GERMAN FLEET IS SOON
TO VENTURE INTO OPEN?
Indications Point to Big Naval, Aerial and Military Offensive, With Aim of Forcing Peace and Impressing Neutrals.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—A special London cable to The Tribune says:
"A high naval authority told today of a belief, widely held in admiralty circles, that the German fleet may make a dash for the open sea at any time now, giving as a reason for this, not only the pressure of political opinion in Germany, but the innumerable reports all pointing to the preparation of a combined German naval, aerial and military offensive, with the object of forcing peace and impressing neutrals."

W. T. R. Preston Wants to Unset
Previous Verdict Over Strathcona's Life.

Canadian Associated Press Cable.
LONDON, Feb. 23.—W. T. R. Preston's book on the life of Lord Strathcona is still furnishing material for litigation. The author is now applying to the appeal court for a new trial of his action against the newspaper. Preston argued that he was taken by surprise by the questions put to him at the trial concerning matters which had been the subject of investigation at Ottawa. He claimed that he was misled by the newspaper's statements that the book was an attack on sustained malevolence on the memory of Lord Strathcona, and that it was mud-slinging, was handled previous to the trial.

TRADE POLICY QUARREL
ENDED AT MANCHESTER
Resolution Demanding Commercial Blockade After War, Has Been Withdrawn.

MANCHESTER, Feb. 23.—At a resumption today of the annual meeting of the chamber of commerce, the president announced that in consequence of the vote of the members of the chamber to refer back to the directors their memorandum in favor of free trade, 30 of the 33 directors would resign if the opposition persisted. The leaders of the opposition, therefore, announced themselves as satisfied to withdraw their amendments advocating a commercial blockade of Germany and Austria after the war, reserving a declaration of their policy for a future occasion.

IS TO STAY UP

W. F. Maclean Supports
Tarriff's Resolution for Abolition of Duties.

GOVERNMENT FIRM
Rogers and Meighen Contend

National Policy.

By a Staff Reporter.
OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 23.—By a vote of 44 to 77, the house of commons today negatived a resolution offered by J. G. Tarriff, the Liberal member for Assiniboia, calling for the abolition of the customs duty upon wheat, wheat products and potatoes. Such action would automatically accept the offer contained in the United States Tariff Act for free trade between the two countries so far as these products were concerned. The vote was a party vote, except that W. F. Maclean (South York), supported the tariff resolution. The debate which began last week was resumed in the lobby by Robert Rogers. Speeches in favor of the resolution were delivered by Messrs. Thompson (Qu'Appelle), Currie (Dauphin) and Hughes (Kinross, P.E.I.). Hon. Mr. Rogers, Solicitor-General Meighen and Mr. Boulay (Rimouski), opposed the resolution. The two cabinet ministers in stating the proposition of the government contended that the adoption of free trade would be a radical departure from the principles of the national policy. W. F. Maclean on the other hand, contended that the national policy of the country must depend upon the legislation of this parliament. If it depended upon the maintenance of the United States duty upon Canadian wheat, then congress at any time could do it.

GERMANS START BIG ACTION IN ATTEMPT TO TAKE VERDUN

Seven Teuton Army Corps Thrown Into Combat on Twenty-five Mile Front After Extensive Preparations - Fighting of Yesterday Resulted in Draw.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Troops belonging to seven German army corps (about 500,000 men) under Crown Prince Frederick William, are engaged along a 25-mile front north of Verdun in a desperate effort to drive back the French defending forces, probably with the capture of the great fortress of Verdun in view. There had been very heavy fighting for a considerable period in this district of the French war zone, but within the last few days the attacks of the Germans have taken on added strength. The battle line has been extended and now reaches from Malincourt on the west to Etain on the east, with Verdun in the centre, only a few miles southward. The Germans claim to have made important advances, and to some extent these are admitted by the French war office, which describes the battle as one of increasing intensity, but admits little progress by the enemy in today's fighting. The German preparations were extensive, and the bombardment of the French positions with thousands of shells was uninterrupted. As the French had foreseen this battle, all their available guns were called into action and responded in kind to the heavy shelling of the Germans. While at some points the French were unable to resist the onslaught of the attacking forces, along much of the front, according to the Paris communications, the fighting was sustained and very heavy losses were inflicted on the Germans, the struggle on the whole being about a draw. Important Action. The French official version of the fighting says: "In the region to the north of Verdun the German attack, as was foreseen, developed into a very important action, for which powerful preparations were made. The battle continued today with increasing intensity, and was energetically withstood by our troops, who inflicted extremely heavy losses on the enemy. The bombardment with shells of heavy calibre was uninterrupted, and our counter-attacks were of equal violence. It extended along a front of nearly forty kilometres (25 miles), from Malincourt as far as the region opposite Etain. The actions of the German infantry were carried out by very heavy effective, comprising troops of seven different army corps, who followed each other during the course of the day between Brabant-sur-Meuse and Ormes. At the approach to the Village of Haumont the enemy was not able, notwithstanding his efforts, to dislodge our positions. In the Bois des Caures, of which we hold the greater part, our counter-attacks stopped the enemy's offensive. To the east of the Bois des Caures the Germans were able to penetrate the Westbank, following a series of bloody encounters."

"To the north of Ormes the enemy's attacks against our line at Herbebois were answered by our counter-attacks. There were no infantry attacks on the left bank of the Meuse, nor between Ormes and Fromey. In Assac yesterday, at the end of the day, the enemy attacked our positions to the southeast of the Caspach wood, southwest of Aitkirch. An immediate counter-attack drove him out from the greater part of advanced sections where he had gained a footing. Recaptured Wood. The French official statement this afternoon said that the Germans had commenced a violent offensive around Verdun, from the right bank of the Meuse River to the Herbo woods, by attacking the French with many infantry regiments on a 15-mile front. The French recaptured Caures wood, which they evacuated yesterday. The violent assault of the army of the crown prince was begun by a rolling fire on Sunday, that was continued Monday morning, afternoon and night. The French brought up reserves to meet the expected attack, and these regained some of the lost ground in immediate counter-attacks. Entire German battalions were annihilated in the fierce struggle. The Germans claimed in their official communique today that they had captured over six miles of French trenches north of Verdun, had penetrated the French lines to a maximum depth of two miles, and had taken 3000 prisoners. The British front was quiet, except for a few heavy bombardments of the German lines near Ypres.

WAR SUMMARY:
Today's Events Reviewed

FIGHTING on the front north of Verdun, the increasing in intensity and strength, resulted in about a draw yesterday, the French checking the hostile offensive in the Caures wood, forcing the enemy backwards there, and clinging tenaciously and successfully to the approach to Haumont Village, while the Germans were able to penetrate the Wavrille wood following a series of bloody encounters. Probably in order to weaken the pressure which the French were beginning to exert against the positions which they had carried, the Germans extended their engagement to a front of 25 miles. On part of this stretch of lines, no infantry attacks were made, only bombardments. The battle has developed into an important action, into which the Germans have thrown no fewer than seven army corps, or about 300,000 men. They were energetically withstood by the French infantry. No interruption took place in the German bombardment with heavy shells, while the French artillery energetically responded, developing a violence equal to the foe. The action extended from Melancourt to a point opposite Etain. Heavy waves of German infantry were thrown against the French positions between Brabant-sur-Meuse and Ormes.

Thus, according to the French version of the fighting, the enemy was stayed everywhere, and even thrown back in some places, except at the Wavrille wood, where they would not have such a good field for their artillery. It is said in the despatches that the object of the Germans was to get to Verdun. They may desire some success to counteract the effects of the capture of Erzerum and to raise the credit of the Hohenzollerns, for the army of the crown prince, which is making the attacks, has not moved an inch forward in permanent gains in the past year. The action seems, however, to be more of a local one, the primary object being to capture and retain a salient which they had overrun yesterday. When the French started to rush forward reinforcements, the Germans would extend their attacks on a front of 25 miles to relieve the strong counter-pressure which was being brought into play to shove their lines back.

The immediate object of attack, therefore, may not be Verdun, but the getting into position for some general offensive later on when the front permits advances of all arms. Fearing and believing that the allies will make a decisive effort against them in the spring, the Germans may simply desire to get their lines adjusted in such a manner as to deliver a counter blow when the allies get going with some chance of success.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.
LONDON, Feb. 23.—The Germans have opened a violent artillery bombardment on the Russian lines in the lake region near Dvinsk, which is expected in some quarters to be intended as a preparation for the opening of a new offensive. On this supposition, the attacks in France are intended as a blind, the Germans rather wishing to get beyond the Riga lines before the general spring breaking up stops further their actions for several days, perhaps rendering their present lines untenable. Heavy artillery actions are reported from the Riga sector.

LONDON, Feb. 23, 9.58 p.m.—Premier Asquith found himself unexpectedly face to face in the house of commons today with a new demand for the government's views on peace. He took up the gauntlet almost eagerly and in a brilliant fifteen-minute speech made it clear that the British government's determination to carry the war to the end without compromise had not abated a jot or tittle since the early days of the struggle. The only terms of peace Premier Asquith offered to the enemy countries were contained in the historic announcement which was the outstanding feature of his speech at the London Guildhall in November, 1914, which he repeated. The prime minister's stern declaration created a deep impression on all parts of the house, and this found reflection subsequently in the lobby. The occasion for the premier's proclamation was a speech on which Philip Snowden, of the Independent Labor Party, urged that the time was ripe for peace negotiations, maintaining that there was little or no hope of a crushing victory on either side, and that if the war went on all the participants would be bankrupted in men and money. Premier Applauded. Mr. Asquith's speech in reply was followed by a score of speeches, for the most part applauding the premier's position. Two or three so-called peace advocates supported Mr. Snowden, but found themselves scarcely tolerated.

DESTROYERS SURROUNDING LARGE WARCRAFT HELD IN LEASH FOR BATTLE.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Speed, with sufficient gunpowder to cause the necessary destruction, is now the cardinal principle of British naval strategy, and battle cruisers, an unknown quantity at the beginning of the war, have proven this principle to satisfaction. Every man aboard the battle cruiser fleet, which was visited this week in the North Sea by a correspondent of the Associated Press. New battle cruisers before the war were not exactly objects of pride to their officers and crews. On account of their voracity with which they consumed coal, service on them was not popular, and a government harassed with demands for a reduction in naval expenditure had no reason to favor these refinements of the super-dreadnought school. To prove that the battle cruiser has redeemed its unfortunate early reputation, it is only necessary to point to the activity of this type of fighting craft since the war began. Battle cruisers brought Von Spee's career to a full stop, and they were the only big ships which succeeded in getting into the North Sea engines. So it is not surprising that these monsters, the biggest fighting machines ever put together under one flag, appeared at the opening of the war, the battle cruisers now form the nucleus of Great Britain's first line fleet of naval defence. There are many new ships among the light cruisers attached to the squadron, but virtually every battle cruiser in it has been "blooded," to use the navy's equivalent for the army's "baptism of fire" and the sailors maintain them show the pride and poise of veterans. When the mist lifted for a few minutes, as the correspondent says, the control bridge of one of the battle cruisers, the fastest fleet capable of actual offensive operations ever gathered together under one flag, appeared in view. There were more than 100 warships in the fleet, arranged in squadrons with battle cruisers, surrounded by their screen of faithful destroyers, occupying the place of honor but with every gun, down to the humble, rusty, but virtually necessary colliers, on the mark for a flying start if the German fleet is signalled.

NOT STANDING IN WAY
Hughes Says He Could Not Make Recommendation for Honors.

By a Staff Reporter.
OTTAWA, Feb. 23.—On the orders of the day, Sir Sam Hughes, rising to a question of privilege, referred to the statement made in the house yesterday by Col. John A. Currie (North Simcoe) to the effect that the two men who stood between any honors he was entitled to in connection with the battle of St. Julien were General Alderson and the minister of militia. The minister said that he had no authority to promote any officer in the field, or any mentioned in the despatches, or recommended for decorations. The Dominion Government had no such power nor the British Government for that matter. Everything of that kind resulted with the field marshal or commander in chief, and quite properly too. It would be intolerable to have politicians, hundreds of thousands of miles away, interfering in such matters.

Case of Mistaken Identity.
The minister, after referring to Col. Currie as a gallant officer, brave and fearless, took up the rumors derogatory to him, which had been referred to yesterday by Col. Currie. These were to the effect that he had been in the rear of the British lines three miles back at the time of the battle of St. Julien, and also that he had been seen in the Town of Ypres. As a matter of fact, the officer seen in both places was Brigadier-General Currie, whose duties required him to be in both places. The minister added that he had written to General Turner respecting Col. Currie's case, but had as yet received no reply. There could be no doubt whatever but that Col. Currie had done his full duty at St. Julien.

BOYS AT KAPUSKASING CAMP MAKE APPEAL

Are Doing Their Bit in Isolation, Seventy Miles From the Nearest Town.

ASKING FOR COMFORTS

Socks, Caps, Mitts and All Kinds of Games Gratefully Welcomed.

The following letter, which has been sent to The Toronto World by the secretary of Yacht Chapter, I. O. D. E., speaks for itself. It is an appeal which few can read without a strong desire to do something for the boys who are doing their "bit" bravely away off in the isolation of a camp situated 70 miles from the nearest town, and in a latitude where the thermometer at times "goes down to 64 degrees below zero."

The following ladies have offered their homes for a receiving depot: Mrs. John Bruce, 37 Bloor-st. west; Mrs. J. F. MacGregor, 237 Beech avenue.

Kapuskasing Camp.

The Secretary Yacht Chapter, I.O.D.E.: Dear Madam: I am making so bold as to ask whether you would be so kind as to remember the soldiers in this camp. They are all Toronto men and are doing their "bit" up here, guarding prisoners of war. We are 70 miles from the nearest town, and thus there are no amusements for the men such as are enjoyed by the troops in the cities. We have just finished a recreation room for the troops, and would be so grateful for such games as checkers, parchees, cards, dominoes, etc. Such woolen comforts as socks, Balalaeva caps, mitts etc., would also be gratefully welcomed.

Very Cold Weather.

As the men have to go on snowshoes if they want to walk any distance, these would also be a most valued gift. Of course, the government provides socks, etc., but you will realize that these soon wear out and the government only issues a certain amount. The weather is very cold here at times, the thermometer going down to 64 degrees below zero, and the men naturally have to be warm to get on.

You have done such splendid work on behalf of the soldiers, and we feel that far away from home, they will not forget the "Toronto boys" away up in the north country, who are trying to do their duty to their King and country.

Very truly yours,
J. W. Light,
Lieut. C. O. Guard Co.

Miss Una Saunders, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., spoke generally on the benefits that accrue to the nation that banishes alcohol.

Doctor Advised Operation As Only Cure for Piles

Wife Objected to Use of Knife and Cure Was Effected by Use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Here is the affidavit of a well-known fruit grower, who was cured of bleeding piles some years ago by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. His doctor could do nothing for him and recommended a surgical operation as the only means of cure. Luckily his wife had heard about Dr. Chase's Ointment and complete cure resulted from this treatment. It is by the cure of extreme cases like this that Dr. Chase's Ointment has won the reputation of being about the only actual cure for piles—itching, bleeding and protruding piles. Mr. Samuel Parker, fruit grower, Grimsby, Ont., has made the following declaration before Mr. W. W. Kidd, notary public, of the same place: "I do solemnly declare that I was troubled with bleeding piles and was advised to go to the hospital to have an operation performed. My wife said, 'No, get a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment; I did so and have used it according to directions while living in Manitoba and obtained a complete cure. For I have never been troubled with piles since, I am now 70 years of age and want to recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to all sufferers from piles. My wife has used it for itching skin and obtained complete cure." Mrs. William Schettler, Spy Hill, Sask., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment with great success as a treatment for piles. About 15 years ago I had this ailment very bad and suffered greatly. By using Dr. Chase's Ointment a complete cure was effected and I have never had a return of the old trouble. It is undoubtedly the best ointment made, and no family should be without it." Put Dr. Chase's Ointment to the test and it will not disappoint you. ## NEW AFTERNOON FROCKS NEAT BUT ECONOMICAL

Silk, Satin and Silk Crepes Used in Simply Designed Costumes. COLORS ARE REFRESHING Tall Handed Sunshades Similar to Dress Materials Are to Be in Vogue.

One expression of economy has been made by Dame Fashion this season, which is not likely to be frowned upon by the devotee, because it culminates in a new variety attractive afternoon frock—also splendidly adapted to street wear on warm spring days. The lines of this season's afternoon costumes are exclusive, artistic and most interesting. The materials are lovely—being mostly silk, satin, and silk crepes. And colors are refreshing to say the least. A pretty effect is produced by the accompaniment of the tall-handed sunshade made from the same material as that used in the costume. A recently launched frock from one of the foremost French designers illustrates several of the leading features. This model is developed of black taffeta combined with "Watteau" blue taffeta. The bodice is in the new jacket-style, crossing low over a fine white net. The body portion and upper sleeve-sections as well as the smartly corded peplum were of the black, and the novelty-revered collar turn-backs faced with the blue. From the elbow to the wrist, the sleeve is filled in with blue net extended into a quaint puff of blue-lined cordings. The finishing cut is of black. The skirt is effective, especially for the slender figure, being shirred at the normal waistline and for four inches below. The uneven-hemmed tulle is graceful and dandified only by the lines of the black tulle which carried the shirred sunshade which was carried exactly, being prettily shirred to the rib extensions and lined with white-blue chiffon. The hat was high-crowned, boasted a slightly rolling brim and was ornamented with a curled ostrich plume, shaded from black to Watteau blue.

THE STRAND THEATRE.

It was a good book that Mary Roberts Rhinehart wrote when she penned "The Circular Staircase," the photo-play version of which will be presented at the Strand Theatre today and for the balance of this week. The photo-play is lacking in none of the elements of a compelling drama. Love, crime, mystery, "the tangled threads of them all before the final, and finally unraveled." Yet with all the complications which arise in its course, one has not the smallest doubt as to the outcome. It is a play with perfect cast, with following it should play to crowded houses, for it is one of the strongest photo-plays presented for many a long day.

WOMEN'S MUSICAL CLUB HEARD FINE PROGRAM

Grace Smith and Associate Artists Provided Numbers.

Reminding one of the days when the mistress of the home, surrounded by her maidens, spun flax and worked on beautiful tapestries, was the gathering of the Women's Musical Club, which took place yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. D. Warren, at 95 Wellesley street.

"That's no 'scarecrow," replied the farmer sadly. "That's a man I've got working by the day."

REGINA, Feb. 23.

The most dramatic point in the drama which for the past twelve days has been staged in the Saskatchewan Legislature was reached last night when Hon. J. Calder, minister of railways, said that a few months ago he was approached by Hon. Robert Rogers, whose purpose was to induce him to use his influence to call off investigations which were being conducted in Manitoba into the administration of the Roblin Government.

Alleges Ottawa Plot.

Mr. Calder warned the house that he was going to indulge in plain speaking. He said, in part: "Today we are witnessing for the first time in ten years the strong arm of federal interference in the work of this house."

Attack on Rogers.

"Within the course of the last four months I have had occasion to meet Mr. Rogers several times. He asked to see me—there are others who know I know that I have some influence with leading Liberals in Manitoba and I knew that I had some influence in the political party."

Calder's Heroics.

"He intimated strongly that he had, or would have, at his disposal, the means in which I was threatened, and the government threatened. There was only one answer I could and did give that insofar as Saskatchewan was concerned, the Liberal party would have to be in politics there."

Country One for War

The premier welcomed Mr. Snowden's contention that the country was one, and would remain of one mind in demanding that the conditions of peace should be such as to secure the permanent attainment of the national aim.

The premier declared that Mr. Snowden's statement on the military situation was a matter of opinion.

The real gist of Mr. Snowden's speech, added the premier, was the contention that a genuine desire for peace existed in Germany.

Colossal Audacity. The premier, in referring to the military situation, and until the military situation was not the enemy of small nations, and characterized the statement as colossal and shameless audacity.

What I said Nov. 9, 1914, I repeat now: "I will never abate the sword which we have not lightly drawn until Britain and all our allies are prepared to make peace."

What is there wanting in clearness and directness in that? I ask Mr. Trevelyan, and the German chancellor how I can make it fuller and more intelligible? How can I do more to call his bluff and all our enemies that not until a peace based upon these foundations is within sight of attainment, and allies abate by one jot our prosecution of this war?

SCULLERS TIED GROUP UP BEAT RIVERSIDES ONE GOAL

Biggest Crowd of Season Treated to Thrilling Contest—Argonauts Finished Stoutly and Out-Gamed Their Opposition.

The local senior group is tied up, and two more games will have to be staged to get a Toronto team ready for the finals.

With McCamus replacing Burritt Argonauts were a much more finished machine. McCamus' individual work was the bright spot of the game, and his quick recovery and peering checking improved the scullers' forward line until they held their own with the flashy Riverside front works.

No scoring in the first 20 minutes and only one goal in the last period gives one an idea how evenly matched these teams are. Argonauts were either stalling or decidedly off color in the middle session.

Riversides had the better team play, passing from centre to the wings and vice versa was much smoother than that of the scullers, and this was the only place that the Riversides showed over their opponents.

It was a game worth any man's money. The 500 spectators who kept on their toes throughout, and both clubs put on a fine show.

McCamus was the pick of the Argonauts. He did the most useful work of the Riverside front line. Both Smith and Merrick rushed well to get far. Lafamme opened up a few of these lone trips that counted.

The start was not good for the Argos. Stewart went to his knees to stop one of the Crans but all but through in the first minute. He hit Crans, but Crans had only one to stop while he was resting.

Collett was laid out when Lafamme collided with him. Jerry was then called came out to clear the net. Collett was laid out cold, but was able to continue.

Riversides showed the best in the second period. Argonauts bunched in centre, but secured the first goal of the game when Farr came round from behind the net to shove a ball into the net.

Three minutes later Smith roamed down the side unmolested and lifted one into the net from under the net.

They went harder than ever and both goalers had work to do. Noble pulled round from a face-off at the Argonaut end, cooled the bunch, but failed when Stewart drove them off. Noble pulled round from a face-off at the Argonaut end, cooled the bunch, but failed when Stewart drove them off.

WHY Are "Prohibition" States? Notoriously Intemperate?

THOSE who honestly advocate prohibitory legislation as the wholesale means of enforcing sobriety, must stare aghast at the record of Maine, the farce of Kansas, and the dismal failure of the propaganda in the other so-called "dry" States.

How painful it must be to learn that in all France there is "less drunkenness than in the State of Maine" (Chicago American, December 28th).

With what a shock will they read of the increasing intemperance of Kansas, the illicit distilling through the South, the bloody affrays following secret drinking in Georgia.

Experience Teaches Wisdom

WHERE the sale of liquor is open and licensed, proper supervision can be kept, and the seller is subject to such regulation and competition that it is only profitable for him to offer for sale pure brews and spirits that conform to Government standards.

PROHIBITION Introduces Irremediable Evils

The Personal Liberty League of Ontario believes in temperance in all things, and in its promotion; we favor the license system under proper regulation and control, but we are opposed to prohibition or any legislation which encroaches upon or curtails the purely personal liberties of our people.
