MONDAY EVENING, DEC. 2, 1872

Town and County News.

MR. CHANGE.—We are glad to learn that this gentleman is progressing as favorably as could be expected, although no doubt his case will be a protracted one.

SHOOTING MATCH.—A shooting match will come off at the Bull Frog Tavern, on Friday first, the 6th inst., at noon, when good sport may be anticipated, as the proprietor has provided a large number of turkeys and geese for competition.

AGENCY.—Mr. W. H. Marcon, Market Square, has been appointed agent for the North British Food Cattle Company for Guelph and vicinity. This food is highly spoken of, and it is asserted that horses which have been fed therewith have escaped the prevailing epidemic.

MISSIONARY MEETING.—A meeting in the cause of missions will be held this evening in Chalmers' Church, at 7 o'clock, when interesting addresses will be delivered by Rev. Messrs. Middlemiss and Macdonald, of Elora, and Dr. Waters, of St. Mary's.

CURLING MATCH.—A curling match came off on St. Andrew's Day between the following players on the river above the Dundas bridge: Wm. Roper, jr., C. Spaulding, John Oliver and Alex. Conger, John Skiper—13; W. Craig, Wm. Roper, John Anderson and John Spaulding vice—12.

THE ARREST OF KEMP.—It is reported in Town to-day that Chief Constable Kelly has heard that the soundrel, Empannaged Kemp, concerned in the Nassagaweya rape case, and who has hitherto managed to elude the officers of justice, has at last been arrested in Welland, and it is thought, that the chief has gone there to ascertain Kemp's identity.

THE NIGHT WATCHMAN.—We are informed that a number of our business citizens have objected to subscribe any thing towards the expense of the Night Watchman, on the ground that they consider the matter is one that rightfully belongs to the Town Council. As that body insists this evening it may not prove to us, by thus bringing the matter under their attention, so that the proper "onus" may be determined, at least as far as the Council is concerned.

THE GOOD TEMPLARS' ENTERTAINMENT.—The entertainment announced for Saturday evening, under the auspices of the Good Templars, was a great success. Dialogues, songs and instrumental music contributed largely to the enjoyment of the evening. A duet by Messrs. Lawrence and Richard Smith was so greatly appreciated that an "encore" was enthusiastically given. The Good Templars have every reason to congratulate themselves on this their first experiment to provide a rational evening's amusement. The next of the series will be given on Saturday, the 14th inst.

HERNDON'S TROUPE.—We have frequently heard it asserted that Saturday evening is a "malapropos" one for a successful entertainment in Guelph, in point of attendance on the part of the public. If such is generally the case, Saturday evening last was a marked exception; for a bumper house greeted the first appearance of the Herndon Troupe. The piece produced was a very thrilling high-spirited Irish drama entitled "Kathleen Mavourneen," the principal characters in which were all ably sustained by the respective actors. Especially noteworthy was the superior performance of Mrs. Herndon as "Kathleen," whilst her husband as "Billy Buttercup" was simply inimitable and irresistible in his original drolleries. We may well claim with himself "Oh, what a villain he was!" The farce of the "Spectre Bidegreen" elicited a perfect roar of laughter throughout. To-night an entire change of performance will be given, Mr. Herndon playing the role of "Rip Van Winkle," in the famous play that name written by the celebrated dramatic writer, Mr. Dion Boucicault. We understand Mr. Herndon has played the character with great acceptance for upwards of 200 nights, and to appreciators of dramatic performances, we would say, that a visit to the Town Hall this evening cannot fail to win their applause.

JOHN CHINAMAN.—The Stratford Beacon says:—Commanders Jarvis, who, since his return from his celebrated expedition to China, has had charge of the Avon fleet, was called upon on Sunday last to act as interpreter to a party of twenty-five celestial pig-tails, who were delayed at the Stratford Station on their way to a show establishment in New York. The conversation, relating chiefly to the commodore's old friends, Ah Sin and Chang, was exceedingly animated and interesting to those who understood it. But after a while the other barbarians began to crowd round in considerable numbers, and the celestial, declaring that there was "too much talk," withdrew from the vulgar gaze within the best substitute for a Chinese wall which they could get for the moment find.

Local and Other Items.

The people of Acton are talking of getting up a band.

The Toronto Mail printing company have imported from England a Wharfedale four-feeder printing machine.

Mr. Egan, the contractor for the new bridge at Wallaceburg, has "skeddaddled," taking with him some $6,400 of other people's money.

A telegram from Amherstburg states that several schooners are ashore in that neighborhood, and a couple of propellers are aground, injured by ice.

A party of shootists went out again from Stratford into Elma and Ellice last week, and brought home as the spoils of the chase four splendid deer.

A correspondent of one of the leading insurance companies in Montreal, at present in the Lower Province, writes to the Witness that the English offices doing business in Halifax have received orders by cable to double their rate of insurance.

The clergymen of Woodstock have unanimously joined in a memorial to the Town Council, petitioning that body to cease issuing licenses to saloons and groceries for the sale of intoxicating liquors after the close of the year.

Mrs. Fuller, wife of the Venerable Archdeacon, has just given to the Synod $4,000, the interest to be devoted to the support of a travelling Missionary in the District. She has likewise given $2,000 for other Church objects, and the Archdeacon a similar amount.

A very destructive fire occurred on Wednesday, on lot 21, 4th concession, Esquimes, by which the barn and all its contents, belonging to Mr. James Dobbie, were consumed. Loss over 2,000 and no insurance. It is supposed that the fire originated by two little boys playing with matches in the hay loft.

Messrs. Stuart, Dayfoot and Saunders, of Hamilton, accompanied by the Solicitor of the Company, attended a meeting of the County Council of Peel, at Brampton, on Friday, for the purpose of getting a By-law passed for $50,000 in aid of the Hamilton and North Western Railway. The By-law passed unanimously, and will be voted upon on the 27th December.

The Waterloo Chronicle says that the friends of the Springer family will be pleased to learn that their prospects in reference to the Wilmington estate are excellent. Moses Springer, M.P.P., of this village, has just returned from a tour of investigation in various parts of Maryland and Pennsylvania, and he considers the title of the family to that valuable property, not only good, but capable of being legally proved.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—On Friday evening the police took Charles Lancelfield, an elderly man, into custody, on a charge of having assaulted his wife. When found, it was discovered from the large quantity of blood that had issued from a wound in the left side of the neck, that he had attempted suicide, by trying to cut his throat, and had made an ugly cut into the flesh just behind the jugular vein. He had been suffering from the effects of intemperance, and this was apparently the cause, for when brought to the police station, he said that he had two knives and an axe, and complained that none of them would work. Dr. O'Reilly having seen the sufferer, he ordered him to the General Hospital, where he now lies. It is thought that he will soon be well again.—Hamilton Times.

CARLISLE ASSAULT CASE.—The charge of aggravated assault preferred against Thomas Savage, who it is alleged committed a murderous assault upon Timothy O'Donnell, at a tavern in the village of Carlisle two weeks ago, came up for hearing at the Hamilton Police Court on Saturday. The first witness examined was the hotel keeper, who witnessed the assault, and deposed to the effect that O'Donnell provoked the quarrel and first assaulted Savage, who fought in self-defence. O'Donnell has been confined to his house ever since the affray, inflammation of the lungs having set in, and is yet unable to attend court to give evidence. It seems that there is an old feud existing between Savage and O'Donnell. The case was further adjourned for a week, bail being accepted for Savage.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.—The Milton Champion says: As Mr. D. Munn, of Campbellville was driving in Nassagaweya with Mr. Morrison, of Hamilton, and a step-son of the latter, the horse was frightened by a dog, and ran away, throwing them all out, bruising them considerably, and completely wrecking the buggy, which belonged to Mr. Morrison. After catching the horse they returned and got Mr. Munn's buggy, and having got to their destination and transacted their business, they returned towards Campbellville. But it seems they were doomed to another exciting time, for on the way home the horse gave a sudden plunge across the ditch, and the human contents were landed against a stone wall and again badly bruised. The only wonder was that they were not killed. The second buggy was also soon rendered a wreck, and the party had to procure another team from a friend, and this time reached home in safety.

Death of Horace Greeley.

Additional Details.
New York, Nov. 30.—The following additional details of Mr. Greeley's last hours were received during the day. As is usual in cases of inflammation of the brain, his physical suffering was extremely slight, but increased morbid action of mind was evident from the exterior manifestations. At 5:30 p. m. an old family friend known as Auntie Lawson entered and approached the bed. Mr. Greeley was then roused by a friend who asked:—"Do you know who this is?" He feebly said "yes," stretched out his hand in greeting, and then relapsed into his reverie. Later he was asked:—"Do you know you are dying?" and in the same manner, without tremor or emotion, he answered "yes." When asked if he were in pain, he laid his hand upon his breast but without otherwise replying, and returned to his semi-unconscious state, lying now with closed eyes, and hands sometimes twitching nervously, but generally still. At 6:30 he stirred uneasily and began to mutter indistinctly something which friends around him could not catch. His daughter Ida, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, Mr. Carpenter, Doctor Choate, and Auntie Lawson, were all in the room anxious to hear his last words. Mr. Greeley indistinctly murmured for a while. At last he feebly said "it is done." There was no evidence of pain in his last moments. The face hardly changed; only settling into a look of perfect peace. Dr. Choate was by his bedside, and putting his hand to Mr. Greeley's heart, said "he is gone." The remains were dressed and laid to await removal in the parlour, while a few friends remained to watch through the night beside him.

During the day and yesterday crowds gathered at the Tribune office, inquiring for the latest news. Mr. Sinclair, at 5 p. m., received a despatch announcing the alarming condition of the deceased, and an hour afterwards he received one, reading, "come immediately or all will be over." He then started for Pleasantville, but did not get to the public the news he had received. The crowd remained until 8 o'clock, when the news of Mr. Greeley's death arrived.

The directors of the Lotus Club last night adopted resolutions concerning Greeley's death.

New York, Dec. 1.—The remains of Horace Greeley were taken to this city from Pleasantville on Saturday evening, and are now in the residence of Mr. Samuel Sinclair, publisher of the Tribune. The two daughters of Mr. Greeley and Mrs. Gibbons accompanied the remains to this city. The Herald mentions that the Union League have hopes the President Grant will take part in the obsequies of his late distinguished rival in the Presidential field.

New York, Dec. 1.—The following is the last letter written by Horace Greeley:—"New York, June 27th, 1872; Friend Lanman—Received yours of the 25th inst. I have all my life been doing what people called vastly foolish and impolitic acts, and I did not dispute their judgment, only said that what I did seemed to me the right thing. If I should die before the election, or be beaten therein, please testify for me that I do not regret having to brave Republican opposition when I thought it wrong and knew it to be meretricious.

The Sun says:—In his mental and moral characteristics Greeley was a puzzling compound of contradictions which defies close analysis. It adds that Greeley was horrified on seeing in the Tribune of Nov. 4th, alongside of his own card, the remarkable editorial headed "Crumbs of Comfort," which expressed gratitude that his (Greeley's) defeat would relieve him from the solicitations of office-seekers, and which, the Sun says, insulted every person who voted for him. Greeley immediately went to the Tribune office and wrote a disclaimer, stating that he had never been consulted, never saw the article, and repudiated the sentiments and the language. This disclaimer was suppressed. He wrote another, which was also suppressed after being put in type. The severe criticisms which this article provoked from his late supporters added to his depression and illness. During his last hours he was so violent that the furniture was removed from the room. One time he threw a kerosene lamp on the floor, setting fire to the room, and at another time tore to pieces the watch presented him by the Tribune employees. As his strength left him he became more quiet.

The Herald says:—"We may say of him as the expiring chief 'Red Jacket' said of himself: that the news of his death will come upon his people like the sound of the falling of a great pine in the stillness of the woods. He had in a mistaken aspiration for a higher field of usefulness and power and glory, fallen a sacrifice to his political ambition. He had failed to appreciate the commanding position which he had secured, as a leading American journalist, and in leaving it to pursue the ignis fatuus of the Presidency he dropped the substance for the shadow of great distinction. Otherwise the history and enduring rewards of Mr. Greeley's instructions and useful career are full of encouragements to young men, who without capital, personal influence or powerful friends, have the battle of life before them. He leaves an honored name behind him, the high reward of encouraging example as an American journalist and a self-made man.

The First Fruits—and a Coincidence.

Messrs. Brown, Gillespie & Co. had the honor, yesterday, of shipping the first car load of goods over the new road to Southampton, and curiously enough the car which first came to hand to carry it belonged to the Michigan Central Railroad stock. Some time to-day that car will settle a matter which was hotly contested once at Southampton and elsewhere. It was asserted by the Hamilton men that by a change of gauge on the Great Western, not only would the rolling stock of other companies be available for carrying the traffic of that section of country, thus giving a larger stock to draw upon in case of unusual pressure at any particular point, but also that the traffic should be carried to its destination without break of bulk. With much other weighty proof, the Toronto men pronounced this to be a delusion and a snare. Well, as we have said, the first freight car which arrives at Southampton will show the people there which of the contestants was right.—Hamilton Spectator.

A Good Story.

A burly Gallovidian was recently in Glasgow. He called at a fishmonger's shop, accompanied by a large Newfoundland dog, almost as high as the counter. The day was warm, the dog was breathing fast, with his tongue out, while his large tail was wagging pleasantly from side to side. A large lobster, "all alive," lay on the counter. The dog's tail was wagged once or twice dangerously over the lobster. Another wag, and it was "just once too often." In an instant the lobster had the dog's tail between his huge claws as in a black-and-white vice. The dog gave a yell and was out at the door. The fishmonger and our Gallovidian friend rushed outside to see what was up. The dog was seen tearing down a crowded street, people making way for it amidst cries of "mad dog." Every time the lobster got on the ground served only to make him hold on the tighter. "Oh! man, whistle on ye!" cried the fishmonger in despair. "Whistle on ma dog!" said the Gallovidian indignantly, afraid of losing his favourite, and evidently thinking that the lobster, not the dog, was the cause of all the trouble. "Whistle on ma dog? Whistle on yer parson, ye beggar!"—Galloway Gazette.

By a Proclamation in the Official Gazette.

A new regimental division is formed, to comprise territorial limits of the electoral district of Centre Toronto, and Lieut.-Colonel Gzowski is gazetted Lieut.-Colonel of the new division.

KEFFERS & CO.'S STORE, Beaverton, was burned on Sunday morning.

Mr. Gladstone on the Washington Treaty.

At the Thanksgiving dinner given by Cyrus W. Field, in London, on Thursday night, Mr. Gladstone responded at considerable length to the toast of "England and the United States." After reference to the past history of both countries, he said all occasions of difference and controversy between the two countries had been in their nature temporary, and capable of settlement by intelligent good sense and friendly temper, and the time of that settlement had now arrived, when we can speak of it as a thing happily accomplished. The sentiment between the two countries, tending towards fraternal union, which heretofore has been liable to opposite and conflicting currents, can now move with a full and equal flow, with nothing to interrupt it or fix its duration.

The Crisis in France.

Affairs in France are in a very critical state. It was thought that the resolution proposed by one of the ministers, founded on the report of the committee on constitutional changes, and which was adopted by the Assembly, would have a quieting effect on the public mind, and tend to remove the difficulties which had sprung up between President Thiers and the opposing factions. On Saturday, however, a Conservative member of the Assembly objected to the vote on this resolution being recorded, alleging as a reason the absence of several members, and because he did not consider the vote a fair expression of the will of the Assembly. On this a supporter of the Government rose, and said he considered the vote plainly showed on which side the Conservative policy could be found. This remark caused much ill-feeling, which was intensified by a charge made by a member from Paris, that the addresses of confidence, sent to the President by several municipalities, were incited by M. Le Franc, the Minister of the Interior. A very excited discussion followed, and after some violent speeches, a resolution declaring that these municipalities in presenting the addresses, and M. Le Franc in accepting them, had violated the laws of the country, was approved by a majority of six. An adjournment took place immediately after, and as soon as the news spread party feeling throughout Paris was excited to the highest pitch. Le Franc the same night tendered his resignation, which was accepted. All the other ministers also tendered their resignations, but Thiers has refused to accept them. It is now believed that it will be impossible for him to continue at the head of the Government, unless much of the present opposition to him in the Assembly be allayed. The rupture between him and the Monarchists seems complete, and the latter seem to be confident that they will carry the day. Meanwhile Thiers' resignation may take place at any time. What may follow it is impossible to tell, but viewed in the light of the past history of France, such a crisis may lead to another revolution with all its attendant horrors.

Mr. McDougall's appearance at Ottawa at this juncture is thought to strengthen the likelihood of his appointment to the Governorship of Manitoba. Mr. John Dyke, of Ottawa, has been appointed, by the Ontario Government, emigration agent to Pomerania, Alasca and Lorraine. His thorough conversance with the language peculiarly fits him for that position.

The Halifax Reporter a Ministerial paper, thus muses, - The Welland Election was one against the Government, for certain. Ontario has not recovered herself from the sectionalism fit she has had.

A consolidation has been effected between the New York Midland, Canada Southern, Chicago and Canada Southern, Chicago and North-western, and the Toledo, Wabash and Western Railroads. It is one of the most gigantic ever formed on this continent. It reaches from the seaboard at New York to the Red River on the north, the Missouri on the west, and the Mississippi at the junction of the Ohio on the south. It passes through nine States and Provinces, and with its numerous branches controls an aggregate mileage nearly as great as that from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

QUEBEC FINANCES.—Mr. Robertson, Treasurer of Quebec, on Friday, submitted his financial statement for the year ending June 1872. The total receipts for the year are $1,746,459, which with balance on hand made a total of $2,405,494. The principal receipts from the Dominion Government Law Fee Fund and licenses expenditure, had been, $1,746,459, leaving a balance of $679,809 in the treasury, the bulk of which was deposited, bearing interest from four to five per cent. Estimated receipts for the current year, $1,527,700; expenditure, $1,699,902. The revenue from Crown Lands had been almost doubled since 1863, and was now nearly $300,000, and of this he saw no early prospect of falling off. The law fee fund and receipts from licenses were also increasing. The Province now had a surplus of $70,000, after spending since 1868 about $100,000 on permanent works, which should not properly be chargeable to the revenue. One of the opposition members gave his opinion that the figure had been manipulated to show a surplus, and that the position of the Province was greatly over-colored.

Mr. Tom Taylor, the dramatist, retires from the Civil Service of England, on a pension of $4,250 a year. Beecher says that more lies have been told about him, every year of his public life, than would shingle a cathedral. Mr. Jas. Ansel, of Pilkington, in vanishing over a fence one day last week, injured his spine so much that he had to be carried home.

Fearful Storm in New Brunswick.

GREAT DESTRUCTION OF LIFE AND PROPERTY.

A despatch from St. John, New Brunswick, states that a violent storm prevailed there on Friday night and Saturday, doing great damage to shipping in the harbor. The schooner "Howard," from Hillsboro', for New York, which made the harbor to escape the storm, was forced ashore, five of the crew perishing. The remaining two were rescued by the port life-boat. The schooner "A. J. Ryerson," from Windsor for Philadelphia, went ashore. Also the schooners "Enterprise," "Pioneer" and "Ellen" but their crews were saved after great suffering. The papers of the brigantine "Henry Gilbert" have been washed ashore, and it is supposed the vessel has gone to pieces. The schooner "C. H. Dyer" was forced on Taylor's Island but lies in a favorable condition. The American ship "Humber" parted her cables, tore away the mooring posts, and dashed bow foremost into the warehouse on the eastern end of Seammell's wharf, demolishing her jib-boom, and shattering the warehouse. The cable which held the ship to the wharf was snapped asunder. The steamer "New Brunswick" from Boston, experienced the storm off Point Lepreau, and hove to. The sea boarded her and filled the saloon. The steamer then started, arriving at St. John at four in the afternoon. The schooner "Spring Bird," for Calais, went ashore at Musquash, with loss of her anchors and rudder. She hopes to get off by discharging. The brig "Havelock" is also ashore, with loss of anchors and rudder. All the shipping suffered more or less severely. In the city several buildings were blown down. Porter's new edifice, nearly completed, for the Young Men's Christian Association, fell; three groceries were crushed; several dwellings were blown over; barns were demolished, and fences blew in all directions. Fences were entertained for the fleet which left port the other morning.

ILLNESS OF THE REV. GEO. MACDONALD.

The many friends whom the Rev. Geo. Macdonald has made in America will be deeply pained to learn of his serious illness. Since his arrival in the country his time has been occupied in lecturing, and possibly overwork in this direction has aggravated the disease. A large audience assembled at Association Hall on Friday evening to hear his lecture on "Robert Burns," and great disappointment was manifested when it was known that he was so ill as to be unable to appear. The illness with which Mr. Macdonald is at present afflicted manifested itself on Wednesday. On Tuesday evening he delivered a lecture at Plainfield, N.J., and was to have opened the Clay-tonian course at Newark on the following night. Since that time he has been kept as quiet and as free from anxiety as possible, but symptoms of hemorrhage have appeared, and he now lies in a dangerous if not critical condition. -N. Y. Tribune.

THE M. P. C. CIGAR FACTORY.—Mr. S. Myers, the enterprising proprietor of this Cigar Factory has lately made considerable additions to the number of hands employed by him. He has just secured the services of several of C. P. Reid's best workmen, who went out in the strike which lately took place in that establishment in Toronto. He has now altogether, men and boys, a force of fifteen hands, some of whom are the best cigar makers in the Dominion. He has also purchased a stock of the finest tobacco, and will now be able to fill all orders with his very superior cigars, which have attained such a high and well deserved reputation. He expects soon to enlarge his factory and double the number of his hands. The evidence of prosperity is very gratifying. Mr. Myers requests us to notify parties from the country requiring cigars to order them through Messrs Massie Paterson & Co.

CHAPTER XXVIII.
THE DEATH OF WALLEY.

One swift look Walley sent round the room, and in a momentary passage those who stood by the bed, then manifesting either hesitation, confusion, or bewilderment, he bounded into a sitting posture, and wildly exclaimed—

"Oh, tell me," cried the man with still wilder earnestness. "For God's sake tell me if the child perished with the rest!"

The doctor was the first to regain his presence of mind, and to understand the exact state of mental condition to which Walley had awoke. With a quick start he advanced a step nearer the bed and answered—

"Yes, the child is saved."
"Thank heaven!" grasped the man, falling back on the pillow with a long sigh. "I need not ask if the rest are drowned. I know they are. I saw master washed away with the Captain and the others when the ship broke, and my poor mistress died after we got on the rocks. I was left Georgey up as well as I could, and tried to keep him warm on my knee, but after hours of cold and darkness, horror came, and I suppose I fainted, for I remember no more."

The friends exchanged significant glances, but no one spoke; only George's gleaming eyes, and his face flushing and paling, showed the intensity of his feelings. Harry's eager glance showed also the excitement he could scarcely suppress.

Manby beckoned to the nurse to hand him the bowl of warm nourishment she had been preparing, and, holding it to Walley's lips, he said—

"Drink this."
The man readily obeyed, and drank a large portion of it. When he had done so he looked round.

"Where is Georgey?" he asked. "If he is awake do let him come, for I know he will want me, poor boy."
"You will see him presently," replied the doctor, as he steadily regarded his patient, holding his finger on his pulse.

"Oh, I know his grief must be terrible," went on Walley. "His parents—both dead—no one to protect him or care for him but me. Had but my poor, dear mistress, his mother, been preserved, it would not have been so bad. But both gone—both gone. God help him and me too."

"Keep yourself quiet for a minute," said the doctor, and quietly moved to the door, motioning to George and Harry to follow him.

"Now," said Manby when they reached the room below, "this is precisely what I expected. His mind has begun to work at the point at which it ceased its action twenty years ago. It is to him just as if he had been unconscious or sound asleep for a few hours. He considers, I have no doubt, that this is but the morning after the wreck, that the body of his mistress is not yet buried, and that he is to see the child as he saw him last."

"How, then, are we to undeceive him?" said George. "The shock might overwhelm him in his present weak state if the truth were told him. Shall we wait till he is stronger?"

"He will never be stronger," said the doctor, very quietly. "The man has but few hours to live."

This startling statement so shocked George that he could not speak, but Harry impulsively exclaimed—

"Good heaven, then, if that be so no time should be lost in getting from him what we so wish to know—who George's parents were."

"That is exactly my opinion, and I asked you from the room to tell you so. As to his shock overwhelming him, there is little fear of that, or if it does, his state is such that any shock he may receive from a knowledge of truth can do nothing more than accelerate the issue by an hour or two. Should we therefore, for the sake of prolonging for that brief time an existence which is no longer of value, lose the all-important information which he is able to give?"

"Most certainly not," returned Harry. "I would not risk such a thing by delaying one moment. You would not do so either, George, would you?"

"If it be as Manby says, I would not," answered George. "Besides, from the words he has already spoken, he will be satisfied rather than otherwise at the opportunity of giving the information. But could the information not be got from him without letting him know that he has been for twenty years a maniac and in a lunatic asylum?"

The doctor mused for a moment. "We can try," he said, "but I fear not. He wants to see the child, and how can we evade his wish? However, we can make the attempt, and if we must tell him the truth we shall do so as quietly as possible."

They reconsecrated the stairs; and at every upward step the wild beating and throbbing of George's heart increased, for the moment had evidently come when the mystery of his life was to be unveiled and his parentage revealed. In prospect of this momentous revelation his emotion was beyond description, and in the greatness of his agitation he seized Harry's arm for support.

Harry sought his hand, and grasped it with great warmth of affection.

Proposed Changes in the Bankrupt Law.

A circular from the Montreal Board of Trade calls attention to the bankrupt law, and points out certain modifications of the Act of 1869 that in further legislation on the subject ought to be introduced. A check should be imposed on assignees by the appointment of official directors or an accountant in insolvency, whose duty it would be to supervise the operations of the assignees and insist on the diligent performance of their duty. This official would be paid out of the proceeds of the estates. The opinion is also expressed that no insolvent should be allowed to make a voluntary assignment; and it is laid down as a principle that no soon as the creditors are certain that an estate cannot pay twenty shillings in the pound it should pass into the hands of the assignees without delay. It is recommended also that no insolvent should be discharged by the judge unless his estate pays a minimum dividend of a certain specified per centage. What that per centage will be is a point on which there will be differences of opinion. We predict that the success of the new act, if one is passed—as it most likely will be—will hinge chiefly on the wisdom and dealing with the discharged. Indiscriminate discharges have brought the act into contempt, and at the moment endanger its existence more than anything else. Let the Board of Trade take hold of this matter in all earnestness and give the Government the full advantage of their views, so that the next act may be as perfect as possible.—Monetary Times.

CASH!
TREMENDOUS SUCCESS!
Ready Pay Principle Victorious!

THE NEW STORE
"CASH" is now doing Double the Amount of Trade for Ready Pay that any Credit Establishment in Guelph is doing.
WHY?
Because for Ready Pay a small profit only is asked, the money is turned over five times when Ready Pay is made, but the credit system entails an extra per centage added in marking goods, in order to guard against bad debts. The man who gives credit cannot buy his goods as well as the man who does not.

WHY?
Because he has to buy his stock on credit, and is thereby deprived of the large saving to be made by buying for cash, but the man who sells for ready pay has the money in hand when he goes to market, and can take every benefit that the trade will offer. Such being the case, who can wonder at the great rush there is going on at present at the new store. "CASH" is creating quite a panic among the slow coaches who have been living at their ease on large profits, and he is now going to make a shaking among the dry bones.
Hurry up with your money. Don't forget the spot.

Canada Southern Railway.

We give below a statement of the progress of work on the Canada Southern Railway up to the end of last week.

On the main line of the road, at Fort Erie, 21 miles of track is laid, and one-half of it ballasted.

On the St. Clair branch of the road, which is 61 miles in length, 34 miles of track is laid, and a third of it ballasted.

Here is one of the soundest temperance arguments we ever came across. The only temperance railroad in the United States—indeed, in the world—is said to be the Marietta and Pittsburg Railroad, running from Marietta and Cambridge, a distance of fifty-nine miles.

EXHAUSTION and degeneration follow the excessive use of the senses, without due intervals of rest for repair.
