STEERING GEAR FAILED TO WORK

Miss Elliott, of Goderich, a Niece of Mr. Hyman, Was Also Painfully Bruised.

Hon. C. S. Hyman was seriously injured, and his niece, Miss Gladys Elliot, of Goderich, painfully hurt last night, when their automobile collided with a northbound Wellington car at the corner of Richmond and Sydenham streets, shortly after 11 o'clock. The exact cause of the accident is not known, but it is thought that the SPEEDY RECOVERY steering gear of the motor car failed to respond when the automobile struck the gravel at this point. there are numerous bruises on her body, but nothing very dangerous. At the present time, there is no information as to how the accident really did happen. Mr. Hyman has been in no condition to give a statement on that score. The street railway men declare that the accident is inexplicable to them. "There was plenty of room to pass on the street side," said Manager "There was an obstruction there, owing to repairs to the road, but there was plenty of room nevertheless.'

Superintendent Young stated that the Wellington car was going up the hill at four or five miles an hour, and that the motorman stopped when he saw that an accident was inevitable. Spectators of the accident are unanimous in declaring that something must have gone wrong with the machine. Mr. Hyman was going south in his car on the tracks, and made an effort to swing the car out. It failed to respond, and crashed headlong into the front of the street car. The motor was not travelling at a high rate of speed, or there would have been no chance at all for the occupants. "Mr. Hyman spent a restless night," said Mrs. Hyman to The Advertiser "At the present time we cannot tell how seriously he is injured, but we are hoping for the best. The woman was brought to the local jail instead of being sent to St. Thomas, and since that time the sheriff has been endeavoring to have her sent back to the proper place. She was to have been given a hearing yesterday, but as no constable from Elgin showed up, she had to be kept in jail a day longer without a hearing. This is contrary to the law, so the local authorities decided to release the woman this morning. Governor Carter at his own expense sent her back to Elgin in charge of a constable, rather than leave her wander about the streets of London. The constable was given transportation to Aylmer, but this morning The Advertiser received a message from St. Thomas to the effect that she had been found wandering there this morning. No word has as yet been received from the local constable who

The board of works and water commissioners yesterday afternoon interviewed Mr. R. H. Parsons, deputy city engineer of the city of Ottawa, who is candidate for the position of head engineer here. It is expected that sev. eral other aspirants will be interviewed during the coming week or

Mr. Parsons explained that he was a graduate of the University of Michgan, and had been employed by the Pennsylvania Railway, the Algoma Central, the city of Ottawa, the Warren Paving Company, and later the city of Ottawa again. He had some very fine testimonials, which he handed to the committee. He made the statement that his department spent about $1,000,000 annually, and that all their work was done by day labor. At the present time a big waterworks contract worth $300,000, was being undertaken. The aldermen and the commissioners asked numerous questions, all of which were answered frankly and generally satisfactory. Those present were Mayor Beattie, Ald. Tancock, Ald. Saunders, Ald. Pocock, Ald. Morgan, Chairman Phil. Po-

OUR DEBT TO DICKENS.

The Strand Magazine proposes to inaugurate a stamp crusade in order ated. The stomacher, the farthingale, to raise a fund for the grandchildren and rustling taffeta skirt were the of Dickens, some of whom are living ancestors of a long list of female efin poverty. While it must be admitted that the great novelist received very large sums for his works, he never obtained a tithe of their market value. He was paid one thousand pounds ($5,000) for his short story "Hunted Down," by the New York Ledger. For two other stories he received the same generous payment. For most of his great novels he received three thousand pounds each, and his lecture tour in America in 1867 netted him nearly twenty thousand pounds. But it must be remembered that if these were large profits, the gain to his publishers was correspondingly immense. In twelve gigantic coiffure and lavish use of years after his death 4,239,000 volumes rolls, rats, and switches originated in of his works were sold in England a despairing effort on the part of Elizalone. During the forty years since abethan ladies to outdo the men of his death his books have become common property, the copyright having gallants of that age, Sir Walter Ra-Copperfield received a beggarly sum it must be conceded that he succeeded. after all for the outpourings of his genius! David Christie Murray's words in praise of Dickens' labors for humanity should be recalled in connection with this Strand crusade. He says: of the whole wide world. DAINTY DEVICE FOR BACH-ELOR GIRLS.

In every community there are many ladies whom the poet has called "God's unappropriated blessings." Some of them would have been glad to have been appropriated, others have chosen the single road with malice aforethought. Some there are who still keep a lingering hope that the wedding bells will ring for them in the Indian summertime of love: the ocare others, an increasing class, who put away the thought of matriundiluted enjoyment of freedom.

The great public, however, even near

The only objections to such a campaign against Cupid and Hymen would be the married ladies, whose romance has long since faded into the common light of day, and whose wedding presents--some of them-have long since gone their way to the lumber-room, the ash barrel and the scrap heap.

HOW MEN AND WOMEN USED TO DRESS.

The advent of the hobble skirt recalls to the male mind the fleeting character of fashion. And yet in spite of the kaleidoscopic changes in dress and hair styles, there is nothing new under the sun. The mode makers are constantly repeating themselves. In the spacious days of great Elizabeth many of our modern styles were crefects which have flourished since that splendid age when lords and ladies wore whole manors on their backs. Even the present gigantic outcropping of woman's hair is no new thing. Great Eliza, Mary Queen of Scots, and all the belles of Shakespeare's London wore switches and rats in great profusion. Hair was in such demand that the mothers of London were afraid to allow their curly-headed children to appear on the streets alone, for the hair hunters kidnapped many

There is a catholicism of the conformist today, woman is the heretic, who blossoms into a new sect of finery every season. The Pope has just condemned female finery, but we fear that this heresy will be ineradicable.

THE CASE OF DR. JACKSON.

If he (Dr. Jackson) is to be tried for the teaching in his book, it is obvious that the book must be before the court, every passage weighed, and viewed in the light of the context. If he is to be tried by his teaching in Victoria College, verbatim reports of his lectures must be forthcoming, and must be examined in the same painstaking way. This would he an impossible task for a general conference. It could be done only by a permanent tribunal, or by a special com-

Moissant, the first man to cross the British Channel in an airship carrying a passenger, is a French-Canadian. Moissant has broken two of the world's flying records this last week, thus placing a Canadian in the forefront of the men who are achieving a conquest over the air. And it is worth noticing that Moissant only ascended in an airship five times before performing his hitherto unequalled feats. Evidently flying permits than the mere commonplace earthly pursuits allow.

Religious Strife in Spain

Hence the number of excited meetings held by both sides; hence the fury aroused by the shooting of Ferrer; hence the threat made pefore a full Parliament by Pablo Iglesias, the Socialist, of a personal attempt upon Senor Maura (a threat which was shortly followed by an attempt to assassinate Senor Maura at Barcelona); hence the preparations made by the reactionary party for a

"Senor Canalejas and his supporters in the press are concealing their real intentions. They are negotiating with Rome for the modification of the Concordat of 1851, for a reduction of the number of authorized religious houses, and for a reduction in the budget of cult and clergy. They are bound to proceed thus not only out of respect for the constitution of 1876, but from motives of caution. Notwithstanding the activity and audacity of the rationalistic elements in Spain, the most casual observer will notice that their strength is as nothing compared with the compact mass of Catholics. There are regions, as Navarre, certain portions of the Basques, Aragon, and Catalonia, where an army could be raised at short notice to defend the Roman Catholic Church,

The Economic Aspect. "In this conflict Senor Canalejas would probably be beaten, were it not that the question has another aspect the economic one, thanks to which the Government has gained a great measure of popular support in its camits votaries to achieve a more rapid fame paign against the religious associations. It cannot be denied that her church and her clergy cost Spain an exorbitant sum. In a budget of little more than £40,000,000, of which half goes to pay the interest on the public debt and pensions, the sum devoted to the clergy is £1,600,000; and this does not include other large sums paid in fees. For the 49 provinces of the peninsula there are 58 dioceses; there are 61 bishops or archbishops, and some 21,000 canons and minor dignitaries.

"The desire felt by the Spanish nation to be relieved of some part of this heavy annual charge of nearly £2,000,000 has contributed largely to the popularity of the Radical Government; but indignation at the privileges enjoyed by the religious communities is an even greater influence in its favor. These pay no territorial contribution. The magnificent properties of the monks pay no rates whatever, and in consequence of this the Spanish citizen living in their neighborhood has to pay an exorbitant 187 feet, but did it go in the direction she rent. Neither do these religious communities pay the industrial tax or the personal tax. Will Send It to the Berne Exhibition Next Month.

London, Aug 30-King George, who is an enthusiastic philatelist, has promised to send a portion of his collection to the International Exhibition of Postage Stamps to be held at Berne from Sept. 3 to 10. The exhibition promises to be one of great interest, and is attracting the notice of collectors in all parts of the world. The organizing committee has already received applications for space from 150 exhibitors, a large number of whom are British collectors and dealers.

The exhibition will be divided into ten classes, with several sub-sections. One class is devoted entirely to Swiss stamps, the best collection being awarded a grand prix. A second grand prix will be given in the championship class for the best collection of the stamps of any country which have already been awarded a gold medal at an international philatelic exhibition. As is generally known, King George's ollection is almost entirely made up of British stamps, and he is sending the exhibition a selection made up of the complete series of postage stamps of the island Colony of Nevis, most of them being at least 50 years old. They are of curious design, and are modelled upon some of the early Victorian issues. In addition to the King, the list of exhibitors includes the Swiss postal department, the international office of the World's Postal Union, the postal department of the United States, and the Postmaster-General of Bolivia. The entire collection, which is insured against fire and theft, is valued at 5,000,000 francs. The exhibition, which is appropriately held in the town the headquarters of the Universal Postal Union are located, will be opened on Sept. 33 by a fete, in the presence of the Swiss Postmaster-General and other distinguished patrons. Two banquets will also be held, one on Sept. 6, when the awards, consisting of gold and silver medals, will be declared, and a concluding one on Sept. 10. On Sept. 8 the visitors will be taken to the Bernese Oberland by he new mountain railway.

Professor John L. Garner, Just Arrived From Africa. Has a Chimpanzee That Can Distinguish Colors.

New York, Aug. 30.-Professor Richard L. Garner, who in the fall of 1903 left the United States to study the language and habits of monkeys in Africa, has returned from the Congo, bringing Susie, a partly-educated chimpanzee.

Professor Garner went into the French Congo region, 100 miles back from Cape Lopez, camping along Lake Fernan Vaz and choosing a spot where chimpanzees and gorillas were plentiful. While cross-

That monkeys have a language of at least twenty words is believed by Professor Garner, who also believes that he has tabulated from twelve to fourteen. That they can distinguish colors and shades of colors he has proved to his satisfaction. This seems to apply only to the chimpanzees, for he has found the gorillas far less tractable, not to be trusted and not easily

Professor Garner had 22 chimpanzees and nine gorillas, all young, while he was in Africa, and he brings back ten skeletons and 30 skulls for educational uses. "Chimpanzees can be taught easily," said Professor Garner, "and one that I owned, named Moses, I taught the word 'feu,' the French word for fire, so that he would speak it at proper times. Dissolution of the Marriage Ties Increases to Alarming Extent in France.

Paris, Aug. 30.—From 1888 to 1908 the number of divorces in the French working population has more than doubled, the marriages dissolved in the case of petitioners suing for forma pauperis having risen from 2,009 to 4,204, and having still further increased last year. The still further increased last year. The Temps has asked various experts how they account for this remarkable social fact. The secretary of the League for Individual Liberty believes that the increase of divorce comes partly from growing selfishness on the part of husbands. On the other hand, women divorce either for immoral reasons or on the best moral grounds, in the latter core often because they can support case often because they can supporthemselves and their children without ar

CITY METHODISTS PLAN SPORTS FOR WINTER

Closing of Baseball Season Does Not Put a Stop to Sport Until Next Year.

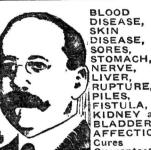

With the finishing up of the baseball season, the Methodist Baseball League is not stopping in its endeavors to interest the boys, and is planning big things for the future.

It is expected that a Methodist field It is expected that a Methodist field day will be held shortly, possibly on Thanksgiving Day, when all kinds of sports and games will take place. Then in the early fall basketball is to be indulged in, and in the winter the Methodists will have a hockey league to themselves. In all, things look very bright for coming events. Baseball has proved a most attractive and beneficial sport to all who have followed up the games. No better ball could be wished for than that put up in the eastern section, which of itself created widespread interest, and especially will the games between the o especially will the games between the First Methodist and Dundas Centre be remembered. The western section games ended much sooner than the eastern, and

Only Scientific Specialists

SORES, STOMACH, NERVE, RUPTURE, AFFECTIONS.

WHY SO MANY SUFFERERS FAIL TO GET CURED.—Nine physicians out of ten use unscientific methods and resort to guesswork in treating their patients, which results in the many there are who are not only disappointed, but lose their money. Have you made a great mistake in not getting skilled treatment; in not having a reliable specialist to treat you, only by which you will ever be cured?

Our methods are scientific, therefore they produce quick, everlasting cures. We employ only scientific methods and for this reason we make more cures than other physicians and specialists. We can afford to cure for less than others, and that is why we say to the Cures

TRAIN SCARED TEAM

Londoners Have Narrow Escape on Road Near Woodstock.

Four prominent Western Ontario coal men, W. A. Martin, of 460 King street; R. J. Webster, of 230 Oxford street; Bert Blair, of Woodstock, and J. F. Peregine, of Hamilton, escaped at least very serious injury by a hair's breadth while driving at Woodstock yesterday afternoon. They were in a four-seated vehicle, when the team, frightened by a passing train, suddenbolted, smashing the harness, and crashing into a telegraph pole.

Mr. Blair, who was driving at the time, and who jumped out and ran to the horses' heads, was thrown, and mals when they were stopped by the pole. The accident occurred near the mill, a short distance from the Grand Trunk station. The party had attended the funeral of Mr. A. J. McIntosh, head of the McIntosh Coal Company, of Woodstock, and were being driven around the city by Mr. Blair when the trouble occurred. As the train passed one of the horses stopped suddenly, snapping the harness, and allowing the pole to fall against its mate.

Mr. Blair, who was driving at the stant he was thrown, and the team started for the telegraph pole, one horse on each side. This prevented a more serious accident, as Mr. Martin for my digestive organs have always and his companions hastily entangled been weak. I rely on Grape-Nuts for the harness around the pole, so that most of my food, for there are times the animals could not get away.

DEATH OF E. B. WOODMAN

Was Prominent in the Early History of This City.

A former resident of London in its early history as a village, town city, passed away the middle of this month in the person of Mr. E. B. Woodman, Portage, Wisconsin, who came to Canada in 1832 as a lad. He was a resident of London in the '40's, 50's and '60's of the last century, leaving for California and the west at the close of the late civil war. Mr. Woodman has many friends in the city still, as he was one of the charter members of the Old Phoenix. No. 2, Hand Fire Engine, of which he was a proud member and fire-fighter whenever called upon. Our firemen have always been a self-sacrificing band, especially in those early days, and at that time there were enrolled on the membership the Beltzes. Wheelers, Perrins, McBrides, Christies and Cousins, and many other prominent individuals, who did their share of the dangerous work. The remaining members of the old brigade we see gradually growing less, and it is to their honor that they keep alive the old Chittick and was remanded until spirit of patriotism that has laid one Tuesday next when he will be given of the foundation stones of our beloved city, of which they may well be

Another case of bicycle stealing has Messrs. F. E. and C. W. APPLE-RAISING

An Object LessonHow a St. Catherines Man Gets a Good Crop. [Special to The Advertiser.]

St. Catharines, Ont., Aug. 31. — It seems queer how things will happen. Of late there has been a good deal of talk in Ontario about the way the apple orchards are going backwards in this Province, with predictions that pretty soon there won't be any apples at all in Ontario. W. H. Bunting, the wellknown fruit grower, is showing visitors his apple orchard, which is just loaded with apples of all kinds. "I have already taken off about three thousand baskets of apples, and I fully expect there are three thousand barrels there yet," said he. "And the strange part if it is, this orchard, which is 24 years a big rush, as all the text-books are new this term ex-cepting the Readers.

If it is, this orchard, which is 24 years old, never before that I can remember ever gave a good crop." Mr. Bunting liberally prunes and sprays his trees, and spends considerable money on fer-tilizers. He has a very large crop of peaches and grapes, as well.
