Our Men Want To Hit Back When They're Hit

ARTICLE No. 5—GETTING EVEN.
(By Lacey Amy, special correspondent of the Evening Times with the Canadian Forces in France.)
With the Canadian Forces, France, July 8—There are two subjects about which there is no argument at the front—the outcome of the war and reprisals. Victory? Why, of course. Reprisals? The soldiers aren't out here to be kicked without kicking back. Besides, they have proven many a time that reprisals are the only things Heiny understands—reprisals in accelerated and aggravated doses. It is not a question of academic right or wrong, but of common sense safety and protection. The theorist who undertook to convince one soldier that reprisals were unwise or wrong, would have a job on his hands to outlast the war.
I was visiting a certain Canadian headquarters in a beautiful spot—one of the many in this lovely country of France. Night raiding had been pitting the fields not so very far away and marking some small towns.
"It's a wonder," I observed to an officer, whose sleep had not even been interrupted by the crash of the bombs, "that they don't bomb you here."
He smiled with that all-pervading confidence which characterizes the soldier of France in face of every setback and hardship. "If they did," he replied grimly, "well, we have the range of a hundred German headquarters. And we'd blow them to—"
The italics were in his tone. "There isn't a German headquarters within miles of the front that can shift its location without our knowing in a very few days."
That, of course, was a tribute to the intelligence service, and to the persistence of the Canadians in search of information.
I have been told a story that illustrates the point.
Into a cinema in a certain French village occupied by Canadians, a German gun threw a shell. Had it fallen only a few days earlier, there might have been appalling casualties. But it happened that the Y. M. C. A. had given up the building, because the rent was too high; and only a few days before the headquarters located there had moved. Result: A demolished cinema and some civilian casualties.
However, what the army saw was the intention of the Hun. A week later our intelligence service ascertained the location of a large German cinema behind the lines, the hours of performance, and the numbers attending.
A few days afterwards a captain sauntered into the department concerned. "Have you located that cinema?" he enquired. The exact spot was pointed out on the map. He studied it carefully, made a few notes and sauntered out.

One day the London papers contained a note of the destruction of a German cinema during a performance. The casualties were never officially published by the enemy, but the rumor moving through the Canadian corps was that Germany had 400 fewer men left to carry on.
The Canadians don't make a habit of shelling cinemas. But they do make a habit of teaching the enemy that it doesn't pay to shell ours.

BRILLIANT WORK OF AIRMAN.
George McAvity has received a letter from George C. Cutler of Boston, bringing news that Mr. Cutler's son, Lieut. Roger Cutler, of the Flying Corps, on July 12 got a German submarine, the U-boat No. 10. Mr. Cutler writes that he has talked with three commanders of destroyers who said they cruised for nine months in the North Sea and adjacent waters without ever seeing a submarine, and he is greatly elated that his son had such luck very soon after going after the big game. Mr. Cutler has five sons in the war, and raised the money necessary to establish a hospital on the other side. Friends in St. John are delighted to hear of Lieut. Cutler's exploit.

COCONUT OIL MAKES A Splendid Shampoo
If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.
Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and is very harmful. Just plain unperfumed coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.
Simply melt your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonsful will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and ceases the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.
You can get unperfumed coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Just Apply This Paste and the Hairs Will Vanish
(Boudoir Secrets.)
The judicious use of a delicate paste insures any woman a clear, hairless skin. To prepare the paste, mix a little of the powdered delatone with some water, then apply to the objectionable hairs for 2 or 3 minutes. When the paste is removed, and the skin washed, every trace of hair will have vanished. No pain attends the use of the delatone and it will not mar the most sensitive skin, but to insure results, see that you get real delatone.
To Overcome Redness, Tan, Freckles, Blotches
If your skin is unduly reddened, tanned or freckled, just dab a little pure mercurized wax on the spots, and let it remain over night. When you wash off the wax in the morning, the skin, almost invariably, is free of all blemishes. Repeating this daily, the entire outer skin is absorbed, but so gradually and gently, there's not the slightest hurt or inconvenience. Even the stubbornest freckles are affected. The underlying skin which forms the new complexion is so clear, fresh and youthful-looking. It's the only thing known to actually clear an aged, faded or blotchy complexion. One ounce of mercurized wax, procured at any drug store, is sufficient in most cases.

How Cooking Is Done In a Fireless Cooker
The principle of fireless cooking is simplicity itself. The heat that does the cooking is stored up in small discs called "radiators." These radiators can be heated over any kind of stove, any kind of fuel. As the heat from the radiators cannot escape from the fireless cooker, it is held imprisoned within the cooking compartment and penetrates the raw food that cooks it—will cook it in practically the same time as an ordinary stove.
This Fireless Cook-stove will save 80 per cent. of your fuel.
Come in and see how the Fireless Cook-stove will cut your fuel bill in half.

Unless Allies Are Defeated at Sea Huns Can Never Triumph

Lloyd George Points to British Navy as Chief Bulwark of World's Liberty—Striking Review of War Progress and Recent Victories Won by the Entente Powers

London, Aug. 7—David Lloyd George, the British prime minister, today in a speech before the House of Commons, reviewed extensively the war situation. He referred particularly to what had been accomplished in the recent drive by the Allied forces on the Soissons-Rheims salient, to the destruction of German submarines, of which 150 had been accounted for since the war began—more than half of these in the last year—and the part the Americans now were playing and would play later in the fight for the cause of democracy.

"He would be a sanguine man on the German general staff who would now predict that Germany could obtain a military decision this year," the premier declared, as he characterized Marshal Foch's counter-offensive as "the most brilliant in the annals of the war."

Reverting to peace, Mr. Lloyd George said the people who made the war still were in evidence and that they could have no peace so long as they were predominant in the councils of the enemy.

Mr. Lloyd George referred to the part the British navy had played in the war, and said that until all the Allies were defeated at sea, Germany could never triumph.

When Great Britain decided to throw her whole weight into the war four years ago, he continued, she did so because of an outrage on international rights. Had she not taken this decision the whole course of the war would have been different. He pictured the part the navies have played in the war, in the vast wildernesses of the sea, with no one to witness or to describe their operations, and said he did not think that many persons realized that if the Allies were defeated on the water the war would be over.

"When the war began," said Mr. Lloyd George, "the British navy, then the largest in the world, represented a tonnage of 2,500,000. Now, including the auxiliary fleet, it is 3,000,000. Were it not for this increase the seas might be barred for the commerce of the world. Every trade route of the world is patrolled by its ships."

The premier then referred to the other activities of the navy, such as conveying, patrolling, mine laying, sweeping and the chasing of submarines. It was here that he said one hundred and fifty German submarines had been destroyed, more than half of them in the last year.

"I wonder how many people understand the number of men required to maintain and man the British navy and mercantile marine. There are at least 1,500,000, probably 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 of whom are of military age. There is an attempt to comb out some of these

You Feel Fine

Fatigue is the result of poisons in the system, the waste matter resulting from the activities of life. The kidneys have failed to filter these poisons from the blood and you are tired. But awaken the kidneys and liver by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and you soon feel fine. The poisons are swept from the system, the pains and aches are gone and you are ready for work and for play.

men, but it was found impossible, for to do so would be letting down the British fleet, and to let down the British fleet is to let down the Allies. "I wish to point the necessity of the efficiency, strength and growth of the British navy and mercantile marine. During the past two years Germany has made two distinct attempts to force a decision—one on the land and one on the sea. The land offensive might have been disastrous, but the sea offensive, if it had succeeded, would have been final. If the submarines had succeeded, our cruises in France would have faded away. No Americans could have come over to assist us and the French troops. Ammunition could not have been shipped and we could not have sent the necessary coal and materials to enable France and Italy to manufacture munitions.

"If France, Italy and Great Britain were threatened with starvation, the war would have been over before this stage had been reached. I do not wish to minimize in the least the great assistance rendered by the American, French, Italian and Japanese fleets, but the British fleet is so incomparably greater and its operations are on a scale of such greater magnitude that I must direct especially upon this point. Its importance and the immensity of its efforts in the war should be realized. "Unless the Allies had been completely triumphant at sea from the outset of the war, no effort on the land could have saved them. The British fleet has been mainly responsible for that complete triumph, which could not have been secured and maintained without gigantic efforts in men and material. Any distribution of resources which would impair in the least the effort would be ruinous to the forces of the Allies. "I would like to point out, in dealing with the army and its growth, that the maintenance of the navy and the mercantile marine is the first charge on the resources of the country. Our military efforts have been subject to the demands of those obligations on our resources in men and material, yet, since August, 1914, including those already with the colors, Great Britain alone has raised for the army and the navy 6,250,000 men, for the most part voluntarily. The dominions contributed one million and India 1,200,000. "If America were to call to the colors the same number of men as Great Britain in proportion to population, it would mean nearly 15,000,000 men. "On the western front, after the enemy had been relieved of all apprehension on the eastern front because of the Brest-Litovsk peace, the Germans brought all their best divisions against us and our allies. Therefore, when the German offensive began March 21 the Allies were confronted by the flower of the German army, who had rested and made preparations specially for the great blow while the French and the British were tied by the prolonged offensive on our part under the most exhausting conditions. "Considerable American forces had been expected to reach the battle front by spring, but as a matter of fact on the 21st of March there was only one American division in the line, although there were three or four divisions behind the line which were brought up after the attack began. "The weather conditions were the most favorable that the enemy could have chosen. Our united command was not yet an accomplished fact, in spite of all endeavors to achieve it, and each general was mainly concerned over the perils of his own front so that when the blow came the reserves of the Allied armies were not available to meet it where it fell. "These were the conditions under which the long prepared and carefully planned assaults of the picked troops of Germany fell upon the British army. The enemy's object was to obtain a military decision this year, before the American army could come up, first of all by severing the two armies and then attacking the separated French and British forces. "We must understand the enemy plan in order to realize what the valor of the British army achieved. If the two objects had been obtained, the American forces could not have arrived in time to save the French army. That was the German calculation. Let us not forget in the light of what happened afterwards that it was not such an impossible effort. "How did the German plan prosper? There has been four and a half months of such fighting as never before was seen on the face of the globe. What happened? At first the German army achieved considerable success and we had anxious moments—very anxious moments. Those who knew most about the situation were the most anxious. Our losses were considerable in men, in material and also in prisoners. "Losses Fully Replaced. "The second German blow might very well have overwhelmed the British army, but before the battle was over, in a fortnight's time 200,000 men were thrown across the channel and in a month's time 355,000. Every gun lost had been put back and every machine gun replaced. Not merely had the deficiency been supplied but the number had been increased. "At this moment, there are more guns and more machine guns with the army in France than ever before. It was the first German miscalculation. They calculated that we could not do it. "We owe a debt of gratitude to a section of the press for misleading the enemy. They led the Germans to believe that we had not been able to make up the deficiency, and the Germans made their plans accordingly. "They hit here, they hit in the south, in the center and in the north where they thought they were destroying the British army with nothing behind it. In six weeks they were hurled back and forced to stand still by the British army; they were defeated in two of the most sanguinary battles of the war; they were repulsed with unshakable valiance under the fire of our guns and with an extended line. "Their purpose was to overwhelm the British army; they declared it and they announced it in their inspired press, but on the first of May they left us to go south to make another cottage for it could not be done in the north. It was one of the finest things in tenacious valor in the whole history of the British Empire. "Only a great emergency could have justified the sending of lads of eighteen and a half years, with only a few months' training, to France. When they arrived there they went straight to the front and as soon as they were there they had to face the veterans and the victorious troops of the enemy. They were not the lads who helped to save the cause of the Allies from disaster. "I wish to give warm recognition to the assistance that the French gave in these operations. After May 1 the Germans turned off and attacked the French. They won a preliminary success on a considerable scale, but not merely have they been forced to a standstill by Marshal Foch, but his counterstroke—the most brilliant in the annals of the war—has driven back the enemy. The danger is not yet over, but he would be a sanguine man on the German general staff who would now predict that Germany could obtain a military decision this year. "I do not wish to go beyond the Allied success, stress should be placed on the rapidity with which the British army achieved it. Let us not forget with which the American troops were brought over. "Everybody knows how gallantly the Americans fought. They fought with a trained skill which no one had a right to expect. Their officers showed a skilled knowledge in the management of the men under trying conditions which one could hardly expect from men who had not had a year's experience in war. "Another element of success was the united command which was achieved only after a long struggle. "From the moment Marshal Foch achieved strategic command, the fortunes of the Allied army were restored. There have been mishaps, but the mastery of the reserves has baffled the German effort and ended in their retreat from the Marne. It is too early to say that the German effort is exhausted. They still have powerful forces in reserve, but it is not too early to say that their chances of March 21 will not come again.

Wife and Little Boy... DR. FOWLER'S... WILD STRAWBERRY... Both Had Dysentery

Dysentery comes on very suddenly and is one of the most serious and most dangerous of all bowel troubles. The pains in the bowels become intense and are very often accompanied by blood. Unless these discharges are checked the sufferer becomes weak and languid, and very often death ensues. There is only one remedy to use in all cases of dysentery or any other looseness of the bowels, and that is "Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry." It will cure where all others fail. It has been on the market for 73 years. Don't accept a cheap substitute and thus endanger your health. Mr. W. J. Metcalfe, Toronto, Ont., writes: "I wish to state that we have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry with good results. I will say that it can't be beat. It saved my wife and little boy, last summer, when they were very low with dysentery. We always have a bottle of it in the house and would not be without it if it cost five dollars a bottle." The genuine "Dr. Fowler's" is manufactured only by The T. Mills Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. Price, 35c.

MUTT AND JEFF—YES, PAPER IS GETTING SCARCE THE WORLD OVER (COPYRIGHT, 1918, BY H. C. FISHER, TRADE MARK REGISTERED IN CANADA.)

Comic strip panels showing characters discussing paper shortages and food scarcity. Panel 1: Oh, by the way, Jeff, did you hear about the shortage of... Panel 2: Listen! That kind of chatter gives me a pain. There's plenty of everything in England, and what's more I'll spend a couple of pounds just to prove to you I'm right. Panel 3: But I heard there's a shortage of... Panel 4: There's a shortage of nothing. The Huns say we are starving. Now I'm going to show you first of all that there's no food shortage! Panel 5: See? Some feed, eh? Chicken, roast beef, potatoes, peas, sliced tomatoes, mushrooms on toast, radishes, cheese, fruit and coffee. Does that look like food shortage? Well, it's the same with everything else! Panel 6: Waiter, slip me the check! Have a light, mutt, and forget that 'shortage' gossip. Panel 7: You'll pardon me, sir, but on account of the paper shortage we have no checks, you see, to add up the items on—chicken, eight and six—roast beef, ten and four— Panel 8: That's the shortage I heard about.

Members of the South End Improvement League were present in large numbers and the boys were much encouraged by the enthusiasm displayed. A meeting will be held on Friday evening when an official schedule of games will be drawn up. BOWLING. Y. M. C. I. Bowlers Win. A team of bowlers from the Y. M. C. I. practically last year's Owls, went to Fredericton last evening and returned this morning after measuring their skill against a team on the new Palace alleys, conducted by Messrs. Staples and Powers. They won the game, but by only a small margin, five pins. It was pretty hot work, but neither team minded that much. The game was close throughout. Fredericton took the first string by three pins, then the St. John men got things going better and finished the second twenty to the good. In the third Fredericton cut down the lead, but not enough to win the contest. The scores show fairly uniform good work for August weather. The visitors found the alleys excellent, well managed and doing a thriving business and they have good words for the courtesies extended them. Other St. John teams are planning a visit to the Palace alleys and there will be return matches here. There are early signs of a lively bowling season starting in St. John when the cooler weather comes. The scores last night were: Y. M. C. I. F. McCafferty ... 78 93 92 253 P. IN THREE SECTORS ALLIES WIN FURTHER SUCCESSES

(Undated War Dispatch By The Associated Press.) The Allied armies have obtained further successes over the Germans in fighting in the Soissons-Rheims sector and to the north in the Montdidier region and still further north in Flanders between the Lawe and Clarence Rivers. East of the town of Braine on the Vesle River, midway between Soissons and Rheims, American and French troops, after the stiffest kind of fighting have crossed the river and held all the positions gained. The French to the north of Rheims have penetrated the German positions for more than four hundred yards in the railroad beginning at Rheims and running northeastward toward Retel and northwestward to Laon. In addition all the positions previously gained by the Allied troops throughout the entire Rheims-Soissons salient have been solidly held, notwithstanding counter attacks and the heavy artillery fire the enemy has poured down from the heights north of the Vesle upon their antagonists. Near where the Vesle enters the Aisne, east of Soissons, the French have overcome the resistance of the enemy and taken the village of Ciry-Salogue. London, Aug. 7.—Losses of British merchantmen during July were less than they were in June, Sir Leo Money, parliamentary secretary to the shipping ministry, announced in the House of Commons this afternoon. Washington, Aug. 7.—Major-General William S. Graves, commanding the 8th division at Camp Fremont, California, has been assigned to command American troops ordered to Siberia, General March, chief of staff, announced today. The nucleus of the American forces sent to Siberia, General March said, would be the 27th and 21st regular regiments on duty in the Philippines, which would be supplemented later by troops from the United States.

HOW TO END CORNS Which Way for You? Above are pictured three ways to treat corns. Blue-jay is the most certain. It is safe and gentle. Yet the unknowing ones experiment with harsh, mussy liquids or the dangerous razor. These two ways are temporary. But Blue-jay is scientific. The spot of medicated wax, discovered by a great chemist, soothes while it works. Place a Blue-jay Plaster on your throbbing corn tonight. Relief is instant. The soft felt pad stops the pain by relieving the pressure. In 48 hours the medicated wax has saturated the corn—undermined it to its roots—and it comes off painlessly, completely. Nature responds quickly to such a gentle, corrective treatment. Blue-jay Plasters are made by Bauer & Black, the great surgical dressing house. Try a Blue-jay Plaster now. Join the pain-free thousands who rely on Blue-jay. Once you know Blue-jay, you'll never consent to have a corn again, nor to coddle it with temporary ways. The cost is slight, the application simple. Remember, we promise immediate relief and a defenseless corn. Blue-jay Plasters are sold by all druggists—25c per package. Also Blue-jay Bunion Plasters. WOMAN FOUND DEAD; EMPTY LEMON EXTRACT BOTTLES NEAR

Also One in Which Had Been Alcohol Lay Near Body of Mrs. George Henderson of 57 Chapel Street

The authorities fear that the cause of drinking to excess and fatal consequences which may follow were exemplified this morning when Mrs. George Henderson of 57 Chapel street, was found lying dead by her bed with an empty bottle which had contained lemon extract and another in which had been alcohol lying near her on the floor.

About eight o'clock this morning Mrs. Henderson, who is a returned soldier, went into his room and saw her lying on the floor. He called neighbors to assist him to place her on the bed, and while doing so they saw that she was dead. The North End police and Coroner F. L. Kenney were notified and in a short while the latter and Sergeant Smith were on the scene.

After making enquiries and an examination of the room, Coroner Kenney decided to hold an inquest and also made arrangements to have a post mortem taken in the afternoon to decide the direct cause of death.

An examination of a pint bottle showed that a label, which had been stuck on the side had been removed almost entirely off, but at the bottom the figures 711 Main street, were discernible.

Mrs. Henderson leaves four small children, two girls and two boys. All four were committed to the care of the Children's Aid Society on July 21, 1916. Subsequently, the girls were sent to the Good Shepherd's Home, where they still are. One boy was sent to the Industrial School at Silver Falls and the other to St. Vincent's orphanage, but both were returned to their mother later and were in the house at the time of their mother's death. Steps are being taken to provide for their care.

PRESENTATION TO ORGANIST
In appreciation of her services as organist for the church and Sunday school, members and adherents of the Centralville Methodist church gathered on Saturday evening at the parsonage and presented to Miss Mollie Gody a handsome music cabinet. The presentation was made by the pastor, Rev. J. B. Champion, who briefly but adequately expressed the feelings of the gathering. A pleasant social evening was held and light refreshments were served.

KHAKI BOY TURNED BACK.
A returned soldier, fresh from the trenches and having a wounded Boston bulldog mascot on a leash—both were somewhat inviolable—was turned back by the American immigration authorities at Vancouver this forenoon. Asked about the incident an American officer on the train said that the soldier would have to go through a few routine technicalities before he could be allowed to proceed to his home in New York city. The man enlisted in the Canadian army in 1915 out of New York and took an oath of allegiance, which expatriated him as an American citizen. It is now required of him that he repatriate himself. "But what the hell," the big sturdy chap said with a wink, "we're all one now, aren't we?"

HERE FROM ONTARIO.
An interesting visitor to the province at present is Albert Edward Donovan, of Brockville, Ont., a member of the Ontario legislature for the last eleven years, one of the prominent citizens of Brockville and outstanding in the public affairs of the province. Mr. Donovan, accompanied by his son, is making a leisurely tour of the province, renewing old friendships and, in his genial way, making new friends wherever he goes. Mr. Donovan, who is in the life insurance business, formerly represented one of the largest Canadian companies in England for several years; later he was located at Halifax and was general manager for Ontario for one of the large New York companies. He was elected to the legislative assembly in 1907 to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Hon. G. P. Graham to enter the dominion cabinet and was re-elected in 1908, 1911 and 1914.

ST. JOHN SOLDIER'S TRIBUTE TO Y.M.C.A.

Sergt. Charles Wannamaker Writes Glowingly of the Good Done the Soldiers

H. S. Wannamaker of this city has received the following letter from his brother, Sergeant Charles Wannamaker, who went overseas as a member of the 280th Battalion, and later transferred to another unit, and last week was reported gassed. He writes of the magnificent work that the Military Y. M. C. A. is doing overseas. He writes:—

Dear Brother—

Your letter of June 9 received a few days ago. I am feeling fine and we are having some lovely long days and very warm ones, at that, over here now. I am glad to hear that they got enough single men to do under the Y. M. C. A., and that you married men will not have to come. We had a big day of sports recently and Sir R. L. Borden, General Currie and the Duke of Connaught were present. There were about 50,000 Canadians present. The first man I met was Billy Fowler from St. John. The next I met was Peter Cosman. I was coming out of the Y. M. C. A. tent and who was going in but he. On the following day we had an inspection by General Currie and Sir R. L. Borden and Sir R. L. gave us a good address, which we all enjoyed. Sir R. L. told us that the people of Canada were going to stand by us to a man.

Regarding the work of the Y. M. C. A., let me say that I have seen their workings from the front lines back and if it were not for the Y. M. C. A. we would not have any place to go over here. The places where we were in the line the Y. M. C. A. was away down in a cellar and we could go over and get a good hot cup of cocoa or coffee free of charge. You can buy crackers, canned goods and candy at the same price you pay for them in Canada. I have been reading what some of the people say about the Y. M. C. A. in France, but you will find very few of the men who have been in France talking against it. You can get paper and envelopes any time free of charge, and in some of the tents they run moving pictures where no admittance is charged. The picture tents are crowded all the time.

Samuel and W. J. Ramsay Complete Visit to Native Province—Will Visit in States on Way to Pacific Island

Samuel Ramsay and W. J. Ramsay of Honolulu, formerly of this city, who have been visiting relatives in the province for the last month, left this morning for Boston en route to their home. They will visit friends in New York, Kansas City and San Francisco, and expect to arrive in Honolulu about January. They intended staying in their native province longer than they did, but Samuel Ramsay has been offered a remunerative position under the prohibition law in Honolulu. The Ramsay brothers, as they are known in Honolulu, are retired contractors and now heavily interested in the sugar cane business.

Speaking of Honolulu, "the paradise of the Pacific," Mr. Ramsay said that he has lived in practically all parts of America, but no climate can compare with that of Honolulu. The temperature ranges from 72 to 85 degrees and is tempered by a sea breeze. In mid-winter, he says, he often has gone out on his piazza in nothing but a very light suit of water supply on the island and hour gazing out on the boundless Pacific, and recalling in his memory his childhood days spent at Riverside, N. B. He says that he could picture the snowcapped hills of New Brunswick and would recall vividly a St. John winter. These reminiscences came to him on many a winter day in Honolulu, especially when the mercury would climb to about 85.

Honolulu, the capital of Hawaii, is situated on Cebu Island, which is about thirty miles long and seven miles wide, and Mr. Ramsay believes, for its size, it is the most prosperous spot in the world. On the island, he says, there are more than 800 automobiles. The chief industry is the production of cane sugar. Some of the plantations, he says, are as large as 4,000 acres and employ from 1,800 to 2,500 men. One plantation he spoke of, the nearest to Honolulu, will this year yield about 50,000 tons of raw sugar. There is an immense water supply on the island and sowing can be done any time during the year. The schools in Honolulu are of the very best and the natives in many cases are pretty well educated. The mining work on the island is done chiefly by the natives.

Samuel Ramsay left St. John about forty years ago. He says that while he still has a yearning in his heart for the land that gave him birth, yet Honolulu is home for him now. He is seventy years old and has two sons living, one in the United States and the other in British Columbia.

SPHAGNUM MOSS

Sphagnum Moss has been used from time immemorial as a field dressing for wounds. It is reported that great quantities of this moss were gathered and stored up by the Germans in preparation for this war. It is only recently that we, of New Brunswick, have appreciated the fact that this moss can be gathered right at our front doors.

The girls of the Natural History Society are making a big drive on our Moss Bogs this coming Saturday. Before going, however, it would be a wise precaution to call on Oak Hall for
