Trapped on Top of a Hill

Northumbrians Placed in a Position Where They Could Not Be Supported.

Clements Was Forced to Destroy Much Ammunition and Transport.

London, Dec. 15.—Lord Kitchener, under date of December 15, reports to the war office from Pretoria as follows: "Clements has come to see me. He says the four companies of the Northumbrians held out on the hills long after their ammunition had been used up, and still greater wonder that such excellent results have been attained. He says it is his duty and interest in a good cause will overcome many an obstacle. With this condition of things, the earnest Sunday school teacher is always the lookout for some line that will render the task more productive of good."

The church has given much consideration to the subject of "Teacher Training." The Fourth General Council of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, in 1888, recommended that "the church courts should provide adequate means of giving instruction to the young men of the church, and that they should be trained as Sabbath school teachers."

Rev. Dr. Worden, superintendent of Sunday school work in the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., (North), says that the most profound need is a normal class in every church, presided over by the pastor.

Our assembly's Sunday school committee, which recently met, emphasized the idea that the normal class should be organized to train their own Sunday school teachers. As a step in this direction, the various colleges have been asked to give special instructions for the purpose of fitting Sunday school students for work in their prospective fields of labor.

The terminal point on the international boundary, and the route is the identical one embraced in the previous year's expedition. The route is the identical one embraced in the previous year's expedition.

Further, it is recommended that "teacher training" classes be organized in connection with every school where possible. The pastor or some one who has had a special training for this work should be the overseer of a variety of text books have been published for use in such normal work.

There is before the "Supplemental Lessons for the Sunday School" by Dr. Hurbit, which may be ordered through any book firm; also Prof. Hammill's "Normal Bible and Training Lessons," which may be had from W. B. Jacobs, 132 Le Salle street, Chicago. Two books for 25 cents. Prof. Hammill's books, while not satisfactory in every way, are by far the best. Each book contains a course of 24 lessons on Bible instruction and normal training, and would be very helpful to a class meeting upon normal study. It would be well for the teaching class in every school to organize a class for the winter, and get the members of the institute to help in the work. It is possible to join it, who would in this way be fitted in some measure for future teaching. Other books are published by Prof. Foss, Mr. Smalroth and Dr. Wharton. Dewet Has Again Escaped

Though Twice Repulsed He Breaks Through the British Lines.

The Boers, who numbered 1,500 to 2,000 men, were surrounded at a point on the Orange river, and after a very heavy loss in killed and wounded.

A number of Boers were captured. Dewet's force was twice repulsed before it broke through the British lines in the neighborhood of Tlaba Nchu.

In the third attack Dewet led in person. With a few determined followers he charged and broke the British lines, the rest of the command following. He was forced, however, to leave in the hands of the British a 15-pounder and 15 wagons with ammunition and stores.

TEACHER TRAINING.

As It Relates to Sabbath Schools Discussed by Rev. John A. Logan.

It is not the intention of this article to enter upon a discussion of the art of teaching, but rather to discuss the plans proposed to assist teachers in their work. It is admitted that the most serious need of the church is the most elementary character. Such methods as are used would be most conducive to the best results.

Under the circumstances, the wonder is that so many devoted people are ready and willing to undertake it, and still greater wonder that such excellent results have been attained. He says it is his duty and interest in a good cause will overcome many an obstacle. With this condition of things, the earnest Sunday school teacher is always the lookout for some line that will render the task more productive of good.

6-inch in the Terrible are 708; the next best record is that of the Mar-2, which ship made 60 per cent. of hits. The Terrible has two 9.2's and twelve 6-inch guns; the shooting from the former was a brilliant record, having made 60 per cent. of hits.

Four captains of guns made "possible" two with 10, and two with 12 rounds. The target was repeatedly knocked away, the firing taking two days to complete as a consequence; and as it only takes five minutes of time for all the runs, many hours were spent repairing targets each day.

The "misses" would have been "hits" had a ship been substituted for the target, and a gunboat would have been sufficient to have bagged every shell fired.

Every shot was photographed, and two lieutenants acted as umpires.

DIVING FEATS. Without Artificial Aid Japanese Work in 23 Fathoms of Water.

Japanese engaged in saving the cargo of the steamer Calandine, which was derided off Iwohima, have been performing some great diving feats, of which the following are a few: One diver, named Iwano, has been seen to descend to a depth of 23 fathoms and recover various articles of cargo from the sunken vessel, which is lying in 23 fathoms of water.

On the arrival at the scene, all the physicians could see were two sampans, a few men, and sundry ropes or leading lines. The first to disappear was Fujimatsu Sakamoto, who for the space of a few minutes sat on the gunwale of the sampan, while his assistants, who were small boys, pulled on the ropes. There was also a weighted line, which he held, supporting about 35 pounds of lead. He was practically expelling most of the air and mucus in his lungs and then taking a huge inhalation, he disappeared, and from the time of his entrance into the sea till he appeared again, 2 minutes and 25 seconds had elapsed. In the meantime he had fastened cords round a large case of cargo.

Yoshihito Aikawa followed, two minutes elapsed between his entrance and exit. The men appeared to be none the worse, but they were all very noticeably thin, as that their pulses rose to about 124, showing the great strain upon the heart.

SUICIDE--ITS INCREASE.

(Goldwin Smith, in New York Sun.)

Statistics just published show that suicide in the United States is increasing at a rapid rate...

It does not appear that there is any philippic classification of the modes of suicide chosen by different persons...

Of the races one is rather surprised at first to be told the Teutonic, in which you would have expected most suicides...

One is rather surprised also to learn that May, June and July are the suicidal months...

Not see that they are shutting the door of liberty. Nothing better has eternal life than in giving one entrance into life but many exits. Am I to await the cruelty of disease or man...

The object of the imperial displeasure was sometimes commended to commit suicide, and if they obeyed they partly would have followed execution. This, of course, was not real suicide.

A very striking thing in the description of the Stoic philosophy is the reference to deal with history instead of gossip might have been an eminent writer of the suicide of Nero. The emperor Nero, in disguise, the villa of one of his freedmen. On the road he is recognized by a slave...

The morality of the question is perhaps not easily settled. It would be easier to settle the question of self-murder than the case of a man who would sell his own soul for a moment's pleasure. But a man, it would seem, can no more commit murder than he can steal his own goods or force his own signature.

Montaigne plays with the subject in his usual fashion, opening with a pious submission to the divine judgment which is as playful as the rest. He concludes, as is his wont, in a suspension; but in his pleading for the negative, he says that "contempt of life is the only thing which is not a crime."

Rousseau allows suicide only as an escape from the tortures of incurable disease. Otherwise, he says, it is a robbery of the human race, to which all its members are bound by ties of sympathy.

The religious question, as one between man and his Maker and one dependent on the moral law, is a question of duty. It is said to be in the same state of doubt and suspense as other religious questions in this world of perplexity and ecclesiastical dissension.

CHRISTIAN SOCIALISM. Lecture by Rev. Elliott S. Rowe at A. O. U. W. Hall Last Evening.

The Rev. E. S. Rowe gave a very interesting lecture on "Christian Socialism" in the A. O. U. W. hall last night. He was in the chair, and there was a large and appreciative audience present.

The lecturer said that Christian socialism stood at the present time as an expression of the fruits of the Christian religion. He said that the idea that Christianity would express itself in society, the basis of true socialism must be broached.

The speaker then explained the meaning of the word "socialist." The individualistic theory was, every man for himself. The individualistic theory in regard to social life was that a man could go on with his business as long as it did not interfere with the state.

Maglesberg Defeat Attributed to Gross Blundering by Someone in Command.

Unpatriotic Members of Parliament May Be "Sent to Coventry."

Session Just Closed Has Been Marked by Bitter Personal Alliances.

London, Dec. 15.—The astounding and utterly unexpected reverse of the British at Maglesberg, the news of which was broken to the nation exactly one year after Gen. Buller's defeat at Colenso, utterly dispelled the hope that the war in South Africa is nearly ended, and shatters the myth that a general operations there were merely of a guerilla nature.

Action Commenced to Decide the Ownership of Deadman's Island.

History of the Case Which Has Played a Part in Politics.

During the present week an interesting case arising out of the title to certain lands will be tried in the Supreme Court sitting here. It issues have been raised beyond the matter of the title to the island in Burrard Inlet known as Deadman's Island. From the outset it figured in political affairs, and while, as a party question, it raged hottest in Vancouver, where municipal and every other sort of election for some time was affected by the Deadman's Island question—so much so that a seat on the school board or the office of poundkeeper depended upon the candidates' pronouncement of this shibboleth—it also found far wider sphere for its influence.

Brighton, Ills., Dec. 15.—Five men posing as tramps were permitted to lodge in the lockup here last evening. During the night they overpowered the town marshal, locked him in a cell and broke into the private bank of Blodgett. Several charges of dynamite were exploded, but the vault, which contained a large sum, was not touched. The safe was blown open and several hundred dollars secured. The men were entering another store when an alarm of fire was sounded. Meantime the robbers escaped. A posse with bloodhounds is in pursuit.

In nearly all cases easy terms can be obtained. We have many properties for sale not only in this city, but in all parts of the Dominion.
