The study of these marshes from a scientific point of view has been taken up by one of the greatest of our modern geologists. Sir William Dawson in his Acadian Geology devotes several interesting pages to their consideration. Respecting their formation he says, "The rising-tides sweep away the fine material from every exposed bank and cliff, and becomes loaded with mud and extremely fine sand, which, as it stagnates at high water, it deposits a thin layer on the surface of the flats. This layer which may vary in thickness from a quarter of an inch to a at the inner edge. From the same cause, the more rapid deposit of the over with films of mica while the upper india 57 per cent. ## ROBB'S STEEL FURNACE

Is the cheapest and best heating apparatus for country dwellings Being cased with brick it does not damage roots in cellar, the heat being carried up steadily into rooms during the night even after the fuel has burned low. This Furnace being made of PLATE STEEL is most durable, and being simple in construction does not permit of smoke o gas escaping, while it has a great advantage over more complicated Furnaces, by the interior being kept free from soot. This is the reason why it will radiate as much heat after being used for some time as it will when first set ap. There is great economy in fuel, and much labor saved in cutting the wood; in fact, it will burn wood that cannot be split or used in any other way.

swallowing, and he swore that he would 'make old Sam look alive; but, in spite of feints and strategies, endless and well planned, he had not penetrated yet into the treasurehouse.

And old Sam said, with a chuckle, that "some of the old fools could beat the young knaves yet." also, that he had not slaved all his young days among the coal pits in order that a graceless Grimshawe might squander his money upon race-courses. "I may be a self-made man," he said, "out at least I am an honest one; whereas, who ever knew a Grimshawe that understood the force of the eighth commandment?"

Gies Grimshawe's cousin, the Honorable Jim, also made up his noble mind to throw the handkerchief to the pretty heiress, and was not a little amazed to find that she simply did not be raised to strong for her, and she burst out, impulsively:
