SNOW AND THE FRUIT CROP

Prominent Kings County Orchardist Believes Late Snow Storms Will Benefit Season's Crop of Fruit.— Present Outlook Most Favorable.

To the Editor of The Halifax Herald:

Sir.—The twelve inches of snow-fall on April 21-22 will be talked of by those who form the opinion that it has contributed substantially to reasonable conditions to produce crops of fruit.

The bloom of this belated storm was best seen on the trees, in the early morning of its last day, and before the slightest change in temperature occurred. It was a beautiful picture seen under a calm, soft-gray sky. The newly-arrived homing birds sat long in their favorite branches sweetly caroling their songs of praise. It was fortunate for fruit-growers that the storm rotated around the north-east, assuring a full snowfall without rain. Our tilting climate, varying greatly by year in its effects upon the orchards, has indeed very much to do in strengthening sympathetic conditions favorable to growing fruits.

During forty years of interesting observations, it is with me a fairly well assured fact that upon the finer elements of the air in happier combinations ruling, I depend vastly more the quality of the crops than any set of soil conditions, important as they are known to be. As oxygen, in volume, is vital to the healthful quickening of animal life, so in their changing proportions are the elements of the air in temperatures to strengthen plant life to fulfill their higher adjustments.

The soft gray sky lingered long after the storm and tempered the air to hold in rest the healthy wintered buds of trees. The highest excellence in fruit climate lies in happy medium between extremes of frost and heat. This late snow influence on the season stands apart from our normal springs with their regular Bay of Fundy tides and Atlantic breezes. It will be interesting again for your readers to note the power and strength of this far-reaching element upon this season's crops.

It will greatly deepen interest if fruit growers will note for themselves and keep a dated record of like phenomena occurring on their farm and annually make their own comparisons with their season's crops and climate. The snow flakes of this storm fell on the already open soil, carrying in its blankets atmosphere nitrogen valuable at this date to produce a rapid growth when warmth comes in.

The present outlook, seen through climatic conditions, seems most favorable

Mr. Lenfest Ruggles Accepts Principalship of Middleton Consolidated

Mr. Lenfest Ruggles for many years principal of Oakdene Academy, and last year house-master at Horton Academy, Wolfville, has accepted the position of principal of the MacDonald Consolidated School at Middleton, Principal McGill having resigned. The Wolfville Acadian remarks:—"We learn with deep regret of the resignation of Mr. Ruggles from Horton Academy. When Mr. Ruggles came to the Academy we, knowing of his reputation as a teacher in the public school system, naturally expected fine results, and our expectations have been amply justified. As principal of the MacDonald Consolidated school at Middleton, he will have fine opportunities and assured success. We are sorry Mr. and Mrs. Ruggles and family are leaving the town in June, their popularity has been marked and their going away is a decided loss. We wish Mr. Ruggles that continued success he so richly deserves. We congratulate Middleton, and recommend that they give their new principal a decent show."

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy Makes This Announcement and Also Says Pacific Steamers to be Built

Montreal, April 29.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, who arrived home from England, yesterday, announced that contracts for two new 15,000 ton steamers for the C. P. R. Oriental route would be given out shortly. The ships will be larger than the Atlantic Empresses and are to be completed in eighteen months. Sir Thomas denied the rumors that the Atlantic Empresses would be transferred to the Pacific service and replaced by the vessels on their completion. Sir Thomas also said that the C. P. R. would extend its line through the Yellow Head pass and denied the rumor that George Bury would be appointed second vice-president.

He announced that the Dominion Atlantic line from Yarmouth to Halifax would shortly be taken over by the C. P. R.

Barrel of Money For Rev. D. J. Neily

Pleasing Episode at Social of Baptist Young Men's Bible Class.

The Gloucester Daily Times says:—The Young Men's Bible Class connected with the First Baptist Sunday school held an open social last evening, at which Rev. and Mrs. Denton J. Neily were appropriately remembered upon the occasion of their wedding anniversary, and an interesting address on Baptist missions in China was given by Col. Edward H. Haskell, who was a delegate to a laymen's convention in the flowery kingdom, and took an extensive trip to investigate missionary fields.

SURPRISE PRESENTATIONS TO PASTOR NEILY AND WIFE.

The real climax of the evening came next, when Mrs. Neily, wife of the pastor, was presented with a beautiful bouquet of Killarney pinks, from the class in commemoration of their wedding anniversary. Allan Gant making the presentation speech. It should be stated here that Rev. Mr. Neily had been let in on the secret, and of course was prepared to respond for his better half. Evidently he was unaware that he was being made the victim of a scheme himself, in so doing, as the next number on the programme had been well guarded. In his usual pleasing and convincing manner, Superintendent of Schools Freeman Putney approached the popular pastor and, in a few words presented him with a miniature gilded wooden barrel, filled with gold, amounting to $175, as a remembrance from the church and congregation.

Although always ready to respond in any emergency, the pastor for once was wholly overcome and it took him some time to recover, as he expressed his heartfelt gratitude for the unexpected generosity of the people.

This was followed by the regular class cheers, and three resounding ones from the audience.

Rev. A. N. Marshall Leaving Australia

Rev. A. N. Marshall, B. A. (McMaster University, 1896), son of Newcombe Marshall, Clarence, is leaving North Adelaide, South Australia, with deep regret on the part of the church he has served so long and so well, and also of the Baptist Council and the Union. About the middle of February, a letter expressing the high regard in which he and his work are held by all our denominational workers was forwarded to him. One paragraph in that letter says:—"During the nearly nine years of your stay in South Australia, and pastorate of the North Adelaide Church, you have so grown into our love and esteem, that it is hard to let you go from us. Not only for your personal worth in character and brotherliness, but also for the invaluable services you have rendered on the Council, the general committee, and innumerable other committees, we deeply regret your removal from our State. The churches will all feel their loss in your outgoing intensely, for you have given your self-sacrificing labor for all."—COM.

Nature

(Written for the Monitor-Sentinel)

Once more the Spring-time here, and as life begins to stir in everything around us, we seem to feel our pulses throbbing with new life, and our hearts sing for joy, when we hear the birds singing again, and we know the good old summer time is just ahead.

We look forward to the time when we can travel the old paths through field and woodland, and enjoy God's out-of-doors in all its fullness. How much there is to learn in every bird and leaf that grows. How marvelous in form and color is every flower, and as we learn more about them, we seem to realize more fully, that behind it all there is a Master hand at work, shaping everything to His divine will.

What greater enjoyment is there than to study the secrets of Nature, and when the cares of life are pressing hard, what a solace it is to tired nerves, to leave the world behind us as it were, and go to some rustic spot, where nature can soothe and restore us. After a few days companionship, our spirits arise, and it seems as if there cannot be any trouble after all, for in listening to the brood and all the pleasant sounds of Nature, we forget the discords of the world we have left behind. And then when the day is done, in a thoughtful mood, we sit in our den, and watch the setting sun as it slowly sinks behind the western hills. Its last rays form a trackless path of light upon the waters, and we wonder if beyond, be the Eternal hills.

As the shining beams of light depart, an after-glow of brilliant colors is left upon the sky, the water, as it were, of the Great Artist, who paints with a brush that never fails, pictures of infinite grandeur, which finite minds cannot grasp to place upon a smaller canvas. Slowly the colors fade into the deeper blue of night, and we look upward at the countless stars, whose "lights, no deeps can drown." The "milky way," stretches its cloudy path across the heavens, and as we gaze upon that field of unfathomable immensity, we are lost in wonder, at the thought, that, "He calleth them all by name."

We think of "Ben Hur" and his Arab steeds, whose names were like the stars, and of the shepherds who watched by night, upon the hills of "Old Jerusalem."

Still we linger in our doorway, and slowly the moon rises, casting an air of witchery upon all the landscape. The wind blows softly, making music in the trees. We hear it in the forest hushing its little ones to sleep. We hear it, as it plays upon the distant wires, like a great harp of a thousand strings. We hear it in the air, and listen to its whisper, and long to know its secrets, but they are only told to the night-winds in the forest.

Slowly the hours pass, and a hush falls upon the sleeping world. Like sentinels on duty, the moon and the stars keep watch, and in the peaceful silence that broods over all, we lose ourselves in thought, until we catch a gleam of dawn upon the eastern hills. Then we too fall asleep, to dream of lakes and woods and silent stars, until wakened by a flood of melody, that fills the air with harmony.

We listen, and in the haze of dreams, we almost wonder if we have travelled the sunbeam path, and reached the "Great Unknown."

Such is the influence of the great soul of Nature upon ours, that we are lifted out of the petty things of life as it were, and the nearer we come in touch with it, the more steady is our upward progress.—A. M.

Nova Scotia Lobsters

A Boston despatch says:—As was expected, there was a large quantity of live lobsters on the Yarmouth steamer at Boston yesterday morning, 1372 crates. The Halifax steamer had 238 crates, making a total of about 256,500 pounds. On Monday last there were 900 crates on the Yarmouth steamer, making the receipts for the week from the Provinces 394,500 pounds. Last week the total number of crates received from the Provinces was 283, or 203 crates more than this week.

The Boy Scouts' Provincial Council

The Boy Scout movement has now reached the dignity of a provincial organization, a Provincial Council for Nova Scotia having been formed at a meeting held at Governor Bent house at which his honor the lieutenant-governor presided, and when officers of the council were elected.

The Boy Scout movement has a great educational value which can best be expressed as "making lives". The movement originated with Sir Baden Powell in South Africa who, when hard pressed in one of the sieges during the late Boer War, organized a squad of boys to relieve the soldiers of much necessary work, a part from bearing arms and was surprised at their efficiency.

On his return to England he was seized with the conviction that what we needed most of all was "good citizenship" and the foundation for that must be laid in the character of the boys and girls. He discovered that the very same causes were at work in England, that led to the downfall of the Roman Empire. He said England was suffering from "shirkers."

The Boy Scout movement has no military training. It is non-denominational and non-political. The Scout laws are:—

- 1st. Your honor always, as if you were under oath.
 - 2nd. Honor God and the King.
 - 3rd. Do a good turn to some one each day of your life.
- The usual age for admission to the scout ranks is from ten or eleven to eighteen years.

Despondency Leads to Suicide of Williamston Man

A shocking affair occurred at Williamston, on Monday, 24th inst. Elias H. Bishop said to his wife that he would go out a while and pick some mayflowers. Not returning at six o'clock some anxiety was felt. Arthur Bishop, in company with A. T. Dodge and another, went out to search. Not finding him at a neighbor's they continued on up the main side to a back pasture, a mile away. After a time Mr. Dodge saw Bishop apparently standing under a tree and whistled. Getting no response, he hurried and found the unfortunate man hanging to a tree by the neck. He was cut down and at once conveyed to his house. Mr. Bishop was fifty-three years of age and married about one year ago. His wife, with two brothers and two sisters survive. Some time last year he suffered from a stroke of paralysis and went to Boston for treatment, but not obtaining relief he returned. Since then he had become despondent.

ANNEXATION TALK IS BOSH

Says President Taft in an Address Before Newspaper Men.—Providence Intended Separation Socially and Commercially Should Be Only That of Geographical Distance.

New York, April 27.—Reciprocity with Canada must be adopted now or never and must stand or fall by its own terms, so declared President Taft in an address at the Waldorf Astoria tonight at the fourth annual joint banquet of the Associated Press and the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

His address was the first of a series in which he plans to evoke public sentiment in support of his policies, and he appealed to the company of editors and newspaper owners, gathered from the length and the breadth of the land, to impress in the public mind that reciprocity should stand alone and "ought not to be affected in any regard by other amendments to the tariff laws."

GIVE IT A TRIAL.

The President repeated his argument that the treaty would have the effect of steadying prices rather than of reducing them. If anybody had a right to object, he said, it was the manufacturers. He realized, he said, that the agitation had raised opposition to the agreement. There was one way to clarify the situation, however, and that was to give the agreement a trial. If it were found that there was an injury to the farmers, they possessed sufficient control of legislation to cause the ending of agreement, as neither country were bound to continue it indefinitely.

"Another and a very conclusive reason for closing the contract," said Mr. Taft, "is the opportunity which it gives us to increase the supply of our natural resources which, with the wastefulness of children, we have wantonly exhausted. The timber resources of Canada, which will open themselves to us inevitably under the operation of this agreement, are now apparently inexhaustible. I say apparently inexhaustible, for if the same procedure were to be adopted in respect to them that we have followed in respect to our own forests, I presume that they too might be exhausted. But fortunately for Canada and for us, we and they have learned much more than we realized two decades ago with respect to the necessity for proper methods of forestry and of lumber cutting. And hence we may be safe in saying that under proper modern methods the timber resources open to us in Canada may be made inexhaustible, and we may derive ample supplies of lumber from Canadian resources to the profit of Canada and for our own benefit.

OUR NATURAL RESOURCES.

"There are other natural resources which I need not stop to enumerate, which will become available to us as if our own, if we adopt and maintain commercial union with Canada, and this is one of the chief reasons that I think ought to commend the Canadian agreement to the far-seeing statesmanship of leaders of American public opinion.

"But there are other—even broader—grounds than this that should lead to the adoption of this agreement. Canada's superficial area is greater than that of the United States, between the oceans. Of course, it has a good deal of waste land in the Far North, but it has enormous tracts of unoccupied land, or land settled so sparsely as to be substantially unoccupied, which in the next two or decades will rapidly acquire a substantial and valuable population. The Government is one entirely controlled by the people, and the bond uniting the Dominion with the Mother Country is light and almost imperceptible.

CANADA IS LOYAL

"There are no restrictions upon the trade or economic development of Canada which will interfere in the slightest with her carving out her independent future. The attitude of the people is that of affection toward the Mother Country, and of a sentimental loyalty toward her Royal head. But for practical purposes the control exercised from England by executive or Parliament is imperceptible. Canada has now between seven and eight millions of people. They are a hearty, temperate, persistent, brave, intelligent and enterprising, sharing or inheriting the good qualities of all their ancestors, and with a national pride in their Dominion that grows with the wonderful success and prosperity that have attended them in the last three decades. They are good neighbors. It is more than a hundred years since a hostile shot was fired across the border, and they are like us, because our conditions are similar. They are more restricted in their immigration laws than we, and perhaps they grow less rapidly, but they have before them a wonderful expansion in population, in agriculture and in business, and they offer to any nation with whom they have sympathetic relations, and with whom it is profitable for them to deal, a constantly increasing market and an ever-increasing trade.

"As between Canada and the United States the trade and the mutual benefit of trade will increase. It is amusing, and I am not sure that it has not some elements of consolation in it, to find that all the bunco and all of the exaggeration and misrepresentation in politics and all of the political ghosts are not confined to our own country and that there has entered into the discussion in Canada, as a reason for defeating the adoption of this contract by the Canadian Parliament, a threat that we desire to annex the Dominion." (Continued on page 4.)

That Red Rose Tea is of surpassing quality is accepted everywhere it is used as an undisputed fact, but it is in the Maritime Provinces especially that it has by unvarying goodness so well earned the term "is good tea."

Father Killed His Son

Only a Short Time before the Two Had Been Playing Together in Most Friendly Spirit.

Goderich, Ont., April 15—George Vanstone's wife saved him from the scaffold. He will spend the rest of his life in the penitentiary. Standing in the witness box yesterday, this little woman in black, not pretty, but refined, laid bare before the jury which was trying her husband for the murder of his six-year-old son, all the secrets of their unhappy home, all the evidences of her trials, which must have made her life a living hell.

She had been placed on the stand by the crown prosecutor, Mr. George Tate Blackstock, K.C., to tell what happened on the night the father beat his little boy to death because he could not write the figures from one to twenty, but the revelations came when Mr. M.G. Cameron, K.C., began to cross-examine her. Under his guidance, she told a story which for simple pathos stands unique.

Quite as tragic as her narrative of the finding of her son and her cry, "Oh, Freddie, you're dead," as she kissed his lips that were cold in death, were parts of her married life with the prisoner. She told how he had beaten her "two or three years after their marriage," how he had charged her with unfaithfulness, and harped upon it for months; how he had threatened to take his life by throwing himself into the lake, and how he did take laudanum and had a narrow escape; how he became so wild after having the grip in 1909 that she had him confined in the Goderich jail, and how he several times threatened her life, saying they "would die together."

Asked if Vanstone had ever beaten his other children, the witness reluctantly admitted that he had whipped a two-year-old baby "until he was nearly gone" because he would not put a chair back. She told how peevish he was for certain periods, and then how suddenly and inexplicably his mood would change, and he would terrorize the household, the mother and her five children, the eldest of whom is but thirteen.

On the very night of the tragedy, she said, her husband, one and a half hours before he began the fiendish torture of his little boy, was playing on the floor with three of the youngsters, who had pulled him out of his chair. "Oh, mamma," Freddie, the dead boy, called, as he mounted triumphantly on his father's back, "I've got papa down," and the father roared with laughter at the little fellow.

Any one who sits in the court room while the wife told her story could not deny that it had its effect on having the verdict reduced later from murder to manslaughter.

SENSIBLE PEOPLE USE EARTHINE REMEDIES.

We know Earthine will cure some ailments when apparently nothing else will. Mrs. Jane Slate of Gunning Cove, N. S. says—"Thirty-five years ago I bruised my leg which turned to a bad sore. Several doctors told me it could not be cured. Two years ago I heard of Reed's Earthine Cure, I used three boxes and was completely cured. I would not be without this remedy in my house. Write me and enclose 20c. for a 50c. trial box or 1/2 dollar."

FOREST FIRES SURROUND LIVERPOOL.

Men, Women and Children Fought Flames to Save Their Homes.

Liverpool, N. S., April 27—Weary with the saving of property from bush fires since noon in the east end part of the town, the firemen had scarcely got their apparatus to the engine house when they were called out for another at the southern part where the beautiful home of Miss J.E. Mullins, assistant principal of the High School was threatened with destruction. Citizens assisted in beating back the fire which was driven by a strong west wind towards the dwellings on Western Head Road. Here men, women and children struggled in the intense heat and smoke to save their homes James Morrison's residence and barn were on fire several times, and only saved by the good work of the bucket brigade. Valuable timber areas were completely wiped out, the flames in some instances setting fire to trees three hundred feet away. Four bush fires are burning tonight near the town, all caused from people clearing their lands. Several firemen with citizens will remain on duty all night. The whole country needs rain. Tonight the firemen responded to an alarm from the West End where another bush fire had crept down close to St. Andrew's Chapel and was burning fiercely about it, when the steamer and hose carts arrived.

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Healed Mr. Wilson's Sores

When the sores of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure and frequently sores break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He writes:

"For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointments, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood, and I looked about in vain for some medicine that would accomplish this.

At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are here ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all dealers at 25c a box.

Fat Wives

The people in portions of Africa have many curious customs and superstitions, and among them the fashion of having fat wives.

Being introduced to a great chief's wife, Speke thus described her:

"I was struck with the extraordinary dimensions of the fat fair one. She could not rise, and so large were her arms that the flesh between the joints hung down. The chief, pointing to his wife, said:

"This is the product of our milk-pots; from early youth upward we keep these pots to their mouths, as it is the fashion at Court to have fat wives."

"A sister-in-law of the king was a perfect wonder of hypertrophy. She was unable to stand except on all fours."

"I unblushingly requested permission to measure her. This is the result. Round the arm, twenty-three inches; chest, fifty-two inches; thigh, thirty-nine inches; calf, twenty inches height, five feet eight inches."

"All of these are exact except the height, and I believe I could have obtained this more accurately if I could have laid her on the floor. Not knowing what difficulties I should have to contend with in such a piece of engineering, I tried to get her height by raising her up."

"This, after infinite exertions on the part of us both, was accomplished, when she sank down again fainting, for the blood had rushed to her head."

"Meanwhile the daughter had sat before us sucking at a milk-pot, on which the father kept her at work by holding the rod in his hand, for, as fattening is the first duty of fashionable female life, it must be duly enforced by the rod if found necessary."—Exchange.

Kelley of the Game Association. Mr. O'Dell will have the deer on exhibition at a fair or so, after which they will be liberated in the forest back of the town.

Warn Your Daughters

The wife of Deucalion, standing upon Mount Parnassus, cast down stones, and they became women.

Mothers of today, standing upon the pure pastoral hills of America, are casting their pearls at the feet of the city werewolf, and the sacrifices become women, sometimes in a night—women who look back through sodden tears and moan:

"Oh, why didn't mother tell me something?"

Yesterday I read a letter (written by a modern Mary Magdalene—a woman who a few years ago was a rosy cheeked child, as pure as Diana, as virtuous as Vesta. The world to her was a mellifluous stream, calm and placid. She spoke no evil, saw no evil, thought no evil, heard no evil. And then she went to the city.

The letter, written to a charity worker, was no different from many others. One could print a thousand letters like this and send them into the country to be used later by unfortunate girls who today are safe and happy.

She had come to the city at eighteen. It was wonderful at first. And then loneliness came, that dull, heavy longing that grips the heart and depresses the spirit, that leads yearning to see some familiar face, to touch some hand whose pressure you have known in happier days. Thoughts of the cross back home, for it was June, took possession of her, and a mad desire to know some one who could understand swayed her usual reserve.

Mephisto, gilded and radiant, strolled in from the wings and understood. He talked to her of home of the little stream that gurgled and sang its song past the rustic bridge, of the glorious colors of the wood in the autumnal tinted fall, of fireplaces bright with cheer on nights when the storm gods raled the land, of moonlit nights in May and lovers adoring down them into Arcadia. Oh, he talked of all the things she loved best! And then one night he talked of love.

And when he had won her love he took her through the "family entrance" to a fashionable restaurant and baited her with lemonade and salads. When her fears were stilled, and her confidence in him was as beautiful and pure as a bird reposing in its downy nest, he prevailed upon her to taste champagne.

"That was the beginning of the end. In her letter yesterday she said, 'Help me or I shall kill myself.'"

For her the box of Pandora was wide open and even hope threatened to leave her.

Why didn't her mother tell her something? What right had she to let false modesty stand in the way? How can she justify the act of casting this innocent child at the feet of Mephistopheles without a warning, without an education, if you please, against the inferno that awaits every girl who goes to the city to make her way?

Before you let your daughter go to the sacrifice tell her what life is. Remember the girl who from the dregs of despair sent up her cry: "O God, why didn't mother tell me something?"

The Windsor Board of Trade is starting an agitation to retain the cotton mill industry for that town. There has been no special plan arranged, but it is proposed to see what can be done to have rescinded the order to close the mill.

"I Suffered Years With My Back."

Backache resulting from weak kidneys, a bad cold or other cause, usually renders the sufferer unfit for work and often results in permanent disability.

"I suffered for years with my back, or kidney trouble, and have tried a number of remedies from different physicians. More than a year ago, one of our local druggists induced me to try Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and after using them some three months I found a decided improvement in my kidneys, and I am glad to say that I hope soon to be fully restored to health." J. P. ALLEN, Ex-Judge City Court, Glasgow, Ky.

As long as pain is present in any part of the body rest is impossible, and the system becoming weakened is exposed to any form of disease to which the sufferer may be inclined.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills by steadying the irritated nerve centers, make refreshing sleep possible, thereby enabling the body to recover lost strength. As a remedy for pain of any description Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are unsurpassed.

Sold by all druggists under a guarantee assuring the return of the price of the first box if no benefit results. MILES MEDICAL CO., Toronto, Can.

BISHOP OF LONDON ALMOST CAME TO CANADA.

A recent English paper contains a remarkable announcement in regard to the Bishop of London, who showed such an intense interest in Canadian church affairs while in Canada last fall. Speaking at the opening of a missionary exhibition at Crickwood he said:

"Many people seem to think that foreign missionary work is not part of the work of the Church of England. After three months of prayer I have decided to stay in London. But I may tell you that during the autumn I had almost decided to offer myself for missionary service in Canada as an example to the church of the principle in which I believe."

Is there anything in all this world that is of more importance to you than good digestion? Food must be eaten to sustain life and must be digested and converted into blood. When the digestion fails the whole body suffers. Chamberlain's Tablets are a rational and reliable cure for indigestion. They increase the flow of bile, purify the blood, strengthen the stomach, and tone up the whole digestive apparatus to a natural and healthy action. For sale by all dealers.

CONVENT DOORS.

Thirty-one years ago a woman in the city took a religious vow never again to look on the face of a man. Last week her father died, but all these years she had never seen him, although he lived only a few blocks distant from the walls that held her enclosed. During these years she had occasionally spoken to him, but with a thick curtain between them. The ecclesiastical authority which imposed and approves the vow lifted the interdiction for her to attend his funeral. There is no religion in such a vow. It is unkind, inhuman and therefore unchristian.—The Independent.

HOW TO GET FREE

A 50c. BOTTLE OF PSYCHINE

(PRONOUNCED SI-KEEN)

The white corpuscles of the blood—the Phagocytes, as they are known scientifically—are the policemen or scavengers of the body.

Not a germ of disease can invade the body any more but these white corpuscles get after it. And, if they are strong enough or in sufficient numbers, they devour it.

If they're not strong enough or in sufficient numbers, then the invading army of disease germs triumphs and disease holds the body.

Any preparation that strengthens these white corpuscles or that increases their number, but will not only preserve health, but will build up its defences so strongly that contagion or infection are impossible.

Herbs have always been great curative agents from time immemorial. They have been styled nature's own remedies.

Certain herbs more than others are noted for their curative powers.

And it has been found that those herbs that are most effective in maintaining or restoring health, do so by building up the white corpuscles or Phagocytes.

These herbs are incorporated in Psychine.

And it is the tremendous curative power of these herbs that is responsible for the unequalled record of this splendid preparation.

Think of it. In Psychine we have a preparation that has been in use a third of a century. That has cured hundreds of thousands of many kinds of diseases.

For which we have received hundreds of thousands of unsolicited testimonials.

Here are the diseases for the treatment of which Psychine is indicated:

- La Grippe
- Bronchitis
- Hemorrhages
- Sore Throat
- Anaemia
- Female Weakness
- Indigestion

- After-effects of Pleurisy, Pneumonia and La-Grippe.
- Bronchial Coughs

- Catarrhal Affections
- Catarrh of Stomach
- Night Sweats
- Obstinate Coughs
- Laryngitis and Dyspepsia

Now we don't ask you to take our word for the tremendously beneficial effect of Psychine. Fill out the coupon below, mail it to us and we'll give your druggist an order (for which we pay him the regular retail price) for a 50-cent bottle of Psychine to be given you free of cost.

We will undoubtedly buy and distribute in this manner hundreds of thousands of these 50-cent bottles of Psychine.

And we do that to show our entire confidence in this wonderful preparation.

A confidence that has been based on our third of a century's experience with this splendid preparation with a full knowledge of the hundreds of thousands of cures it has made.

MOTHER DID NO WORK.

A growing boy in a Lancashire town had obtained a small job—his first—and was boasting of the amount of work he did.

"I get's up at half-past five and has my breakfast," he said.

"Anyone else get up, too?" he was asked.

"Oh, yes, mother. She gets me breakfast, and then she gets out at half-past six."

"And your dinner?"

"Oh, mother gets that, too, and then she gets father's."

"Has she the afternoon to herself?"

"Oh, no. She cleans up, looks after the children, and gets the tea for dad and me when we come home. Then we get our smoke, and then we get to bed."

"And your mother?"

"Well, she does a bit of sewing when all is cleaned up after tea."

"What wages do you get?"

"Oh, I get ten bob, and dad gets thirty-five."

"And your mother?"

"Mother! Oh, she don't get no wages. She don't do no work!"

THE MUSIC SHE LIKED TO HEAR

The charwoman, being in need of extra work, had been recommended to a neighbor.

She turned up a few days later with a grim look on her face.

"Can't work no more for Mrs. X."

"Why not?"

"She's not musical."

"Does that make any difference?"

"I was singin' a 'im in the wash cellar when she called down the steps to me and said, 'The only music I want to hear is the sound of the peggy in the washtub.' There's no tact about 'er."

FAIR DIVISION.

The two tramps had acquired a live chicken by the simple process of laying on of hands.

"Looky here," said Weary William, "we bes got ter dervide fair."

"Dat's right, pard," rejoined Hungry Harrison. "Now, I ain't had nutthin' ter eat fer three days, an' youse ain't had no sleep fer three nights, so I'll take de pullet fer me breakfas' an' youse take de feathers, spread 'em on dat ole plank an' perced tew enjoy yerself."

A pale looking chap, wearing eye-glasses and unshorn hair, visited an athletic instructor not long ago and asked questions until the diplomatic athlete finally became weary. "If I take boxing and wrestling lessons from you will it require any particular application?" he asked. "No," answered the instructor, "but a little arnica will come in handy."

On the occasion of a presentation a worthy alderman delivered himself with great pomposity of the graceful remark that he was not there to pour forth a seregonic on the recipient. "Somebody whispered to him 'panegyric,' whereupon the alderman continued, gaily, "My friend says 'panegyric,' but as the two words are anonymous it cannot matter very much!"

It Is Curable

CONTRADICTS LATEST RAILWAY RUMOR.

Montreal Hears That C. P. R. Will Soon Take Over the Road

Montreal, April 27—There is no possible truth in the story circulated in the Lower Provinces to the effect that the Canadian Pacific Railway will not take over, operate and improve the Dominion Atlantic Railway system. David McNeill, the vice-president, now declares he never said the Company would not take over the Dominion Atlantic. The Company has secured the necessary legislation for the transfer which will be made at an early date, after which the contemplated improvements will be in order.

KENTVILLE'S OLDEST CITIZEN PASSES AWAY.

The death occurred last week of Charles A. Masters, the oldest resident of the town and one of the oldest in the county. He lacked one month completing his 87th year. A little over a month ago, Mr. and Mrs. Masters celebrated the 60th anniversary of their marriage. Mr. Masters had been in his usual health until recently, but a severe attack of influenza proved fatal. He is survived by a large family. Two daughters, Mrs. Publicover, and Mrs. Richard Masters, residing in Kentville; Mrs. Percy Bentley, in Truro; Mrs. Thomas and Miss Rose Masters in Boston. The sons are John F., New England, Supt. of the D.A.R., Boston, F. A. R., Nanaimo, B.C. THIS TONIC IS NOT PATENTED

THE REAL SPRING TONIC WHICH IT IS THE DUTY OF ALL TO TAKE AND WHICH IS FREE TO ALL.

Now is the time to take a spring tonic.

Not a tonic that somebody has concocted, and patented—not one of these so-called "bitters" made of bad whisky and bitter herbs—but the spring tonic, the tonic that "tonics" and that doesn't make you a drunkard or a drug fiend.

This tonic isn't patented. You can't buy it at a drug store. You can't order it from any wholesale house. But if you open your windows wide enough at night it will come in in wholesale quantities. And if you will only throw your shoulders back and breathe like a human being rather than like a sheep you will be able to take to yourself many a cubic yard of it every hour of the day.

That is, you can get the tonic thus if you live and work where the tonic is to be had. If you don't—and there are literally millions of people in this country who don't—it only remains for you to do the best you can—to grasp every available opportunity to get to where the tonic is to be found.

The tonic is to be found in all outdoors—that is, all outdoors worthy of the name. When your threshold fronts on granite-paved streets, crossed by foul and sloopy alleys—when it is shaded all day by the shadows of parallel cliffs of brick and terra cotta—then your "outdoors" is a mockery. The real outdoors is the outdoors of wide, wind-swept places, of the places that are high and sun-kissed, of the places where many trees grow or where spreading waters are. And here flows the tonic of tonic, sweeping the earth miles deep with every wind that blows.

You owe it to yourself to grasp every opportunity to get where this tonic can be had. If you live and work in a place where 'outdoors' is a mockery, try to get away from it once a week anyhow. Go to the end of the nearest car line and walk till you feel the tonic working.

It's a simple remedy, this natural spring tonic—merely air that is pure—merely air that is clean—air that has not polluted with foul gases from the waste that man scatters so carelessly over the face of his mother planet—but it's astonishing how few people realize its effectiveness.

Most people buy doctor somebody's blood bitters instead—and get something that is more had booze than anything else.

Incidentally this natural spring tonic is a good summer tonic and fall tonic, and, though it is exceedingly difficult to convince folks this—it is a good winter tonic, too.

A PRAYER.

Hear our prayers, O Lord, and consider our desires. Give unto us true humility, a meek and quiet spirit, a loving and a friendly, a holy and useful manner of life; bearing the burdens of our neighbors, denying ourselves and studying to benefit others and to please thee in all things. Grant us to be righteous in performing promises, loving to our relatives, careful of our charges; to be gentle and easy to be entreated, slow to anger and readily prepared for every good work. Amen.

The End of Tuberculosis

STAMPING OUT THE DISEASE.

There is absolute unanimity, too, among our expert authorities (as there was not a decade ago) as to just what we need to do in order to prevent tuberculosis. We must have general public education as to the nature and symptoms of the disease, and we have it. We must have reporting of cases by physicians, and we are getting it. We must have free dispensaries in every city and considerable village at which any person can secure an expert and thorough diagnosis of his condition and adequate instructions as to what he must do, and we are getting dispensaries. We must have visiting nurses to visit the patients in their homes and instruct them, not once but many times, in the protection of their households. We are getting visiting nurses. We need, above all, hospitals in the larger cities and a county hospital in every county, and we are getting hospitals.—By Homer Felks.

THE BUSINESS OF SITTING OUT.

You must address yourself to the task of sitting outdoors day after day most faithfully. You must make it your constant occupation and stick to it as though you were paid money for it. If you do not get the idea of continuous rest firmly set in your mind you will not succeed. By rest I mean lying down in a bed or chair in the fresh air. You are not to spend any time in a closed room except when bathing or dressing or eating. Rest all the time. Take no exercise or work until your doctor tells you—no walking, no standing, no rambling, no riding, no driving, no housework, no office-work, no chores, no trips, no visits, no snacking about, no odd jobs, no exertion of any kind. Put yourself at rest in the open air after breakfast and stay there. Do not be forever jumping up and doing little things about the house or fetching and carrying. Every morning sit out: every afternoon sit out; every evening after supper sit out or lie in your outdoor bed.—By Louis Hamman, M.D.

BACK TO THE FARM

The modern cry of "Back to the Soil" has been called in question of late, so say the newspapers, by the head of a great western university. That there has been a good deal of playing to the galleries and overemphasis in these discussions is evident. But such a movement and agitation never occurs without a deeper meaning than any assigned by the current press. True it is that there is little attraction in the ordinary farming community for the progressive young person, male or female. There are many drawbacks in the lack of social functions, etc and home conveniences that make farm life impossible for most of our people. In the old days the happiest conditions existed in the old farmhouse, but the march of civilization has taken away from the farm the possibility of what is considered the well-equipped home. But civilization is not done. The same progress which has made the city house, with its modern improvements and city society, possible within the last few years will also make possible a more congenial atmosphere for life on the farm. That the farm with its products is a fundamental thing in the development of a country is undeniable. That the life upon the farm even with its drudgery and its unpleasant features, gives scope for the application of the best of modern sciences is a fact. That its outdoor exercise and wholesome food is productive of strong and healthy bodies is equally true. That its free and easy life, with time for reflection and a modernized and elevating form of social enjoyment which we trust the progress of civilization will bring, will produce an equally healthy social body we believe will be true also. If not, the whole organization of society must be false. For the form of the life that is fundamental to all else and that should be the prime and natural source of strong bodies, strong minds and pure social life is the farm community. It is well that the thought of men is being turned to the rural life to its old place.—The Western Outlook.

ELECTRIC BEANS

Electric Beans Are a Natural Remedy for Nerve, Stomach and Liver Disorders.

Once upon a time disease was thought to be due to direct influence of evil spirit and magic was invoked to cast it out.

Science has taught us wisdom. The evil spirits still exist we call them "Disease Germs," and they must also be cast out. Once lodged in the stomach or intestines biliousness with its aches and pains, or in fact seventy-five per cent of the ills that affect the human race, is the result.

Electric Beans are the approved remedy for driving out disease germs. Their action is quick and thorough, they clear the intestines, rouse the torpid liver to new life, stimulate mucous membranes to healthy action and cleanse and invigorate the whole digestive tract. Be prepared for emergencies by always keeping a box in the home.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 3, 1911.

—Friday is Arbor Day, not only a good day for setting out trees but also an opportune time for a general cleaning up. Back yards as well as front gardens should receive their full share of the necessary spring cleaning-up. Anything unsightly that it is impossible to remove may be concealed by putting up a lattice or fence covered with vines, which should be planted at once to make good growth this season, but do not put up a fence to enclose a dirty barnyard or pig pen, for which there is no excuse. There should be a by-law if there is not one already on the Town books regulating the location and condition of barn-yard and pig-pens that they may not be offensive to the public and the health officials should pay strict attention to the enforcement of such laws.

The public streets need a thorough cleaning-up now from the accumulation of the winter's refuse and Arbor Day would be a good day for our street superintendent to put his men to work.
Bridgetown is acknowledged to be "one of the prettiest towns in the Valley." Let us endeavor to have an other clause added to this, "and the cleanest."

Typhoid's Source

Still a Mystery

Wolfville, April 26—The typhoid cases at Acadia seminary are progressing favorably. The source of the infection is still a mystery, as samples of the milk used and water from dairymen's wells, having been tested by the provincial bacteriologist of Halifax, have not revealed the typhoid bacillus. The town water is above suspicion, as it stands the most rigid tests. The acting health officer and board of health, are doing their utmost and more wells outside the town, used by milk dealers, are to be examined and a thorough inspection will be made of all possible sources of contamination.

The patients in the seminary are cared for in the well-equipped hospital with trained nurses in attendance. Those ill are Miss Swartz, teacher; Miss Mary Black, Amherst; Miss Godfrey, Shelburne; Miss Marjanna Lockwood, Lockport; Miss Pearl Anderson, Jersey City; Miss McPhail, Woodstock; Miss Verge and Miss Prosser.

A SIGNIFICANT STATEMENT.

England and Germany May be on Friendly Terms Before Very Long, says Lord High Chancellor.

London, April 29—Presiding last night over a meeting of the Anglo-American friendship committee, Lord Loreburn, lord high chancellor, made this significant statement:

"I believe within a short time we shall hear good news with regard to Germany."

Lord Loreburn was relating how England had reached friendly terms with France, Russia and the United States, and expressed the hope that it would not be long before he would hear of a meeting similar in character to that held at the Guild Hall yesterday, which would record the fact that England had the same relations with Germany as with America.

Have you ever considered, that if in the course of events your family should be deprived of your earning power by death, all the thousand and one bills that you are NOW worried about paying, MUST STILL BE PAID! Are you willing that your widow or your old parents should be obliged to have the same worry and be obliged to get the same amount of money to pay the bills, even at the sacrifice of the home! We have eliminated all need for worry by a SPECIAL POLICY CONTRACT in in which we guarantee sufficient income to pay the same bills during their lives at a cost within your present earning. Inquire and see if it is not worth consideration.

ion; and the dreams of Americans with irresponsible imaginations, who like to talk of the starry flags floating from Panama to the Pole, are exhibited by the opponents of the Canadian treaty in Canada as the declaration of a real policy by this country, and as an announcement of our purposes to push political control. I do not know when that control will end, but I do know that in respect to those countries, we have taken over heavy duties and obligations, the weight of which ought to destroy any temptation to further acquisition of territory.

ANNEXATION TALK IN BOSH.

"The talk of annexation is bosh. Every one who knows anything about it realizes that it is bosh. Canada is a great strong youth, anxious to test his muscles, and in the race he is ready to run. The United States has all it can attend to with the territory now governing and to make the possibility of the annexation of Canada to the United States a basis for objection to any steps towards the greater economic and commercial union should be treated as one of the jokes of the platform, and should not enter into the consideration of serious men engaged in solving a serious problem.

"Why should not we have a closer union with Canada? Think of the absurdity of separating Manitoba and Minneapolis by as great a distance as Manitoba and Liverpool when certainly providence intended that their separation socially and commercially should only be that of their geographical distance. Canadians have furnished us a large number of our best citizens. We are giving them a large number to pick of our young farmers. Let us open the gateways between us. Let us give both countries the profit of the trade that God intended between us. Let the political Governments remain as they are. Let us abolish arbitrary and artificial obstructions to our association with our friends upon the north and derive the mutual profit that it would certainly bring."

After expressing his appreciation of the manner in which the Democratic House of Representatives had passed the agreement, Mr. Taft expressed the hope that the Senate would pass without any amendments, as amendment would imperil the whole contract. He appealed to the representatives of the press of the whole country to advocate its adoption without amendment. To do other wise would be to make the Canadian agreement a precedent to tariff revision, and such revision, it was now substantially agreed, should be made schedule by schedule.

In conclusion the President said:—"I have said this was a critical time in the solution of the question of reciprocity. It is critical because unless it is now decided favorably to reciprocity it is exceedingly probable that no such opportunity will ever again come to the United States. The forces which are at work in England and in Canada to separate her by a Chinese wall from the United States and to make her part of an imperial commercial band reaching from England around the world to England again, by a system of preferential tariff will derive an impetus from the rejection of this treaty, and if we would have reciprocity with all the advantages that I have described, and that I earnestly and sincerely believe will follow its adoption, we must take it now, or give it up forever."

Other speakers were W. B. Northrup, K.C., M.P., and J. F. MacKay, President of the Canadian Press.

NOVA SCOTIA FRUIT GROWERS' ASSOCIATION.

The annual report of this Association is now being distributed to members. The proceedings at the Windsor meeting are published in full. The address by Prof. Wallace, of Cornwall University on "The Apple Scab and its Control," is a most valuable contribution, and should be in the hands of every fruit grower. Send in your name and get a report.

Obituary.

THERESA HILL.

Sunday afternoon, April 30th, at her home here, Theresa Hill passed peacefully from earth to the spirit world. She came home from Portland, Maine, about sixteen months ago, for rest and recuperation; but she gradually weakened until for the past few months she was compelled to keep her bed, because of that dread disease consumption. She was twenty-six years of age and like all persons at her time of life she desired eagerly to get better for she too wanted to live longer; but beneath that desire and longing she had acquired a sweet surrender to the will of her Master, that she always held as supreme to her own, and she was cheerfully resigned to the exchange of worlds when the moment of separation had come.

Her parents and friends have the comforting assurance left to them that she had no fear of death; but rather looked forward to its coming, and made every preparation for her burial before her strength completely left her.

Original verses written by her, and dated June 1910, of which two stanzas are given below, were found by her mother after her death. They indicate her calm resignation, as also her beautiful, trustful spirit in the assurance of the welcome she knew she would receive when she reached her Heavenly home. They were read at the impressive funeral service which was conducted at the home of her parents, Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, by Rev. N. A. MacNeil, who frequently visited her during her illness.

CHRIST WILL TAKE ME IN, MOTHER.
The light is fading fast, mother, life's sun is nearly set,
And ne'er on earth we'll meet again,
Where we so oft have met;
I see the golden gates appear, the City free from sin,
The doors are open wide, mother, and Christ will take me in.

My life on earth has not been long, and yet, my mother dear,
I've drunk the cup of sorrow and shed the weary tear,
But shadows ne'er shall cross my path, upon the sapphire floor,
And Christ will take me in, mother, He opens wide the door.

BARBARA ELEANOR WADE

On Monday, May 1st after a long period of failing strength, being confined to her bed the last four months, passed peacefully away at the home of her son, W. W. Wade, his mother Barbara Eleanor Wade, aged eighty two years, relict of the late Edmund Wade, who pre-deceased her on Feb. 26th 1904.

MRS. J. G. F. RANDOLPH

The death occurred last week after an attack of paralysis at her home at Chelsea, Mass. of Mrs. James G. Fitz Randolph. On Saturday last the remains were conveyed here, for interment. A funeral service was held at St. James Church conducted by Rev. E. Underwood. The pall-bearers were J. E. Lloyd, B. D. Neily, A. Beeler, and J. W. Peters. Mrs. Randolph, who was formerly a Mrs. Wordsworth, had been coming to Bridgetown in company with her husband for the past thirty years and had numerous friends here who were attracted by her genial and kindly personality, and who will sympathize with the bereaved relatives. Besides her husband she is survived by a daughter by her first marriage, Mrs. Eccles of Norfolk, Virginia, who has frequently spent the summer with her mother in Bridgetown.

WHITMAN—WILLIAMS.

Bright and beautiful was the day of April 26th, on the evening of which Reginald Whitman, son of M. and Mrs. Isaac C. Whitman, was married to Miss Eliza Williams, of Mochelle. The marriage took place at the home of John Williams, brother of the bride, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. John Reeks, Rector of Rosette, in the presence of many relatives and friends. The bride looked charming in a dress of white silk muslin. She was given away by her brother, John Williams. The numerous presents bore witness to the high esteem in which the bride and groom are held by their many friends, all of whom are heartily glad that they are not going away from the neighborhood.—Spectator.

WAGSTAFF—WHITMAN.

On Tuesday, April 25th Miss Helen L. Whitman, eldest daughter of Henry B. Whitman, granddaughter of the Hon. G. C. Whitman, was quietly married at her home, "Woodland Farm," Wolfville, to John H. Wagstaff, of Wolfville. They left on the D.A.R. en route to Booth Bay, N.S. On the evening of the 22nd son of the bride elect's friends, about thirty-five in number, visited "Woodlands" and surprised her with a linen shower and other valuable gifts, thus showing the high esteem in which the young couple are held. The bride's travelling gown was of navy blue broadcloth with big black chip hat, trimmed with black ostrich plumes.

BRIDGETOWN AND LAWRENCETOWN

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

The services in St. James' church next Sunday will be 8 a.m. (Holy Communion) and 7.30 p.m.

The Colonial Arms, Deep Brook, has issued an interesting booklet delineating the charms of that attractive resort.

J. F. Titus has been awarded the contract for building the light house at Hampton, the building to be completed by July 3rd, 1911.

Two stock auctions are advertised elsewhere, one on the premises of John Dargie on Saturday, 5th, one on the premises of G. MacGillivray, Saturday 13th.

The rock cruiser ordered by the Town Council for the town streets, was shipped by schooner from Boston to Clementsport, and will be transhipped by rail to Bridgetown.

Spectator.—The store and residence lately owned by W. C. Shannon, at Annapolis Royal, was sold on Thursday last to W. E. Jefferson, of Mochele for $2900.

The series of meetings being held in the Baptist church for several weeks past culminated in a baptismal service in the church on Sunday evening, when eighteen persons received the rite of baptism. The large auditorium of the church with the gallery and the room at the back were crowded to their full capacity by the congregation.

The house of Norman McKay at Mochele was burnt to the ground on Saturday afternoon last, while the owner was absent from home and the house was closed. The fire was discovered by a neighbor and was supposed to have caught from a spark from a passing D. A. R. locomotive. When help arrived it was too late to save anything of consequence and the house and contents were consumed. There was $500 insurance.

The latest postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can arrest anyone for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. Under the law the man who allows his subscription to run along the same time unpaid or takes the papers from the post office, and then orders the postmaster to mark it "refused," and have a notice sent, notifying the publisher, lays himself liable to arrest and fine the same as for theft.—Exchange.

Among the prize-winners at the Kentville horse show on Thursday afternoon last were Mr and Mrs. N. E. Chute of Bridgetown as follows:—Roadster, 1st prize, N. E. Chute; carriage horse, 1st Mrs. N. E. Chute; special prize for horse and carriage, given by N. S. Carriage Co., latter manufactured by N. S. C. Co., 1st Mrs. N. E. Chute, 2nd Mr. N. E. Chute. The horses on exhibition were reported as being of a better grade than ever exhibited before in Kentville.

The brown-tail moth men have been in town again during the past week. They have found no locality worse infested than Bridgetown, which means that our townspeople should exercise especial vigilance. Mr. Tays informed a Monitor reporter he believed the infestation of Capt. J. W. Salter's orchard came from clumps of alder or other bushes growing in an old grave-yard back of the orchard. This is the most badly infested spot in the town and the authorities should look into the matter of cleaning out the offending bushes.

The Presbyterian Witness is advising ministers and others who may be approached to beware of eastern strangers professing to be commissioned to collect funds for needy churches in America. Two of them, bearing credentials purporting to come from the Patriarch of the East and with testimonials obtained from local ministers were exposed as fakes in St. Louis recently. If the Monitor mistakes not, Bridgetown received a call from these men some time ago. They were fine appearing men of good address and enlisted the sympathy of some local philanthropists.

M. W. Graves & Co., vinegar manufacturers, are having another building added to their premises, one hundred feet long, to contain tanks for storing vinegar. Added to their former storing facilities this gives them in all 350,000 gallons tank capacity. The conditions of the past season have convinced them that they cannot always depend upon securing sufficient fruit every year and in order to supply the demands of the market they must store away a sufficient quantity when fruit is plentiful to provide for the occasional deficiency. They are looking for an abundant fruit harvest this season.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL.

Mr. John Elliott has purchased from John Dargie his farm at Paradise West known as the Ephraim Bauckman farm.

A Convention of the Liberal party was held at Bridgetown on Thursday afternoon last, when Hon. O. T. Daniels and Professor J. B. Hall were nominated to contest the County in the coming local elections, Hon. Joseph Barcroft, the present member, having declined to accept re-nomination.

The Oddfellows of Crescent Lodge held their Anniversary Services in the Baptist church on Sunday afternoon last. The members of the order marched from their hall to the church and made a fine appearance in silk hats and regalia. An impressive sermon was preached by Rev. N. A. MacNeill.

The Clergy and Synod Lay representatives of the Rural Deanery of Annapolis meet at Round Hill next Monday for the election of a Governor of King's College. After this meeting the Clergy will assemble "in chapter" for their usual quarterly meeting. Among other things papers will be read by Revs. H. How (Rural Dean) J. Lockward and W. S. H. Morris.

Are you helping to make this town a place of which we all will be proud? Beautiful homes—beautiful streets—good schools—good churches and convenient stores. We can accomplish this in only one way and that is through co-operation. We believe in community wealth and we believe that you do, too. Why not purchase everything in your home town? Thus we are all helped.—Exchange.

Three old and valued subscribers, Messrs. Alfred Vidito, Peter Margeson and Edmund Clarke have each made their annual visit to the Monitor Office during the past few days, and paid their subscription a year in advance, for their favorite paper, of which they have been constant readers since its earliest publication. Of these three venerable gentlemen, all octogenarians, Mr. Clarke leads in years, being in his 87th year. The others are not far behind this mark. Each of the trio to a casual observer might easily pass as ten years younger, their countenances retaining a full and ruddy appearance.

A telephone message from Dr. Breck at Milford brings information that the three deer, (recently imported from New Brunswick), had arrived safely at that place and were liberated in the woods. Of the three which were taken to Yarmouth one unfortunately died soon after its arrival. It is supposed it was injured at the time of its capture. These deer were imported from New Brunswick at a cost of about $30 each, the money being subscribed by the members of the Association. Among those who have been active in the matter are Roy S. Kelley, of Yarmouth, and Carmen O'Dell, of this town. The Guides are very grateful to Hon. Mr. Grimmer, surveyor-general of New Brunswick, for courtesies extended to them by him in this connection. A previous importation of New Brunswick deer are thriving and multiplying in our forests, and it is expected that in a few years there will be a sufficient number to allow of the removal of the present law against hunting them.—Spectator.

Town Debentures Sold to J. C. MacIntosh & Co.

The regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday evening. The principal business before the meeting was the passing of resolutions regarding the issuing of debentures, $4,000 to be applied to streets and $1,500 to be applied to water system, as authorized by a recent act of legislation, accepting the offer of J. C. MacIntosh and Company, of Halifax for both debentures at 96, bearing interest at the rate of 4 per cent. annually, payable semi-annually.

A Baltimore merchant has written to the Sun of that city that a four-line "want" advertisement, which has run in the Sun without change for twenty-nine years, at a cost of about $2,000, is estimated to have brought the firm more than $1,000,000 in profits. "Want" advertisements are small but mighty in results.

Every one should understand the laws of life and health. From the cradle to the grave we suffer punishment for the violation of these laws. Perhaps half the diseases and half the deaths that occur, arise from their violation.

Retribution

(By D. McL. Wright, in the Canadian Century.)

In the midst of his own unenviable feelings, Mr. Weary was thankful that his niece and children had not wakened, owing to the late hours they had kept the previous night.
"What has come over the place since Mollie left?" said he aloud. "At any rate, I'll leave the light on in the hall. If it is a ghost, it will stay down where it's dark." It was hours before the excited man could compose himself to sleep, although no more strange music disturbed him that night.

After this, now that his own ears had heard the sounds described by the rest of the household, Mr. Weary's nights were one long nightmare. The mysterious player was most considerate in not giving a performance regularly each evening, still the head of the family lived in constant dread of such a concert, and, chancing to hear the wire music on several other occasions, he fully made up his mind that something supernatural was hovering over his abode to punish him for having worked as he had on his wife's fears. The light was left burning all night long, quite an item of expense, for he simply could not endure being in darkness when the piano gave forth such sounds. He no longer refused to discuss the question with the rest.

Although cautioned not to mention it, Judy had dropped a hint outside as to the state of affairs, and various rumours concerning the haunted house were soon in circulation. People passing began casting curious glances at it, and hastened by as they feared ghostly hands would snatch at them and transport them to an unseen world.

Great was the family's consternation when Mr. Weary announced that he must leave town on business and would be away a couple of nights.

"However, you'll not be alone," said he, "as Mrs. Black has agreed to come over and stay with you during my absence. She declares she is not afraid of anything in the shape of a ghost."

Soon after tea their fearless neighbour arrived, and boldly proposed repairing to the drawing-room to have some music among themselves. "For," stated she, "it's a great shame for the ghost to monopolize the piano as it does."

Since the beginning of the mystery, no one had ventured to touch the instrument, so it took Mrs. Black quite a few minutes to scatter the collected dust and restore the piano to its former appearance. She played and sang and the time passed so merrily that Tillie and her little charges almost forgot their troubles. When bedtime came the assembly dispersed and the lounge soon settled down to quietness.

All of a sudden, as if setting up a rival entertainment to that given during the early evening, there was a wail from the piano that continued far longer than any which had been heard on previous occasions. Hastily donning her bath robe, Mrs. Black called,

"Sh—sh—I'm going down to settle things!"

Armed with a poker and a fashionable hatpin, she cautiously descended to the drawing-room, but, before she could turn on the light, she was conscious of some object gliding noiselessly by the place where she stood. In fact, it brushed against her gown. With a scream she flashed on the light, but no other form than hers was visible. That unspoken presence which she had felt in the darkness had an uncomfortable effect on the little woman. She stood rooted to the spot. Her courage took to itself wings. She could not switch off the light and ascend the stairway without the comfort it afforded. Turning swiftly, but looking behind her at every step, she fled, leaving the light in full blaze. Needless to say it burned until the electric current was turned off the next day.

"You poor dear things, how sorry I am for you!" gasped she, on her return to the sufferers above. "There is actually something downstairs, for I felt it passing by me." On hearing this news, there was general lamentation and very little sleep the remainder of the night.

The second evening, Mr. Black took his wife's place, but no performance was given much to his disappointment, as he decidedly relished the idea of slaying the ghost.

On his return, what little hair Mr. Weary possessed rose on end when Mrs. Black's experience was related to him, and he was glad he had had sense enough not to defy the uncanny musician.

Do Not Parade Your Troubles

No matter how your heart aches, learn to greet everybody with a smile and a sweet, cheerful expression. If you cannot get rid of your troubles, do not parade them, do not peddle them out. The people you are tempted to load with your own may have all they can bear of their own.

I once knew a woman who got into such a habit of telling her troubles to everybody that she could not restrain herself even when people went to her for sympathy in sorrow. Her own aches and pains, her own losses and sorrows, took precedence of everything else. No matter what others might be suffering, they must stop and listen to her tale of woe. She never allowed an opportunity to tell somebody of her troubles to pass unimproved. This became such a confirmed habit with her that when she got old, even people who felt kindly toward her avoided her.

A perfect contrast to this woman is a very sweet, charming old lady, whose life has been full of trouble, but who has a way of covering it up so that one who did not know her circumstances would never dream that she had any troubles. She knows how to hide her aches and pains, to conceal the thorn that is pricking her, and to keep unpleasant things to herself.

It is a great thing to learn to hide our aches and pains, to keep to ourselves unpleasant things—things which would project disagreeable, discouraging pictures into the minds of others.—Success Magazine.

CANADIAN CAR AND FOUNDRY COMPANY'S PLANT SWEEP BY FIRE—FOUR SHOPS DESTROYED.

Amherst, N.S., April 27—One of the most disastrous fires in the history of the large plant of the Canadian Car and Foundry Co's works took place at about three o'clock this morning, destroying the large blacksmith and forge shops and the machine shop and Grey Iron foundry.

The fire originated in the forge shop and so quickly did the flames spread that although the Company's firemen were immediately at work, quickly followed by the Town Department it was soon evident that it would be impossible to save the building.

It looked at one time as if the fire would be confined to the one building but just as it was supposed to be under control it in some way spread to the machine shop. This building which is of wood was in a very few minutes a mass of flames and every effort then concentrated to prevent the No. 2 Mill south of this and the erecting shed at the West from catching and right nobly did the firemen do their work so that what seemed at one time an utter possibility was accomplished.

The loss will aggregate from $150,000 to $200,000, and will temporarily throw eight hundred men out of employment. The rolling mills, malleable works, axle and wheel shops are not affected and will continue to operate.

The origin of the fire is not known. The records of the watchman show that he had inspected this department within fifteen minutes of the fire.

LOGIC.

Here is a pretty quibble from the new edition of "Logic for the Million" which Sharper Knowlson has prepared:

David said in his wrath, "All men are liars."

Therefore David was a liar.

Therefore what David said was true. Therefore, David was not a liar.

But if David was not a liar what he said was true, namely, that all men are liars.—New York Globe.

Dumb Man Sings the Doxology

Prayer Restores South Carolinian's Voice After Supplications at Baptist Meeting.

After being totally dumb since Dec 18th, 1908, speech has been restored to Thomas Drayton Poore, a real estate dealer of Westminster, S.C. He suddenly regained the use of his voice at a revival service after prayers had been offered for him. A protracted meeting was being conducted at the Westminster Baptist church, of which Mr. Poore is an officer, by the Rev. S.E. Stephens, a returned missionary. At a quiet prayer service Mr. Poore wrote on a slip of paper a request that God's grace be given to him to bear his affliction. As the result of a long illness he had been unable to utter even a whisper for more than two years.

It was suggested that it might be God's will to restore Mr. Poore's speech, and a prayer that He would do so was offered. The leader then announced a hymn. Mr. Poore was started to find that he could sing. There was a scene of wild rejoicing and thanksgiving among the four hundred people present when he rushed forward to the pulpit and started to sing "Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow," in which all joined.

Dr. Burt Mitchell, a practicing physician of thirty-two years, a graduate of the Baltimore Medical College, who treated Mr. Poore for five years, has made affidavit that "Mr. Poore lost his voice about two or three years ago and that his speech was returned to him during a religious service, when special prayers were offered that his voice be returned to him."

BURNED TO DEATH PLAYING INDIANS.

Youthful Play Turned into Grim Reality at Boston—Boy Burned at Stake.

Boston, Mass., April 28—Bound and tied to a stake while his little playmate executed a mimic Indian war dance about him, and "tortured him with a lighted candle" Max Tablebaum, aged five years of Roxbury turned play into reality and was "burned at the stake" when his clothing caught fire from the candle causing injuries which resulted in the boy's death at the hospital last night.

The Tablebaum's boys companions ran away in terror when they saw the boy's clothing flaming up and he was released from the stake by two little girls who carried him home.

TRAPPED BY FOREST FIRE.

Trapped in the centre of a forest fire in Boxford, Mass., Frank Symons, jr., aged fifteen, of Boxford, and Albert Morgan, of Beverly, were burned to death on Monday. Their bodies were recovered later, burned beyond recognition. Two others, Frank Simmons, father of the dead boy, and William Simmons, seventeen, a brother, were also trapped by the fire, but broke through and escaped, although both are so seriously burned that they may not recover. A brush fire started by George Frame, a farmer living on the outskirts of the town, got beyond his control and started the conflagration, and before the blaze was finally controlled more than one hundred acres, much of it valuable timber land, was burned over. Frame's nearest neighbor Frank Simmons, with his two sons and Albert Morgan, of Beverly, helped fight the fire and seemed to be getting the better of it until unnerved by them, the blaze crept around and surrounded all but Frame.

Sarcasm wins a lot of admiration at the same time that it is very busy engaged in losing friends.

LETTING OFF STEAM.

"Although she had more than the ordinary woman's provocation to scold, he said to her eternal honor that she never raised her voice."

I know a woman who ought to have that for an epitaph.

And I think it would be an epitaph to be proud of.

This woman has four vigorous, healthy mischievous children, two dogs, and a very nervous and quick tempered husband in her household, and yet, according to the testimony of all who have tested her, never in the course of her dealings with any of them has she been known to raise her voice to disagreeable heights.

Nor does this mean that this woman is the weak, ineffectual sort of person who simply lies down and lets everybody trample upon her.

On the contrary, her children almost mind the first time she speaks the two dogs, one of which is a setter pup—and if anybody knows anything on earth more thoroughly obstreperous and habitually impervious to control than that, let him inform me; I don't—obey her as they obey no one else, and the nervous husband is more quickly calmed and rationalized by her voice than by any other influence.

The point is simply this: When the average person gets angry or excited or disturbed, or wants to emphasize something or to demand immediate obedience, he usually raises his voice and, in so doing lets of steam just the way the steam engine does when it blows its whistle.

Now this woman, instead of letting off the steam by shouting, keeps all that suppressed energy right back of her even, level tones. The result is that one gets a sense of force from her low spoken words far beyond the impression that any shouting could give.

A man who can make a dog mind without raising his voice—

A mother who can make a child obey without raising her voice—

There are two people who almost always command respect from the impression of reserve force that they give.

I'm not so sure but that this would be a good test for a woman to apply to find out if she has a man or only a dress suit for a lover. Does he ineffectually shout at the dog whom he would control, or win instant obedience by a low spoken word?

Is he a steam whistle or a steam engine?—Ruth Cameron.

THE IDEAL LOAF.

Discussing the pure-bread question with Sir Alfred Frupp, Sir Alfred Peace Gould, and several other dignitaries of the manifesto, the following important facts were emphasized.

"In addition to the low nutritive value of the ordinary white bread, its deficiency of ash and lack of stimulating effect on the intestinal walls are two other important defects. Experiments have proved that more flesh-forming material can be assimilated from wheatmeal when ground to a uniform fineness than when coarsely ground. Therefore the ideal loaf should not, as is common with some brown breads, show any large flakes of bran. From such finely-ground wholemeal it has been proved that the body can assimilate about two-and-a-half times more of the mineral substances which form bones and teeth, and which nourish the brain, nerves, and tissues, than from a similar weight of fine white flour. The necessity cannot be too strongly impressed on all who have to do with the feeding of children that they should compel their millers and bakers to supply them with flour containing at least eighty per cent. of the grain, including the semolina, and especially the germ, now entirely discarded from many fine white flours.

ARGUMENT IN FAVOR OF WHOLEMEAL LOAF.

"Another powerful argument in favor of the wholemeal loaf was set forth this week by a physician who is an acknowledged authority on the treatment of alcoholism. By substituting finely ground wholemeal bread

And Take Mrs. Ripley's Advice

Lots of women are suffering tortures with their backs, when they need not do so. Mrs. Ripley had such frightful pains in her back that she could not do her housework. She tells how she cured herself. WILLIAMSDALE EAST.

"I cannot refrain from writing you about the benefits I have received from taking GIN PILLS. I suffered dreadfully with my back and have suffered with it for twenty years. I tried everything but got no relief, until I bought GIN PILLS and now I have not the sign of an ache or pain in my back. I am now 48 years of age and feel as well as I ever did in my life. ity into their own hands. Train them in all right ways, but do not be so busy about it that you cannot take time to enjoy them also, their childlike ways and developments that are always so interesting. But, above all, make them enjoy you and you and their home, that their memory may be a pleasure and a safeguard always.

LET THE PAST SLEEP.

If you value your peace of mind, do not be always stirring up your memories of what you have lost in life. Let the past sleep; its opportunities will come no more to you, and tears will not give you back what the years have stolen. Keep your thoughts on the present; that is yet your own to do with as you will, and many a chance will come to you to help your fellows over the rough road. Here you will find redemption for your mistakes in the days gone by, and through the shadowy future a star will shine to light you to joys unknown.

A SHORT SERMON

It is reported that a young man, being examined preparatory to joining the church, was asked: "Under whose preaching were you converted?" "Under nobody's preaching," was the prompt reply. "I was converted under my mother's practicing."

Did any preacher ever utter so powerful a sermon as the young man embodied in those few words?

He who is pleased with himself grows no more.—Alexander Maclaren.

They do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, flatulence, griping or any inconvenience whatever. Rexall Orderlies are particularly good for children, aged and delicate persons.

THE GOOD LAUGHER

Encourage your child to be merry and to laugh aloud. A good, hearty laugh expands the chest and makes the blood bound along—not a little sniggering laugh, but one that will sound right through the soles. It will not only do your child good, but will be a benefit to all who hear and be a means of driving the "blues" away from a dweller. Merriment is very catching and spreads in a remarkable manner, few being able to resist the contagion.

J. M. Howell, a popular druggist of Greensburg, Ky., says, "We use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our own household and know it is excellent." For sale by all dealers.

WATERPROOF SUIT-CASES

"Straw-matting suit cases and shopping bags," says Woman's Home Companion for February, "can be very much improved in looks and usefulness by a coat of cheap wagon varnish, which makes them waterproof. A good wetting will generally spoil them, but the varnish causes them to shed water like a duck. This should be done once a year."

THE GUERNSEY POPULAR.

Bred Has Won Public Favor by High Class of Product.

The foundation of the Guernsey breed of dairy cattle was laid amid the surroundings of the economical dairy conditions prevalent on the island of Guernsey. The introduction of the Guernsey into this country was induced by a realization of the high class of her dairy products, writes W. M. Caldwell in the Breeder's Gazette. First she came into the hands of the private estate owners, who were desirous of the rich and highly natural colored products for their own use. Gradually as this desirable characteristic of the Guernsey was better known she was more sought for.

The Guernsey cow Dalrymald of Pinehurst holds the world's three-year record for the production of one year 14,522 pounds of milk and 500 pounds of butter fat, making 1,003 pounds of butter. This cow is owned by W. W. Marsh, Waterloo, Ia.

In 1903. This and the Pan-American model breed test at Buffalo in 1901 are possibly the best instances of public rating which the products of the dairy breeds have ever had. In the Buffalo tests the Guernsey cows were awarded the prize for net profits in butter fat and the prize for net profit in churned butter. They not only showed the greatest profit, but also made butter at the least cost per pound and returned at the greatest profit for every dollar invested in feed.

To the American Guernsey Cattle club belongs the credit of establishing the first measure of utility of the breed of cattle upon the basis of actual production of butter fat and that for one year's time or a period that shall test the true worth of a dairy cow. During the last six years 1,112 records have been made. These show an average of 8,511.20 pounds of milk, 409.75 pounds of butter fat and 5.121 per cent of butter fat.

Besides the dairy breed test which has been referred to, the latest one in which the public has been interested is that of the great Iowa state dairy cow contest. In this the Guernsey have led. The three cows producing the greatest amount of butter fat during the year were Guernseys. This is another corroboration of the sterling qualities of the breed.

How to Feed Oilmeal.

Oilmeal may be fed to all classes of farm stock. Fatening steers will use to great advantage from two to three pounds of oilmeal daily in connection with other feeds. Feeding oilmeal in the form of nut sized cakes is considered preferable to the loose meal by most of our steer feeders. Dairy cows will consume one or two pounds of oilmeal daily with their grain rations, and during the winter feeding period more or less oilmeal is almost indispensable in order to keep the cows in the best condition for producing milk and butter fat. For growing calves, sheep and hogs oilmeal can constitute about one-tenth of the grain ration fed and prove very beneficial. Horses may be fed small quantities, although its general use for horses is not recommended.—Professor Humphreys in Wisconsin Bulletin.

Moldy Corn Produces Staggers.

The Kansas experiment station has just issued a bulletin giving results of experiments to determine the cause of blind staggers in horses. It is not certain which micro-organism present in moldy corn produces the trouble, but it comes from that kind of corn. No matter which one is responsible, we can avoid it by feeding only sound grain to horses and using moldy stuff for less sensitive animals if it is used at all.

Keep Cattle Comfortable.

There are many farmers who always shelter their cattle from storm, but there are raw, cold, windy days which harm them as much as storms. Don't let them cringe in pasture corners, clustered together for warmth on such days. Put them in the shed or barn.

Sore Mouth of Cow.

Swab the sore mouth and tongue once or twice daily with a solution of half an ounce each of powdered alum and borax in a quart of water. If the tongue is enlarged, hard and showing denuded or stripped places it is actinomycosis of the tongue (wooden tongue), and this is best treated by painting sores with tincture of iodine every other day and giving a dram of iodide of potash in water night and morning for periods of ten days with two weeks' intermission.

Treatment For Cowpox.

Wash affected udder twice daily with a solution of half an ounce of hypochlorite soda in a quart of water and apply balsam of Peru to sores as found necessary. Isolate the cow. The disease spreads by means of the milkers' hands.

Pasture Makes Cheap Pork.

The Iowa experiment station was able to make 750 pounds of gain on hogs from one acre of clover, and it was estimated by the station that by the use of plenty of pasture gains could be made for a little over 3 cents per pound.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES PAIN

PROFIT IN BREEDING GOOD BIG HORSES.

In breeding horse sound parents are necessary for the production of sound offspring. Soundness in one parent should not be trusted to eliminate unsoundness in the other, says the Kansas Farmer. One or both may have beauty of form, and the resultant progeny may likewise be beautiful, but mere beauty is of little value unless associated with soundness and good wearing qualities. That "like produces like" is the well known law in breeding. The use of unsound stallions and mares in breeding operations, whether for the market or for farm stock, will produce unsound horses to offer on the market for the small, discriminating prices paid for such animals or with the equally unsatisfactory result of raising horses that are hardly worth their keep.

An unsound stallion, no matter how handsome in conformation, how well he may be bred or how many prizes he may have won, should be overlooked positively by the owner of a good mare. Transmissible diseases in a stallion will develop in the offspring. The stud requires in the main are sound eyes, hearing and wind. Spavins, sidebones, ringbones, stringhalt, St. Vitus dance (chorea) and contagious diseases must be religiously guarded against. A certificate of soundness signed by a qualified and reputable veterinarian would not be more than a reasonable demand from the breeder. This, however, is but one side of the matter. The mare must also be sound. Among other things, a work-out, maimed, blind, halt or otherwise unsound mare, no matter how good she has been, is not fit for breeding purposes, on the basis that "she is good for nothing else." This policy is not only absurd, but costly.

The Percheron stallion Fanfaran, herewith illustrated, is said to be the only champion stallion ever imported from France. He is said by excellent judges to rank among the greatest living draft stallions. He won first prize and championship at the Minnesota fair and was also a winner at Wisconsin state fair.

The draft horse is par excellence the horse for the farmer to raise. Only the blood of the best draft breeds and the heaviest and best boned stallions are suitable. Even then the demand for extreme weights necessitates the use of large mares that are good milkers. In no other way can colts be produced with sufficient bone and feeding quality to attain the size and finish demanded by the markets. Even then, as before stated, the youngsters must be supplied with the best of feed in large amounts from the very first. Only the best blood must be used, and then every effort must be made to keep the horse gaining from the first if he is to top the market.

Origin of Polled Jerseys.

It is said that the first Polled Jersey, Daisy I, was taken as a calf from Lebanon, N. H., to Newark, O. She was the granddaughter of a polled cow, said to have been imported from the island of Jersey by Professor Hadlock. United with a horned bull, this cow produced a daughter named Jose, an animal with small horns, which, from a horned Jersey bull, brought forth Daisy. This variety first attracted attention in 1901, when a Polled Jersey, Nubbin Ridge Queen XXXVII, bred at the Pan-American to be the richest milkier of the fifty cows of the ten breeds represented.—Country Gentleman.

THEY KNOW NOT THE HARBOR WHO KNOW NOT THE DEEP.

The ships now in the harbor lie asleep
And have forgot how sea-wind puffs the sails
There cast upon the decks. Yonder the deep
Lies brooding and the lost gull weakly flails

The calm with listless wing, that fain would be
Wet with the spindrift of a scudding prow.
He sickens, pale Odysseus of the sea
Shaped for the storm o'er windless waters now.

So have I fallen in thine arms asleep,
And my soul sickens and I restless lie
Adventure-struck and hungry for the sweep
Of rhythmic oars and islands drifting by.

I waken, let me go! It is not pride:
Bright Lucifer into the darkness hurled
Was happier than angels quiet-eyed.
God in me urges: yonder glooms the world.

The sailor seeks the haven but a day,
His life spills on the sea; then sweeter sleep,
And dearer thou for yearnings far away;
They know not harbors who know not the deep.

KING GEORGE V. ON THE ENGLISH BIBLE.

New York, April 25—King George V., of Great Britain, sent a special message to the Tercentenary Bible celebration in Carnegie hall to-night. It was dated "Buckingham Palace," and was read by the British ambassador, James Bryce. The king said:—"I rejoice that America and England should join in commemorating the publication, 300 years ago, of that version of Holy Scriptures which has so long held its own among English-speaking peoples. Its circulation in our homes has done more perhaps than anything else on the earth to promote among old and young, the moral and religious welfare on either side of the Atlantic. The version which bears King James' name is so clearly interwoven in the history of British and American life that it is right we should thank God for it together. I congratulate the president and people of the United States upon their share in this, our common heritage."

FELL INTO WELL AND DROWNED.

LUNENBURG, April 27.—Mrs. Enos Crooks was yesterday found drowned in a well in her kitchen cellar. Some planks were loose about the curb and the unfortunate woman is believed to have accidentally fallen into the well. She leaves two children,—a son of 16 years, and a daughter of 14. Her husband pre-deceased her four years, being killed on the Halifax and South-Western railway wreck at Mahone Junction.

ENGLISHMAN BUYS WHERE HE CAN BUY CHEAPEST.

If trading with outside nations is a species of disloyalty, then Britain herself is the arch-traitor, according to the statistics. The Englishman buys where he can get the best of the bargain and invests his money where he can procure the best returns, whether within or without the Empire. England buys nearly twice as much wheat from Russia as from Canada. She purchases more than twice as much meal and flour from Germany as from Canada. She buys nearly seventy times as much butter from Denmark as from this country. Her purchases of eggs and bacon from Denmark and Russia are three times greater than those from the Dominion. Of bacon alone, England buys four times as much from the United States as from us. And these purchases from other countries are increasing very rapidly. Now, if Britain, the head of the Imperial House, sets this example of outside buying, why should it be imputed to the children as a crime to do like-wise? Is not Britain under the same obligation to trade "Imperially" as are the colonies.—Halifax Recorder.

CHILD FATALLY BURNED.

Clark's Harbor Coast Guard.—The little three-year-old daughter of Mr. Wallace Newell of this place, was fatally burned on Monday afternoon at Seal Island. The little one with other children, was playing around a fire which they had lighted in the yard when in some way her clothing took fire. Before assistance could reach her, she was so badly burned that she died about two hours later.

The Gourlay Piano appeals particularly to an Appreciative Class of Buyers. The more discriminating the Buyer, the more easily is the Superiority of the Gourlay apparent.

are all of One Quality—the Very Best. If we took a commission to make a single Piano for $1,000 it could be of No Better Material or Workmanship than we regularly use in any one of our simpler, more moderately-priced styles. We could spend more money on ornamentation, but nothing to improve quality.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL LEADS OFF IN SUGGESTING A CAMPAIGN AGAINST THE FLY NUISANCE.

The Governor-General has written to the Mayor of Ottawa asking him to use his influence in instituting a campaign against the fly nuisance. In this letter he points out that the best time to exterminate flies is in April, before the hot weather comes. It says in part:—"There is no time to lose. The flies are beginning to breed. Now is the moment for the destruction of their breeding beds; for the removal of all removable garbage which is left to rot in the warm spring will prove the fertile incubator of myriads of disease and death bearing messengers."

"In an organized campaign to exterminate the fly, I feel sure everybody would be only too glad to lend a hand."

"The conditions for a campaign are favorable. The people are alarmed. You have Mr. Hewitt, the world-recognized expert on flies, living in Ottawa. It only requires a leader to direct the attack, and to show the hosts who are willing fighters how to fight."

"You as mayor are obviously the right leader I would remind you the next Sunday is St. George's Day. On that day...let every Ottawa boy be a St. George, and let him recognize in every bit of fly-producing garbage that he can meet, a dragon worthy of his valor."

It will be well if Earl Grey's warning is taken seriously throughout the whole Dominion. The general tendency is to regard the fly as a persistently annoying and comparatively harmless creature when in reality it is one of the worst foes of mankind.
