WILSON SHOWS NO DESIRE TO FULFILL PEDGE

Assured Kiwanis Club Two Months Ago Juvenile Court Would Be Opened.

FEARS ADDED EXPENSE

Yet "Economical" Mayor Hires Stenographer at City Hall For First Time in History.

Pledging to the special boys' committee of the Kiwanis Club two months ago, that a juvenile court would be in operation in London within one month, Mayor Cameron Wilson has once more shown his inability to keep his word in that no action has yet been taken to make good that pledge.

Interested in the welfare of London's youth, leading business and professional men of the city, representative of the Kiwanis Club, waited on Mayor Wilson, a fellow-Kiwanian, to urge that a juvenile court be established here.

In characteristic fashion his worship assured the committee members that their wishes would be acceded to, and even went so far as to promise to fulfill their request within a month.

That month has passed, along with thirty more days of grace, and the juvenile court is still conspicuous by its absence.

That the broken pledge of Mayor Wilson has not passed unnoticed is evidenced by the condemnatory comments which have been passed on his inaction by the committee members, who feel that they have been slighted by him.

However, the mayoralty balm handed out two months ago is becoming monotonous, and the boys' committee of the Kiwanis Club has decided to interview his worship and demand a showdown and his reasons for shelving the juvenile court, which London needs and demands.

Must Wield Club.

Should this interview prove unsatisfactory, owing to the determination of London's mayor to have things his own way in his own good time, the boys' committee will interest all societies of London, whose scope of endeavor includes the city's youth, in an effort to present the recalcitrant mayor with a formidable array of prominent and influential citizens, who will point out to him the error of his ways, and direct him along a much-needed line of safe and sane thinking to execute the wishes of the people who elected him last December.

Mayor Wilson foolishly declares that much of the agitation in favor of a juvenile court for London has emanated from persons who are anxious to create jobs for themselves or their friends.

Does he mean to insinuate that the boys' committee of the Kiwanis Club, selected to act solely because of fitness and interest in juvenile work, has this mercenary motive in view?

Does he believe sincerely that Inspector W. E. Kelly of the Children's Aid Society, who has repeatedly urged the establishment of a juvenile court, desires a job for which there is to be little if any remuneration, but much labor?

Is it the opinion of the "wonder" mayor of London that The Advertiser, which through its columns has pleaded for the last year that London

Munster Province Cut Off As National Forces Press Advance.

Belfast, July 20.—Alarming accounts of the situation in King's County reached Belfast in dispatches received today. Tullamore and Birr are described as in a pitiable plight.

One party which volunteered to go from Tullamore to some of the outlying villages to procure food and milk for the women and children was held up by the republicans on the way back, the messages state, and the supplies commandeered.

A new order has been issued at Tullamore that any motor car arriving in the town must be kept for military purposes, and according to the Belfast Telegraph correspondent, all males from 14 years upwards in the region between Tullamore and Birr are being conscripted.

A large section of the conscripts, however, is reported to have deserted and joined the national forces, some of them arriving in the neighboring villages wearing only their trousers and shirts, having left their various barracks during the night.

The republicans hold the Tullamore postoffice, and no old age pensions have been paid or letters delivered for more than a fortnight.

Hold Military Barracks.

The military barracks at Birr, held by the republican forces, forms their headquarters in the midlands, and the postoffice, court house and other public buildings there have been taken over.

All roads leading to the town are guarded and barricaded with sandbags, while trees have been cut down and trenches dug for further obstructions.

Several of the stores have posted notices reading: "Provisions sold out."

Reports from the fighting area received today indicate a pressure by the National army forces on each

Summons Labatt's For Overstrong Beer

SARNIA, July 20.—Arising out of conviction of T. J. Johnston, proprietor of Victoria poolroom, this city, for selling over-strength beer contrary to the provisions of Ontario temperance act, a summons has now been issued by Chief of Police W. J. Lennin against Labatt's Brewery of London, who are alleged to be manufacturers and wholesalers of the beer which was recently sent by police from here for government testing.

The agent for defendant company has asked for an adjournment of the case for a few days.

PROVIDE HOUSES FOR 10,000 MINERS

London, July 20.—(By the Canadian Press).—A scheme to provide 10,000 houses for miners at the rate of 2,000 houses a year, is being put into operation by the formation of a company, to which thirty large colliery companies will subscribe £1,000,000 capital. No profits will be sought, but the scheme is expected to pay its own way. Besides providing houses, the scheme includes provision for playing fields, institutes and other amenities.

A beginning in this housing scheme is just being made in South Yorkshire, Derbyshire and Wales.

WHEAT TRADERS VOICE SUPPORT

Regina, Sask., July 20.—In the passage of wheat marketing legislation at the special session of the Saskatchewan assembly opening this afternoon, the House is assured of the hearty co-operation and support of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company and the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association.

The directors of the Elevator Company have passed a resolution assuring the government of the hearty co-operation of the company in working out the project when the necessary provincial legislation has been enacted.

ASK AUTHORITIES TO PRESS CLAIMS

London, England, July 20.—(By the Canadian Press).—The Daily Telegraph, referring to the meeting here yesterday of the holders of Grand Trunk Pacific 4 per cent debentures, expressed the view that, whatever technical loophole there may be, it is for the Canadian government to do justice. No effort should be spared, the Telegraph adds, to press the claims of the Grand Trunk Pacific debenture holders on the authorities in Canada, and says: "For the simple reason that the Dominion government, as a borrower, cannot afford to offend potential money tenders, we hope to see a fair settlement of the issue, and as the question is now in capable hands the bondholders should support the committee in every way."

Lauds Caruso As Artist's Friend

MARIA BOZZI.

THE late Enrico Caruso is responsible for the career of Maria Bozzi, the Italian actresss, who makes her debut this year.

From the time she was five years old, until his death, Caruso supervised her career and was her staunchest friend.

Her imitations of the famous singer were the first indications of the dramatic instinct she later developed.

"Caruso was the friend of all struggling artists," she says. "I could write a book filled with instances of his kindness that came to my attention."

Mlle. Bozzi is expected to visit Canada and the United States this winter in an initial tour of the continent which did so much to honor the golden voice of the man whose kindness she lauds.

BRITISH PRINTERS SEEK AMICABLE SETTLEMENT

London, July 20.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—A joint industrial council of the printing trades is engaged in trying to find ground for an amicable settlement of the impasse created by the Typographical Association's ballot against the acceptance of the industrial court's decision that there should be a reduction of wages of 12s 6d weekly, by installments, in the next six months.

Smith Accepts "Challenge" Of Labor Council

WILL ADDRESS MEETING.

NOT for the purpose of "forcing his ideas on others," as he explains, but rather to hear labor's views upon the expediency of the adolescent school attendance act, Edwin Smith, chairman of the board of education, has accepted the "challenge" from the delegates of the Trades and Labor Council, and will accept the invitation to speak at their next regular session.

"I will be only too pleased to do so," the chairman informed The Advertiser Thursday, when I shall be able to hear their views upon questions of education and the school attendance act. I honestly believe that an interchange of ideas in matters of this nature is a good undertaking."

Trustee Smith had previously evinced a desire to hear an expression of the opinion by the rank and file of labor with reference to the provisions of the school act which will compel all children, after September, 1923, to attend school until they are 18 years old.

While the London and other city councils have voiced opposition to the act already effective forcing children to remain at their studies until 16 years of age, the London Trades and Labor Council subsequently upheld the Provincial government members for their action in this respect.

FIVE NARROWLY ESCAPE DEATH IN MOTORBOAT FIRE

Occupants of "Jap" Forced to Jump Into Water Near Deseronto.

Deseronto, Ont., July 20. — Five people had a narrow escape from death by drowning shortly after 11 p.m. yesterday when the motorboat "Jap," in which the party was going from Glen Island to Deseronto, caught fire when the engine back-fired. The occupants of motorboat "Quinte Lady," which was about half a mile away, noticed the flames and came to the rescue and arrived just in time to save the party.

The launch "Jap" was owned by James Johnston of Picton. The five occupants were the owner's son, Kenneth Johnson, and his wife, Edward Nolan, Leo McDonald and Earl Henry. They immediately jumped into the water when the Jap caught fire, and although the men were able to keep afloat, Mrs. Johnson was almost exhausted when the rescue party arrived.

4 RISK LIVES TO SAVE FIRE MANIAC

Garage Mechanic Tries To Hurl Self Into Ruins of N. Y. Conflagration.

New York, July 20.—While thousands of tons of smoldering paper, rice, tar and rubber goods still glowed a dull red, despite the six million gallons of water, 200,000 tons, that have poured on it for the last forty hours, four firemen risked their lives on the third floor of the tottering ruins of the Jane street warehouse early today battling with an insane man who tried to hurl himself from one of the blackened, gaping windows.

With the fire under control, all the fire fighters had been ordered away from the building and police lines drawn to keep spectators from the danger of falling debris. Suddenly, with a yell of "They're after me!" a man burst past the policemen and ran into the building.

The two lines of hose were playing on the front of the structure, and he splashed through two feet of water as he vanished through the smoking entrance.

Firemen reached the man after he appeared against a background of smoke at a window on the third floor. He put up such a struggle that his rescuers were forced to bind his hands and feet and lower him to the street.

The man, a mechanic employed in a garage near the warehouse, was said to have been on the scene ever since the first alarm was turned in. Ambulance surgeons said that he had been made temporarily insane from the excitement.

CITY RAILMEN VOTE TO STRIKE BY BIG MARGIN

Exact Result of Balloting of Shop Trades Union Men Unknown.

SEND VOTE TO MONTREAL

All Hopes of Settlement in U. S. Controversy Now Abandoned.

Although the exact tabulation of the ballots cast Wednesday night by more than 400 members of the Federated Shop Trades employed on the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk railways in this city, could not be learned at noon today, it was intimated by a prominent union official in London that the men in this district had voted unanimously to strike if the wage reduction put into effect by the Canadian Railways Association, Sunday, July 16, was not withdrawn at once.

Employees who were unable to cast their ballots last night will vote today, and by Saturday all the returns will be in Montreal.

It was stated that the result of the nation-wide vote would probably be known by the first of the week.

The keenest interest was manifested by all the men at the special meeting, at which Joseph Corbett, general chairman of the Grand Trunk shopmen in Canada, and L. Beauloin, first vice-president of the Brotherhood of Raliway Carmen for Eastern Canada, sketched in detail the railway situation in America today.

Outlines Grievances.

Mr. Beuloin, who came from Montreal for the express purpose of attending the meeting Wednesday night, outlined the grievances of the employees on the United States roads, and showed conclusively how the strike was justifiable, in his opinion. He explained how the shopmen across the line had been forced to accept a similar reduction a year ago, and how bitterly they resented another cut with the cost of living at the figure it is today.

In a stirring address Mr. Corbett graphically outlined the situation as it affected the workers in Canada, and told them exactly how matters stood at union headquarters in Montreal.

Mr. Corbett has worked unceasingly for the past few months in an effort to bring about an amicable settlement between the Canadian Railways Association and the Federated Shop Trades, and has spent the most of his time at conferences in Montreal.

The gravity of the situation in Canada may be gained from the fact that a deputation, consisting of R. J. T. Tallon, Frank McKenna and Fred Harrison, of Division No. 4, and James Somerville and J. A. McClelland, vice-presidents of the International Machinists' Union, interviewed Premier W. L. Mackenzie King Wednesday with a view to relieving the

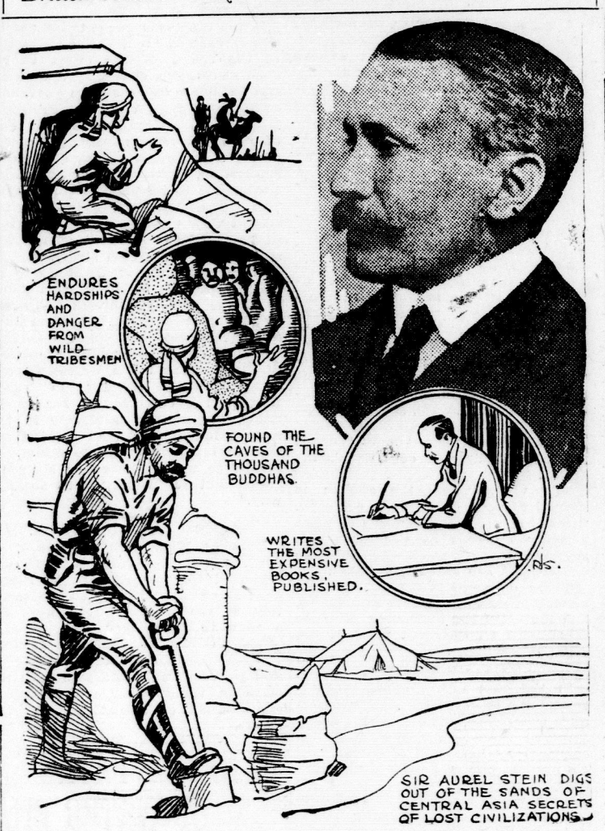
The injured were brought here on the first three coaches of the train, which were not damaged. The wreck was attributed to a broken rail.

BRAVES DESERT TO WIN SECRET

British Author Pokes About Barren Sands of Asia.



SIR AUREL STEIN, BRITISH EXPLORER AND WRITER.

LONDON, July 20. — Winter and summer alike a sturdy little man with grizzled hair and mustache goes poking about in the wild desert sands of Central Asia enduring endless hardships from cold and heat, thirst and hunger, and positive danger from wild tribesmen.

Once in every three years or so this man comes back to civilization and writes the most expensive books published in English.

The "popular" ones sell at about $15. Those intended for scholars sell at from $60 to $100. And they are always snapped up.

This author is Sir Aurel Stein, born in Budapest 60 years ago, for many years a naturalized Briton and much honored subject of King George.

Decides To Probe Desert.

After serving at the head of the Lahore Oriental College in India and with other educational and governmental institutions, Sir Aurel determined to read the riddle of the great stretch of desert from the Pamirs, north of India, to the Pacific coast watershed.

Sir Aurel has dug under and brought to light the relics of vanished civilizations in almost perfect freshness.

He has obtained the manuscripts of two Indo-European languages new to scholars.

He has revealed the secrets of the places where Greek, Indian and Chinese civilizations met.

Alexander's Route To India.

He has found the broad military road Alexander the Great used when he led his Macedonian troopers into India.

He has discovered the footpath used by Chinese pilgrims in quest of the holy places of India connected with the life of Buddha.

But most romantic of all, he has found a buried Chinese wall 140 miles long, on the Chinese frontier in the first days of the Christian era.

Here were the watch towers where homesick Chinese soldiers kept guard, ward rooms in which they sat, remnants of their letters.

Even more wonderful, he found the "Caves of the Thousand Buddhas." Here was a vault hidden from the eyes of man more than 900 years, literally crammed with manuscripts and paintings.

In these old manuscripts rolls were discovered the earliest woodcuts in the world and the oldest specimen of printing. The books and the paintings there found will keep scientific men busy for years to come. An entire new chapter has been added to man's knowledge.

Today Stein is out in the sands, trying to dig out more of their riddles.

Firemen Killed As Train Runs Into Moose

PORT ARTHUR, July 20.—Fireman Robert Kramer, aged 26, of Kenora, was killed and Engineer Goodman of a Canadian National ballast train was severely scalded at two o'clock this morning ten miles east of Horne Payne, second divisional point east of Port Arthur, when the train ran into a moose, overturning the locomotive. DEMAND PAYMENT OF AGE PENSIONS

London, July 20.—By the Canadian Press.—At the request of the National Union of Railwaymen, J. H. Thomas, M.P. labor leader, will introduce a bill in the House of Commons next week to provide for payment of old age pensions of thirty shillings weekly at the age of sixty.

The bill provides for the meeting of the cost of such pensions by equal contributions from the employee, the employers and the state.

BELIEVES CITY COUNCIL IS NOW TOO UNWIELDY

City Clerk Also Sponsors Two-Year Term For Capable Mayors.

OPPOSES WARD SYSTEM

Admits Ontario Legislature Looks Upon Civic London "As a Joke."

Pointing out that the present system of electing a mayor and twelve aldermen to serve in office for one year only in London does not produce efficient administration, City Clerk S. Baker declared Thursday that the ratepayers of London should sponsor a two-year term for these municipal officers.

Mr. Baker states that a mayor and his councillors, under the present system, become acquainted with their duties only after several months of service, and are rendering the most valued service at the time that they are called upon to go to the people again to seek re-election. He believes that there should be eight aldermen only elected in London, the ratepayers voting on four each year to serve for two-year terms.

The present city council of twelve members is unwieldy in his estimation, and should be reduced in number. Permission to bring this change about must first be obtained from the Ontario Legislature, however.

Favors 3-Year Term.

"I am in favor of a 3-year term for mayor," declared the city clerk to The Advertiser, "but some citizens maintain, and rightly so, that three years is a long time to put up with a man who proves to be an objectionable mayor. I am willing to compromise on a two-year term, because a mayor under the present system quite often gets good public work under way and then has to quit.

"It takes a new mayor several months to get accustomed to his office and render one hundred per cent service to the city, and when he is most valuable he must step down. As for those mayors who only wish to serve one year, it would be compulsory for them to pledge themselves to accept a two-year term when seeking election.

"I consider a city council of twelve men too unwieldy. Eight aldermen at a maximum are enough for London. I would suggest that they be elected for two-year terms, four being elected each year. Then they would have an opportunity to do something.

Five Men Better.

"Five men meeting for one hour every morning could transact the city's business much better than twelve," asserted the city clerk. "If the system of eight aldermen were adopted, there should be proportional representation on the city council. That is to say, Liberals, Conservatives and Labor should be represented.

"In electing twelve aldermen to the city council the average voter in London does not know more than two or three of the candidates. You can detect this fact in scanning the way they mark their ballots. One or two candidates will have heavy black crosses opposite their names, showing that the elector meant them to be elected, while the others have a scrawly X beside their names, showing that they are not known to the voter, who merely gives them the benefit of the doubt to complete his slate.

"I am also opposed to the system of electing three aldermen in each ward," concluded Mr. Baker. "That is small town stuff. They should

FOR "WELL TURNED" LEGS NOW ALAS ARE RARE!

BY OMY CORNS.

THE Ideal Partner!

Spelt in large capitals in my great-grandmother's day, he was for ever sought, and when found usually married, being too rare and wonderful a creature to let escape.

But then, think of all the qualities the poor thing must needs have. A handsome face, a fine figure, perfect deportment, command of unlimited small-talk couched in the choicest phrases, well-turned legs which he knew how to use, and last, but not least, a way with mamma.

Today, mother—mamma is obsolete—does not come into the picture. Your partner's face is of no more importance than his small-talk; deportment dropped out of use long ago; there remain his legs and his figure.

His legs may or may not be well turned; it is the way they turn and step that matters; and so long as his figure be neither too tall nor too short, what matters the rest?

Nowadays we go to a dance at Port Stanley, Bayfield or Springbank to dance; if we want to exchange choice phrases we play golf (where the well-turned leg does show up)—with someone else.

In the days of Sir Roger de Coverley and old English dances a witty partner must have been a blessing. Think of waiting while a dozen other couples chassed and turned and bowed beside a man who remarked at intervals, "Pretty hot, what?" This is my present best-partner's only conversational opening.

But then, again, think of dancing a fox-trot or a tango—really dancing them, I mean—with a man who would sparkle delightfully at the expense of someone whom you could not see. Your efforts fully to appreciate his brilliancy would end in an inextricable interlacing of feet.

The Ideal Partner that my great-grandmother adored had little in common with one that was, quite lately, highly recommended by a good dancer who, for the moment, had "no time for him."

I don't deny that Grannie knew a good thing when she saw it; but you get less for your money all round today. She would want too much.

Her Ideal Partner is like the Princess of the fairy tale who was changed into twelve lovely girls, each with one quality only.

The brilliant talkers do not dance; and anyway if they are young they obviously prefer the last generation to sit out with.

The Ideal Partner of today is a brilliant dancer; but he is little else. He knows what is expected of him, and he "delivers the goods."

TRUSTEES FIND MORE DEFECTS IN COLLEGIATE

Add Faulty Plumbing and Sewerage Connection to Already Long List.

SIDEWALKS NOT IMMUNE

Charges of Incompetence Are Heard Since Completion of Structure.

Probably no public building ever erected in London with the possible exception of the new Victoria Public School has been the source of so much impromptu and long-winded debate as the central Collegiate Institute.

Just what is wrong, if anything, in connection with the school in question?

Has it been constructed strictly "according to Hoyle," or is there any substance of truth in the vague rumors and whisperings of "defects" and "inefficiency" which cloud the atmosphere at frequent intervals and threaten once again to furnish the topic for a series of hole-in-the-corner discussions.

Traced With Ease.

From the very moment that plans and specifications were first submitted the history of the new Collegiate can be traced with ease by a seeming endless roster of "fiery challenges," "direct threats," and "official investigations" with an occasional hint of legal action to "safeguard the interests of the common people."

Since the school trustees, a matter of seven months ago, accepted the structure on "approbation," as it were, charges of obstruction and gross incompetence have succeeded one another with startling rapidity. Committees have convened with "rapid-fire precision," adjourned and met again. Resolutions, as plentiful as election promises, but twice as reassuring, have been passed with that easy nonchalance, possible only after long practice.

Persons' means of livelihood swayed perilously in the balance as trustees and others have time and again conducted "official" inspections of the much-abused institution.

"What is the matter with the Collegiate anyhow?" is the pertinent query of the patient man-on-the-street, long grown weary of this and similar controversies.

No one person, or group of persons, seem to know definitely. If they do they are remaining tight-mouthed with their information. At the last meeting of the committee directing movements, the school architect advised the trustees not to remove the flooring of the school, but to make a reduction in the bill for the same.

Cloaked With Secrecy.

Nothing further was forthcoming in the manner of explanation. All transactions, the taxpayers note, are seemingly still cloaked with secrecy, yet scarcely a day passes but that a new rumor is set at large for the benefit of the "long-suffering public."

As the initial complaint last January, the building was declared inartistic in appearance—too "squatty." Trustee William Clark emerged with the suggestion to add another floor. He proposed to exterminate two birds with one missile—accommodate pupils already crowded out and incidentally save the appearance of the school.

Amused tolerance was Trustee Clark's bit of reward from his colleagues, and after that—impenetrable silence. The critics turned to other things. It was then "discovered" that the floors were of an inferior quality. Pandemonium cut loose in board of education circles, and quickly taking up the battle cry the panic-stricken populace shouted themselves hoarse—"it will fall in yet."

Another observer noticed that the gymnasium was askant. By actual measurement, there was a difference of eight inches in the ends, he solemnly declared. This must have been forgotten, evidently, as nothing further was heard, while the trustees debated one with another as to why expensive carpets and curtains had been ordered for the domestic science room. And all the ratepayers wondered.

Constructed in Haste.

Climax followed climax. Swooping down upon the job unexpectedly one afternoon, the committee announced to the startled electors—"the cement sidewalks have been constructed in great haste and with no regard for efficiency."

Now comes the blow calculated evidently to break the hump on the camel's back—faulty plumbing and sewerage connections.

What about these alleged defects? Will they be subject to a proper hearing at the Thursday meeting of the board and the school formally accepted from the contractors and all debts squared?

elect eight men from the entire city, with the mayor in possession of the odd vote. However, special legislation would be necessary to bring this change about, and it is doubtful if it can be obtained, as down at Toronto London is looked upon as a joke, owing to so many experiments having been made here in municipal administration."

REPORTS LENINE RECOVERING.

Moscow, July 20.—At a workmen's meeting today, President Zinovieff of the central committee of the Third Internationale, made a decidedly reassuring announcement as to the condition of Premier Lenine.

"The premier is not only recuperating, but has almost completely recovered," he said. Loud cheers and applause greeted the announcement.

SHOWS NO DESIRE TO FULFILL PLEDGE

should have a juvenile court in justice to the children, has job seekers on its staff who seek to slip into the chair of the juvenile court judge?

If the mayor does not conscientiously believe any of the above agencies are agitating for personal gain, then who are the parties trying to work in a juvenile court judge unless it be that the mayor himself has something up his sleeve.

None of the welfare organizations of London would be guilty of framing up an appointment for the juvenile court and no one believes such an alibi.

It is time that Mayor Wilson played the game fairly and laid his cards on the table regarding the juvenile court question.

Let him come out with his real reason for holding up this need of the city's children.

According to a published report, "Mayor Wilson and the council have always been willing to institute a juvenile court."

If so, they have taken poor methods of demonstrating their willingness.

Representatives of leading welfare organizations must kneel at the shrine of Mayor Wilson before their pleas will be listened to, and it seems to be his delight to have citizens who put him into office for the first and last time chasing him here and there in search of an audience.

Assuming a "holier than thou" attitude may work satisfactorily in July, but the victims of such hypocrisy will be intelligent enough to retain the memory of such treatment six months hence, and to carry it into action at the municipal polls next December in such a manner as to forever blight the parliamentary aspirations of his worship.

"A visit to the police court on the day when a child is to be tried would dispel such erroneous notions that the juvenile delinquent, when brought before the bar of justice, is herded with a crowd of drunks, thieves and rogues," the London "denial" organ publishes in defence of Wilson's inaction.

The visit, unless the system is altered especially for the occasion, will not dispel the conception of what actually happens at Carling street several days each week when juvenile delinquents are haled into court.

These delinquents are herded into a small room by an officer in uniform, and too often the open door provides them with an excellent view of the court proceedings.

Mother Put in Box.

In the case of an adult recently summoned to court for selling cigarettes to a minor, not only was the boy involved placed in the witness box occupied by hardened criminals, but his mother, one of London's most respected residents, who never knew what a police court looked like, was forced to climb the Carling street stairs, where bootleggers haggled over who would pay the fine imposed a few minutes previously, and go into the same witness box to give evidence regarding the age of her son, who experimented in purchasing cigarettes.

It is true that Magistrate Graydon deals with juvenile delinquents in his own private office, but they must enter the police station doors in full view of all who pass down the street and climb the stairs which regular court habitues utilize to gain access to this private office.

These young offenders know that they must appear in police court, the fact being impressed upon them by the regulation summons, which is brought to their door by a police constable in uniform.

Every other child in the block knows that someone has done wrong when the constable strides up to the door and loudly rings the bell.

It is not right that humiliation should be brought to the homes of Londoners because Willie Jones played ball in the road, or Tommy Smith forgot to don a bathing suit before taking a dip in the Thames.

A juvenile court would eradicate all this disgraceful red tape, but Mayor Wilson cannot see it that way, or is camouflaging the whole thing to serve his own personal motives.

Expense Infinitesimal.

Expense has been quoted as an argument against a juvenile court for London. The only expense involved is renting an office away from the police station area, and employment of a juvenile court judge for a few hours each week. Other municipalities in Ontario much smaller than London have enjoyed a juvenile court with splendid results for months and no complaint about the expense involved has ever been made.

On the word of experts in juvenile work such a court returns the funds expended one hundredfold in results obtained.

Mayor Wilson has engaged a private stenographer at the city hall, he being the first chief magistrate of London to require such help. A juvenile court could be operated entirely in London on her salary.

A commission to investigate the transportation problem in London, with power to expend a reasonable amount of money to obtain a report, was railroaded through the city council recently in short order.

No such fate is predicted for the juvenile court, although it will cost little more than the expenses of this commission.

Expense is not the real reason for Dr. Wilson reneging on the juvenile court proposition. He is willing to consider it when it suits his convenience unless citizens of London rule otherwise.

Broken pledges are characteristic of a certain class of people, but they are not becoming to the mayor of a city which boasts of 62,000 population. Dr. Wilson has promised a juvenile court for London, and fulfillment of his pledge is long overdue.

Nothing can be gained in popular sentiment by postponment of action. A juvenile court has got to come for London, and Mayor Wilson can take steps to inaugurate it more gracefully right now than next December, when his political career ends.

WORRIED OVER COAL SUPPLY

U. S. Government Officials Concerned Over Falling Off in Production.

Governor of North Carolina Declines President's Request for Support in Strike.

Wellsburg, W. Va., July 20.—The number of recovered dead in the gun battle at the Clifton mines at Cliftonville, of Monday morning, was last night brought to five, when a deputy sheriff located the body of a man, who had been shot twice, in a field about half a mile from the spot where Sheriff H. H. Duvall fell. Twenty-one new arrests were made last night in connection with the round-up of those suspected of having taken part in the fight.

While the government today awaited at Washington the first indication of the result of the effort to reopen coal mines closed by the strike, and further responses from governors of states, called upon by President Harding to co-operate to that end, officials showed increasing concern over the continued falling off in coal production, particularly at non-union mines, due to inadequate car supply. The curtailment emphasized in the official view the co-relation, in effect at least, of the walkout of railroad shopmen and the coal strike.

With responses received up to an early hour this morning from about 20 of the state executives addressed by President Harding, that from Governor Morrison of North Carolina was the only one declining support of the position taken by the federal administration. Statjng in effect that in the absence, so far as he knew, of any strike trouble in the mining industry of that state, there was no occasion to invite miners to return to work. Governor Morrison added that he "would not do so anyway."

ASKS STATE CONTROL.

Lansing, Mich., July 20.—Governor Alex. J. Groesbeck, in a telegram prepared for transmission to President Harding today, asked the sanction of the federal government for a plan to take over and operate Michigan mines under state control. The message asked whether the federal government would join with the state in taking over and directing resumptions of operations in the mines.

TO DECIDE FATE OF WATER BILL

pointed under the bill if ratified, and this body, composed of three members, will investigate water resources of Ontario already in use, and all previous legislation on the matter is to be repealed by this bill. It is officially designated Bill No. 249.

It defines the rights and duties of all users of water in Ontario, and therefore is of sweeping importance to London and district. Penalties for infractions of the bill are also to be provided.

The city council will likely be asked by No. 1 committee to pass an opinion on the bill, which opinion will be forwarded to Hon. Mr. Brown, minister of lands and forests for Ontario, and upon the attitude assumed by municipalities of the province will depend the fate of this bill at the next session of the legislative assembly.

PRESENT TRIBUTE TO MRS. RICHMOND

A handsome silver bread tray was the lovely gift of remembrance presented to Mrs. J. R. Richmond Wednesday afternoon by members of the Aberdeen Mothers' Club. Mrs. Richmond is shortly leaving for Los Angeles.

Forty members of the club visited Mrs. Richmond at her camp at Wonderland to make the presentation, and were delightfully entertained throughout afternoon and evening.

Following a dainty supper games were entered into and an excellent program of songs and recitations carried out.

The presentation was made by Mrs. T. Walton, while an address read by Mrs. W. Bartlett testified to the regret with which the Aberdeen Mothers' Club loses a much valued member.

DENIES MACAROW AIDED ACCOUNTANT

J. G. Muir Takes Stand in Trial of Bank Manager.

Montreal, July 20.—A description of the method employed in making up the return to the government was given the court at this morning's hearing of the case of D. C. Macarow, ex-general manager of the Merchants' Bank of Canada, who is charged with making a false statement in the return on the bank's condition for October, 1921. The evidence was supplied by J. Gillespie Muir, chief accountant of the Merchants Bank. Mr. Muir said that the return for October, 1921, was made up several times, owing to changes in classifications, though these alterations referred to sums totalling only $14,000 out of assets reported on of $185,000,000. The first return was prepared on Nov. 17 and the last Sunday, Nov. 19, the latest day on which it could be mailed in order to reach Ottawa in the time specified in the bank act.

Answering questions put to him by N. K. Laflamme, K.C., M.P., counsel for Mr. Macarow, Mr. Muir said that he had prepared, during his term of employment with the bank, approximately 400 monthly returns in a similar manner to the metnod adopted in preparing the October, 1921, figures. Mr. Muir said he had been in the service of the Merchants Bank for 35 years. He swore that during the time he was preparing returns he had never received a suggestion to make up the figures in other than the proper form from Mr. Macarow or anybody else.

CITY RAIL MEN VOTE TO STRIKE

tension existing at present among the ranks of the Canadian railway men.

Situation Now Acute.

The situation among the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway members is particularly acute, as the Grand Trunk Railway, through its president, Howard G. Kelly, notified the union that a reduction of two to five cents an hour would go into effect at midnight, Wednesday.

Conferences between the railroad and union officials have suddenly ceased and J. E. McGuire, general chairman of the association, has called an emergency meeting of the union heads at Montreal Thursday.

John E. Chick, a local member of the B. of R. E., is at present in Montreal, and will attend the conference at the capital.

TWO RAILMEN KILLED.

Monongahela, Pa., July 20.—Two Pennsylvania railroad patrolmen, a car inspector and a constable, were shot dead early today after their gasoline speedster had been wrecked on the Ellsworth branch, south of Bentleyville, Pa.

Three other men were seriously wounded, while a fourth was hit by a number of buckshot.

The officers were on railroad strike patrol duty.

WILL TEST STRENGTH.

Chicago, Ill., July 20.—With immediate prospects for peace in the rail strike gone, strikers and railroads today settled to a test of strength.

The statement of Chairman Hooper of the railroad labor board that the board was no longer engaged in peace negotiations left the situation open to direct negotiation between strike leaders and railroad chiefs.

Union officials remained firm in their demand that full seniority rights be restored to the 300,000 shopmen now on strike, that being the rock on which peace efforts were broken.

Rail heads were equally firm in their insistence that seniority rights of men now at work be recognized.

There was no indication from either side of a weakening of the determination to carry the point at issue.

Reports today indicated a gradual extension of the curtailment of transportation, some portions, however, being due to the coal situation, but the major part because of lack of repairs to equipment.

In all, 24 trains have been cancelled or are about to be cancelled, said reports from railroad centers in the west.

Join Strikers' Ranks.

Representatives of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks declared that 95 per cent of the 3,000 clerks employed by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad would join the ranks of the strikers today.

Ranks of the strikers were augmented by walkouts in other unions yesterday, and indications today were that there would be further accessions.

Reports of violence fell off somewhat, but troops were called out in two more states, and isolated shootings and whippings continued.

B. M. Jewel, president of the six federated shop crafts, predicted today that the railroads will capitulate and settle the strike within two weeks.

The strike is becoming more effective daily, he said, "and the roads will yield as soon as we bring them to their knees."

Winnipeg, July 20.—Declaring that the Dominion government lacked confidence in its own tribunals, "judging from repeated efforts to establish the awards of the United States Labor Board," D. S. Lyons, chairman of district No. 2 International Association of Mechanics, speaking at a meeting last night, said it was "high time that wages and conditions of the railwaymen were determined with the Dominion and foreign standards not taken as a basis of settlement."

BRYCE LEAVES $25,000 TO OXFORD UNIVERSITY

London, England, July 20.—The late Viscount Bryce, former British ambassador to the Upited States, bequeathed by his will £5,000 to Oxford University for historic study and research, and expressed the desire that his books of permanent value be offered to the Bodleian library of Oxford and the Trinity and Oriole College libraries. The amount of property bequeathed by the will totalled $180,785.

RUSSIANS QUIT HAGUE SESSIONS

Letvinoff Declares Two Conferences Enough For Delegation.

Representatives of Powers Surprised at Latest Development.

The Hague, July 20.—"Russia will attend no more conferences, Genoa and The Hague having been enough for us," Maxim Letvinoff, head of the soviet delegates, made this declaration to the Associated Press last night, between the acts of a gala performance of Shylock, which Louis Bouwmeester gave for the conference delegates and the visiting newspaper representatives.

The Hague was still gasping today over the sudden developments in the conference on Russian affairs yesterday, and the precipitate decision of the European delegates to terminate the gathering immediately, after Maxim Letvinoff, head of the soviet delegation, had offered to submit to Moscow the question of recognizing the validity of Russian pre-war debts and the principle of compensation for nationalized foreign property.

For a few minutes yesterday a large section of the non-Russian representatives, headed by the British, seemed ecstatic over M. Lotvinoff's proposal to waive Russia's claim for credits from the European powers, and seek instructions from the Moscow government on the tangled question of property rights of foreigners.

But when the non-Russians met later without the soviet representatives, they immediately turned down M. Letvinoff's proposal, and decided to snuff out the conference today with the formal presentation of reports from the sub-commissions on credits, debts and foreign property confiscated in Russia.

TO APPROVE EXPENDITURE ON VICTORIA HIGH SCHOOL

Trustees to Discuss Spending $12,000 for Equipment and Renovation.

Gathering in regular session Thursday afternoon members of the board of education will be asked to voice approval of another $12,000 expenditure, for the equipment and renovation of the old Victoria public school, which will be converted into a temporary South London high school.

Approximately $4,000 of this amount will be required, school officials estimate, for placing the old building in proper shape and cleaning up generally. This sum must be provided for in the current expenditures, while the trustees will ask the city council, it is anticipated, for another debenture issue of $8,000.

Although the "startling" report has gone abroad that "it may be impossible to secure a quorum for the meeting rendering it necessary to adjourn the same," W. A. Tanner, secretary of the board, does not entertain such hopes. "The possibility always exists," he commented.

Will Collect Overdue Fees From Soft Drink Vendors At Springbank

Excise authorities will go to Springbank Park Thursday afternoon to collect overdue license fees and excise taxes from soft drink booth proprietors for a period extending from July 1, when the new tax on soft drinks came into effect, until the present date.

Merchants who must take out a $2 license and pay 5 per cent on all revenues taken in on soft drinks are those conducting a soda fountain, ice cream parlor or similar place of business, and who manufacture beverages derived wholly, or in part, from cereals or substitutes thereof, unfermented fruit juices and imitations, aerated or all other compounded or mixed soft drinks.

Extreme difficulty, the excise officials state, has been met with by them, in their attempts to find out what small booths in the district manufacture soft drinks for sale.

The penalty for violation of the law in the respect of not taking out a license, or for failure to pay the excise tax is a fine not exceeding $1,000.

DENY KNOWLEDGE OF RANEY LETTER

Middlesex County Police in Dark Regarding Games of Chance.

Apropos of the quarrel now in progress between Attorney-General W. E. Raney and the police of York County respecting statutes governing games of chance, members of the Middlesex County police squad state that they do not recollect having received any special communication from the Toronto office upon this question or directing them to take any special action.

Provincial Officer Arthur Palmer explains that he is under the impression that a letter was sent to all county police officers several months ago from the crown attorney's office, with certain instructions. This was previous to the period, he believes, when he instituted a campaign at Springbank upon the so-called games of chance.

"Controversies of this nature are bound to arise," commented High Constable Watterworth Thursday. "It is a most difficult problem for a person to determine just what may be, according to the code, interpreted as a game of chance."

Provincial Officer Palmer concurs in this. "It really becomes a matter," he says, "whereby one is compelled to use his own discretion. There are so many games wherein there is an element of skill, as well as chance, that it is often most difficult to arrive at a decision."

The York county dispute arose when the county police halted a lottery at a church bazaar, and while the attorney-general holds that the officer exceeded his duty, the latter is equally confident that he was acting under instructions from the Toronto office.

PROPOSES DOCTORS PARK ON HOSPITAL BOULEVARD

Dr. Hugh Stevenson Suggests Solution to Street Congestion at Victoria Institution.

Once again Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M. L. A. for London, has come forward with the suggestion that physicians be allowed to use the boulevard in front of Victoria Hospital on which to park their autos. Dr. Stevenson's scheme calls for removal of the curb, permitting medical men, whose duties call them to the hospital daily, to park their cars at right angles to the sidewalk.

He points out that scores of autos like Ottawa avenue every morning, and the situation is dangerous in view of the fact that there are street car tracks on this thoroughfare.

Dr. Stevenson presented the same suggestion to the city council some time ago, but no action was taken.

DENMARK'S QUEEN ILL.

Copenhagen, July 20.—Dowager-Queen Louise of Denmark, who is seriously ill with pneumonia, spent a restless night last night, it was unofficially stated this morning.

BLACK KNIGHTS PLANNING DERRY DAY CELEBRATION

Expect Delegations From Western Ontario to Take Part in Parade August 12.

Final plans are being completed by the Royal Black Knights of Ireland for the celebration of Derry Day in London on Aug. 12. The celebration will assume the form of a parade to Queen's Park, with district members of the order participating, following which a program of sports will be run off before the grandstand.

Delegations will be present in London from Stratford and Perth County, Lucan and South Huron County, Ingersoll, St. Thomas and other centers of Western Ontario. Several of these visiting hosts will provide a brass band for the parade, led by the London Orange Brass Band.

All Black Knights of Ireland taking part in the celebration will parade in the regalia and uniform of the order.

WOMEN'S LABOR PARTY HOLDS OUTING AT PORT

Dr. Hugh Stevenson and George Grantham of St. Thomas Guests of Honor.

Success crowned every detail of the first annual picnic of the London Women's Labor party, held at Port Stanley Wednesday. With Dr. Hugh Stevenson, M. L. A., and George Grantham of St. Thomas as guests of honor, approximately 50 members of the party were present, all of whom declared that the day had set a precedent which would be difficult for future picnics to surpass.

The president, Mrs. Fred White, was in charge of the day's outing, and the capable sports committee was composed of Mrs. Palmby, Mrs. F. Harding, Mrs. Bates and Mrs. J. H. Finney.

Winners in the various races were the following:

Children under 10—Marjorie Warren, Marion Finney, Bert King, Jimmy Bates.

Girls 10 to 14—Geraldine Stinson, Freda Palmby.

Girls 15 and over— Maisie Benbow, Amy Hessel.

Partners' race—Phyllis Finney, Freda Palmby.

Married ladies' race—Mrs. Geo. Eddie, Mrs. F. Hudson.

Time race—Mrs. A. Gilmour, Mrs. F. Hodgins.

Chewing gum contest—Amy Hessel, Lucan and South Huron County, Ingersoll, St. Thomas and other centers of Western Ontario. Several of these visiting hosts will provide a brass band for the parade, led by the London Orange Brass Band.

Fat ladies' race—Mrs. Geo. Eddie, Mrs. E. Palmby.

Bean guessing contest—Mrs. Fred White.

WANT ROLLO TO STATE STAND

Labor Council Is Dissatisfied With Minister's Reply to Recent Letter.

Seek Insertion of Fair Wage Clauses in University Contracts.

After receiving an unsatisfactory reply from Hon. Walter Rollo, minister of Labor for Ontario, to their request by letter, asking him what could be done to have a fair wage clause inserted in the Western University contracts for new buildings, the London Trades and Labor Council will write again to have something done in the matter, it was decided at a meeting of the council Wednesday night.

In his letter to the council, the minister stated that there was a fair wage resolution on the statute books since 1900, and that it was enforced in all departments of public works, but that in such works as those projected by Western University, where the government only subsidized the construction, he did not see that a fair wage clause, embodying the resolution on the statute books, could be forced into the written contract.

Of the letter, Harry Kirwin, international organizer for the machinists, who was present at the meeting, said it was "one of Rollo's lame ducks. For Mr. Rollo to say in that letter that he can do nothing for us is a sign of lamentable weakness," he declared.

Ernest Ingles, organizer for the electrical workers, declared that he believed that the minister "has turned us down flat."

No Satisfaction.

J. F. Thompson offered the criticism that there was "no satisfaction in any shape or form in connection with the reply."

Finally, on motion of Thompson, it was decided to write again to the minister to ask him to take a stand on the fair wage clause question.

Delegate R. Hessel, head of the committee who met the board of governors of Western University with regard to the insertion of the clause on Friday night last, reported that the board had received the committee very cordially and that they had requested them to make a written statement of their pleas to be presented at a later date.

John McGuire, president of the council, explained that the council had asked the university governors to insert a schedule of wages in the contracts.

"We feel," he asserted, "that when a contract for half a million is let, and a development occurs so that the contractor can lower the scale and put the money in his pocket, the money really belongs to the people of London."

With the Thompson resolution passed the discussion ended.

To Pay Expenses.

William Tite and John McGuire were elected at the meeting as London's representatives to the Trades Union Congress, which opens in Montreal Aug. 21. It was decided that all expenses of the delegates should be paid and that they should receive $6 per day for the week of the meeting on account of loss of wages.

No action was taken on two resolutions sent by the United Mine Workers of America, Nova Scotia locals, who recently convened in that province. The first dealt with the endorsation to be sent to the Dominion government of a distress loan of $15,000,000 to Russia. The second was a plea to the same government to consider a system of occupational representation whereby each major profession would be represented in parliament instead of the whole country being represented territorially, as it is at present.

Delegate William Tite, after reading an excerpt from The London Advertiser, in which the chairman of the board of education, Edwin Smith, attacked the provision of the adolescent act requiring all children to attend school until 18 years old, and in which he declared that he wished he could have an expression of the subject from "the rank and file of labor," moved that Smith be invited to the next meeting of the council to hear labor's views.

Resolution Passed.

Delegate Ernest Ingles took objection. He said that "Smith had taken upon himself to express labor's views, which he was not competent to do," and he did not believe that the "business of the council should be cluttered up with speakers airing their views." The objection was not upheld and the resolution passed.

Three resolutions of Delegate William Tite, which he intends to present to the congress in Montreal, were passed. The first one resolved that "Whereas it is imperative that the working people should have one day's rest in each calendar week, and whereas if that day's rest is not obtained the health of the worker is endangered, thereby lowering the moral and physical standard of the country, the Dominion government should pass an act making compulsory on all employees, by fine and imprisonment, a strict observance of the law."

The second urged upon the government the development of the coal fields of Canada that employment might be provided and unrest allayed.

Oppose Repeal of Act.

The third was against the repeal of the adolescent act. It stated: "Resolved that the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, in convention assembled, do go on record against the repeal of the act, and urge upon the incoming executive to do all within their power to keep the act upon the statutes of Ontario."

Harry Kirwin spoke to the council on the need of greater political activity of labor, citing the coal strike in Nova Scotia, the coal strike in the United States, and other smaller ones, as pointing to the need of labor men in Parliament who could draft legislation on arbitration which would penalize employers, as well as employees, for lack of observance of it.

A letter of thanks and appreciation from the head of the Ontario Carpenters' Union for the support given to the union in its recent convention in London was read at the meeting.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people.—Proverbs 14:34.

THE sources of artificial strength and artificial weakness are being dried up. Governors and governed, employers and employed, are coming to be coworkers for the same ends. Not the old mercies repeated, but new mercies going vastly deeper than the old—these are what men are beginning to see that the world is needing and that God is giving to the world He loves.—Phillips Brooks.

FROM MRS. PATTERSON, 809 Queen's avenue, the public utilities commission has received an addition of three ring doves for the Springbank zoo. Park Superintendent E. E. Graham suggests placing them in with the crows, a study in "black and white" as it were.

ALTHOUGH HE COMPLAINED bitterly a few days ago that his office was a "regular hot box," City Clerk S. Baker is now wearing a happy smile produced by the erection of a large awning over his plate glass window to protect him from the rays of Old Sol, so wont to beat down upon his back as he sat at his desk.

MEETING IN SPECIAL session at the Middlesex county buildings Saturday, the reeves of several townships, together with John Cousins, warden of Middlesex, will consider proposals for the construction of small bridges at certain points throughout the county. That four or five at least will be built where most needed is now anticipated.

COURT OF REVISION to hear appeals against assessment in Ward two will meet Friday night in the city hall. Several appeals against income, business and land and building assessment are slated for a hearing at this session. In addition to the above program, the board is expected to hand down several decisions on appeals from Ward three ratepayers which were reserved at the last court sitting.

AS A RESULT of decay of the wooden upright which supported the watchman's elevated shanty at Clarence street crossing of the Grand Trun Railway workmen are engaged in replacing the upright by steel girders, which will better withstand the elements. In the meantime the gates on the crossing are not being operated, the watchman on duty protecting traffic from the ground by means of a flag and lantern.

UNDER THE DIRECTION of the superintendent of works, Captain Robinson, the work of painting and generally renovating of the public schools is proceeding at full speed ahead. Rectory street school is reported as being already completed. It is the plan of the department to paint a certain number of schools each year. It is estimated that each building will receive a brand new coating at least once every four years.

NOT "BOWING HIS VIOLIN," but violining his bow," a one-armed musician, in the Market Square, Thursday morning filled the crowd who were gathered about him with amazement at the dexterity with which he managed to draw the most entrancing sounds from his instrument. Holding the bow between his knees, and with his one arm, drawing the violin against it, the violinist played as well as could be expected with even two hands.

BUILDING PERMITS issued in London this month number 91, and the total cost of construction estimated up to Wednesday is $152,460. Among the larger permits issued by Building Inspector A. M. Piper, Wednesday, are the following: R. S. Wilson for a one-story brick veneer dwelling on Windsor crescent, to cost $4,000; John Glen for a 1½-story similar house on Emery street to be erected at an estimated cost of $4,100, and to the Labatt Brewing Company for an one-story frame shed on Simcoe street to cost $600.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HOLDS FETE DAY

Empress Avenue Organization Stages Annual Picnic at Springbank.

With keenly-contested races and well-matched baseball games featuring the program, in the neighborhood of four hundred members of Empress avenue Sunday school, from the youngest to the oldest, took part in the school's annual picnic held at Springbank Park Wednesday.

The best of weather conditions crowned the day, and the long list of events in the sporting program were run off without a hitch. Special cars accommodated the picnickers, who left the city at 2:40.

The following were winners in the races:

Girls under 7 years—D. Smithson, E. Ramson, R. Deacon.

Boys under 7 years—H. Rapson, A. Venner, H. Wimmer.

Girls under 9 years—L. Hays, F. Rossiter, F. Trott.

Boys under 9 years—K. Wimmer, N. Page, J. Robinson.

Girls under 12 years—Edith Bowie, K. Charlton, M. Lippsett.

Boys under 12 years—H. Wildrust, K. Wimmer, G. Boyce.

Girls under 14 years—Irene Graham, Edith Bowie.

Boys under 14 years—H. Wildgust A. Charlton.

Married ladies—Mrs. Fred Fuller, Mrs. R. Venner.

Married men—Charles Manners, A. McNiven.

Chums' race — Watermelon for everyone.

CHESLEY AVE. MOTHERS' CLUB.

Members of the Chesley Avenue Mothers' Club were amongst those who carried out their annual picnic at Springbank Park Wednesday.

The sporting events and baseball games, which are the usual accompaniment of such a day's outing were carried out without a hitch, and provided amusement for both mothers and children.

The following are the race results:

Children, 6 and under—Alberta Huddard, Roy Lucas.

Girls, 6 to 8—Fanny Mills, Lillian Peters, Nellie Collingwood.

Girls, 8 to 10—Grace Huddart, Fanny Mills, Lillian Peters.

Boys, 8 to 10—Harold Peters.

Girls, 12 to 16—Vera Lucas.

Chum race—Grace Huddart, Fanny Mills, Lillian Peters, Harold Peters, Vera Lucas.

Mother and daughter race — Mrs. Huddart and daughter, Mrs. Lucas and daughter.

Thin ladies' race—Mrs. Huddart, Mrs. Heard, Mrs. Kessick.

Fat ladies' race—Mrs. Mills, Mrs. Lucas, Mrs. Griffin.

Committee race—Mrs. Mills, Mrs. Huddart, Mrs. Lucas.

Graceful walking contest — Mrs. Lucas, Mrs. Heard, Mrs. Stalk.

Time race—Vera Lucas.

Three-legged race—Vera Lucas and Grace Huddart.

SHOE REPAIR PICNIC.

Wednesday was an eventful day at Springbank as far as picnics were concerned, and one of the most successful of the many held at the park was that of the London Shoe Repair Association.

Members of the association, with their wives and families, totalling about 200 persons, were all of the opinion that the third annual picnic overshadowed in its complete success, either of its two predecessors.

All present entered into the program of sports with keen enthusiasm either as participants or as eager spectators, and it was claimed that no one left for home without declaring the day a joy from beginning to end. Unfortunately no record was kept of the race results, but the program was long and varied, and attracted numerous entrants.

City Minister Sees No Harm In Exhibition Bouts

SCORES INTERFERENCE.

ALTHOUGH the Ministerial Alliance, in session Thursday morning, passed a resolution condemning the proposed boxing exhibition starring Jack Dempsey at Port Stanley Friday, and calling upon Mayor Cameron Wilson to halt the bout, Rev. Roy D. Mess, rector of St. David's Anglican Church, refused to join in the protest.

Mr. Moss, who is vice-president of the alliance, declared that there is nothing immoral in the boxing bout, and declined to uphold fellow-ministers in their protest.

"I can see nothing immoral in a boxing bout," said Mr. Moss to The Advertiser, after the meeting. "As far as the London Railway Commission is concerned in permitting the exhibition, that is none of my business.

"There is too much of this interference with our public officials by every Tom, Dick and Harry," continued the vice-president of the Ministerial Alliance. "We elect our public men, and should allow them to do their duty as they see fit without interference. If at the expiration of their terms in office they do not consider that these men have done the right thing, the electors should put other officials in their place.

"I admire the manly art of boxing," concluded Mr. Moss, "and would certainly like to see Jack Dempsey in action, and the wrestling exhibition. I admire boxing because I would much rather hit the other fellow on the nose than have him hit me. It is merely an exhibition scheduled for Port Stanley, and not a battle to the finish."

WATCH NEW ROAD AT THAMESFORD

Residents Interested in Experiment With Economic Variety of Highway.

Residents of Thamesford and vicinity are watching with interest the provincial highway constructed through that municipality last year. The reason for the interest evinced is the fact that this is the most economic road constructed by the provincial authorities in Ontario.

Prior to hauling the stone from the gravel pit, it was first treated with a composition of tar, after which it was placed on the road and rolled level. Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M. L. A. for London, declares that this reduction of hauling the stone to a machine to be mixed with tar and from thence to the road, has cut the expense of building the highway 50 per cent.

However, before more roads of similar construction are laid throughout the province, the authorities desire that the Thamesford stretch prove its worth by withstanding two winters and remaining in first-class condition. Should the road hold up under these tests similar work will be tried out on other provincial highways.

Motorists who have passed through Thamesford recently pronounced the experimental stretch of highway to be in excellent condition, even though it is the cheapest provincial road in Ontario.

PLAN CHANGES IN PROVINCIAL POLICE

Considered Unlikely Department Will Increase Force in Middlesex.

Under direction of Major-Gen. Victor Williams, commissioner of the Ontario Provincial Police Force, the task of reorganizing that department is still proceeding quietly but effectively. Many changes are contemplated throughout the province, it is explained.

Arthur Palmer, who has been transferred from Middlesex to Ontario County has just returned from headquarters in Toronto, and reports that he will leave to assume his new post whenever he can most conveniently clear up all his business in this district.

While certain additions will be made to the force, it is not considered likely that the department will increase the staff for Middlesex County. It is believed, however, that increases will be noted at the several border points.

M'CLARY'S DOWNTOWN WORKS TO HOLD OUTING

Employees Arrange For Festive Time At Springbank, July 22.

The season's second giant McClary Manufacturing Company picnic is to be held Saturday, July 22.

Following the example of the head office staff, the employees of the downtown works have decided to hold a shop picnic at Springbank.

An enthusiastic meeting was held recently, when representatives from the various departments elected a committee to arrange all details in connection with the picnic. The following officers were chosen: E. B. Hessel, chairman; J. Saunders, secretary, and Fred Ham, treasurer.

A novel program of sports has been arranged, with a number of amusing features, and genial George Moll, with his famous "rube band," is expected to add much to the fun of the day.

SENDS POLICE ON WILD GOOSE CHASE

County Resident Reports a Thrilling Battle Between 4 Men Near Kilworth.

Scouring the country for miles west of the city all Thursday morning, a squad of county constables, under the direction of High Constable B. F. Watterworth, and including officers William Fifield and Alex. Shaver, returned to the court house at noon with the report that they were unable to locate four men with an automobile, said to have been battling amongst themselves and otherwise disturbing residents in the vicinity of Kilworth.

"This is just another of those chases that we go on," declared High Constable Watterworth. "We have probably responded to a score of calls for assistance in these and similar affairs, and when our men arrive on the scene peace and quietness reign, and there is no person who can even furnish details of what happened or give a description of the men."

Constable William Fifield points to this occurrence as another instance of the "unfairness" of the system under which members of the county police are compelled to operate.

"Now, we traveled this morning a matter of perhaps 30 miles, scouring the country west of Springbank as far east as Komoka, nad north as well," he said. "As there is no arrest, however, we are not permitted to collect for our time or expense for the machine used."

Rushing breathless into the court house just as the constables reported for duty Thursday morning, a resident of the county registered the complaint of the four men in question, and asked immediate aid. The constables accordingly moved with alacrity, but the report evidently had not been made in time.

WONDERLAND CAMP IS IN READINESS FOR OPENING

Park Fitted With Adequate Lighting Facilities, Water Connections and Stores For Civic Tourists.

With adequate lighting facilities, fresh water connections and other all conveniences, London's civic tourists camp at Wonderland, en route to Springbank Park, is all in readiness for the official opening Thursday night.

Park Superintendent E. E. Graham reports that the grass has been cut, all debris removed, certain trees felled, and the grounds placed in general good shape.

"We are all ready for the start," Manager A. O. Hunt, of the utilities commission, commented Thursday morning. "Arrange for the band and refreshments on the lawn."

The latter will also recommend the purchase of a half dozen small stoves with cement bases, specially designed for camping purposes, to be placed at the grounds for the use of visitors. Charcoal can be used with these, it is explained, with no danger of setting ablaze the surrounding brush or trees.

Obituaries

MRS. GEORGE EVERITT.

Elizabeth Anne Everitt, wife of George Everitt, senior, contractor, died Wednesday. The funeral will be held from the family residence, 635 Central avenue, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

MRS. CLARA E. COX.

The funeral of Clara E. Cox, widow of the late Willis T. Cox, who died Wednesday at her home, No. 4 Shea Apartments, Central avenue, was held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Services were conducted by Rev. H. B. Ashby of St. Matthew's Anglican Church. Interment was made at Woodland Cemetery.

Treasurer Non-Committal On Who Should Pay For Springbank Pupils

Does the burden of responsibility for the payment of fees for those children who attend the Riverview Public School while they live on city property at Springbank, their fathers being city employees, rest upon the members of the city council?

While board of education officials maintain that these pupils should not be exempted, one of the city employees, who explained Thursday that he believed that his three children would be included in the seven in question, added that he was always under the impression that it was not necessary for him to furnish the stipulated fee, a matter of more than $40 for each child.

While unwilling to express any definite opinion upon the question, City Treasurer James Bell pointed out Thursday that these employees were not residing in the county for the express purpose of avoiding the payment of school taxes, but in order to be near their places of employment.

ASSAIL MORALITY OF DEMPSEY BOUT

London Ministerial Alliance to Urge Railway Commission to Exercise Powers.

Expressing themselves as unalterably opposed to the coming exhibition of boxing and wrestling at Port Stanley Friday, with Jack Dempsey, world's champion heavyweight, featured as the principal attraction, members of the London Ministerial Alliance intend to urge the London and Port Stanley Railway Commission to exercise its powers in the withdrawal of the exhibition.

Voicing emphatic disapproval of such an exhibition, on the ground that it was morally degrading, members meeting in special session Thursday morning with one dissenting voice drew up a resolution for presentation to the mayor of London and to Philip Pocock, chairman of the London and Port Stanley Railway Comission.

The meeting was called at the instigation of the president, Rev. J. M. Versey, who declared that the alliance should not allow such an exhibition to continue without expressing themselves on the matter.

The resolution reads as follows:

"Whereas it has come to our attention that an exhibition of boxing, wrestling, etc., with Jack Dempsey as principal, is being staged at Port Stanley on July 21, on the grounds directly controlled by the London Port Stanley Commission, and that tickets for the exhibition are on sale at the L. P. S. depots.''

"And whereas it would appear from these facts that the L. P. S. Commission is therefore responsible for, if not indeed furthering the exhibition."

"Be it, therefore, resolved that we do express ourselves as unalterably opposed to this or any other such exhibition under the auspices of the L. P. S. Commission, and, therefore, indirectly under the auspices of all the citizens of London, as being morally degrading."

"And we urge in the strongest way that even at this late hour the commission accept its responsibilities and exercise its powers to withdraw the said exhibition."

UNIVERSITY TO ASK LABOR COUNCIL FOR STATEMENT

Executive Secretary Feels Calling for Tenders Cannot Be Delayed Much Longer.

No action being taken by the Trades and Lobor Council at its meeting Wednseday night concerning the drawing up of a written statement of their demands of Western University on wage schedules in building contracts soon to be let, Col. W. Brown, executive secretary of Western University, will again request of the council the statement, in view of the fact that advertising for tenders cannot be held up any longer.

If nothing is done on the part of the council then, the contracts will be let forthwith.

WHEABLE TO BE KNOWN AS JUNIOR SCHOOL INSPECTOR

Department of Education Expected to Announce Change in Title.

Geoffrey A. Wheable, who during the past few months has been the assistant to Senior School Inspector V. K. Greer, holding the official position of "supervisor of principals," will be soon announced by the Toronto authorities as a junior school inspector.

Mr. Wheable has but recently written the test now directed by the provincial department before one may assume the proper title.

The supervisor's appointment will be ratified by the board of education before the fall term opens, and he will then become junior school inspector, although his duties will remain as they are at present.

OWEN DAWSON TO TALK TO KIWANIS

Owen Dawson, secretary of the Shawbridge Boys' Farm and Training School, will be the speaker and guest of honor at the Kiwanis luncheon at the Tecumseh House Friday, July 21.

Mr. Dawson, who is to spend a couple of weeks at the Kiwanis Boys' Camp, has taken an active part in work amongst boys, and members are looking forward with keen anticipation to his discussion of the subject.

The members of the Shawbridge Boys' Band are also to be guests at the luncheon, afterwards spending some time at the camp.

A. E. Sherlock is to be booster at the luncheon at which the names of two new members will be proposed.

Find Mayor Wilson Five Days Out

OBSERVANT members of the board of education hasten to correct Mayor Cameron Wilson, who essayed the opinion Wednesday that it was 67 days since the civic commission had gathered at Smallman's for their second regular session. It is now 72 days, they said, by actual count, as City Clerk Baker's files record May 10 as the date in question.

NOT CONCERNED IN ENFORCING LAW

Utilities Commission Disclaims Responsibility For Not Barring Autoists From Park.

Is it true, as has been claimed, that the police constables fail to enforce the bylaw passed recently by the city council restricting the use of Victoria Park to autoists during the afternoons?

A. O. Hunt, acting manager of the public utilities commission, declared Thursday that the matter "was of no concern to the utilities department."

"We are not policemen or private detectives," he added, "or we would have badges or something to show who we were."

E. E. Graham, park superintendent, explains that the park employees are not vested with any power to halt drivers and enforce the laws. "If they even speak to motorists about driving the wrong direction, they are questioned as to their authority for so doing," he pointed out.

In the meantime, the comissioners will assume a strictly neutral attitude. If the police bar the way to the park driveways in accordance with the recent bylaw, well enough, they say. If the regulation is not enforced, they are equally satisfied, they state. It is really none of their affair, they hold.

TO EXHIBIT PICTURES OF LONDON IN UNITED STATES

Committee on Hotel Investigation to Send Cameraman to Photograph Vicinity.

W. A. Lane, secretary of the committee of the Ontario Legislature committee on hotel and tourist accommodation, which visited London a week ago, has written to the London Chamber of Commerce, thanking it for its reception of them during their stay in the city. The letter also informed the chamber that the moving picture operator which they promised would take pictures of Springbank and Port Stanley for exhibition in the United States would shortly come to London.

In addition the communication stated that the committee were leaving for a tour of New York State, where tourist accommodation and facilities would be investigated. It is also stated that the committee would act on the suggestion of the London Chamber of Commerce, and give a deal of publicity to the Canadian division of the Theodore Roosevelt Highway, which runs between Portland, Maine, and Portland, Oregon, entering Canada at Niagara and leaving at Windsor.

CONVICT SLAGHT ON DRUG CHARGE

Magistrate Convinced Accused Possessed Cocaine at Time of Arrest.

Counsel For Defense Intimates That Case Will Be Appealed.

Thomas McMaster and Daniel Love, given in police court Thursday morning, Walter Slaght was convicted of having drugs in his possession illegally. He was remanded until Friday for sentence. His counsel, Albert M. Judd, intends to appeal the case, on the ground that Deputy Magistrate P. H. Bartlett should not have registered a conviction as the drug was not produced, and the policeman gave only "opinion" evidence.

According to McMaster, the defendant came out of a house on the northwest corner of Carling and Ridout streets at 5:30 o'clock Wednesday evening. He had a white envelope in his hand, and held it up so that Sidney Sears, who was with Slaght, could see it.

"I want to speak to you, Slaght," McMaster stated, he said.

"What for?" asked the defendant.

"I want to see what you have in your hand," the officer answered.

Scuffle Ensued.

A scuffle ensued, McMaster claimed Slaght tried to put the envelope in his trousers, but failed. White powder, the officer testified, was spilled on the prisoner's trousers.

"What was it?" asked Chief Robert Birrell, who was prosecuting.

"Cocaine," McMaster replied.

"How do you know it was?" questioned counsel for the defence.

"I know it was cocaine, because it was white powder, and by the smell."

"What is peculiar about the smell?" asked Mr. Judd.

"It smells like the inside of a drug store," was the answer.

Daniel Love, an employee of the Taylor-Campbell Electric Company, appeared as a crown witness. He stated he was passing the corner of Carling and Dundas street Wednesday night, and saw the constable about to make the arrest. He stopped to watch the proceedings.

Love corroborated the evidence of McMaster as to the details of the arrest.

"Do you know Slaght?" asked Chief Birrell.

"I know him to see him. He was pointed out to me by another fellow as a 'junk' dealer. I asked him what a 'junk' dealer was, and he said a 'dope' peddler.

"I saw Slaght about a week ago on the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets. He passed a little white envelope to a man and received money for it."

Was Never Convicted.

In his own defence, Slaght stated he had never been convicted or accused under the drug act, that he had never used cocaine.

He stated he had gone to the house to see a man named Fred Smith, who was not home. The envelope found in his possession contained boracic acid, he explained. He had been carrying it and an eye-dropper in his hip pocket for about three weeks, he volunteered.

Sears, his companion, was dismissed of a charge of vagrancy. Sears pleaded for a chance, stating he had only been released after a long term at Burwash, and had a little money left. He declared he had written for a position in Hamilton and hoped to get it. He was in poor health, and leaving at Windsor.

Manitoba Results.

THE MOST important result of the Manitoba elections lies in the fact that the province will have a government that can carry on. The condition in the Manitoba Legislature since the election of 1920 has been uncertain. It was group government that could not govern. The NORRIS government had 21; Conservatives, 7; Farmers, 12; Independents, 4, and Labor, 11. There was at all times the possibility of these groups coming together on some issue in such a way as to defeat the government. This did finally take place on a vote dealing with the public utilities commission, the government losing by an adverse vote of 23 to 27.

It is hard to draw political lessons from the Manitoba results that have a wide enough bearing to be of Dominion interest. Where the Farmers are making gains it is certain that they are drawing much of their increase from the ranks of the Liberals. That same condition holds true in Ontario. Progressives, in the majority of cases, were Liberals before, and in many instances, still are under the new name.

The Conservative party in Manitoba gained little from the reverses of the Liberals. They are still suffering from the memories of the ROBLIN and ROGERS system of bedevilling a province.

It will be interesting to see wherein there will be a difference in the policy of the new government and that of the NORRIS administration, which was carrying on a clean, progressive work for the province.

THE Manitoba election was also notable by reason of the fact that proportional representation voting was followed in Winnipeg. Ontario is not familiar with this method, but it has many points that merit consideration and a little study. The reason for proportional representation is that a legislature elected in this way is more representative of the whole electorate. The plan has many advocates in Britain, among them such men as RIGHT HON. A. J. BALFOUR, RIGHT HON. H. H. ASQUITH, LORD ROBERT CECIL, LORD CURZON, LORD MILNER and many others.

Take a few cases in Canada, and it will be seen that many electors, under our system, have no representation. The British Columbia elections of 1912 resulted as follows:

	Votes.	Seats.
Conservative	51,181	31
Liberal	21,261	0
Socialist	12,087	2

In the federal election of 1911 British Columbia elected no Liberals, although more than two-sevenths of the whole vote was cast for Liberal candidates. The election results were:

	Votes.	Seats.
Conservative	25,622	7
Liberal	16,350	0

The general election of 1904 gave Liberals 18 seats in Nova Scotia, as follows:

	Votes.	Seats.
Liberal	56,526	18
Conservative	46,131	0

Instances could be cited all over the Dominion showing the same state of affairs—a large number of voters of the same political faith having no representation.

How does proportional representation work? It is easier to get the idea by calling it the transferable vote. When the ballot with the list of candidates for an office is presented, the elector, instead of marking "X" after his choice or choices, votes as follows, that is, taking it for granted there are several candidates in the field:

(c)—Place the figure 3 after the third choice.

A candidate does not need to poll a majority, but a certain proportion called the quota, being the smallest number of votes to insure election. If three were to be elected, it would take one vote more than one-fourth of the votes cast to insure the election of a candidate. The quota is determined by dividing the total number of votes cast by one more than the number of representatives to be elected, and adding one.

The objections raised to the system are: (1) That people do not understand it, and therefore have more spoiled ballots; (2) That it takes a long time to count the ballots and transfer the votes. Calgary reports that it takes 2½ times as long as under the old system. These objections could undoubtedly be raised to any new system. Opinion in this country seems to be fairly well divided as to its use here, although it is hard to combat the main idea of giving a more representative character to our elective bodies, municipal, provincial or federal.

Swearing in Public.

THE Ottawa Journal says the Roman Catholic Association of Commercial Travelers of Quebec is to be commended for its campaign against swearing in public places in the province. It has solicited the co-operation of the railway companies, the proprietors of hotels and taverns, and has sought the aid of the provincial government. It is a splendid aim—the elimination of swearing and indecent language in public.

Well, if in public, why not elsewhere? Is it the contention that a man can pick and choose the place in which he shall swear? A man who does not swear in public is not likely to swear at all.

Swearing, in the last analysis, is a symptom of a perverted mind. The oath simply means there is something out of kilter in the mind and heart of the man using it. Any movement that in a public way seeks to discourage it, although only a means of repression rather than a permanent cure, is in the right direction, and merits approval.

No Discrimination.

ALMOST invariably every year when the form for city taxes arrives at the home of Mr. Londoner he sends up a howl against the high cost of owning his house. At every session of the court of revision which sits to hear appeals against assessment and taxes, several citizens introduce the argument that the workingman bears the brunt of the municipal expense account.

J. G. RICHTER, who originated the present system of assessment employed in London, and who is an expert on municipal taxation, declares that there is no discrimination shown in this city against the workingman. He points out that the citizen with a family obtains greater returns for his taxes than the amount actually expended.

MR. RICHTER asserts that it costs the city of London approximately $40 a year to educate each child attending public school. Assuming that these facts are correct, the cost of educating a family of four children would work out about $160 a year.

Few workingmen pay taxes in excess of this amount per annum here, and therefore when pavements, sewers, police and fire protection and other advantages of city life are considered, the truth of MR. RICHTER'S assertion is apparent.

"Taxation is not based on what a man gets for his money, but what he can pay," declares MR. RICHTER. "The small house owner has not much complaint, because he gets more than he pays for. There is nothing in London to show that the poor man is taxed up to the hilt, as has been contended so often."

London's tax rate may be higher than other municipalities of similar population in the Dominion, but this tax rate applies to rich and poor alike in the community, and there is no singling out of the workingman. It is true that the prosperous citizen is more able to foot the bill, but MR. RICHTER declares that the businessman pays his shot for school taxes on his store or factory, in addition to residential property, even though he may have no children.

MR. RICHTER knows whereof he speaks, and his simple comment on the situation should provide much food for thought.

Wants Canadian Trade.

THE Detroit News fails to see the wisdom of the powers at Washington piling up tariff walls against Canadian trade. Although Canada was disappointed at the showing made in the last census returns, the News points out that in the decade between 1910 and 1920 the Canadian gain was 25 per cent, against a gain in United States of less than 15 per cent.

"Much of Canada's increase," says the News, "was due to immigration—very largely a well-selected immigration. Except for Great Britain, the United States was the principal contributor, many of the emigrants from this country being prosperous farmers, who sold their lands in the Middle West at high prices during a boom period, and took their families and their money to the cheaper but not less fertile fields of Canada's western provinces.

"There can be little doubt, of course, that the development of the western plains of the United States will be duplicated on the plains of Canada. And Canada's success, however great it may be, can never be displeasing to this country. The interests of the two nations are much more nearly related in many respects than are the interests of Canada and Great Britain. Canada's friendship is valuable now, and will become more so as she develops in wealth and power.

"This is something that should be taught to the short-sighted politicians in Washington, who are doing their best to alienate Canada's interest and friendship in erecting along the border an exclusive but inexcusable tariff wall."

This same line of thought is being freely expressed in a number of United States papers. They can see quite readily that the avenues of trade in Europe are being curtailed by the bankrupt state of nations that used to be good customers. The anti-high tariff group in United States is making itself heard.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

TODAY'S word is PRECARIOUS. It's pronounced pre-ka-ri-us, the e as the first e in event, the a long, and the i and u short. Accent falls on the second syllable.

It means—depending on the will of another; unsettled, or doubtful of continuance.

It comes from the Latin "precarius," obtained by begging or prayer (from prex, prayer).

It's used like this: "With difficulty he maintained his precarious foothold."

The real domesticated husband sits on the porch these evenings and helps his wife knock the ends off gooseberries.

LITTLE 'TISERS

A good old Irish lady gave this advice to some of her folks who were going to visit friends: "Remember that fresh meat and visitors are liable to stink in three days."

A whole lot of people wonder how LLOYD GEORGE has succeeded. If they want to imitate him, here's a starter—the British premier rises between 5 and 6 in the morning.

One report in today's papers says that LENINE'S health is improving. Another that his body was thrown into the river following his murder. So, one thing is quite plain, MR. LENINE is either dead or alive.

The Hamilton Spectator will hear nothing of the yarn that the silk hat is going to be relegated to the ash can. The Spectator is certain the silk lid will still appear at the funeral of many of its detractors.

British manufacturers are paying more attention to the Canadian market. In so doing they must start with a knowledge that at the time of Confederation Canadians were buying 57 per cent of their imports from Britain, and today the figure hardly stands at 17 per cent.

Toronto Star points out that since 1914, the year the war started, 38 Canadian daily papers have disappeared, 28 through suspension, and 10 by amalgamation. It is hard to get the public to appreciate the fact that costs continue to increase, while revenue, at best, in many cases remains stationary. The best evidence of the difficulties faced by papers is in the fact that in eight years 38 Canadian dailies have gone under.

CHARLES R. MILLER, for 40 years editor of the New York Times, is dead. He had a high ideal and worked to it. The Allied powers can never forget the service of the Times in the early days of the war, when its voice was heard in no uncertain tone in regard to the course United States should pursue. MR. MILLER passed up much that many papers grasp for, preferring a clean, sane newspaper, appealing to common sense rather than a noisy, questionable one that depended for its success on the passion and prejudice of the crowd. Newspaperdom lost a big man in the passing of CHARLES MILLER.

NOAH'S POETRY

MOTHER'S HOLIDAY.

Oh, sister had a nervous shock, it made her shake both hoof and paw, the doc said breezes from the sea would plant new color in her jaw.

She looked quite sallow in the eye, she worried much about her clothes, and stopped at every hitchin' post to dab some powder on her nose.

So she got packed and sent away, her mother worked like fit to kill, because this nervous wreck of hers must go and camp upon the hill.

Then brother sprung some new disease, he couldn't squint straight with his eye, and when he pumped air in his lungs he'd heave a most graveyardly sigh.

And so they packed this poor galoote and mended all his shirts and socks, and labeled him unto a spot where he could bask upon the rocks.

And after all these things were did the old man hatched a leaky heart, and to some mountain spring resort he likewise did in turn depart.

Then mother ordered up the fruit and sixteen crates she put to stew, and side of that she had as well 'bout forty other things to do.

So that's how maw got holidays, while others went away to play, she stayed at home upon the ranch and worked for sixteen hours a day.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

By Digby Phillips.

NO. 271—ELIMINATING THE COARSE.

Suppose you were running a school for young ladies.

And suppose that one of the principal assets of this school was its air of refinement.

And suppose that you were facing the task of selecting a new instructor.

And suppose that before you are letters from quite a number of persons applying for the position.

One of the first things you would want to do would be to make sure that you were getting an instructor of refinement, wouldn't you?

Now persons who naturally are of the rough and ready sort often achieve greater real refinement than those who are by nature more sensitive and delicate, but on the average they are not so likely to. Therefore, it would be playing the game safe to eliminate all those showing definite signs of the rough and ready temperament.

To do this, you would simply exclude from further consideration those letters written in a coarse, heavy hand.

Later, when you interview the applicants personally, you will probably be influenced chiefly by what they tell you and how they act. But it will do you no harm to give extra scrutiny to those whose hair is straight and coarse, those whose skin is harsh and tough looking, and those who appear to be big boned. For these are all signs of the rough, sturdy type of person rather than the refined, sensitive, delicate type.

EARLY DAYS IN WILLIAMS

BY J. B. McLACHLAN.

STEPHEN LAKE was among the early settlers on the 10th concession, West Williams. He was born near Galt, in the Township of Dumfries, about 1833, was of powerful physique and soon hewed himself a home from the bush. When he first came into the township he was the representative of a firm near Rochester, N. Y., growers of and dealers in all kinds of fruit trees, canvassing the farmers from Carlisle, Nairn, north, south, east and west. He made his headquarters on Argyle street, staying with the McIntyre family. About 1855 he married Miss Elizabeth McIntyre and settled down on the 10th concession. He won some reputation as a poet in his younger days, was also musically inclined and taught classes in music in the school houses both on the 10th and 21st concessions. In 1858 I was teaching in that section and boarded with the Lake family, and I should have been wise enough to have been instructed in music, as I had ample opportunity, but I did not. At that time they had only one child, little Betsy, and often I carried her on my shoulder around the place during my leisure time. She is now Mrs. Ross, and living in Mount Healthy, near Cincinnati, Ohio. Lake was subject to fever and ague, especially in the spring. The last spring I was there he had a bad attack, and an Indian who happened that way cured him, and I believe he never had another attack of it. It came about in this wise: Mrs. Lake told the Indian that her husband had the ague. He said: "Me cure him." He immediately made for the wood, and after some hours returned with roots, which he boiled in a pot. He then got a stone, made it hot, and placing Lake on an open-bottomed chair with the hot stone under it, he poured the stuff in the pot on the stone, and covering his patient up with several quilts he soon had a sick man on his hands for a while, who groaned and begged to be released. The Indian consoled him by repeating "Me cure you; me cure you," and he did, so that quinine or peruvian bark was not in it, for Lake was cured of the ague.

ABOUT 1860 the clergy reserves were secularized, and the money distributed among the municipalities. The treasurer of each municipality had to go personally to the City of Quebec (then the seat of government), or one could act for one or two other municipalities. Lake went on behalf of East and West Williams, and on his return, having so much to say about the Great Eastern, which happened to be at that time in the port of Quebec, that Alexander Levie christened him "The Great Eastern," and the two, meeting me along the 10th one morning, Mr. Levie called out: "I am coming by the Great Eastern."

In those far-off days the London Free Press was Liberal in politics, and Lake ventured to say to Alexander Levie, who was at that time reeve of the township, that the Free Press was the most reliable paper in the west, to which Mr. Levie agreed that it was, as it lied and relied on every square inch. There was not much satisfaction in pursuing Lake. He generally won out. When I was teaching in Kent, I got a letter from him addressed: "A B C Teacher, Thamesville." The postmaster asked me what the letters stood for, thinking they were some academic title. I tried to match him, and in acknowledging addressed it: "Great Eastern," Sable P. O. Mr. Burns, postmaster at Sylvan, and grandfather of the present editor of The Advertiser, was puzzled to know what it meant, but sent it to "Sable," and in getting an explanation from Mr. McDonald afterwards had a good laugh at the joke on Lake, but it did not end there, for the next epistle I got from him had all the official titles of the education office, from the deputy superintendent down to the foot of the ladder. I have already stated that Lake was a powerful man, large and bony. He had a neighbor who was Lake's antithesis, and the two had a disagreement over something, as neighbors will sometimes, especially bad ones. The little man went to Lake's as he was chopping firewood and began to abuse him. The man in his own yard chopped on, till finally getting through with the wood, he made toward Donald, and told him, in no uncertain tones, that if he did not get outside of the fence he would chop him. Right across the road was Mr. Freeland pulling up weeds in his own garden, to whom Donald called to witness Lake's murderous threats, and, raising himself up quite unconcernedly, looked around for a few seconds and settled down among his weeds again. Of course there was no lawsuit.

DURING the early eighties Lake sold his farm and removed to Parkhill, entering into partnership with a relative in a flour-milling business which did not prove a success, and getting dissatisfied with conditions as they were with him he moved to the state of Tennessee, near a place named Allard, on a plateau of the Cumberland Mountains, and settled on a farm and soon got accustomed to his new surroundings, but not so with Mrs. Lake. She longed for her native Williams. I visited them several years ago, and so learned the feelings of the family.

Lake was a racy writer, and soon learned the style of the Southener. For years he corresponded with the Parkhill Gazette, in which paper his letters often appeared. He also corresponded with the writer; some of his letters I have preserved. They were humorous and at the same time interesting. His descriptions of persons, events and things were often very mirthful, as readers of the Gazette will remember. While there, accompanied by a guide, I visited the "Buffalo Cave," about five miles from Allard. To reach it you go down the escarpment of the mountain, say 500 feet. The entrance is so small, you have to lie down flat, pushing your lantern before you for a few feet only, when you will find yourself inside the cave wide and high.

Some surveyors explored it for nine miles, marking the sides with arrowheads pointing toward the entrance. The best way to see it would be with a good torch, which would show the ceiling as well as the sides. Some years before a party undertook to venture alone to explore with a torch, and stumbling, lost his torch, and was forced to burn all his cotton clothing before he found the entrance. On my return Mr. Lake asked me how far I had gone into the cave. I replied: "I saw your name inscribed on the rock, and I placed mine alongside of it.

I bade my friend farewell, but instead of returning home directly, as I intended, on the advice of Mr. Lake I went further south to Chattanooga Missionary Ridge—Lookout Mountain and Chickamauga. I was not sorry that I had done so, but as those places have been described time and time again, it is only necessary to say that all over that district during the Civil War were scenes of fierce and sanguinary battles. The country is very mountainous, there being between Rugby road and Chattanooga 25 or 30 tunnels.

There was a reunion of the descendants of the original Lake family near Galt. Had I known it, I would have attended.

LEGAL QUERIES

Legal Department:

Gentlemen,—Would you kindly answer the following question in the columns of your paper?

A woman deserts her husband and marries another, using an assumed name. Husband No. 1 afterwards gets a divorce. Husband No. 2 dies. She again marries, using the name of No. 2 husband. Is the third marriage legal? Thanking you in advance.

Yes.

JEST

Her Device.

"Hello, papa!" said his little daughter, calling him up on the phone.

"Hello, dear! What is it?"

"I wish you'd bring me some c-a-n-d-y when you come home this evening."

"All right, but why do you spell it out?"

"'Cause I don't want anybody else to know what I'm saying."

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

HERE WE HAVE ITEMS OF LOCAL AND DISTRICT INTEREST AS RECORDED IN THE ADVERTISER OF 1897.

JULY 20, 1897.

Mrs. Nathaniel Mills has left for Muskoka.

Arthur J. Wrightman, the boy who saved the son of Rev. E. N. Baker from drowning last winter, was presented publicly, before the commencement of the last meeting of the Chatham town council, by the mayor, with a diploma of the Royal Humane Society.

The Masonic Grand Lodge meets in Brantford tomorrow afternoon. The board of general purposes is now in session. Among those in attendance are R. W. Bros., R. B. Hungerford, J. S. Dewar and A. B. Greer, city, and Major Hegler, Ingersoll.

Rev. T. Shields, Dutton, has received a call from the Baptist congregation at Delhi.

Lightning played very strange freaks around the corner of Dufferin avenue and Wellington and Waterloo streets on Sunday evening. The telephones of Messrs. Spencer, Hobbs, Mann and other residents in the vicinity were burned out, while the Collegiate Institute electric apparatus was also damaged. Its actions at Mr. W. M. Spencer's residence were very peculiar. About 6:30 p.m. Mr. Spencer's daughter distinctly saw a ball of fire enter the hallway and vanish down the ground wire of the telephone. Mrs. Spencer shortly afterwards went upstairs to close a window, and just as she reached it a lurid flame or flash entered, crossed the room and struck a mirror, and then returned through the open window. The mirror was not broken, but was covered with phosphorus, which had to be scraped off.

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE

SERIOUS NOSE-BLEED

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

MOST cases of nose-bleed do not amount to anything. Usually the flow can be checked without losing much blood, and with little trouble.

In severe nasal catarrhal conditions, however, it sometimes happens that a blood vessel will break. Then quick action is required to control the hemorrhage. First press both nostrils shut firmly, thus compelling the blood to run backward into the throat. This gives it a chance to form a clot, which is nature's way of checking violent bleeding. Breathing should be through the mouth.

Next pack a small strip of clean handkerchief or a piece of cotton into the nostrils with a pencil or match stick, putting it back into the nostril on a line parallel with the roof of the mouth. It should be tucked upward. Gently work it straight backward, as the nasal canal is immediately above the roof of the mouth. Then rub a piece of ice upon the patient's spine and abdomen. This "freezing" helps to check the flow of blood to the head. All tight clothing should be loosened.

In lesser cases a roll of paper, the size of a pencil, packed between the upper lip and the gums will check nose-bleed without any further trouble. A teaspoonful of salt to a cup of water snuffed up the nose may prove beneficial.

If the bleeding continues without stopping, a physician should be called.

The BOOKSHELF

EDITED BY CABR

THE SO-CALLED HUMAN RACE. By Bert Leston Taylor ("B. L. T."). New York: Alfred A. Knopf, Publisher. $2.50.

"IT is refreshing," wrote "B. L. T." "to find in the society columns an account of a quiet wedding. The conventional screams of a groom are rather trying."

"By the way," he remarked on another occasion, "Bismarck had a solution of the Irish problem which may have been forgotten. He proposed that the Irish and the Dutch exchange countries. The Dutch, he said, would make a garden of Ireland. 'And the Irish?' he was asked. 'Oh,' he replied, 'The Irish would neglect the dikes.'"

To visiting foreigners the humorous column on the editorial page of Canadian and American daily papers is a phenomenon second in fascination only to the electric advertisements in Times Square. They have nothing quite like it abroad.

The "Personals" column of the London Times is only unintentionally funny. The continental papers in this respect are a blank. The "colyum" of the Canadian editorial page of our time is essentially a native institution.

Bert Leston Taylor, more familiar to countless thousands as "B. L. T." was first in point of time, and perhaps first in point of merit, among the column conductors of the day.

A column is an essentially personal thing, fitting and satisfactory to the individual who conducts it. It is no more to be quarreled with than a sunset or a waterfall or any other extravagant thing. It is intrinsic to the paper which publishes it.

Its spirit and essence, however, are peculiar to the man who brings to pass its daily miracle; and when another conductor succeeds to the desk and scissors and paste-pot and typewriter, another column is begun, no matter if the signboard still remains the same.

The motto which stood and stands at the head of "A Line-o'-Type or Two," is significant both of Taylor, of his column, and of the humorists of the great papers. It reads: "Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may." There are no "sacred cows" for the column conductor. He recognizes no favorites, yields to no privileges, indulges no humors or personalities, except his own. Henry B. Fuller, in his admirable "Foreword" to "The So-Called Human Race," writes of "B. L. T.":

"Taylor hewed his Line in precise accord with his own taste and fancy. All was on the basis of personal preference. His chiefs learned early that so rare an organism was best left alone to function in harmony with its own nature. The column had not only its own philosophy and its own ethics, but its own politics; if it seemed to contravene other and more representative departments of the paper, never mind. Its conductor had such confidence in the validity of his personal predilections and in their identity with those of 'the general,' that he carried on things with the one rule of pleasing himself, certain that he should find no better rule for pleasing others. His success was complete."

Amen! On no other basis is it possible to conduct a real and successful "colyumn."

SAYS CHILDREN WERE HER BIBLE

Wife of Ohio Pastor Serving Prison Term Destitute and Without Home.

Must Support Nine Children On $3.50 a Week Earnings of Husband.

XENIA, Ohio., July 19.—Heavy indeed is the burden of Mrs. Walter W. Culp. While her husband, deposed pastor of the Spring Valley Methodist Church, started serving his one-year sentence in the workhouse at Dayton, officials of his church gave notice that she and the family must leave the parsonage by August 1.

"Where can I go?" asked Mrs. Culp, gazing hopelessly about her. "And with what?" A hasty scrutiny of her possessions revealed as assets about $150, a few articles of furniture and several books left by her husband, and nine children, none old enough to work, on the debit side of the ledger.

And all Mrs. Culp will have to feed and clothe her family will be the $3.50 a week earnings of her husband at the workhouse.

Culp, a sadder and a wiser man, left Xenia at 5 p.m. to begin his sentence. In the custody of several deputies, he made the trip to Dayton. He had little to say during the journey. By 6 p.m. he had doffed the garb of the country circuit rider for the steel gray uniform of the workhouse.

Admitted Guilt.

Culp was sentenced after he had pleaded guilty before Judge Marshall to abandoning his wife and children for the love of Mary Esther Hughes, 18-year-old organist and boarder in the Culp home.

Before he was taken to the county jail, Culp was forgiven by his wife and family at a conference in the judge's private office.

Sitting on the porch of her home yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Culp reviewed the chain of events that had changed her from a proud mother, pastor's wife and respected community member of a few months ago to the present charitable charge and object of pity.

The whole sorry scheme of things resolved about two persons, Mary Esther Hughes, repenting at leisure at a Lake Erie summer resort, and her husband, now making burlap bags in the workhouse.

"At heart he's a good man," she said. "I am going to visit him during his prison term and help him when he gets out. He needs me now. He must have some one to lean on during his hour of need."

Children Her Bible.

"He said hard things about me," continued the wife, dropping her voice. "He said I was a heathen. That's not so. I believe in God and I've prayed to Him every night since this trouble started. My Bible was my children, that's all, and he didn't seem to realize it.

"He called me a hindrance to his religious work," she went on. "I helped him all I could. I pressed his clothes for him, kept his linen spotless, his shirts ironed and his shoes blackened, so that he could put up a good appearance. I couldn't go out and mix with people the way he wanted me to. Who would have taken care of the children then? No, I'm not a scholar. I was never equipped to be his spiritual adviser, as far as knowledge goes."

Foils Bandits by Driving Into Ditch As Windshield Is Shattered by Shot

Special to London Advertiser.

CHATHAM, July 19.—White Grant, a resident of St. Clair street, this city, had an exciting experience while returning to this city from Tilbury at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

A bullet from a revolver, fired by a bandit, shattered the windshield, but did not stop Mr. Grant, who put on full speed. The bandits chased Mr. Grant for several miles, but he raced his engine at top speed and soon left them helplessly behind.

In a statement to Chief Peters of the county police, Grant said that when he was nearing the Tilbury town line he noticed a big automobile blocking his path. Slowing down, he heard commands to stop.

With great presence of mind, Grant swerved by the car into the ditch, drove furiously, and, regaining the road, threw his engine into top speed. As the machine regained the road from the ditch a shot rang out and splintered glass fell about the driver.

A detail of county police in a motor car is scouring the western part of Kent County today.

BRITISH AVIATOR TO FLY PACIFIC

Major Morgan Attracted by $50,000 Prize Offered by Californian.

London, July 20.—Major C. W. F. Morgan, British aviator, has cabled to the United States an announcement of his decision to attempt a trans-Pacific flight from San Francisco to Sydney, new Sounth Wales, for a prize of $50,000 offered by Thomas H. Ince of Los Angeles. Major Morgan says he hopes to leave San Francisco at 7 o'clock on the evening of Oct. 2 next, and arrive in Sydney at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of Oct. 7, proceeding across the Pacific by way of Honolulu, Samoa and the Fiji Islands.

Major Morgan was associated with Capt. F. P. Raynham in the ill-starred attempt to fly across the Atlantic Ocean from Newfoundland to Ireland in May, 1919. After long preparation the Martinside plane, in which they hoped to make the passage of the Atlantic, was wrecked shortly after it started. Morgan suffered severe injuries in the accident.

According to the conditions laid down by Mr. Ince in offering a prize of $50,000 for a trans-Pacific flight, the start could be made from either side of the Pacific.

20 KILLED AS ARMY BOMBS LIMERICK

extremity of the insurgent line, developing powerfully and extending roughly from Limerick to Waterford, thereby cutting off practically the whole of Munster province.

An attack on Waterford was made by troops advancing from Kilkenny, preceded by parties of engineers who removed the heavy obstructions in the road and reached the outskirts of Waterford Tuesday evening.

City Cut Off.

The Nationalists found the main part of the city cut off through the drawbridge over the River Suir being raised. The railway bridge was impassable, and the troops opened the attack from the north side of the river with machine gun and rifle fire, while 18-pounders shelled the Irregulars in the military barracks and the jail. The reply from rifles and Thompson guns was feeble, and it is believed the city is lightly held, but the natural strength of the position may make the dislodgement of the Irregulars a matter of difficulty.

At Limerick fighting was progressing last evening. The national troops launched a heavy attack with bombs on the O'Mara factory, but as far as is known the Irregulars are still holding the position. In the center of the city, where the insurgents are strongly fortified, the firing was particularly heavy.

The casualties are estimated at 20 killed and 40 wounded, a considerable portion of these being civilians.

FUNERAL PARTY AMBUSHED.

DUBLIN, July 19.—An automobile funeral party of Free Staters which was taking the body of a volunteer, killed in County Galway, to Ipiddal for burial, was ambushed early today near Athenry by Republican insurgents, who appeared from both sides of the road. Commandant Rooney was killed and eight other national army soldiers were taken prisoners. Commandant Rooney's body was placed beside the coffin of the dead volunteer, and was sent on to Galway, where the sight of the dead commandant alongside the coffin horrified the great crowd which quickly surrounded the car.

GALWAY BRIDGE DESTROYED.

BELFAST, July. 19. — The Telegraph's Mullingar correspondent reports the destruction of the Port Muna Bridge in Galway. The structure was one of the most important in that neighborhood, and cost £100,000. The suspension bridge at Banagher was fired by the Republicans. It is the main railroad bridge between King's County and Galway.

DENY EQUAL POLITICAL RIGHTS TO FIJI INDIANS

London, England, July 20.—(Canadian Press Cable).—A Reuter dispatch from Wellington, N. Z., says that at a crowded meeting held yesterday at Suva, the capital of the Fiji Islands, presided over by the mayor of Suva and attended by delegates from six country districts, a resolution was unanimously passed against granting equal political status to the Indians in Fiji.

POLICE GUARD BUFFALO CARS

Constables Armed With Riot Guns, and Orders To Kill, Ride Vehicles.

Expect State Troops To Arrive in City Within 24 Hours.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 20.—Policemen armed with riot guns and under orders to shoot to kill if rioting develops, rode the 71 street cars which started out from the car barns at 6 o'clock this morning.

In spite of Mayor Schwab's warning to the strikers last night that serious consequences would follow a renewal of yesterday's rioting, police expected the day to be the most strenuous of the strike.

Development last night furnished basis for this belief. Two hand grenades were exploded on the roof of the Cold Spring carbarns, tearing holes in the building, but injuring none of the 750 strikebreakers who are said to be living in the barn.

In addition, crowds were busy all night placing all manner of obstructions on the car tracks in the east side sections, which were the hotbeds of yesterday's rioting. The mobs' procedure yesterday was to stop a car by means of an obstruction on the track and then bombard it with stones or storm it and attack the strikebreakers inside.

Strikers and their sympathizers are in an ugly mood, police officials say, particularly since they realize that state troops probably will be in Buffalo within 24 hours. Police Chief Burfeind late last night warned the International Railway Company officials that the situation was menacing, and urged them to abandon plans to extend car service to additional east side lines today. The company agreed to do this, and also accepted the chief's suggestion that none but screened cars be run on the east side lines.

President H. G. Tulley, of the street railway company, said today that he thought the situation had got beyond control of the police. He said, however, that the company would continue to operate its cars. He denied reports that several of the men brought here from Philadelphia to operate cars had quit after yesterday's rioting, in which a dozen men were sent to the company's emergency hospital for treatment.

MYSTIFIED AS MAN AND BOAT SINK

Montreal, July 20.—F. Fisk, an employee of the Guaranteed Pure Milk Company told the police that this morning he saw a flat-bottomed boat containing the body of a man, one of whose legs was hanging over the side, near the Grand Trunk Boating Club, Verdun, seized by the current and whirled into one of the stone supports of the bridge, which immediately caused it to capsize. The man sank into the swirling waters without a struggle.

Fisk declares he shrieked himself hoarse endeavoring to arouse the boat's mysterious occupant to his danger. A Verdun man, Peter Martin, 40 Gordon avenue, has been missing since yesterday morning, and the police think it possible he may have been the victim.

REMAINS OF J. W. HAYDEN INTERRED IN MONTREAL

TORONTO, July 19.—The remains of John Wesley Hayden, late cable editor of the Canadian Press, who died of heart-trouble on Tuesday morning, were tonight removed to Montreal for interment in Mount Royal Cemetery. Rev. Dr. Lanceley, uncle of deceased, conducted a service at the Hayden residence here this afternoon. Beautiful floral tributes testified to the esteem in which deceased was held by his business and personal associates.

SURPLUS OF $5,000,000.

Quebec, July 20.—The surplus for the province of Quebec is likely to reach over $5,000,000 for the fiscal year ending on June 30 last. A record surplus for the department of lands is looked for. There is expected to be a surplus of some $1,200,000, as well as the liquor commission's surplus

WILL SIFT RAIL WAGE DISPUTE

Arbitration Board Will Begin St. Thomas Sittings Next Week.

Employees Complain Companies Have Infringed Industrial Act.

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, July 19.—The arbitration boards which will deal with the railway situation in the city are expected to begin their sittings next week. It is understood that there was an effort to have the sitting outside, but on the objection of local unions this was abandoned.

The Michigan Central arbitration board consists of J. M. McEvoy, K. C., London, chairman, selected by the department of labor; W. D. Robbins, Toronto, for the shop employees, and D. T. Malcolmson, Hamilton, for the company.

No announcement of the appointment of a chairman for the board to consider similar grievances filed by the Pere Marquette Railway shop employees has been received here, although labormen learned that the two members appointed, Mr. Robbins, for the shopmen, and Alexander Leslie of Kingsville, for the company, held a conference in Windsor Tuesday.

Assurance was given that every effort will be exerted to have the Pere Marquette board hearing also in St. Thomas.

The question of whether or not the Pere Marquette and Michigan Central Railway Companies have been guilty of an infraction of the industrial disputes act of Canada, in not having given 30 days' notice to their clerical and maintenance of way employees of the proposed reduction in wages, is still being debated. Labormen are firmly convinced that the companies have directly violated the act, but there is some indecision as to the penalty prescribed for such a breach of the law.

Labormen argue that in notifying the employees of the impending wage reductions, the companies have been virtually inciting or arranging for a strike. The real issue, however, will develop, it is expected, when the wage checks arrive next week. If they are based on the reduced schedule, as predicted, then legal action may result, or a definite ruling may be requested of the Dominion Department of Labor.

VIENNA, July 19.—The Austrian Parliament today adopted the government's bill for a forced interior loan, designed to yield a revenue of 400,000,000,000 crowns.

SARNIA RAILMEN VOTE TO STRIKE

Favor Drastic Action If Railroad Companies Enforce Wage Cuts.

Union Official Declares Running Trades Sympathize With Shopmen.

Special to London Advertiser.

SARNIA, July 19.—Strike ballots of approximately 300 local railwaymen, including boilermakers, machinists and stationmen, were today forwarded to the headquarters of the Brotherhood of Railway Employees at Montreal.

While officials of the local organizations were inclined to be secretive when questioned, it was learned that there is a unanimous vote from local men in favor of a strike, should the railway authorities persist in their attitude regarding the reductions in wages which were imposed on certain crafts on July 16.

Harry Steel, a local railwayman, and president of the Sarnia Trades and Labor Council, affirmed today that the running trades were distinctly sympathetic to the action of the shop crafts, and suggested that developmens by these organizations was by no means a remote possibility in event of failure to make satisfactory by the board of conciliation which the government has appointed.

The posting of a notice on the Grand Trunk shops at Port Huron today intimating indefinite closure, is taken as indication that no effort will be made to hire strike-breakers.

DIARRHOEA

IS DANGEROUS TO TEETHING BABIES DURING HOT WEATHER

Hot weather is a dangerous time for the babies when cutting their teeth, and all mothers should watch very closely for any sign of diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum or any other bowel trouble.

There is no remedy so safe and effectual for diarrhoea as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and all mothers who have used it speak of it with the greatest of confidence.

Mrs. James E. Green, Vermilion, Alta., writes under date of Aug. 18, 1921, as follows: "A week ago my baby boy, just one year and four months old, started cutting two stomach teeth, and was so sick he couldn't eat or sleep, and had the diarrhoea most terribly bad; his rectum was raw and bleeding, but after giving him Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry regularly for three days he was as well as any boy could be. I wouldn't be without your grand remedy for untold gold."

"Dr. Fowler's" is for sale at all dealers; price, 50c a bottle; put up by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Advt.

DROWNS SELF TRYING TO ESCAPE PRISON TERM

HAILEYBURY, July 19. — Peter Kusick, a Russian, jumped overboard from the deck of a steamer on Lake Temiskaming, while being taken to serve a year in jail, and was drowned.

Kusick had been charged with assaulting a foreman on the C. P. R. construction work with an iron bar, and had been turned over to the Villemarie police, after arrest in Cobalt. On his way to prison Monday, it is learned here, he eluded his guard and leaped into the water when the boat was near the Old Mission. No trace of him could be found, although the steamer was cruised around the vicinity of the place where he went down. Kusick was handcuffed at the time.

ROYAL COMMISSION WILL SIFT G. W. V. A. CHARGES

OTTAWA, July 19.—(By Canadian Press.)—The royal commission which is to investigate the charges made by G. W. V. A. officials against the pensions board will, it is expected, open its hearings with a meeting in Ottawa towards the end of the month.

The composition of the commission owing to the order-in-council not yet having been approved by the acting governor is not yet officially announced. But it is understood that it will consist of Col. Rathston of Halifax; Col. Dubuc of Montreal, and Major Walter McKeown of Toronto.

Would Officially Recognize Majority of Men and Maids

Mrs. W. H. Becker, Chairman Citizenship Committee, National Council of Women, Would Impress Seriousness of Citizenship by Annual Municipal Celebrations For New Voters — Addresses Normal School on Home-School Club Movement.

"Citizenship is such a serious and important thing that I think in every municipality there should be official recognition once a year of the attaining of their majority by the young men and young women, who within the year reach the age of 21 and automatically become voters. Associated with this should be official recognition of the achieving of Canadian citizenship by the new Canadians of the municipality who have qualified for naturalization."

The speaker was a charming and interesting visitor in the city on Wednesday, Mrs. W. H. Becker of Toronto, made chairman of the citizenship committee of the National Council of Women at the annual meeting held in Port Arthur in June, for years secretary of the Woman Citizens' Association of Ontario, and in days gone by, an enthusiastic worker for woman's suffrage. At present, on behalf of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Clubs, and with the co-operation and indorsation of the department of education, she is speaking to the summer schools of the province, in which experienced teachers are taking special training on the subject of home and school movement, and what it does for the school, the home, the parents, the community and particularly the individual child, the future citizen.

Wednesday at noon she addressed the summer school in session at the Normal School, paying a warm tribute to the pioneers in the home and school movement, the London Mothers' Clubs and the growingly-efficient service they have rendered in the years of their history.

With regard to official recognition of achieving majority, "But would you set aside another day? And how would you manage it?" asked the Women's Department of The Advertiser.

Couldn't Live It Down!

"By no means would I see the piling up of any more 'days,'" said Mrs. Becker. "Under the circumstances, Dominion Day would be the logical time for such celebration. And from my point of view, the recognition should be associated with all possible dignity and ceremonial to impress upon the young people and on the new Canadians the seriousness of the obligation of citizenship."

"What about the girls that would be marked women ever after? They could never deny their age with any conviction?" flippantly remarked the newspaper person.

"I know it," laughed Mrs. Becker, "but, that nonsense about age is early Victorian. I realize that, far as we are advancing, there would always be smug people to say: 'She must be 50 if she is a day.' 'Let me see, it is at least 25 years since she got her citizenship.' 'Why, her majority was celebrated at the same time my elder sister's was?'

"Well, if there are Victorian survivals among the girls of today, with an eye to the future, they might postpone their majority say five years, and that would approach the English ideal of not giving a woman the right to vote until she is 30. Between ourselves, if such an age barrier should be raised for a young woman, it should be equally raised for a young man. A girl of 21 is just as mature to vote intelligently as a young man of 21, provided she has had the proper training previous to this, along citizenship lines.

"There is another point on which I feel very strongly, the importance of teaching citizenship in schools, not as an occasional lesson, not incidentally, but as a prominent part of the curriculum.

"Every boy and girl is progressing towards citizenship inevitably, unless some untoward circumstance intervenes.

"With regard to citizenship for new Canadians, this, I firmly believe, should only be granted after tests are passed in working knowledge of the language to the extent of reading, speaking and writing it, and in knowledge of the institutions and ideals of the country.

Commends Government.

"By the way, recent legislation in Ontario has largely increased our voting policy by giving the municipal right to vote to the wives and husbands of all property owners, a splendid piece of fine Canadian justice, showing as it does that the government recognizes husbands and wives are partners in property as well as in other things.

"It seems to me our Local Councils of Women, Daughters of the Empire, Mothers' Clubs, Women's Institutes and other organizations which lead public opinion and are endeavoring to build up a fine citizenship, have an important work to perform in helping to educate the many new women municipal voters, resulting from this further extension of franchise. I am not saying anything about the men, or whether they need special training or not. The women are realizing they do."

Mrs. Becker also referred to the stand taken by the National Council of Women at the recent meeting with regard to Canadian women married to aliens. "The National Council," she said, "stands for married women declaring their citizenship, just as if they were unmarried."

Reverting to the subject of the serious problems facing the country in connection with Canadianization, "Our Home and School Council is doing an excellent work in Toronto along this line, under the chairmanship of Dr. Reaman, convener of the Canadianization committee," she said. "The difficulty has been that, in Canada, we have thought too much about pouring the new comers into our mold, not making the most of the rich contribution they can make to our national life. So far as the children of the newcomers are concerned, they lose respect for their parents when in school they quickly learn the language. They come to despise their own people, and the arts and achievements of their forefathers.

Would Open Eyes.

"It would be a tremendous asset to Canada to preserve the arts and crafts brought in by the settlers from European lands, and which are being lost for cheap and tawdry things, owing to lack of recognition and appreciation. I would like to see exhibitions held in the schools to which the children of foreign born would bring examples of the work that their mothers or fathers are capable of doing, arts that have been handed down from generation to generation. This would serve the important purpose of retaining the respect of the children of foreign born for their parents and parental authority in a new land, and help to keep them from becoming bad Canadian citizens.

"It would serve another important purpose. It would bring the new Canadians into real sympathetic touch with the Canadian people in the communities in which they are living, by placing them in the position of contributors to the arts and crafts.

"Just as important as any other feature, and perhaps the most important of all, would be the awakening in Canadian boys and girls of a respect for others not of their own race. Until we can get mutual appreciation and respect, we can never hope for an assimilated foreign born population, for a strong, united Canadian nation."

The conversation turned to the subject of the new Canadian in the West, where Mrs. Becker lived for some years in Saskatoon, and was widely known as both a speaker and writer.

"Talking of public speaking," she said, "whenever I hear an unfortunate introduction, I always recall an experience of my own when suffrage was pioneering, and I was getting my first training on the platform.

"In a town where I was speaking, the colored preacher offered the opening prayer at the meeting, and to this day, I can remember his exact words, 'Oh, Lawd, thou knowest this lady what is going to speak, that she feels like a worm. But we know, Lawd, how thou has told us in thy Scriptures about the worm that smashed the mountain.' As a matter of fact, I didn't feel like a worm, and never thought much of worms. And never since have I been able to find that powerful worm in the Scriptures. I suppose the colored gentleman was referring to the mountain of opposition to suffrage I was expected to demolish."

With regard to the mission on which she is engaged at present, Mrs. Becker spoke most appreciatively of the practical sympathy shown by the department of education, the minister, Hon. R. H. Grant, and his deputy, Dr. Colquhoun, with the home and school movement.

"There are eighteen summer schools in progress in Ontario," she said, "some of these having a number of departments. The attendance ranges from 50 to 400 teachers, who, after working hard in the classrooms through the year, are further equipping themselves for the education of Canadian children. Dr. Colquhoun had letters sent to the heads of these schools and departments announcing my proposed visits, and the entire approval of the department. In each case, I am expected and shown every consideration, just as I have been in London Normal School today. And the interest of the teacher students in the home and school club movement has been an inspiration."

WITH THE BRIDES

SHIRLEY—DAY.

Forty or more guests, including a number from out of town, witnessed a charming house wedding, which took place Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Day, 378 York street, when their daughter, Clara Montehelene, was married to Mr. George E. Shirley, son of the late James Shirley and Mrs. Shirley of 502 English street. Capt. (Rev.) John Garbutt, pastor of Dundas Centre Methodist Church, performed the ceremony, and Miss Gladys McAlpine presided at the piano, playing the wedding music.

Throughout, the house was artistically decorated with quantities of summer flowers and ferns, the mantel, banked with ferns and sweet peas, forming an attractive background for the wedding party.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of white satin with long side panels, lined with shell pink georgette, headed with satin and georgette flowers, centered with pearls, and caught at the hem under the skirt. The simple bodice had tiny sleeves of the satin, from which bands lined with the shell pink georgette fell to the elbows. Her embroidered veil, arranged in high plaits at the back, was held in place with a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried Ophelia roses, showered with lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a pearl necklace with diamond clasp, the gift of the groom. As bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Day, sister of the bride, wore a dainty frock of shell pink organdy, and carried Columbia roses. Jean Shirley, niece of the groom, was a fairy-like flower girl, also wearing shell pink, and carrying a basket of sweet peas and ferns. Allton Powell of London supported the groom. The pianist, Miss McAlpine, was gowned in coral organdy. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a shell comb set with brilliants; to the best man, gold cuff links; to the flower girl, a gold bracelet, and to the pianist, a diamond barpin.

After the happy young couple had been showered with congratulations, a buffet luncheon was served in the dining-room, where originality was displayed in the decoration of the bride's table. In the centre was the wedding cake, decked with roses, and from the electric hanging lamp above fell a shower of white ribbon streamers, extending to the edges of the table, where they were caught with clusters of pansies. Capt (Rev.) J. Garbutt proposed the toast to the bride, happily responded to by the groom.

Mrs. Day, mother of the bride, a most gracious hostess, was gowned in dark blue taffeta, with corsage of Ophelia roses. Mrs. James Shirley, mother of the groom, wore a handsome black costume.

The bride and groom left to spend a honeymoon in Albany and New York, after which they will take up their residence in London. For traveling Mrs. Shirley wore a smart blue costume of navy tricotine, embroidered with steel beads and a white and blue hat.

CARMICHAEL—BIGGAR.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Baptist parsonage, Blenheim, Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when Eva Belle, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Biggar of London, Ontario, formerly of Blenheim, became the bride of Peter Macewan Carmichael of Toronto, second son of Mrs. and the late Robert Carmichael of Glasgow, Scotland, Rev. Wylie of Blenheim officiating.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of orchid tricolette. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Carmichael left on a trip to Detroit and Cleveland. The bride's traveling suit was navy tricotine with hat of periwinkle blue and baby fox fur.

The bride was one of Blenheim's highly-esteemed young ladies. She was a valuable member of the choir of the Baptist Church, and was a splendid helper in the musical activities of the town.

After spending a day in London, during which she addressed the summer school in progress in the Normal School on the home and school movement, Mrs. W. H. Becker of Toronto, left Wednesday evening for Guelph, where she is speaking to the several summer school groups at the O. A. C. on the same subject.

House guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Day, coming for the Shirley-Day wedding on Wednesday, were Mrs. Alfred Perley, Paris, Ont.; Miss Elinor McLean, Brantford; Mrs. Stewart Jarvis and Miss Helen Jarvis, Burford; Mrs. Jerry Coulson, Ottawa; Miss Alice Corrigan, Toronto; Miss Elsie Wardell, Toronto.

A merry event of Wednesday evening was the handkerchief shower party given by Mrs. Arthur Gleeson at her home, 550 Talbot street, in honor of the bride-elect, Miss Marguerite Johnston, with the hostess, formerly a member of St. Paul's Cathedral Choir. The back lawns, gay with summer flowers, were doubly festive for the occasion, aglow with Japanese lanterns. While the entertainment was in progress a quaint Victorian lady appeared with pockets galore, recognized as Miss Dorothy Gleeson, daughter of the house. The task imposed upon the bride-to-be, amid much laughter, was picking the pockets, from which she extracted all manner of dainty kerchiefs. A buffet supper was served in the dining-room, the table covered with a cluny lace cloth, centered with a great bowl of marigolds and bachelor's buttons, and lighted by blue candles.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Loves to Read.

Dear Miss Grey,—I see so many letters in the Mail-Box that it gave me the idea to write. I enjoy reading the letters very much, and it cheers one when lonesome. I, too, am coming for help. I would like to get the word of "Let the Rest of the World Go By." I saw in Monday's paper where Cousin wanted to correspond, so please forward me her address. I would also like to receive correspondents from any of the readers between 13 and 15 years old. I tried by entrance this year, and I'm awaiting the results. Miss Grey, I think your corner is wonderful, and I just love to read the letters. I feel sorry for Thirty-Seven and the other needy ones, but I can be of no use this time. Inclosed, find my mite for the hospital. I hope that all the Mail-Box members enjoy the summer, and as I close I will give my best wishes to all, so I guess I will close for now, and I am HONEST FLORIENE'S DAUGHTER.

I am mailing you Cousin's address, also the words of "Let the Rest of the World Go By." I have put your name on the family list, and trust that you will receive some interesting correspondents. I hope the entrance results will bring you good news. It is an anxious time waiting for them, isn't it? Many thanks for the hospital mite.

OTHERS OFFERS FLAGS.

Dear Miss Grey,—I sent Old Timer the quilt patches today, and hope she receives same O. K. I have others and will gladly send to any address.

I noticed in tonight's paper where A Real Lancashire Lass would like to have a flannelette flag patch to finish her quilt. I will let her have one. Miss Grey has my address.

Will inclose mite for hospital fund. OTHERS.

Part of your letter goes under the head of advertising, Others, so I cannot publish it. Many thanks for the hospital mite. A Real Lancashire Lass will be delighted to receive the patches.

SENDS WORDS.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here I am again. Find inclosed the words of "The Wild Cowboy" for Woolly Gazookus. Please send them on to her. Also find inclosed self-addressed envelope, for which send me Hard-Up Lizzie's address. I will answer the last riddle of Bud—the meat in the nut. Will close with a few riddles:

1. What contains more feet in winter than in summer?
2. What is it which occurs twice in a moment, once in a minute, and not once in a thousand years?
3. What is that which every one wishes for and yet tries to get rid of? SARDONYX.

Hard-Up Lizzie's address is on the way to you, Sardonyx, and I am forwarding the words to Woolly Gazookus. Thank you for sending them to her.

HELPS WITH HAYING.

Dear Boxites and Miss Grey,—These are very busy days in the country where I live, as this is haying time out here. I have no brothers, so I have been helping my father with the haying.

We have The Advertiser in our home and I seldom fail to read Miss Grey's Mail-Box, as I always find something interesting there.

Now vacation time has come, and I am sure everybody is glad. Am inclosing mite for S. C. H. fund. HAYMAKER.

P.S.—If there are any cinnamon bulbs left, please send me one.

I am glad to think you enjoy our Mail-Box, Haymaker. Many thanks for the hospital mite. I am sorry but there are no cinnamon bulbs left in the Mail-Box. We will be pleased to hear from you again some time. It must be very hot pitching hay this weather, Haymaker.

MOORE CENTER W. I.

The Moore Center Women's Institute met on July 10 at the home of Mrs. W. Blake. After a short business session, the president introduced Mrs. McDonough of Cape Town, the departmental lecturer. Her subjects, "Duty and Efficiency in Institute and Home," were ably dealt with and eagerly followed to the end by the 45 ladies present. After refreshments were served and music enjoyed, the meeting adjourned to meet on August 3 at Mrs. Hinks'.

On Friday evening, July 14, the members and their friends motored to Willow Beach on the banks of the St. Clair River, and spent a jolly social evening with games and races keenly contested. A refreshment booth greatly added to the pleasure of the crowd, and after supper was served all left for home to wait with patience an invitation to be again the guests of the institute.

LYONS W. I.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. S. B. Simpson, who was to have been the hostess, the Lyons W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Berdan in July. There was a good attendance, especially of the junior members.

The program consisted entirely of vacation numbers, as all who took part are attending school in either the capacity of teacher or pupil. The following numbers were deserving of much praise: Solo by little Miss Margaret Waters, a piano solo by Miss Helen Winder, and an address by Miss Olive Clark. Miss Clark spoke on "Tea," and traced the tea from the time of setting out the small plants, through their growth and proper treatment, picking curing, marketing, etc., until she had it in the tea-cups as a most enjoyable beverage, if properly prepared. She explained the harmful effects of improper preparation.

The next meeting will be held on the second Tuesday of August, at the home of Mrs. N. Cline. A paper will be given by Mrs. Boyes. Recipes for canning and pickling are to be given in response to the roll call.

BOSTON VISITOR SPEAKS.

The July meeting of the Mission Circle of New Sarum Baptist Church was held on Friday afternoon last at the residence of Mrs. George Gilbert. Mrs. (Rev.) L. D. Huxtable presided, owing to the absence of the president, Mrs. Henry Gilbert. Mrs. W. Davis of Boston, Mass., delivered a splendid address on "Missionaries and Their Work in the Foreign Fields," emphasizing the need of more missionaries and greater interest in the work by the people at home. Miss Lila Tisdale rendered a vocal solo very acceptably, and the meeting closed with the prayer by Mrs Frank Doan.

At the close, the hostess served ice cream and cake, and during the tea hour Mrs. Huxtable sang several solos, and Miss Myrtle Clarkson gave a piano solo.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

Mystery surrounds the sudden eccentricity of three wealthy and sedate brothers, one of them the father of youthful

PATRICIA DRAKE. Alarmed because of the evident terror which has gripped the trio, Patricia asks the advice of her guardian,

ATTORNEY JOHN WELLS, and tells him that two weeks ago her father,

HOBART DRAKE, a Wall Street broker, clothed himself in a sheet and went to the town square where he delivered a mock oration. A few days later her uncle,

ROGER DRAKE, an eminent scientist, made a burlesque of a scientific address. That morning, the third brother, her uncle

ANDREW, was found seated on the floor playing with toys. The three are sane, sober and respected men. Wells asks

OWEN MILES, detective sergeant, to investigate.

GO ON WITH STORY.

CHAPTER II.

"I HAVE never encountered so strange a case," John Wells remarked when the office door closed behind their young client.

"I have been the attorney for Hobart Drake and his sister Jerusha for the past twenty years and their affairs are in perfect shape." The attorney sat back in his chair and placed the tips of his fingers together reflectively. "Roger's brilliant scientific career speaks for itself and Andrew made a big financial success of his sheep ranch. I had known the family years ago but not intimately.

"They held themselves aloof from the neighbors with the bitter pride of poverty which resents the memory of past affluence.

"I should like to know how they impressed you before prosperity returned to them," the detective asked. "I want to gauge what changes the past twenty years have made in their several characters. It's evident from the widely different careers which they chose that the three brothers are as far apart in temperament as the poles."

"They always were," Wells remarked reminiscently. "Roger is the oldest of the family—he must be about forty-eight—and except in outward appearance, he has changed the least, in my estimation. He was always a dreamer, a shy sort of youth. Andrew, two years his junior, was just the opposite; boisterous and fun-loving, and more sociable than any of the rest. Jerusha—Miss Drake—comes next. She was dignified and austere even as a mere girl."

"What of the third brother, the father of the young lady?"

"There you will find the greatest change, Sergeant." The attorney spoke hastily and in a more confidential tone as if to make amends for his implied suggestion. "Hobart was a drab, colorless young bank clerk at twenty-three, wholy without ambition to get out of the rut. Now he is a dynamic force on the Street and until this unfortunate episode the leading citizen of his community. I cannot believe that his sanity is in question, much less than all three brothers should be attacked at virtually the same time! I feel that there must be some other explanation!"

The attorney pushed back his chair and rising, moved to the window where he stood for a moment. Then he wheeled: "Sergeant, I haven't a theory, a suspicion, an idea of a possible solution! The whole thing is monstrous, incredible! If I were ignorant and superstitious, if I believed in the Evil Eye—!"

He left the sentence unfinished and Owen Miles smiled slightly once more.

"But science has proved the existence of the modern equivalent of the Evil Eye, hasn't it, sir? Isn't that what you're getting at?"

"You mean hypnotism, of course? It seems too bizarre a thought to entertain seriously. If these three brothers are not the victims of some strange drug, self-administered or otherwise, which is slowly driving them mad, what possible alternative explanation is there?"

The detective rose also and picked up his hat from the desk. "We shall see."

The afternoon was well advanced when Sergeant Owen Miles approached the long lines of glistening greenhouses near a country club and then paused as a hearty voice hailed him from the golf links. Turning he beheld a stocky, robust figure clad in golfing clothes striding vigorously toward him.

"What the dickens—!" Miles stared as they clasped hands. "Scottie, what's come over you that you are fooling around with the eidle rich at a country club?"

"Didn't you hear, Owen, my lad?" Fergus McCready beamed joyously on his youthful friend. "This community has seen fit to take me up social like, and I've taken up my own national game to keep in shape."

"I've got a bigger game on than golf, Scottie, and I hoped you would like to take a hand in it with me."

He paused suggestively and Scottie rose to the bait.

"What is the case, laddie?"

When the story was concluded he remarked briefly:

"I'm with you. It may be a madhouse we're going to but it sounds to me like something very different."

CHAPTER III.

JUST after the dinner hour that evening, Sergeant Miles, alias William Brown, the new houseman, presented himself at the kitchen door of the square old Colonial house in which so many generations of the Drake family had lived.

"IS THERE ANY JOKE IN WHAT HAS DESCENDED UPON US?"

An elderly butler made his appearance.

"The new houseman? Miss Drake will see you in the servants' sitting-room."

Almost immediately a tall, gray-haired woman entered.

"My niece engaged you at our usual agency?" Her voice was deeply contralto, and it seemed to Miles that her bright, dark eyes beneath the strong brows were attempting to bore him through. "Did she explain the duties which would be required of you?"

"Everything is quite satisfactory, William," she said, after he had answered the routine questions. "We will give you a trial. Carter will show you to your room and Pierre will have some supper prepared for you in the servants' dining-room."

Carter, the butler, reappeared and led the way up two flights of back stairs to a small but immaculate room at the side of the house. Miles waited until he heard the other's footsteps descending the stairs before he extinguished the light and raised the shade.

As he looked across the grounds, a shambling male figure strolled down the drive. It was assuredly neither the rotund chef nor the elderly, dignified butler. Could it be the 'outside man' or was there an eavesdropper, an interloper hanging about the place?

Descending to the ground floor, Miles wanderered out through the entry and across the driveway.

The hour was growing late and it was probable that he would have no opportunity that night to encounter the three brothers. Miles turned just as the shambling figure came sauntering around the bushes.

"What you doin' here?" The negro's teeth were chattering in his head.

"Who are you?" Miles countered amiably. "I'm William Brown, the new houseman."

"Dat's de truf? I'm Rip'i s Lunt. Rip for short, night watchman till midnight an' most eve'ything else outdoors in de daytime."

"Why, what's the matter?" Miles laughed. "There can't be any danger of tramps or burglars."

Ripides chewed ruminatively for a moment.

"There's more dan tramps an' thieves can come sashayin' 'round. Some mighty funny things goin' on in dis here neighborhood lately an' when de next comes off it's goin' to be where Rip Lunt ain't—I got to be movin'!"

CHAPTER IV.

WITHOUT encountering the reluctant night watchman again, Miles entered the house and made his way up the back stairs to his own room.

All was dark on that side of the house now save in the room just below his own.

Someone was pacing the floor of that room below with a measured tread which told of deep concentration.

Drawing on a dark bathrobe and slippers Miles opened his door noiselessly and crept down one flight of stairs, making for the door which he calculated as being directly under his own. He had gone but a few steps when a door across the hall opened with a jerk, and a short, almost burly figure with touseled brown hair and a heavy, sunbrowned countenance crossed to the other door and turned the knob softly.

Miles was close enough to hear the subdued, yet urgent tones of the newcomer.

"Roger, let me in! I want to speak to you."

"What is it, Andrew? Am I never to have any peace?"

The door closed again behind the two and Miles crept to it and laid his ear close to the panel.

"It's just this, Roger: you'll go to pieces if you're not careful." The hearty, slightly aggressive tone of Andrew Drake were louder now, but roughly affectionate. "You gave yourself dead away tonight to the bug-hunting, weed-gathering nut, Grayle. He seems to be your best friend, but even he'll begin to think and talk like the rest of the town if you don't help to pass the whole thing off as a joke."

"'Joke!'" repeated Roger in trembling tones. "Is there any joke in what has descended upon us?"

"Look here!" Andrew spoke with the patient, incisive emphasis of one imparting a lesson. "Hobart had a drop too much aboard when he went out and made that Julius Caesar speech, and your lecture was an ill-advised bit of pleasantry, while I was only playing a trick this morning to scare that fool Edward. Got that straight?"

A moan was Roger's only answer and Andrew growled:

"What's your idea, then? Do you want the whole town to think that we are—afflicted?" There had been a palpable pause before the last word.

"Aren't we?" Roger's voice was vibrant with sudden tragedy. "Haven't we been for years, even though we three have managed until now to conceal it from all the rest of the world? What is the end going to be? I can see the writing on the wall and I tell you I am not going to endure it until utter madness comes. There is a quick way out, quick and sure—"

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES — BY ELTON

AT LAST FLIP RETURNED WITH THE BANDIT. THE HIDEOUS MONSTER WAS AFRAID OF THE BANDIT'S GUNS, SO HE RAN BACK TO THE HILLS AS FAST AS HE COULD GO.

THE BANDIT QUICKLY JUMPED FROM HIS HORSE AND CUT THE ROPES THAT BOUND JACK TO THE TREE. JACK WAS VERY THANKFUL AND INVITED THE BANDIT TO HAVE SUPPER WITH HIM.

JACK AND HIS NEW FRIEND THEN PREPARED THE EVENING MEAL. AFTER SUPPER THE BANDIT FED AND WATERED HIS HORSE, AND THEN TOLD JACK MANY STORIES OF HIS ADVENTURES.

SUDDENLY THE BANDIT JUMPED UP. A GREAT NOISE FROM OVER THE HILL HAD STARTLED HIM. THE HIDEOUS MONSTER WAS RETURNING WITH A BAND OF FIERCE GORILLAS.

COLD CORN BEEF WITH JELLIED VEGETABLES

WHENEVER possible save dishes by putting combinations on one platter or plate. Cold meat is always better when accompanied by a good salad or some appetizing relish.

Corn beef after being cooked should stand until cold in the water in which it is cooked. Remove from the water and press under a weight. Cut in thin slices and serve around a mold of jellied vegetables made as follows:

1 cup chopped cooked beets
1 cup thinly-shaved cabbage
½ cup peas (canned or fresh cooked)
1 cup boiling water
1 tablespoon of gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1 tablespoon of vinegar
½ tablespoon of sugar
½ teaspoon of salt
⅛ teaspoon of pepper

Soak the gelatine in the cold water. Add to boiling water with remaining seasonings. When cool and beginning to stiffen add the vegetables. Turn into mold which has been wet with cold water. Put in a cool place until time for serving.

Unmold as directed above.

Radio Radiations

BY THE RADIO EDITOR.

(This is the third of a series of articles on the Armstrong super-regenerative receiver.)

IN THE regenerative receiver the greatest amplification is had when the amount of energy fed back into the rigid circuit has reached a value sufficient to completely offset the energy lost in overcoming the resistance of the grid circuit.

This is an adjustment which can only be approached.

At the time when full realization of the regenerative method is expected, uncontrollable irregularities of operation of the vacuum tube render the adjustment extremely unstable. The plate circuit over-feeds the grid circuit and the latter begins to act as a generator. The tone qualities are thus destroyed.

Super-regeneration is a method whereby advantage may be taken of the extremes of amplification, of which the regenerative receiver is capable, without loss of tone.

This is accomplished by actually allowing the regenerative receiver to go into the oscillatory condition for a very short time—about 1-20,000 part of one second—and then stopping the oscillatory action, allowing it to continue again, and so on.

Tone qualities cannot be destroyed in so short a time.

During this short interval an impulse may have been fed around and around through the tube circuits as many as half a dozen times.

High Amplification.

Each trip sees it amplified approximately seven times, and the total amplification is close to 700,000 times.

The control of the regenerative circuit in this fashion is accomplished by throwing on the grid of the detector tube alternating negative and positive potentials at the rate of one negative pulse every 1-10,000 part of one second.

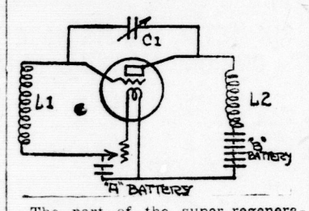
The device used to accomplish this is an oscillatory vacuum tube circuit whose inductances and capacities are so chosen as to give it an oscillatory frequency of 10,000 cycles—a wage length of more than 25,000 meters. Oscillations at this frequency begin to be audible, and make themselves known by a very high-pitched note in the telephone receiver.

The Generator.

Study the diagram.

It shows that part of the circuit which acts to generate the alternating positive and negative potentials at the rate of 10,000 per second.

While this is the positive half of its cycle, the regenerative receiver circuit cannot oscillate.



The part of the super-regenerative circuit which acts to generate alternating positive and negative potentials.

When it is undergoing the negative half of the cycle, the regenerative receiver circuits oscillate through about half a dozen cycles, thus accomplishing the great amplification.

L1, L2 and C1 all form a part of the grid circuit.

L2 alone is a part of the plate circuit. L2 being common to both couples the circuits and makes them generate oscillations.

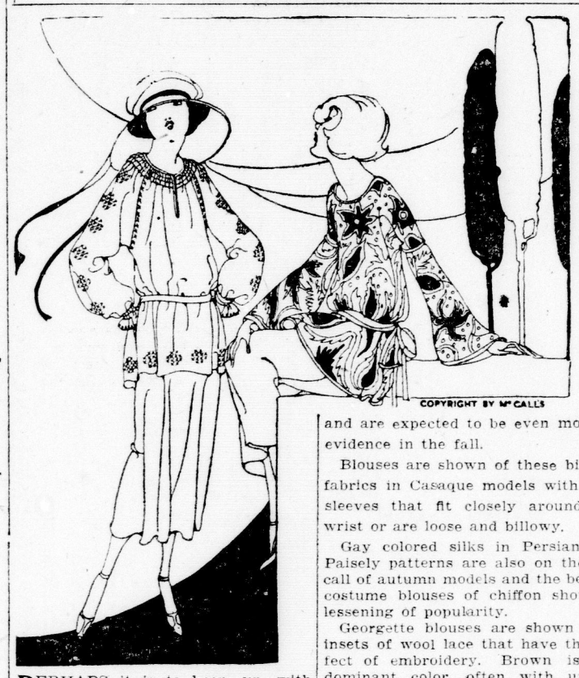
Blistered Silk Is Gaining As Fall Approaches



PERHAPS it is to keep up with the popular blistered skins this summer that the new silks carry out the sunburn idea. At any rate blistered silks are very fashionable and are expected to be even more in evidence in the fall.

Blouses are shown of these bizarre fabrics in Casaque models with long sleeves that fit closely around the wrist or are loose and billowy.

Gay colored silks in Persian and Paisely patterns are also on the roll call of autumn models and the beaded costume blouses of chiffon show no lessening of popularity.

Georgette blouses are shown with insets of wool lace that have the effect of embroidery. Brown is the dominant color, often with undertones of green.

Easiest Way To Remove Ugly Hairy Growths

(Beauty Culture.)

Here is a method for removing hair from arms, neck or face that is unfailing and is quite inexpensive: Mix a thick paste with some powdered delatone and water and spread on hairy surface. After 2 or 3 minutes, rub it off, wash the skin and every trace of hair has vanished. No harm or inconvenience results from this treatment, but be careful to get genuine delatone and mix fresh as wanted.—Advt.

Artificial Digestents Weaken the Stoma

A Warning To Those Who Suff From Indigestion.

The American habit of taking d tive pills after meals is making ch dyspeptics of many thousands of and women, declares a well-known thority. Artificial digestents, suc pepsin and stomach drugs and medi have practically no influence on Stomach," which alone is the cau nearly nine-tenths of all cases of gestion and stomach trouble. The a dinner pill merely lessens the sensi ness of the stomach nerves givi false sense of freedom from pain, the artificial digestents weaken power of the stomach's natural gestive organs so that in time unable to digest the simplest without aid. For those who suffer eating from gas, sourness, heart and stomach pains the best plan get from any good drug store a pure Bisurated Magnesia (either po or tablets) and take some in after each meal. This keeps the sto sweet and clean and instantly neu izes the stomach acids that cause and sourness and prevents their ther formation. The food then di easily and painlessly just as Na intended. This plan is perfectly and harmless and is being use thousands of former stomach suff who now eat as they please wit more fear of indigestion.—Advt.

BLACKHEADS GO QUICK BY THIS SIMPLE METHOD

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body, go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of peroxine powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone.

Pinching and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them open and unsightly — and unless the blackheads are big and soft they will not come out, while the simple application of peroxine powder and the water dissolve them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition.

You can get peroxine powder at any drug store and if you are troubled with these unsightly blemishes you should certainly try this simple method.—Advt.

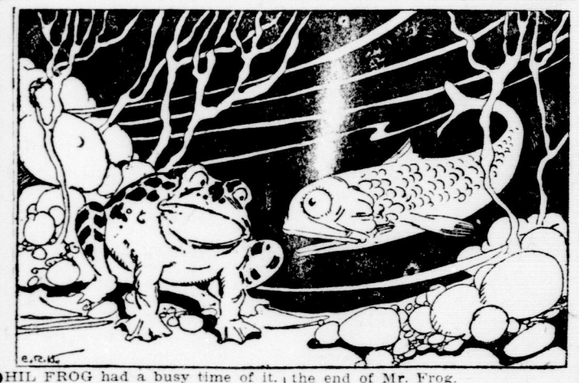
PHIL FROG TAKES REVENGE ON DAVE DUCK

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]



PHIL FROG had a busy time of it.

He was the best-natured person you'd ever meet and yet he had more enemies than a fish has scales.

Oscar Owl made Phil jump a yard every time he went "Whoooo!"

Marty Mink gave Phil a cold chill every time his shadow fell on the still waters of Lily Pond.

And Cob Coon and Phil couldn't live in the same house.

But the one Phil dreaded most was Dave Duck.

Oscar and Marty and Cob could only make Phil's life miserable on dry land (although Marty was a pretty good swimmer), but Dave Duck could chase him on land and water and even under the water.

Phil hid under his lily-pad house and watched Davy's yellow feet pushing about on top of the water.

Push, push, paddle, paddle! went Davy's feet overhead until Phil could stand the sight of them no longer. One could never tell when both feet were going to kick up into the air, and Davy's yellow bill suddenly take their place under the water. One snap and that would be the end of Mr. Frog.

One day Phil had an idea. He hopped in among the slime and weeds where Poky Pickerel lived and whispered something into Poke's ear.

"Will you?" he asked anxiously.

"Sure!" said Poke, obligingly.

By and by Davy came along, somer-saulting and snapping up things and gobbling them down again. He didn't see Poky right under him.

Suddenly something else snapped. It was Poke Pickerel's jaws this time and they snapped on Davy Duck's foot.

Davy honked and quacked and made a terrible racket. At last he got away, but he left a bit of his yellow foot in Poke's sharp teeth.

He had to go to Dr. Snuffles' house right away and get it patched up. He had an awful bill—not the one he ate with either.

To Be Continued.

ARMEN IS HERO OF TECS' 9--3 WIN

ld Hams and Sired Homer, Double and Two Singles.

AMILTON, July 19.—Lefty Carmen s the hero of London's 9 to 3 victory r Hamilton today, the Cockney rler connecting for two singles, a ble and a home run in four trips to plate. He drove in four of the runs ch his team made and crossed the te twice himself. He held the locals seven hits and managed to keep them l scattered; but one Hamilton player ched second in the first six innings. ler was batted from the box in the th when the visitors connected for hits, three of them doubles.

Miller was going along nicely until fifth when, after Malmquest had n retired, Gray to Kuhn, Boyle gled down the third base line and nt to second when Fedor grounded Miller. He scored when Carmen gled to left field, his second hit of day. London's big inning was the th when every man on the team ed Miller once, and Malmquest was twice Malmquest drew a pass and nt to third when Boyle singled to center. He scored on a wild pitch ich allowed Boyle to reach third. rmen sent one at Gray a mile a min-, and it was good for two bases, ring Boyle. Stimpson bounced one off ler for a bit, and Butler singled to left, ring Carmen. Stimpson was out at rd when Blake grounded to Miller, ke being safe. Schaefer followed h a double to the left field fence, ring Butler and Blake, and Mackay ubled to center, scoring Schaefer. at was the end of Miller's sojourn on hilltop, and Tomlin was sent to the cue. Malmquest went out, Stutz to hn, and the deluge ended. Boyle rted the eighth with a single, and dor laid down a sacrifice. Carmen cked the ball over the scoreboard in ht field, scoring two more runs.

he Hams were unable to do much h Carmen, and but one of them got far as second in the first six innings. b Kuhn broke the lull in the seventh opening Hamilton's half of that me with a home run. Rabbit Oakes ntributed a two bagger after Calbert flied out, but he was left stranded second when Carmen drove one to tler, and Daniels struck out. Ham-n started a little rally in the ninth, it was too late to mean anything. nter started off by walking, and hn singled to center. The latter was ced at second by Calbert, who was e at first. Oakes' single to left scored nter, and Carlin walked, filling the es. Daniels knocked a fast grounder Fedor, who was lucky to recover the l to catch Carlin at second, but kes scored on the play. Tomlin struck , ending one of the worst defeats Hams have had administered to m on the home lot.

Jack Schaefer Hit At .440 Clip During First Series

Jack Schaefer's hitting features the Mint League averages of the first series, the London outfielder being shown as swatting at a .440 pace. Schaefer's hitting has fallen off slightly, but he is still hitting them hard, and he has all the hurlers of the league looking for a way out when he's facing them. It would not be surprising if Schaefer should go up, despite the fact that he isn't near his first vote. On the other hand, he's not decrepit. Schaefer's rise to a batting star this year has been phenomenal, as in other seasons he was merely average. His fielding, too, has improved this year, though he isn't by any means leading the league in that department.

Stimpson, Mackey and Schaefer, with Coogan, are the only London hitters within the charmed .300 circle.

London is fourth in team fielding, but considering the hole at short all season, that isn't at all surprising.

The Aces, hitting at a .305 clip as a team, supply the reason for their win in the first series apparently, because in team fielding they are down in third place.

SIX-METRE YACHTS RACE ON LONG ISLAND SOUND

NEW YORK, July 19.—International races of six metre boats for the British-America Cup will be sailed in Long Island Sound on September 9, 11, 12, 14, 15 and 16, it was announced today.

Elimination trials will be held beginning Aug. 21 to select the team of four U. S. boats that will compete against an invading British team.

Britain won the first race, held last year in British waters, and next year the U. S. will send a team abroad. The races will be the second and biggest yachting event of international importance this year.

D. F. A. WILL NOT CHANGE CONNAUGHT CUP DATES

WINNIPEG, Man., July 19.—President Dan MacNeil and six of the Dominion Football Association have decided that the Ontario Football Association must go ahead with the arrangements made for the Connaught Cup play-off with Montreal or default. The officials point out that Ontario is behind in the schedule and it has already been granted the privileges not given to other provinces.

WOODSTOCK TIES ROUND WITH RANGERS, SCORE 1-0

WOODSTOCK, July 19.—Woodstock tied up the round in the W. F. A. intermediate semi-finals here tonight by defeating Kitchener by a score of 1—0. This means that another game will have to be played on neutral ground to determine which of the teams will go into the finals. Tonight's game was a hummer from the first kick-off. ACES DROP 7TH STRAIGHT GAME

Erratic Fielding Behind Goldsmith Helps Saints.

SAGINAW, July 19. — Saginaw dropped its seventh straight game today, losing to Port Huron by 7 to 6 through erratic fielding behind Goldsmith. Saginaw staged a rally in the ninth that ended when Pike, after hitting to the fence to score two runs, was thrown out trying to stretch the hit into three bases. Miller and Horne hit home runs.

Umpire Murphy was showered with pop bottles by angry fans, who took exception to several of his decisions, and had to be escorted from the field by a deputy sheriff.

BILL KOEHLER BACK.

BAY CITY, July 19. — Allowing but four hits, two in each of the first and seventh innings and driving out a double in the seventh to score Koehler, who had walked with the winning run, Jack Zeigler won a great victory for Bay City over the Flint Vehics Wednesday, 3 to 2, evening the series. Flint grabbed a two-run lead in the first on a single, a sacrifice, a base on balls and McNamara's double, but after that Zeigler was invincible, not allowing a hit until the seventh when, after two were out, Schelberg and Moorehart singled. Schelberg also pitched great ball for Flint, but three singles in a row in the sixth allowed Bay City to tie the count and Zeigler's drive in the seventh won it. Flint played sensational ball in the field. The score:

BRANTS WIN TWO.

KITCHENER, July 19. — The Brants had the final "punch" in both games of the double-header played here this afternoon, winning the first by 4 to 2 and the second by 2 to 0. Edgren opposed Hixenbaugh in the first game, the former being a trifle wild, but was helped out by a series of "breaks," while the Kitchener twirler was touched up for 10 hits. Voyton's homer in the eighth breaking the tie, and another was added in the ninth.

A pitchers' battle was fought in the second game between MacCallum and Dahlin, the latter coming out with honors, holding the Beavers down to two hits and allowing no runs. Both games were among the best played here this season. Reilly was injured in the last inning of the first game, his foot being spiked while sliding to second. He will be out of the game for a few days. The scores:

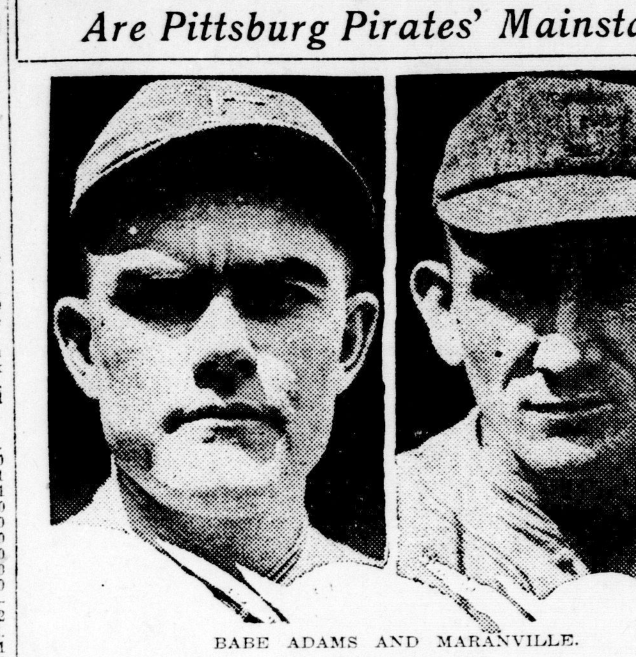
MOST VALUABLE PLAYERS

Babe Adams, Bigbee and Maranville Are Pittsburg Pirates' Mainstays



BABE ADAMS AND MARANVILLE.

DESPITE the fact that the Pittsburg Pirates have slumped in their play the work of Maranville cannot be overlooked.

There are few better shortstops in the game than the diminutive Maranville.

When he came to the Pirates in 1921 the club was regarded as just so-so. He welded the Pirates into a fast going machine, that for a greater part of the year showed the way to the Giants.

Maranville has the old fighting spirit. He imbued his teammates with it. As a result the Pirates have been a pretty tough team to beat ever since Maranville joined the club.

Other Pirates who might receive some consideration are Outfielder Bigbee and Pitcher Babe Adams, who, despite his years, is still a great pitcher.

HINDMARSH AND G. CHANTLER WIN

Herb. Hindmarsh won the honors of the Scotch doubles tourney at the L. R. C. yesterday afternoon, with George Chantler as lead. Their score was three games won and a plus of 34.

Father Forster and Dr. Snelgrove lead, were next with a score of three wins and a plus of 25.

The greens were in great shape and there were no defaults.

TALBOT-HORNE WIN

Take First Honors in Elmwood's Scotch Doubles.

H. Talbot and S. Horne won the Scotch doubles tourney at the Elmwoods last night with a score of four wins and a plus of 66. J. E. Reid and Charlie Speiran and F. Taylor and I. Taylor of the Thistles, were tied for second place with four wins and a plus of 49, the latter pair winning the toss. Two Seaforth pairs were next, only a shot separating them. E. Bright and J. E. Willis were 4th and F. Robinson and J. Grieves were next. H. A. Tanney and A. W. Baines of St. Thomas, were the next pair with four wins, their plus being 21.

The greens were in great shape and the bowlers had a day of close competition.

DELAWARE AGAIN BEAT LOCAL KIWANIAN NINE

The London Kiwanis Baseball team again fell victims to the Delaware Ball Club at Delaware field day sports on Wednesday afternoon, annexing the short end of a 3 to 1 score.

The game was nip and tuck up to the end of the 7th inning, when a couple of timely hits and a walk for Delaware gave them the winning tallies.

Good pitching by Hammond for Delaware and Baker for the Kiwanians, featured the game, while Arthurs on short and Harrison on third for the Kiwanians, played air-tight ball.

London Kiwanis—McLachlin, c.; Baker, p.; Armstrong, 1b.; Hodgins, 2b.; Arthurs, s.s.; Harrison, 3b.; Taylor, l.f.; Easton, c.f.; Chantler, r.f.

FINANCES LEAD TO BRITISH NET TEAM'S WITHDRAWAL

Westminster Gazette Would Divide Davis Cup Competition Into Sections.

LONDON, July 19.—The British Lawn Tennis Council's decision to withdraw the British Isles team from Davis Cup match was due mainly to financial considerations, it was learned today. It was declared the British Lawn Tennis Association lost more than £1,000 on last year's invasion of the United States and despite the fact that this year's "tie" in the United States would be in the final round of the tournament, another heavy loss would be inevitable owing to the fact that Major A. R. F. Kingscote and Randolh Lycett would be unable to participate.

Tennis players generally finance trans-Atlantic tours through a tournament levy of two shillings for each competition they take part in. The general feeling is that the British Isles should not have challenged unless she was prepared to go through with the matches. The sentiment prevails that men like Gilbert, Gordon-Lowe, Campbell and Turnbull were capable of putting up a creditable fight. On the other hand, it is pointed out in tennis circles, that this year's partial collapse of the Davis Cup competition with a succession of defaults through heavy expenses due to trans-Atlantic tours has proved the case for those who assert that the competition must be remodelled.

The Westminster Gazette's plan is to divide the competition into two sections—one American and the other European, giving every challenger each year the option of playing through either section.

LUCAN FINDS STRATHROY EASY AND WIN BY 10 TO 6

LUCAN, July 19. — Lucan had little trouble winning from Strathroy here this afternoon by a score of 10—6. Strathroy got five runs in their ninth frame, but it fell far short of the commanding lead of the Irish.

The score by innings: R.H.
Strathroy .... 000 001 005— 6 11
Lucan .... 010 126 00x—10 13

$25,000 MARITIME NAG FAILS AGAIN

Topny Todd, Canuck Mare, Grabs Off 2:14.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 19.—Prince Loree, winner of the $5,000 Paper Mills Purse, was obliged to equal the state trotting record of 2:03¾, made by Mabel Trask in the same event on the local track in 1916, in order to defeat The Great Volo, the favorite in the first heat. The double-gaited champion then annexed the other two miles and won, with the Cox colt a close second in each heat. The three miles were made in the average time of 2:05.

The 2:14 trot provided the upset of the afternoon. Bill Saren, the Nova Scotia flash, making his first start in two years on the grand circuit, was the favorite. The $25,000 performer finished fifth in the second heat and third heat, after which he was sent to the barn by Tommy Murphy. Topsy Todd, the Canadian mare, finished behind Hollyrood Hilda in the first heat and then came back and took the next two.

The summaries:

LANDIS FEELS FOR OLD MAN TY COBB

CHICAGO, July 19.—Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball commissioner, took a look at the papers today and learned, to his surprise, that Ty Cobb was giving George Sisler a desperate fight for batting honors of the American League.

"Cobb batting .406, Sisler .420. Cobb gets five hits in one game, including a home run," read the commissioner.

"Ain't it a shame about poor old man Cobb," Landis said, "They said he was slipping and ready for the home for the aged."

Hollins Calls Special General Meeting of L. and D. For Tonight

A deadlock on the question of the lifting of Holt's suspension and criticism has led Charles Hollins, president of the L. and D. F. A., to call a special general meeting tonight at 8 o'clock, in the machine gun recreation room, the armories.

Voting on the L. and D. F. A. council has reached the stage where, on certain questions, the voting is inevitably four to four.

St. Andrews has been ordered to replay the game they won against St. Johns Rovers on Tuesday night at Springbank by a score of 5—2, because the game was played six minutes short on account of darkness, and therefore is not officially a game.

Saturday is the date ordered for the game to be replayed.

St. Andrews claim that the game was delayed by Robertson arguing over going off the field when ordered by the referee, and the Scots feel they are being unjustly dealt with in having to replay this game.

President Hollins will ask a revision of the constitution in several instances where changes would facilitate legislation which has been hanging fire for some time.

WINDSOR RESULTS.

MAJ. CROWE MAKES 93 IN KING'S PRIZE

Weather Conditions Unfavorable For Primary Rounds.

BISLEY CAMP, July 19.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—Eight Canadians are among the three hundred marksmen who will shoot on Friday next in the second stage of the King's prize competition, these having been among the leading competitors in the first stage today. They are:

Captain Letson, Vancouver, 24th on the list; Lieut J. Chandler, Woodstock, N. B.; Major C. R. Crowe, Guelph, Ont.; Lieut E. T. D. Francis, Ottawa; Sergt. W. Jaffray, Toronto; Pte. P. W. Sellwood, Vancouver; Pte. A. W. Whitehead, Ottawa, and Sergt. T. Young, Toronto.

BISLEY CAMP, July 19.—(Canadian Press Cable).—An awkward light and an erratic wind were the unfavorable conditions under which shooting for the King's prize in the first of the qualifying stage took place today. The distances are 200, 500 and 600 yards, even shots at each.

Following were the Canadian scores:

	200 yds.	500 yds.	600 yds.	Ttl.
Lieutenant E. T. D. Francis	33	34	30	97
Pte. P. W. Sellwood, Vancouver	33	32	32	97
Lieut. J. Chandler, Woodstock, N. B.	33	34	27	94
Sergt. T. Young, Toronto	31	33	30	94
Major C. R. W. Crowe, Guelph	33	28	32	93
Sergt. W. Jaffray, Toronto	33	32	28	93
Pte. A. W. Whitehead, Ottawa	33	32	28	93
Lieut. A. M. Blackburn, Winnipeg	32	31	29	92
Pte. J. Lonsdale, Toronto	32	30	30	92
Pte. Kent, Toronto	32	32	25	89
Major G. Mortimer, Bowmanville	26	28	31	85
Major F. W. Utton, Toronto	29	29	26	84

In the all-comers aggregate championship at 200 yards, Dr. Kelly of North London, was the winner. Major C. R. Crowe of Guelph, was 27th in the competition, which is open to competitors whose respective scores in the City of London, Daily Graphic, Daily Telegraph, Duke of Cambridge, Graphic and Wimbledon Cup matches, make up the highest aggregate.

Private Campion, Liverpool, after a shoot-off, was the winner of the Daily Graphic squadded competition, 200 and 300 yards, seven shots at each distance. Lt. Noble, South Africa, with a score of 49 out of a possible 50, was the winner of the corporation of the city of London squadded competition, open to all comers, 1,000 yards, ten shots. Sergt. W. Jaffray, Toronto, with a score of 43, was in thirty-fourth place. Major C. R. Crowe, Guelph, 42, was in 63rd place; Lt. A. M. Blackburn, Winnipeg, 41, 79th, and Pte. J. Lonsdale, Toronto, 40, 100th place. Major Geo. Mortimer, Bowmanville, and Capt. Letson, Vancouver, 40 each, were counted out.

DRESDEN KEEPS LEAD BY WINNING IN CHATHAM

CHATHAM, July 19.—Dresden maintained the leadership of the Kent Baseball League today by defeating the Briscoe team of this city by the score of 4 to 3. Goldie Gray was on the mound for the winners and touched for ten hits, while McCoig, the twirling ace of the Briscoes, allowed four.

ROEHAMPTON, England, July 19.—The Cirencester Polo Club this afternoon defeated the Argentine four in the final game for the Roehampton Cup. The score was 10 goals to 5.

LOCALS HOLD ST. THOMAS TEN DOWN

8—4 Score of Best Lacrosse Game Seen Here This Year.

A clean game, well contested and good to watch, was the verdict of the fans at yesterday's lacrosse match between St. Thomas, group leaders, and the London team.

The play startd off at good speed and traveled up and down the field with attacks on both nets, until at last McDonald slapped in a fast shot for St. Thomas. This apparently stirred up the London tribe, for Angus came back with a beautiful score for the home team in less than 20 seconds.

Not to be outdone, the shifty Hilts snapped in another goal for St. Thomas in a half-minute, when Ariss, his check, thought he could leave him uncovered for a second or two. McDonald scored again for the Saints after another four minutes, and the quarter ended with the score St. Thomas 3, London 1.

Hilts got two goals for St. Thomas in the first four minutes of the second period, then London broke into the scoring again, via Gurtley in 5 minutes, followed by Russell in 1 minute with another, making the score St. Thomas 5, London 3.

The third period had just started when St. Thomas got a clever goal on a grounder from the stick of McDonald, who seemed to be holding a contest of goal-getting with his teammate Hilts, who came back with another in three minutes, and the gong rang with the score standing at St. Thomas 7, London 3.

With the opening of the final period, it looked as though St. Thomas were out to pile up a score, when Hilts beat the London defence for a counter in one minute, and Whitby got another in 50 seconds, but the London team from one end to another took a brace and held the visitors scoreless from that on while Russell went through the Saints defence for another goal, making the final score St. Thomas 9, London 4.

The game was remarkably clean throughout, only three light penalties being imposed by Dr. Gordon, who refereed splendidly. Of these London drew two, Ariss being banished for 3 minutes and Angus for 5, while Silverthorne drew a 2-minute rest for a minor offence.

The teams lined up as follows:

St. Thomas—Goal, Couch; point, Silverthorne; coverpoint, Pook; defence, Kearns and Lockwood; center, Wilson; home, Neving and Whitby; outside home, McDonald; inside home, Hilts.

London—Goal, Sanford; point, Glover; coverpoint, Ariss; defence, W. Donohue and "Shi" Scheiding; center, Gurtley; home, Russell and Bailey; outside home, Angus, inside home, Rankin; substitute Sinclair.

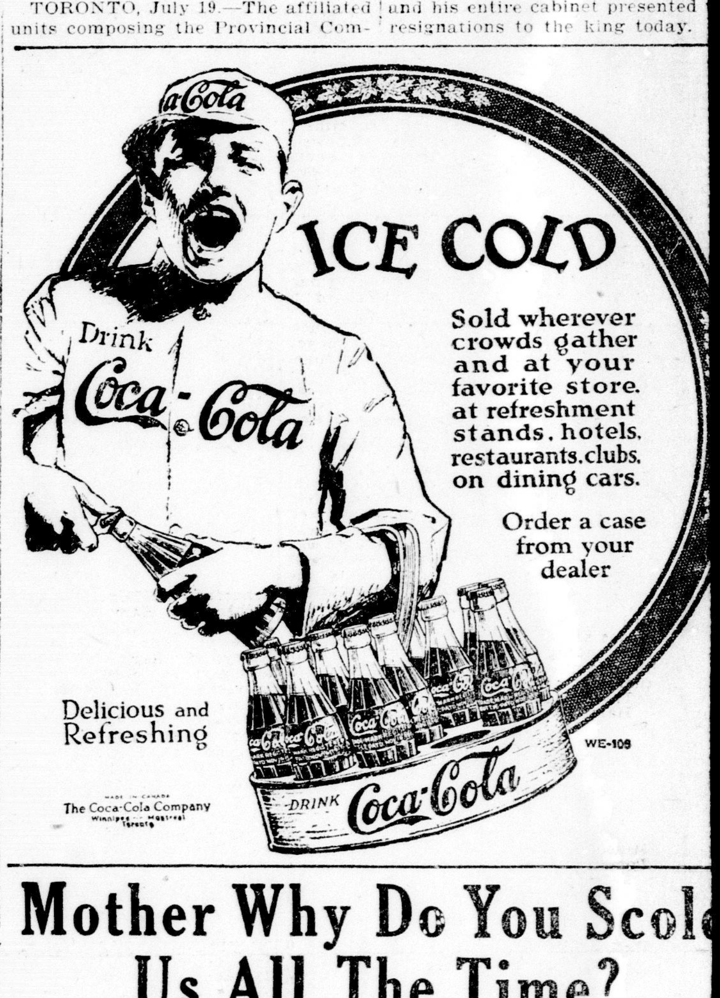
ITALIAN CABINET RESIGN

ROME, July 19.—Premier de F and his entire cabinet presented resignations to the king today.



Mother Why Do You Scol Us All The Time?

Read This Terrible Confession By a Mother Who Wa Ruining the Lives of Her Children

For some time I had noticed that my two children a boy of seven and a girl of ten, were becoming highly nervous, irritable and very disobedient. I tried various punishments, even whipping, but they kept growing worse. My own nerves were all "on edge" the least thing would put me into a rage.

I was too weak to work or enjoy life, and too nervous and irritable to go anywhere. I often suffered from severe heart palpitation and indigestion. I could not sleep at night; I had an almost constant dull aching pain in the back of my neck and head, and frequently a very disagreeable sense of fullness in the front part of my head. I often had severe pains across my back which made me think I had kidney trouble. I could not begin to describe all the tortures and terrible pains which I endured. Finally I went to a doctor and told him my story. After studying my case he told me I was the cause of my children's condition. He told me how the system only manufactured so much nerve force and that this vital fluid of life was stored in the nerve cells, much like electricity is stored in a storage battery and is just as quickly exhausted.

He said my own highly nervous condition had been a constant drain on the nerve force of my children, and that the constant nervous strain to which I had subjected them had wrecked their highly sensitive nervous organizations. Later all this I found out to be true because after I regained my own nervous poise, and revitalized my worn out, exhausted nerve centers, and the same was done for my children, I found them to be the nicest, sweetest children in the world—their whole dispositions entirely changed.

The above is a hypothetical case, which a physician says may well illustrate thousands which exist today. Homes are wrecked, children ruined, all through exhausted nerve force. Very few people realize the terrible physical and mental tortures often caused by a depletion of the nervo-vital fluid.

In such cases, what you need is to put more force into your nerves, and more iron into your blood. This is best accomplished by the use of Nuxated Iron. This valuable product contains the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force in a form which most nearly resembles that in the nerve and brain cells of ma It also contains a newer form of iron lik the iron in your blood and like the iron i spinach, lentils and apples. This form of iro will not blacken or injure the teeth nor upse the stomach. It is an entirely different thin from metallic iron which people usually take Nuxated iron may therefore be termed both blood and a nerve food.

Over four million people are using Nuxated Iron annually, and from the remarkably beneficial results which it has produced, the manufacturers feel so certain of its efficacy that they guarantee satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. For sale in this city by

Life and Character Reading.

JULY 20.

People born under Cancer will der the sign of Cancer, the head sign of the Water Triplicity. The governing planet is the moon, and the birthstone a black onyx.

People of this date often let go of their self-control for no apparent reason. They are invincible to argument and cannot be talked out of a thing; but if their feelings are hurt, they are apt to lose heart, and abandon whatever they have undertaken. Their great sensitiveness leads them into the most absurd extremes.

People born on this date come unhave a great many gifts that others have not, and if educated thoroughly make their lives a great success.

If you intend selling your house, your house furnishings, your automobile or old clothes, use the Want Ads and you will find purchasers who pay the best prices.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

RASPBERRIES GO UP 5 CENTS BOX

Cherries Still Fairly Plentiful at $1.25 for 11 Quarts.

The quantity of raspberries offered on the market on Thursday morning was large, and the demand was good, although the price jumped 5c a box, selling at 25@27c. The reason given for this is that the berry crop this year is not very large, and the demand is exceedingly great. It was stated also that the season for raspberries is almost over, and that after Saturday the quality of fruit offered will not be A1.

Cherries are still being brought to the city in fairly large quantities, and prices remained steady at 60@70c for the 6-quart basket and $1 10@1 25 for 11 quarts. The demand, however, was not very great.

Red currants registered a slight drop this morning, and were plentiful at 2 boxes for 25c. The black remained firm at 20@25c a box and 25@30c a quart.

Prices of all vegetables were steady on Thursday, and together with raspberries were the feature of the market.

Hay was still slow and was only in fair demand, although the quality was extra good. It was still bringing $11@13 a ton.

Grain was scarce and only one load of old oats was brought into the city. It sold at $1 70 per ton.

Dairy products were steady, with the price of dairy butter remaining at 37¾ 40c per lb.

Chicago, July 20.—With apparent lessened prospects of any immedite settlement of the railroad strike, prices for wheat tightened upa little today during the early transactions. Some attention was given also to talk about a rally being natural in view of recent declines. Selling lacked volume. The opening, which varied from unchanged figures to ⅝c higher, was followed by slight gains all around and then a moderate setback.

Corn and oats were firmer with wheat. After opening ⅛c to ⅜c higher, the corn market scored a little further advance before beginning to react.

Oats started ⅛c off to a like advance for September at 35⅞@36c, and later showed a trie further upturn.

Opening futures:

Wheat—July, $1 21⅛; Sept., $1 11¼.

Corn—July, 63⅛c; Sept., 64⅝c.

FARMERS HANDLE HAY AND WHEAT AT ONCE IN COUNTY

Special to London Advertiser.

ILDERTON, July 19.—The farmers of the vicinity have been busy lately, many haying and cutting wheat at the same time.

Owing to the catchy weather a lot of hay is yet to be handled.

In Lobo most of the fall wheat is cut, and some farmers have hauled a part in. The oat crop promises a much better yield than last season, and the corn fields are doing well.

The crop of potato bugs is the largest in years, in some cases injuring the potato crop considerably.

The Bear Creek Community Club are holding a garden party on Friday evening.

It is understood the board of S. S. No. 7, have engaged Miss McGugan of Strathroy as teacher for the ensuing term.

Gets Seven-Year Term For Theft of Thirty Cases of Whiskey.

PORT ARTHUR, July 19.—Seven years was the sentence imposed by Magistrate O'Brien today on Nick Bodner and Fred Galawriuk, who pleaded guilty to entering the home of Charles Greer and stealing 30 cases of whiskey.

Bodner made a statement implicating both Galawriuk and Nick Zurkan, the latter being shot, dying from wounds following a gun fight between whiskey-runners and the provincial police, who surprised them transporting liquor over a highway.

WITHDRAWS CASE AGAINST LABATTS

Windsor, July 20.—Asserting that the offence had taken place at a time when law had just been passed, Crown Attorney George Urquhart in Windsor police court today, withdrew the charge against the Labatt Brewing Company, London, of transporting liquor unlawfully in trucks.

This action is believed to have resulted from instructions from Attorney General Raney. He recently announced that his department would not prosecute breweries who trucked their export goods to and from railway stations.

The charge against the brewery here concerned a shipment which was being taken from a railway car to the exporting dock.

SIX KILLED WHEN TRAIN HITS CAR

Buffalo, July 20.—Six persons were killed and one seriously injured this afternoon at Stevensville, six miles from Bridgeburg, Ont., when a Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway train struck an automobile at a grade crossing. The automobile bore a Colorado license.

The dead are reported to be Daniel Fritz, his wife, two sons and one daughter, and the 10-year-old son of Mrs. James Baker of Stevensville.

The Fritz family came from Colorado, but their home city has not been learned.

POSTAL CANDIDATES TRY SECOND EXAMINATIONS

Four candidates for the position of deputy postmaster, each backed by a large store of acumen gleaned from the Postal Guide, faced the barrier, with Professor James of Western University as official starter, Wednesday morning in the second heat of the race for the now year-long vacant position at the post office.

This second examination apparently puts higher qualifications on the position than were necessary in the previous one, since this one is tried at a university instead of at a technical school.

The four candidates trying the examination are W. H. Skinner, Arthur Carrothers, Patrick J. Flannery and L. A. MacDonald.

ALCOHOL BURIED IN GARDEN.

Hamilton, July 20.—Eugenio Padovan, whose recommendation of his "good" garden to his wife, as he was being taken to jail to serve a two months' term for having a still led to the discovery of 30 gallons of alcohol buried in the garden, will have to face fresh charges tomorrow under the O. T. A.

CHILDREN'S AID FINDS NO TRACE OF MISSING YOUTHS

Boys Believed to Have Run Away With Circus Last Week Fail to Turn Up.

Although they have been absent from home more than a week, no trace has been found of the two 16-year-old East London boys who are believed to have run away from home with the circus which visited this city recently. These boys, who were employed together at a downtown store, departed from home on their bicycles a week ago Tuesday, and despite the fact that Children's Aid Society branches in different parts of the province were notified, no trace of them has been obtained.

At the time of their disappearance the boys wore no coats, and had a small amount of money in their possession. One of the missing youths left home two years ago, and later returned when he had temporarily eliminated the wanderlust from his system.

EAST KOOTENAY POWER CO., LIMITED
7%
First Mortgage Bonds

A district richly endowed by nature—

The South Eastern part of British Columbia is extremely rich in zinc, lead and coal mines, it has splendid transportation facilities; all that is required for its upbuilding is an adequate supply of power.

The present bond issue is being sold to enable the East Kootenay Power Company to take care of the immediate demand for power, which our engineers advise is about 20,000 H. P.

Earnings from existing contracts alone will show a substantial amount earned on the common stock, after paying bond interest. The company is at present in operation, under capable and experienced management.

Some of the sources responsible for the revenues are:—

The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company's famous Sullivan Mine, the richest zinc lead mine in the world. (The C.P.R. is largely interested in this Company).
The cities of Cranbrook and Fernie, B.C.
The Crows Nest Pass Coal Co.
International Coal & Coke Co.
Corbin Coal & Coke Co.
McGillivray Creek Coal & Coke Co.

SENTENCE 3 FOR BREAKING PRISON

Guelph Magistrate Imposes Term of Two Years in Penitentiary As Penalty.

Special to London Advertiser.

GUELPH, July 19.—Pleading guilty before Magistrate Watt today to charges of breaking custody at the Ontario Reformatory, three young men, Cecil Fairbanks, George Twidale and George Moore, were all sentenced to two years' imprisonment at Portsmouth Penitentiary, Kingston, and at the expiration of their sojourn in the "Pen" to return to the "Farm" to complete their present terms.

The trio, who had only been at the reformatory for a short time, made their dash for liberty on the morning of July 17, but after a few hours' freedom, were captured by a posse of guards in a bush about a mile and a half away. Being newcomers at the farm, they were all members of the quarry gang, and it was while they were on their way to the stone pile that they made a sudden dash along the railway tracks and disappeared into a nearby woods.

Fairbanks had been sentenced to the reformatory for a term of two years less one day for shop-breaking; Twidale was serving twelve months certain, and an indeterminate term of twelve months for forgery and false pretences, and Moore was under sentence for one year for motor car theft. All three prisoners were convicted at Toronto.

JOY RULES DAY WHILE GROCERS PICNIC AT PORT

London Retail Merchants Make Merry At Annual Outing.

RECORD CROWD ATTENDS

Races, Fancy Dancing and Babies' Show Features Program.

Befitting the occasion of the London Retail Grocers' Association annual picnic at Port tSanley Wednesday, joy and merriment in wholesale lots held complete sway throughout the day.

Record crowds, ideal weather conditions and an unsurpassed program of sports, together with eager enthusiasm exhibited by both spectators and participants featured the picnic. Practically every member of grocery and provision business in London was present on Invererie Heights, where the sports were carried out, and in addition scores came from St. Thomas and other points in the vicinity, many of whom took an active part in the races, creating keen rivalry.

A baby show and the ever-popular Scotch and Irish dancing were also included in the day's program.

The baby show is believed to be the largest on record at Port Stanley, having over 100 entries, and the dancing contest ran a close second, if not ranking first place, amongst any held on the heights.

Donate Prizes.

All the prizes were donated with ample generosity from London grocery stores, and proved well worth winning, and an added touch of abundance was the wholesale scattering of canned goods to spectators as a wind-up to the day's program. Scores of men, women and children proudly carried home cans of pork and beans or something equally delectable, which they managed to capture in the scramble following the broadcasting of four large cases of provisions.

Those who have witnessed the grocers' picnic, practically every year since its inauguration, are confident that Wednesday's venture set a record both in success and attendance, and are devoting much of the thanks to the efficient committees who were in charge of all departments.

The general committee was formed of officers of the society: Ald. G. B. Drake, president; Arthur Thrower, first vice-president; F. J. Lapthorne, second vice-president; Frank C. Pierce, secretary, and P. H. Ranahan, treasurer.

Committees Efficient.

Sub-committees were the following: Executive committee, Thomas Shaw, J. A. McFarlane, Joseph McLeod, John Diprose and D. Patterson; transportation committee, P. H. Ranahan, chairman; reception committee, John Diprose, chairman; sports committee, John T. May, chairman; baby show, Ald. G. B. Drake, chairman; dancing committee, P. H. Ranahan, chairman; tent committee, F. J. Lapthorne and Arthur Thrower.

The following are the winners in the various events:

Baby Show.

Boys, under 6 months—William Haigh, Allan Snelling, Kenneth Johnston.

"HUN KILLER" IS ADDICT OF DRUGS

Ingersoll Man Who Won V. C. Admits Attempt To Enter Windsor Home.

WINDSOR, July 19.—Once recommended for the Victoria Cross for bravery in battle, Valentine Kehoe, 27 years of age, of Ingersoll, pleaded guilty of attempting to enter an Ouellette avenue home, in Windsor police court today.

The request of his counsel, Major James Clark, under whom Kehoe served in France, that he be remanded for one week while arrangements would be made to have him placed in an institution, was granted by Magistrate W. E. Gundy.

Major Clark said Kehoe was known as "The Hun Killer" of the 13th Canadian Scottish battalion. He was wounded severely on two occasions, and wears the Distinguished Conduct medal. He was a sniper in the battalion, the major said, and during his three years in France, had killed 70 Germans.

Kehoe became addicted to a drug after it had been given to him on several occasions on the battlefield when wounded, Major Clark told the court.

LAUDS ALTERNATE ROUTE FOR WHEAT

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 19.—Three federal cabinet ministers, Hon. D. D. McKenzie, solicitor-general; Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, and Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, delivered addresses at Vancouver today at the annual picnic of the Vancouver Liberal Association. Hon. John Oliver, provincial premier, and members of his cabinet, attended.

"All of the West is interested in the development of an alternate route for the shipping of grain, because such a route will minimize the danger of congestion," declared Hon. Mr. Motherwell.

REPORTS COMMUNISTS OPPOSED TO MOSCOW

RIGA, July 19.—A prominent personage from Russia said today that a group of Communists have formed a new central executive committee in the Ural region, intending to assume authority for nearer Siberia, including Irkutsk.

They complain that the Moscow government rules unduly depotically. The Ural committee, headed by M. Miasnikoff, promises real suffrage and freedom for workers. The Moscow authorities have sent upwards of 2,000 agitators to influence the regional soviets not to joint Miasnikoff.

COMMIT EDITOR CHARGED WITH DEFAMATORY LIBEL

MONTREAL, July 19.—John H. Roberts this afternoon was commited by Judge Enright in the enquete court for voluntary statement on July 26 on the charge of defamatory libel preferred by Willard Brunson, manager of Logan & Bryan, Montreal and New York stock brokers.

The decision followed a ruling by Judge Enright that Roberts' counsel could not cross-examine witnesses during the enquete in an effort to establish justification for the alleged libel on the ground that the truth had been published. That, the court ruled, could only be made before a jury in a trial proper. The alleged libellous statements appeared in Roberts' publication, The Axe.

CHATHAM MAGISTRATE REPRIMANDS "MASHERS"

Special to London Advertiser.

CHATHAM, July 19.—Following the use of insulting language to a young married woman on King street last evening, a young man with several companions appeared in the city police court today to answer to a charge of "mashing."

Evidence was submitted to the court by the plaintiff showing that she had been made the object of derisive comment. The defendants admitted most of the evidence and were given one of the most severe reprimands ever handed out by Magistrate Arnold, following which the case was dismissed.

This is the first case of this nature to come up in the city police court.

MINE EXPLODES CANTON HARB

CANTON, China, July 19.—A f ing mine, evidently intended to bl up the Chinese cruiser Wing Fung, on which Sun Yat Sen, deposed president of South China, is making his headquarters, exploded in the harbor today within 50 feet of the United States destroyer Tracy. The Tracy was shaken, but is said to be undamaged.
