A London Journal Says That Its Status is Above Criticism.

The announcement that a Royal Commission will be nominated to take charge of British interests at the St. Louis Exhibition of 1904 will attract a general attention to the vast undertaking now approaching completion in the chief city of the State of Missouri. I will, says Engineering, cover an area of twelve hundred acres, and the grounds enclosed will be about a mile wide and a mile and three-quarters long. It may be a fertile cause of astonishment that a city westward of Chicago should have the boldness to conceive and the nower to carry out. conceive, and the power to carry out, so vest a project. But St. Louis ad-mits of no rivalship to Chicago; her suburban boundaries enclose a popula-tion of more than a million, and half of tion of more than a million, and half of the United States's 78 millions are within a practicable railway journey. Nor can there be much doubt as to the contents of the exhibition. In every branch of industry, in the liberal and fine arts, in education, in abstract and applied science, enough prominent and active research. branch of industry, in the liberal and fine arts, in education, in abstract and applied science, enough prominent and active representatives are in the United States, able and eager to overflow even the vast areas of the exhibition buildings. But it is the intention of those in control to exercise severe censorship on home exhibitors till those coming from abroad are provided for. The status of the St. Louis exhibition is above criticism; it is fortunate in having as its president D. R. Francis, governor of the State of Missouri, and a man well—and rightly—trusted for many years. The United States government is an active, not a sleeping, partner in the undertaking. Many of the principal heads of departments are leading officials, and the general government has made an appropriation of $1,300,000. Lack of funds will certainly not be one of the difficulties so often inseparable from exhibition management; and money will be spent for the convenience of exhibitors more freely than has ever been done before. Germany—six in 1833 and 1900—will take the convenience of exhibitors more freely than has ever been done before. Germany—as in 1833 and 1900—will take the sad among the foreign exhibiting nations; France will be as at Chicago, only better; Japan will spend money freely on a successful section; and probably Russia also will play a not-inconspicuous part. At least two years are required for proper representation of a great country at a great universal exhibition; and in England half that time is occupied in organization, arousing interest, and overcoming prejudice. For these reasons we (Engineering) consider that the chances of a representative British industrial display are of the slenderest. It is stated that the King has intimated his willingness to lend the Jubilee presents that belonged to her late Majesty the Queen.

Loss Nearly $100,000, and Insurance $46,000-Will Resume Work.

Lr. STEPHEN, March 15 .- The citizens of St. Stephen and surrounding country watched with gloomy foreterday afternoon as it consumed the lerday atternoon as it consumed the large manufacturing establishment of Ganong Bros., the leading manufacturers of confectionery in Canada. Beside the loss of property involved, it seemed to mean the loss of employment for many hundreds during the coming months, for at one time it looked as if all-the efforts put forth could not save any portion of either the old building or the addition recently completed and not yet occupied. However, the flames were stopped before they reached the new addition, and today Mr. Ganong has announced with commendable pluck that in two weeks the concern will be turning out its regular production of chocolates and seventy-five per cent, of its products in other lines. Some of the machinery was not greatly injured, and new machinery has already been ordered by telegraph.

Shortly before half-past one yesterday afternoon, as the employes were returning to the work, a girl in the front basement undertook to light a gas jet with a piece of paper. The burning paper warmed her fingers a little and she dropped it. The action caused the whole disaster, for, in falling, it lit upon a celluloid tray used in handling chocolate goods. Instantly the inflammable material was in flames and sending out a dense volume of black smoke. An effort was made to applied.

The loss is estimated at from $75,00 to $100,000, with insurance for about two-thirds. Mr. and Mrs. Ganons' personal loss is very heavy and in cludes beautiful furniture and the ac cumulations of twenty-five years, such as would be made by people of refine tastes. All their clothing except wha they wore was consumed, and Mrs tastes. All their clothing except what they wore was consumed, and Mrs. Ganong lost a quantity of jewellery. In the factory many of the help lost their street clothes, and some lost watches and pocket-books containing money.

The section of the building destroyed is fifty-two feet wide and one hundred and fifty feet long, three stories high, and basement below.

The section back of the first fire wall was destroyed by a fire about fifteen years ago. The firm was entirely burned out of its other premises in the big fire of 1887.

The following is the insurance through offices in St. John, N. B., on the building and stock:

THE WRIGHT CASE SUNDAY MURDERS

He Alleges That Royal Personages Were Implicated.

But the Crown Will Insist on His Extradition and Punishment.

LONDON, March 16.—John Flower, chairman of the shareholders' committee which instigated the prosecution of Whittaker Wright, the director of the London and Globe Finance Corporation, who was arrested yesterday on his arrival at New York from Cherbourg, says:

London and Globe Finance Corporation, who was arrested yesterday on his arrival at New York from Cherbourg, says:

"I see Wright is quoted as saying he had a powerful protector in an exalted quarter. That statement is not new to us. It is the keynote of the whole case. Prior to the failure of the London and Globe, certain persons maintain Wright had in his possession letters from leading members of the English royal family, showing they were mixed up in his transactions. We have no documentary proof of this. Wright himself probably is the only man in the world who could prove it. If he has such letters they ought now to be in the possession of the New York police, as we suppose they searched his effects, and Wright is not likely to let such a powerful weapon of defence out of his personal keeping. Within a few weeks the chief issue of the Wright case will be the question of the complicity or otherwise of the most exalted personages in the empire in Wright's financial and other schemes. We do not anticipate any difficulty in obtaining his extradition, but if what Wright's friends maintain turns out to be true, his genuine prosecution will become an extremely delicate matter. We believe, however, that the lawyers at present engaged will sift the matter to the bottom regardless of any considerations.

Referring to the interview with Wright published in the New York Herald, today, Mr. Flower said: "I quite sympathize with Wright when he says the failure of the London and Globe was due to the treachery of others. There is no doubt of that, but it must be remembered that for three months prior to the failure, which Wright says was directly due to to treachery, the London and Globe had not a cent in its locker; yet it was doing over half a million pounds sterling in speculation at every settlement. The government's decision that the not a cent in its locker; yet it was doing over half a million pounds sterling in speculation at every settlement. The government's decision that the directors as a body could not be proceeded against does not prevent Wright as the prime factor in the rotten conditions which existed before the failure, being made to take the responsibility." Attorney-general Finlay said in the house of commons this afternoon that the crown will pay the cost of the extradition of Wright and the payment by the crown of the whole expenses of the proceedings would be considered, but his prosecution will be left in the hands of the official receiver of the London and Globe Corporation.

The man told a story of a drinking bout which ended in a fight of alarming proportions in which revolvers, razors, knives, miners' picks and clubs were freely used. He said that two had been shot and were dead and 'that the crowd was dragging their bodies into the woods; several others had sustained serious injuries by being cut and stabbed. Through good luck he had succeeded in getting out of the mixup and escaped by flight. The dispute had originated, he said, over the distribution of beer. Regarding the Tragic Death of Mrs.

Neal--Will Hold an Inquest. Beyond the fact that satchel which was supposed to contain money and which was carried by Mrs, Margaret J. Neal is missing, no information of any importance which would tend to shed light on the cause of the woman's injuries and death has been discovered by the police since Saturday. While Mrs, Neal was in Fairville on Friday evening she called on a friend, Mrs. John Martin, and while there is said to have taken from her bosom a handkerchief in which some money was wrapped and to have placed it in a small brown leather satchel which she carried. She had this satchel in her hand when leaving Fairville and it is now missing. There is of course a possibility that if she accidentally received her injuries the satchel might have been picked up by some thievish person who happened to pass, but this theory is not believed by the Fairville people. It is not known that Mrs. Neal had a large sum of money, or in fact, that she had any which would incite to assault. She had something less than a dollar in silver in addition to what may have been in the handkerchief, and it is not known positively whether the handkerchief actually contained money.

WHAT IS THE REMEDY?

The writer of the following letter was for many years actively interested in Dooley. Canadian politics, both federal and provincial. The Star commends his people's welfare. One who has been familiar with the political struggles of thirty or forty years past can hardly fail to fear that whatever may be said of our material progress, we have not made the moral progress, we have not made the moral progress, we have not multitude of Christian churches and of educational facilities would have justified us in expecting. Infidelity to trusts, unfaithfulness in accounting, swindling schemes of various kinds, have been unusually and increasingly noticeable the last few years, and it seems as if the moral forces, which ought to offer effectual resistance, are really less potent than they formerly were.

Is this true, or is it not true? If true, then no patriotic citizen can fail to be interested in an enquiry into the causes of such decline and the remedies that may be available. We have at great expense supplied means of education for our youth, we have been almost prodigal in providing facilities for religious instruction and it would seem to be proper to enquire as to the resulting elevation of the moral status of the people affected. My judgment may not be sound, but to me it seems quite to secure machinery for it until 1904. As soon as that is done the dredge will be put into commission.

A member of the delegation told the Sun reporter that the question of a dry dock for St. John has been happilly settled. The delegates are W. M. Jartied. The delegates inded us in expecting. THE KAISER'S IDEA OF A NAVY.

System and Ships of What Will Probably Be Greatest in the World.

The German navy is practically the creation of the present Kalser's reign. Up to 1858 it was insignificant in numbers and was a factor of infinitesimal importance in the balance of navapower. Even today it is not particularly formidable. But it is being yearly augmented with a skill, pertinacity and foresight that indicate plainly what the future will bring forth. Scheme after scheme for its increase is laid before the country and the Reichstag and with a few unimportant deductions is carried. The "boundless plans" of 1908; were followed by the still more boundless plans of 1900; and already the German Navy League, which acts as harbinger to the German admiralty, is, like Oliver Twist, demanding more. All the German shipbuilders have their slips full; the imperial dockyards are working to their utmost capacity; thousands of men are extending Kiel and Wilhelmshaven, the headquarters of the navy in the Baltic and the North Sea; and still the Kalser calls—like the imperious, eager captain of a cruiser in full pursuit of a quarry—for "more steam."

Yet, in spite of appearance, the Ger-

The Buffalo police deserve the strongest condemnation for their brutal treatment of a Canadian girl, whom they arrested on suspicion, and subjected to gross indignities, putting her in the "sweat box," an institution peculiar to American methods of ferreting out crime. Though she was promptly released, the anguish she must have endured will be an unpleasant memory. These officers of the law endeavored to give an exhibition of smartness, instead of which they demonstrated their own stupidity and their utter unfitness for their positions. Their conduct has called forth the severest strictures of the Buffalo press. This is some satisfaction, but it will not atone for the undeserved shame placed upon an innocent girl.

ST. STEPHEN, March 15.—The strike in the cotton mill threatens serious consequences. Manager Dexter has notified the men that as the strike is not the result of any cut in prices he will not negotiate with them until they return to work, and that unless they return to work, and that unless they return to monday morning the entire mill will be shut down. The weavers met on Saturday and decided not to result until their demand for an increase of 15 per cent. in their wages is allowed. Eight hundred people are employed in the mill.

WHERE BARLEY IS CULTIVATED.

Barley extends over a wider climatic range than any of the other grains and is successfully cultivated over a greater breadth of the globe than any other cereal. It flourishes under the heat and drought of the borders of the torrid zone and grows sturdily and maturely on the northern verge of the temperate zone, ripening and thriving under various adverse circumstances which wheat is wholly unable to resist. Barley is found in the Faroe Islands, near Cape North, the extreme point of Norway; near Archangel, on the White sea, and in central Siberia between 58 and 69 degrees north latitude. In genial climates, such as those of Egypt, Barbary and the south of Spain, two crops of barley may be reaped in the same year, one in spring from seed sowed the previous autumn and one in autumn from a spring sowning.

capital is taken as proof that they will fight the Grand Trunk to the bitter end, and unless one or other of the contending parties give away it looks as if neither will get anything of the much sought for concession. One solution of the difficulty would be the absorption of the Great Northern by the Grand Trunk, and this will be the probable outcome.

It looks, too, as if the Grand Trunk will dispose of its other rival, the Trans-Canada, with alacrity. The latter road has been boomed as a feeder of Atlantic lines at Quebec. The Grand Trunk has now applied for permission to amend its original application for a charter so as to make Quebec its eastern terminus. To do this the road will be constructed from Quebec to Gravenhurst. This will conform to the wishes of the people of Quebec and will at the same time obviate the necessity of the Grand Trunk purchasing the Trans-Canada charter. The entrance of the line to Quebec is most important from a maritime province standpoint. With the Quebec bridge constructed the Grand Trunk Pacific could easily open up a road to the seaboard by acquiring the Temiscounta, Saint Francis river and Quebec Central lines, Should the conditions attached to granting a subsidy make Canadian outlets imperative the Grand Trunk Pacific would doubtless adopt such extension.

TWO DEAD SHEEF.

To the Editor of the Star:

Sir,—Permit me through the columns of your valuable journal to draw the attention of the Board of Health to two dead sheep that have been lying on the north side of the government sheds now being used as cattle sheds. I don't know whose duty it is to have this carrion removed or whether it is tied duty of the wharfinger to look after them and report them to the proper authorities if not removed. But perhaps the wharfinger and his assistant are too busy to draw the attention of the proper authorities to the matter. However, there is one thing certain, and that is it those dead sheep are not removed very shortly from where they are, covered up with manure, the general public who on Sundays and fine days are in the habit of going around the wharf for recreation, will be forced to turn back for the cdor will be such as to injure the public health.

Hoping the Board of Health will attend to the matter,

I remain yours very truly,

DUCKSY IN TOWN,

Yesterday afternoon a young woman who appeared demented attracted considerable attention in the centre of the city. She was very gaudity dressed and was running up and down Dook street for no apparent reason. Later on she was seen on King square going through the same performance. She is familiarly known as "Ducksy" and comes from Musquash.

POLICE COURT.

Very Active.

Today's winter port business in the police court was the heaviest there has been so far this season. Out of eight prisoners, six were sailors, and the proceeds to the court amounted to $25, with the promise of $8 additional.

Martin Ryan, who was one of the African heroes, who went through many of the bloody battles of the great campaign, and who suffered the loss of a leg in a railway accident after he came home, was let go. He had been drunk on Water street, but had a ticket for Montreal and was given the opportunity to use it.

Malcolin Dempster may safely claim the long distance walking championship. He walked in from Smith Town on Saturday, a distance of eighteen miles, for the purpose of getting drunk, and this morning started to walk back to Smith Town to get $4$ to pay his fine. Dempster is no relation to the steamship man, although the latter was well represented. Four sailors were released upon deposits left by the agent of his line.

John Anderson—not my Jo—was another man whose promise of payment at some future date was taken. Anderson wanted to go to his ship for the money and was given a chance.

Patrick O'Shaughnessy was a little bit afraid of staying out tomorrow. He thought the celebration of St. Patrick's Day would prove too much for him. O'Shaughnessy has two bad habits. One of them is walking in his sleep. On Saturday night he was found comfortably strolling about Prince William street wearing very little more than was absolutely necessary. He did not know how he got there, nor where his clothes were, but woke up sufficiently to send to the Seamen's Mission for the rest of his raiment. This morning he decided to take it to Manchester where it may be some use to him. The magistrate let O'Shaughnessy go upon condition that he would be "on water" tomorrow.

tomorrow. Hugh Burns, Fred Frizzle, James Bulger and Frank Hardcastle were re-leased on deposits.

AGAINST THE HORSE SHOW. City Horsemen Have Doubts of Its Success,

Success,

The proposition placed before the local government last week regarding a horse show to be held in St. John this summer has been the cause of considerable discussion. The opinions of many prominent men of sporting inclinations in the city are adverse to the scheme. Those who were interested in the proposed summer carnival of sports are inclined to view the new scheme with disfavor.

Even as enthusiastic a horseman as Peter Clinch states his strong opposition to the horse show proposed. It would be folly, he says, for St. John to attempt a display similar to those in Upper Canada. The Montreal horse show can draw its attractions from Toronto, Gulph, London and all the noted horse breeding centres in Ontario. Entries are also received from Boston and New York. These exhibitors would ignore a show in St. John, and an exhibition of horses from the Maritime Provinces alone would be of little interest even to local horsemen. Mr. Clinch thought the summer carnival scheme could be far more successfully carried out.

Reed's Point is almost every night proving the necessity for improved police protection. On Friday night Hugh Doherty's store was entered and at two o'clock on Sunday morning an attempt was made to break into Bartholomew Rogers' shop on the corner of Brittain street. Mr. Rogers heard three men trying his door several times, looking in at the windows, and endeavoring to find an easy means of entrance. There was no way of getting in excepting through the front and after trying the door several times the men went away. They were wise for Mr. Rogers was waiting to do things to them if they got in.

taken by the Shore Line to Musquash. The funeral will be held from the Episcopal church at Musquash this afternoon. Last evening Rev. John desbyres conducted service at Mr. Matattail's father's home, 8 Carleton street.

HAN AWAY AGAIN.

A young woman carrying a child was found this morning by Sergt. Kilpatrick wandering about in the vicinity of the Marsh Bridge. She turned out to be Annie Verner, who had early this morning run away from the almshouse. She was sent back. This is the third time the woman has run away.

RIVER REPORTS.

Says a Boston paper: Billy Jordan is back in town again and he has a hard luck story of how he was treated in Halifax. "I put it all over Little-John," he says, "but the best I got was a draw. Down there you have to knock the home man dead to win." Which state of affairs is not common to Halifax alone.
