ship as 400, with probably 200 among those who lost their lives.
Queenstown, this a.m.—The tug Storm Cock has returned here bringing about 150 survivors of the Lusitania, principally passengers, among whom were many women, several of the crew and one steward. Describing the experience the Lusitania's steward said: "Passengers were at lunch when the submarine came up and fired two torpedoes, which struck the Lusitania on the starboard side, one forward, and the other the engine room. They caused terrific explosions. Captain Turner immediately ordered boats out, as the ship began to list badly immediately. Ten boats were put into the water, and between four and five hundred passengers entered them. The boat which I was in approached land with three other boats, and we were picked up shortly after four o'clock by the Storm Cock. I fear that few officers were saved. They acted bravely. There was only fifteen minutes from the time the ship was struck until she foundered, going down bow foremost. It was a dreadful sight. Other steamers with survivors are approaching Queenstown."

The Huns Torpedo the Lusitania.

The worst outrage perpetrated by the German pirates is the torpedoing of the Lusitania, one of the largest Cunard liners, which ran between New York and Liverpool. The outrage cannot be attributed to the indiscretion or over-zealousness of those commanding the submarines engaged in the outrage. The evidence which existed before the Lusitania left New York affords conclusive proof that the action was contemplated, designed and intended before the Lusitania sailed, and that the plans had been arranged by the German Emperor and Admiralty before that time. An advertisement was placed in American newspapers, signed by the German Embassy at Washington, stating that it was the intention of the German Admiralty to sink the Lusitania on this trip to Liverpool and warning Americans not to take passage on her. This advertisement was in itself a defiance of the policy outlined by the American Government, which had warned Germany last February that the United States would hold Germany to strict accountability if in carrying out her inhuman, immoral and illegal campaign of sinking merchantmen, American lives were lost. So we know, the American Government took no action after the advertisement of the German Embassy appeared last week, and some 200 Americans sailed among the 1,356 passengers and 810 crew, and only 51 were saved.

United States

Await Enquiry Before Taking Action for Murder of Americans on Lusitania.

10.00 A.M.

1.00 P. M.

WASHINGTON, To-day. The destruction of the British Liner Lusitania, with the loss of many lives, has shocked the officials of the United States Government and spread a profound grief in the National capital. Although it was not known how many, if any of those lost were Americans, the view was general that the most serious situation has been created by that has confronted the American Government since the outbreak of the war in Europe. The warning of the United States that Germany would be held to strict accountability for the loss of American lives, irrespective whether they were aboard belligerent or neutral vessels when attacked, has focussed attention on the White House, where President Wilson, until late in the night, read despatches with grave interest. The President made no comment. Secretary Bryan, Counsellor Lansing and Senators and members of the House, who were in the city, waited up until a late hour for definite news of the passengers and crew of the ill-fated ship. The officials said the facts and circumstances would have to be obtained by careful investigation during the next few days, before any announcements could be made by the American Government. The disposition among high officials was not to take hasty action, but to await the British Admiralty's reports of the results and the investigations of Ambassador Page. Although Congress is not in session, Chairman Stone, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and other members of the Committee are now in the city. It is expected they will be consulted by President Wilson before he decides on the policy to be pursued by the United States.

ROOSEVELT WANTS WAR. ST. FRANCISCO, To-day. Roosevelt, after learning the details of the sinking of the Lusitania, made this statement. This represents not merely piracy, but piracy on a vast scale of murder than any old time pirate ever practised. This is the warfare which destroyed Lovain and Dinant and hundreds of men, women and children in Belgium. It is warfare against innocent men, women and children travelling on the ocean, and to our own fellow countrymen and countrywomen who are among the sufferers. It seems inconceivable that we can refrain from taking action in this matter, for we owe it not only to humanity but to our own national self-respect.

SIX HUNDRED AND THIRTY-FOUR SAVED OUT OF TWO THOUSAND ONE HUNDRED AND NINETY-EIGHT—FIFTY-ONE AMERICANS SAVED ONLY. WASHINGTON, To-day. A despatch received by the State Department early from Consul Lauriat at Queenstown put the number of rescued of all nationalities from the Lusitania disaster at 634. The Consul's latest message added the names of four Americans saved to those mentioned in his previous despatch, making a total of 51 Americans saved. Few others were rescued, he said, but several unidentified bodies had been recovered.

AMERICAN DENUNCIATION STRONG—GERMAN-AMERICANS JUSTIFY THE WHOLESAL MURDER. NEW YORK, To-day. General denunciation of the sinking of the Lusitania appears in the newspapers in the United States. The act is repeatedly stamped as piracy, of a great nation running amuck and calling it military necessity. A phrase in the editorial of the New York World typifies the majority of comments that the effects upon the public opinion in this country will more than counteract the success of the undertaking, is asserted by most of these newspapers. German newspapers justify the deed and declare that the passengers were given fair warning by the German Embassy in widely circulated advertisements published just before the liner sailed. They regret the loss but they say that Germany is fighting for her existence, that Great Britain for her existence.

Four Hours in Water Before Rescue.

Mr. Eric Bowring received another message from his mother stating that his brother Charles had jumped overboard from the Lusitania and was four hours in the water before he was rescued. The message stated also that but few cabin passengers were saved.

The Price.

Cheers for the gallant dead:— Throated full-voiced across the guarded seas. Unto the farthest rim of the wide Bond, Re-echoing back to the red, stricken field. Where faded the maple-crowned, elder-born. To stand embattled with the Brother-hood. For all that men hold of the highest worth. Agains that which all who are men contemn. Hazarding valour to the supreme test And gaining sweetest praise to those who strive— Brother, well done!

Toll for the honored dead:— Who parted from us these short moons ago. All debonair, vibrant with life and song. And con-secration to their high enterprise. Nor recked that Life were price too high to pay. 'That we and all the world might live in peace. 'Neath all skies they lie in strange ether. But from that hallowed ground there yet shall spring Rare flowers of healing for the world's un-ease. Ye gallant souls! whom foolish men call dead, Ye have but passed the portal into Life. By that swift going we would envy thee. Leaving a name and chastened memory As inspiration from those dauntling ones Who nobly fall.

Who on that coming "day":— When pinioned treachery and murder stand Confronting not the baleful eye of "that." But that of calm and even Justice bent In stern reproval of an awful deed. And balanced weighing of the evidence. Writ with a brother's blood by cult-pit hand. Witnessed and signed in attention plain. 'That may not be denied as valueless, Or brushed aside as but a "paper" jest. Nor shall the plea of "dire necessity" Now pretentious false of "self-defence" Avail when that dread Court shall judgment give In condemnation of the criminal. To pay the price. SAMUEL M. BAYLIS

At a meeting of the Council of the Alumni of St. Bonaventure's College held recently, arrangements were made for a reception to His Grace the Archbishop-Elect and his distinguished guests on the morning after the Consecration. The Archbishop will celebrate his first Arch-Episcopal mass in the Oratory of St. Bonaventure's. He will be attended by two distinguished Chaplains, and the servers will be two of the College Alumni. His Excellency Monsignor Signat will be the celebrant at the Benediction after mass and will also impart the Papal blessing. Breakfast will be served at the College after Benediction, and the gathering promises to be one of the most memorable yet held within the walls of Old St. Bon's.

FLAMELESS AIRSHIP GUNS. Airships equipped with machine-guns run a certain degree of risk from an explosion caused by the flame at the muzzle of the gun. Hence considerable study has been devoted to obviating this danger. This has now been accomplished by a young Florentine chemist named Guido Foa. He is said to have recently given a demonstration before an Italian military commission of a new powder invented by him which burns without either flame or smoke and does not flare up on detonation. While specially useful for the guns of aircraft it will be of value in artillery and infantry engagements from the fact that it will not betray the firing-line to the enemy.

The Threat by the German Embassy

AT WASHINGTON. Prior to the sailing of the Lusitania from New York the German Embassy at Washington published a statement in the New York newspapers, announcing that German submarines intended to torpedo the Lusitania. Mr. Alfred G. Vanderbilt also received an anonymous telegram warning him specially. We append a cutting from the New York Times of May 2nd, telling what some prominent passengers thought of the threat.

"Charles T. Bowring, head of the firm of Bowring Bros., and President of the St. George's Society, who was a passenger, said that it was a silly performance for the German Embassy to do, and below the dignity of a diplomatic representative of any foreign government. "Alexander Campbell, general manager for John Dewar & Sons, London, who was returning home after transferring his firm's business in this country to an agency, said: 'I think it is a lot of tommy rot for any Government to do such a thing, and it is hard to believe that the German Ambassador dictated the advertisement. The Lusitania can run away from any submarines the Germans have got, and the British Admiralty will see that she is looked after when she arrives in striking distance of the Irish coast.' "D. A. Thomas, the wealthy Welsh coal operator, who sailed on the Lusitania, accompanied by his daughter, Lady Mackworth, the English mili-ant suffragette, said he was not worrying about the ship being attacked by submarines.

"Charles Klein, the American playwright, told a Times reporter, who asked him about the warning in the newspapers, that he was going to devote his time on the voyage to thinking of his new play, 'Polish & Peril,' and would not have time to worry about trifles. "Elihu Hubbard, the publisher of The Philistine, who sailed for Liverpool on the Lusitania with his wife, said he believed the German Emperor had ordered the advertisement to be placed in the newspapers and added socrally, that if he was on board the liner when she was torpedoed, she would be able to do the Kaiser justice in The Philistine.

"Alfred G. Vanderbilt, who was one of the last to go on board, said he was going over to spend three weeks in London to see his stable and look over some property he had there."

Some of the new sleeves are long, close and slightly puffed at the shoulder, recalling medieval fashions.

THE THOUGHTS OF THEOBALD.

THE CONTRACT.
The new deal deal has been amended very materially and the end is not yet. The original contract was so loosely drawn up that it makes one wonder if it was not put in as a big chance. If it had not much opposition then all right, but if it received too much criticism, why there is plenty of room to alter the concessions and still have a good thing.
That may be what the Ndd. Products thought.

Even with the amended resolutions the contract is a vast one to give for the return the Colony is to get. The Ndd. Products Co. is frankly going into the deal to make money. That is the main consideration. And they have their faith on the success of similar companies elsewhere, which in spite of "watered" stock still pay good dividends, and in spite of taxes, from which this Ndd. Company is exempt. Knowing this then should the Government not seek to get a share of these profits for Newfoundland? A tax on profits is very different from a tax on the merchandise or operations of a company. It is most reasonable that if the company makes a million dollars a year profit that at least a tenth should come back to Newfoundland. All that we share in now is labour and it is peculiarly true that the Colony will benefit not through the company directly but by the debts which these poor labourers pay on the food they eat and the clothes they wear. We don't tax the big corporation, but for every dollar that a labouring man will earn, the Government takes thirty-five cents.
And there is no stipulation that the wages shall be a dollar a day or two dollars. There is no mention of how these labourers are to be housed, and what charges they will have to pay for rent and what rights they will have, or what liberty they shall enjoy. The gain to the Colony comes from the sweat of the labouring man and yet we have not done one thing to safeguard his interest. The Government leaves him to the mercy of a "soulless corporation." The one idea of Government, as far as the present party in power is concerned, seems to be to shift responsibility. Developing Newfoundland for Newfoundland-ers is religiously avoided, and they prefer to give Newfoundland away rather than develop it for us.

JOHN WORKMAN'S GRIEVANCE.

The following is a statement that will find an echo in a good many hearts. If we are slow here to learn how best to develop a happy people, let us not delay any longer, but see if Mr. Workman's grievance cannot be removed.

To the Society for the Protection of Animals:

Dear Ladies and Gentlemen,—I have seen the little collection boxes with their descriptions for dumb animals, and wonder if you couldn't put in a word for another living creature, not dumb, but well-nigh powerless to help himself, and who has many friends in the same condition.

I work in a factory from seven in the morning, till six at night, with one short hour to hurry home for my dinner.

If I am late in the morning I lose some of my wages, and if I am sick I get only half pay and some of my working friends don't get paid anything if they are sick and can't work.

I have four children and my pay is ten dollars a week. I cannot afford to pay anybody to help my wife at home, and so she is tied down to the house summer and winter and gets no change of air. She has to wash all the clothes and the work is telling on her; her health is declining, her spirit is fast going and her nerves are weak with worry and too much work.

My work keeps me indoors all day.
I see the sun as I hurry down before seven in the morning and for a few minutes dinner-time—my face is getting pale and sallow and I am tired out utterly when I leave off work at six o'clock. I go home to tea and often have to help my wife at housework before getting tea; by the time we have finished seeing to the children it is time to go to bed and we have a few unconscious hours till the six o'clock morning whistle wakes us to the same dreary round and spirit-killing day.

We have some education and would like more but at the end of the day we have not the heart to read or learn.

Nothing much interests me now except when I see of workers who strike for more pay. I cannot help being interested in the fight for I know exactly how it is and how mad it makes us workers to see our managers enjoying life in their country houses, while we have to stick at it from morn to night and cannot get even an hour-off to do any little jobs at home.

Perhaps you can figure out how far ten dollars goes for a week's food, coal, rent and clothes. We try hard to keep out of debt. You don't know what it is for six to feast on one pound of beefsteak on Sunday and how most of the dinner has to be made up of vegetables and gravy.

We don't starve, but if we "do without" is a virtue, then we must be salute! We want a chance to live. I don't think it was ever intended that we should be grounded down with the anxiety and care which is killing the desire to live better.

Now can't you interest yourselves in us—if we come down to work at seven o'clock won't you intercede for us to let us go home at four or even five o'clock, at all events in the summer months and the few months of winter? Don't you think it is a reasonable request when we see our masters coming down at nine or ten o'- clock in the morning? We want our employers to look at our lives and take our circumstances into consideration. Should not the man with a family get more than the single man?
Or must we not marry, or if we do, see that we bring no children into the world? If I am willing to work and do work, why cannot I be comfortable and happy? Why must my wife slave at home day and night and lose all her brightness? Do you wonder that the greatest interest we have is the changing of our condition and can you wonder if sometimes we see red and dream revolutions?

So will you think of these things, ladies and gentlemen of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals? I will put a little in one of your boxes.

Yours truly,
JOHN WORKMAN.

WHAT CAN BE DONE?

Whether John Workman will receive any direct answer or not, he has struck a note which rings true in asking that for his honest day's labour he shall have conditions which will enable him to use facilities which are his and which separate him from other animals. And it is useless to say that comfort will only make him careless, and that men grow worse in prosperity. He will not understand that, and surely it is a negative virtue of a poor man to say that his poverty keeps him right.
John Workman will probably point out the fact that the churches are not too well filled with working men, and that the poorer a man gets the less likely he is to go to church.

I think it is true of nine out of every ten employers of labour, that they do not bother one iota about the real conditions of their employees.
Business methods of the age to some extent are responsible for the fact that the master looks on his men as so many machines, and if some don't work well and easily, he dismisses them and gets new men just as a rusty machine in the factory would be replaced by a new machine. It is the absolute indifference to the claims of humanity that is wrong. The business that would not pay a man for any time that he loses through sickness surely cannot justify the act; it is such an act that has brought about the wide gulf between employer and employee—a gulf that will not be bridged till the employee is made feel that he has a share in what his work produces, and that his employer has an interest in him and his welfare.
Doubtless the company with which John Workman works, is made up of many shareholders, men and women, who have provided the capital from their surplus funds. It is to be feared that the shareholders have very little interest in the company in which their money is invested, so long as the security and interest are maintained. You will find that at any general meeting only one shareholder out of twenty will be present, and very few concern themselves with the well-being of the company, other than financial. If it were possible to stir some sense of responsibility in capitalists and all shareholders, large and small, a steady pressure of moral demand would slowly and surely transform the world of labour and remove the sources of the continual quarrels between employer and employee.

MISPLACED ENERGY.
A man is greater than the thing he produces. The true wealth of a country is a far wider thing than the material prosperity of a country; it is the physical, moral, and spiritual qualities of its people, and to this end ought the energies of Government be used. But do we not see on every hand signs that we think more of the money we make out of a business than we do of the welfare of the man who works in it? We are content to let Governments make our ethics, and we do nothing more than the law compels us. Our energies are misplaced. And supposing we could direct the energies of the millions of men now at war in Europe, what could they not accomplish? They could dig a Panama Canal every thirty days. They could clear away and rebuild all the slums of the earth in a month. They could clear off half the jungles of Africa and South Am-

MRS. PHILIP MALONE.

There passed away yesterday at her late residence, Lake House, Quidd Viel Road, Mrs. Philip Malone. Deceased had been ailing from a serious complaint and receiving special treatment for a considerable period, a great portion of which was spent at the Tuberculosis Camps, but all to no avail as the ailment had reached such inroads that cure was impossible and yesterday she was released of her sufferings. A husband, two sons and six daughters are left to mourn besides a large circle of relatives and friends and to all of whom general and sincere sympathy will be expressed in which the Telegram joins.

Delmonica.

The man with the double voice delighted large crowds at the Crescent Picture Palace yesterday, his singing of the classic ballad: "The Garden of the Gods" was rendered very fine and received thunderous applause; for an encore he gave an imitation of cornet playing, a novelty very much appreciated.

Mr. Delmonico will introduce bits of vaudeville novelty during his engagement here which will be pleasing and acceptable to the patrons of the popular Crescent. To-day's picture programme is one of the best of the Crescent's fine programmes arranged especially to suit the patrons of the cozy palace. Go to-day and hear the singer with the double voice and see a fine picture programme.
On Monday the Crescent shows a

HUMILITY.

In an interesting and charming article on the life of St. Bonaventura, Rev. Dr. Kitchin points to many characteristics of the Seraphic Doctor that may well be emulated, and closes with the following homily on a virtue that is little thought of in these modern days, and, as he says, less popular to-day than at any other time:
"Again, St. Bonaventura in spite of or rather on account of his great talents and attainments was so humble and unassuming all his life that everyone loved him. Humility is the invariable sign of true greatness as pride is of mediocrity. Humility was never a popular virtue, it is less so to-day than at any other time. The whole tone and trend of our lives is egotistical. I, Mine, Me, is the refrain of all we say and do. Our pride is seen even in the way we walk, and in the affected tones of our voices; though we frequently make ourselves ridiculous, yet we are so blinded by pride as not to see it. Remember always that a certain amount of humility and self-effacement is essential not only to the Christian, but to every true gentleman as well. Politeness means showing deference to others, making certain allowances for their age, position, temperament, and even for their oddities. To do this well humility is necessary; and while the practice of all vulgar people is self-glorification and their motto "I push and boast and brag and bustle and look out for number one," the practice of gentlemen is to keep themselves in their place, and their motto that of our Divine Master, "I am among you as he that serveth." And if you know anyone, whom perhaps you are tempted to admire, because he is loud-voiced, self-assertive, domineering, insolent to parents and elders—oh, blush for your worship of such a pinchbeck idol—not his feet only but his whole being are made of the coarsest, commonest clay; and far from being a gentleman, the poor boy is only an unmitigated boor. Respect for the aged, moderation in voicing opinions, courtesy in argument, avoidance of "cocksureness," these are absolutely necessary to all, who would join the humility of a Christian to the simple dignity of a gentleman."

"I haven't a record in my collection that cost less than three collars," a man told me the other day. He was evidently very proud of the fact. To my mind he had a more reason to be ashamed of his money-ridden viewpoint. He evidently enjoyed his records, not as music but as money.

Cost Versus Value. What factors determine the cost of an object? The cost of production and the rarity of it.

But what factors determine its value to you? Its beauty, its utility and its sentimental associations? To be able to judge objects by their value to you instead of by their cost—that is, to have taken a long step toward the best kind of culture.

Why Drink German Waters? SCHWEPPE'S SODA WATER and DRY GINGER ALE. W. YOUNG & CO., MONTREAL, Agents for Canada.

At the House.

FRIDAY, May 7th.

Petitions were presented by Mr. Jennings from Explots, Springdale and Tilt Cove on the subject of prohibition.

The General Hospital Bill passed the Committee Stage with some amendments.

The Stamp Duties Bill came up for second reading and will go into the Committee Stage on Monday.

The Premier moved the second reading of the Bill relating to the establishment of a Permanent Disasters' Fund. He briefly referred to the disasters of the past year, and reviewed the salient features of the work of the Marine Disaster Committee, explained the different sections of the Bill before the House, and felt that the Bill would command the unanimous support of the House.

Mr. Kent thought that there should be no two opinions regarding the desirability of establishing a Permanent Disasters' Fund. Some questions were suggested in considering the Bill, and as to how the funds might best be applied in the case of widows who might remarry and of children who might become self-supporting.

The idea of establishing such a fund would be accepted by all and he had much pleasure in giving the Bill his earnest support.

The Bill was then read a second time, and will go into the Committee Stage on Monday next.

Before adjournment the Premier gave notice that he would on Monday ask leave to introduce a Bill relating to the Newfoundland Patriotic Association; also that he would move the House into a Committee of the Whole to consider certain Resolutions relating to an Agreement between the Government and the Newfoundland-American Packing Co. on the matter of the establishment of Cold Storage and other matters in connection with the fisheries of Newfoundland.

The House adjourned at 4.10 until 3 p.m. on Monday next.

Questions and Answers.

Question: "I would like to know if there is any truth in the statement that cutting hair according to the moon helps it to grow, and if there is, what time of the month is the proper time?"—M. W.

Answer: I do not usually answer health and beauty questions, but the shampoo lady being handy I asked her and she said that the moon has nothing to do with hair. The only value in the old superstition is that it is well to clip it once a month, whether the first, last or middle doesn't matter, so long as you're regular.

Neptune Docked.

The expedition steamer Neptune had gone into dry dock to have a new propeller shipped, replacing the one lost at the icebergs. Other repairs will be made to the ship as well as alterations on deck, including the erection of a new room to be used for the development of moving pictures while the ship is on her expedition, as referred to in yesterday's Telegram.

An Appreciation of Our Reservists.

Lieut.-Com. MacDermott of H.M.S. Calypso has received a letter from the Manager of the C. P. R. Ocean Service which contains an offer to our Naval Reservists which shows an appreciation of their worth. The letter speaks for itself. The letter (Copy.)

Canadian Pacific Railway. Department of Ocean Services. 8 Waterloo Place, London, S.W. Sir,—I see in the papers that five or six hundred Newfoundland fishermen have volunteered for the Navy. After the expiration of the war I am willing to take on deck crews for all our Atlantic Mail Ships, six or eight in number, permanently under two years' agreement, paying them sea wages plus a bonus of £5 per annum for good behaviour, etc. These men will be constantly employed.

If you care to put this before me I beg that you will do so. I am, Sir, Your obedient servant, (Sgd.) A. MATTLAND KEENEY, Manager-in-Chief Ocean Services, Admiral Superintendent, Royal Naval Reserve, Admiralty, S.W.

A Good Contest.

Last night there was a record house at Rossley's, the high class and talented artists, Mr. Ballard Brown and Miss Madge Locke, are the finest ever seen here, and as for their voices—well they are singers that really sing.

The contest was a huge success, and there were many competitors; Mr. Rossley intends to show the audience another novelty soon that for pure originality has never been equalled; one thing the Rossleys always have something new and original to put forward. The 1st prize was won by an elderly gentleman named Taylor who is a first class dancer; 2nd prize, Miss Perry; 3rd prize, Miss Georgia Squires. There were so many competitors all could not take part.

The children's contest takes place to-day at the matinee. Hundreds turned away last night.

Died at Bis Post.

A message to Capt. McDermott, of U.S.S. Calypso, received during the week, conveys the information that Joseph Benoit, of the Nfld. Naval Reserve, had been accidentally shot while laying a mine. The message did not give any further particulars. Joseph Benoit was the son of Mr. John Benoit, of Cape St. George, and was only 19 years of age and unmarried. He left here on the Mongolian in February last, while on the training ship Calypso, he was noted for his activity and his particular desire to go into action. To his sorrowing relatives the sympathy of Newfoundland will be extended. Joseph Benoit was a cousin of Peter Benoit, who died at Chatham Naval Hospital some months ago.

George St. S. School.

George Street Sunday School, will hold its annual Anniversary in the church on Sunday. Sermons will be delivered morning and evening in the interest of Sabbath School Work. At the afternoon service, which will commence at 2.45 o'clock, the scholars will assemble. Special music and exercises have been prepared and all friends are invited to be present. In the evening a service of a special nature will be held during which the pastor will deliver an address on "The Young Man and His Relation to the Church." All parents are asked to make a special effort to attend and thereby encourage the faithful workers in their work.

The Lion and the Mouse

To-night the public bid farewell to the above feature which will have concluded a most successful engagement at the "Casino." On Monday another surprise is in store for the "Feature House" patrons. Eight reels altogether will be shown, portraying two subjects. First, that excellent drama in two reels "The Daughters of Men," a beautiful production in every sense of the term, great acting being combined with superb photography. Second, the well-known comedy, "The Billionaire" in three reels. This is the famous farce which had such phenomenal "runs" in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, London, England, etc. Positively the acme of refined comedy.

Death of a Religious.

The sympathy of the entire Catholic community goes out to the Sisters of Mercy, Military Road, in the loss they have sustained by the death of their dearly loved Mother Liguori. Since the Mercy Nuns came to St. John's, seventy-three years ago, their history has been just one long chapter of good done, of zeal for Catholic education, and of kindness to the poor and the orphan. Amongst their members they have been able to count many ladies, who, had they selected other walks in life, could have adorned any society, but like the five wise virgins, they preferred to have their lamps always ready, and so they chose the path which leads to peace here and to bliss hereafter. One of the foremost amongst those was the saintly Mother Liguori, who died most happy at 10.30 last night.

Eighty-five years ago she was born in the City of Limerick, which contributed a large quota of the Bishops, Priests and Religious, in Nfld. Her family had been special friends of Bishop Mullock at whose request she left home and friends to devote her life to charity in a foreign land. She arrived here on April 17th, 1857 by the warship Chersonese, the officers of which were always deeply interested in her. She was warmly received by Dr. Mullock, and the then small community of three at Military Road. Two years after, she made her final vows, since which she has devoted her rare talents to the various forms of charity which falls within the sphere of a Sister of Mercy. Being possessed of a broad mind which she developed much by reading her company was always deeply interesting, whilst her natural kindness of heart brought sunshine to those who had the good fortune of knowing her, but especially to her particular friends—the poor.

During her long and holy career she occupied the highest offices of the convents, including the Superiorships of Belvedere, Barin and Military Road. On Monday, at 10 a.m., Requiem Mass will be celebrated at Belvedere Convent Chapel, after which the remains of the good Mother Liguori, will be interred in the cemetery near those of all her oldest friends, to await a glorious resurrection.—Com.

Supreme Court.

The Court met at 1 a.m. to-day pursuant to adjournment. (Present, Mr. Justice Johnson.) Wm. Wade vs. M.L. Wade. This is an action for possession of a piece of parcel of land situate at Flat Rock, or for damages for $150.00. C. E. H. for plaintiff; Kent, K.C., for defendant. William Wade, sworn, examined by Hunt. The evidence of this witness had not been taken on 1 p.m. when the court took recess till 2.30 p.m.

Will Not Operate.

We understand that the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. will not begin operations at the Quarry, Port au Port, this month, as previously announced. It is not likely that operations will begin before some time in July. The company, however, is now seeking men for work in the mines at Glace Bay but will not advance passage, and those seeking employment will have to pay their own fares. This is to be expected, as the company's arrangement to men who were anxiously looking forward to the opening of the line quarry on Saturday next, for which they had been assured, was frustrated through the general depression being caused by the war.

Reids' Boats.

The Argyle sailed from Placentia on the Red Island route at 4 a.m. to-day. The Bruce was in the ice 5 miles off Low Point at 6 a.m. to-day, due at North Sydney this afternoon. The Gloucester left Harbor Breton at 9 a.m. to-day, coming east. The Kyle is expected to leave North Sydney this afternoon; detained by ice. The Sagona left Humbermouth at 7.20 p.m. yesterday, going north.

Here and There.

THE PORTIA.—The Portia left Br. Breton last night, going west.

LOCAL ARRIVES.—The local from Carbonary via Br. Breton arrived in the city at 12.20 p.m. to-day.

LEAVING LIVERPOOL TO-DAY.—The Allan Liner Mongolian is supposed to be leaving Liverpool some time to-day for this port.

WILL CONNECT WITH GLENCOE.—Passengers leaving by Monday morning's regular train will connect with the Glencoe at Placentia.

WEATHER.—A light N.E. wind prevails on the east coast to-day; on the west coast it is calm and dull. The temperature ranges from 35 to 45 above.

GEORGE ST. A. B. C.—The regular weekly session of George Street Adult Bible Class will take place at 2.30 p.m. to-morrow. A large attendance is particularly requested.

EAGLE LANDS CREW AT GAMB.—The s.s. Eagle left Greenspond for Gamba this morning and will land her crew at that place where they will connect with the Bonavista branch railway for their homes, as it is impossible for the ship to get to Bonavista under the present ice conditions.

THE NEXT EXPRESS.—It cannot be definitely stated at the present writing when the next express will leave for their homes, as the Kyle is at North Sydney, which port is now blocked with ice, but may get away from there this afternoon. An express will leave Port aux Basques immediately after her arrival, and cannot possibly reach here before Monday next.

Nine Months for Theft.

Arthur Sexton, aged 18 years, who created a sensation a short time ago by jumping off a train and getting clear of police custody but was later re-captured and brought here to the Penitentiary, was arraigned before court to-day. He was charged with stealing $56, which was got by breaking into a store at Trinity. Accused admitted his guilt. In view of his previous bad record, the prisoner was sentenced to six months' imprisonment with hard labor, without option of a fine, at the expiration of which time he is to find two sureties in $100 each for his future good behaviour, or go to jail for an additional three months.

McMurdo's Store News.

SATURDAY, May 8, 1915. To-day we announce the opening up of a full stock of Hamilton's Pills, which have reached us along with a shipment of Nervine and other of the specialties of the Catarthozons Company. These pills rank high among the many liver and constipation pills in the market, and are very largely used. Price 25c. a box. Pine Tree Lozenges prove their value in this damp and changeable weather, and prevent or relieve many a case of bronchial trouble. It is well, in wet or cold weather, to have a box in the pocket, ready for use when needed. Taken according to directions, they are harmless in any case, while in chest and throat troubles their action is very healing and soothing. Price 25c. a box.

GLASS SURFACE ROADS.

It is reported that an experiment is being made with a material that heretofore has been a waste product of glass factories for road-making. This is a thick, syrupy liquid that hardens when exposed to the atmosphere, forming a substance that somewhat resembles glass. A quantity of this material is said to have been mixed with crushed stone and used to surface a stretch of highway in Illinois, forming a surface that is as smooth as concrete. How this surface will stand up under weather and wear will be watched with interest.

LORD BROUGHTHAM died 1868, aged 90. English judge, statesman, writer and philanthropist. He entered Parliament in 1810 and soon distinguished himself as a speaker. He took a great share in the founding of the Society for the Diffusion of Useful Knowledge and of the London University.
JOHN STEWART MILL died 1872, aged 67. He achieved high reputation by his numerous works on philosophical questions, and wrote, amongst other books, "Principles of Political Economy," "Essay on Liberty."
Seemingly contentment is real discontent, combined with indolence or self-indulgence, which, while taking no legitimate means of raising itself, delights in bringing others down to its own level. —Mill.

BIG PROJECTILES FOR BATTERING DOWN GUNS.

One peculiarity of the armour-piercing projectiles which are being used with such powerful effect by our Navy, particularly in the Dardanelles, is that they are designed and constructed so that on striking armoured vessels they do not break up, but will pass through the armour and burst in the rear of it, thus doing tremendous havoc to the interior of the ship's structure, wrecking the propelling machinery, disabling the boilers and ammunition-hoists, destroying the methods of communication, and possibly igniting the magazines, to say nothing of the injury done to the personnel in the vicinity of the explosion.

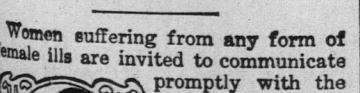

These projectiles are made of the highest possible grade of steel, tempered and heat-treated in such a manner that the points are so hard that no tool known will cut them. A diamond will hardly make a mark on the point of such a projectile. Strange as it may seem, carbon is contained in a high percentage in these hard points, and gives the projectile its hardness just as it does in the diamond.

The Explosive Charge.

High-power projectiles are constructed with cavities in their points which contain the explosive charge, the explosive carried varying with the size of the projectile. A 12

FREE ADVICE TO SICK WOMEN

Thousands Have Been Helped By Common Sense Suggestions.

Women suffering from any form of female ills are invited to communicate promptly with the woman's private correspondence department of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; that has been established a confidential correspondence which has extended over many years and which has never been broken. Never have they published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which they have to draw from, it is more than possible that they possess the very knowledge needed in your case. Nothing is asked in return except your good sense, and their advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address: Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (corporated in Lynn, Mass.)

inch shell, weighing 870 lbs., carries about 30 lbs. of explosive. The cavity of such a projectile is about 7 inches in diameter at the base, and gradually tapers in size towards the point. After the charge is placed in the projectile a plug is screwed into the base, thus sealing up the explosive, and a fuse is inserted in the centre of the plug extending into the explosive within the cavity. The fuse without which the explosive is harmless, depends upon the high rotary motion of the shell to become active. This rotary motion is imparted by the rifling of the gun. In the smooth surface of the tube are cut the rifling grooves, of a width of about 1/2 inch. Round the shell, near its base, is a groove cut for the purpose, is compressed what is known as the rotating band. This band projects above the surface of the shell and corresponds with the rifling-grooves, so that upon its discharge it is forced into the rifling, where it acts as a seal to prevent the escape of the gas formed by the exploding powder and gives the shell the required rotary motion, which keeps it on its true course with its point always in a direct line ahead.

Common Shells.

If the bore of the gun has become worn or eroded, the copper rotating band does not give the projectile the proper rotation, and the missile, wobbling in its flight in consequence, fails to carry accurately.

Nearly all shells used for naval guns under 6 inch calibre are what are known as common shells, which are constructed with a thin steel covering, and contain a larger percentage in weight of explosive than the armour-piercing projectiles. These common shells are not intended to perforate armour, but are intended for the attack of torpedo-boat destroyers, torpedo-boats, submarines and other unarmoured structures. They are also considered valuable for the attack of fortified places on shore.

Not So Crazy.

The good clergyman was ministering to the needs of the inmates of a private lunatic asylum, and he was especially warned against an exceedingly cross-grained, recently arrived patient. Nothing daunted, however, the reverend gentleman entered the little room where the man was confined and began conversation with him.

"Is it true," inquired the crazy man, "that Queen Elizabeth has recently married the Sultan of Turkey?"

"Quite true," replied the visitor, bent on humouring the patient.

"And it is also true, I suppose," went on the demented one, "that Lloyd George has been made Lord Chancellor with a salary of twenty thousand pounds a year?"

"Quite, quite true," said the clergyman, fervently.

"Ah!" said the madman, rubbing his hands with glee. "And pray, what may you be?"

"I? Oh, I am a minister of the Gospel."

"Well," said the man, reflectively, "you look like a minister of the Church and you may be one, but you are about the biggest, cold-blooded liar I ever met."

PAYING 'TOMMY ATKINS.'

The splendidly-organized Pay Department of the British Army enables our troops in the firing line to draw their money each week as regularly as if they were in barracks. In France each important base has its regimental pay-office controlled by a chief paymaster. Under him are a number of field-cashiers whose duties consist of making their way into the firing-line with the troops' wages. The field-cashiers are provided with a guard whilst travelling, generally by motor car, between the base and the trenches. The regimental officers take charge of the wads of French notes with which "Tommy" is paid, and when possible they arrange to issue the money every Saturday. Often a regiment continually engaged in the firing-line receives its pay at odd intervals when there is a lull in the fighting, or at night-time.

Every soldier carries a pay-book in which is entered the amount paid to him. The authorities keep a record on what is known as the acquittance roll, which later is forwarded to the pay-master-in-chief at the base, and eventually it finds its way back to the Army Pay Department in this country. "Tommy's" pay-book is one of his most precious possessions. If he loses it he is not allowed to draw pay prior to the date of reporting his loss. The pay-books are largely used by soldiers when making their wills.

All documents connected with the payment of soldiers at the front are returned to the "fixed centre" pay-offices in England, and they are checked by the Army Pay Department. This is a magnificent organization, employing 700 officers and 7,000 clerks skilled in the intricate details of military accountancy. The pay department also handles the allowances made to soldiers' wives and dependents. The post-bag of the department is enormous, for thousands of letters of inquiry are addressed to the officials every week, from puzzled members of the public.

GUARDING MILITARY SECRETS.

In war time there are numerous important State secrets which must be prevented from leaking out, and they are guarded by various ingenious devices. For instance, in Government offices the writing on important documents is dried by means of rollers. The rollers are made of rubber cylinders covered with blotting-paper, which are run over wet ink. The writing is impressed on the cylinder in a confused jumble, impossible to decipher, as would be the case if the ordinary flat blotter were used. In some cases black blotting-paper is used to dry official letters, as it is much safer than the pink or white variety. Important telegrams, if not in code, often have to be guarded from prying eyes by Government officials. For this purpose they use a simple little invention which consists of a telegraph form prepared with a perforated gummed edge. The message having been written, the form is folded over and the edges gummed down, as in the case of a letter-card, and its contents are hidden from the messenger who carries it to the telegraph office.

Each battleship carries a book of code signals which holds the meaning of the little flags which flutter at the masthead when ships communicate. The code-book is of immense importance, and strict precautions are taken against its falling into the hands of the enemy. Each volume is heavily weighted with lead in the cover, so that in an emergency it can be thrown overboard when a battleship is sinking or has been crippled by an enemy ship which is likely to dispatch a boarding party.

In wartime all Governments utilize cipher codes for communicating with their commanders in the field or with their Ambassadors in neutral countries. Such ciphers are cleverly worked out by an official especially employed for the purpose. The object of official codes is to make them absolutely unintelligible to the ordinary person, whilst they can be read by the initiated by means of a simple key that can be memorized. It occasionally happens that commanders in the field are obliged to communicate with one another by means of despatches written in plain language. In such cases what is known as a code is taken against the communications falling into the hands of the enemy. They are secreted in the sole of a despatch-rider's boot, sewn into his clothing, or, as was described in a recent letter from the front, carried in the pneumatic tyre of a motor cyclist's machine.

Lord Kitchener has a policy of guarding important military secrets by seldom entrusting them to any but unmarried men. During the many years that he was busy perfecting his plans for his swoop upon the Mahdi he did not have a married man upon his staff. If one of his staff wished to get married he had to be transferred elsewhere, in case he should not prove capable of keeping military secrets from his wife.

Baby's Eczema Cured by Zam-Buk

Mrs. Elgin Cossett, Joggin Bridge, N.S., says—"When my little daughter was five months old a rash broke out on her face and body. I called in a doctor, who stated that it was eczema, and treated her for it. His treatment, however, did not bring any relief, and the child got worse. I then tried a great many salves and so-called eczema cures, but nothing proved of any benefit. The sores continued to spread, and became one large mass. One day a friend advised me to give Zam-Buk a trial. I did not have much faith in Zam-Buk working a cure, but as there could be no harm in trying it, I obtained a supply.

At that time the disease had defied all remedies for over a year. By the time I had used one box of Zam-Buk there was a marked improvement. I continued the Zam-Buk treatment day by day the sores showed signs of improvement. Finally Zam-Buk banished every trace of the disease."

For the tender delicate skin of babies, nothing equals Zam-Buk. Unlike other ointments, it is purely herbal.

Use Zam-Buk for cuts, burns, bruises, eczema, piles, cold sores, chapped hands, and all skin diseases and injuries. At all druggists and stores 50c box. Name "Zam-Buk" is on every box, refuse substitutes. FREE TRIAL BOX. Send this article, name of paper, and 1c. stamp for return postage to Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

Della Blanchflower—Mrs. Humphrey Ward.
This is probably the most powerful and important story Mrs. Humphrey Ward has written; certainly it is the most fascinating and entralling. Her vast circle of admirers will be delighted in making the acquaintance of her new heroine, Della Blanchflower, a wilful, perplexing, but quite delightful young woman of a type almost new to fiction.
The Holy Flower—H. Rider Haggard.
A new record of stirring adventure in wildest Africa by the famous hunter and explorer, Allan Quatermain, telling his story of a perilous mission into unknown country in the days before his remarkable experiences which are now historical in the pages of "King Solomon's Mines" and other famous books.
A Lovers' Tale—Maurice Hewlett.
A fascinating romance in which this brilliant author returns, more completely than in other of his recent works, to the manner of his earlier romances, "The Forest Lovers" and other books which now rank as classics of English fiction.
Joseph Hocking's latest novel, "The Day of Judgment," cloth 30c.
